The tax roll of Roosevelt county has arrived at the state tax commission's office. It is the roll for 1918, and the way it is made up indicates that Roosevelt county is peculiarly unhappy.

This is the county which that eloquent orator, a Mr. Wilcox, announced to the Republican convention could not be carried by the Republicans at the recent election unless Mr. W. E. Lindsey were the G. O. P. standard bearer.

Roosevelt county went Democratic, and there are counties whose tax rolls have been received by the state tax commission, which show symptoms of greater prosperity. Not that Roosevelt county, fails to show an increase $8,863,478 in 1917 to $9,213,531.

But the way the tax assessor has announced results, Roosevelt county is having its troubles. The following are absent in Roosevelt the Kenna Record at $1,000, the recently. The presumption is county, for some reason, accord-

Perfect Tire Filler Takes Place of Air. The entire automobile industry has eceived with considerable satisfacon the announcement that the wer to the pneumatic tire problem s been found, and the most interest-feature of this announcement is fact that the statement is not sed on theory, but on actual fact, inasmuch as the new tire filler which will replace air has been put to practical test covering a period of over 5 years and is already in use by over 50,000 automobile owners. 50,000 automobile owners. This resilient filler is not a liquid, and no inner tubes are used. The material possesses great resiliency, rides like air yet is not affected by punctures; will not blow out and doubles the life of tires. No spare tires or spare rims are needed. It differs from other so-called tire fillers in that it will not flatten or harden and is not affected by either heat or cold. Tests made by the Ford Owner's Club, Widney Resiliometer, Technical Universities and over 50,000 users prove that this remarkable tire filler es like air over the roughest roads and every indication points to its ptance and adoption by the autoobile industry as a successor to air in automebile tires.

The material is manufactured by The Essenkay Products Co., 96-220 W. Superior St., Chicago, Ill. Mr. J. A. Synopsia.—Her father and mother reported lost at sea when the Dunraven, on which they had sailed for Europe, was sunk, Carolyn May Cameron—Hanna's Car'lyn—is sent from New York to her bachelor uncle, Joseph Stagg, at the Corners. The reception given her by her uncle is not very enthusiastic. Carolyn is also chilled by the stern demeanor of Aunty Rose, Uncle Joe's housekeeper. Stagg is dismayed when he learns from a lawyer friend of his brother-in-law that Carolyn has been left practically penniless and consigned to his care as guardian. Carolyn learns of the estrangement between her uncle and his one-time sweetheart, Amanda Parlow, and the cause of the bitterness between the two families.

The next morning early Carolyn May, with Prince, went over into the churchyard and found the three little stones in a row. She knew they must be the right ones, for there was a bigger stone, with the inscription, "Frank Kennedy, beloved spouse of Rose Kennedy." upon it.

on the three little stones were Emeline, Frank, Jr., and Clarissa. Weeds and tall grass had begun to sprout about the little, lozenge-shaped stones and about the taller one.

While she was thus engaged, a tall man in black-looking rather "weedy" himself, if the truth were told-came across the graveyard anl stood beside her. He wore a broad band of crepe around his hat and on his arm, and was very grave and serious-looking. "Who are you, little girl?" he asked, his voice being quite agreeable and his tone kindly.

"I'm Car'lyn May, if you please," she replied, looking up at him frankly. "Car'lyn May Stagg?" he asked. "You're Mr. Stagg's little girl? I've heard of you." "Car'lyn May Cameron," she corrected seriously. "I'm only staying with Uncle Joe. He is my guardian, and he had to take me, of course, when my papa and mamma were lost at sea."

"Indeed?" returned the gentleman "Do you know who I am?" "I-I think," said Carolyn May, doubtfully, "that you must be the undertaker." For a moment the gentleman looked startled. Then he flushed a little, but his eyes twinkled. "The undertaker?" he murmured. "Do I look like that?"

"Excuse me, sir," said Carolyn May. "I don't really know you, you know. Maybe you're not the undertaker." "No, I am not. Though our undertaker, Mr. Snivvins, is a very good

"I am the pastor here—your pastor, I hope," he said, putting a kind hand upon her head.

