Cantaloupes were planted in large areas here for the first time this year, and they certainly have exceeded all expectations. The first of the year a contract was entered into with commission men of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, to handle all the melons we raise here for the next five years. This was the first year, and after planting about two hundred and fifty acres and letting the jack rabbits eat about half of it, and the hail take about forty-five acres, the small area left already has shipped something better than twenty-six cars, and will keep shipping until some time the last of September, with a total of about forty cars.

The prices of these melons have been just the same as the famous Rocky Ford melons, wherever they have come into competition with them, and the returns from the first car netted the growers $1.37 per crate. When it is taken into consideration that these fields have turned out not less than one hundred crates per acre, and only one or two of them that little, it readily can be seen what the melons will bring to the farmer who grows large quantities of them.

The best patch possibly in the valley is that of C. B. Kyte, who and hard times are things of the already has shipped from his past. In the place of the presieight acres 1,600 eastern melons, dential year being a hard one for about 100 express melons, and the Portales Valley, it will be rehas about 300 crates left on his membered by the old timers in patch still to ship. The culls and the coming years as the period ripes from this field alone amount of great things, to over two hundred crates; in other words, Mr. Kyte will ship about 2,000 crates from his eight acres and have enough culls to fatten a car of hogs.

They have been tested out here for hog feed and with no other kind of feed they make pigs grow better and faster than corn. It only takes a small quantity of corn to finish your porker for market after he has been raised on cantaloupes.

HOGGING CORN CROP INSTEAD OF HUSKING

Some Farmers Find This Practice of Much Advantage at Times

In these days of expensive labor, farmers sometimes find it to their advantage to hog off some of their corn until the grains are well dented. Hogevery year.

The most telling charm a girl can have is a sweet voice, and yet how often, alas, is the quality of the voice utterly ignored by young people. One hears the terrible twang indigenous to this country issuing from kissable coral lips, hears maids in the finest raiment speaking with the hoarseness of ravens or with voices as badly managed as those of monkeys. Yet there are elocutionists for training the voice to honeyed notes, and the owner of the dulcet voice is a power in every circle of society. For although the voice is the easiest of all the points of woman's beauty to train into ways of loveliness it generally happens that the low, exquisitelytimbered and beautifully used voice goes with the superior nature.

The deaf speak discordantly because they cannot hear the manner in which they are pitching their voices. So hearing is needed for voice training, and it is possible to cultivate its sensitiveness with very simple home methods. Listen, to all the beautifully-pitched voices that come your way and then go into your room and practice with the contrast of your own naturally speaking voice. You will see your mistakes in short order, and by keeping the error in mind, as important to your charm, you will soon find yourself imitating the lovely voice, first copying the manner in which single words are uttered and then essaying some whole phrase caught up from the voice melodious. Little by little you will get the right inflections, and then somehow you will grasp at last the spiritual side of human speech. The feeling of words will appear and you will utter them in the right manner, telling your fairy tale with the right touch of gayety and your tale of sorrow with due solemnity.

According to voice specialists, the commonest defect in young people is the pitching of the voice too high, and this is accompanied by a nervous tension which holds the throat taut and strained. The breath is short out in the moonlight. Of course one mother. "What for?" Second crop clover is a first-class The farmer who will pay close at- tones and destroys the vibrations. Ten-Year-Old Julia Gets Into Bad Graces of Mother by Giving Tramp a Half-Dollar.

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers; for thereby some have entertained angels unawares."

The foregoing quotation is from chapter xiii, verse 2, Book of Hebrews, and it is introduced solely because it constitutes a vital part of this story. Julia is ten years old and she goes to Sunday school. It appears that on a recent occasion the Sunday school teacher had considerable to say about this matter of "entertaining angels unawares." Anyway, it made a deep

SYNOPSIS.

The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by construction. ony. The place is to be sold, and lishistory and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibai Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells now he adopted the boy. Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony. Trouble at Scratch Hill, when Haanibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff. Betty Malroy, a frjend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington. Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price. The Judge recognizes in the ooy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail. Betty and Carrington arrives at Belle Plain. Hannibal's rifle discloses some startling things to the judge. Hannibal and Betty meet again. Murrell arrives in Bolle Plain. Is playing for big stakes. Yancy awhkes from long dreamless sieep on board the raft. Judge Price makes startling discoveries in looking up land titles. Charley Norton, a young planter, who assists the Yudge, is mysteriously assaulted. Norton informs Carrington that Betty has promised to marry him. Norton is mysteriously shot. More light on Murrell's plot. He plans uprising of negroes. Judge Price, with Hannibal, visits Betty, and she keeps the boy as a companion.

