RED CROSS SERVICE IN NEW MEXICO

One year ago there was not a Community nurse in this state. Today there are ten, all placed and financed during their first year by the Red Cross. Is it worth while?

Practically every town in the state, however small, has its Home Service—where ex-service men may go for advice, information and assistance in making any claim he may have. $10,000 was sent by the National Headquarters of the American Red Cross into Socorro county to aid the flood sufferers. Seventy-five miles of valley and ninety-four farms were wiped out of existence. Miss Ethel Smock, Red Cross worker, has been on the ground since July 1st furnishing food and clothes, medical care and medicines, seeds for replanting, machinery, and superintending rebuilding of houses. She has had the advice and most valuable assistance of the Sanitary Engineer from the State Department of Health and of a man sent by the State Agricultural College, and a piece of first-class reconstruction work has been done—for the first time in the history of the state, although floods are an old, old story.

Is all this worthy of support? We say it is! What do you say?

W. J. BEASLEY DEAD

W. J. Beasley, one of our most honored citizens, passed away after an illness of several years. He had been paralyzed for about twenty years. He is the father of Mrs. J. P. Stone of this place. Funeral services were held at the home at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, conducted by Rev. Vada Davis. Interment in the Portales cemetery.

Methodist Church Services

Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:15 p. m. Leagues at 2, 3 and 6:30 p. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. We are planning to begin a meeting with Rev. Walt Bryant and wife assisting about November 15th. Further notice next week.

Some Fine Sweet Potatoes

W. R. Bray of the Redlake community last week brought some sweet potatoes to this office which were as good as we have seen this year. They were raised entirely without irrigation and were as fine as could be.

The Child Welfare work that is being conducted in the county is the first work of the kind ever done in the state. The work is a new department of the State course and the work is under the provisions of the Smith Hughes Act. Miss Montana Hastings of Santa Fe is in charge and Miss Ida Nolds is the field worker. Miss Nolds has been at Floyd for some weeks introducing the work. It is expected that the work will eventually be put on a standard basis. The object of the work is to give the child a better opportunity by finding out any mental and physical defects and trying to correct them. To bring the parent into a closer relationship. To improve the school conditions so the child will have better health. The ladies who are here have made all consolidated schools except Rogers.

The new band teacher, Mr. W. J. Nopper has been doing some good work the past week, and already a big difference can be seen in the Portales band. Mr. Nopper has also organized a class among the High School and has been giving some lessons and it is expected that he will add several new men to the band within a short time.

Go to the polls early and vote.

Doctor Cupid

That love sometimes cures disease is a fact that has been called to the attention of the public by a prominent physician. Love is not, however, the cure for all women. Many a woman is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down and worn out for no reason that she can think of.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives new life and new strength to weak, worn-out, run-down women. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is now sold by all druggists in the United States in tablets as well as liquid form.

EVANT, TEXAS.—"I have used Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was run-down and suffered from functional disturbances but 'Favorite Prescription' regulated me. I was so nervous I was miserable and could not sleep at night when I began to use the 'Prescription.' I had not taken a whole bottle until I could sleep well and got as stout as I ever was. I keep a bottle of 'Prescription' on hand and when I work and get tired I take a dose and it strengthens my nerves."—MRS. GEORGIA DENNIS BERRY

Children love Cascarets too. 10, 25, 50 cents.—Adv.

Catarh Can Be Cured

Catarh is a local disease greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. It therefore requires constitutional treatment. Stop That Backache!

Those agonizing twinges, that dull, throbbing backache, may be warning of serious kidney weakness—serious if neglected, for it might easily lead to gravel, dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. If you are suffering with a bad back, look for other proof of kidney trouble. If there are dizzy spells, headaches, tired feeling and disordered kidney action, get after the cause. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped thousands. Satisfied users recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

An Oklahoma Case

W. Bryant, deputy sheriff, Pawhuska, Okla., says: "My kidneys were weak and sometimes there was soreness just over these organs. If I caught cold, it was sure to settle in my back, causing the pains to become more severe. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved the pains and soreness. Pills removed the pains and the kidney secretions cleared up."

FALL IS BEST TIME TO SELECT SEED CORN FOR USE NEXT YEAR

Stringing the Ears on Twine for Storing.

Early selection of seed corn is of special importance this year, according to specialists of the department of agriculture. Much of the corn crop is at least two weeks late, and early fall frost would cause a repetition of the conditions in 1917, when a large part of the corn crop was frozen and was unfit for seed. The following spring, seed corn was very scarce and high. Good seed corn is the secret of a good corn crop, and autumn is the time for the selection of corn to be planted the following season. Many farmers put off seed selection until the spring when there is a scarcity of good seed corn. There is danger in this delay every year, but when the corn crop is late, as it is this year, the danger is especially great. Each spring the department of agriculture receives reports from many sections telling of the willingness of farmers to pay good prices for seed corn and their inability to obtain it.

This scarcity could be prevented by selecting the seed when it is most abundant and when the very best can be obtained—at ripening time when it has been in no way reduced in vitality. Many let this opportunity pass, the farmers expecting to purchase their seed corn, only to find that they cannot buy at any price in the winter or spring as good seed as they could have selected in the autumn.

Requirements for Seed.

Until a community has its experience and honest corn breeder, the best place for the farmer to obtain seed corn is from fields on his own farm or in his neighborhood that were planted with a variety that has generally proved most successful in that locality. By far too many farmers consider seed good simply because it will grow. To be first-class, seed corn must be—

Well adapted to the seasonal and soil conditions where it is to be planted.

From well-grown productive plants of a productive variety.

Well matured and preserved from ripening time to planting time in a manner that will retain its full productivity.

The importance of these three requirements has been demonstrated through experiments by the office of corn investigations, bureau of plant industry, United States department of agriculture, and the results given in Farmers' Bulletin No. 1175, recently published by that department.

At corn-ripening time, specialists of the department advise, drop all other business and select an abundance of seed corn. The process is too important to be conducted incidentally while husking. Seed corn should be selected from stalks standing where they grew. In this way the seed corn can be obtained from—

Stalks that have an inherent tendency to yield well, as shown by their superiority over surrounding stalks that grew under similar conditions. Such seed inherits high-producing power.

Stalks without suckers. Such seed produces fewer suckers than seed from sucker-bearing stalks.

Storm-proof stalks with ears at a desirable height.

Stalks that are free from disease. Among the best methods for the control of several important corn diseases, including the ear and stalk rot, is the selection of seed corn from disease-free stalks. The selection of disease-free seed corn is discussed in Farmers' Bulletin No. 1176, entitled "The Control of Corn Root, Stalk, and Ear Rot Diseases."

size and weight, and is apt to destroy the quality. In central and southern states, all other things being equal, short, thick stalks are preferable. Short stalks are not so easily blown down and permit thicker planting. Thick stalks are not so easily broken down, and in general are more productive than slender ones.

Safe Way for Storing.

The same day seed corn is gathered the husked ears should be put in a dry place where there is free circulation of air, and placed in such a manner that the ears do not touch each other. This is the only safe procedure. If left in the husk long after ripening, it may sprout or mildew during warm, dry weather, or become infested with weevils or grain moths, or their eggs.

