Miss Aids Machinery Milk Mechanical Moo-Cow

Gwendolyn Rupe, a Rangerette, tries to help the mechanical milker along as it milks the mechanical cow in the Hall of Transportation at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas. The cow chews its cud, blinks its eyes, moves its head and ears, switches its tail and moos as well as gives milk.

To Lead Goodwill Music at Romney

Robert L. Maddox, director of the Cisco Lobo band, will lead the entertainment features on the goodwill trip to Romney, sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce tonight. The trip is the first of a series to nearby communities.

JAYCEES AND BAND HEADING CISCO GROUP

Concert to Be Given At 8:30; Band Will Leave at 7:30

Headed by the junior chamber of commerce and the Lobo band, Cisco business men will go to Romney tonight for the purpose of taking entertainment and extending the hand of goodwill to their friends in the nearby community.

The band concert is scheduled for 8:30. Director Robert L. Maddox has asked all band members to be present at the high school building at 7:30. Members of the junior chamber of commerce and other business men are to meet at Romney shortly before 8:30.

A school bus will be used to transport the band to Romney, it was announced.

A number of cars taking Junior chamber of commerce members and others had been pledged at noon today.

Large Crowd Expected

A large crowd is expected at Romney to greet the Ciscoans, according to James McCracken, chairman of the junior chamber of commerce heading the goodwill trip.

McCracken urged that all persons intending to make the trip contact him or A. D. Starling, president of the organization, so that there can be some check on the approximate number to make the trip.

The Romney trip and concert is the first of a series of goodwill trips the junior chamber of commerce will sponsor during the summer and fall. Arrangements have been made to make a trip each Thursday to a different community.

Wendel Kidnap To Be Probed By U. S. Grand Jury

NEWARK, N. J., July 23 (AP)—The federal grand jury decided today to investigate the Paul H. Wendel kidnaping case after it was advised by United States Attorney John J. Quinn that it had jurisdiction.

This decision was announced in a joint statement issued by Quinn and Julius S. Rippel, foreman of the grand jury. The body will begin taking testimony tomorrow, the statement said.

THROWING VERBAL CURVES

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—Ernie Shore, onetime great Boston Red Sox pitcher, is on the firing line again—this time in a political contest. He is a candidate for sheriff of Forsyth county, N. C., in a run-off primary against Guy L. Scott, incumbent. The score in the first election was Scott, 9,083; Shore, 8,661.

Garrett to Speak Here Friday In Final Day Campaign Over County

Judge Clyde L. Garrett will speak here Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock as he makes his final swing through Eastland county before closing the first half of his campaign for congress at a big county-wide rally on the courthouse lawn at Eastland tomorrow night. Judge Garrett yesterday was confident of an outstanding vote as he left for the western part of the district. He spoke at Samford last night.

Judge Garrett will come here from Dothan, where he will speak at 2:15. His itinerary tomorrow will take him over the entire county and will include 12 speaking engagements. His schedule for the day is as follows: Desdemona, 9 a. m.; Gorman, 9:45; Carbon, 10:20; Okra, 11 a. m.; Rising Star, 11:20; Pioneer, 12:30 p. m.; Scranton, 1:30; Dothan, 2:15; Cisco, 3 o'clock; Ranger, 4:15; Olden, 5 p. m.; Eastland at night.

RETURNS WILL BE ANNOUNCED ON SATURDAY

Wire to Bring Voting Results to Paper Until Midnight

The Cisco Daily Press will receive the full returns of the Texas Election bureau on the results of the first democratic primary Saturday, July 25.

The returns will be announced in front of the Press building and posted on a big election returns board furnished and erected through the courtesy of J. C. McAfee of the McAfee Outdoor Advertising agency and the Cisco Lumber and Supply Co.

As last fall when the Press announced the returns from the vote on seven amendments, including the prohibition repeal amendment, to the state constitution to a large crowd, the public is cordially invited to attend this "election party."

In Sunday Paper

Returns will be received until midnight so that a fairly accurate indication of the final result should be obtained. The latest returns will appear in the Sunday morning edition of the Press.

County as well as state returns will be received and posted.

State election returns will be brought The Daily Press by special telegraph wire, which will begin filing reports as soon as the polls close Saturday afternoon. The reports will come direct from the Texas Election Bureau.

County results will come to the Press by telephone from Eastland. Local reports will be gathered by the Press staff.

Lindy Cautions German Fliers Of Responsibility

BERLIN, July 23 (AP)—Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh, speaking at the Air Club luncheon, called upon the Nazi aviation leaders today to realize the responsibility they bear for the deadly weapons they have created.

Aviators, he said "unlike the builders of the first dug-out canoe, lived to see their harmless wings turned into carriers of destruction—even more dangerous than guns or battleships. We carry the responsibility for the results of our experiments, which in other fields have been passed on to future generations."

Music and Address On Rotary Program

Two piano solos by Mrs. Lloyd Hughes and a talk on Rotary principles and purposes to new members by J. B. Cate formed the program for the Cisco Rotary club today noon.

At the conclusion of the piano numbers and upon motion by Mr. Cate Mrs. Hughes was unanimously elected the "sweetheart" of the club.

LANDON READY FOR CAMPAIGN

Handshaking Today Is Speech Prelude

TOPEKA, Kan., July 23 (AP)—Alf M. Landon stepped forward formally as the republican candidate today to open a "fighting campaign" for the presidency in setting a political pageantry unprecedented in Kansas. Before his office door was open for handshaking there came thousands streaming to the capital—a prelude to the elaborate evening ceremonies for the carefully drafted acceptance speech.

Election Board For West Cisco Named

The election board for the West Cisco box for the democratic primary Saturday has been announced. It will include W. J. Armstrong, Will St. John, R. W. Mancill, Virgil Heysler, J. L. Thornton, J. M. Plane Fires Upon Oil Steamer; Fight Is Due Near Madrid

(By Associated Press) A British destroyer routed a rebel Spanish plane with gunfire today as a great army of fascists and loyal leftists militiamen marched on each other north of Madrid. Some reports fixed the size of the insurrectionist troops at 100,000 and the defenders at about 36,000.

The American battleship Oklahoma steamed from Cherbourg for Vigo, Spain, to evacuate 155 American women and children.

No Action Due Until Bishop Reports

VATICAN CITY, July 23. (AP)—A high American prelate said today that Father Charles Coughlin's political activities and his recent speech, in which he called President Roosevelt a "liar," had caused a "painful impression" at the Vatican.

Pope Pius, nevertheless, will await the report of Bishop Michael Gallagher of Detroit, before taking any action.

Bishop Gallagher, who is Coughlin's ecclesiastical superior, is now en route to the Vatican. The prelate said it was quite likely that the bishop had been summoned to the Vatican to talk over the matter.

Returns Home To Cast Primary Vote

E. H. Pierce, who spends most of his time with his children in the Curtis community and Colorado, Texas, was a caller at The Daily Press office this morning. He was returning to that community where he has two sons, O. E. and Marcus Pierce, with whom he lives when there, where he will remain until after the primary election Saturday, or longer. He has spent the past three weeks with his son, J. D. Pierce, and his daughter, Mrs. H. L. Walker, and their families, in Colorado, but came back to vote.

Shelleys Back From Session at Austin

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Shelley have returned to their home after an absence of about seven weeks. Coach Shelley has been attending summer school in Austin at the University of Texas. Mrs. Shelley visited with relatives in Austin and with her family who live in Caldwell.

Political Rally Held Here Wednesday Night

Ciscoans last night heard candidates for the various precinct, county, and district offices present their qualifications at a political rally held on the city hall lawn. The rally, only three days before the first primary election Saturday, brought the candidates before the voters of Cisco for the first time since July 4, when the countywide rally was held at

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE I feel in the mood to do a little campaigning for Jimmy Alford today. Ordinarily, I wouldn't devote this column to political purposes, but it gets my goat to read so much of the baldness that is being said against the governor, all with the obviously demagogic intent to garner a few votes at the expense of self-respect and common sense. I should hate to trust the state's most important office to such a man as Mr. Fischer, who would wantonly destroy the biggest and best paying industry that the state of Texas has—an industry that pays good money directly or indirectly to every individual in the state—by imposing a ridiculous and confiscatory tax upon it. If he doesn't have the mind to see that such a tax would run the oil industry I gravely fear he is without the mind to know how to conduct the business of the state.

But such a preposterous proposal as I am confident, not the result of his inability to see its ruinous effects, but the result of a notion that enough of the voters of Texas are so ignorant and so prejudiced that he can hoodwink them with it. In doing so he is putting reliance on the state legislature, for he knows that no Texas legislature in its senses is going to vote a 15 cents a barrel tax on oil, especially when its members realize that the tax, if enacted, would not be paid by the industry at all but by the people. More important, they know that such a tax would cause Texas production to shut down and oil to be brought in from other states which wouldn't be fools enough to strangle their industries. It is the biggest piece of jockeycock that I ever heard.

As for Mr. Hunter—well he's tried twice and had the big pants put on him by the voters both times. Two rejections ought to be enough to convince either the candidate or his supporters that he isn't the timber. An applicant gets only two cracks at the appeals court—an appeal and, if denied, a motion for a rehearing. Hunter has had his appeal denied and his motion for a rehearing turned down. All in the world he has to campaign on now is his conception of Jimmy's mistakes and his crude attempts to ridicule the governor. He isn't the lumber.