"Oh, I know you now!" said Carolyn May brightly. "You're the man Uncle Joe says is going to get a strangle hold on Satan now that vacation is over."

Rev. Afton Driggs looked rather odd again. The shocking frankness of the child came pretty near to flooring

"I-ahem! Your uncle compliments me," he said drily. "You don't know that he is ready to do his share, do you?" "His share?" repeated the puzzled little girl.

"Toward strangling the Evil One," pursued the minister, a wry smile curling the corners of his lips. "Has he got a share in it, too?"

asked Carolyn May.

"I think we all should have," said returning kindliness in his glance, and all her retinue, by a Prince. "Even little girls like you." Carolyn May looked at him quite se-

But it Aunty Rose remained, apparently, gave him something to think of all that Stagg was quite as much immersed in The Corners church that autumn business as formerly. Yet there were seemed rather different from most of times, when she and the child were those solid, indigestible discourses that alone, that Mrs. Kennedy unbent, in a the good man was wont to drone out

"Dunno but it is worth while to give thinking of sunny-haired, blue-eyed the parson a vacation," pronounced "Hannah's Car'lyn" with increasing Uncle Joe at the dinner table. "Seems to me his sermon this morning seemed to have a new snap to it. Mebbe he'll give old Satan a hard rub this winter, after all."

"Joseph Stagg!" said Aunty Rose

"I think he's a very nice man," said Carolyn May suddenly. "And I kep' awake most of the time—you see, I heard poor Princey howling for me here, where he was tied vp.

"Hum!" ejaculated Mr. Stagg. "Which-kept you awake—the dog or the minister?"

blue sky and and the mountains, like my papa said you should."

Uncle Joe was silent. Aunty Rose said, very briskly for her:

"And your papa was right, Car'lyn May. He was a very sensible man, I have no doubt."

"Oh, he was quite a wonderful man," said the little girl with full assurance. It was on the following morning that to seize her purse. school opened. The Corners district school was a red building, with a squatty bell tower and two front him go. doors, standing not far up the road beyoud the church. Miss Minnie Lester taught the school, and although Miss Minnie looked very sharply through her glasses at one, Carolyn May thought she was going to love the teacher very titude toward almost everybody whom she met. She expected to love and to be loved. Was it any wonder she made so many friends? There proved, however, at the start, to be a little difficulty with Miss Minnie. Prince would not remain at home. He howled and whined for the first half of Monday morning's session — as Aunty Rose confessed, almost driving her mad. Then he slipped his collar smith shop and the store. and tore away on Carolyn May's cold trail.

Into the school marched the dog. having drawn the staple with which his chain had been fastened to the bole of the tree in Mr. Stagg's back yard.

Miss Minnie was both alarmed and angry. Some of the little girls shricked and wept when Prince pranced over to Carolyn May's seat.

"If you do not shut that awful dog up so that he cannot follow you here, Carolyn May, I shall speak to your uncle, Mr. Stagg, about it. Ugh, the ugly beast! Take him away at once!"

So Carolyn May's schooldays at The Corners did not begin very happily, after all. She had always loved and been loved by every teacher she had ever had before, But Miss Minnie seemed prejudiced against her because of Prince.

The little girl felt badly about this, but she was of too cheerful a temperament to droop for long under the pressure of any trouble. The other children liked her, and Carolyn May found plenty of playmates.

It was on the last Friday in the month that something happened which towards "that mongrel." Incidentally, une. The Corners, as a community, was fully awakened from its lethargy, and, as the minister, looking down at her with it chanced, like the Sleeping Beauty the dog's continued agitation. A roughly dressed, bewhiskered man sat beside the road eating a lunch out of a newspaper. He leered at Carolyn May and said:

"I guess you got a bad dog there, ain't ye, little girl?"

"Oh, no! He's us'ally very polite," answered Carolyn May. "You must be still, Prince! You see," she explained, "he doesn't like folks to wear old clothes. If-if you had on your Sunday suit, I'm quite sure he would not growl at you."