There are various ways in which seed corn can be prepared for drying. The ears may be hung on strings of binder twine or cord. Wire racks may also be used. The farmer, however, may exercise his own ingenuity as to what method he will use, but should be certain that the corn is stored in a place where it will not be exposed to damp atmosphere or rats or other destructive pests.

Detailed information as to selecting the seed corn and storing it are contained in Farmers' Bulletin 1175, which may be had upon request of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

FARMERS MUST MAKE USE OF BY-PRODUCTS

Increased Costs Compel Elimination of All Waste.

Corn Stover, Disregarded in Many Cases, Is Valuable Feed for Young Stock, Idle Horses and Cattle During Winter.

With the increasing price of land, feed, and the higher cost of labor, it is becoming necessary that the farmer eliminate, as far as possible, any waste. He must make use of all the by-products of his business much the same as the manufacturer does. Corn is produced in practically every section of the country, primarily for the grain, and frequently the stover is disregarded.

Properly cured stover is relished by live stock, but that which is left in the open during disagreeable weather is far from being palatable or nourishing. Stover protected from the time it is cut in the field is a valuable feed for young stock, idle horses, and cattle that are being carried over the winter on a cheap ration.

The best way to handle corn stover is by means of the shredder. This method makes it possible to get it in the barn before the feeding qualities have been injured by the weather. Enough room should always be reserved in the barn to accommodate a good supply of stover. Hay may be safely stacked out, but it is unsafe to stack shredded stover. Care must be taken to give the corn ample time to cure before it is shredded, for it may heat in the mow and become worthless through subsequent molding.

GENERAL FARM NOTES

- Keep your machinery in good order.
- The sorghums are the dry-weather crops.
- You feed your live stock—why not feed your soil, too?
- Seeds are to be scarce this year. Better get yours early.
- Soy beans planted with the corn increase the yield per acre.
- Keep a few extra parts on hand—it saves going to town after them.
- Corn-cutting machinery saves time when time is of great importance.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. F. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.) (©. 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 31

HEW DOWN THE CORRUPT TREE —WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 7:13-20. GOLDEN TEXT—Every tree that bringeth forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.—Matt. 7:19. PRIMARY TOPIC—Good Trees and Bad Trees. JUNIOR TOPIC—A Sharp Ax for a Corrupt Tree. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Fruits of the Liquor Traffic. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Complete Destruction of the Liquor Traffic.

The King having completed the enunciation of the laws of the kingdom, makes application as follows:

I. Entrance into the Kingdom Urged. (vv. 13, 14).

There are two ways only before each one—life and death, heaven and hell. The grand incentive held out is that it is the way to life. He just as plainly declares that the gate affording an entrance is straight and the way narrow. But while it is straight and narrow, it is an open gate, and all are invited to enter. Though the gate that leads to eternal life be straight and the way narrow in the beginning, it broadens out in every respect until the fullness of life is realized. On the other hand, the way which at first seems broad and pleasant becomes the way of the most abject slavery and limitation.

II. Warnings Against False Teachers. (vv. 15-20).

1. Their real existence (v. 15). Ever since God has had a people, false prophets and teachers have appeared among them. That they appear everywhere need not at all surprise us, for Christ foretold that such should be the case (Matt. 24:11).

2. Their nature (v. 15). (1) They are hypocritical. The Devil does his most successful work by masquerading as an angel of light (II Cor. 11:14, 15). His ministers appear in this way and turn people from the narrow to the broad way. If this evil would appear as he really is, his success would not be great. From the day when he appeared to Eve in the garden until this present time, his success has been due to his ability to deceive. (2) They are destructive. This is suggested by their being ravening wolves. It is when the wolf is in sheep's clothing that he does his most destructive work. It is so today. False teachers are doing their most deadly work while pretending to be loyal to the Bible and to Jesus Christ.

3. The unfulfilling test (vv. 16-18). "By their fruits ye shall know them." Every tree bears its own kind of fruit. Nature is inexorable in her laws as to this. One may search the universe in vain for an exception to this law. It is equally true in the spiritual world. There is a vital connection between the faith of the heart and the fruit of the life. That which comes out in the conduct was first in the heart. A right heart is essential to right conduct.

4. Their ultimate end (v. 19). All false teachers shall be finally punished by being cast into the fire. Although God has infinite patience and bears long, he will see to it that this work does not go on forever.

III. The Dangers of Empty Profession. (vv. 21-23).

1. Merely calling Christ "Lord" will not answer for doing his will.

2. One may even do supernatural works and not be saved (vv. 22, 23). Not all supernatural works are divine. There is a supernatural world of evil. It is the business of every believer to test the spirits (I John 4:1, 2).

IV. The One and Only Safe Way (vv. 24-29).

1. Hear the sayings of Christ (v. 24). To do this you must give attention to reading the word of God. Avail yourself of every means at your command to become acquainted with God's teachings. Hearing and doing the teachings of Christ is building upon the solid rock. Christ Jesus, the Rock of Ages, is the only right foundation upon which to build. Such building can never be destroyed by flood and storm. Hearing and not doing Christ's sayings is building upon the sand, which in the time of the storm of God's wrath and judgment will be utterly destroyed. Obedience must follow hearing Christ.

A Prayer.
That I may please Thee to wean my affections from all things below; and to fill me with ardent desires after heaven; and finally to make me partaker of all Thy blessings and promises in Christ Jesus; I beseech Thee to hear me, Good Lord.—From Hele's Devotions.

Genius of Christianity.
It is the genius of Christianity to have transfigured sacrifice by displaying it to us as the reverse of the medal called love.—H. R. Haweis.

TO KEEP EXPERIENCED HELP

Colorado Beet Sugar Company Plans to Provide Houses for Mexicans Next Season.

At least one big sugar company in Colorado is already planning a nucleus of Mexican beet workers for next spring. It has just ordered the construction of 25 small frame buildings in the outskirts of Montrose for the Mexicans to occupy this winter, so that they will not drift to other districts and force the sugar company to bring in inexperienced beet workers again next spring.

This year the company imported several hundred inexperienced workers from Mexico. Many of these have become valuable beet workers and the company intends to do all it can to keep them in this locality.

WAR AGAINST THE BELUGA

French Oceanograph Society Starts Fight on Enemies of the Fishermen.

A campaign against the beluga or white whale was recently started from Douarnenez to Concarneau, in Brittany, by the French Oceanograph Society, in which nets and poison traps were used. The beluga, pest of fishermen, is generally cream white color, feeds mainly on marine fish and commits ravages among the shoals. The average length of the adult male is about 18 or 20 feet. To hunt down the white whale a net 1,100 yards long was set up at Douarnenez, while another was placed in a suitable position by the fishermen at Concarneau. Furthermore, the skippers of the sardine boats used 4,000 Yves deluge poison tubes against the belugas.—Indianapolis News.

