about dimmitt and castro county

Old Tack in the Amarillo News made a rash offer recently when he stated that he would pay anyone a hundred smachers if they could find a goodness Humming Bird in the Panhandle area. Old Tack can make out a check to Mrs. B. J. Brannan of Dimmitt because she has read his offer and can show him the birds that he says never frequent these parts. There is no out for the Amarillo naturalist, he can either come to Dimmitt any afternoon between five and seven o'clock and see the birds as they feed on the Trumpet and Honeysuckle vine blossoms at the Brannan home, or he can take my word, in support of Mrs. Brannan's claim, that the Humming Birds at the Brannan home are one-hundred percent Humming Birds. Now Mrs. Brannan may not be too enthusiastic about accepting the hundred dollars, but I'll bet she will take it even if it won't buy much. My experience has been that a hundred dollars won't go very far, but if it is deposited in time it will keep a ninety-nine dollar check from bouncing.

Had a pleasant visit Wednesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Brannan and we sat in their back yard and watched two Humming Birds flit about from blossom to blossom as they gathered in their evening meal. Mrs. Brannan showed me in a book where the little rascals spend the summer months in the Northern and Western states and winters along the coastal regions of Texas and Florida. The way they get around they must generate an awful lot of horsepower in their diminutive engines. They fly several thousands of miles in the course of a year. Couldn't help but wonder what the difference in our agricultural production would be if B. J. Brannan, and other farmers of the area, were endowed with the same amount of energy per square inch as the Humming Bird. Along that line however, guess there must be something to that business that there is an opposite for everything, and I have never seen it more perfectly exemplified than comparing Brannan and a Humming Bird. Those Humming Birds really seemed to enjoy flitting about the place while on the other hand I never saw a man more content to just set than was (or is) my host.

It is rather amusing to listen in on the local wheat farmers as they discuss their cotton crop. This year will be the first experience that many of them have had with cotton and they seem to get quite a kick out of telling about their cotton farming. Carl Kemp just happened to be passing G. L. Willis' place as G. L. was turning his cattle in to pasture on his cotton. When Carl told G. L. that he wasn't sure but that it was his opinion that pasturing cotton would ruin it, G. L. countered with the opinion that it wouldn't hurt the cotton to pasture it because it wouldn't make anything until it was a year old anyhow.

I can't operate a free information service but if these cowboy wheat farmers are willing to pay for a little expert advice I might place my services at their disposal. Otherwise I wouldn't even try to stop them when they start into their cotton fields with their combines and row binders.

Something favoring these recently turned cotton farmers is this wonderful Castro County soil. They couldn't plant it wrong or cultivate it wrong. If they ever let the seed hit the ground a cotton crop is assured (provided it rains a little and don't hail too much). Cotton crops all over the county are looking good and the rains this week are making it look even better. Cotton in Castro County this year will average a half bale per acre regardless, and if we can have some good rains in mid-August the average will be closer to a bale per acre. Takes a lot of people to harvest and handle a cotton crop and Dimmitt will be over-crowded during all of the fall and most of the winter and business will hit a new high for the town.

A called meeting of the membership of the Plains Memorial Hospital will be held in the high school auditorium Friday night. The purpose of the meeting is to work out a new plan for the operation of the hospital. The board of directors will ask the members to ratify some drastic changes in

Local Residents Narrowly Escape Serious Injury In Highway Mishap

Five Dimmitt people narrowly escaped serious injury Wednesday afternoon when the cars they were riding in sideswiped on Highway 86 about six miles west of Dimmitt.

The accident occurred when the 1949 Ford, driven by Louis Wilkinson and accompanied by Harvey Stayton, attempted to pass a 1947 Ford driven by Mrs. Robin Vann, both cars were traveling west and the accident occurred at the intersection of FM 305 and Highway 86. Accompanying Mrs. Vann was her little son and Mrs. Bessie Bailey.

Cause of the accident, which both cars were badly damaged, was not definitely established.

The accident broke up a fishing trip for Wilkinson and Stayton who were enroute to Succorra, New Mexico.

DOMESTIC WORKERS SOCIAL SECURITY DEADLINE IS JULY 31

"Housewives must file social security for their domestic workers for the second quarter of 1951 by July 31 at the latest," according to J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo social security field office. Covered by the new law are household workers who are employed in one home or at least 24 days and earn as much as $50 in a calendar quarter.