"He wouldn't, hey?" said the man hoarsely, licking his fingers of the last crumbs of his lunch. "An' suppose a feller ain't got no Sunday suit?"

"Why then, I s'pose Prince wouldn't ever let you come into our yard-if he was loose. "Don't let him loose now, little girl,"

Carolyn May had a very pleasant all—Freda's mother even approved of Prince-and it was an hour before the two started for home. In sight of the school house Prince gave evidence again of excitement.

"I wonder what is the matter with you now," Carolyn May began, when suddenly she sighted what had evidently so disturbed the dog.

A man was crouching under one of the schoolhouse windows, bobbing up now and then to peer in. It was the man whom they had previously seen beside the road.

"Hush, Prince!" whispered little "Huh, so he does," grunted Mr. Carolyn May, holding the dog by the

THE PASSOVER.

LESSON TEXT-Exodus 12:1-36. GOLDEN TEXT-For even Christ our passover was sacrificed for us. I Corin-inlans 5:7. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL-Psalms 105

I. The Passover Instituted (12:1-

1. The time set (v. 2). With the institution of the Passover came a change in the order of time. The common year was rolling on as usual, but with reference to his chosen people the order is interrupted and everything is made to date from this. This signifies that redemption is the first step in real life. "Old things have passed away, all things have become new." Before this the man was dead in trespass and sin; now he has arisen to walk in newness of life. All before redemption counts for naught.. The world thinks that real life ends when one accepts Christ, but this is a grave mistake. It is the beginning of real

2. The lamb set apart (v. 3), This previous setting apart of the lamb typifies the foreordination of Christ to be our Saviour. Redemption was not an afterthought of God (I Peter 1:18-20). This lamb must be a male without blemish, indicating that it must be both representative and perfect.

3. The lamb was killed by the whole congregation (v. 6). This shows that it was not for the individual only, but for the entire assembly. The setting apart of the lamb was not sufficient, it must be killed, for "without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins." The lamb might have been tied to the door of the Israelites that night, but there would have been no salvation, notwithstanding its perfection. Had Christ's spotless life continued till the present time and his matchless teaching gone on without interruption, not a single soul would have been saved, for "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die It abideth alone." (John 12:24).

4. The blood of the slain lamb was to be placed upon the sideposts and lintels of the door (v. 7). It was not sprinkled upon the threshold, as it must not be trampled under foot (Hebrews 10:29). When the destroyer passed through the land he passed over the houses where the door posts were sprinkled with blood. This blood was the evidence that a substitute had been offered for them. They could rest absolutely secure, because the matter had been settled according to divine arrangement. The blood was the ground of peace. The assurance is not when you feel your sins are pardoned, but "when I see the blood I will pass over you." 5. Israel feeding upon the lamb (vv. 8-10). This denotes fellowship. Judgment must precede feasting. The eating of unleavened bread signifies that no sin is connected or allowed in fellowship with Christ. All who have entered into the power of the cross will put away sin.

6. They are the passover ready for action (v. 11). The loins being girt about, betokens separation from sin and preparation and readiness for service. The feet being shod indicates their willingness to leave the land, The staff in the hand indicates their nature as pilgrims leaning upon a support outside of themselves. They were to leave behind them the place of death and darkness and march toward the promised land.

7. The uncircumcised denied participation in the feast (vv. 43-49). Circumcision was typical of regeneration. The significance of the requirement is that only those who have become new creatures by the power of the cross have a right to sit at the Passover

II. The Significance of the Passover (12:24-28).

It was a memorial institution, calling to mind the deliverance of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage-God's interposition on their behalf. freeing them from their oppression. This was to be taught to their children when they came into the land, from generation to generation.

111. The Awful Judgment (12:29, 30). That night the destroyer passed through Egypt and slew the first born in every home where the blood was not found. An awful cry went up from Egypt that night. IV. The Great Deliverance (12:31-

So mighty was this stroke that Pharaoh called for Moses in the night and requested him to be gone with his flocks and herds.

Inward Liberty.

