CONSTRUCTION ENGINEER'S REPORT FLOYD WILL CELEBRATE ON AUGUST 12, 1921

Cost and Quantity of Street Paving in Detail.

Portales, New Mexico, July 12th, 1921.

Town Board, City:—
In compliance with your request I beg to submit the following estimates and suggestions with reference to grading, draining, (open spillways, etc.) curbing and paving streets around and near the public square.

As there are but two (Ohio and Main) streets that are more than sixty feet wide near the square these estimates are based upon a width of sixty feet and a length of three hundred and sixty feet. To grade on block (300 ft.) and one street (60 ft.) will cost—$ 25.00
To properly curb 1 block, (300 ft.) both sides, will cost— 375.00
To cover 1 foot in depth with caliche (360 ft.)— 1080.00
Incidentals, overhead, 5 per cent— 74.00
Total for Caliche—$1554.00

For Rock Pavement, well rolled:
Grading—$ 25.00
Curbing— 375.00
Overhead— 101.00
Rock, 1 foot in depth— 1620.00
Total for Rock—$2121.00

For 6 inch concrete base, brick on top or Tarva:
Grading—$ 180.00
Curbing— 375.00
Overhead— 270.00
Concrete base (6 in. thick) and brick or Tarva— 12960.00
Total for brick or Tarva—$13785.00

COMMENT— These estimates are based upon the best obtainable information from persons thoroughly acquainted with their respective parts herein named and from personal investigation as to obtaining materials, etc.

It would be almost a useless expenditure of money to curb and grade with dirt as the first rains upon it would make but mud holes and water pools.

Caliche one foot in depth on a proper grade would be a wonderful improvement but it is subjected somewhat to the same fault as dirt when wet—sticky and liable to wear into holes.

The ideal pavement must be a brick or Tarva with base of concrete, but the cost rather seems enormous, especially for towns under ten thousand inhabitants.

RECOMMENDATION—In view of the deductions above given, I would recommend the scheme of properly grading, draining (open) curbing and paving with crushed rock, well filled in to a depth of twelve inches and properly rolled. By this method the mud if a dirt fill, the slippery caliche and the enormous cost of brick or Tarva is avoided, and, at a reasonable cost, a good, hard, smooth, lasting pavement is secured by the use of crushed rock.

With proper attention and care this rock pavement should wear well for years. Then, in time, should it be desired to pave with better material, the foundation for it will be there.

Respectfully submitted,
D. A. WOOLVERTON, C. E.

ALFALFA IS NOW BEING HARVESTED

Portales Valley alfalfa is now being harvested, and there are several good crops of alfalfa in the valley. Porter Deen cut his this week, and on the Cave place west of town, the crop looks extra good.

RAIN REPORTED OVER THE COUNTY

Reports from over the county are to the effect that Monday night's rain covered all parts of the county.

Wednesday's rain was heavier in the Portales Valley than in other parts of the county. Elida reports a half inch rain.

OLD SETTLERS REUNION AT ROGERS, NEW MEX.

The Annual Old Settlers Reunion will be held at Rogers on the third of August. This celebration has been an annual event for the past thirteen years, and draws large crowds from all over the county. Rogers is situated in one of the best agricultural sections of Roosevelt county, and is populated with an industrious and intelligent class of farmers.

TRAVELERS INN A CREDIT TO PORTALES

Last Sunday the editor and family took dinner at the Travelers Inn, and we found this hostelry under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Willis to be a credit to the town and deserving of a liberal patronage. This is a splendid building and should do much to attract tourists and transients to the town.

ARCH L. GREGG IN CHARGE OF PROHIBITION OFFICE IN CITY

Arch L. Gregg, until recently prohibition agent in charge of the El Paso office, will assume charge of the Albuquerque prohibition office tomorrow.

W. C. Guinn, who has been in charge here for about two months, will leave for the Pass City tonight to work out of the El Paso office. Harry Biehn, assistant to Mr. Guinn, left for El Paso last night where he also has been transferred.

Mr. Gregg and family have just returned from a trip to Jemez Springs.—Albuquerque Herald.

NOTICE TO BROOM COEN GROWERS

A meeting of vital importance to broom corn growers will be held by them Monday, July 25th, in the afternoon at the County Agent's office in the court house at Portales.

Many farmers from the broom corn districts expect to attend court that afternoon and this meeting will be held immediately after court business is over.

This meeting has been called at the request of the growers themselves. The subject of the marketing of this season's crop of broom corn will be taken up.

C. M. TAYLOR BUYS NEW AUTO BUS

C. M. Taylor has bought a new auto bus to take the place of the one destroyed by fire last spring. The bus is now being assembled and will be ready for transportation in a few days. Mr. Taylor says that the work on the highway is progressing rapidly, and that it will be finished in about three weeks, when he will again put the bus on between Portales and Clovis.

STATE CAMP MEETING TO BE HELD IN PORTALES

The State Camp Meeting of the Pentecostal Assembly of God, will be held in Portales at the Pentecostal tabernacle in south part of town, beginning July 23rd. Two services each day, 2:30 and 8 p. m., also 11 a. m. on Sundays.

We invite all of God's people to join us in this revival to come and feel at home.

We are not going to undertake to prove that we are right and the rest all wrong, in this meeting. That isn't our business. But we want all of God's people to join with us in prayer that God will save many people and great good will be done in His name in Portales.

Evangelist W. P. Robinson, of Wichita Falls, Texas, will do the preaching. You will lose something if you fail to hear this man of God.
A. C. BATES, Pastor.

WILL STRIVE FOR COMMUNITY CANNING PLANT

The Sweet Potato Growers' Association will strive for a community canning plant for Portales in time to handle this year's crop of potatoes.

The proposition is to put in a small community plant and operate same by the association to take care of the potato crop of this season, and also to demonstrate that a canning factory will be a paying investment for the Portales Valley.

This is a good move by a progressive bunch of farmers, and it will do much to put the Valley on the map, as every can will bear the label of the Portales Valley Sweet Potato Growers' Association. This will also encourage the planting of crops to be canned the following season, and by emphasizing the need of this industry it will be the means of bringing in a larger plant as the business grows.

SHEEP AND WHEAT WILL ACCOMPLISH RESULTS

J. T. Wilcox says that sheep and wheat will be the salvation of the dry farming sections of the county.

Mr. Wilcox recently bought a bunch of sheep and now has 1000 head of ewes and lambs. He says that they are easier to take care of than cattle and will pay their way with the wool. He is also a booster for wheat farming, and says that there is no difference in the lands of Roosevelt county and those of Curry and Quay where wheat is grown, and all that it needs is for the farmers to prepare their land for wheat and put it in with the determination of harvesting it. He will plant a good acreage this fall.