CONDENSED CLASSICS

RICHARD CARVEL

By WINSTON CHURCHILL

Condensation by Hon. David I. Walsh, United States Senator

Winston Churchill has a versatile and an English namesake. It is a far cry from the story of the romantic adventure and the historical novel to the tale of reforming tendencies, political, social and religious. He has an acute knowledge of what will interest the great public, and writes a story about it in such a way that he becomes a phenomenal best seller. He has learned the profession of writing novels by novel writing, and he learned to portray people by careful study of those he wanted to use. He has acquired a power of characterization that is almost photographic. He uses this power to create people of great appeal to a large body of Americans, for they are the type known to many. All this shows the seriousness of the man. That his political novels, for instance, are real stories of politics is shown by the fact that a former president of the United States and two former governors of Massachusetts have consented to retail them in shortened form.

Winston Churchill has written his best book, so far, in the opinion of most readers, in "Coniston." It portrays a vital phase of American political life; it has had a potent influence in improving the conduct of our public affairs. In "Jethro Bass" he has created his greatest character, as yet—one that will probably take permanent rank in American literature.

I TAKE no shame in the pride with which I write of my grandfather, Lionel Carvel, Esq., of Carvel Hall, in his lordship's province of Maryland, albeit he favored his majesty. He was no palavering turncoat like my uncle Grafton, whom I knew for a great rascal who had been banished to his estate in Kent county for saying in my grandfather's presence that my mother had not been fit to marry a Carvel. But if Grafton was a shadow on my boyhood, there was also a great light, and this was Mistress Dorothy Manners, my constant playmate.

Dorothy bloomed early, and too soon became a great beauty, with all our Annapolis macaronis at her feet. Thanks to her foppish father, Mr. Marmaduke Manners, she gave me to know that none but an English earl could serve her for husband.

My boyhood was passed in stirring times. 'Twas in the summer of 1765, made memorable by the Stamp Act, that I first came into touch with the deep-set feelings of the period, although I had already learnt from my friend, Mr. Henry Swain, a lawyer and a man of note among our patriots, the doctrines that were kindling righteous revolt. My friendship with Patty Swain, his daughter, had begun early, and it was she who gave me heart to hope that Dorothy, for all her fine airs, still thought sometimes of her childhood sweetheart.

Not until my uncle Grafton poisoned his ear against me did my grandfather learn how strong was the republican spirit that stirred me. "A Carvel against the king" was all he said. But I saw that Grafton had triumphed; and to tell the truth it was no pleasant thing for me to set my face against the king for whom my father had died.

About this time Dorothy's wish was fulfilled and she went to London. Soon Lord Comyn arrived at Annapolis with news that every macaroni in London, including himself, was in love with her and that the Duke of Chartreuse, a great rake, appeared to lead the race. There was sadness in the pride this gave me; nevertheless, I was drawn to Lord Comyn, a true man.

My grandfather falling seriously ill, my uncle effected a reconciliation. Soon I realized that Grafton was plotting to cheat me of my birthright and make himself heir to Carvel Hall.

Ever murder was tried. One night I was drawn into a duel with Lord Comyn on a pretext. Comyn, as loath to fight as I, wounded me, but the fight only made us closer friends. Soon after Comyn had sailed for England a second attempt to kill me changed the course of my life. I was kidnapped by pirates, and only that I had the makings of a fighting sailor I should have been slain. From the pirate I was rescued by a British brigantine, captained by one John Paul, who, for the discipline he maintained, might have been a naval commander. He recognized me as a gentleman and told me how he was returning to Scotland to say good-bye to his mother, for, he said, Scotland had not treated him well. After that he proposed to go to London. I jumped at this, for was not Dorothy there? So, Paul's end errand done, to London we went, choosing always the best coaching inns, Paul being for playing the gentleman. At London we put on a bold front and went to the Star and Garter in Pall Mall. I at once set out to find Mr. Manners, and caught him at his door, but he feigned not to see me, whereupon Mr. Dix, my grandfather's agent, declared I was an imposter and had to be both thrown into jail.

After three weeks rescue came from an unexpected quarter—from Jack Comyn, who brought Dorothy to meet us at the prison gates. I was overwhelmed. Dorothy greeted me so warmly that I almost believed Comyn and Patty to have been right when they vowed that Dolly loved only me. Paul declared he was "an American, the patriot of the beautiful Miss Manners."

I was minded to go back to America at once and reward Paul, but Comyn would not hear of this, declaring that I alone could save Dolly from Chartersea. I knew that Comyn, in telling Dorothy that I loved her, had sacrificed himself. When I met Mr. Manners he declared that he had not seen me on the former occasion, but I knew he lied. As for Paul, when he saw how the land lay, he gave us the slip and sailed for America as captain of the Betsy bark.

In the betting books of White's and Brooks' is the record of much of my life in London, for I traveled in fast company. My friendship with Charles James Fox is a story in itself. He admired highly my defense of the colonies, although he did not then openly espouse our cause. Fox warned me that Chartersea was plotting against me, and proof came when the duke wagered that I could not ride Baltimore's horse Pollux, for Pollux was a man killer. Nevertheless, I rode the beast, and when Chartersea tried to follow me Pollux threw him into the Serpentine. Thus foiled, Chartersea waylaid me at Vauxhall, and I knew that Manners had helped to trap me. Comyn came to my rescue and was wounded, but I was unhurt.

Manners showed his hand when he brought me news that my grandfather was dead and Grafton was master of Carvel Hall. I struck him. Mr. Dix was quick to tell me that I was penniless, but Comyn insisted on offering his security for me.

Then back I went to Annapolis, to learn that my uncle had intercepted my letters so that my grandfather had believed me dead. Henry Swain had been successful in business and he made me factor of his new estate. There I stayed until the dreary summer of 1774, when Liberty lost a friend by the death of Mr. Swain. His last wish was that I should marry Patty, but when I asked her to marry me she saw what was in my heart and asked me whether I loved her. And for that there was no answer. But when I rode away to fight for my country she told me she would pray for me—and for Dorothy.

At Annapolis, on my way north, I received a great surprise. Learning that one Jones had spoken of me, I went to see him and found that it was John Paul himself, who had an estate in Virginia and was bound for Philadelphia to lay before congress his plan for an American navy. How he succeeded is known. I sailed with him, and was with him in many of his great sea fights, the last being that of his Bon Homme Richard against the Serapis, in the North sea. This was the hottest battle of all, and my last memory of it is the sight of a naked seaman rushing at me, pike in hand.

I awoke. Where was I? What room was this? Who was this coming to tend me? Who but Mammy Lucy, Dorothy's old nurse, to tell me that I was in London, in Mr. Manners' house! Where was Dolly? I was to see her soon, if the doctor permitted. She came! The little room was heaven, though I was stretched on a bed of pain. Mrs. Manners answered my questions. Jones had contrived to let Dolly know I was wounded and in hospital in Holland, and Comyn had brought me to England. I learned also that my uncle had been deprived of his estate for treachery and that Carvel Hall was mine. And now I was to be smuggled out of England again. This time Fox played smuggler, and soon Dolly was to be my wife. But did I not love Patty? she asked me. I told her the truth.

"Dear Richard," Dolly said, "I believe I have loved you all my life." We were married on the 15th of June, and Patty dressed the bride. Poor Patty. You have heard your mother speak of Aunt Patty, my dears.