Keep Yourself Fit

You can't afford to be laid up with sore, aching kidneys in these days of high prices. Some occupations bring kidney troubles; almost any work makes weak kidneys worse. If you feel tired all the time, and suffer with lame back, sharp pains, dizzy spells, head-aches and disordered kidney action, use Doan's Kidney Pills. It may save an attack of rheumatism, dropsy, or Bright's disease. Doan's have helped thousands back to health.

Country Should Be Forced to Pay for Ruthless Destruction as Far as Within the Power of Its

By WRIGHT A. PATTERSON.

In August, 1914, the city of Lens in northern France was a prosperous community of close to 50,000 people. It was known as the Pittsburgh of France, and its coal fields were the one great source of supply of fuel for the nation. Its steel and iron mills supplied much of the material for French railroads, shipbuilding and other industries. Its people were industrious and thrifty, living in comfortable homes, surrounded by the modest luxuries of an industrial community.

All that is left of Lens today is a wall of the city is still standing, and hardly a piece of a wall as much as ten feet square can be seen amid the and the machinery of its factories are gone completely. Its coal mines are flooded and the machinery with which they were operated has been destroyed. And all this because Germany started a war for the purpose of conquest; Cambria, Roisel, Peronne, Albert, Ara war in which no principle other than that of selfishness was involved. Today Germany is a crushed nation. Her plans for world domination miscarried, her armies have been defeated, but before these things happened the city of Lens had been destroyed.

I stood amid the ruins of what had once been the attractive and prosperous industrial community of Lens and watched hundreds of her people who had returned after the Germans had been driven back, as they searched for the spots on which their homes had they can be made to pay for them so far as dollars can pay.

And with the passing of this city there passed away many thousand lives of British soldiers who today lie buried around the place they so brave-ly defended. One possibly better realizes here the terrors of this war than at any other one spot. Here the Germans held the hills to the east of the PEOPLE ARE LEFT HOMELESS city, and the British defenders occupled the low-lying fields between the hills and the city. For them dugouts or deep trenches were out of the ques-tion as the land is but little above sea level. And here, in what is almost a marsh, the British Tommies lay month after month, through winter and summer, a fair target for the Boche guns on the nearby hills.

When I was in Ypres late in October, many of the people to whom it had been home, were there digging hopelessly in the rubbish in a vain effort to find some small thing that could be associated with the homes that the Germans had destroyed in their effort to secure world domination by a war of conquest.

City of Walls Only.

The city of Menin in Belgium, was not shelled by either army, and yet it is a city that Germany should pay for. The walls of Menin are standing, but it is a city of walls only. The floors, crumbling pile of debris. No single the roofs, the joists, the doors and windows and the door and window casings are gone, all torn out by the invading Boche, with the result that the people terrible ruins. Both the buildings of Menin are as homeless as the people of Lens and Ypres and hundreds of other cities and towns in the invaded countries.

I rode through devastated Armentieres, Bailleul, La Bassee, Douai, ras, St. Quentin, Guiscard, Noyon, Chauny, Thiaucourt, Vigneulles and hundreds of smaller towns, and the story of devastation was always the same, with but little variation, devastation caused by the Boche, and for which the Boche should pay, and for which the price assessed will never be high enough.

In many ways the hellishness of the Boche has been demonstrated. The city of Arras has not suffered such complete destruction as has fallen upon many other cities. Here the Geronce stood, as they dug into the debris man gunners centered their fire upon

The average American is open-minded.

American business is conducted by true Americans of vision, open-minded men who believe in their country and strive to meet their country's needs. The men in the packing industry are no exception to the rule.

The business of Swift & Company has grown as the nation has progressed. Its affairs have been conducted honorably, efficiently, and economically, reducing the margin between the cost of live stock and the selling price of dressed meat, until today the profit is only a fraction of a cent a pound—too small to have any noticeable effect on prices.

The packing industry is a big; vital industry-one of the most important in the country. Do you understand it?