CHAPTER XVIII (Continued). 'Miss Betty, he's just like my Uncle Bob was-be ain't afraid of nothing! He totes them pistols of his-loaded -if you notice good you can see where they bulge out his coat!" Hannibal's eyes, very round and big, looked up into hers.

"Is he as poor as he seems, Hanpibal?" inquired Betty.

"He never has no money, Miss Betty, but I don't reckon he's what a body would call pore." It might have baffled a far more mature intelligence than Haenibal's to comprehend those peculiar processes by which the judge sustained himself and his intimate fellowship with adversity-that it was his magnificence of mind which made the squalor of his daily life seem merely a passing phase-but the boy had managed to point a delicate distinction, and Betty grasped something of the hope and faith which never quite died out in Slocum Price's indomitable breast.

"But you always have enough to ent, dear?" she questioned anxiously. Hannibal promptly reassured her on this point. "You wouldn't let me think anything that was not true, Hannibal-you are quite sure you have never been hungry?"

"Never, Miss Betty; honest!" Betty gave a sigh of relief. She had been reproaching herself for her neglect of the child; she had meant to do so much for him and had done nothing! Now it was too late for her personally to interest herself in his behalf, yet before she left for the east she would provide for him. If she had felt it was possible to trust the judge she would have made him ber agent, but even in his best aspect he sermed a dublous dependence Tom, for quite different reasons, was equally out of the question. She thought of Mr. Mahaffy.

"What kind of a man is Mr. Mahaffy, Hannibal?"

"He's an awful nice man, Miss Betty, only he never lets on; a body's got to find it out for his own selfhe ain't like the judge."

"Does he drink, too, Hannibat?"

questioned Betty. "Oh, yes; when he can get the licker, he does." It was evident that Hannibal was cheerfully tolerant of this weakness on the part of the austere Mahaffy. By this time Betty was ready to weep over the child, with his knowledge of shabby vice. and his fresh young faith in those old tatterdemalions.

"I think it's the overseer's niece," she told Hannibal, and they kept on toward the boat.

The girl came rapidly up the path, which closely followed the irregular line of the shore in its windings, Once she was seen to stop and glance back over her shoulder, her attitude intent and listening, then she hurried forward again. Just at the boat the three met.

"Good evening!" said Betty pleas-

The girl made no reply to this; she merely regarded Betty with a fixed stare. At length she broke the stlence abruptly.

"I got something I want to say to you-you know who I am, I reckon?" you to?" He nodded toward the age, with a certain dark, sullen beaubayou at the foot of the terraced bluff. ty and that physical attraction which Tom, in spite of his vexed mood, had taken note of earlier in the day.

"You are Bess Hicks," said Betty "Make the boy go back toward the bouse a spell-l got something I want lighted up instantly. He had a juvenile to say to you." Betty hesitated. She was offended by the girl's manner, which was as rude as her speech. "I ain't going to hurt you-you needn't be afraid of me. I got something important to say-send him off, I tell you; there ain't no time to lose!" The girl stamped her foot impatiently.

Betty made a sign to Hannibal and he passed slowly back along the path. He went unwillingly, and he kept his head turned that he might see what was done, even if he were not to hear what was said

That will do, Hannibal-wait there -don't go any farther!" Betty called after him when he had reached a point sufficiently distant to be out of hearing of a conversation carried on in an ordinary tone. "Now, what is it? Speak quickly if you have anything to tell me!"

"I got a Meap to say," answered the girl with a scowl. Her manner was still fierce and repellant, and she gave Betty a certain jealous regard out of her black eyes which the latter was at a loss to explain. "Where's Mr. Tom?" she demanded.

"Tom? Why, about the place, I suppose-in his office, perhaps." So it had to do with Tom. . Betty felt sudden disgust with the situation.

"No, he ain't about the place, either! He done struck out for Memphis two hours after sun-up, and what's thing of my jelly tart I left on that more, he ain't coming back here to chair? night-" There was a moment of silence. The girl looked about apprehensively. She continued, fixing her black eyes on Betty: "You're here alone at Belle Plain-you know what happened when Mr. Tom started for Memphis last time-I reckon you-all ain't forgot that!"

Betty felt a pallor steal over her face. She rested a hand that shook on the trunk of a tree to steady herself. The girl laughed shortly.