Few people in Portales realize the quality of pictures which are being shown at the Cosy Theater for the past several months, and the one Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week was among the best that has been in the city for a long time. "The Rainbow Trail" is a sequel to the "Riders of the Purple Sage" which was shown here a few weeks ago, and was especially enjoyed by a good house both nights. Prof. Long is sparing no efforts or expense in getting the best for his patrons and is deserving of a liberal patronage by the people here.

OFF TO THE HILLS

Monday of this week quite a party of Portales people left for Montezuma, N. M., to attend the Baptist Association meeting. A number of these will include a few days in the hills of New Mexico before returning. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Strickland and son Caris, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goodson, Rev. J. F. Nix and family and Frank Campbell and family.

ELIDA YOUNG PEOPLE ORGANIZE PIG CLUB

Though the Elida community is sparsely settled, the young folks of that place have shown considerable enthusiasm in the matter of organizing a live stock club. A meeting was held at Elida last Thursday at which time it was definitely decided to secure pigs for the members. This organization will be similar to the one recently formed at Inez. Indications point to a larger membership than at Inez, however, and more territory will be taken in. At present some difficulty is being had in locating pure bred gilts. It is the intention of the clubs to secure their stock in Roosevelt county if possible.

COMMISSIONER'S COURT IN SESSION

The commissioner's court is in session today with Rupert F. Asplund, who is here representing the state tax commission.

BIG RAIN IN THE FLOYD DISTRICT

Monday night of this week, the News representative accompanied Superintendent Palm to Floyd to attend a meeting of the Floyd picnic boosters. A few miles this side of Floyd it began to rain, and soon soaked the entire country, putting the kibosh on the meeting.

Returning the rain had extended almost to town, and was so heavy that the roads had been washed out in places.

Crops in that country were looking fine and in places maize was in the boot.

Mr. Hatcher is a real booster for the dairy industry and says that he has sold 19 separators over the county in the past month. He says that the dairy farmer will put the county on the map and soon advance the price of land to par with West Texas and Oklahoma.

LIKES THE NEWS.

Marysville, Ark., July 15.
Dear Sir.

Received letter and paper. I thank you and you will find a P. O. money order enclosed for $1.50, for which please send me the Portales Valley News for one year. Your paper is just what I want, it tells about the doings in the county. I have land there and am very much interested in changes taking place there. I notice there is a Co. forming at Dora that sounds good to me. I don't know just where Dora is located in county.
Respectfully,
T. J. WELCH.

MISS FOOSHEE ENTERTAINS

On Monday morning, July 11th, Miss Mary Fooshee delightfully entertained in honor of Misses Elizabeth and Maurine Priddy, with an eight o'clock breakfast.

The house was decorated with Shasta daisies and fern. The center pieces of the tables were also daisies. The color scheme of ping and yellow, was successfully carried out throughout the whole meal.

Feet cantaloupes, fried chicken, gravy, sliced tomatoes, hot biscuits, pineapple, bananas, cream and wafers.

Plates were laid for Misses Francis and Florence Frados, Geraldine Davis, Rowena Newman, Willie Jane McCarter, Jessie F. Shropshire, Katherine Rowland, Addabelle Crites, Mary Nell McCall, Ruth Priddy, Clara Crain, Marjorie Berry, besides the honor guests, Misses Elizabeth and Maurine Priddy, and the hostess, Miss Mary Fooshee.

The hostess was assisted in serving the breakfast by Mrs. G. H. Fooshee.

After the breakfast contests were engaged in until eleven o'clock when all departed, declaring that they had had a wonderful time.—Nocona, (Texas), News.

REVIVAL AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Revival services are now being conducted by Rev. C. D. Poston. Bro. Poston is an able speaker and is bringing us messages both inspirational and practical.

Are you a christian? Come, there is a message for you. If you are not a christian, we urge you to come and learn the Gospel plan of salvation and accept Christ as your Savior.

Following are some of the subjects upon which Bro. Poston will preach: "Tehel," "The Cup of Death," "The Unpardonable Sin," "Buried Alive," "Too Late," "Mind Your Own Business," "The World's Greatest Magnet (illustrated) and the Door of Safety." (Chart in the drug store window.)

Services each morning at 10:00 o'clock and each evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Unless other arrangements are made later there will be preaching services Sunday at 3 o'clock only.

Sunday school at 10 o'clock followed immediately by the Lord's Supper.

FLOYD WILL CELEBRATE ON AUGUST 12, 1921

Floyd is preparing for a big celebration on August 12th. A great time is assured by the committees. The day will be filled with entertainment from dawn to dark and then some.

A big basket dinner will be spread, at which the committee will supply five or more cooked beverages.

Prominent speakers will be there in the forenoon. The afternoon will be given over to some real western bronc busting and steer roping contests. Liberal cash prizes have been offered in these events which will attract the best talent in Eastern New Mexico.

Full announcement will be in next issue of this paper.

WILLIAMS-GRAY

(From Grand Rapids, Mich., Paper.)

Miss Helen Kathryn Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Gray, of Travis Ave., became the bride of James Taylor Williams of Portales, New Mexico, Saturday at the home of her parents.

Ferns and garden flowers were arranged to form the altar before which Rev. D. Stanley Coors performed the ceremony. The bride's gown fashioned of white Canton crepe, was draped and trimmed with pearls. Her tulle veil was caught in cap shade with lilies-of-the-valley and she carried a shower of white roses and swainsona. Miss Helen Horn of Chicago, as maid of honor, was attired in jade organdie and carried an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses. The gowns of the bridesmaids; Miss Bessie Kik and Miss Crystal Beekman were rose and orchid organdie and their flowers were snap dragons. Little Esther Bullis and Helen Caster acted as flower girls and Masters Kenneth Simons and Don Chown carried the ring on satin pillows. Henry Gray, of Gary, Ind., assisted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tiffany of Reed City were master and mistress of ceremonies. Miss Ethelyn Craw, soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Augusta Rasch Hake, furnished the wedding music. Mrs. Norman Simons and Mrs. Charles Chown were in charge of the dining room assisted by Misses Doris Butler, Irene Seltzer, Mary Volkier, Ruth Trauger and Glenna Sayles. The out of town guests included M. R. Higginbotham, of Victor, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. William Horn, Austin Horn, William Austin, Miss Helen Horn and Miss Ruth Austin of Chicago; Henry, Jack and Russell Gray of Gary, Ind.; Raymond Killey of Reed City; Mrs. D. J. Richards of Port Huron, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson and Miss Elizabeth Wilson of Cadillac, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Page, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Magers and J. B. Magers of Spring Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams will be at home at 185 Travis St. upon their return after a wedding trip to northern resorts.