A Bad Cough

My out Hides, Woo! and Furs shipping to had loved as much, or even more than we Americans love our homes. I saw the tears on the cheeks of many as they toiled. I saw an old woman carrying away, as the only thing she could find, a piece of a broken chair, and I thought, who shall pay for this devastation, this misery? There is But One Answer. Are the broken, homeless people of Lens to pay? Are the people of France to pay? Are the people of England or America or Belgium to pay? Or are the Germans to pay?

As the City of Menin Looks Today,

To be sure, the city of Lens was destroyed by shells fired largely from British guns. But they were fired into the city because the invading Germans in the city must be driven out that not only France, but the world, might be freed of the menace of German domination; and the debris that once was Lens stands today as a striking monument to German greed and to the accuracy and efficiency of British artillery.

Could the people of America have seen the people searching those ruins as I saw them; could they have seen the tears as I saw them they would have said, as I said, Germany must pay, and she must continue to pay until these people and their descendants are again the happy, prosperous, contented people they were before the hell of German wantonness and selfishness was let loose in 1914.

What happened in Lens has happened in many other cities and towns in France, in Belgium, in Italy, in Serbia, in Roumania, in Poland, and for all of them Germany and her allies should pay, and pay, and pay. Cruel Fate of Ypres.

Another example of the hellishness of this German war of conquest is seen in what was once the beautiful and historic city of Ypres, in Belgium. This town is today but one mass of St. Martin's church, both considered among the marvels of Europe and both dating back to the thirteenth century, are gone, never to be restored. There is no way by which the Germans can monuments of past centuries, but succulent and wholesome, in an effort to rescue from it some one | the cathedral, and day after day, week thing, some memento of that home they after week and month after month they continued to pour a rain of metal upon this beautiful old church until today it is nothing but a mass of powdered stone. Germany cannot give back that cathedral of Arras, but she can pay and should pay for the needless, senseless destruction.

And the fair cities and towns that have been so ruthlessly destroyed are but incidents in the devastation caused by this war, and for all of which Germany and her allies, and they alone, are responsible, and for all of which they should pay.

DO YOU YAWN AT CONCERTS?

If So, There Is a Reason, Which Is Thus Explained by Modern Song Writer.

If a person yawns during a symphony concert and twists his program instead of being absorbed in classical music it may not be his fault. It may be due to an undeveloped pituitary body, which is located in the brain, back of the temples.

This is according to Cyril Scott, the song writer, in his "The Philosophy of Modernism in Connection With Music." Mr. Scott says that this pituuntil this fair city and many, many itary body is highly susceptible to muothers like it, have been restored; | sical vibrations, if normally developed. In other words, it is the seat of the emotions. He goes further and adds that it is the seat of the astral or sublimal self. This is in keeping with the theory of the ancients that this gland is the seat of the soul.

In commenting on Mr. Scott's statement, Medicine and Surgery Magazine says:

"At a time like this when the pituitary body is the paramount topic of conversation in medical circles on account of its influence on our underweight or overweight, Cyril Scott's message in regard to its attitude toward music should give us pause. The faulty pitultary body can be corrected, ruins. Americans Again Reach Line 400 Meters South of Kadish That They Held In October.

With the Allied Army of the Dvina -American troops fighting desperate y near Kadish have driven back bolshevist troops which made an advance there. The bolshevists also launched attacks on the Onega sector and bombarded the allied front. The Americans came into battle along the Petrograd road and in the frozen swamps that border it. The battle was fought in snow from two to four feet in depth.

American forces captured Kadish after a display of gallautry that evoked the admiration of the allied com-While the proposed addition to the manders. Special care has been taken of the American wounded and the taken back 100 miles by sleigh and then shipped to Archangel for burial There were some casualties on Monday, but they were small in comparison to those inflicted upon the enemy. The new positions were firmly held. The enemy did not retake Kadish because the barage fire from the American guns made the place untenable. Shells falling on the frozen ground spread their sones of destruction twice as far as they wound under normale conditions.

The American positions are now 400 meters south of the village, which is made by the Americans late in Ocof Kadish.

Here and there are graves where are buried Americans who fell in the struggle that went on during the first advance. There are not many in number, but for the troops involved they give evidence that the Americans have been in the hardest fighting that has been going on here. The bolshevists are fighting more savagely here than elsewhere to hold their positions.