Roy Sanderford is a bright young man, and I agree with him on the sales tax proposal, thereby parting company with Jimmy. But Roy has the taint of Jim Ferguson, and although Jim may be as honest as the sun and as wise as Solomon's three examples, he is still Jim Ferguson and, as such, a case of water in a Linotype pot. The two things don't mix, and I mean they don't mix. Jim nor Jim's proteges just couldn't get along with the Texas legislature, and I certainly think it would be a bad political move and an expensive procedure for the state to place two incompatible elements in places where the ut-

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Just as Inspector Hylton's best leads in the matter of Arthur Burdett's murder begin to peter out, he discovers through a chance meeting with a tramp that Dale Shipley was in the neighborhood of the murdered miser's house at the time of the murder. Dale is the old man's half nephew, and recently his uncle had made a will cutting out Dale. Now Hylton is able to reconstruct the crime to fit the meeting described by the tramp. The story is a gruesome one, and seems to have shocked Sergeant White quite a bit.

Chapter 26 ALICE WHITE

"When Shipley is satisfied the case is clean he goes on into the lane," continued Hylton. "By 7:25 he's at the junction of the side lane and the road, and he bumps into our heaven-provided tramp.

MASONIC NOTICE

There will be a stated meeting of Cisco Lodge No. 556 A. F. and A. M. Thursday, July 23, 7:30 p. m. Please attend. Visiting brethren welcome.

FRANK R. LEACH, W. M.

Of course it startled him—just think of the state his nerves are in!

"And do you mean to say," cut in White, "he'd start waving his stick at the tramp and telling about it the way he did, if he had just committed a murder with it?"

"Not if," because. Have you ever had to do with a murderer, White? I have. Murdering somebody is just about ten times as intoxicating as getting blind drunk. It may sound funny, but it's true. When young Shipley was waving his stick at friend Durley and saying 'this is the stuff we keep for poachers' or whatever it was, what he was actually longing to say was 'see this stick? I've just done an old fool in with it; that's the kind of chap I am!'

Sergeant White nodded sombrely. "You make it sound very convincing, Inspector," he said, "but somehow—well, I wouldn't like to think young Mr. Shipley was mixed up in it."

"I shall suspect you, Sergeant, of being a sentimentalist soon," Hylton laughed. "I'm afraid Mr. Shipley is going to have rather an unpleasant day tomorrow. Meanwhile let's clear our brains a bit—get the chessmen out."

Without further comment White produced the board and men and the two of them settled down to a game. The Sergeant did not show quite the same command of things that he exhibited at their first encounter, and after a little more than an hour's play they found themselves in a rather dreary stalemate.

Hylton was pleased not to be beaten again. As he was taking his leave he turned on the doorstep and asked, "Where's Mrs. White, by the way?"

"Over at her sister's, sir, at Nyetton, she often pops over there for an evening."

"Hope she won't mind my beastly cigar smoke all over the house. Don't be late in the morning Sergeant."

"Very good, sir."

Harry Small, the Nyetton gamekeeper, jerked his head up; he hoped he had heard a tap-tapping on the kitchen window. Small smiled, drew his finely-made body out of the chair and went in his stocking feet to the back door.

Harry Small was a big, broad-shouldered, dark man, with a body made as hard as hickory by the early risings and the long hours in the open which his job demanded. Six feet exactly he stood in his stocking feet, his shirt open at the throat, his well-cut corduroy breeches showing off his strong legs. He crossed the unlighted kitchen and lifted the latch of the back door.

"That you Alice?" he asked.

"Nice fool you'd have looked if it wasn't," she said. "You ought to be more careful with your names, Harry."

Small laughed. "Oh hell, you're as bad as that husband of yours."

He stood looking at her for a moment in admiration, a shaft of light from the front room fell on her like the limelight of a theatre, she was panting a little and her cheeks were flushed. He caught his breath sharply. "My God," he said, "you look a picture."

She laughed again. "Like me, Harry?"

"I might have meant a picture of misery. You've hurried haven't you?"

"I'm at my sister's."

"And where does she think you are?"

"On the way home—can't stay long Harry."

She upturned her face.

"You haven't kissed me yet, Harry."

"Plenty of time."

"I don't know—we might all be dead in a year."

"You say some funny things, me-

dear—there, how's that?"

Alice White took her full red lips away from the man's reluctantly. Her eyes were shut, she was breathing quickly.

"Come into the other room and sit in front of the fire."

"All right—but I really mustn't stay long Harry. You know what Jimmy is."

"Scared?" After a few moments.

"Put your arm around me—not a bit."

"Strong man, aren't you?"

"Strong enough for you, my darling," Small said, his lips pressed against the soft white neck.

Small disentangled himself from the woman's arms and lit a cigarette.

"What about old Burdett," he asked, "anything new?"

"No, Jimmy seems pretty busy about it."

"He ought to have caught the chap red-handed whoever it was, that would have been one up for him."

"He was out this way that evening, after poachers."

"Well he might as well have been elsewhere. What's this Inspector chap like?"

"A bit funny, but quite nice, a proper gentleman."

"I suppose you'll be after him next."

"I don't go after people."

Small laughed and slid his arm round her again.

"I must go soon Harry; he knows I never stay very late at my sister's."

"Pretty fond of you isn't he?"

"He absolutely adores me. I can give him hell if I want to be getting in a temper and not letting him near me."

"Don't start any of them tricks here, or you'll be getting something you didn't reckon for."

She broke away with one of her abrupt movements.

"I really must go Harry, 'tisn't safe to be longer."

"What about tomorrow?"

"Where? Here?"

"No, That old fool of a woman comes up to clean the place out tomorrow; if I put her off she'll only talk. Won't you be walking the Big Wood way?"

"It might rain."

"It won't, I can tell you that. The weather's turned with the moon. 'Bout three o'clock tomorrow I'll have finished my traps and be where the cleaning it."

"I may not be able to come."

Small stretched himself and laughed.

"I expect ye will," he said.

Inspector Kingsley Hylton was on the steps of the Luxor Hair-dressing Saloon before that establishment had opened for the day.

At length the crimson-nailed, thin-voiced Miss Neve turned up, a little flustered to find somebody waiting for her; still more flustered when Hylton produced his card and announced his identity.

"What I want to know," he demanded once they were inside, "is who it was who had her hair done here at 2:30 on last Monday."

Miss Neve said that she would look at The Book. Then:

"Well, it was booked for Mrs. Reeves of Ferney House."

"I know; but Mrs. Reeves changed with someone, didn't she?"

"As a matter of fact, she did. Really, Inspector, the way these people ring up and—"

"No doubt. And who took Mrs. Reeves' place on Monday?"

"Why, it was Mrs. Fenton of Fenton's Stores in Endernton."

"Mrs. Fenton? You're sure?"

"Oh yes, quite sure. I saw her myself and gave her an appointment card."

"Mrs. Reeves didn't have an appointment card as well did she, when she originally booked that time, I mean?"

"Oh no. Mrs. Reeves always does her booking and everything by telephone."

Hylton nodded. "Quite so, Miss Neve," he said cheerfully. "You needn't tell anyone about this."

Miss Neve looked pained. "Oh I shan't say a word."

"Liar," thought Hylton.

"Back to Endernton, and step on it," were his instructions as he jumped into the waiting car. They were back at the Hoops in exactly twelve minutes.

A busy twelve minutes for the Inspector's cat-like brain. . . Mrs. Fenton? Quite certainly he had not expected to have her brought into the business. . . and yet there came back to his mind the odd little scene in Fenton's Stores when he had overheard enough to tell him that John Fenton's wife should have been in church at half past seven on Monday evening and, evidently to her husband's surprise, wasn't. . . Kingsley Hylton smiled.

HIGH BOOT BACK

PARIS. (P)—A new high boot in beige antelope is back closed with a buckled strap. There's a cuff top that turns down like a bib or turns up if the ankles seem to require it. Another boot, higher still and closed in front, is punched full of perforations and cuffed with patent leather. The boot itself is black suede.

NOT TRUE!

To the Voters of Eastland County: It has been erroneously reported that I have selected at least a part of my future deputies. This is absolutely untrue. It would be a violation of law for me to do so. I want to state emphatically that I have not made a promise to anyone either directly or indirectly as to a deputyship in case of my election and shall not do so until after the voters of Eastland county have said by their ballots that I am their choice for Assessor-Collector.

Sincerely,
Advt. CLYDE S. KARKALITTS

Steeple Yields Old Coins for Village

OBEREISENHEIM, Germany, July 23 (P)—Repairs to the church steeple of this old Franconian village disclosed that the ball below the weather vane contained historical documents, and some coins, some dating back nearly 300 years. Of special interest to numismatians were medals struck to commemorate the "hunger years" 1771 to 1773, on which the then current prices for bread, corn and meat are recorded.

Pastor Stark of the village hopes to arouse the interest of coin collectors in the treasure trove, as the village is a poor one.

The present system of Olympic scoring employed in Germany is: 7 points for first place, and then 5, 4, 3, 2 and 1 for second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth, respectively.

NEW SAFETY FOR BABIES

Mother, most hospitals now protect their babies against germs and skin-infection by rubbing Mennen Antiseptic Oil all over the baby's body—every day. This keeps the baby's skin smoother, softer, lovelier and SAFER. So, mother, do as hospitals do, as doctors recommend. Give your baby a safety-rub with Mennen Antiseptic Oil daily through his diaper-days. See your druggist.

