PORTALES, ROOSEVELT COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1920

NUMBER 31

To the Voters I am making this statement to the voters of Roosevelt county to correct the errorous statements that are being made pro and con regarding me. I was born at Weatheaford, Texas, January 1st, 1891, and moved with my folks to Montague county, Texas, in 1893. I came to Roosevelt county 1912 and have lived here every since; near to Delphos. I was inducted into the United States service Oct. 2nd, 1917, and got my military training at Camp Kearney California. I was sent over seas June 1st, 1918, and assigned to the 47th Infantry, 4th, division A. E. F. I was at the front eight and one-half months. I received a gun shot wound at Chauteau Thierry on August 10th, 1918, which partially crippled my right hand, which makes it impossible to continue the hard work which I have done all my life. I am not attempting to appeal to the sympathy of the voters but honestly believe that I can fill the office of sheriff to the satisfaction of the good folks of Roosevelt county. If you feel that I am worthy and qualified to fill this office I will appreciate your support in the primaries and make an honest effort to fill the office honest and faithful without fear or favor.

> Very respectfully yours, J. R. (Bob) POINDEXTER.

and cuts down costs by investment in labor-saving machinery.

Good prices for the farmers' crops encourage new investment, more production and greater prosperity.

But the success of agriculture depends on the growth of railroads-the modern beasts of burden that haul the crops to the world's markets.

The railroads—like the farms—increase their output and cut down unit costs by the constant investment of new capital.

With fair prices for the work they do, the railroads are able to attract new capital for expanding their facilities.

Rates high enough to yield a fair return will insure railroad growth, and prevent costly traffic congestion, which invariably results in poorer service at higher cost.

National wealth can increase only as our railroads grow.

Poor railroad service is dear at any price. No growing country can long pay the price of inadequate transportation facilities.

CHAPTER VIII-Continued. -7---

"A word in your ear, senor," he said, his voice and manner gayly imreached no ears but those he intended to hear. "Twenty thousand dollars now, immediately, or I give you my word as a gentleman that when the sun is up you will rush to me, trying to make terms, and I shall then answer you by demanding fifty thousand !"

The threat in the man's voice again disturbed Stanway. He had a feeling which he could not entirely reason down that Torre meant what he was saying. Then he looked at the half dozen stern-featured, faithful servants, who served the De la Guerra as old subjects served a beloved sovereign; saw them watchful, armed, eager for an excuse to fling themselves upon their two captives; and, frowning at his own fears, he went to his room. His windows faced westward and to the south. He stood before one of them which looked to the border, half ready to expect a rush of cavalry through the olive trees.

He saw the olive trees sway to the little, warm wind from the south; watched his window curtains pulsing slowly like one breathing; noted how the moonlight gilded the ripe fruit upon the orange trees, and, with a last look toward the eastern wing of the house, where a little balcony jutted out among roses, he jerked down his shade, fastened his window, placed a revolver upon the chair at his side, and went to bed.

A low, insistent rapping at his doorway awakened him. Stanway sat up in bed. a sudden shiver of uneasiness upon him. "Who it is?" he called sharply.

"It is Lugo, senor. Senor Torre debonair, his manner gracefully indifferent, stopped at the big mahogany table to light his cigarette at one pudent, his words low so that they of the candles and came to Stanway's side.

"Thank you, senor," he said, his voice very low now, his words guardmight hear them. "For this is in the way of a kindness to me, although you do not know that yet."

"It is not meant that way, so keep your thanks," returned Stanway. "I am waiting."

"Bueno. Now first I want you to remember this: I am in the position to be the key to the situation, and you must see that. If for any reason the vaqueros in some sudden fit of rage should seek to put a violent end to my gay little existence-" He shrugged. "It would be like a man in a prison cell destroying the key to his liberty, senor."

"Go on. Needless to say I don't understand."

"You will in a moment." He glanced at his watch. "It is almost three. This you must understand: if such a thought should come into the vaqueros' bloody minds I shall look to you as my protector.

"Now"-his air, his smile, his very carriage eloquent of a laughing impudence, he stepped close to the shuttered window-"now something is going to happen."