COOPERATION PROFITABLE

Farmers in Wilson county, Texas, shipped peanut hay last winter cooperatively, under the supervision of the county agent. The hay which was sold in this way brought the farmers $3 per ton more than any of the local dealers were offering at that time. Six carloads were shipped at a time and as 10 tons were loaded to the car this meant that the farmers received $180 a shipment more than they would have received if they had marketed it locally.

Following are some of the subjects upon which Bro. Poston will preach: "Tehel," "The Cup of Death," "The Unpardonable Sin," "Buried Alive," "Too Late," "Mind Your Own Business," "The World's Greatest Magnet (illustrated) and the Door of Safety." (Chart in the drug store window.)

NOTICE TO JERSEYMEN

The Roosevelt County Jersey Breeders' Association will hold their picnic July 23, at the Hicks place. All Jerseymen are invited to be present.

RED CROSS HEALTH INFORMATION

Tuberculosis.
Of all dangerous disease which exact levy on humanity, tuberculosis or consumption is perhaps the most dreaded, and with reason.

Tuberculosis is the largest single cause of death in middle life claiming one-half of deaths from all causes. From 15 to 45 years of age it takes approximately one third of all deaths with a grand total of about 160,000 per year.

Statistics from Metropolitan Life Insurance company show that one of its policy holders dies from consumption every half hour day and night the year round—and this is only one of the many companies.

Consumption is curable, but only if properly treated and taken early. Neglect is practically equivalent to signing the patients death warrant.

A cough lasting longer than a month, loss of weight, slight fever and tiredness, spitting of blood, are all symptoms and if they appear the person should at once consult a good doctor for an examination.

If consumption is discovered, the only cure is to bring the body to a condition of strength sufficient to resist and at length to destroy the germs. Medicines do little good, the best means being good food, rest, fresh air, outdoor life and freedom from worry.

If the patient cannot go to a sanitarium he may be treated at home safely with the observance of certain rules. He should occupy a room alone without rugs. He should sleep as nearly in a condition to represent out-of-doors as possible. Windows should be open day and night. He should have a special set of dishes to be used by himself only. He should always spit into a container and the sputum be destroyed and the container burned or thoroughly cleansed frequently, as the spit is the active means of spreading the disease.

Keep away dampness, dirt and darkness from the environment of the patient. Sunshine, pure air and cleanliness are the great aids in fighting the plague. Use them freely, and keep the patient under the care of doctor.

KENTUCKY VALLEY ITEMS

We have quite a number of visitors in the Kentucky Valley community this week and everything is lively, as usual.

Miss Marie Brown of Roswell is the guest of her brother, Elmer Brown and wife this week. Miss Pearl Taylor, of Portales, is visiting in the Kentucky Valley community this week.

John Duvall and wife of Clovis, are visiting Mrs. Duvall's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kimbrel this week.

Mrs. Jeff White and daughters, Grace and Mary, of Portales, were visiting at the home of C. M. Myers and family Sunday.

Miss Nellie Cotton, of Snyder, Texas, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Hendrix.

T. C. Cothorn and family arrived last week from Brice, Texas, where they have been visiting relatives, and left again Sunday for Coleman, Texas, where they will visit Mr. Cothorn's relatives.

Ted Wilmes and family were callers at the C. M. Myers home Sunday.

Miss Vera Scott and Arden Turnbull went to Portales to witness the ball game Sunday afternoon.

Deskin Cothorn and wife left last week for Carlsbad, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kimbrel and John Duval and wife were guests of R. L. Jones and family Sunday. Otta Lee Pierce, daughter of R. L. Jones, who is visiting here, is an old friend of Mrs. Duval.

Quite a number of the Kentucky Valley people attended the funeral of Effie Gilliam at Elida last Saturday afternoon.

The party, or social, given by Miss Lena Wilmes Friday night, was well attended and enjoyed by everyone.

We all enjoyed a singing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Beeman Sunday night.

CAUSEY ITEMS

The farmers of Causey are all busy laying by their crops.

Mrs. J. N. Price and little son, C. B., are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Z. Little.

Mrs. Loretta Bradford and little daughter, Ruby, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Maud Judah.

Brother Pondon filled his regular appointment at Causey Sunday and Sunday night.

Bro. D. Z. Little and R. L. Little have returned from Amarillo, Texas, where they have been holding a meeting.

Bro. Nichols and family from Amarillo, are visiting in the Causey community this week.

Mrs. L. A. Little left last week for Hot Springs.

JOHN STARNES ACQUITTED

Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock the trial of John Starnes in which the State of New Mexico charged the defendant with selling whiskey on Jan. 1, 1921, was held in Judge Fairly's court.

A jury of five was agreed on by counsel for the state and defense. Jury empaneled as follows: K. Robertson, T. B. Johnston, Glenn Langston, Walter Crow and Hance Arnold.

State was represented by Assistant District Attorney J. C. Compton, and the defense by Attorneys G. L. Reese and Albert Morgan.

Defendant was charged with selling whiskey to William B. Greathouse on or about January 1st, 1921.

Greathouse being put on the stand testified under oath that he had not bought whiskey from the defendant.

Under a rule of order, council was restrained from asking defendant if he had not given information in above charge against defendant.

Prosecuting attorney moved that the case be dismissed as there was no evidence to try same on.

On motion of counsel for the defendant the case was submitted to the jury, which returned a verdict of "not guilty."

OIL COMPANY COMPLETES ORGANIZATION

This week The Twin Lakes Oil, Gas and Mineral Company of Roosevelt County completed their organization of a Common Law Trust, for the purpose of drilling for oil in the neighborhood of Dora.

From geological reports the indications are extra good in that locality and here is hoping that these people will either get oil or punch a hole clear through to China.

NOTICE!

The public is hereby notified that it is unlawful to drive across walks or gutters where the alley has not been opened.

TREES ON WOMAN'S CLUB GROUNDS ARE BEING DESTROYED

Something or someone is destroying the shade trees which were put out on the Woman's Club grounds last spring. This week one of the largest was found uprooted and the hole filled up. This is a shame. The ladies are doing their part toward beautifying the town and their efforts should be appreciated and protected.

PORTALES CONTINUES TO IMPROVE

J. S. Fernandes has proven himself one of Portales progressive citizens by laying a sidewalk in front of his business property. Just in front of the garage and machine shop he has put down a walk of brick, and along his property on each side he has finished with caliche.