Ere I had regained my health the war for independence was won. "I pray God that time may soften the bitterness it caused, and heal the breach in that noble race whose motto is Freedom. That the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack may one day float together to cleanse the world of tyranny!"

Faith in Mascots.

It is not uncommon for women in Scotland to become unnerved over the loss of a mascot. A few weeks ago in a small town in the south of Scotland, a party of four sat playing whist. During the whole of the first rubber the hands dealt to one of the players were deplorable. She got up at intervals and turned the poker and various other offending pieces of furniture, but in vain. Then she went upstairs for "Peter," a small silver "funs up." She put him on the table beside the cards that were being dealt to her. And from that moment onwards she and her partner scarcely lost a trick! Probably it was only coincidence, but it was just one of these particular coincidences upon which people of a certain type of mind willingly would find a universal superstition, and which bring adieu to the mascot's will of marvelous happenings.

YOU NEVER CAN TAME A WILD-CAT

Mr. Dodson Warns Against Use of Treacherous, Dangerous Calomel.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nifty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

Iron Ores Formed by Bacteria. Geologists are realizing more fully as they extend their studies the magnitude of the work done by plants and animals in building up and tending down parts of the crust of the earth. Even microscopic organisms perform a large part of this work. Pasteur long ago showed us the deadly power of bacteria in disease and their efficiency in promoting fermentation, but their influence on the fertility of soils and their work in expediting rock decay are still subjects of scientific study.

Congenial Work. "What became of the movement started here to uplift the stage?" "It fell through."

"Lack of interest?" "Quite the contrary. All the tired business men in town wanted to be on the committee to censor girl shows."

Getting Anxious. "Maud wants a finger in everything." "Yes, but in an engagement ring for preference."—Boston Transcript.

The Housewives Burden

When a woman is almost distracted from overwork, her home is in disorder, crying children, and on top of all is suffering from backache, bearing down pains, or some other form of feminine ills, then she should remember that hundreds of women in just her condition have been restored to health and regained their youthful strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and not rest until she has given it a fair trial.

Proof that it Restored the Health of These Two Women

Cairo, Ill.—"Some time ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine."—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 8811 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby came when I could no longer keep up. It strengthened my back and relieved me of the ill effect which so often develops at such times. That was my first experience with the Vegetable Compound. Years afterwards I took it during the Change of Life and got along so well I scarcely ever had to lie down during the day and seldom had dizzy, fainting spells. I am now well and strong, can do all my household work with perfect ease and it is a comfort to me to be able to say to other suffering women 'take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and be strong.' I will be glad to have you use my name if it will be the means of helping any one."—Mrs. R. A. FAIRBURN, 606 Orchard Knob Ave., Chattanooga, Tenn.

HOW THEY STAND

The men and newspapers who pretend to be friends of Senator Harding and who assert that he is to take the country into the League of Nations do him a distinct disservice and pay him a sorry compliment," said Senator Hiram Johnson in a speech Wednesday in Hoboken, N. J., "When Senator Harding is President he will not take the United States into the League."
There you have Hiram Johnson's assurance that in the event of Harding's election this country will not become a member of the League.

Here is what Senator Harding said in Jackson, Ohio, the same day: "I have said from the beginning that we wouldn't have the Wilson covenant. I have repeatedly that America will gladly play her part in a suitable association of nations. I have not, of course, specified just how we would do it."
That doesn't look as if Senator Harding intends to allow this country to become a member of the League of Nations and in the event of his election the power lies in his hands to either return the covenant to the Senate for ratification or to keep it in the executive mansion where it now rests.

So it appears from the latest utterances of Senators Johnson and Harding that there is no hope of any kind of a League of Nations and Republicans who have believed that there really was hope despite Senator Harding's utterances can now plainly see that with his election there would be no chance whatever of the covenant being returned to the senate for action. He doesn't want a League of Nations and he says so and Hiram Johnson makes it doubly certain.

With Governor Cox, it is quite different. He is for the League of Nations, believes in it, advocates it and promises in no uncertain terms that when elected his first act will be to confer with leaders of the senate and with Republican and Democrat alike and secure the ratification of the League with reservations that will clarify, reassure the American people and prove helpful.

"I am for the League of Nations," says Governor Cox. Senator Harding is against it. The issue rests with the American people."
"Let the true purpose of the Democratic party be understood," says Senator Homer Cummings. "We stand squarely for the same ideals of peace as those for which the war was fought. We support without flinching the only feasible plan for peace and justice. We will not submit to the repudiation of the peace treaty or to any process by which it is whittled down to the vanishing point. We do not turn our backs upon the history of the last three years. We seek no avenues of retreat. We insist that the forward course is the only righteous course."

If I Had a Thousand Dollars
How many times have you said that? Perhaps you could have closed a deal or made an investment that would have meant future independence.
A thousand dollars seems like a lot of money, but it is made up of dollars, fives, tens and twenties; is made of cigars, coco-colas, silk shirts, candy, cold drinks, silk stockings and expensive hats.
Unless you know how to use $10 you wouldn't know how to use $1,000. Use your $10 right by saving part of all you get, and you are very likely to get the thousand dollars.

WOULD WALK THE FLOOR ALL NIGHT

Engineer Cressy Gains Fourteen Pounds and Nerves are Now Strong as Steel.

"Tanlac has built me up so that I have not only gained fourteen pounds in weight but I am feeling as well and strong as I ever did in my life," was the statement made recently by B. L. Cressy, a well-known engineer living at the Matsonia Apartments, Corner of Post and Leavenworth Street, San Francisco, Cal.

"At the time I began taking Tanlac I was in a bad fix and had been ever since I had the flu, back in September, 1918. I had lost twenty-eight pounds in weight, felt good-for-nothing all the time and was so weak I could hardly do my work. For months I never knew what a godd night's rest meant and I was so nervous I would jump out of my chair at the slightest noise. My stomach was so upset I couldn't eat a single meal in peace, for as soon as I had finished I would bloat up with gas and feel so tight and stuffed-up I thought I would choke to death. Many a time I was in such pain and misery I walked the floor all night long, and finally I was told that an operation was my only hope.

"But I made up my mind to first try Tanlac, and in no time I was feeling better and already I have taken on fourteen pounds of my lost weight and am still gaining right along. My nerves are as strong as steel and I am sleeping eight solid hours every night. I wish everybody could enjoy their meals like I do now, for I can eat anything and everything I want and digest it without a particle of trouble." The pains and gas have all disappeared and I can breathe as free and easy as ever before. Tanlac has made me all over again and the remarkable thing about it is that it has done it in shorter time than I ever thought was possible."

Tanlac is sold in Portales by Ed J. Neer and in LaLande by the Reynolds Drug Co.

HOLD YOUR LIBERTY BOND FOR SAME REASON YOU BOUGHT IT

"Whatever your motive for buying Liberty Bonds," says Scribner's Magazine, "the same motives should impel you to manage your investment thoughtfully. Usually selling bonds is unwise as well as unpatriotic. If money is needed for an emergency, money can be borrowed at the bank with the bond as security. If selling a Liberty Bond can not be avoided, sell it through a banker or broker of known integrity, who has facilities for handling it at very small cost."