Modern Gas Cookery
RETAINS HEALTHFUL VITAMINS AND MINERAL OILS

Vigorous boiling in lots of water destroys the valuable vitamin and mineral content of fresh vegetables. The thoughtful woman wants to retain these health-giving elements. The controlled boiling heat which the modern gas range provides does not rapidly evaporate water when boiling vegetables. Mothers can serve more healthful food by following this simple method of modern gas cookery.

- Cooking vegetables the semi-waterless way on modern gas range requires no special type of utensil.
- Place vegetables in pan and cover with about one-half inch water.
- Place covered pan over simmer burner. Turn to fast heat. When boiling starts turn burner to simmering heat which maintains a gentle boiling action retaining healthful vitamins.
- After cooking is completed nearly as much liquid remains as was originally put into vessel, and there is no loss of valuable mineral oils or vitamins.
- Gas simmer cookery is clean and labor saving. It means cooler cooking and a cleaner kitchen for there's little escaping steam rising from a covered pot of gently boiling vegetables.

To the Voters of Eastland County

In asking for your vote the coming Saturday I wish to state my position on the following questions:

I stand for changing the present old age pension law so as to place every citizen who complies with the requirements of the present law on an equal footing. $15.00 State money to be matched by $15.00 Federal money, a total of $30.00 per month. I favor levying such taxes as are necessary to pay that amount, such levy to be fairly distributed.

I would be against any tax which would injure or destroy any Eastland County industry.

I favor liberal support of our public schools and would vote for measures having that end in view.

I believe that my experience will enable me if elected to act with mature judgment on all legislative matters.

Your support in the coming primary will be greatly appreciated.

S. N. Keith Recalls How Bullets Of Indians Took Lives of His Brother

By R. W. H. KENNON

In quest of historical lore of the early days of Eastland and other West Texas counties, W. D. Brecken and I visited the home of another native Texan last Friday, Stephen N. Keith, who is one of the pioneers of West Texas, though a comparatively recent resident of Eastland county. His home is a few miles west of Nimrod, to which he moved about seven years ago.

There we found him living with his wife, both being well preserved, their children having all established homes of their own in other parts of the country. But we had the pleasure of meeting one of his daughters and two grandchildren, Mrs. Lillian Brinkley and sons, Kenlon and Neil, of Indio, Calif., who are visiting their parents. They will leave about August 1 to visit other relatives at Bayfield, Colo., but will be joined here by Mr. Brankley who will accompany them to that city.

Well Known West Texans

The Keith family is well known in west Texas, many of whose members figure prominently in the "History of Eastland County," written by Mrs. George Langston, well known Cisco woman. Others of the original stock and their descendants still live in Erath, Shackelford, and other counties in this part of the state.

Paul Keith, whom I have known rather intimately as a newspaper man in Milam county, now lives in Houston. I am told that he published a small newspaper in the Curtis community years ago whose title was the "Pizen Weed," from which I have heard Bob Manell quote. He was an able, though a vitriolic writer, and had the courage to express his convictions.

Born in Hunt County

But this sketch will deal principally with the gentleman whom we contacted last Friday.

Stephen N. Keith was born in Hunt county, October 29, 1858, and will have reached his 78th birthday next October. His birth place was on the banks of Sulphur river, but he came with his parents to Erath county when an infant. His parents settled on Alarm creek, in that county, just five miles of Stephenville, which was only a small village at that time. There he spent most of his life, though he later lived in Bayfield, LaPlatte county, Colo., near the Utah line, where he operated a hotel, and also made several expeditions further into west Texas, the Indian and New Mexico territories, and to California. He also operated a hotel in Erath county, from which he moved to Eastland county about seven years ago. He tells most of his life's history in that which follows:

"I am related to all the Keiths in Eastland and near by counties, I believe. Gabe Keith, the father of 'Button' Keith, was killed by the Indians near Megue Springs, right after the Civil war. John Keith settled in Erath county at an early day, but later moved to Eastland county and settled in the Sabanno community, where he and his wife both died, and were buried in the Sabanno cemetery. Gabe Keith came to Eastland county about the time my parents located in Erath county.

Brother Killed by Indians

"My oldest brother, Wilks Keith, was killed by Indians at Horsehead Crossing on the Pecos river, in 1873, and was buried on the banks of the Pecos without a coffin, as no lumber could be secured to make a casket in which to bury his body. He had bought the Wilkerson ranch near Menardville, with the cattle, and moved a herd of 5,000 cattle into New Mexico. Later he was taking his cattle to a ranch he had established on Vemajo creek, near the Cimarron river, and leaving the herd about midnight, he and a companion by the name of Martin, rode ahead to pick out the route. They reached the Pecos about sun-up, and were eating an early breakfast when they were surrounded by a band of Indians, and my brother was shot in the fight that ensued. Both were armed, but the Winchester were in the scabbards on the horses. Martin had a six-shooter, with which he fought off the Indians. My brother was shot in the ankle, which became infected, necessitating amputation, and he never rallied from the shock. When the fight began the horses became frightened, and ran back to the herd, taking the Winchester with them. When they arrived without their riders the cow boys knew something was wrong, and came in search for the two men, arriving in time to run the redskins off. Martin had managed to fight them off till the cow hands reached them, but Wilks Keith died, and they buried him on the banks of the Pecos river.

"Indian raids were frequent in Erath county when I was a boy, but the raiders rarely did any damage except to steal horses.

On Buffalo Hunt

"When about 12 years of age I accompanied two neighbors, Bill Johnson and Joe Farris, to Buffalo Gap, which, at that time was only a buffalo camp. They were hunting buffalo for meat. While there buffalo hunters reported that a large band of Indians were in Mulberry canyon, a few miles west. After remaining at the buffalo camp a couple of days we returned to where Abilene is now. At that time there were plenty of antelope, wild turkeys, deer, wolves, rattlesnakes, a few buffalo and Indians, and practically all kinds of small game, making it a hunters' paradise.

"About this time Doc Grounds of Bosque county drove and ranched the first herd of cattle in Mulberry canyon.

"From there we went northeast until we struck the Fort Griffin road from Stephenville.

Second Expedition

"My second expedition was when I accompanied my uncle, Elisha Keith, and family in 1875, who were moving from Dublin to Vemajo, N. M., about eight miles from the Cimarron, where Keith and O'Neal located a cattle ranch in 1873. They were provided with an escort of two soldiers to Vemajo. A civilian joined the party at Fort Griffin.

"Our route took us through Hog Town, now known as Desdemona, thence to old Merriman, which at that time was probably the largest place in Eastland county. From there we traveled to Fort Griffin, situated on the Clear Fork of the Brazos river. Fort Griffin was populated by Indians, soldiers and buffalo hunters. A cannon, the first I had ever seen, was mounted on an elevation a few hundred yards south of the fort. It projected the fort from hostile Indians, and was fired every morning at sunrise.

"From Fort Griffin we traveled up the Clear Fork river, fording it at McKenzie crossing. Following the McKenzie trail, we reached a buffalo camp called Reynoldsville. All the buildings were of adobe. This camp was near the south bank of the Double Mountains fork of the Brazos river. Crossing the river we then went to the Double Mountains, crossing the Salt Fork of the Brazos, then to Duck Creek, and reached the Yellow House canyon, a buffalo camp near Lubbock. I left the Keith party at Yellow House canyon and returned with a young man who had been hunting buffalo in that country. His name was George Campbell and he lived in South Texas.

My Third Trip

"In 1881, on horseback, Billy and Deem Keith, Phil Geren, Walter Morrison and I left Stephenville to go to the home of my uncle, Jim O'Neal, at Bayfield, Colo. We took the same trail as far as Duck Creek which I had traveled in 1875. Still on the McKenzie trail we came to the first post office in that part of the country. It was known as Dockam. From there we went to Blanco canyon, where General McKenzie and his soldiers found the camp of a large band of Indians, who, supposedly, had been warned of their approach and fled to the Palo Duro canyon. McKenzie was said to have tracked the Indians to that camp and either killed or captured the whole tribe. The Indians' horses were shot.

"Several miles before we reached Palo Duro canyon we noticed a white substance on the level plains. Under closer observation we found about four acres literally covered with the bones of dead horses. There is no doubt of this being the place where General McKenzie captured the Indians and killed their horses to prevent their escaping.

"There were thousands of cart-ridges and shells lying all around the rim of the canyon. When we went down into the canyon we found it just as the Indians had left it. The wigwam poles were still standing.

"After camping there for the night we proceeded to Tascosa, on the Canadian river, another lively buffalo camp, thence northwest to Antelope Springs. Upon arrival there we found that the Indians also liked this camping site. There were fresh moccasin prints and pony tracks, which indicated that Indians had recently preceded us. We closely guarded our horses that night but were not molested.

Stampeding Buffaloes

"Proceeding on our way, about 10 o'clock the next morning, we saw a cloud of dust far to the south. We stopped and dismounted, thinking Indians might be ahead of us. Phil Geren, who carried field glasses, went ahead, and as he reached a spot where he could see, he reported this dust cloud was caused by a running herd of buffalo, which probably had been frightened by Indians.

"We were traveling through that country without trails or roads. We proceeded for days and finally reached Vemajo creek, where we camped overnight. Then we crossed a range of mountains and came to the Rio Grande. Crossing the Rio Grande on a flat boat, manned by Mexicans, we reached Antonita, Colorado. Leaving there we went over the Cumbres Pass, paying toll gate fees at Archeleta. There we found a monument of President Garfield that had just been erected on the top of Cumbres Pass, near Toltec Gorge. He had been assassinated just before, and the monument was erected by railroad builders, who at the time were blasting the road for the Denver and Rio Grande railway.

