Taft Violated His Solemn Obligation to New Mexico and Vetoed the Statehood Resolution

MINISTER DEMONSTRATION FOR JUDGE MCGILL

Roosevelt County Democrats Turn Out En Masse to Honor Distinguished Visitor.

Station By Hnge Gathering of Citizens Led By Portales Concert Band.

A big Democratic rally advertised for Friday materialized as an announcement. The special of the joy meeting was the passage of the Flood resolution by the senate. Numerous of McGill on the wire and his presence for the depot by the greatest demonstration ever accorded an individual since the town was founded. It even surpassed that of the greatest of all comers, William Jennings Bryan. Portales Concert band, in uniform, were out and occupied four automobiles, also there were eight or ten other autos crowded with Portales most distinguished citizens, led by Coe Howard in his big, red, auto besides J. B. Priddy, A. B. Seay and others. Mr. Seay was color bearer and carried an enormous American flag with an added star in the field to represent New Mexico. Upon the arrival of the train the illustrious guest was escorted to the big red car and seated immediately under the national colors. The platform and ground surrounding the depot was crowded and packed with admirers of the judge, all eager to catch a glimpse of the familiar features of him who had made so gallant a fight at the national capital for the great mass of common people. The line was formed at the depot with the four autos bearing the band abreast and in the lead followed by the others in single file. The procession traveled twice around the square, the band playing "Dixie" and other popular airs, while the crowds afoot that lined the sidewalks shouted with enthusiasm.

At the close of the parade the autos were all lined up in front of the Portales Bank and Trust company and their pictures taken, after which they dispersed preparatory to getting together again to hear the address at night. At the night meeting the court house was crowded to hear the talk of Mr. McGill and the address was eagerly and enthusiastically listened to by all. Judge McGill gave a brief outline of the work done by the committee of which he was a member. Showing how, that instead of hindering statehood as they were charged with doing by the Republican press, they had actually adopted the only course there was to bring the different factions together and get any kind of statehood legislation at all. This committee, while laboring diligently for the interests of the people were bitterly assailed by the Republican politicians of the territory and every possible attempt was made to discredit them but they stood valiantly by their guns and, by sheer force of their superior manhood and manifest integrity, they put their traducers to rout and succeeded in convincing the committee having the statehood matter in charge that their demands were just and proper and the committee decided to report the Flood resolution, which was, finally, adopted by the senate.

The Democrats of Roosevelt county fully realized the fact that this jollification might be premature and that our hopes might be dashed to smithereens by a weak, vacillating and capricious chief executive, but they decided it were better to jolly and lose than never to jolly at all, so the big meeting was pulled off and, even though Taft vetoes the bill and we never get admitted to the Union, yet was the meeting of much benefit in an educational way as well as social.

In another column will be found the resolutions that were unanimously adopted and ordered published. The remarks of Judge McGill were calculated to and did open the eyes of many to the hidden iniquities of the proposed constitution and it is safe to predict that the amendments provided for in the Flood resolution will carry almost unanimously in Roosevelt county.

Five-Acre Tracts Sold Well.

The auction sale of the five acre tracts of unimproved land in the school addition to Portales was rather more than a success. There were only twenty of these blocks to sell and they brought $1105.00 more than the list price or $55.00 each above list.

The sale was cried by Judge A. B. Seay, and though this was the maiden effort in this particular line for the judge he proved to be the man for the job.

The total list price of the twenty blocks was $6450.00 the total price brought was $7555.00 or $1105.00 above list. Below is a list of the purchasers, the tracts bought, the list price and the selling price.