"He who spends more than he earns trends the path thieves have trod since the invention of jails; only luck can keep him from reaching its end. Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 86, as amended.)

Approved March 17, 1919.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of New Mexico:

Section 1—For the purpose of providing funds for the construction and improvement of State Highways and for meeting allotments of Federal funds made to the state under the Act of Congress known as the "Federal Road Aid Act," an indebtedness of the state of New Mexico is hereby authorized in the sum of two million dollars.

Section 2—Immediately after the issuing of the proclamation of the Governor as provided in Section 10 of this act, the State Treasurer shall prepare negotiable coupon bonds of the State of New Mexico in the denomination of one thousand dollars each or such smaller denominations not less than one hundred dollars each as the Governor shall determine, to be numbered consecutively and to bear date January 1st, 1921; said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first day of July and the first day of January each year, and both principal and interest shall be payable in gold coin or its equivalent in lawful money of the United States at the office of the State Treasurer in the City of Santa Fe, New Mexico, or at some bank in the City of New York, State of New York, or such other place as may be designated in said bonds and in the coupons attached thereto, at the option of the holder. The principal of said bonds shall be payable to bearer thirty years after their date; and it shall be provided in said bonds that they may be redeemed at the option of the State at any time after ten years from their date; said bonds shall be signed by the Governor, attested by the Secretary of State, under the seal of the state, and countersigned by the State Treasurer, and shall be registered by the State Auditor in a book to be kept by him for that purpose in which shall be entered the date, number, amount and series of each bond sold and the amount for which the same shall have been sold. The full faith and credit of the State of New Mexico is hereby pledged for the prompt payment at maturity of the principal and interest of all the said bonds which may be issued and sold as provided in this act.

It shall be provided in each bond so issued that if it shall be called for redemption before maturity notice thereof in writing shall be given by the State Treasurer to the bank designated in the bonds as the alternative place for payment, at least thirty days before the date fixed for redemption, and in addition thereto notice thereof shall be published by the State Treasurer in a newspaper published in Santa Fe, New Mexico, and also in a newspaper published in the City of New York, State of New York, once each week for four successive weeks next prior to the date fixed for redemption and if any bond so called for redemption be not then presented for payment, it shall cease to bear interest from and after the date so fixed for redemption.

Section 3—Interest coupons payable to bearer shall be attached to each of said bonds and shall be consecutively numbered specifying the number of the bond to which they are attached and shall bear the lithographed or engraved facsimile of the signature of the State Treasurer in office at the time when such bonds are prepared and printed, and such coupons shall be valid obligations of the state notwithstanding that the person whose signature appears thereon may have ceased to be such State Treasurer when such bonds are issued and sold; and said bonds signed, countersigned and attested as in this act provided shall, when duly issued and sold be valid obligations of the State although the issue and sale thereof be made after the persons so signing, countersigning and attesting the same shall have ceased to be the incumbents of their respective offices. The bonds authorized by this act shall be sold by the State Treasurer at such times and in such amounts as the Governor shall direct to the highest bidder for cash. The Governor shall issue such directions to the State Treasurer upon being requested so to do by resolutions of the State Highway Commission specifying the amount of money which in the judgment of said Commission shall be required from time to time for the purposes for which such indebtedness is authorized. Before offering any of such bonds for sale the State Treasurer shall detach therefrom any coupons which may have matured or will mature before the date fixed for such sale. He shall publish a notice of the time and place of sale in one newspaper published in Santa Fe, New Mexico, in one newspaper published at Albuquerque, New Mexico, and in one newspaper published in each of the cities of New York, State of New York, and Chicago, State of Illinois, once each week for four successive weeks prior to the date fixed for such sale; such date being not less than thirty days after the first advertisement in each of said newspapers; such notice shall specify the amount, denomination, maturity and description of the bonds to be sold and the place, day and hour at which sealed bids will be received for the purchase of said bonds. At the place and time named in said notice the said State Treasurer and the Governor, or in his absence the president or a member of the State Highway Commission shall open all bids in public and shall award the bonds, or any part thereof, to the bidder or bidders offering the highest price, therefor. They may reject any and all bids and may refuse to make any award unless satisfactory security shall be furnished by a bidder for compliance with the terms of the bid. Said bonds shall be sold in consecutive numerical order and no bid shall be accepted which is less than the par value of such bonds plus the interest which shall have accrued thereon between the date last preceding interest maturity date and the date of the sale. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be placed to the credit of the State Road Fund, except such amount as may have been paid as accrued interest on such bonds which shall be credited to a special interest fund for payment of interest on such bonds. The moneys placed in the State Road Fund from the proceeds of such bonds shall be used exclusively for the purposes for which said indebtedness is authorized. The expenses incurred by the Treasurer in the preparation of the said bonds and in advertising the sale thereof shall be paid out of funds available in the State Road Fund. The proceeds realized from the sale of said bonds shall be paid out by the State Treasurer under the authority and direction of the State Highway Commission of the State of New Mexico, and the State Highway Commission is hereby authorized and directed to expend the said proceeds from the sale of said bonds in the different counties of the State of New Mexico in the construction of roads in said counties, the amounts to be expended in the respective counties in the State to be in proportion to the amount of assessed valuation in each of said counties of all the property therein, according to the tax rolls of the respective counties and the amount so to be expended in each of said counties shall be determined by the said State Highway Commission from the tax rolls of said counties for the year 1920 as they shall be on file in the office of the State Tax Commission of the State of New Mexico for said year.

Section 4—To provide for the payment of the interest and principal of any bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this act there shall be and there is hereby imposed and levied during each year in which the said bonds shall be outstanding an annual ad valorem tax on all property in the State of New Mexico subject to taxation for state purposes sufficient to produce a sum equal to one year's interest on all the said bonds then outstanding. In each year after said bonds shall have run for five years, there shall be and there is hereby imposed and levied on all property in the State of New Mexico subject to taxation for state purposes, an annual ad valorem tax sufficient to pay the principal of said bonds at maturity. The taxes hereby authorized, imposed and levied shall be levied assessed and collected in the same manner as other taxes for state purposes, and it shall be the duty of the State Auditor and of all assessors and local taxing authorities to cause said taxes to be levied, assessed and collected in the same manner and at the same times as other taxes for state purposes are levied, assessed and collected.

Section 5—The State Treasurer shall keep separate accounts of all moneys collected under the taxes hereby levied and imposed for the payment of the interest and sinking fund of said bonds respectively and shall from time to time invest the moneys in said sinking fund in any bonds or other securities issued by the State of New Mexico, or in any bonds or securities of any county in said state or in any bonds of any city or school district therein at their market value; Provided, such bonds or securities are payable from a tax upon all taxable property in such county, city or school district and that all such bonds or securities so purchased shall mature before the maturity of the bonds for which said sinking fund is created.

Section 6—Any holder of any of the bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this act and any person or officer being a party in interest may either at law or in equity, by suit, action or mandamus enforce and compel the performance of the duties required by this act of any of the officers or persons herein mentioned.

Section 7—All bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation.