Sanderson advised employers of domestics, who have not already done so, to immediately get in touch with the collector of internal revenue. "It is necessary to do this only once," he said, "thereafter the collector's office will mail your tax blanks to you each quarter."

"The new law," Sanderson stated, "covers domestics on a compulsory basis and for the first time gives workers regularly employed in a private household the same retirement and survivorship protection that other workers have enjoyed under the social security program."

From District Nine a total of 3388 attended the camp with 265 professions of faith. 31 of these young people surrendered for special service.

Mrs. Tom Knighton of Canyon, District Nine young people's secretary, was in charge of both boys and girls camps and was assisted by Rev. Russell Pogue of Friona, District Nine R. A. leader.

For the first time the highest award, "Queen With a Scepter," was won by a Dimmitt girl. Monette Kenmore won this coveted honor at the camp.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET JULY 31st

The by-laws of the institution so that a satisfactory deal can be made with prospective doctors. A tentative plan will be submitted to the membership that will allow the hospital association to contract with the medical staff in a manner that will add incentive to the work of the staff and at the same time give the association an opportunity to meet its obligations. Every member of the association who possibly can should attend this meeting. It is terribly important that the hospital continue in operation and in order for it to do so there will have to be some changes made, the directors want and will have to have these changes authorized by the members of the organization.

Joe Cowen Agency In New Location

Reuben Mayfield, with the aid of his winch truck, picked up the Joe Cowen Agency and moved it kit and kaboodle to its new location on the south side of the square. The Joe Cowen Agency, dealers in real estate and insurance, is owned and operated by the diminutive Joe Cowen from the banks of the Bosque. The agency was adjudged a claim-jumper as it was occupying a lot owned (acquired as part of a legal fee) by County Attorney Swain Burkett and located on the west side of the square. Following his eviction from the Burkett lot Cowen counted a certain number of paces from the Texaco Service Station corner and motioned to Mayfield, who was circling the square for the third time with the office building dangling from the end of the winch truck gin pole, to bring his business over in that general vicinity and set down. Now the Cowen Agency is firmly secured to skids (so it can be moved quickly if necessary) at its new location in the approximate vicinity of business lots purchased by Cowen several years ago. Cowen declares that in case his rights to the site his office now occupies are ever contested it won't be much trouble to skid it over one way or the other. Burkett will erect an office building on the site vacated by the Cowen Agency.

thirties. The general and continuing increases in operating costs have made it all but impossible to continue operations under the original set-up which is governed by a strict set of by-laws and constitution.

After making every effort possible the directors have decided that to continue operation of the institution a number of regulations will have to be relaxed to allow the hospital to increase its income as well as to make a more desirable proposition for the medical staff.

According to the constitution the only method to make a change in the original operation of the institution is through a majority vote of the membership and the directors are anxious that as many of the members as can possibly can will attend the meeting.

The directors, through considerable research and study, have devised a plan, that is acceptable to two known doctors, which will be presented to the membership for ratification at the meeting Friday night.

Although operating as best it can, the hospital has been unable to render medical service for the past several weeks because of the lack of doctors.

Intermittent rains fell over Castro County beginning Sunday night and continuing through Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with skies clearing today, Thursday, for the first time this week.

The rain gauge at the home of Mr. T. D. Wyatt in Dimmitt registered .81 inches for the four day period while the gauge at the Edwin Ramey farm east of Dimmitt registered a total precipitation of 1.16 inches. Although the rains have been general over the county the reported amounts vary from a fraction of an inch to 2.50 inches.

The heaviest rains fell across a northern portion of the county with the heaviest fall reported in the southern part of the Jumbo community where an estimated 2.50 inches of moisture was recorded.

All growing crops in the county will be greatly benefited by the recent rains and according to the opinions of a number of farmers of the area, prospects are good for a bumper crop yield if the normal rainfall is received during the balance of the summer. Moisture to date has been sufficient for cotton and row-crop grains, and no reports of crops suffering from lack of moisture have been made.

Ben Wooten Of Dallas To Head Texas USO Drive

BEN WOOTEN

DALLAS, Texas, July 26—Ben Wooten, Dallas banker, today was named campaign chairman of the forthcoming $700,000 fund for the USO in Texas.

Selection of Wooten to head the state-wide campaign was announced by Attorney General Price Daniel, chairman of the Texas United Defense Fund Committee.