MRS. OMA RICHARDS

Mrs. J. D. Spears has just returned from visiting her sick daughter, who died at Ft. Worth, Texas, July 13, 1921. Her daughter, Mrs. Oma Richards, was laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery July 16th, 1921. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church for 15 years. She leaves two dear children, a mother and father, with two sisters to mourn her loss.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Spears, deeply sympathize with them in the loss of their dear daughter, who is now at rest. May the tender blessings of a great and sympathizing Saviour comfort and bless you dear loved ones in this time of trouble.
A. C. SEARCY.

LONGS NOTES

The farmers of this community are busy cultivating their crops.

There was no singing last Sunday night as the new song books have not come. Singing will be at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

Monday school is growing. There were 71 in attendance last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tip Fullerton and children were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Harvey Sunday.

Misses Iva and Tracy Anderson entertained the young people at their home last Sunday evening.

Mrs. Doc Herndon and children have returned from Appleton, Texas, where they have been visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Fullerton and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fullerton were visiting Mrs. Long Sunday.

Thinning chile to two or three plants per hill will produce larger and better pods, and also heavier yield, than when twenty or more plants are left to the hill.

WHY SUFFER SO?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? Portales people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor. Could you ask for stronger proof of merit?

Mrs. C. M. Dobbs, Box 8, Portales, says: "I was troubled a great deal with my kidneys. I had headaches and dizzy nervous spells bothered me frequently. Every time I tried to bend over, sharp pains caught me in my back and I could hardly straighten up. I felt miserable when I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at the Portales Drug Store and used them. This medicine removed the complaint quickly and I soon felt like a different person. I have used Doan's Kidney Pills since as a kidney regulator and they have kept my kidneys in good condition."

America Forward
We have now met, one after another, practically all the difficulties that come during a period of deflation.
The clouds are behind; clear skies are ahead. Another crop is on the way; to be gathered in the fall.
The American farmer, ever faithful to his duty and responsibility as the support of our national activity and prosperity, has set his hand to the plow. Let America follow his example, fall in step, and MOVE FORWARD.

PORTALES AND CLOVIS STAGES BEST GAME OF SEASON TUESDAY

The ball game Tuesday afternoon between Clovis and Portales was a real ball game. Lefty Karsen, the Portales favorite, took the home team to another victory. He was ably assisted by N. Etz as catcher. The Clovis team was a strong aggregation of real ball players and gave the home boys a run for their money. As a pitcher, Althouse was there with the goods. A good audience of fans was on hand boosting for both teams, and from the start it was seen that both teams were out for blood. Perhaps the most sensational play of the day was the line drive catch by Siegnor.

NICKIE SAYS

PORTALES POTATO BUGS DEFEATS THE FLOYD HORSE FLYS SATURDAY

On last Saturday the Portales Potato Bugs motored out to Floyd to engage in a ball game with the Floyd Horse Flys. The battery for Portales was Dawson Clark, pitcher, and Jim Crow catcher. Floyd battery, Joe Bailey Howard, pitcher and Lewis Smith, catcher. The Potato Bugs played with vim and won from Floyd by the score of 13 to 8.

SUNDAY'S BALL GAME

The ball game last Sunday between Roswell and Portales was a disappointment to all who attended. As a ball game it was a "fiver." The score was 16 to 6 in favor of Roswell.

CHARGED WITH VAGRENCY.

On last Friday afternoon in Justice Farley's court, Joe Hayden was arranged on a charge of vagrancy. City Attorney Albert Morgan represented the City of Portales, and Judge T. E. Mears represented the defendant. Witnesses for the prosecution were: Olen Braley, Miss Edith Daniel, G. W. Wood, R. H. Adams, Sam Goodson, H. H. Munroe and John Starnes. For the defense, Jailer Swafford was summoned.

After hearing the testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution, council for the defense asked that the Court dismiss the charge against the defendant, as there was nothing in the evidence to sustain the charges. The defendant was arrested on a charge of vagrancy Tuesday night, and placed in the county jail over night.

It turned out that Hayden was a federal prohibition officer working under the well known and efficient officer, Carl Gordon.

EVIDENCE OF GAS AT ELIDA

J. A. Swagerty was up from the ranch near Elida this week, and tells strange tales of gas deposits in a lake on his ranch. This lake which was filled with water by the recent rains, foams and bubbles in several places as if there was a pressure of gas escaping. Mr. Swagerty waded out in the lake where this was in evidence and says that he could hear a noise as of air escaping, and that the water at this spot had the appearance of boiling up.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

A Few Items Which Will Appear in the Portales Valley News in 1925.

This week the capacity of the four big elevators of the Portales Mill & Elevator Co., was taxed to utmost to care for the Roosevelt county wheat crop, which is pouring in by truck. From the wheat farm of Fred Luper, in the Redlake country, a string of five trucks are busy night and day moving the golden grain. Out in the Floyd country Dan Smith and A. K. Glover have installed four giant combines to harvest and thresh their wheat crop. It is reported that the yield from these farms will average better than thirty-five bushels per acre. These gentlemen have in better than 500 acres each. Several tourists were out that way watching the harvest and one tried to purchase land in the Floyd school district. He found very little for sale, and that at from $50.00 an acre up.

In the Rogers country, they are rushing the harvest day and night to get it out of the way before the Rogers annual celebration. Quite an interesting sight on one of the farms was a binder being drawn by horses. This was more as a demonstration of how crops were handled in the past, and the Portales Valley Fair management has secured this machine to place on exhibition during the coming county fair.

W. W. VanWinkle says that his crop of wheat will net him better than $50.00 per acre, besides he has grazed several hundred head of cattle on the wheat pasture all winter. It is estimated that there will be 50,000 acres in wheat in this community the coming season. J. W. Stigall was in from Richland and stated that fifty per cent of the tight land in his neighborhood was being planted to wheat, and that the corn crop for this year would rival the Iowa corn belt for production. When asked the value of land out that way, Mr. Stigall said: "Very little can be bought at all and what is on the market is from $50.00 to $100.00 an acre. I tell you the grain farming and dairy cow has put our part of the county on the map."

Joe Cooper was up from Kenna. Joe was originally an old time cow man, but he has been converted to wheat, and now has the Bonham Lake pasture in grain. He is looking for hands to assist with the harvesting. He will run two tractor drawn combines this season.

MORE STREET GRADING

More street work is being done in Portales this week. Tuesday, work was begun on the street leading from the square and connecting with the highway where it leaves town for Elida. Several blocks of cross streets have been graded in the past week, which adds much to the appearance of the town.