Resolutions Adopted at a Mass Meeting Held at Portales, New Mexico

Whereas, the Territory of New Mexico has been struggling for many years under the oppression of a territorial form of government and has appealed to the congress of the United States at each session to be admitted into the union of states, that it might enjoy the rights and privileges guaranteed under the federal constitution and one to be formed by the citizenship of this fair territory, only to be refused said sacred privileges; and,

Whereas, at the present session of congress their appeal would, in all probability, have met with the same result had it not been for the heroic and patriotic efforts of a committee of Democrats, composed of A. A. Jones, H. B. Ferguson, D. Hand and W. R. McGill, which visited Washington and, by untiring efforts, made it possible for the territory to be admitted as a state by formulating and laboring for the passage of the Flood resolution which has recently passed both houses of congress, thereby admitting both New Mexico and Arizona into the sister-hood of states, be it

Resolved that we, the people of Roosevelt county, New Mexico, in mass meeting assembled, do hereby extend to the several Democratic leaders, who composed the said committee, whose lofty patriotism and loyalty to the people guided those intrepid spirits in their fight for the sacred rights of our citizenship, our heartiest appreciation for their labors, feeling sure that the results will be as enduring as time and that future generations will breathe a similar appreciation when they consider the true meaning of the rights and liberties handed down because of the passage of the Flood resolution, amending the draft of the New Mexico constitution as passed by the constitutional convention at Santa Fe.

Home Teachers Make Good.

The Roosevelt county normal has, thus far, been the most successful session that has been held since the organization of the county. The attendance has been larger and the work more thorough and productive of much better results than heretofore. County Superintendent Mrs. S. F. Culbertson showed wisdom this year in checking out away from home teachers for conductors. For some time past our normals have been conducted by foreigners who had no interest whatever in our permanent welfare and, barring the money they received for their work, no interest of any kind whatsoever in our community. This year, however, Mrs. Culbertson employed the conductor and practically, all the teachers from among our own people. Teachers of experience, of real worth, who had, not only the good of our schools at heart, but were deeply interested in our every undertaking of any character whatsoever. And the wisdom of this course has been amply demonstrated in the practical results obtained. Instead of attending the normal this year solely because it was a compulsory requirement in order to teach, the students are unanimous in saying that they are deriving a real pleasure from it, as well as much added knowledge. In fact, the experiment has been so very successful this year that it is very doubtful if conductors for our normals will be imported in the future.

When writing to your friends don't forget to mention that Portales Valley is the natural home of the big onion, of the juicy, luscious grape and alfalfa.

Beet Sugar Meeting.

There was a well attended meeting of the farmers who have signed contracts for the erection of a beet sugar factory at Portales at the court house Saturday. Mr. Thomas, president of the company, was called upon and stated to the meeting that arrangements had been concluded whereby abundant capital could be procured for the beet sugar factory and for the placing of the wells and pumps and for the construction of the railroad from Ft. Worth to Portales and Albuquerque. A general discussion of the situation was then indulged in and a rising vote of thanks extended to the promoters of the industry for their energy and perseverance. The meeting adjourned to meet two months from Saturday to ascertain what progress was being made. Every body was elated with the good news and hearty good will prevailed throughout the meeting. The following cablegram from Mr. Holland was read.

London, Aug. 10.
Thomas,
Portales, N. M.
Agreement has been concluded whereby abundant capital can be procured in France covering both yours and railroad.

Holland.
Later cablegram says Mr. Holland will leave London for New York on Friday, 18th. Mr. Thomas and others will meet Mr. Holland in Scranton, Pennsylvania, on or about the 29th.

W. E. Lindsey left Saturday for a trip to Denver. Judge has been more than ever worked during the past summer and it is hoped that a little outing will prove beneficial.

SWEET POTATOES YIELD 850 BUSHELS PER ACRE

Will Martin Demonstrates Ability of Energetic Gardener to Make Good.

William Battenfield Cuts Alfalfa Third Time This Year--Brings $23.00 Per Acre.

In the northwest part of town lives a man who has proved beyond any possibility of doubt that a man can support in ample comfort any ordinary sized family from the proceeds of a five acre tract of land, provided always that the land is properly watered and cultivated. In this connection it might be well to state that the gentleman referred to is Mr. Will Martin and he is, of course, a thoroughly practical and competent irrigation expert. Mr. Martin has a very efficient though primitive system of irrigation consisting of a Fuller & Johnson gasoline engine of one and one-half horse power, which is attached direct to the sucker rod in his well; this engine pulls a five inch deep well cylinder at an average depth of about thirty feet and produces about thirty gallons of water per minute. The water thus pumped is emptied into a large surface tank and stored until needed.