The Petrograd road leads southward to Plesetakaya, a large village on the Volodga railway which is the enemy's base of operations with the Kadish and Onega fronts. Allied positions on the Onega front near the village of Pechura were attacked by the enemy. This attack was centered on a Russian naval brigade which held its positions, inflicting heavy losses without apparently losing a man. On the Volodga railway the bolshevists have kept up a strong artillery fire and have brought an armored train into action. Little damage apparently was done to the allied positions. On the other hand, an allied shell struck an enemy racks, doing great damage.

Further evidence that the bolshevists are mutilating allied wounded and dead came to headquarters in a report from Lieutenant Colonel Corberly, who was in command of Amrican forces in the vicinity of Ehenkursk on November 29. Americals were the by the pastor, Rev. George E. Talvictims, according to the report. A patrol of sixty American soldiers and two officers was surprised early November 29 by a force of about seven hundred bolshevists. Seven Americans were killed and seven others were missing after the fight.

OUR MOST FAMOUS EX-PRESIDENT PASSES AWAY PEACEFULLY WHILE ASLEEP AT HOME

BEATH CAUSED BY EMBOLISM RESULT OF MANY OPERATIONS

Born a Puny Child. By His Own En deavors He Became a Rugged Never Equalled By Another American.

Oyster Bay, N. Y .- Theodore Roosevelt, twenty-sixth president of the United States, who died at his home on Sagamore Hill Jan. 6, was taid to rest without pomp or ceremony, in this village January 8. He was buried on a knoll overlooking Long Island sound.

After prayers at the Roosevelt home at which only members of the fam-'ly were present, the funeral service was held at 12:45 o'clock in Christ Episcopal church, the little old frame structure, where for years, the Colonel and his family attended divine worship.

No Floral Offerings. At the request of Mrs. Rooseveit, no flowers were sent. The altar was decorated only with laurel placed on it for the Christmas season. Also, in conformance with Mrs. Roosevelt's wishes, there were no music and no sulogy, but only the simple service of the Episcopal church, conducted mage.

Mr. Roosevelt was found ead in bed by his wife at four o'clock in the morning.

The immediate cause of Mr. Roosevelt's death was pulmonary embolism. or lodgment in the lung of a clot from a broken vain.

Mr. Roosevelt's illness may be said to date from February 5, when it was announced that he had been removed from his home in Oyster Bay to the Roosevelt hospital in New York, folowing an operation on one of his ears. Soon after his arrival at the nospital he underwent two more operations for the removal of diseased tissues in his infected ear and t was admitted at the time that he was seriously ill. He remained at the nospital until March 3.

During May and June Mr. Roose relt nade a number of addresses speaking at Springfield, Mass., and in New York. In June he made a tour of the west during which he suffered a slight attack of erysipelas in one of his legs out refused to give up his engagements. Early in November, he was aken to Roosevelt hospital in New York for treatment of rheumatism and sciatica. While in the hospital reports became generally current he was more seriously ill than his physicians would admit. Mr. Roosevelt returned to Oyster Bay on Christmas day, remarking as he stepped to the porch that he was "feeling bully."

The attack of rheumatism settled mainly in Mr. Roosevelt's right hand and Mrs. Roosevelt sent at once for a nurse in the village of Oyster Bay. His condition did not at first seem worse is believen not to have come until shortly before his death.

SPARTACANS DEFEATED IN STREET FIGHTING

Bavaria Threatens To Interfere With Troops in Rioting in Capitol Continues.

Copenhagen. Government troops have occupied all the public buildings in Berlin and thousands of government troops are still entering the capital. The Spartacans have been beaten and quiet partly restored.

Amsterdam.-A state of siege has to a late dispatch from that city.

Berlin.-War on Berlin to restore order, is threatened by Bayaria, according to a speech made in the Bavarian chamber of deputies at Munich, by Herr Auer, the minister of the interior. Bavaria, he said, proposed to intervene with arms if conditions n Berln contnue unsettled.