"Don't be so scared; I reckon Belle Plain's as good as his if anything happened to you?"

By a great effort Betty gained a measure of control over herself. She took a step nearer and looked the girl steadily in the face. "Perhaps you will stop this sort of talk, and tell me what is going to happen to me-if you know?" she sald quietly. "Why do you reckon Mr. Norton was shot? I can tell you why-it was all along of you-that was why! The girl's furtive glance, which searched and watched the gathering shadows, came back as it always did to Betty's pale face. "You ain't no safer than he was, I tell you!" and she sucked in her breath sharply between her full red lips.

"What do you mean?" faltered

"Do you reckon you're safe here in the big house alone? Why do you reckon Mr. Tom cleared out for Memphis? It was because he couldn't be aroung and have anything happen to "Oh, but it is used. Mr. Tom uses you—that was why!" and the girl sank her voice to a whisper. "You soon as you can!"

L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter

(Ball Bearing - Long Wearing)

The Printing Center is the point where all the mechanical operations become resolved into one unit of effort.

All the energy of this machine is concentrated on the type face the moment it touches the paper.

Smoothness and harmony of working parts are achieved through a wonderful system of ball-bearings.

Vibration and jamming of the typebars are made impossible by the Typebar Guide. Other new features are the Geared Carriage-Ball Controller and the Ribbon Color-Switch.

Model Five has a certain crispness and vitality of key-operation that is a delight and a help to the operator.

Tremendous Business in Sight Which Should Not Be Checked.

From the Gary, Ind., Tribune, Sept. II, Orders on the books of the United States Steel corporation as of August 31 called for 6,163,375 tons of material. This figure represents an increase of 206,296 tons over the amount booked a month earlier. It is also the largest amount of business shown since the corporation began issuing monthly reports of its orders, and has not been exceeded in the quarterly statements since September 30, 1907. The largest amount of business the corporation ever reported was 8,489,719 tons on December 31, 1906. Since the beginning of this year the business on the order books he increased from 5,084, 761 tons and during a large part of close to their productive capacity.

This means everything to Gary for the next year. If the steel companies cannot keep pace with their orders, with all their plants running at practically full capacity, the time is at hand when extensions will be in order, and Gary is going to get its share of the extensions.

Elsewhere in this issue, the Tribune prints a remarkably "boomish" series of interviews with New York bankers. They are worth reading,

It all goes to show that general business is going to be tremendous for at least a year to come, and Gary is in position to get its full share of the good things bounteous times are to

NO TALK OF HARD TIMES Philadelphia Bankers Say That Buel ness is Good Everywhere.

Philadelphia, Sept. 11. - Bankers here today expressed themselves as much encouraged by the prospects of almost a tidal wave of business and a trade prosperity that will endure owing to the prospects of bumper crops as forecast in the government crop report issued yesterday.

President Taft Has Given Good Government to the People.

From 1882 to 1892 the ordinary expenses of the federal government ina year. In the succeeding decennial was, Thursday, October 17th. period they increased about 4 per cent a year. Under the presidency of Mr. Roosevelt the annual increase was almost 6 per cent. Mr. Taft has not only stopped this annual increase, which had so long seemed inevitable. but has actually brought about a decrease. Under Mr. Roosevelt the ordinary annual expenses of the government grew from about $471,000,000 to $662,000,000, an increase of $191,-000,000 in seven years. Mr. Taft has reduced them from $662,000,000 to $654,000,000,

Half the Regular Fuel Supply Required

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater, on account of the patented air-tight and gas-tight construction and patented hot blast combustion, gives perfect control over the fire.

Build Only One Fire a Winter

It is so perfect in construction that fire keeps all night-It saves the gases wasted with other stoves.

The cost of the stove is saved in fuel. $5.00 worth of soft coal, hard coal or lignite, or a $1.50 ton of slack or screenings will do the work of twice the amount of fuel in other stoves.

It is guaranteed to remain always air-tight, which means that it is always a fire-keeper.

Examine Cole's Original Hot Blast before you buy-Avoid imitations which only look like the genuine.

When a person's hair ends split, it's taken by the superstitious for a sign that she is either a witch or has been bewitched. As blond hair splits more readily than dark hair, all witches, spirits and sorceresses have blond or red hair, according to popular belief. Likewise, according to the standard of art.

Other Reforms Accomplished. The white slave traffic has been vigorously and effectively attacked. and severe punishment has been meted out to those engaged in the nefarious business.