Suddenly his hand shot out and a pane fell from the window, broken now, when silence answered him, a into many pieces, tinkling upon the carpet. Torre put his face to the opening he had so rudely made and called out sharply, aloud:

"Ahora, companeros! Strike!"

Stanway's hand; a revolver was in against the oak panels, but the panels the hand of each vaquero in the themselves were no obstacle to the ing cowboys out of earshot. Torre, | rest of you stay with your prisoners Do not harm them-until I come back. They alone can help us save your master and mistress. But if they try to escape then shoot them like dogs!" And he was gone, running swiftly through the long hall, his words floating back across his shoulder, the ed so that none but the rancher | heavy boots of Gaucho and Esteban pounding just behind him.

> Door after door he flung open as he raced on through the darkness, waiting for no candle. He came at last to the broad stairway leading up to Teresa's rooms, Gaucho and Esteban at his heels.

Here there was light, a candle burning low upon the floor at the side of Pedro's couch. And Pedro-"They have killed him!" It was Gaucho's voice in a little expressionless grunt. Pedro lay upon the floor at the side of his couch, his body half covered with the bimakets which had fallen with him, his face very white, a smear of blood across temple and cheek.

Celestino, the vaquero who had spent the night at Pedro's side, was not to be seen.

Stanway, rushing up the stairs, his revolver in his hand, bestowed only one look upon the unconscious Pedro and rushed at the door of Teresa's room.

The door was locked. He called. There was no answer. Everything was perfectly still. He knocked at the door londly, calling again. And great fury swept through him, his brain seemed to be on fire, his voice seemed to him to come from a great distance as he shouted for an ax.

The ax came, but he had not walted A revolver flashed into sight in for it. A heavy chair had splintered

Stanway scarcely heard the man. He was looking for a ladder, seeking to see how Teresa had been carried from the house,

There was nothing He thought that there had been many men here; that a man below had caught the girl in his arms as she was dropped down to him; he shuddered at the thought, and once more was running, now down the stairs, which he took almost at a bound, through the dim corridors, and toward the drawing room.

"The senorita?" several voices were clamoring at him. "Have they harmed her? Blood of the Savior, have they dared lay hand upon her?" "She is gone," he answered crisply.

"Listen, companeros. This is the work of Torre yonder. You know that. But you must not harm him-yet! There is time. See that he does not escape. If he does not bring the senorita back to us safe, unharmedthen we shall know what to do, shall we not, companeros?"

They answered him by silence and the quick turning of black, fierce eyes upon the man who had this second thing to answer to them for. Torre summoned his old bravado and the smile which went with it.

Torre did not speak, but, turning away, made a cigarette, Captain Juarez, seemingly just awakened, threw his blanket aside and sat up on his couch, his eyes roving from face to face, coming to rest at last upon Torre's as though he were awaiting a leader's move. His eyes were as grave as Torre's, his sense of a crisis as clear.

Reason for "Greenbacks."

Why the United States bank notes are printed with green backs is not generally known, although there is most excellent reason for it. The great drawback to paper currency is the likelihood of its being counterfeited, and therefore experts are constantly at work to contrive ways of making it impossible to copy such bills. Stacy J. Edson was the man who in 1857 invented the green ink that Uncle Sam uses on his bank bills. The ink, which was patented. Is anti-photographicthat is, it cannot be photographed, nor can counterfeiters in trying to get a facsimile of the notes remove it with alkalies. The secret of the ingredients of the ink is of course carefully preserved.

come to the drawing-room immediately. He has something to say to you. He says it is very important. He insists you come to him before it is three o'clock-within fifteen minutes."

"He has his nerve," muttered Stanway. "Tell him to be more explicit or to go to the devil."

"Si, senor."

Lugo chuckled his approval, and hurried away through the still house. Stanway lay back upon his bed and closed his eyes, only to open them quickly to stare into the darkness of his room.