Spartscan forces and government troops clashed this afternoon at the Brandenburg gate, where Unterden Linden terminates at the Tiergarten. Machine guns were used in the fight-

The Spartacans entered Wilhelmatrasse, the government stronghold from Unter-den-Linden, crying: "Down with Ebert and Scheidemann!" A handful of government troops, probably not more than twenty, backed up slowly for 100 yards and then fired into the air. The Spartacans fied and in a few minutes had disappeared.

The excitement and disorganization in the city is so great that it is impossible to secure details

The Spartacan movement is beginning to affect other centers in Germany. In Brunswick the red guards and independent socialists have adopted a resolution in favor of a Spartacan uprising and seized the newspapers. It is reported that the Spartacans have taken over the government at Mulheim and Oberhausen, near Essen.

Spartacan forces still occupy the offices of the Tageblaat, Vossische Zeitung, Lokal Anzeiger, Zeitung am Mittag. Volks Zeitung and the Vorwaerts, and these newspapers are not appearing. The Kreuz Zeitung is under a rigid censorship and is only permitted to print news acceptable to the Spar-

TO HONOR BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

J. S. TO CELEBRATE 213TH BIRTHDAY

Purpose of Observation is to Encour age Continuance of National Thrift.

Washington.-Benjamin Franklin, whose picture adorns the 1919 issue of the War Savings certificates, will have on January 17-his 213th birthlay-one of the most unique birthday selebrations ever undertaken in honor of a distinguished American. It will nave the full backing of the United States government.

The event will be celebrated through special services to be held in the pubic schools throughout the country and by various children's organizations. More than 150,000 War Savings societies will make the day a special one. In these and many other ways the nation will join in paying a gigantic tribute to Benjamin Frankin, whose words of wisdom on thrift and saving are familiar in every American home.

The purpose of this birthday celebration is to encourage the continuance of national thrift. Americans, prewar wasters, became notable savers under war's pressure. Nationalising this newly acquired thrift habit is the task undertaken by the United been proclaimed in Berlin, according States treasury. Wise buying, sane saving and sane investment are the watchwords of the 1919 thrift program.

Officials of the United States government point out the necessity for continued thrift. There are many taskh in Europe to be completed; the army of occupation must be maintained. and many hundreds of thousands of American soldiers are to be returned to their homes. The treasury department has therefore launched a program of education of the American people in thrift and saving. Thisprogram will reach every line of endeavor.

COUNT VON HERTLING DEAD

Brainest Man Who Ever Served As Hun Chancellor.

Copenhagen-Count George F. Hertling, the former imperial German chancellor, died at Ruhpolding, Bavaria. He had been fil for six days.

Count F. von Hertung was considered the most learned of all the men called to the chancellorship of Germany since 1871. He had won for himself a scholar's reputation before he entered political life, and up to 1912 when he became Bavaria's min-'ster-president he had combined educational and literary work with his political activities.

Von Hertling was appointed imperial German chancellor in October. 1917, succeeding Dr. George Michaelis. He resigned in the fall of last year and Emperor William conferred upon him the Order of the Black Eagle. and his warm thanks for the faithfulness with which von Hertling had served the country.

FIVE NATIONS IN BIG LEAGUE

Germans and Neutrals Must First Sit On Mourners Bench.

Paris.-As far as it has developed the general scheme for a league of nations agrees with previous forecasts. It is learned that the United States, Great Britian, France, Italy and Japan will form the nucleus and will declare that the league will pre serve the peace of the world and justice to all. An arbitral court will be created and it will be backed by the combined force of all. The central powers and neutral nations, it was added, will be taken in as probationers as they demonstrate that they are s self-governing people and give evidence of good faith to abide by the decisions of the league. There is yet no indication when the general peace congress will begin its sessions, nor is it clear that progress can be made before President Wilson returns to the United States in the middle of February.

Shipbuilding On Increase.