On two acres of this tract Mr. Martin has out about thirty thousand sweet potatoes which were planted during the months of April and May and he is now harvesting them. This has been an unusually dry year, yet these potatoes have been watered only four times. Should they stop growing now and the yield remain equal to what is now being taken off the land, the two acres will produce something more than seventeen hundred bushels of potatoes and Mr. Martin states that he has never marketed them for less than $1.50 per bushel which would make this year's crop worth $2550. Now take away one-third of this amount for accidents, bad market, etc., and you still would have from two acres of land $1700, as much as the president of either of our banks gets as salary, and not to exceed $500 invested.

But, hold on, this is not all, Mr. Martin has about an eighth of an acre of tomatoes, which, at the very lowest estimate will bring him two or three hundred dollars, or sufficient to defray his expenses through the summer.

Now this sounds pretty good but you all know Will Martin and you know that any statement which emanates from him is entitled to full credence and faith. His place is in the Benson addition to Portales, in the northwest portion of the town. Take a copy of the Herald with you and go out to his place and verify these figures. We'll stand for anything Will Martin tells you.

Alfalfa Runs into Money.

For the third time this year William Battenfield has cut his alfalfa and he marketed the crops soon as it was properly cured receiving in payment $23 per acre gross. Mr. Battenfield is confident that he will be able to get, at least, two more cuttings and possibly three more this year. Taking five as the maximum number of harvests in one season, you have a total of $115 per acre for your crop and aside from the water, there is no expense except harvesting and marketing. Mr. Battenfield has a private pumping plant consisting of a fifteen horse power engine and a five inch centrifugal pump, which should reasonably be expected to deliver about five hundred gallons per minute. The cost of pumping this water on the land cannot exceed $5.00 per acre for the season, but lets be liberal and multiply this already stated double cost by three and make the cost of the water 15.00 per acre for the season, it can still readily be seen that no farmer is calculated to starve to death while receiving a paltry $100.00 per acre for the crop he cuts and markets five or six times a year.

That alfalfa will be one of the staples of the Portales Valley is now no longer a matter of speculation. It has proved a revenue producer and a mortgage lifter wherever given any reasonable excuse to grow and has even flourished under most adverse conditions here. Mr. Battenfield has fifteen acres and is getting in more just as fast as is practicable, and at the same time, do the work thoroughly and well. If you have any doubts about alfalfa a few minutes talk with Mr. Battenfield will remove them for all time. His home is the old John W. Puckett place and he will be glad to show you what he has any time you will take the trouble to go and see him.

Campbell-Sanders Nuptials

On the evening of the 12th, at Mr. U. N. Hall's residence, Mr. Wm. Campbell and Miss Edith M. Sanders, both of Inez, were united in marriage. In addition to the members of the household, the occasion was witnessed by a few personal friends of the bride and groom. After the ceremony the guests were treated to a delicious course of refreshments by the charming hostess, Mrs. U. N. Hall.

On Sunday morning next Mrs. Campbell left for a few weeks visit with their people at Billings, Okla., and Benville, Ark., after which they will return to their palatial home at Inez, N. M. The many friends of the groom congratulate him upon winning for himself such a charming bride.

DEMOCRATIC IN POLITICS

Ratified Anyway.