He was remembering those forebodings which had come to him with Torre's veiled threats; he was feeling an uneasiness which he could not drive out. Torre had sent for him in the middle of the night-

Again he sat up, groping for matches and a candlestick. In the little yellow glow he saw that it lacked but ten minutes of three. He sprang out of bed, drew on his clothes hurriedly, and hastened to the drawing-room.

"Ah, senor, you are very kind." Torre's smile was full of mock-politeness. "To trouble yourself so at the lightest wish of a guest is-"

"Get down to business if you have any," Stanway interrupted bluntly. "What is it?"

"I want a word with you in private," Torre answered quietly. The man was fully dressed and now rose from the couch upon which he had been lying. "There is no objection to the others being in the room, but at least let us stand at the far side of the chamber so that they may not hear."

"If you have anything to say, say it aloud," Stanway retorted. "I am tired of your way of doing business, Torre. Now, what is it?" Torre shrugged.

"Then I shall be silent," he said carelessly. "I think that you are making a mistake, senor."

Was he? Stanway didn't know. He looked about the room. Juares seemed to be sleeping heavily upon his couch; the vaqueros, seven of them, sat along the walls or lounged about the room, each man' of them as watchful, his eyes as keen and suspicious as at the beginning of their vigil at dusk.

And yet, in spite of all this security, in spite of the fact that Stanway and the De la Guerra servants were armed and their two prisoners unarmed, the rancher had the odd feeling that there was a weakness in his the far eastern end of the building; position which he could not see, but Torre. And then his curiosity decided him.

"Come," he said after a brief moment. And then again: "Now, what him, "if I die-" is it?"

He had stepped to the far corn sends me with a message. It is to room. The air was charged with expectancy.

> "Watch him!" called out Stanway. "Jerk him back from the window!" While he was speaking he had struck one of the candiesticks from the table; Gaucho had understood and had put out the other lights. The room sank into swift, impenetrable darkness,

Three of the cowboys had thrown themselves upon Torre, dragging him back, holding his arms pinioned at his sides. Stanway, with no minute lost, threw open the shutters, raised the window and peered out into the night.

It was very still. He could see little enough, but his straining eyes ran back and forth along the wall of the house and were certain that there were no lurking forms there. His ears told him of the heavy breathing of the men behind him, but brought him no sound of men without.

"Remember, senor," called Torre, his panting voice telling of the trestment he was being accorded by men who hungered to take justice into their own hands. "Remember about the key!"

Stanway closed the window and the shutters, calling to Gaucho for a light. The flicker of the match showed him Torre in the grip of the three men, his face looking a little pale, his eyes very bright.

"If we are attacked," cried the rancher sharply, "it is Torre who has given the signal. Remember he is not to go free."

Fierce fires leaped up in the savage eyes of the vaqueros, and the big, brown, muscular hands corded ominously.

A clock somewhere in the house struck-one, two, three. Stanway counted, every sense on the alert, his mind expecting, his heart dreading he knew not what.

And then came the thing he had not looked for.

It was a scream-a woman's scream, rising sharp through the sudden silence, telling of sudden, rude awakening, of blind, gripping terror. "The senorital" shouted Gaucho. "Madre de Dios! They are killing the senorita !"

The Key.

Stanway had already recognized the voice coming to them faintly from a great fear for Teresa had already which was very plain to the smiling leaped out upon him, and he had flung open the door, running toward her rooms. "Remember I" shouted Torre after fury of his attack. They burst at last, his hand found the key in the lock upon the other side of the door, the door was flung open.

Nothing mothing but emptiness and a wild disorder which told, had ; e needed the telling, of the girl's abduction !

That cry of hers had bespoken a struggle, brief and ineffectual.

And Teresa was gone with nothing behind to show whither.

Stanway ran through all the rooms of her dainty suite, calling. Silence and emptiness were his answers. He threw open the windows to her balcony.

"Horses." he shouted. "Gaucho, run to the stables. They are taking her across the border!" The vaquero, too, heard the thud of running hoofs out there in the darkness beyond the oranges, understood, and sped upon his errand. "Here is poor Celestina, senor," said Esteban. He was kneeling on the struck him on the head. Jesus Maria! but it is a nasty blow, and from behind."