The Universal Motor Co. are preparing for a big wheat crop the coming season. They have a special tractor man here from the home factory, and this week received a carload of trucks.

placed 500 milking machines in the county this season. The Santa Fe railway is preparing to operate a cream train of 10 express coaches through here on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week. The big cannery operated by Gov. Lindsey at the old power plant is experiencing considerable difficulty in keeping up with the canning of the Portales Valley vegetables. The management are seriously considering doubling the capacity. The Sweet Potato Association will ship 5000 cars of potatoes this season besides canning as many more. Government experts who have looked into the water supply of the Portales Valley say that the supply shows no indication of decreasing, and that the Valley farmers need fear no shortage. If you do not own land in Roosevelt county, you will "Eventually, why not now?"

What Would You Think

IF THE BANKS AT PORTALES WOULD REFUSE TO LOAN THE FARMERS AND STOCKMEN OF ROOSEVELT COUNTY MONEY TO HELP TAKE CARE OF AND DEVELOP THIS COUNTY? INSTEAD OF THAT WOULD GO INTO A NEIGHBORING COUNTY AND LOAN THEIR MONEY? WHAT WOULD YOU THINK OF THEM?

WELL, WHAT DO YOU THINK OF A FARMER AND STOCK-GROWER THAT WON'T DEPOSIT HIS MONEY IN HIS HOME BANK, BUT KEEPS IT IN HIS POCKET OR DEPOSITS IT IN A BANK IN ANOTHER COUNTY?

THINK THIS OVER. DEPOSIT YOUR MONEY IN YOUR HOME BANKS WHERE IT WILL HELP TO DEVELOP AND PROMOTE YOUR HOME COUNTY.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

DEMOCRATIC IN POLITICS

Clovis was fighting for the state championship in baseball and now
Portales has cleaned up on Clovis.
By combining they could easily land the state championship for Eastern New Mexico.

Even a small community canning plant would do much for the development of the Portales Valley. And it would be the means of bringing a larger factory in later.

The Jersey Breeders' picnic Saturday will materially help the dairying business of Roosevelt county. Let every citizen get behind the Jersey Breeders and give them every encouragement possible.

Daily visitors to Portales spread their dinner in the cool shade on the court house lawn, while they enjoy an hour of real comfort.
These cool, shady spots in this western country are an oasis for the weary traveler, and also will create a friendly feeling for the town.

Tourists from the east pass through town daily. For the past few weeks, whenever it has been possible the News has presented each car of tourists with a copy of the paper, thereby giving them an insight to the commercial and industrial activities of the Portales Valley.

Elsewhere in this issue is an article on cost of street paving.
This should be of interest to every resident of the town, as the condition of the streets do much to attract or drive away desirable settlers. Portales needs street paving and side walks in every section of the town. Think it over and perhaps you will be convinced that it is the proper thing to do.

IMPROVE THE LIVESTOCK.

There is no time like the present
for improving the general classes of livestock on New Mexico farms. Much has been said and written about improvement that can be effected by the use of purebred sires of good individual quality. Prices of breeding stock are lower they have been for years. It is true that money is scarce in general, but it is doubtful if there are many bankers in the state who will turn down a loan requested by a customer for the purpose of buying a high grade boar, ram or bull.
Good sires of all classes of stock can be purchased in New Mexico.

CARDUI HELPED

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stogall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak,
I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief.
I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since... I can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully,
in the treatment of many womanly ailments.
If you suffer as these women did,
take Cardui. It may help you, too.

LITTLE UNEXPECTED HELP CARRY BROADER MESSAGE

The county agent has to serve in all sorts of capacities. The agent in Wilson county, Texas, reports an emergency case where he was called in to render first-aid service. A fine span of mules had run away with a scraper and were badly cut up. Although no bones were broken, the mules had received several bad cuts about the hind legs and one main tendon was badly lacerated. The wounds were disinfected and dressed, and instructions given for their further treatment. It is in small ways like this that the county agent convinces the farmer that he is there to serve and that he really knows his job.

WITH COUNTY WORKERS

Dairy improvement is being started in one community by the organization of a calf club. Had inquiry about flea beetles and their control. Also worms working on the vines, and borers working on the peach trees and grape vines. Spent considerable time observing methods being used by dry farmers. Arrangements have been made to begin registry of merit test on 10 Jerseys for J. V.
Miller in August. Have also arranged to run cream tests on individual cows for several men who want to weed out boarder cows.
Gathering statistics about the broomcorn industry in the county

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF
ROOSEVELT COUNTY

Since there has been some change in the Tax Law in the State of New Mexico, I feel that it is my duty to inform those who have not paid their taxes, just the condition of all unpaid or delinquent taxes.

On the first day of August a penalty of five per cent will be added to all unpaid taxes. This is a new law which was passed at the last legislature and this penalty will, hereafter, be added to the delinquent taxes fifteen days after said taxes have become delinquent.

On August first I will begin and make a list of all unpaid taxes and the same will be advertised and sold according to the New Tax Law for this state.

LOCAL PERSONALS

Miss Hazel Riley is visiting in Clovis.

J. F. Haning and family are visiting relative in Texas.

Jess McCormack and family left Monday for a ten days visit at Lovington, N. M.

Mrs. J. B. Crow returned Saturday from a months visit with her people in Kentucky.

Attorney Jas. A. Hall and wife were down from Clovis Tuesday, visiting with friends.

Dr. A. J. Evans was up from Elida Tuesday to see the ball game.

J. B. Sledge and family are enjoying the sight of Colorado Springs; where they have been for the past ten days.

Mrs. Emma Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Foreman and sons were guests in the W. H. Catt home Sunday.

Co. Howard returned Tuesday from Wichita, Kansas, where he had been with a shipment of calves.

The county superintendent's office is in receipt of a handsome photograph of the state superintendent of public instruction. We were surprised in the photo as the subject shows far too much intelligence to be a good republican.

Tom Tow was in from his ranch near Garrison, last Saturday. Mr. Tow and sons put in a big acreage of corn last year, and have just finished shelling the same. He is now marketing it to get it out of the way for this years crop.

J. B. Priddy and family and Mrs. Tinsley returned last Friday from an auto trip down in Texas. On account of the roads they never reached Galveston, but turned back from Palo Pinto county. They visited their old home at Nocona, however. Mr. Priddy says crops are the finest that he ever saw in Texas, but that there is fear that the boll weevil will get the cotton. Burl Johnson and family continued on to Houston where they will spend a couple of weeks.