"Looking over this gorge was such a beautiful view that it was indelibly stamped on my memory. "Leaving the gorge we went down the mountain to a small town called Chama, on the west bank of the Chama river. Then we crossed the Great Continental Divide into Pagosa Springs, on the San Juan river, where the hunting and fishing at the present time is not excelled by any place in the United States, which, coupled with the fact that it has one of the largest hot springs in the world, makes it an ideal place for a resort.

"From Pagosa Springs we were on the last lap of our journey. Just before reaching our destination we rode upon a celebration by Ute Indians, where hundreds of the red skins were enjoying the occasion. Lucky for our party they were peaceable that day. We rode right through their camp, and a few hours later were at Bayfield, after a glorious trip of 42 days.

"Today I am the only member of that party living that made that trip from Stephenville."

Married in 1886

Mr. Keith was married April 4, 1886, to Miss Myrilla Ross at Stephenville, whose father was one of the pony mail riders about 1873, and carried the mail from Stephenville to Merriman, Eastland county, via Desdemona, and from Stephenville to Comanche, via Dublin, making one trip on each route every week.

"My father's brother was an early sheriff of Erath county for four years," Mrs. Keith stated.

Mr. Keith stated his parents came from Tennessee, and first stopped in Dallas county, but thought the land was too poor, so he moved to Hunt county, where he lived for several years

Life is more precious than pennies

● Shocked by the death of so many people—bewildered by the scores stricken—America awoke two years ago to the realization that a new menace threatened the health of our Nation.

Here, in a land where modern science has wrought so many wonders—where citizens boasted of a higher standard of living comfort than any other nation—men, women and children were suffering intense agony and dying of amebic dysentery caused by faulty plumbing.

Doctors, nurses and hospital attendants worked ceaselessly to relieve the suffering, to save lives and to prevent the spread of this insidious malady. But their work means little today and those precious lives were lost in vain, if we neglect our solemn duty to remove forever the real cause of such a tragedy.

Health Authorities agree that the immediate cause of this epidemic and the contributing cause of much sickness can be traced to faulty, improperly installed plumbing. They are waging a vigorous campaign to warn the public of the danger that may result from trusting the important matter of plumbing installations and repairs to the uncertain hands of a "handyman."

Millions of dollars are spent by municipalities to insure fresh, pure, filtered water delivered in mains right in front of your home. What happens to this pure water inside your home depends upon your plumbing. Improperly installed fixtures, faulty piping and cross-connections can contaminate or pollute water which may cause sickness and even death. And life is more precious than the pennies you might save using untrained men.

Health Authorities will tell you that it is unwise to trust the plumbing in your home to incompetent hands. Guard against danger by insisting that your plumbing must be inspected, installed or repaired only by the men best qualified by training and experience to protect your health—the Master Plumbers. Their work is so important that states and cities have laws not only regulating the installation of plumbing, but setting a standard for the plumber himself.

In many states, Master Plumbers are examined as to their qualifications, licensed and registered. Most of the sanitary laws protecting public health and insuring the highest standard of professional skill have been passed through the insistence of the Master Plumbers themselves.

More than ever, "the plumber protects the health of the Nation."

before removing to Erath county. "Everything was on the outside then," he said, "as there were no fences, and very few mesquite trees on the prairies."

Mr. and Mrs. Keith are the parents of seven living children. They have ten grandchildren. The children are Mrs. Claude Foosee, Mrs. F. I. Weaver and Neil Keith, of Dallas; Mrs. Glennie Wheeler, of Belen, N. M.; Mrs. A. J. Graham, of Lorraine, Tex.; Mrs. Fay Marshall, of Abilene, and Mrs. Lillian Brinkley, of Indio, Calif. Like most of the Texas pioneers of his time Mr. Keith is quite a hunter, and said he had "killed everything he had hunted, including bear." His next episode, which he promises to outline as soon as he assembles the data, will include the "McDow Haunts," the scene of which is located east of Dublin, near Alexander, in Erath county.

TEN REASONS WHY

Cecil A. Lotief

Should Be Re-Elected As

REPRESENTATIVE 107TH

DISTRICT

- 1—He has fulfilled all promises that he has made to the people as a representative.
- 2—He stood for economy, honesty, integrity and decency in government.
- 3—He worked for public schools, and his vote made it possible for boys and girls who reside in the county to receive the same schooling as in cities and obtain $19.00 per capita and teachers got their pay promptly without an additional tax on farmers or home owners.
- 4—He fought the battle for Old Age Pensions. He is not satisfied with the law as it is and so stated when he voted for it. (See page 281—House Journal called session). He will if re-elected work and vote for a better Old Age Pension Law as he has repeatedly promised in his speeches.
- 5—He has offered many amendments to cut out the cost of State Government and kill unnecessary expenditures thereby saving many thousands of dollars.
- 6—He has tried and proved to be honest, capable, faithful and able to do the job, then, why take a risk on wild promises when he already proved to be allright in every respect.
- 7—He has conducted a clean campaign, did not abuse or conduct any whispering campaign, but he fought a good fight and kept the faith.
- 8—He is not connected with any special interest or group and did not accept any campaign fund from any corporation, lawyers or lobbyist.
- 9—His record never has been challenged by anyone—a record to be proud of.
- 10—His life, public or private is clean, and he never betrayed your confidence, so for these reasons he solicits your vote and support July 25th.

The support of the people of Cisco and surrounding country is very much appreciated. Their continued support is earnestly solicited.

Representative

GEORGE A. DAVISSON, JR.

Davison Tells His Position On Old Age Pension

To the Voters of Eastland County: The paramount issue in this campaign and in most state races this summer is old age pensions and it should be. The old age pension is a matter which should lie nearest the heart of all people, young and old, in this state for it is to one an insurance against the future, and to the other a necessity of the present. For this reason I think it only fitting and proper that the people of this district know how I, your representative, have stood on this matter, and I take this method of coming before you and presenting you my record.

As many of you will recall, during my campaign two years ago, I was advocating old age pensions even before the federal government launched its social security program, and I promised the people of this district that I would do all in my power to promote such vital legislation.

I went to Austin with this promise uppermost in my mind, and when you people, by your vote on the constitutional amendment, made such legislation possible, I sincerely and earnestly endeavored to carry out your wishes in this matter. During the first called session of the legislature, Mr. Hoffmeier of Houston, Mr. Calvert of Hillsboro, and I, acting as a sub-committee of the state affairs committee worked several days in the committee room, writing a bill in keeping with the vote of the people. We finally turned out a bill which the house approved by an overwhelming majority in the second called session. By a political stratagem the bill written by Calvert, Hoffmeier, and Davison was replaced by a bill bearing the name of Morrison and Davison and others, and numbered House Bill 26. House Bill 26 is the bill which finally passed the House, but it is a verbatim copy of the bill as originally written by the subcommittee. I refer you also to a comparison of House Bill 14 and House Bill 26.

As co-author, I helped guide the bill through the house successfully, but in the senate, it was so amended with income restrictions, property qualifications, and the unconstitutional discriminatory clause which made it possible for two people in the same circumstances to receive different pensions, that when the bill returned to the House, I voted against my own bill. I could not conscientiously support a measure which was contrary to the wishes of my district. (House Journal; pages 9, 10, 11, 15, 22, 26, 37, 38, 63, 151, 174, 287).

In the final passage of the bill however, I voted for it. The session was drawing to a close and I believed that you people had rather have some kind of a pension now than none at all.

As the bill stands now, it is not perfect and it is not fair. I am not proud of it bearing my name, but I want you people to know the circumstances, and know that I have fought and will continue to fight for what you want.

Realizing that the old age pension was not possible without money to pay it, I actively supported the tax measure sufficient to pay adequate old age pensions. The record of this work will be found in the House Journal on pages 17, 59, 72, 7, 78, 91, 97, 100, 112, 118, 133, 148, 156, 159, 161, and 125.

I want to thank you for the faith you have vested in me, and I want to assure you that at no time have I betrayed that trust.

Almost 100 visitors were fed in the mess hall after the scouts had eaten their dinner. Table inspection and the rest of the camp routine was carried through with the visitors' meal just like the regular scout mess periods.

First, second, third places were awarded the three best visitors' tables; the "pig" went to the table at which Horace Candley and family were eating. Among other visitors that received "spots" for disregarding camp rules were Lee Smith, Sr., Robert Grantham and Ernest Hitson.

The main event of the day was the waterfront carnival, which was held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, down by the dam.

Sports Contests
Archery contests, baseball games and foot races were the chief entertainment of the evening.

Dr. Jewel Daughety of Brownwood, led the Sunday morning church chapel.

ERNEST O. THOMPSON

Railroad Commissioner

Here is the record of achievement of the Railroad Commission of Texas during the past four years, under the leadership of Ernest O. Thompson, as the Commission's chairman—

- 1 Reduced gas rates to consumers in 51 Texas towns and cities, saving $400,000 annually for the man who pays the gas bill.
- 2 Ordered other reductions, which when finally adjudicated by the courts, will result in substantial gas rate reductions to gas consumers of 270 additional towns and cities, if the courts uphold the Commission's orders.
- 3 Stopped the flow of "hot oil" in Texas, conserving the people's heritage of natural resources.
- 4 Administered the State's conservation laws so as to raise the demand for Texas oil 400,000 barrels daily, bringing into Texas $150,000,000 annually of additional new cash wealth.
- 5 Raised common school, University of Texas, and A. & M. College annual oil income from school lands from $1,569,266.22 for the - year 1932-33 to $3,797,562.27 for the year 1934-35, by wise enforcement of conservation laws. This was a clear dividend for school children of $2,228,296.05 a year.