A bureau of mines has been established, so as to safeguard the lives of miners. President Taft personally attended a demonstration of the methods employed to rescue miners and has done everything in his power to give efficiency to this new bureau, Another great social reform which President Taft advocated and which received his hearty approval when the law was passed concerns the investigation of child labor conditions by the government. President Taft selected a woman to manage the bureau which is conducting the inquiry in order that there might be a sympathetic and thorough administration of the law.

Under President Taft's administration the Panama canal will be completed ahead of time, without a taint of graft. President Taft has made several visits to the isthmus in order to personally assure himself that the work was being prosecuted honestly and vigorously. An income tax amendment to the federal constitution has been submitted to the states and now lacks only the affirmative action of the legislatures of three or four additional states to become a part of the fundamental law of the land.

Tariff Revised Downward. The tariff has been revised downward. Under the Payne tariff law, ap satisfactory activity, proved by President Taft, the list of articles admitted duty free was increased, while the average rates of duty upon all dutiable articles was decreazed. No American industry has been crippled and not one American workman has been thrown out of employment by reason of its enactment. Believing that the schedules might be still further revised, President Taft created the tariff board, an organization of experts, who dealt with the tariff problem from a business point of view and who suggested further changes. The Democratic house of representatives ignored these wellconsidered recommendations and also legislated the tariff board out of existence. The tariff bills vetoed by President Taft were framed by a committee of fourteen Democrats, eleven of whom are lawyers and the other three have had no business experi-

BUSINESS OUTLOOK GOOD

Dun's Trade Report Gives Encouragement for all Lines of Business.

From the Freeport, Ill., Standard, Sept. Dun's trade report for the past week gives encouragement for all lines of business, crops and manufacturing enterprises. In part the report says: Continuous advance in trade activity is the tenor of the reports from the principal manufacturing and distributing centers last week. The advance is both in actual volume of transactions and in that confidence which is the basis of healthy busi-

The big August bank clearings are development of present activity and buoyancy. Clearings in August gained 4.6 per cent, over last year, while during this week they increased 10.5 per cent. over 1911 and 17.6 per cent. over 1910. The evidence of these clearings is confirmed by the currenrailroad gross earnings, which show a gain of 6.8 per cent, over 1911.

Rates of money are hardening in all parts of the world, a plain response to the greater movements of trade and commerce and the bigger demands of new enterprises. The increased confidence in the financial markets is illustrated by the fact that the August output of new securities and short-term notes in this country was $92,000,000 greater than a year ago. The remarkable consumption of iron and copper products continues to the point of actual capacity, and all the principal industries show

Politics Introduces the Only Element of Uncertainty.

From the New York Sun, Sept., 11, 1913, Prosperity for the United States and its insular possessions was predicted Kronprins Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd line. Among the most optimistic was Julius Kruttschuitt, vicepresident of the Harriman railroad linea Mr. Kruttschnitt bases his reseate predictions on the reports he received through the newspapers and from the officials of the Harriman system. He thinks that the prosperity wave will extend throughout the country.

Among those who are confidently looking for good times is Otto Kahn of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who sailed for Europe on the Mauretania this morning. In discussing business conditions throughout the country Mr. Kahn declared the big crops of this year indicated a revival of prosperity and increased business.

But Mr. Kahn was careful to point out that there was danger to business from politics and unsettling legislation. said in part:

"When any one tells you, as many are saying, that the business revival ministration President Taft caused to ject to any member of congress while not. It is true that the country is all be instituted twenty-two civil suits the bill was pending, and it is entirely ready for the great prosperity. The crops are wonderful, the greatest we a recent letter to a man in Kansas outlook is good. But business will

QUARRIES MINES AND

Industries Which Have Greatly Pros-

From the Quincy, Ill., Whig.

The mining and quarrying industry is one of the greatest industries in ministration of President Taft the miners have prospered, there have been fewer strikes than ever, and why should the miners vote for a change? The best is none too good for the working people of this country, and they have been getting the best during the past four years. Can they expect anything better under the administration of a Democratic president, when history teaches us that this would be an utter impossibility? Illinois has $6,389 persons engaged in the industry, a larger number than any other state in the east north central group, which consists of the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Do the voters of this great state went to continue so prosper, or do they prefer to go back to the old days when they worked for starvation wages? This s something for the thinking men of this country to ponder over. You sannot get away from the cold facts.