Section 8—The provisions of this act shall constitute an irrevocable contract with the holders of any bonds and the coupons thereof issued pursuant to the provisions of this act for the full performance of which by the state and its officers and taxing authorities the full faith and credit of the State of New Mexico is hereby pledged.

This act shall without reference to any other act of the Legislature of the State of New Mexico be full authority for the issuance and sale of the bonds hereby authorized, which bonds and the coupons thereto attached shall have all the qualities of negotiable paper under the law of merchant and shall not be invalid for any irregularity or defect in the proceedings for the issue and sale thereof and shall be incontestable in the hands of bona fide purchasers or holders thereof for value.

Section 9—This act shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state at the general election to be held in the month of November, in the year 1920, and it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the State to cause this act to be published in full in at least one newspaper in each county of the state, if one be published therein, once each week for four successive weeks next preceding such election. All ballots used at said election shall have printed thereon the words "For State Highway Bond Act," and in a separate line under the same words, "Against State Highway Bond Act." Opposite each of said lines there shall be a square in which the voters may mark a cross to indicate whether he votes for or against the said bond act, and those voting for said act shall do so by placing a cross in the square opposite the words "For State Highway Bond Act," and those voting against the same shall do so by placing a cross in the square opposite the words, "Against State Highway Bond Act."

Section 10—The votes cast for and against said bond act shall be counted returned, canvassed and the result declared and certified in the same manner as votes cast for state officers, and if it appears that this act shall have received a majority of all the votes cast thereon at such election, the Governor shall make proclamation thereof and thereupon this act shall immediately take effect and shall be irrevocable until the principal and interest of all bonds issued and sold hereunder shall be paid and satisfied. But if a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election shall be against this act, the same shall not take effect. The cost of publication of the notice herein provided for shall be paid out of funds available in the State Road Fund.

Section 11—That it is necessary for the preservation of the public peace and safety of the inhabitants of the State of New Mexico that the provisions of this act shall become effective at the earliest time, and therefore an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage and approval. U. S. BANKERS WILL BUY CUBAN BONDS

PLANS EVOLVED TO GIVE NECESSARY FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE HELD

Government Officials Say They Will Aid In Obtaining the Required Help In Disposing of the Bonds in this Country.

Washington.—American bankers agreed at a conference with officials of the government and sugar companies to afford relief from the present financial stringency in Cuba.

Under the agreement the bankers will purchase bonds issued by the Cuban government which will use the money in financing the sugar crop and in affording other relief.

The terms of the agreement will be communicated to the Cuban government and it will be for that government to decide whether the plan will be acceptable. Meantime, the state department will inform Cuba that the American government as such cannot offer any financial assistance.

Other government officials participating in the conference were Assistant Secretary Sweet of the department of commerce; Howard Pigg of the department of justice; and Vice Governor Platt of the federal reserve board.

The state department in announcing the conference, said it was arranged with a "view to ascertaining what assistance might be given by this country towards a solution of the problem in Cuba, so as to prevent any unfavorable effect in the United States.

The amount of money necessary to relieve the situation in Cuba has not been estimated so far as could be learned at the state department.

Bankers attending the conference included representatives of J. P. Morgan & Co., the National City Bank, the Guaranty Trust company, the Chase National bank, the National Park bank, the Mercantile Bank of America and the Mechanics and Metals National Bank of New York City; the First National Bank and the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, and the First National Bank of Philadelphia.

Sugar companies represented at the conference included the American Beet Sugar company, American Sugar Refining company, National Sugar company, the Warner Sugar company, the United Fruit company, Arbuckle Brothers, the Pennsylvania Sugar company and the Sugar Equalization board of New York.

RETURN SAVES BILLIONS

Greater Efficiency Shown in Private Control, Felton Says.

Mimeapolis.—The government's action in returning the railroads to private control in March saved the people a large amount of money, declared M. Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western railroad, in an address before the chamber of commerce. If government operation had been continued, he added, the deficit which the government would have had to pay would have been far larger than the estimated $600,000,000 deficit it will have to pay for the six months of private operation, March 1 to September 1.

Since return of the roads, he declared, "great increases in efficiency have been secured," adding: "The average number of miles each car was moved daily in July 1919, was 24.1 miles, while in July 1920, it was 26.1 miles. This had the same effect as increasing the available supply of cars by 200,000."

Port of Spain, Trinidad.—The United States shipping board steamer Zaca from Norfolk, took fire here and is still burning. With the assistance of the British cruiser Cambrian and the Canadian government steamer, Farmer, the Zaca was beached to prevent her sinking.

The Zaca is a vessel of 6,165 gross tons built in 1918. She is operated by the Barber line.

FIVE WARSHIP FOR SALE

Funds Derived From Sale Will Be Turned Over to War Department.

Washington.—Five old style warships and twenty-five miscellaneous vessels are to be offered for sale by the navy department by competitive bidding.

"All money received from the sale of these vessels," said the department's announcement, "is to be turned over to the treasury department as a fund for war expenditures. It is believed that over $1,000,000 will be realized from the sale of these vessels."

SCARE CAUSES COTTON SLUMP

IS EXPLANATION GIVEN BY SEC. HESTER

South Needs No Immediate Federal Financial Aid, the World Authority Thinks.

New Orleans, La.—In a statement prepared at the instance of the New Orleans cotton directors and made public by Henry G. Hester, secretary of the exchange and for fifty years regarded as an international authority on matters pertaining to cotton marketing, declared there is "no reason for rushing for federal financial aid" and asserted there was "nothing the matter with the south beyond an unreasonable scare in cotton."

The statement, prepared for the benefit and encouragement of those who are not fully informed.

Selling Pressure Planned. "The drastic decline that has occurred in cotton since the first of August amounting to nearly 50¢ a bale, or about 48 per cent, had been mainly due to the pressure to sell on a shrinking market, undermining confidence of both sellers and consumers, accentuating the fears of the former and increasing the reluctance of the latter until they practically abandoned the market except at constant concessions which in the aggregate probably constitute the greatest drop that has ever taken place in the staple in any like period. In the past ten weeks more than 1,000,000 bales of spot cotton have literally been 'thrown overboard' without rhyme or reason. Nearly three-fourths of the Texas ginnings to September 25 have been rushed to market, and while other sections have sold more sparingly, the reported sales at three leading Texas centers have amounted to more than 800,000 bales. Futures have per force followed spots, the pressure have been accentuated by sales to selling hedge spots.

Capital subscriptions, the plans suggest will be based on an assessment of $1.00 a bale on cotton raised in the representative states, thereby making the organization one of influence throughout all territory which has had difficulty in financing the movement of cotton crops. The decision to call for the initial payment of only half of the total capital means therefore that the subscriptions will be pro-rated among the purchasers of stock on the basis of 50 cents per bale.

It was made clear by speakers at the meeting that the purpose of the corporation, which will be organized under the Edge act amending the federal reserve act, is not to hold the cotton crop but to insure that the commodity be moved "at a time when the market is stagnant."