In a Balcony.

Up in the balcony of a big store's shoe department were boys busy with boxes to whom saleswomen from the floor below called like this: "Send me down a No. 2 Benny-a No. 2 Benny." "A four David, a four David." "I want a three-and-a-half Charlie, understand? A three-and-a-half Charlie." Gradually it dawned upon a woman observer that the names refered not to the boys, but to the boots. "What do you say when you want 'A'?" she asked. "Width 'A'?" repeated the saleswoman; "that's Able." Were there greater variety in women's feet, there might not be enough names to go round the alphabet and up to the balcony .--- New York Evening Post.

Her Well and Strong.

Harrisburg, Ark .-- Mrs. J. M. Needham, living near here, states: "When . . began working on me I . suffered a great deal. I had so much soreness and pain in the lower part of my body I could hardly get up when I was down. I would have severe pains, all across my back, and my sides hurt me all the time. I would have headaches constantly, especially the back of my head and neck. I was almost discouraged with my condition when I thought of Cardui, and decided to see what it would do.

I saw an improvement at once after the first bottle. I kept it up and the result was wonderful. I took altogether four bottles. I grew stronger, better appetite, less pain until I was well. I think Cardul is a God-send to suffering women, and I certainly can praise it, and do so."

For more than 40 years Cardui has been in general use and in that time thousands have written to tell us how it helped them back to health and strength.

For a long time we have derived many of our most interesting fabrics from Japan, and it would be hard to find a woman's wardrobe that did not contain some fabric that was of Japanese design or that was actually made in that land of chrysanthemums and geisha girls. In some instances, however, leaders in communities have expressed their desire to make an effort to establish for themselves a business or side line that will add to their incomes as individuals and likewise increase the property of the community. In such promising localities, the first step in organization usually is to get the support of local business men. In small towns many business men own farms and consequently are

In fact this is frequently accomplished by inducing the business men's association to contribute a suitable fund for standard-bred stock which is to be distributed among the farmers who join the association. Cooperation of that kind is usually obtained easily if the business men are shown the advantages of the organization and how the increased prosperity eventually will benefit them.

Another plan that has proved to be satisfactory in Overton county, Tenn., is direct financial assistance from the banks. In this case the banks advanced $1,000 to be invested in breeding pens through the co-operation of the poultry club agent and the county agricultural agent. Each pen consisted of ten hens or pullets and a male bird which cost on an average $2.50 a bird. The pens were placed with club members in the various communities. Each person who received a pen guaranteed to return, after the first year, 20 fowls in payment for the original ten hens or pullets furnished him. Those 20 standard-bred fowls, together with two selected male birds, were divided into two pens and the next year

A Strike for Freedom.

Unionism in a slightly different phase is being used by students of Shanghai, who have in their organization some 20,000 of their number, one-fourth of whom are girls. These unionists desire-not shorter hours, not other teachers, but they have struck for freedom of speech and the preservation of the freedom of the press. The movement, it is reported, is spreading to other cities. Thus come the evidences of the great democratic movement in China.

THRIFT IN LITTLE THINGS.

It is in the little things and small wastes that multiplied by hundreds, make the great wastes in many homes.

Example speaks louder than words, so if the house mother wishes to train maids or children to be thrifty, she must first be thrifty herself. It takes but a moment's thought to turn off the light when leaving a room, even for a short time and the turning off of the gas from the range before removing a dish, should become second habit.

How many women leave the soap floating in the dishwater while washing the dishes instead of using the little economical soap shaker which holds even the tiny bits? The same habit is noticed when doing any cleaning about the home, soap floating in the scrubbing pail, instead of resting in a dish where it can be easily reached when needed.

China and all crockery is so costly now that we must of necessity take care of the household supply. When washing dishes they are often nicked or broken by striking the handles of the pan; turn the pan so that the handles are in front or a little at the side, out of range when handling the dishes.

Use triplicate dishes on one burnet to save gas; the heat of the burner will cook three things in nearly the time used for one.