The big Democratic meeting was held Friday night as per advertisement in the Herald, and the court house was packed, notwithstanding the intense heat, to listen to the talk of Hon. William R. McGill of LaLande, who if statehood becomes a reality, will be the first member of congress from the new state. The judge was not here seeking political preferment, but came at the earnest solicitation of many warm personal and political friends who felt that the rejoicing over statehood prospects would not be complete nor wholly satisfactory without the presence of the "Sturdy Oak" from the Pecos. The fact that Judge McGill had given freely of his time and his own money to secure some concessions from the iniquitous and un-American provisions of the constitution that was adopted by the people of the Sunshine Territory, only because they felt that any old change would, necessarily, be a change for the better, all tended to make the feeling toward the Judge much stronger than is ordinarily felt toward a favorite son. Judge McGill was very generous in his compliments for his colleagues, on the congressional committee, Messrs. Jones, Ferguson and Hand and vehemently insisted that they were due more credit than he for the passage of the Flood resolution and we of Roosevelt county are glad to accord full honor and glory to these oft tried and always found true patriots, for their vigorous, manly and successful fight at Washington, yet we can hardly conceive of the judge sitting supinely by while his friends and neighbors are crying out for relief, consequently, while we believe that the other three gentlemen exerted every effort, wielded every influence and brought to bear every pressure, that lay within their power, yet the judge was over modest in telling of his part in the work and it is the one safe bet that the other three gentlemen will bear witness to the fact that Judge McGill was not idle while in Washington. The Herald believes that the new state should fittingly reward these gentlemen for their efforts to give the people statehood at the earliest possible moment and under much more advantageous conditions than the henchmen of Herr Spiess offered. For instance, Mr. Ferguson would make an excellent governor and a vast improvement over the present incumbent. Judge McGill is the logical candidate and the one best fitted, by reason of his unquestioned integrity and loyalty to principle, to represent us in congress, while the other two gentlemen would make exceptionally good senators, or, maybe take some high office in the state. However, the eastern part of New Mexico furnishes the Democratic votes and they would be tickled to death to have an opportunity to vote for a home man for congress, provided Judge McGill was that home man.

If Sol Luna decides to be a candidate for the senate, some fool Democrat will be dead sure to call his supporters Luna tics.

In matters political, the "Grey Eagle" has recently developed into a very ordinary "Buzard".

Yes, the majority was 18,000 but the Republicans have no cause to jolly over it.

Sure, Taft vetoed the statehood resolution.

It is now admitted that in the last presidential election the people selected quantity instead of quality.

It's just as easy to boost as it is to knock and it is a heap more pleasant, both for you and for your audience.

Alfalfa, grapes and onions. These three products mean a fortune to the Portales Valley farmer who plants, cultivates and irrigates them.

Lets see, didn't one, T. Roosevelt, formerly draw a salary from your "Uncle Samuel?" Say! "Can anyone tell where our Teddy's gone?"

President Taft must have some very warm friends in Arizona, who would in all probability have been candidates for judicial positions in the event of statehood. That's right, Bill, look out for your own.

There is no reason why Portales should not double in population during the coming twelve months. Are you doing your whole part to help bring this condition into existence? If not get busy.

That 14,000 majority really meant a majority of 18,000 against Republican corruption, against judicial tyranny, against carpet-bag government, in fact, it meant a majority of 18,000 for any blamed old thing in preference to the evils we now endure.

That 18,000 majority was the most severe arraignment of the Republican administration that was ever dealt to a political party. That unmentionable constitution was the people's only hope to change the present unbearable conditions and the people jumped at it with all the vim and energy with which a starving bed bug attacks an old maid at the dead hour of midnight. Oh, you 18,000 majority.

Mr. President, our people gave a majority of 18,000 for the most villainous constitution that was ever drafted by a people supposed to be free, and they did this wholly and solely to get rid of your appointees. Now, the least you could do would be to allow them to make this supreme sacrifice and call back your undesirables, sign this twentieth century corporation "O Grab Me Act" and allow us to attend to our own business for a little while.

The Fort Sumner Review takes a fancy shot at the Democratic committee which went to Washington to facilitate statehood, stating that somehow or other they did manage to get their name in the record. Also this same Fort Sumner paper says that when Judge Mann and George Curry arrived on the scene that there was something doing. This latter statement is admitted but the things that were done were in no way creditable to New Mexico. It is suggested that this Fort Sumner Review does not look very high for its ideals in statemanship.

Taft vetoed the statehood resolution. This is the first time in the history of this nation that a chief executive has refused to approve the constitution of a state when properly presented. This veto was the act of a wanton, without reason, without justification and without precedent. In order to exercise this veto power, Mr. Taft absolutely disregarded a public pledge, solemnly given, to the people of New Mexico at Albuquerque. The reason—oh, darn the reason, a broken obligation of this character, if done by one in a less exalted station, would be called by a much harsher name, and there would be no disclaimer heard, either.

By Way of Comparison.

The Nature Source of Life are Earth, Air, Water and Heat Sunshine.
Written by W. E. Lindsey.

In Illinois nature, uncontrolled rules all four and farm land is worth $200.00 per acre, 160 acres for $32,000.00.