"Each county has a vital interest in maintaining home-ties with its young men and women in military service," Wooten said, "and each will be asked to assume its proportionate share of the USO budget to assure that morale in the Armed Forces is maintained on a high level."

Local campaigns throughout the state will coincide with the regular Community Chest campaigns during October and November.

"Regardless of what happens in Korea, as long as Russia continues the cold war and millions of our youths are engaged in the defense of our freedom, there will be a need for the familiar home-away-from-home services of the USO," Wooten said.

PLANT YOUR SMALL GRAIN, ROW CROP OR BEANS THE DEMPSTER WAY

WITH THE NEWLY IMPROVED NO. 21 DEMPSTER DEEP FURROW SEEDING MACHINE

You can produce healthy, profit-making plants with the newly improved No. 21 Dempster Deep Furrow Seeding Machine, because it plants your seed deep down in the moist fertile subsoil. The 6-in. wide furrows protect the seed from winter-kill, soil-blowing and drought so it can germinate early into strong, sturdy plants.

You'll find it pays to investigate the lister-type No. 21 Dempster Deep Furrow Seeding Machine before you buy. Let us show you how the new adjustable feed run and redesigned feed box and packer wheels sow your seed for more successful plant growth, especially if you need to penetrate a tough, heavy stubble mulch in preparing the seed bed. Come in, see us today for full information about the new No. 21 Dempster Deep Furrow Seeding Machine.

Health Talks . . .

There seems to be an increasing number of ailments which call for a cutting down on the amount of salt in the diet. In fact, since salt has received so much publicity in the past few years as one of the items not to eat at time of certain illnesses, many of you might get the idea that it would be better to cut out salt while you're in good health, too.

Salt is essential to life. There is practically nothing living that doesn't contain salt. Because nearly all foods contain salt (or sodium, as it is called), it would be impossible to cut salt out of the diet completely, even if such a thing were desirable.

The aim of the body is to keep the salt level of the body fluids at 0.85 percent. That is the amount of salt in the body fluids of healthy persons. When that level changes, it shows up in the blood. The kidneys are the chief regulator of the salt level, either retaining salt when the level gets too low or throwing off excess salt; kidney disease, therefore, is likely to change the function of the kidneys to such an extent as to throw the salt level out of kilter, which in turn affects the whole body.

Other organs of the body also have an effect upon the kidneys, of course, so that with improper functioning of such organs as the adrenal cortex (the capsule that sits on top of the kidney), the heart, or the liver usually there is a change in the salt level of the body.

When salt is retained in the body, water is retained with it, usually creating a swelling of the various parts of the body which is known as edema; dropsy is an example. To get the body back to normal, medical treatment is aimed at restoring that salt level by getting rid of the retained salt and water.

Along with other treatment, a diet which cuts down on the amount of salt eaten is usually prescribed because the body will use up the salt it has stored away if too little salt is taken in; as the stored salt is called into action the water it dams is also removed from storage.

No one should undertake a restricted-salt diet without the advice of a physician. When such a diet is prescribed, however, it should be faithfully followed. Kidney trouble, heart trouble and high blood pressure are usually thought of as the leading diseases which make a low-salt diet necessary, but many doctors will prescribe the diet for a number of other ailments, also.

Depending upon the amount of salt which must be cut from the diet, there are schedules of foods to eat which vary from highly restrictive to just adding no extra salt at the table. That is a matter between each patient and his doctor as to how much salt must be eliminated. There are, however, certain foods which are lower in salt content than others; they usually form the basis from which to work on eliminating items on a salt-restricted diet.

All salted foods, naturally, come off the list first—salted nuts, potato chips and the like. Canned foods which have had salt added in the canning process are also often eliminated, but special saltless canned foods are available now in most grocery stores.

Meats and dairy products are nearly all high in sodium. Those which contain the least include lean beef, lean lamb and lean pork (smoked pork is omitted); chicken breast, duck breast and turkey breast, veal, venison, beef liver, pigeon, rabbit loin and foreleg, sweetbreads, tripe, and turkey leg. Butter (unsalted), cream, egg and milk are the last salty of dairy products.

Other foods which are basically low in sodium content include: Beverages—the cola drinks, cocoa, coffee, fruit juices, ginger ale, cereal drinks, tea and wines.

Fats and oils—unsalted beef drippings, unsalted butter, vegetable oils, olive oil, and salad oil.