If making ginger bread, add a cupful of cold coffee instead of the boiling water; save the coffee and improve the cake. Cold coffee may be used in spice cake, in place of milk; thickened with gelatine and served with cream it makes a dainty dessert.

A small bit of butter, too small to seem of use may be saved and when six small bits are added, one will have enough butter to season a dish of vegetables. "Let nothing be wasted," is a fine motto to have framed in our kitchens.

Let "Danderine" save your hair and double its beauty. You can have lots of long, thick, strong, lustrous hair. Don't let it stay lifeless, thin, scraggly or fading. Bring back its color, vigor and vitality.

I often got so dizzy I had to sit down to keep from falling and my health Hrs. Witheelter was completely broken down. The kidney secretions pained terribly in passage and in spite of all the medicine I took, I kept getting worse until I was a wreck. "By chance I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and bought some. #### THE RAINBOW DANCE

"Come on, blue fairies," called the red fairies.

"You come on, too," said the blue fairies.

"Of course we will," said the red fairies.

"And you come along too, green fairies," they all shouted. "We will," the green fairies shouted.

"And the yellow fairies-you must come too," they cried. "We will," called the yellow fairies.

"You see," said the red fairies, "we must all be here today for we're going to give a dance."

"Really," they all said. "When is the dance to begin?"

"In just a moment," the red fairles said.

"What are we waiting for?" the others asked.

"For the signal to begin," the red fairies said.

"Who will give it to us?" asked the other fairies.

"The Sun and the King of the Clouds," answered the red fairies. "But all of us must be ready, hurry now, it will soon be the time.

"All the fairies of the different colors go together, and each make a beautiful long, curving stripe by the way you stand," said the red fairies,

"Ah, now we know," said the green fairies. "We didn't quite understand before just what sort of a dance it was to be. But with all our good friends here we wouldn't have missed it at any rate."

"We're going to have a glorious rainbow dance," said the red fairies. "We're just waiting for the signal from Mr. Sun and the King of the Clouds as we said before." -

Now all of these fairies were dressed in beautiful soft dresses of the colors after which they were named.

Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

"Hello, King of the Clouds," shouted all the rainbow fairies. "See, we've come! A beautiful rainbow, made up of so many, many little fairies, who are so glad to see you and Mr. Sun a-talking.

"And now we're going to dauce. The earth people will not know that we're dancing, for we dance very stately and very quiet dances-not the hop, skip and jump, or one step, two step, a million step kind. Our dance is slow but it is very lovely, and we always take our same positions.

"See King of the Clouds, see Mr. Sun, we're going to arrange ourselves so that the rainbow fairies on either side, at each end will tell our secrets to the earth, of how we love the earth and of how we kiss it with our fairy kisses and say we hope it's quite, quite well and happy."

So the rainbow fairies gave a rainbow dance. Their decorations, their lights, their costumes, everything went together in just the right way to make a most perfect rainbow for the earth people to see. And Mr. Sun chuckled and said to the King of the Clouds, "Well, your Royal Highness, this is a pretty big treat to have a pleasant talk with you and at the same time to see this lovely dance."

HAD CHRONIC BRONCHITIS FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS WELL AND HAPPY THIS IS WORTH READING

The experience of Mr. E. J. Tou-palik, 1438 Rose street, LaCrosse, Wisconsia, is chiefly remarkable on account of the length of time he was afflicted.

He writes: "I have been suf-fering with chronic bronchitis for twenty-six years and every winter I would eatch cold and become so hearse I could not speak for six or eight weeks. I could get only temporary relief.

"This winter I was taken with Grip and was in awful shape. A fellow workman advised me to take PE-RU-NA. By the time I had used three-fourths of a bottle, the hoarseness was gone, also that tired feeling. I am on my second bottle. Hereafter PE-RU-NA will be constantly in my house. It is the best medicine ever put up for the purpose."

For any disease due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions, PE-RU-NA is equally dependable. Coughs, colds, catarrh of the head, stomach trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins, bloating, belching gas, indigestion, catarrh of the large and small intestines, are some of the troubles for which PE-RU-NA is especially recommended.

PE-RU-NA can be purchased anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.