In the Portales Valley Irrigation project man controls the element of water alone and 40 acres of land produces as much and more than the 160 acres in Illinois; wherefore 40 acres in the Portales Valley Irrigation Project is worth $32,000.00 and more, besides the comfort.

In Illinois the rain pours when moisture for crops is not needed, the roads are deep in mud, impassible, the cut grass and shocked grain, mould and spoil. In the Portales Valley Irrigation Project the highways, almost unworked, are like asphalted streets the cut alfalfa and the shocked grains are perfectly cured and saved.

In Illinois the blasts of winter discomfort man and beast. The man must house himself to live and house his beast and each eats up his summer's work.

In the Portales Valley Irrigation project man and beast, the year round, may be and work in the open, with comfort.

In Illinois there is rheumatism, malaria, fevers and the "Great White Plague." The balmy air and constant sunshine of the Portales Irrigation project dispel all these.

What is true of Illinois is also relatively true of all the central area of the great Mississippi and lower Missouri river valleys. In the irrigation projects of the northwest alfalfacuts three crops a year. In the Portales Valley Project five crops are cut.

Portales, the central town of the project, is located on the Eastern Railway of New Mexico, 116 miles southwest of Amarillo, Texas, and 90 miles northeast of Roswell, New Mexico. It is the necessary trade center in a radius of fifty miles. Portales has a water and sewer system costing $76,000.00, an excellent system of grade and high schools preparing students for entrance into the University, Agricultural and Mechanical schools of the Territory, upon graduation, without examination. Five church buildings in each of which a congregation regularly assembles for worship. School lands and other property valued at more than $100,000.00. Cement sidewalks and graded streets. A good courthouse, a cotton gin, a wholesale jobbing house and numerous up to date store rooms and houses where the higher grades of raw and manufactured goods are kept and sold. Portales has no saloons, no ill famed pestilential quarter. No bowling alleys. It has a population of some 1500 people, all American, and all but one, white, gathered from all quarters of the Union, mostly virile, intelligent and clean.

"Science bids the desert blossom as the rose." Science applied in the construction of machinery for pumping water. Power applied to machinery, machinery pumping 10,000 acre feet of water or 30,000 acre feet of water, if need be, in a single growing season. Power developed at a central station and distributed to wells, pumps and motors on the individual tracts of land. Fifteen hundred horsepower carried out to seventy wells at each of which a pump is made to throw from 900 to 1400 gallons of water per minute of time each flooding an 160 acre tract of land to a depth of 36 inches in a season of 151 days at a maximum cost of $1.50 per acre per season. Thus science has bid the desert blossom as the rose in the Portales Valley.

Yes there is water in the Portales Valley. Water as pure as the purest. Water flowing in a natural spring, water inexhaustible under more than 10,000 acres of land at shallow depths, depths of 10 to 50 feet throughout the Portales Valley and soil, ready, level, wonderfully fertile, free and clean, ready for the reception of water. Come and see for yourself.

Mrs. Nixon Entertains.

The Daughters of Confederacy were entertained by Mrs. Sam Nixon Tuesday morning, August 15th.

On entering, the guests were given home made grape juice served by Miss Theo Bagwell.

The chapter had their regular routine of business followed by a musical program.

"Annie Laurie" by Mrs. Tyson, on violin, accompanied by Mrs. Nixon.

Mrs. Ward sang the "Red, Red Rose," accompanied by Miss Pearl Leach.

A selection from Wagner, played by Miss Pearl Leach.

Then followed a dainty luncheon of three courses. First, white bread sandwiches, pressed chicken, spiced apples and iced tea.

Second course, Elberta and almond salad, tomato with mayonaisse dressing and brown bread sandwiches.

Last course, grape parfait and nut cake. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers sent by several friends.

Besides the chapter the invited guests were: Mesdames Hardy, Dud Hardy, J. P. Stone, G. W. Carr, S. E. Ward, T. G. Lomax and H. P. McDonald.

The little girls helping Mrs. Nixon serve were Maurine Seay, Lucy Culberson and Viola Keene, dressed in red and white.

The souvenirs were tiny southern flags.