A. D. Ribble is moving into his new residence this week. This is a real attractive bungalow and adds much to the appearance of that part of town.

Rev. A. C. Searcy and wife will leave Friday for Estanchie Valley where Rev. Searcy will assist Rev. J. P. Evans in a month of revival meetings on the Morearty work.

W. T. Cowgill came in Saturday from a visit to his son, Joe, in Oklahoma. Mr. Cowgill is now ranching on his homestead below Kenna.

J. H. Shepard and John Luikart of Clovis were in town several days the past week. These gentlemen were formerly Portales citizens.

D. K. Saffdy and son, Clifford, were up from the ranch Saturday. Dan says he never saw crops grow like they have in the past two weeks.

Roscoe Creek and family and Hampton Byrd left Sunday for White Deer, Texas, to help finish harvesting the wheat crop in that section.

Alvin Bilberry and wife of Abilene, Texas, came in last week to visit with the family of Mrs. Bilberry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Stinnett. They were accompanied by Miss Hazel Hart.

Robert Purdue and Hugh Foreman of McQueen, Okla., and the Knox McClain family of Clovis, were guests in the Edgar Foreman home Tuesday and Wednesday.

Shorty Dezonias will move his family from Roswell to Portales the first of the month. Shorty is a booster and will do his part for the development of Portales.

L. B. Tucker, accompanied by Roy Wheeler, left last Friday for Roaring Springs, Texas, to spend a few days with his little son - L. B.

Frank Beeman and family were in from Richland Wednesday. Mr. Beeman says that crops were never better in his section, and now looks as if they would be heavier than last year.

The News is only $1.50 a year.

COWS, PIGS, CHICKENS NECESSARY ON FARM

John Fields in the "Oklahoma Farmer" states that one farm out of ten in Oklahoma is henless. It would be interesting to know how many are cowless and pigless. We do not care to point the finger of scorn at Oklahoma for this unfortunate situation. Doubtless in dry farming sections of New Mexico, one might find a great many farms where a brood sow would be a curiosity; where the cackle of accomplishment from the lowly hen is never heard; and where the milking is done by opening a tin can. Fortunately, this condition is changing. We are learning that the farm should support the family in more ways than by simply producing a crop of grain, beans or hay to be hauled to market. Many a dry farmer in New Mexico can point to a store bill paid in full, and a well-supplied table, by reason of the fact that a few cows, pigs and chickens have been kept on the farm.

The principal object of cultivation is to kill the weeds. When one has killed all the weeds, he has done about all that needs to be done in the way of cultivation.

E. Gilliam, J. W. Ballew, Saint Landers and John Creech of New Hope, were in town Thursday. They report good rains out that way.

Fordson TRADE MARK

What Henry Ford Says About Machine Power Farming

"In the tractor the farmer now has a machine in which is harnessed one of the most adaptable, efficient, economical sources of power in the world—the internal combustion engine.

"The tractor will multiply the productive capacity of each individual farm worker from three to four times over.

"It will put the farmer on a par with the city manufacturer. It will put his produce-producing factory—for that is what a farm is—on to an efficient production basis.

"It will enable each worker to earn so much more that he can be paid more and still leave a greater profit for the man who hires him. It will enable the farmer to work fewer hours in the day, giving him more time to enjoy life.

"I believe the tractor will make farming what it ought to be—the most pleasant, the most healthful, the most profitable business on earth."

The Wreckers

By FRANCIS LYNDE

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Graham Norcross, railroad manager, and his secretary, Jimmie Doda, are marooned at Sand Creek siding with a young lady, Sheila Mearns, and her small cousin, Unseen, when a special car is carried off.

CHAPTER XVIII.—"Mine owners" charter a special, the wreckers allowing it to run. President Dunton demands Norcross' immediate resignation. Norcross delays. Collingwood hires special engine to follow "mine owners" party. Hatch is with the "mine owners." Norcross, suspecting Collingwood plans to kill his enemy, follows on another special, with Sheila, Major Kendrick and Doda.

CHAPTER XIX

Under the Wide and Starry Sky

I sure had to be quick about obeying that "get-aboard" order of Mr. Norcross. Kirgan had jerked the throttle open the minute the word was given. I missed the forward end of the car, and when the other end came along my grab at the hand-rod slammed me head over heels up the steps. Kirgan was holding his whistle valve open, and the guarding strikers in the yard gave us room and a clear track. By the time we had passed the "limit" switches we were going like a blue streak, and I could hardly keep my balance on the back platform of the day-coach.

You can guess that I didn't stay out there very long. The night was clear as a bell and pretty coolish, with the stars burning like white diamonds in the black inverted bowl of the sky. It was mighty pretty scenery, but just the same, after Kirgan had fairly struck his gait on the long western tangent, I clawed my way inside. It was a lot too blustery and unsafe on that back platform.

The major and Mrs. Sheila were sitting together, near the middle of the car. I staggered up and took the seat just ahead of them, and the major asked me if Mr. Norcross was on the engine. I told him he was, and that ended it. What with the rattle and bang of the coach, the howling of the speed-made wind in the ventilators, and the shrill scream of the spinning wheels, there wasn't any room for talk during the whole of that breathtaking race to the old "Y" in the hills beyond Banta.

Knowing, from what Mr. Norcross had said, the point at which we were going to side-track and wait for the special and the wild engine, I grew sort of nervous and worked-up after we had crashed through the Banta yard and the day-coach began to sway and lurch around the hill curves. What if the special had been making better time than the boss had counted upon? In that case, we'd probably hit her in a head-on somewhere on one of those very curves. And with the time we were making, and the time she'd be making, there wouldn't be enough left for either train to be worth picking up.

A mile or so short of the "Y" siding I went up ahead and handed myself out to the forward platform to see if I couldn't get a squint past the storming engine. I got it now and then, on the swing of the curves, but there was nothing in sight. Just the same it was mighty scary, and I took a relief breath so deep that it nearly made me sick at my stomach when I finally realized that Kirgan had shut off and was slowing for the stop at the farther switch of the old "Y."

What was done at the switch was done swiftly, as men work when they have the fear of death gripping at them. If the special should come up while we were making the back-in, the result would be just about the same as it would have been if we had met it on the curves.

With our own engine silent, I could hear a faint sound like the far-away fluttering of a safety-valve. We were not ten seconds too soon. The special was coming.

Mr. Norcross, who was still in the engine cab, shot an order at Kirgan.

"Fling your coat over the headlight, and then be ready to snatch it and get off!" he shouted. "If they see it as they come up, it may stop them!" Then, catching a glimpse of me on the ground: "Break the coupling on the coach, Jimmie—quick!"