- 6 Stopped the waste of Texas' natural gas, amounting to a billion cubic feet of gas daily.
- 7 Made the highways of Texas safer for motorists by strict regulation of licensed trucks and buses. Less than six Texas motorists were killed last year in accidents in which licensed trucks and buses figured.
- 8 Saved the cotton farmers of Texas from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 per year by obtaining permanent reduction of cotton rail freight rates. Effected additional large freight savings for growers of coarse grains, and assisted the ranchmen through the drought period by emergency rates on livestock and livestock feeds.

CLYDE L. GARRETT

Clyde L. Garrett

Candidate for Congress 17th District

EXPOSES BLANTON DECEIT

Mr. Blanton says he knows of 3,600,000 aliens in the United States who are here in violation of the law, but he is unable to have them sent out of the country because a Russian-born New Yorker is chairman of the House Immigration Committee, which has nothing to do with the enforcement of the laws. If Mr. Blanton, who claims to know so much about the rules of the House, will furnish Clyde Garrett the information he has, Judge Garrett will guarantee that the federal district attorneys and the immigration service are furnished with it so they can take the proper steps. No committee chairman can bluff Garrett.

Mr. Blanton, whose wife has property in the District of Columbia, and who is chairman of the sub-committee on district appropriations, filibustered against the passage of a bill to control high rents in the district, where tenants are being gouged by the big landlords. Why?

He says Clyde Garrett is incompetent, and yet Clyde Garrett, as county judge of Eastland county eight years, covering the period of the depression and declining valuations, kept the county on a cash basis, met all bond interest and principal payments without default, and reduced both the county debt and the tax rate. Mr. Blanton was a member of the congress that raised the national debt to the highest figure in history. How can he claim to be more able than Judge Garrett?

Mr. Blanton says he got his district a fair share of all AAA money, WPA money, etc. The average cotton farmer in Eastland county in 1935 received $20 of AAA cotton money. Six or seven big sugar concerns in Hawaii, which has no representative in congress, got a million more or less each, of AAA money for not growing sugar cane. Maybe our district would have done better without a representative. Meanwhile, Clyde Garrett and his commissioners court got $222,955.96 of WPA money for lateral roads, etc.

Mr. Blanton says he is working, working, working for his constituents in Washington, trying to save them money, etc. Last summer he went on a costly junket trip, at government expense, to Hawaii. And all during the last session he was so busy chasing "communists" in the District of Columbia, that Clyde Garrett, as president of the Texas County Judges Association, and some of his brother judges, had to go to Washington to prevail upon the congress to appropriate more needed road money and have the WPA lift restrictions that were keeping many needy people from getting deserved WPA employment. He was successful in both missions, and Blanton now attempts to ridicule him and to claim credit for what he did.

Blanton tries to shift the blame for the restrictions of the federal old-age pension law on the state, when he knows that the state must follow the federal regulations or get no federal assistance for the old people. The federal law must be liberalized, then it is up to the state to do its part.

He "trades" compliments and flattery with other congressmen to be printed in the congressional record and sent to their districts to show what valuable men they are in congress.

He uses threats of libel action and retaliation against newspapers and people who dare oppose him in order to intimidate opposition.

Mr. Voter

If you believe in good government and honest, able representation in Congress, vote for

Clyde L. Garrett

He is not a pugilist; he is a statesman. Blanton can find nothing in Garrett's record as county judge to criticize, because CLYDE GARRETT has made an outstanding success in public life. The county judges and commissioners of the 254 counties of Texas recognized his ability by making him their president. Previously he served as president of the West Texas association of County Judges. He has reduced Eastland county's debt, met all county obligations without default, lowered taxes, reduced valuations and kept the county on a cash basis all the time. He has been re-elected with constantly increasing majorities. His record speaks for itself.

HE BELIEVES IN

Adequate federal old-age pensions; a free press and free speech; balanced federal budget attained by cutting out useless expenditures; tariff on foreign oil and farm products; restoration of private enterprise and retirement of federal government from business; closing loopholes in the income tax laws; putting postmasters under the merit system where they can't be dominated by political bosses; restoration of agriculture to a strong and stable basis, etc.

HE IS AGAINST

Foreign alliances; issuance of any more tax-exempt securities; federal sales tax of any kind, including the present federal gasoline and lubricating oil tax; federal control of the oil industry, and the use of the free mailing privilege and facilities of the government printing offices to advance the political or personal ambitions of any person. Read His Platform.

PENSION Misrepresentation

Blanton claims congress appropriated enough money to pay every person 65 years or older a federal pension of $15 a month provided the state matched that amount. Congress appropriated only $85,000,000 to match the pensions in ALL the states. If Texas paid every 65 year old person $30 a month, it would take $63,000,000 to pay the government's share alone. That would leave only $25,000,000 to match the pensions in all the other 47 states. The truth is, the federal government will match pensions ONLY for the needy.

Allred Takes to Air in Campaign Tonight

ADDRESS WILL BE BROADCAST AT BIG RALLY

WACO, July 23.—Turning to the radio in his final drive down the stretch, which he hopes will win re-nomination in the first primary, Governor James V. Allred will broadcast his speech from here tonight over two stations.

W.B.A.P. at Fort Worth and EPIC at Houston will carry the governor's address, it was announced from his state headquarters in Austin. Although Governor Allred begins speaking at 9 p. m., as the climax to a program of speeches from local candidates, only the final 30 minutes of his talk will be on the air. Broadcast time is from 8:45 to 10:15 p. m.

One of the largest crowds of the current campaign is expected to gather on the McLennan county court house lawn to hear the governor, according to Chairman Jas. H. Blundell, Jr.

In his next-to-final address, before closing his campaign at Wichita Falls Friday night, Governor Allred will continue the review of the achievements of his campaign upon which he has based his plea for a second term, it was announced.

ALLRED FRIENDS SEE RENOMINATION SATURDAY

AUSTIN, July 23.—Candidates for governor pounded down the stretch this week with Governor James V. Allred apparently increasing the lead he has held over his four opponents almost since he began his campaign, after spotting them to a two-months advantage.

Allred leaders are making no secret of their conviction that the governor will be renominated in the first primary.

"We are not, however, growing over confident," State Campaign Manager Marvin Hall said. "Governor Allred has announced that he is leaving no stone unturned and has urged his friends to leave no stone unturned, and we are taking his advice. The fight will be waged right up to primary eve."

Pensions Issue
The subject of old age pensions remains the outstanding issue of the campaign. To crowds aggregating more than 40,000 last week Governor Allred has discussed the question of assistance payments to the needy versus pension payments to all, including the wealthy.

"I recommended old age pensions to the legislature and the legislature submitted the subject of old age assistance to the people," the governor has explained. "By a vote of four to one the people endorsed old age assistance and directed the setting up of a system 'under such limitations and restrictions and regulations as may be deemed by the legislature expedient.'"

"The limitations, restrictions and regulations that the legislature deemed expedient—after consultation with officials of the national social security board—are the basis of our present old age assistance law."

Geo. H. Sheppard

Seeks Reelection As Comptroller Of Public Acc'ts

A life-time of honorable public service is the record upon which Geo. H. Sheppard is basing his campaign for reelection as comptroller of the state of Texas.

The son of a confederate soldier, born in McLennan county 61 years ago, Sheppard moved to west Texas where he was reared on a ranch. He was educated in the public schools of that section, then attended state normal schools, and later became a teacher in that part of the state.

Sheppard's first public office was tax assessor of Nolan county, and it was here that he acquired the interest of tax problems that led ultimately to his election as president of the State Tax Assessors association.

Subsequently, Sheppard was mayor of the city of Sweetwater for five years and became an active member of the board of directors of the West Texas chamber of commerce.

His knowledge and experience have enabled him to materially improve the economy and efficiency of this office where the administrative duties have increased materially during the past few years.

The effect of this work is apparent in the fact that the motor fuel tax income was $37,152,700 in 1935 an increase of $3,273,052 over the previous year and a gain of $7,457,256 over the collections for 1933.

Another increase that demonstrates the efficiency of the personnel under Sheppard's administration is the rise in cigarette tax receipts to $4,301,277 in 1935. This is $293,432 above 1934 and receipts so far this year indicate that the total income will exceed $5,500,000.

In 1934 gross receipts taxes totaled $8,943,706. They increased to $11,136,164 in 1935, a net gain of $2,292,458. During the same period the gross production tax collected on crude oil increased $1,934,215 to $8,016,942.

The available school fund has also benefited largely from the increased collections. In 1935 the income to this fund totaled $9,591,567. By 1935 this income had increased to $17,963,882 for that year, a net gain of $8,372,315.

This has enabled the state to increase its per capita apportionment from $16.00 to $17.50 per year and to have a balance in the fund of $3,886,888 after paying $5.00 per capita on old debts for the bureau. During this period the school levy has been cut 15 cents to 20 cents, a reduction of approximately 40 per cent.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

As I walked down the track the other day I met a lumbering freight train and counted, as they passed, seventy cars apparently empty. At another time lately I counted above ninety in a string behind one engine. There is room in one such unit of transportation for a lot of merchandise. And the variety of cars, flat, coal, box, cattle, refrigerator, and what not, would haul a variety of wares, some of most everything a civilized person would want. That is the thought that came to me as I counted.