Cereals and cereal products—arrowroot, pearl barley, cornflour, cracked wheat, cornmeal, farina, white flour, wheatmeal flour, macaroni, maltex, oatmeal, puffed rice, puffed wheat, rice, sage, semolina, shredded wheat, soya flour, tapioca, and wheatena. Fruits—all except those to which salt or sodium benzoate have not been added.

Vegetables—same as for fruits except that celery, beets, dandelion, kale, mustard greens, spinach, and saurkraut, are often eliminated.

Sugar and preserves—plain chocolate, dry coconut, sugar, honey, jam, jelly, and marmalade.

Fish—all except shellfish and oysters. No salted or smoked fish are low, of course.

Nuts—any that haven't been salted.

Condiments—allspice, caraway, cinnamon, curry powder, garlic, mace, mustard powder, nutmeg, paprika, pepper peppermint extract, sage, thyme, tumeric, vanilla extract and vinegar. Prepared flavorings are not included, nor are onion salt, celery salt, and garlic salt.

Such condiments as are allowed will usually make the difference between tasteless unsalted food and a nice palatable dish. Someone who has leaned heavily on salt for seasoning will usually find after a month without salt that he is detecting rare flavors in foods which he had previously drowned in salt. And those who stick to their restrictions in the use of salt testify that the day does come when salted food no longer tastes good.

Southedge HD Meets

(Delayed)

The Southedge Home Demonstration Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. D. Phillips. Mrs. Marvin Sanders, president, presided.

Each member answered roll call by giving her favorite spot remover and why.

The treasurer gave her semi-annual report. In the absence of Mrs. Orbie Armstrong, Mrs. Sanders gave the report of council. Mrs. Armstrong is the county representative going to school at Lubbock. The dates of the annual convention were announced as well as the dates of the Castro County Fair.

Mrs. Vann, county agent, gave a demonstration on spot removing, and told of the many agents used for different kinds of spots.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Phipps served a delicious lunch. Mrs. Gable, a new member, was the unlucky person to get the button.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Grady Pillows.

Idella Blocker of Sulphur, Oklahoma, formerly of Dimmitt, spent the week-end with Eileen Ballard. Ruby Dell Byrnes and Carolyn Campbell spent Saturday night also. All attended Sunday School and Church at the Church of Christ.

How Much for a Principle

Since the recent "trial" and conviction of Associated Press correspondent William N. Oatis in Czechoslovakia, the American government has put every possible diplomatic and political squeeze on the Communist satellite nation in an effort to obtain his release.

But what happens if these peaceful means do not bring about Oatis's release? Will the United States allow even one of its citizens to be treated as he has been treated and stripped of his rights as a human being. The Czechoslovakian government has violated every principle by which we have based our way of life. He was not allowed his own counsel, was not given a fair trial and inhumane methods were used to obtain his "confession".

What would we look like in the eyes of other nations, or the eyes of our people for that matter if we allowed Mr. Oatis to serve his full term in the European prison? One man's life could hardly be worth a full-scale war which could be caused by ordering his release at the point of a gun. But one of the purposes of the American government according to the constitution is to offer protection to its citizens. And how much protection is William Oatis getting? Would we allow one of our citizens to be penalized for writing fair and impartial accounts of news happenings? And that is exactly what happened. He sent out news stories without letting them be cleared by Communist censors so they trumped up charges about his being a spy and through the use of dope and probable torture made him "confess" to a crime which he never committed.

We have never advocated force in any foreign relation when diplomacy would do, but if this diplomacy fails to remedy the situation what other course would be open? It might cost the lives of many men to rescue Oatis. But this would be a fight for a principle, an ideal instead of a fight for the life of one man. Many wars have been fought by the United States because of principle or an ideal.

piece of partisan logic:

"One thing is clear, we must not enact legislation giving powers or money beyond the real necessity of the case . . . this is not war . . . Every measure, therefore, that we enact must be clearly a temporary measure . . . This administration seems to have no conception of the problem before it. There is no plan for more than a few months ahead."

Senator Taft should, perhaps hire a new speech writer or copyread his speeches before their presentation to the public.

Everyone Likes Specific Statements

The Republican senator from Ohio, Senator Robert Taft, has made quite a reputation for himself in recent months because of the contradictory and somewhat confusing statements he has made to the public.

Senator Taft was even more confused and confusing than usual in the speech which he delivered June 23 at a Republican rally in Indianapolis. At one point he asserted, as he has previously: "This Korean war is Mr. Truman's war". But simultaneously he argued against economic controls because "this is not war."