As I jumped to obey I understood what was to be done. The fireman at the switch was to let the special go by, and then the boss—just the boss alone on the engine—was to be let out on the main track to put himself between the chaser and the chased. It was a hair-raising proposition, but perhaps—just perhaps—not quite so suicidal as it looked. With stifled hissing the interposed engine might possibly be kept out of the way by backing, and its warning headlight shining full into the eyes of the men in the 410's cab would surely be enough to stop them—if anything would. I had just finished uncoupling the day-coach and the boss was easing our engine ahead a bit to make sure that she was loose, when the car door opened behind me and the major and Mrs. Sheila came out in the front vestibule. It was Mrs. Sheila who spoke to me, and her voice had borrowed some of the big terror that I had seen in her eyes while she was sitting in the office at Portal City.

"Where—whereabouts are we, Jimmie?" she asked.

Before I could open my mouth the black shadows of the crooked valley beyond the switch were shot through with the white, shimmering glow of a headlight beam, and a second later the special flicked into view on the curve of approach.

As we looked, there was a short, sharp whistle yelp, the brakes gripped the wheels, the one-car train, with fire grinding from every brake-shoe, came to a jerking stop a short car-length on our side of the switch, and a man dropped from the engine step to go sprinting to the rear. And it was plain that neither the engineer nor the man who was running back saw our outfit waiting on the leg of the old "Y."

Kirgan was the first one to understand. With a shout of warning, he jumped and ran toward the stopped train, yelling at the engineer for God's sake to pull out and go on. Back in the hills beyond the curve of approach another hoarse murmur was jarring upon the air, and the special's fireman, who was the man we had seen jump off and go running back, and who, of course, didn't know that we had our man there, was apparently trying to reach the switch behind his train to throw it against the following engine to shoot it off on the "Y."

By this time the boss was off of our engine and racing across the angle of the "Y" only a little way behind Kirgan. He realized that his plan was smashed by the stopping of the special, and that the very catastrophe we had come out to try to prevent was due to happen right there and then. Whatever our man waiting at the switch might do, there was bound to be a collision. If he left the points set for the main line, the wild engine would crash into the rear end of the stopped special; and if he did the other thing, our engine and coach standing on the "Y" would get it.

"Get the people out of that car!" I heard the boss yell, but even as he said it the pop-valve of the stopped engine went off with a roar, filling the shut-in valley with clamorings that nothing could drown.

Two minutes, two little minutes more, and the sleep-sodden bunch of men in the special's car might have been roused and turned out and saved. But the minutes were not given us. While the racing fireman was still a few feet short of the switch the throwing of which would have saved the one-car train only to let the madman's engine in on our engine and coach, and our man—already at the switch—was too scared to know which horn of the dilemma to choose, the end came. There was the flash of another headlight on the curve, another whistle shriek, and I turned to help the major take Mrs. Sheila off our car and run with her, against the horrible chance that we might get it instead of the special.

But we didn't get it. Ten seconds later the chasing engine had crashed headlong into the standing train, burying itself clear up to the tender in the heart of the old wooden sleeper, rolling the whole business over on its side in the ditch, and setting the wreckage afire as suddenly as if the old Pullman had been a fagot of pitch-pine kindlings and only waiting for the match.

If I could write down any real description of the way things stacked up there in that lonesome valley for the little bunch of us who stood aghast at the awful horror, I guess I wouldn't need to be hammering the keys of a typewriter in a railroad office. But never mind; no soldier sees any more of a battle than the part he is in. There were seven of us men, including the engineer and fireman of the special, who were able to jump in and try to do something, and looking back at it now, it seems as if we all did what we could.

That wasn't much. About half of the people in the sleeping-car—six by actual count, as we learned afterward—were killed outright in the crash or so badly hurt that they died pretty soon afterward; and the fire was so quick and so hot that after we had got the wounded ones out we couldn't get all of the bodies of the others.

As you'd imagine, the boss was the head and front of that fierce rescue fight. He had stripped off his coat, and he kept on diving into the burning wreck after another and yet another of the victims until it seemed as if he couldn't possibly do it one more time and come out alive. He didn't seem to remember that these very men were the ones who had been trying to ruin him—that at least once they had set a trap for him and tried to kill him. He was too big for that.

After we had got out all the victims we could reach, there was still one more left who wasn't dead; we could hear him above the hissing of the steam and the crackling of the flames, screaming and begging us to break in the side of the car and kill him before the fire got to him. Kirgan had found an ax in the emergency box of our day-coach, and was chopping away like a madman.

The minute he got a hole big enough, the big master-mechanic dropped his ax and climbed down into the choking hell where the screams were coming from. Our fireman picked up the ax and ran around to the other side of the wreck where Jones, the engineer of the special, and his fireman were trying to break into the crushed cab of the 410.

The old major, the boss, and I stood by to help Kirgan, and the minute his head came up through the chopped hole we saw that he needed help. He had pried the screaming man loose, somehow, and was trying to drag him up out of the smoking furnace. It was done, amongst us, some way or other. Kirgan had wrapped the man up in a Pullman blanket to keep the fire from getting at him any worse than it already had, and as we were taking him out the blanket slipped aside from his face and I saw who it was that the master-mechanic had risked his life for. It was Hatch, himself, and he died in our arms, the major's and mine, while we were carrying him out to where Mrs. Sheila was tearing one of the Pullman sheets that I had got hold of into strips to make bandages for the wounded.

It Was Hatch, Himself.

With the chance of saving maybe another one or two, we couldn't stay to help the brave little woman who was trying to be doctor and nurse to half a dozen poor wretches at once. But she took time to ask me one single breathless question:

"Have they found him yet?—you know the one I mean, Jimmie?"

"No," I said. "They're digging away at that side now," and then I ran back to jump in again.

Though the fire was now licking at everything in sight, Kirgan, who had taken the ax from our fireman, had managed to cut some of the car timbers out of the way so that we could see down into the tangle of things where the cab of the 410 ought to have been. There wasn't much left of the cab, along with everything else, but in spite of the reek of smoke and steam we could see that Hogan and his fireman were not there. But down under the coal that had shifted forward at the impact of the collision we could make out the other man—the murderer—lying on his back, black in the face and gasping.

That was enough for the boss. It looked like certain death for anybody to crawl down into that hissing steam-bath, but he did it, wriggling through the hole that Kirgan had chopped, while two or three of us ran to the little creek that trickled down on the far side of the "Y" and brought back soaking Pullman blankets to try to delay the encroaching fire and smother the steam-jets.