If even a moderate-sized train of these cars will deliver at the track nearest my door an entire trainload of all the different kinds of goods that it is fitted for hauling, I will promise not to ask for any wares of any kind that man is capable of giving either for myself or those dependent upon me during the rest of my natural lifetime. I am not much of a statistician, but I feel that I am safe on that proposition. Of course I would have to do some trading off of some goods that there was too much for some that I might not want to use at all. And I would have to do some pretty swift and effective preserving, storing, salting down, and other acts of conservation. I would have to use the wisdom of a Joseph applied to all the ingenious discoveries and inventions of the modern age in order to make a go of my bargain. In fact the anxiety and strenuousness would almost, if not quite, equal all the effort I would put forth to earn it all as I went along. But I am willing to try it.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And a certain man, lame from his mother's womb, who seeing Peter and John asked an alms. And Peter said: "Look on us. Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk."

Such as I have, come friend and share A benediction lasting, sweet, Shall rest upon us both the while. And Love be found midst crowded street. My pennies may not take thee far, Nor all the gains thy pleas have won; But let the truth I give be thine; In Christ's name arise—thou art God's son.

After nineteen centuries of Christianity we are only beginning to sense its possibilities in the spiritual healing of the spirit, the mind, and perhaps even the body. Evangelical Christianity missed something which Christian Science gathered up—Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, in New York Herald Tribune.

To Maintain Efficiency

ANXIOUS that the efficiency of the state highway department be maintained and that the close and harmonious cooperation now existing between the Texas state and federal road departments continue, the Dallas News recently sent five questions to the candidates for governor covering the issue. Of the five candidates three, Allred, Fischer and Hunter, replied that they are against making any changes in the personnel of the department. The questions were:

- 1. ARE you in general satisfied with the manner in which the affairs of the state highway commission have been conducted during the last eight years?
2. DO you believe that the close cooperation existing at this time between the state highway department and the bureau of public roads in the federal government should be endangered by changes in the executive personnel of the engineering division of the state highway department?

If elected governor, would you recommend that the personnel of the engineering division of the state highway department be not disturbed?

If elected governor, would you use your power and influence to maintain the high standard of efficiency in the state highway department and to prevent anything being done that might involve this department in political turmoil?

If elected governor, would you leave to the qualified executive heads of the state highway department the matter of selecting or discharging employees?

ON the first, third, fourth and fifth, Governor Allred answered a forthright "Yes" and to the second and equally forthright "No." Thus he quite positively placed himself on public record as determined to continue the present satisfactory status and efficient organization of the state highway department free of political interference. It little matters what the rest of the candidates answer or think, for it is not likely that they will have a chance to put into effect their resolutions in this matter. It is satisfying to note, however, that most of those seeking the high office of chief executive of the state are so cognizant of the concern which the Texas people feel for their highway department and the evident determination with which they mean to preserve it as a business-like and non-political institution. Gov. Allred's assurance that he will use his best endeavors to preserve the efficient set-up of the department is none the less pleasing because it was recognized all along that the governor was well aware of the satisfactory functioning and the competence of the personnel organization of the department. He came out frankly and to the point and said so, and his declaration ought to be taken to his credit when the voting is done next Saturday.

A Baby Rose

AN eastern horticulturist has developed a Tom Thumb rose, whose blossom is so small that a thimble will cover it and whose bush can be contained comfortably in a small pot. The rose, pride of its originator, was exhibited at a Dallas show for the first time in the southwest recently. It is said to be ideal for apartments and small homes where it may be cultivated in a small pot provided it is given plenty of sunlight.

THE oddity of the tiny flower will make it a curiosity, much in demand among those able to secure and grow it. The Japanese are famous for their experiments in the stunting of trees which have resulted in midget specimens of pines, cherries, apples, etc. These ornamental abnormalities, however, cannot approach the majesty of the towering tree or the beauty of the normal, full-bosomed rose of which this country could well have much more.

Farm, Ranch Of Jim Ned Area In Good Condition

By R. W. H. KENNON On one of our semi-weekly itineraries, W. D. Brechen and I traveled in the Jim Ned country last Sunday, going as far as the John M. Elkins farm, and on returning stopped at the J. C. Dibbrell cattle ranch, which adjoins the lands of Elkins. The Dibbrell and Elkins lands have been in those two families for three generations, John Elkins told me, and there has never been a time where their relations were ever strained, or there existed any misunderstanding between the two families. These lands are divided by Jim Ned creek, whose valleys and bottom lands are as fertile as the valleys of the Nile. Going and coming on this trip we saw some of as pretty country as the eye ever rested upon, and the crops were fine. However, we saw no better corn than that can be seen in the south Cisco country, but their cotton is further advanced than the crop of Eastland county. Nor can the Coleman farmers boast of better feed crops, for it would be mighty hard to find better feed and corn crops than we have in the south Cisco farming area. Bull Weevil Absent Just why, I cannot understand, but I was told that there is very little evidence of boll weevil in the cotton crops in Coleman county, while already farmers of Eastland county report considerable damage. Cotton in the Jim Ned section is nearly twice as large, and Elkins told me that the crop was well fruited and a big yield is already made. The Dibbrell ranch was founded by Captain Dibbrell and passed to his sons, Jim C. and Carter Dibbrell, but Jim Dibbrell is actively in charge of the property, and personally supervises the management of the ranch. The Dibbrell ranch is stocked with high bred Hereford cattle, Capt. Dibbrell was the first to import this breed into this section of the country, and much of the Hereford cattle of the better ranches in west Texas come from the Dibbrell foundation. At an early day the Dibbrells imported two bulls and two heifers from Europe. One of the cows which proved her breeding in her offspring Dibbrell named "Breeze," by which she was known to most of the cattle men of west Texas. At an advance age this famous cow passed away and was buried on the Dibbrell ranch, and a monument was erected at her grave. Mr. Elkins said the bulls that were imported with "Breeze" were Pope and Mango, but he could not recall the name of the second cow. Many Hereford breeders will remember these two sires. It would have done one good to have seen the waters of anticipation drip from the corners of Brechen's mouth while he was admiring the splendid action pens I saw in the Dibbrell cattle pens. Frankly Speaking

By FRANK LANGSTON

The political rally on the city hall lawn here last night brought together most of the candidates for county and district offices, who seized the opportunity to address an audience in one of the three larger cities of the county. But there was one thing particularly outstanding about the meeting last night. With a few exceptions, there was very little old-fashioned "mud-slinging." "Perhaps," somebody remarked, "this is the first time there's been a good candidate in the race."

Before any readers begin looking for an axe to reason with me, I'll add that that remark was made by a candidate for a county office.

Cecil A. Lotief, representative from the 107th district, was paid a compliment in a roundabout way the other day. A fellow representative's record on securities legislation was under fire in the present campaign. Finally, to decide the matter, the mayor of the county seat suggested:

"Well, what do you think, I don't know him, but I know his record, and if he says yours is all right, it's all right with me."

The wire was duly dispatched and Lotief was able to vouch for the other legislator's record.

The junior chamber of commerce and the Lobo band will go to Romney this evening as a goodwill gesture. A large crowd is expected to turn out for the meeting.

Before the series of goodwill concerts has begun the Lobo band is already being sought for a concert at the Moran trades day event on August 1.

Two Arrests Result From Raid on Still

EASTLAND, July 23.—Two men were turned over to the federal men by the sheriff's department Wednesday after a still was seized south of Nimrod. The federal agents accompanied the county officers.

The men, seen at the location of an operating 65-barrel still, were to be taken to Abilene, where charges were to be filed before a United States commissioner.

Four barrels of mash were also confiscated by Sheriff Foster and Deputies Claude Hammett and Ray Hardwick.

Centennial Reunion At Camp McCulloch

Prominent state and federal dignitaries will appear on the four day program. A centennial pageant will feature the opening day program.

Scouts Are Back From Week's Stay At Camp Gibbons

The Cisco Scouts returned Wednesday at 1:30 from a week of camping in which they have learned many things about camping life and other things that scout camps stand for. The Cisco troops, 4 and 101, reported a very successful camp in the respect that they gave a good race for the honor campers pennant. The Cisco Scouts were third in the final rating in the contest, but were in the lead part of the time. Among other second and third places, the Cisco scouts were foremost in the craft work instructions. Many of the scouts from here made leather laced bill folders, pocket books, key ring holders, knickerchief slides, hand plaited watchfobs, bead bracelets, hat bands, and many other things that can be made at a scout camp. The Cisco troops led by Mack Statham displayed an interest in every contest and camp activity; all the scouts were willing to do their best in cooperating with their leaders so that the best work could be accomplished. The Troop 43 of Brownwood won first place in the honor campers contest with 786 points, it was announced. At the last council fire program by G. M. Quirl, chief camp executive, Troop 2 of Brownwood won second with 607 points and Troop 4 with 591 points. Daily Press Want Ads Click

Chance Comet May Sideswipe Earth With Its Tail Is Good, Say Experts

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Writer BOSTON, July 23.—The chances that the tail of a comet such as the two now visible—will sideswipe the earth are large, but astronomers have not yet seen a tail which might hurt the earth in such a collision.

The last time a comet's tail struck the earth was in May, 1910. It was the tail of Halley's comet—and a very big tail. Many million miles long, a dull red glow in the sky, seen for many weeks before it hit, and observed with some apprehension by laymen.

Astronomers were certain in advance there would be no effect. But on the chance that some slight disturbance might occur many observations were planned in advance.