THEY DANCED, THEY DID

Ten or twelve couples of the younger set, better make it the B. K. A. set met for an impromptu social hour at the commercial club last Saturday night.

The writer noticed one or two of the older set, namely the T. F. C.'s, and it seemed as if they had been with grown people. However, there had to be a chaperone, Mrs. Williamson, on their account and it may be, from the way some of the "young'ens" talked that the said T. F. C.'s would receive no more invitations to their "affairs" unless they could come without chaperones. All enjoyed themselves dancing until a late hour and then adjourned to meet again Tuesday night.

B. K. A.'S TAKE TO THE HAY.

Quite a crowd hired a carryall, of course, the crowd in this sense meaning the boys, but there were girls along, and under the light of the silver moon, leaving the spooning part off because Mesdames Hightower and Smith were along, and hid themselves, or, rather, the horses, to the beautiful country home of the Moore girls, last Monday night. Upon arrival, invoice was taken and about eight young fryers, with a box full of camp "silverware," were found among the crowd. Upon making these findings some of the boys who had sworn to mama that they just wouldn't get that kindling because they were so tired, immediately began to rustle something wherewith to cook "them fowls." The tank, covered with stately trees, was decided upon as the place of encampment, since one or two might lure the "chappies" off to do the cooking and then back to the woods for the rest. As to those chickens, if any farmer on the way to Moore's found part of his domineckers gone the next morning, he knows where to look for the culprits. And as to the camp silverware, I expect the chaperones were thoughtful enough to furnish some.

After doing away with the said eight domineckers and incidentally a bushel or two of luscious peaches and apples and a few gallons of grapes, the crowd returned to town expressing themselves in highest terms of praise of their three pretty hostesses. In order that the farmer who lost the fowls may know where to go for the pay I will just give the names of all present:

Misses Hightower, Smith, Williamson, the three Moores, Vin cil, Birdwell, Hardy of Ardmore, Oklahoma, Bagwell of Henrietta, Texas and Scott of Fort Worth, Texas, Messrs. Mitchell, Conrally, Blankenship, Neer, Freeman, Austin, Humble, Osborn, Culberson and Lomax. Mrs. Hightower and Smith, chaperones.

NORMAL STUDENTS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. R. Culberson and Miss Pearl Hutchinson, informally entertained the normal students and their friends Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 8:30.

Mrs. R. Culberson, Miss Hutchinson, Mrs. S. F. Culberson and Miss Willie Mae Culberson received the guests and invited them to be seated upon the green turf, among the shrubbery of the Culberson home. A get-acquainted mingling of the students followed until interrupted by the sweet voices of little maidens, who had prepared a chorus of several selections for the occasion. After the selections were rendered, punch and cake were served by the chorus maidens, Mrs. Culberson, Miss Culberson and Miss Hutchinson, to all present and all voted the affair a success, especially the punch and cake so well prepared by the charming hostesses.

A MERE SOCIAL GATHERING

Accompanied by Messrs G. M. Williamson and wife, A. T. Monroe and wife and A. B. Seay and wife, quite a few of the younger set hid themselves to the commercial club Tuesday night and until the sweet strains of "Home, Sweet Home," were heard, enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent of the word. Those present were, Hazelwood Moore, Vinnie Hardy, Theo Bagwell, Mabel Martin, Sarah Monroe, Irene Smith, Fanny Williamson and Frank Hill, Glenn Blankenship, Morris Bramlett, George Monroe, Lawrence Connally, Hugh McDermott, Edwin Neer, Guy Mitchell, Earl Williams and Reagan Connally.

The Portales Valley and Its Makers

ITS FACTORS AND FORCES

In the selection of R. A. Deen for superintendent of the public schools of Portales we have every reason to believe the school board has made a wise choice.

He is a man of ability and merit, with energy and the ambition to make good any undertaking that he may set his head and heart on.

In the article he had in last week's paper in regard to the placing of pupils in their proper places by means of thorough examinations, he shows his intention to stimulate the pupils for a desire for honest labor that will earn its reward by honest promotion.

We believe Mr. Deen to be a broad and just man that has the foresight to know the needs of his pupils and the grit to push his work in his own way in the face of obstacles that will arise under all circumstances.