Under provisions of the Edge act the corporation is enabled to, handle trade acceptances—agreement of the purchasers—to the amount of ten times its capital and surplus, or in the case of the proposed corporation, the ability to handle acceptances of cotton purchasers to the amount of $60,000,000. Although there was no specific mention made there were indications that reorganization of the corporation would immediately open the way for the sale of cotton in Europe, where the demand is estimated at 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 bales.

The committee informed those in attendance at the meeting that it would make "no extravagant promises" but that it hoped that the establishment of such a corporation would be "of tremendous benefit" to the south. The meeting was told also that the corporation would not prove a "remedy for all ills," although it would make possible for provision for markets in time for the emergency such as the cotton producers are now passing through.

Although the corporation may in the future extend its operations to other commodities, those in attendance urged that it devote its resources at first to the handling of this crop alone. The way was left open, however, so that enlargement and suggested extensions can be made as needed, speakers declared.

SIX MILLION TO AID COTTON MEN

BANKERS ADOPT PLANS OF COMMITTEE TO ORGANIZE A BIG CORPORATION

CONSIDER OTHER CROPS LATER

It Was Made Clear By the Speakers at the Meeting That Cotton Was Not To Be Held But Moved On At a Stagnant Time.

Washington.—Plans for the organization of a $12,000,000 cotton export and crop financing corporation were adopted at a meeting of bankers and representatives of cotton interests attending the convention of the American bankers association. The meeting approved suggestions contained in a report of a committee headed by Robert F. Maddox, Atlanta banker, to move at once in the direction of preliminary steps towards organizing the corporation. Tentative arrangements provide for the payment of half the capital stock, or an initial working fund of $5,000,000 capital and $1,000,000 surplus.

Capital subscriptions, the plans suggest will be based on an assessment of $1.00 a bale on cotton raised in the representative states, thereby making the organization one of influence throughout all territory which has had difficulty in financing the movement of cotton crops. The decision to call for the initial payment of only half of the total capital means therefore that the subscriptions will be pro-rated among the purchasers of stock on the basis of 50 cents per bale.

MAIL LINE ASKS INCREASE

Service to West Indies May Be Suspended Unless Rates Are Increased.

Halifax, N. S.—Suspension of the Canadian West Indies service of the Royal Mail Steam Packet line unless increased freight rates are granted, was predicted here by John Allsop, Canadian general manager of the company.

Increased cost of operation and a heavy slump in northbound freight has resulted in the line showing a loss of $15,000 to $20,000 on each trip. The line is operating four ships to the West Indies.

FIVE DALLAS FIREMEN INJURED IN FIRE

Dallas, Texas.—Five firemen were injured and property valued at $100,000 was destroyed when fire wrecked the plant of the Texas Wheel and Body Company. The blaze is thought to have been caused by defective wiring. The injured firemen were burned about their faces and arms when paint and turpentine stored on the third floor exploded. Between twenty-five and thirty automobiles were destroyed.

U. S. PLANS TO CUT EXPENSES

R. R. SETTLEMENT COSTS COUNTRY FIVE MILLION

Billion Dollar Reduction In 1921 Budget Will Be Made, Says Secretary Treasurer Houston.

Washington.—Uncle Sam will make a $1,000,000,000 cut in his budget for next year, according to the opinion of treasury officials. The 1921 estimates of government expenditures are being closely pared down and before the figures are put into final form for submission to congress the reductions may even exceed the billion mark, it was stated at the treasury. Dissolution of war establishments and varied emergency projects, and the consequent decrease in government personnel, and wherever possible lower estimates in all branches. The passing of federal rail control, alone will effect a considerable lowering in the government's deficit.

Secretary of the Treasury Houston expects soon to have in final form the estimates now being drafted by cabinet heads, but the tentative figures already forecast an administration request upon congress for approximately $5,000,000,000 to run the government one year. The military and naval building programs, may call for an outlay of not less than $1,500,000,000.

Support of the United States army and the provision for pay to the national guard establishments probably will require at least $1,000,000,000. Railroad Settlement Costs $500,000,000. Settlement of the government's obligations to the railroads under the guaranty clauses of the new transportation act probably will entail an outlay of public funds amounting to $500,000,000.

The treasury's plan for next year is an orderly retirement of outstanding liberty bonds and victory notes. Latest figures showed that the gross debt of the nation now stands at $24,000,000,000 representing a reduction of $2,500,000,000 in little more than one year.

The floating debt amounts to $1,347,000,000 or about $1,600,000,000 less than on September 1, last year.

MANY ITALIANS EMIGRATE

Ambassador Says 500,000 Are Planning on Coming to United States.

New York.—Approximately 500,000 Italians are expected to emigrate to the United States during the coming three years, Baron Romano Avezanni, Italian ambassador, said prior to sailing for Southampton and Italy.

There is no doubt many more Italians who will leave their native land during that time, he said, but their destination will be South America and France, which offer special inducements to Italian settlers. The ambassador said he was going home on leave and added that so far as he knew, he would return.

Dr. Koo has been appointed Chinese minister at London, succeeding Mr. Sze, who has been transferred to Washington, but who will be unable to assume his duties here for several months. On his arrival in France Dr. Koo will go to Geneva to join the Chinese delegation at the meeting of the assembly of the league of nations on November 15.

MAIL LINE ASKS INCREASE

Service to West Indies May Be Suspended Unless Rates Are Increased.

Halifax, N. S.—Suspension of the Canadian West Indies service of the Royal Mail Steam Packet line unless increased freight rates are granted, was predicted here by John Allsop, Canadian general manager of the company.

Increased cost of operation and a heavy slump in northbound freight has resulted in the line showing a loss of $15,000 to $20,000 on each trip. The line is operating four ships to the West Indies.

"YOUR BROTHER PROTTEM."

SYNOPSIS.—Alighting from a train at Denver a traveler is greeted as "Will" by an elderly lady and gentleman, who stop their auto to speak. He imagines it a case of mistaken identity and introduces himself as "Richard Clinton," on his way to the coast. The couple appear greatly surprised, and learning he is to be in town until midnight, the lady, introducing herself as Mrs. Kirkland, and her husband as Doctor Kirkland, invites him to dinner, explaining the action by his truly remarkable resemblance to a friend of theirs. At the Kirkland home he meets a young lady who greets him as her fiancee. She is Ellen Kirkland, and plainly is greatly hurt by his assertion that he is Richard Clinton. At dinner Clinton learns that his host is a medical specialist and that he is believed to be Will Lowry, a young man who had been suffering from a nervous breakdown and had gone East for medical treatment. Lowry had had in his possession bonds of the value of $100,000, belonging to the bank where he was employed, which have disappeared and of which he has no recollection. With Doctor Kirkland Clinton goes to the Lowrie home, the doctor being satisfied that Amy Lowrie, Will's sister, will convince Clinton he is really Lowrie, suffering from loss of memory. Amy declares at once he is her brother, and insists on treating him as such, to his great embarrassment. Doctor Kirkland sends a telegram to the sanitarium where Lowrie is undergoing treatment. Ellen and Amy try in vain to convince Clinton he is Will Lowrie. They manage, however, to prevent his going. Bennet, a suitor of Amy and an agent of the bank, moves in the matter of the missing bonds. The sanitarium telegram proves nothing. Bennet wants Amy to marry him as the price of shielding Will in the bond matter. Amy tells Clinton. Clinton has to brush Amy's hair.