Washington.—American ship yards built 1.882 vessels of 2.721,281 gross tons during 1918. Reports of the bureau of navigation of the commerce de partment made public show this total, of which all but 124,000 tons represented seagoing ships, the seagoing steel tonnage alone aggregating 1,861,321 gross tons. The bureau's figures for 1917 construction show that 1,034,000 gross tons were con structed by American ship yards

Modern Raffles Dislikes Old Watches but He Dearly Loves Coin-Doesn't Use Stronger Word Than Darn.

Denver, Colo.-"Raffles," the gentlemanly cracksman, has nothing on a bandit who has been making free with other people's bankrolls here for over two months. The exploits of Denver's hold-up man de luxe began last summer when a sturdy chap, clad in a dingy mackinaw, stuck a gun under the point of an astonished citizen's nose and ordered him to come across with his valuables.

The astonished citizen complied, passing over a roll consisting of $17.80 cash, a check on a local bank, and an antiquated timepiece. The robber surveyed the latter and then promptly handed it back, remarking as an heirloom it might be a good watch, but that he had no use for it.

The following night the marauder appeared at precisely the same spot and this time two citizens pointed their hands skyward at the sound of his command, and the sight of a huge nickeled revolver.

The nights are six months long up in Crocker land, but Donald B. Mac-Millan and his party of explorers on their latest expedition never had to be afraid to go home in the dark-THAT MIGHT BE ADMITTED at least they were certain to have plenty of light once they got there. Instead of sitting in the murky gloom of a blubber lamp, they boasted electric lights.

> Over the front door of their lodge was a headlight that threw its beams ten miles over the ice.

This state of things was produced by the foresight that prompted Mr. Mac-Millan to take with him a marine gen-

HOW WE GASSED THE HUNS

States to this competition, but we met the challenge superbly. France and England, though they tried their best to manufacture Camp Sherman, Ohio, and visited toxic gases in quantity, were never able to make more than 29 tons a day between them, France nine tons and England 20 tons a day. Germany, it is believed, was making probably 30 tons a day. But in this one Baltimore plant Uncle Sam, in October last, was turning out 200 tons a day!

This is one good reason why the Hun quit! It ought to have been reason enough in itself, but certainly with the others, clinched the argument.

Civilian laborers could not be induced to work here, at any wages, after the plant began operations, for the casualties in the month of August were 31/2 per cent a day, or 100 per cent a at Braley's. month. It is doubtful if any American division in France had a higher rate of casualty. The men were chosen from the fourth and fifth deferred classes; they worked for $30 a month-and glory-with their lives in their hands, and if any soldiers deserve service medals we humbly submit that they are entitled to them.-Leslie's.

PACKING FOR PERSHING

During the first five months 1918 the United States exported billion and a half pounds of meat-fresh, cured and canned. When you translate this into understandable figures you are almost incredulous. This total weighed more than all the peo ple in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, and Cleveland.

If all the canned beef exported from the United States in 1917 were to be served some fine morning for breakfast in the warring countries, about 65,000,000 soldiers could eat a pound apiece.

If all the bacon exported last year could be served in the same manner for a single meal, more than 578,000,000 soldiers would be needed to consume it, at one pound for each man.

Likewise, this mighty breakfast would call for 243,000,000 soldiers to eat all the hams and shoulders sent over by the United States in 1917.

But these figures do not anywhere approximate the whole story. In addition, there are fresh and canned pork, pickled beef and pork products, mutton, lard and its compounds, oleo oil, oleomargarine, and other thingsenough to supply at this mighty breakfast more than 600,000,000 across country and then over the Edward Mott Woolley. ocean is a business with difficult problems. It must go in refrigerator cars and ships, and the located at proper distances, and here the trains must stop for reicing. The necessity for a systematic train schedule is apparent for if the running time is irregular the trains will not reach the stations at the right intervals. At these stations the packers maintain their own representatives, who had great difficulty this summer in getting ice in sufficient quantities at the right times. But even when the supply of ice is ample there are always technical problems. To ice a car in the first place requires about 6.000 pounds. Before icing, the empty cars are scrubbed with lye vater and sterilized with steam.

At every icing station the ice bunkers of each car are examined and filled with ice and salt, which operation must be done at least every twenty-four hours.