We believe him to be a superintendent that has the wisdom to control the difficulties which will beset his teachers and the tact to commend the good in their work that he will advise with those qualities of smoothness and necessary for the teacher to do the same.

The one great quality of a teacher is that his or her name should be above reproach.

Teachers, did you ever notice the quiet quiscial and steady observation that your pupils sometimes take of you? an unwritten inventory that doesn't mean they are looking at the clothes you wear or the color of your eyes, can you just imagine that their lives are so many panoramic views, and each day you leave a portion of it stamped with something, what will it be?

The next helpers the superintendent needs, are the parents. Fathers and mothers what are you going to do to make your schools a success? Will you undertake to see that your children are in school every day, that they are there before the bell rings, ready for their daily lessons?

If you don't understand why your children are not managed in the way you think they ought to be, are you going to stay at home and write unkind notes to the teacher and make more unkind remarks about them before gentleness which oil the machinery of the whole school and give it the dignity of unity and success.

R. A. DEEN, SUPT. PORTALES PUBLIC SCHOOLS

A school is moving best when each teacher is controlling her own room, but there is such a sense of security, where troubles arise and the teacher knows she can have the needed help when the situation is presented to the right man.

Will Mr. Deen need help in his work? Yes, he will need the help of the school board that will cooperate with him in pushing forward everything that is good, checking movements that are more hurtful than otherwise.

He needs the help and support of a strong body of teachers who are well equipped for their work with knowledge they can impart a love for their work and a great desire to instill something of manhood and womanhood in the children they are to lead.

A child's life is divided in three parts time to sleep, time to do school work and time to play. The teachers have them one third of their time, and the influence brought to bear upon them then follows them, in their play.

If it is necessary for a mother to pray for wisdom and understanding to guide her children to paths of honor, is it not just as the children or will you go pleasantly and kindly to discuss the matter first with the superintendent, and if need be, then with the teacher?

Are you going to visit the teacher and ask her to visit you in your home?

Remember that this teacher is helping you to mold the character of your children she needs your efforts not only to augment the moral susion part of it, but the intellectual side as well. Are you going to see that your children are giving some attention to their lessons at home? Are you going to arrange their social pleasures and they should have them, so they will not conflict with their study hours?

Then the general public is a helper, the whole institution needs your sustaining good will and good words, be careful how you discuss school affairs and criticize teachers in your clubs and public places. All of this censure some way or some how gets to the children's ears, and it does not make them any more respectful and reverent toward their teachers and toward you.

The situation of the town of Portales will make it a very desirable place for other schools and further more the people of Portales should encourage the coming of other schools, and if they make their public school a success how much easier will it be to secure a normal school, which in the course of time would be placed in this side of the state of New Mexico.

Curtiss Biplanes at Fair

Glenn H. Curtiss, probably the best known aviator in the world, general director of the Curtiss Exhibition company of New York, a man who has awed and amazed thousands by his thrilling flights, has signed a contract with the New Mexico Fair association for two flights daily in Albuquerque on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of fair week, October 9 to 14. It is not yet known whether Mr. Curtiss will make the flights himself, or whether they will be made by one of his associate aviators, John A. McCurdy, Eugene B. Ely, Hugh A. Robinson, James J. Ward, Lincoln Beachy and C. C. Witmer, all of whom have splendid records for flights on many fields. The conditions of the contract signed in New York Wednesday afternoon between P. F. McCanna, chairman of the advisory board of the fair association, and Mr. Curtiss on behalf of his company, are that there shall be two flights daily on three days of fair week, one flight to be at least over five hundred feet high. The fact that an aviation meet has been secured for the state fair, and that aviators of international repute will participate, more than assures the success of the amusement feature of the fall exhibition.

At Baptist Church

We will begin a series of meetings at the Baptist church, Aug. 20th. The preaching will be done by W. G. Downing. Another interesting feature is the "New Evangel Song Book" which will be ready for use in the first service. You will want to hear our splendid choir render these new and thrilling pieces. Ere this book came off the press it was adopted by four of the largest conventions in the world. Come and help us make this meeting glorifying and honoring to God. We must have you. It is your meeting.

W. C. TAGGART, Pastor.