The senator then delivered himself this mast-

The Controversy of Mr. Acheson

(Ed. note—Mr. Max Ascoli, editor and publisher of "The Reporter", a nationally read magazine from New York, wrote the following editorial several months ago for his publication. Because of its timeliness now we are publishing it so our readers will have a glimpse of both sides of the Acheson case when the Republican party again goes after the Secretary of State's scalp.)

The extraordinary thing about the campaign against Secretary Acheson is that nearly everybody who has been attacking him has hidden behind somebody else. He seems to have lost the confidence of the people because somebody has heard somebody say that he has lost the confidence of the people . . . There has been something horribly unfair about the whole man-hunt, unfair to Acheson and unfair to the American people. A few weeks before the Chinese Communists struck in Korea, Acheson had with extreme boldness established a new line of offense and of defense at the United Nations. At long last, the Russian veto in the Security Council could not paralyze any measure the non-Communist nations would take to reduce the dangers of war. The long political battle of attrition had turned into a battle of movement.

Then, when the still (at best) unexplained military offensive "to end the war" was launched, the political line that Acheson had established was completely outflanked by the enemy—in Asia, in Germany, in the councils of the United Nations, in the minds and in the fears of men . . . The fruits of Acheson's political victory were squandered. The Republican leaders in Congress had been crying, "Let MacArthur have his way" but when it became clear that we had suffered a military defeat, they had only this to say: "Acheson must go".

The Korean disaster epitomizes the plight Acheson has been in since the day he took office. All the time he has had to cope with that Messianic universalism that make us sponsor principles to be applied "everywhere in the world" and pledge ourselves to resist aggression "wherever it may occur". All the time he has had to conduct a foreign policy that he knew was backed up by inadequate military strength. And all the time he has had to defend himself against an unmerciful internal opposition. . .

Diplomacy can utilize strength, capitalize on achievement, or hide weakness. At times Acheson produced magnificent results. His diplomacy capitalized on the achievement of the Marshall Plan by establishing the Atlantic alliance. Even the doctrine of resistance to aggression "wherever it may occur" became nearly workable in his reform of the U.N.—that could have made the General Assembly the active instrument of the non-Communist subversion . . . Yet all this time the major effort of Secretary Acheson was to gain enough elbow room for the development of a global anti-Communist policy of his own—total diplomacy, as he called it.

He has been like a man engaged in high logarithmic computations who is forced constantly to take time off and explain to his critics what is the sum total of two and two. This peculiar situation has cramped the eloquence of one of the most quick-minded, articulate Americans . . . Constantly accused of being alien to his people, of not speaking their language, he has made it a point to express himself in the plainest possible terms. Once, when a friend of his was judged guilty of a terrible crime, he found that the most appropriate way to say what he felt was to repeat the simple words of Christ. That was the high mark of his persecution. Even now, whenever the episode is recalled many people who profess to worship God throw their Bibles at Acheson.

Acheson's superior qualifications have been put to test under entirely unprecedented circumstances—the circumstances of a nation that for the first time in its history has to play a major role in the internal affairs of many countries and for the first time has its destiny decided less by the way its people vote at home than by the success or failure of its policies abroad.

Acheson has been the first Secretary of State to realize that even the most generous measures of postwar economic assistance are of limited use, for we are engaged for keeps in a struggle of unlimited scope. This struggle may become one of arms, but cannot be, by any stretch of imagination, of arms alone. We need political skill as much as weapons to keep on our side the men in other countries who may bear weapons with us. Acheson has organized the kind of State Department that is fit to tackle these jobs.

Perhaps there has been, if not hostility, a certain apprehension in the country toward this man Acheson who has been out in front, facing the fantastic unrolling world events, and not always at ease in telling the people what he has seen or the experiences he has gone through. The people are still unprepared for this entirely new situation of threatening world chaos, as Acheson himself probably was at first.