"That's the burrid part of it," replied Amy. "Charlie says they found the safe deposit box, but the bonds were gone."

Clinton's smile vanished behind a look of blank surprise. "Gone?"

"Yes—and all that money in Chicago in the bank is your new name! That's what made me cross at Charlie."

"I don't quite see the connection."

"You don't? Of course will be easy for you to explain out the money and—"

"Nothing easier if—Jove, why didn't I think of it sooner!" he exclaimed, and he dropped the hairbrush. "See here, Miss Lowrie—"

"Miss Lowrie!" she reproved. He went on, unchecked: "You claim that I look exactly like your brother."

"There you go again! Don't be silly!"

He sprang up, clear of the egg arms that she sought to fling around him.

"No, wait!" he exclaimed, as she jumped up after him. "It's—it's not what you suppose—just the opposite."

She replied in a half whisper: "The right."

He drew up the loose sleeve of his robe and held out his bare forearm. She stared at it incredulously.

"Well? he queried.

"It—it can't be that I'm—that it's the other?" she murmured.

He bared the left arm. "You see—Can there be a more positive proof of identity than such a mark as that on your brother's arm?—which is not on my arm?"

The vague dread that clouded her dilated eyes swiftly increased to a paralyzing terror. She stared at him as white-faced and immobile as a marble statue. Stricken with concern for her, he bent forward. Instantly her cheeks flushed scarlet with maidenly shame. She clutched wildly at her loose hair and fled to the door. In a twinkling she was out in the hall, with the door shut between herself and Clinton.

He had not moved. For some time he stood where she had left him. His body was motionless, but it was evident that his thoughts were in a whirl of almost violent emotions. Across his face, in quick succession, passed looks of bewilderment, pity, delight, tenderness. Last of all came contrition, and again pity, both of which merged into resolution.

From the closet he brought out his suitcase and the suit that he had worn on his arrival in town. Next came a rummage through the dresser and closet to restore to the suitcase the articles that had been taken from it. Some he could not find.

He dressed himself in the suit so neatly tailored by old Tillie, and glanced around the room, preparatory to closing the suitcase. The hairbrush, lying on the floor where he had dropped it, caught his eye. He picked it up and gazed at it several moments. He then went to the mantel, where stood the framed photographs of Ellen and Amy.

When he returned to his suitcase one of the frames was empty.

CHAPTER IX.

IN A BOX.

After half a night spent in weeping, alternately chilled with doubt and scorched with the shame of mortified modesty, Amy had at last fallen into the heavy sleep of exhausted nature. The morning sun found her still lying as she had flung herself in the abandon of her grief. Her face still had a little of the look of a child that has cried itself to sleep. Her hair lay across her tear-stained pillows in two exceedingly tight braids.

Her usual awakening time passed; an hour slipped by, and another. Still she lay fast asleep. At last old Tillie came into the room, looked doubtfully at the sleeping girl, went out, returned with a package, and, after a regretful pause, touched the broad white forehead.

The brown eyes opened slowly and looked up, clouded with slumber and memory of grief. Tillie held out the package. "I'm awfully sorry to tell you, Miss Amy. But it's 'most ten o'clock and everybody's gone."

"Ten o'clock?"

Ellen, Missus Kirkland and Miss found her half an hour ago, when they "He will was gone."

"He without going! And they went—"

"Missus Kirkland said you looked like you've been ill in the night, and for me to let you sleep till you woke up, 't when this came, I thought 't was—"

"What is it?" asked Amy, holding out her hand for the package.

"It He wanted messenger boy brought address had in his run all round Robin Hood's name he got here."

mouse, hid the brush and note under her pillows, and popped into bed. When Tillie came up with the chocolate, the girl was cuddled under her coverlet with only the tip of her nose showing.

"Why, Miss Amy! You're not took worse are you?"

"The light," came back a muffled voice. "Pull down the blinds, please."

As Tillie hastened to obey, the voice called after her: "Don't worry. I'll soon be all right now. Leave the chocolate. I'll get up in a little while. There's the postman's whistle."

Tillie hastened downstairs for the mail. When she returned Amy was almost dressed to go out. She forestalled the expected protest with a quick explanation: "Now don't say anything, Tillie. I'm going down to consult doctor."

"That's good, if you're feeling bad, Miss Amy."

The girl faced away from the affectionate, near-sighted eyes. "Yes, if you'll do my buttons, please."

Five minutes later she was running the coupe from the little garage out through the green arbor of the pergola. She reached Doctor Kirkland's office before his regular morning hour, but the attendant was present and admitted her to the private waiting room.

When the physician came in his look was grave even before he saw her face.

"You're here, sweetheart—without your smile," he said. "Then Will has not come home?"

"Will?" she exclaimed. "You still call him that?"

"Why not?—Child! you've not let him persuade you—"

"He showed me—"

along the main corridor to a door marked "Private." Bennet rapped upon the panel in rather a peculiar manner. The door was opened by a police official, who at once recognized the eminent alienist.

He stepped aside. Instantly Amy uttered an eager little cry and darted in across the room to the frowning young man who sat near the far end, tugging at his mustache. At sight of her he jumped up and sought to retreat. But she was upon him in a twinkling and flung her arms about his neck.

"Brother! brother! you poor abused old dear!" she panted. "It's horrid of them to do a thing like this!"

"He put up his hands, and, unable to unclasp her interlocked fingers without violence, freed himself by drawing his head down between her arms. Holding fast to her hands, so that she might not again embrace him, he replied to her with gentle firmness: "It is extremely annoying and embarrassing to you and Miss Kirkland insist upon deceiving yourselves as to my identity. It is not of myself I am thinking, but of you two. Try to realize what it will mean when you learn the truth that I am not your brother."

"He still insists on that!" murmured Ellen.

"I do, and I have given positive proof of it," rejoined Clinton. "You need only ask Miss—Mr. Bennet if it is not so. He says that Mr. Lowrie has a certain mark on his right arm."

"Indeed, yes. Every one knows that," remarked Mrs. Kirkland. "It shows whenever you play tennis."

"Not when I play," contradicted Clinton. "Mr. Bennet will tell you there is not the slightest trace of a mark on my arm."

"No mark on your arm?" asked Ellen. She looked from him to her father in bewilderment.

"You said you had no remembrance of when the mark was removed," stated the police official.

"That is a deliberate misstatement," Clinton angrily retorted. "What I said was that there never had been any mark on my arm to be removed."

The physician fixed him with an intent gaze. "Recall the cases of which you read in my office yesterday. In view of those other instances of double personality, can you be positive with regard to this mark—can you be positive of your identity?"

The young man's eyes darkened with the shadow of doubt; but only for a moment. He frowned and answered: "I can, sir. I am positive. There never was any mark on my arm. I am Richard Clinton. You have all deluded yourselves and each other into believing I am this Will Lowrie."

"How about your attempt to escape?" cut in the official.

"Escape? Bah! I've told you three times already it was to get away from the—the embarrassment of my false position."

Bennet shows his hand and Clinton sees trouble ahead.