I couldn't see very well what the boss was doing; the smoke and steam were so blinding. But when I did get a glimpse I saw that he was digging frantically with his bare hands at the shifted coal, and that he had succeeded in freeing the head and shoulders of the buried man, who was still alive enough to choke and gasp in the furnace-like heat.

Kirgan stood it as long as he could—until the licking flames were about to drive us all away.

"You'll be burnt alive—come up out of that!" he yelled to the boss; but I knew it wouldn't do any good. With Collingwood still buried down there and still with the breath of life in him, the boss was going to stay and keep on trying to dig him out, even if he, himself, got burned to a crisp doing it. Loving Mrs. Sheila the way he did, he couldn't do any less.

It was awful, those next two or three minutes. We were all running frantically back and forth, now, between the wreck and the creek, soaking the blankets and doing our level best to beat the fire back and keep it from cutting off the only way there was for the boss to climb out. But we could only fight gaspingly on the surface of things, as you might say. Down underneath, the fire was working around in front and behind in spite of all we could do. Some of it had got to the coal, and the heavy sulphurous smoke was oozing up to make us all choke and strangle.

Honestly, you couldn't have told that the boss was a white man when he crawled up out of that pit of death, tugging and lifting the crushed and broken body of the madman, and making his eyes if not before he would come out himself. We got them both away from the fire as quickly as we could and around to the other side of things, Kirgan and Jones carrying Collingwood.

The poor little lady we had left alone with the rescued ones had done all she could, and she was waiting for us. When we put Collingwood down, she sat down on the ground and took his head in her lap and cried over him just like his mother might have, and when the boss knelt down beside her I heard what he said: "That's right, little woman; that's just as it should be. Death wipes out all scores. I did my best—you must always believe that I did my best."

She choked again at that, and said: "There is no hope?" and he said: "I'm afraid not. He was dying when I got to him."

I tried to swallow the big lump in my throat and turned away, and so did everybody else but the major, who went around and knelt down on the other side of Mrs. Sheila. The wreck was blazing now like a mighty bonfire, lighting up the pine-clad hills all around and snapping and growling like some savage monster gloating over its prey. In the red glow we saw a man limping up the track from the west, and Kirgan and I went to meet him. It was Hogan, the missing engineer of the 410.

He told us what there was to tell, which wasn't very different from the way we'd been putting it up. They—Hogan and his fireman—hadn't suspected that they were carrying a maniac until after they had passed Baurite and Collingwood had told them both that what he wanted to do was to overtake the special and smash it. Then there had been a fight on the engine, but Collingwood had a gun and he had threatened to kill them both if they didn't keep on.

"I kept her goin'," said the Irishman, "thinkin' maybe Jones'd keep out of my way, or that at the last I'd get a chance to shut the 'Sixteen off an' give her the brake. He kept me frim doin' it, and when I saw the tail-lights, I pushed Johnnie Shovel off an' went after him because there was nothin' else to do. Johnnie's back you'dher a piece, wid a broken leg."

Just then Jones, the special's engineer, came up, and he pieced out Hogan's story. The wire to Baurite had warned him that a crazy man was chasing him and overrunning stop-signals. He had thought to side-track the chaser at the old "Y" and that was what he had stopped for.

Thereupon the three of us went after the crippled fireman, and when we got back to the "Y" with him it was all over. Collingwood had died with his head in Mrs. Sheila's lap, and the boss, fagged out and half dead as he must have been, was up and at work, getting the wreck victims into our day coach, which had been backed up and taken around to the other leg of the "Y" to head for Portal City.

When it came time for us to move Collingwood, Mrs. Sheila pulled her veil down and walked behind the body, with the good old major locking his arm in hers, and that choking lump came again in my throat when I remembered what Collingwood had said to the boss the night he came to our office: "Sheila made her wedding journey with me once, when she was just eighteen. The next time she rides with me it will be at my funeral."

I guess there's no use stretching the agony out by telling about that mournful ride back to Portal City with the dead and wounded. We left the wreck blazing and roaring in the shut-in valley at the gulch's mouth because there wasn't anything else to do; Kirgan and Jones and one of the firemen handled the engine and pulled out, while the rest of us rode in the day-coach and did what we could for the suffering.

At Banta we made a stop long enough to let the boss send a wire to Portal City, turning out the doctors and the ambulances—and the undertakers; and though it was after three o'clock in the morning when we pulled in, it seemed as if the whole town had got the word and was down at the station to meet us.

I couldn't see Mrs. Sheila's face when the major helped her off at the platform; her veil was still down. But I did hear her low-spoken words to the boss, whispered while they were carrying Collingwood and Hatch, and two of the others, who were past help, out to the waiting string of dead-wagons.

"I shall go east with the body tomorrow—today, I mean—if the strikers will let you run a train, and Cousin Basil will go with me. We may never meet again, Graham, and for that reason I must say what I have to say now. Your opportunity has come. The man who could do the most to defeat you is dead, and the strike will do the rest. If I were you, I should neither eat nor sleep until I had thought of some way to take the railroad out of the hands of those who have proved that they are not worthy to own it."

I didn't know, just then, how much or little attention Mr. Norcross was paying to this mighty good, clear-headed bit of business advice. What he said went back to that saying of hers that they might never meet again.

"We must meet again—sometime and somewhere," he said. And then: "I did my best; God knows I did my best, Sheila. I would have given my own life gladly if the giving would have saved Collingwood's. Don't you 'ave that?"

SUMMER CLEARANCE SALE

The prices quoted for this Sale are less than you will have to pay for same articles this Fall. So do not hesitate to buy all you can—and know you are saving money.

PRIDDY & FOOSHEE COMPANY

FROM 8 A. M. SATURDAY, JULY 23rd, UNTIL 9 P. M. SATURDAY, JULY 30th

WE WILL CONDUCT Our Annual Summer Clearance Sale. During these seven days we will close out all broken lots and seasonable lines. The summer season is now well advanced and it will soon be time to make room for Fall and Winter goods. During this sale we will pay no attention to costs what ever—but will name such prices as will move the goods—and which you will readily recognize as rare bargains.

Practically everything in the Dry Goods Department will be included in this sale. Don't fail to attend at least one day of this Big Sale. Remember that a Dollar Saved is a Dollar made. The more you buy, the more you save. COME—tell your neighbors—and bring someone with you. Owing to lack of space we can only quote a few prices, but you will have to attend the sale to appreciate the many bargains offered.

Remember the Dates—Saturday, July 23rd to Saturday Night, July 30th