By founding the Atlantic alliance, by reforming the United Nations, he established the pattern of an American foreign policy that other people's recklessness has now seriously damaged . . . (Whether or not the Secretary remains in office) his enemies will not have the satisfaction of demolishing . . . his character or achievement . . . for the man who could go through such an ordeal and grow with his job has acquired a stature quite independent of any job he may hold.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Congressman Walter Rogers

MORE ON THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT: This piece of legislation is one of the most important that will ever come before Congress. The debate has been long and at times heated. There is no doubt that the members of this congress will refuse to place unlimited powers in the hands of appointed officials. This is proven by the many amendments that are being offered. We hope to finish this bill today and it is possible that it will be in a conference committee by the time you read this letter. Much has been said about the fear of inflationary trends and all speeches indicate a desire to stop them. Congressman Jim Davis of Georgia brought the issue to a point by introducing an amendment that would freeze all prices as of July 7th of this year; the freeze to remain in effect for four months. This amendment carried the Committee of the Whole House and if it remains in the House bill, it will probably receive much debate in the conference committee. It provides an immediate stop to inflation and an opportunity to solve the problems within the next 120 days. This is the most important amendment that has been proposed and I hope it stays in the bill. Cloak room gossip is that unless this amendment stays in the bill, there may be no defense production act.

RESEARCH ON WHEAT AND OTHER CEREAL INFESTATION: I appeared before a Senate appropriations committee a few days ago on behalf of an appropriation for research to fight the wheat and other cereal grain infestations. This is a serious problem, especially in our section of the country, and we must have research to protect our food supplies. Here is a portion of a committee report which I think expresses and explains the need for this research:

"Science saves our cereals:

Stem rust and other diseases took an enormous toll until varieties developed through cooperative research with State agricultural experiment stations came into general use. When scientists learned that the rust organism spent part of its life on certain varieties of barberries, a large-scale campaign was organized to get rid of these plants. This proved to be a herculean task and is still going on.

Our temporary conquest of stem rust has not come easily. It was one of the earliest diseases to demand attention of cereal breeders. Scientists were puzzled to see a variety that had stood up for several years suddenly succumb. Full resistance. For a while it was thought that the rust organism had adapted after a few years of success—looked as though we were losing ground as fast as we gained it.

One of the essential ingredients of science is ingenuity. It expressed itself in the mind and hands of a young scientist at Minnesota. He demonstrated that there were many races or forms of stem rust and that varieties of wheat or other cereals might be resistant to one race but not to another. This basic discovery explained many failures of the past and set up new guideposts for the future. It complicated the task of wheat breeders immeasurably, because they were fighting not one organism but a host of organisms, all capable of causing stem rust.

Later on it was learned that the rust spores were hybridizing in nature (during the period spent on barberries) at a faster rate than we were able to hybridize wheat and other cereals. This race between man and nature is still going on. We are only a few steps ahead. If we slacken our pace the gains of a lifetime will quickly disappear and the rusts will take over.

The recurring problem of plant diseases is well illustrated with oats. In Iowa, farmers have had to shift varieties of this crop twice in the last 10 years because of diseases. Fortunately, new varieties, Iowa farmers alone have harvested what amounted to one extra crop of oats since 1940, and the total of this new wealth has added up to more than $100,000,000. And the benefits have extended over into other oat-growing states.

New races of oat-stem rust—2, 7, and 8—were found over a wide-spread area this summer (1950) with much damage in many states. These new races were found in the Dakotas, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Mississippi, and Florida. Present commercial varieties are susceptible to these new races. We have a resistance source of parent material in our breeding nurseries, but it will take time to breed this resistance into commercial varieties."

TELEVISION: Television is receiving perhaps more attention at the present time than any other field of communications. I think I can tell you that it won't be long before the Panhandle will have television. Great strides have been made in this field and the Federal Communications Commission will probably take action within the next few months that may result in the Panhandle having access to a television station. I can tell you that it is a great thing, as we have a set here in Washington. The only trouble is that during school time it is difficult to get the children away from the television set. You never know how many of the neighbors' children are in your house. The way people here find their children is to call some of the neighbors who have television sets. Usually the children are there. Many of these people here are able to get their children to eat most any kind of food if they put it in front of a television set. The child is so engrossed in Hopalong Cassidy, or Captain Video, that he automatically eats whatever is in front of him and never knows whether it is spinach or apple pie.

I want to close this news letter by giving you the benefit of a poem that I have taken from the Hale Center American, with an appropriate explanation:

"Pfc. Franklin Cargill, a first aid man with the 5th Cavalry Regiment in Korea attached to the First Infantry Division, recently sent his wife a poem which was found on the body of a GI fatally wounded in Korea. Pfc. Cargill, who was sent to Korea in March, has spent considerable time in front line areas in Korea picking up the wounded and delivering them to first aid station. The poem written by a soldier a short time before he was killed was submitted to the American by his wife. It is reproduced here:

Look, God, I have never spoke to you
But now I want to say, "How do you do?"
You see, God, they told me you didn't exist
And like a fool I believed all this.