Oswald Thomas, an astronomer, chief of the Urania observatory in Vienna, describes the watching.

"It was a clear night, we sat up, full of interest and enthusiasm, but we noted nothing in particular.

"In Paris balloons were sent up on the critical night; the aeronauts opened exhausted flasks, and then nervously sealed them; the air was carefully analyzed, but with negative results.

"Those who had prophesied the end of the world and the flooding of the atmosphere with poisonous gases from the comet's tail were disappointed."

Substance Unknown The substance that forms a comet's tail is not certainly known. No tail can be seen until a comet begins to near the sun. It probably does not exist until the action of the sun's rays, its heat and possibly electrical effects generate a tail as the comet approaches within some scores of millions of miles.

Astronomers believe that the tail consists largely of particles so fine that they would be invisible in a powerful microscope. Gases—cyanogen—have been detected in a comet's head with a spectrocope. Electrical disintegration of molecules might produce gas of particles for a tail.

One of the most generally held theories is that possible pressure of the sun's light drives out of the comet the stuff that makes the tail. This is held to account for the fact that the tail always points away from the sun. It follows the comet during the approach to the sun, and it swings around so as to be head of the comet during retreat from the sun.

The fact that light exerts pressure has been demonstrated in laboratories. There is some evidence, from telescopes, that some of the meteoric particles are so small that the sun's light drives them.

If the pressure theory is correct, the substance of the tails of comets is something almost as intangible as light. It is stuff against which the earth's atmosphere would act as solid armor plate.

Scouts Discover Bones of Ancient Indians in Cave

By LIVIUS LANKFORD CAMP BILLY GIBBONS, July 23—Boy Scouts, of the Comanche Trail Council, encampment on the Billy Gibbons ranch have discovered what they believe to be a very important discovery in a little known cave about a mile from the camp.

The scouts while on a hike up Smugglers Draw, which is across the Brady creek, for the purpose of tracing some Indian sign painting along the cliffs on the other side of the river, ran onto a cave in which they excavated bones they believe to be of an Indian squaw and baby. Arrow heads as well as other signs of Indian habitation lead the party to believe that they had discovered an ancient Indian burial ground. Many of the tunnels were dug out and other bones were found, however, none of which were of great importance.

The scouting party reported its findings back to camp and other trips to the cave will be gotten underway in the near future.

The Indian bones may be found on display at the Boy Scout headquarters.

According to the old timers of the community the cave has had a very mysterious past. The cave which is called "Honey Camp" cave has almost entirely been unexplored in recent years, due to the fact that its secret entrance is hidden from the vision of an unaware passerby.

Candidate

W. S. ADAMSON

Qualifications For Office Given By W. S. Adamson

TO THE VOTERS OF EASTLAND COUNTY:

In announcing my candidacy for the office of County Judge of Eastland county I did so with the knowledge that it is one of the most important offices in your county. His duties require him to preside over the county court in the trial of civil and criminal cases, the probating of wills, administration of the estates of deceased persons, guardianship of minors and many other matters, all of which are legal proceedings. He is also the presiding officer of the commissioners' court, which has charge of the finances of your county, supervises the construction and maintenance of your county, supervises the construction and maintenance of your roads, sets your tax rate, sits as a board of equalization in placing a value upon your property for taxable purposes and many other duties.

He should be a man who is well informed in the laws of the state, of sound and mature judgment, and one who has the interest of the citizens of the county at heart.

I have a college education, studied law three years and was admitted to the bar, have been a practicing attorney for twenty-two years, the past fifteen years I have practiced law in Ranger, Texas. During my twenty-two years in the study and practice of law I have devoted considerable time to the study of law pertaining to county and city governments and have a thorough knowledge of the law and procedure of the county court and county affairs.

I served four years as county judge of Scurry county during which time I met with and solved many of the difficult and perplexing problems that come before a county judge and a commissioners' court and from this experience I have gained a knowledge of the handling of county affairs that cannot be obtained from any other source.

The past three years I have served as a commissioner of the city of Ranger during which time I have assisted with my counsel and advice in the management of the city's affairs. I represented the city in federal court in the suit brought by the bond holders on its bonds and secured a judgment refunding the bonded indebtedness of the city on a basis of 80 per cent of their original face value. We have paid cash to our employees for their services, for supplies and equipment that we have purchased, met the interest payment on our bonded indebtedness and set aside the required amount in a sinking fund to retire those bonds at maturity and have approximately $30,000 in cash in the various funds and the city is in the best financial condition it has been in many years.

My friends, I believe from my twenty-two years in the study and practice of law, my four years experience as county judge and my three years experience as a city commissioner has prepared, equipped and qualified me to be of real capable service to you as your county judge.

If I am elected your county judge it will not be placing a man in that office inexperienced and untried, but one who has a thorough knowledge of the law and who has been seasoned by actual experience.

If elected your county judge I shall at all times cooperate with your county commissioners in the handling of your county affairs and shall counsel with and advise them upon all legal matters coming before that court.

I shall be fair and just to every person who comes before me as county judge and the humblest citizen of the county may feel free to come to me with problems of the county, his precinct, or even his personal affairs with the assurance that he shall receive a sympathetic and courteous hearing and it will be my earnest desire to help, aid and assist him in solving those problems.

I have visited every home and farm in the county and have made a diligent effort to see every voter, solicit their vote and express my appreciation for their vote and support, and I wish to state now that there is no one in this race who will be more grateful to you for your vote and support than I, and if elected I promise you in return faithful, honest and efficient service.

Very sincerely,
Pd Adv. W. S. ADAMSON.

When Forbearance Ceases to Be a Virtue

To Voters Of This District:

My father, Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, has conducted his campaign upon a high plane commensurate with the dignity of his office. He has engaged in no personalities. He has resorted to no vituperation. In no speech has he even mentioned a name. On the other hand Clyde Garrett posing as a saint, and his coterie of disappointed disinterested position-seekers, have done all over this district abusing, maligning and misrepresenting my father. While he is busy campaigning I feel impelled to correct some of Garrett's many misrepresentations.

My father does not own any property whatsoever in Washington. For the past five years my father and mother have lived in inexpensive rented apartment No. 509 in the Methodist Building. He is forced to rent some under yearly contracts. The only property my mother owns there is a $1,000 equity in the Lee house, which she sold with money her father gave her, and assumed the indebtedness on it when Mr. Lee died.

Next January when he becomes Chairman of War Department appropriations he will conduct all hearings, will frame the War Department bill, will introduce the bill in his own name, will present the Committee Report in his own name as Chairman, will have charge of the bill on the floor of the House, will conduct the debate, and be in charge of the time, and will be in charge of the bill through to its final passage, and then as the House Speaker, will have charge of the bill in conference with the Senate.

On June 15, 1934, for printing alone, Congressman Blanton had paid to the Government Printing Office the sum of $17,316.00, and on to this date he has paid over $21,000. In fighting Communism he paid $978.46 last May for printing. Note the following certificates:

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE, Washington D. C. June 15, 1934.

HON. THOMAS L. BLANTON, House of Representatives of the United States, Washington D. C.

My Dear Mr. Blanton: Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of June 12, 1934, enclosing check for $201.61, and requesting the full amount paid by you to the Government Printing Office during the time you have been in Congress.

The following statement is submitted, giving the information requested:

To December 30, 1927 $ 11,469.73

December 10, 1927, to date 5,846.87

TOTAL $ 17,316.60

The communication you enclosed is returned herewith.

Respectfully, GEORGE H. CARTER, Public Printer.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE, Congressional Record Clerk, Washington D. C., May 8, 1936.

As Congressional Record Clerk, who handles all orders for reprints of public documents, I do hereby certify that the reprints of hearings and excerpts from the Congressional Record ordered by Congressman Thomas L. Blanton relating to his efforts to keep Communism out of schools, were not printed at government expense, but that Congressman Blanton was charged regular prices for same by the Government Printing Office, and such reprinting cost Congressman Blanton the following amounts, to-wit:

Order No. 54760, Extracts from Hearings, Committee on Appropriations, on eliminating Subversive matter from Public Schools $ 309.80

Order No. 12,573, excerpts of Speeches from Congressional Record on Communism 668.86

TOTAL ON ABOVE $ 978.46

The above shows the total charges made by the Government Printing Office against Mr. Blanton for printing the above.

W. A. SMITH, Congressional Record Clerk.

When I heard Mr. J. C. Shipman introduce Clyde Garrett in Abilene Monday night, and learn that Shipman has been acting as "introducer" at other places, I am forced to wonder what has happened to Shipman since the last campaign. Mr. J. M. Brann of Shive, Texas, has allowed me to use the following letter, which upon the letter-head of "Martin & Shipman, Lawyers, Compton Building, Mr. J. C. Shipman wrote him praising and eulogizing Blanton, to-wit:

"Abilene, Texas, July 9, 1934

Mr. J. M. Brann, Shive, Texas.

Dear Friend: As Hamilton County is now in the 17th Congressional District, you and I have a common interest in the selection of a Congressman. Because of our friendship of many years standing, I want to solicit your support of Hon. Thomas L. Blanton of Taylor County.

Mr. Blanton has represented the 17th District of Congress for some fifteen years, and the service he has rendered not only to his district alone, but to the country as a whole can easily be ascertained from the Congressional Record. I most respectfully invite your close and careful study of the same, after which I am sure you will agree with me that this district has been well represented.