Last night from a shell hole I saw your sky.
I figured then they had told me a lie
Had I taken time to see things you made,
I would have known they weren't calling a spade a spade.

I wonder, God, if you'd shake my hand
Somehow, I feel that you will understand
Seems funny I had to come to this hellish place
Before I had time to see your face.

Well, I guess there isn't much to say
But I'm sure glad, God, I met you today
I guess the zero hour will soon be here
But I'm not afraid since I know you are near.

The signal! Well, God, I'll have to go.
I like you a lot, this I want you to know.
Look, now this will be an awful fight . . .
Who knows, I may come to your house tonight..

Though I wasn't friendly with you before
I wonder, God, if you'd wait at your door
Look! I'm crying! Me! Shedding tears--
I wish I had known you these many years.

Well, I have to go now, God, Good-by!

by Mrs. Owen Andrews
Young people of the community enjoyed a party at the E. B. Berryman home on Saturday night. Games and refreshments of home-made ice cream and cake were enjoyed by Misses Lyla and Betty Robbins, Velma Irwin, Veradelle Andrews, Frances Andrews, Nellie Jo Simpson, Genelle Benson, Lavada Shannon, Alma Andrews, June Vandiver and Messrs. Wade Thompson, Tommy Irwin, Clark Andrews, James Dobbs, Leonard Schmidt, Clark Dobbs, Glenn Andrews, Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Shannon, J. E. Andrews, and the Berryman family. On Sunday after church, several young people accompanied by three couples of parents, enjoyed an outing to Palo Duro Park. W. H. Andrews took the people in his truck, which had been equipped with benches and chairs. They report the usual quota of arts, sunburn, lack of drinking water, and other pleasures (?) of picnics, but a very good time in just the fun of being together. Those who went were Misses Velma Irwin, Betty Robbins, Lamerlas Berryman, Nell Simpson, Veradelle Andrews, Genelle Benson, Frances Andrews, Virginia Brock of Hereford, June Vandiver of Hereford, Nelda Lowery of Amarillo, Wade Thompson, Clark Dobbs, Leonard Schmidt, Tommy Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Andrews, Ronnie and Jackie, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dobbs and Larry, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews and Joe Ed.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lowery and girls visited his sister, Mrs. E. B. Berryman and family on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Robbins, Pat and Glenda spent the weekend visiting a cousin, Mr. and Mrs. John Luna at Ft. Sumner, N. M.

Mrs. E. H. Little and Peggy, and Miss Betty Robbins were shopping in Clovis on Wednesday. Misses Lyla and Betty Robbins were in Tulia, Dimmitt, and Plainview on a combined business and visiting trip on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson of Seminole, were visiting her mother, Mrs. H. M. Mobley, and family during the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont Greeson of Duncan, Okla., were visiting their relatives, the H. E. Lindleys, on Sunday.

Omitted from the news last week was the report that Miss Gladys Thompson accompanied her brother Milton Thompson, and family when they returned to Vallejo, Calif. Her stay there is not planned definitely. She plans to get a job, and may stay on indefinitely, or if she come back to enter college, as she had planned to do, her stay will be only through August, of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Allen of Denison, Texas, spent Friday and Friday night with Mrs. Allen's brother, E. B. Berryman. Also visiting the Berrymans at that time was his aunt, Mrs. Noel McCaffery, of St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Alex Thompson was present Sunday night and showed some moving pictures as had been promised the children at the close of the Vacation Bible School.

About an inch of rain fell in the eastern part of the community on Monday with a lighter amount reported in the western part. The moisture was welcomed and more hoped for as potato harvest is nearing completion and cotton and feed are beginning to need rain. Quite a number of people are irrigating.

Texas State Health Officer Refutes TU Scientist's Claims

AUSTIN, Texas, July 26—Cancer does not develop any earlier in areas where the water contains a high proportion of flourides than it does in flourine free areas, morbidity statistics compiled by the Texas State Department of Health and the M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research in Houston show.

State Health Officer George W. Cox, in a statement flatly refuting claims by a University of Texas biochemist that flouride in municipal drinking water might speed up the development of breast cancer, said the M. D. Anderson cancer research center an adjunct of the University of Texas, completely supported the State Health Department's contention that flouride additions to city water supplies does not accelerate the trend toward mammary cancer.