At this time Mr. Blanton is on some of the most important committees of the House, one of which is the Appropriations Committee through which all appropriation bills must pass. The Record will show that he has been instrumental in saving millions of dollars for the country by defeating and helping to defeat many appropriations for luxurious and extravagant purposes. It has been through his energy, his alertness, his watchfulness, his persistency and his seniority in time of service, that he has attained membership on such important committees which affords him the opportunity to be of greater service than otherwise one could be.

Another thing about Mr. Blanton is that he is always at his post of duty while Congress is in session. And I will guarantee to you that in the event you should write or otherwise confer with him while he is in Washington, concerning any information you might desire or with reference to any matter, you will hear from him at the first possible moment.

I heartily endorse his candidacy and earnestly ask you to carefully consider the same.

Your friend,
J. C. SHIPMAN.

What has caused Mr. Shipman so suddenly to shift in reverse? For 25 years Blanton has been the friend of E. E. Layton. In the Blanton, and was praising him to the skies and eulogizing him as Blanton to appoint Layton postmaster at Eastland. Layton is now from Eastland every kind of misrepresentations through the mails. Master, Garrett does not explain how he would appoint one of the tired of Garrett's feeble mudslinging and would like to know what qualifications he has to offer to represent this district in Congress.

Firemen Return From Classes At A. & M. College

Fire Chief J. J. Collins and Driver Les Garrett have returned from College Station where they spent four and a half days at the state firemen's school. Mr. Collins took a general course of instruction in all phases of fire fighting, fire prevention, first aid, and so forth while Mr. Garrett took special instruction in the handling of pumping equipment. A 10 per cent increase in attendance was noted over last year, Mr. Collins said. Six hundred men from 300 cities were present to 34 instructors from Dallas, San Antonio, New York City, the U. S. bureau of chemistry at Washington, D. C., and other places. Classes began at 8 a. m. each day after breakfast at 7, and continued with an hour's intermission at noon, until 6 p. m. After supper, lectures and motion pictures illustrating various phases of the fire fighting business, were attended. Special courses on rescue work, on instructorship and so forth were given. DEMONSTRATION OF EQUALITY OF SEXES

That most of the barriers heretofore existing between the sexes are being broken down is being most forcibly demonstrated by the activities in social, business and industrial pursuits. Especially is this seen in recent decisions of the courts, in which the death sentence being, and has been imposed. Time was, in the memory of many now living, that the death penalty was inflicted upon women only in the rarest cases, regardless of the fact that the motive and method of the crime may have been most heinous.

And when a woman was executed the news was heralded all over the land.

Jealousy Motivates Murder
Now, not only is death penalty being inflicted upon women who do murder, with comparable frequency, but there is seen a breaking down of the sex barriers in the motives that prompt the slayings. Jealousy, on the part of the woman, as a crime motive, is not dissimilar to that which arouses the crime complex in men.

Only last Thursday Mrs. Frances Creighton and her alleged lover-conspirator, Everett C. Applegate, were electrocuted in Sing Sing after conviction of poisoning the wife of Applegate.

Thursday another woman, Mrs. Mildren Bolton, was sentenced to death by a Chicago jury, composed of 11 married men and one widower, for the alleged shooting of her husband to death.

Here, too, was the absence of the sex barrier manifest, as she acted on the "unwritten law" in the "eternal triangle," just the same as mere man. She said she bought the weapon to commit suicide in his presence on account of his infidelity, but decided to shoot him instead of herself.

Lack of Reserve
But the absence of and breaking down of the sex barrier is manifest in practically every walk of life, social, business and industrial. In conversation the former respect and reserve that prompted the man to guard his speech in the presence of the "Gentler sex" is conspicuous by its absence. And there is a lack of reserve in the social relations that formerly was exhibited. Some of the emancipated girls do not disdain nor resent the proffer of a drink of spirits from their boy friends.

Many women are today occupying positions heretofore filled by men. In this there is little to censure, as many of the girls and women have to make their own living, and as marriageable men, with positions that would justify them taking on the responsibilities of husbands, have reduced the eligibles to the minimum.

Nor does one hear so much talk about the inequality of the sexes, and the "double standard," that was heard a few years ago, and, I suppose, the reason is that there is no longer such a standard, or at least, it is of lesser proportions than in years that are gone.

Denmark's Olympic cycling team is handicapped by the fact that some of the outstanding Danish wheelmen have turned professional.

Fascists Uncover Roman Senate Hall

ROME, July 23. (AP)—Restoration of the ancient Roman curia or hall of the senate has been resumed under the impetus of fascist enthusiasm for revival of the historic empire.

De Vecchi di Val Cisono, minister of education, has ordered workmen to brace the old structure preparatory to demolition of a mediaeval building which has covered the original. The work has commenced on the side which fronts the new Empire Way.

Fascist architects say they will be able to restore the original building entirely. The brick curia was built by Julius Caesar and first was restored in 303 by Diocletian. About 625 Pope Honorius I converted it into the church of St. Hadrian. Modern tourists have visited the church of Santa Martina, built into a hall of the curia which was used in ancient times for secret meetings.

Another ordovician test for the southeastern area of Shackelford county is in the making as a rig is being moved on location for the third Pitzer and West-Humble Oil and Refining company well on the Geo. DeLafosse ranch midway between Breckenridge and Albany. The third well will be drilled to a contract depth of 4,500 feet testing the Ellenberger from which the original deep well was said to be good for 200 barrels daily before a shot ruined it. The second well, drilled north and west of the first, got a bare showing. The new test will be sunk 440 feet south and 440 east of the first.

• The thousands of women who have bought Hotpoint Electric Ranges have embarked on a new experience of happy, clean, carefree housework.

Overheated summer kitchens are a thing of the past with "Miracle Cookery." Thick insulation keeps heat in the oven, where it belongs. And, in surface cookery, Hotpoint Calrod coils concentrate all heat on the utensil and do not diffuse it into the air of the kitchen. And, of course, with electricity as the fuel, immaculate cleanliness is possible. Even the bottoms of pans do not become blackened.

Imagine spending all day away from home—then arriving just before dinner time to find the entire meal perfectly cooked, waiting in the oven, ready for serving. You see, in the morning you can make the food ready for cooking, then put it in the oven, set the temperature control, set the "Chef's Brain" (automatic timer) for the time it is to begin cooking and the time it should be finished—and then forget it until dinner is to be served.

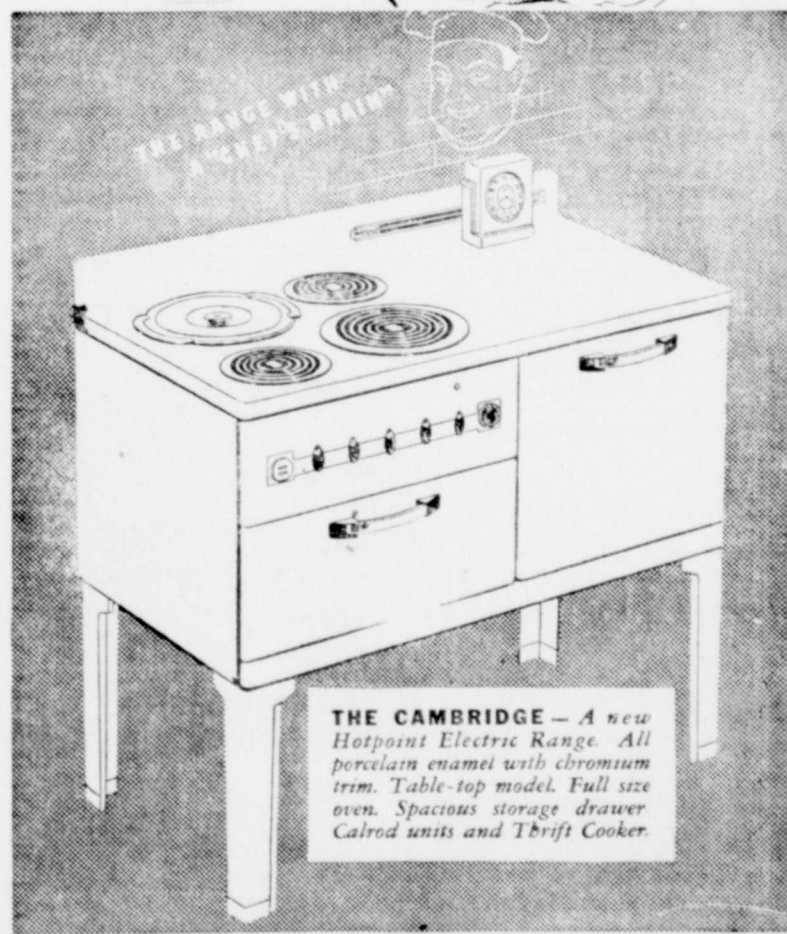

Come in and see the beautiful new Hotpoint Electric Ranges. Discover how you can join the parade of modern women and save money at the same time.

HOTPOINT CALROD

What Mazda means to light, Calrod means to cookery. Calrod is the name given to Hotpoint's hi-speed sealed-in-metal cooking coil which has revolutionized electric cookery. It brings new speed, new cleanliness and new economy to the kitchen.

THRIFT COOKER

Economical. Uses only about as much current as the kitchen light. Cooks an entire meal of meat, vegetables, dessert—or bakes small quantities, like a few potatoes, without need for heating up the oven.

THE CAMBRIDGE—A new Hotpoint Electric Range. All porcelain enamel with chromium trim. Table-top model. Full size oven. Spacious storage drawer. Calrod units and Thrift Cooker.