The state health agency has for the past two years recommended that municipalities add flouride in the amount of one part flouride to one million parts of water as a deterrent to tooth decay among children.

Also in support of the health department's position is the word of Dr. H. Trendly Dean, director of dental research, National Institute of Health.

Dr. Dean says he and "Dr. Howard B. Anderson (unidentified) have carefully evaluated the data in respect to the alleged relation of flouride water to an accelerated rate in the development of mammary tumors, and are of the opinion that the evidence . . . does not warrant modification in the policy of recommending flouridation of public drinking water supplies . . ."

Dr. F. A. Bull, director of dental health in Wisconsin, in a letter to Dr. Cox, wrote that the Wisconsin health department has been accused of contributing to the cancer incidence for the past six years.

"We're going ahead, despite these deterrents, with flouridation," Dr. Bull said.

Dr. Cox said the same bore of contention came up years ago when chlorine, now a common addition to drinking water, was first used to disinfect water supplies.

"Further postponement of flourides in water would penalize children unnecessarily," the health officer said. "They deserve its cavity-preventing properties, and the State Health Department will continue to recommend its use by any and all cities in the proper proportion."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Howell and Paula Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Brook Sinclair and girls were in Ruidoso, New Mexico, last week-end.

Nazareth News

Angela Wethington, Corr.

In a close game with Tulia on July 15, the Nazareth baseball team defeated the top-ranking league team by a score of 2-1. The game was, however, not a scheduled league game. Pitching the entire game for the Nazareth team was Vincent Gerber.

Playing also on July 15, the Nazareth girls' softball team defeated the St. Mary's Blue Jays by a score of 14-2. After their game a team was chosen, composed of players from the two teams to play the Umbarger team on July 22, for the closing game of the league. Players chosen from Nazareth were Angela Wethington, pitcher; Regina Brockman, First Base; May Acker, Second Base; Catherine Backus, Third Base; Phyllis Acker, Left Field; and Irene Schacher, Center Field. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Braddock, Mrs. Ted Schmucker, and Lawrence Schmucker returned last week from a trip to Nebraska, where they visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Backus and family have just returned from a fishing trip to Red River, New Mexico. Accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bond of Happy. Visitors in the Frank Brockman home recently were Mrs. Bill Ponder of Gladewater and Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Brockman and their two children of Falfurrias. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoelting, are visiting friends and relatives in Kansas and Nebraska.

Joyce Lym, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Brockman, was baptized July 19, with Rev. Thomas A. Butler officiating. Sponsors were Hubert Schmucker and Mrs. Bill Ponder.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lebow are the parents of a baby boy, born July 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brockman entertained a host of friends with a card party July 15. Entertaining also with a card party on July 15 were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Acker.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Lust were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stiles of Big Square.

By Ted Kesting

Today we are concerned with the lures used in bait casting. This is a subject fraught, as Bill Wolf puts it, with the possibility of utter confusion. Almost any small object fitted with hooks will catch some fish if it is cast into a lake or stream. This has led inventors to invent furiously, and there are thousands of artificial lures on the market today. New ones appear each day and it seems the end is nowhere in sight.

The variety available staggers the beginner—and even the veteran. Since all lures work, the natural assumption is that any old lure will do, but this isn't true. No matter how outlandish in appearance, each has been designed for a specific job, and the purchaser must be guided by some question he can ask himself.

Will the lure be used in weeds? Will it be fished deep, or on the surface? Will it cast well? Stand up under punishment? Should it be heavy or light? Can it be used for trolling as well as casting? How important is color? For what kind of fish is it intended?

Fortunately lures can be divided into types and there aren't many of them—just variations. Roughly, there are spoons, spinners, plugs and weighted devices for casting pork rind or chunks. This is not a hard and fast classification since some plugs have spinners, some spoons act as spinners and some lures fit into none of these groups.

Plugs are the latest and most important development in bait casting. There are three kinds of plugs: surface, semi-surface and sinking models. All three should be in your tackle box to meet varying conditions.

Color means less than the lure's action in the water. Red and white seems to have an edge as a color combination but maybe that's only because it appeals to the anglers.

Watch the design for wind resistance. Some of the best lures are poor casters, and hard to use in a heavy wind.

Follow the instructions given with most lures. If a plug comes equipped with a snap fastener or
