New Fires Break Out Under Bombardment of Japan Craft

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4 (AP)—American, British and French consuls in general demanded today that Chinese troops and Japanese warships withdraw from the vicinity of the international settlement and the French concession, havens for thousands of foreigners.

New fires started in Chinese sections of the city today under bombardment of Japanese aircraft. Each side claimed advances in fighting in the Liuhu-Woosung sector.

Chinese dispatches said a second division of the Japanese dominated Manchoukuoan army stationed north of the Chahar province rebelled, declaring allegiance to China.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (AP)—Senator Burke of Nebraska today named Vice President Garner his choice for the democratic presidential nomination of 1940.

WILSON GIVES UP ONE HIT AS SINCLAIRS WIN

Rylie Loses Pitching Duel in Soft Ball Title Tilt Friday

A one hit pitching performance by Claude Wilson Friday night proved disastrous to the Red Front soft ball team and the Huestis Sinclair boys walked off with a 5 to 1 victory, in a game that for the last seven innings saw only one hit made.

With this win, the Sinclairs annexed the seasonal soft ball championship in a game that climaxed a season of heated rivalry between the two teams, both closely matched squads.

Wilson, with his burning fast ball, held the losers easily while his mates backed him up well.

Rylie, on the mound for the losers, did not slouch, making an outstanding showing also, but two bad first innings with two errors at crucial moments hurt him.

He settled down after the two fatal first two rounds and allowed only one hit, a single in the fourth by Perot, for the rest of the game, while Wilson gave up a double by Rylie in the second inning and that was all the hits the losers got for the entire night.

Huestis scored twice in the

5 New Coaches of Oil Belt Will Be Honored at Party

Five new coaches in the Oil Belt will be honored at the annual football party to be given at Breckenridge at 7 p. m. Friday, it has been announced by Jack Sandefer, Breckenridge oil man in charge of the event.

The meeting has been held each year for the past several and school officials and coaches, of the district's ten high schools are invited, along with the captains of the elevens.

There all enjoy an evening of fun and a discussion of the coming year's football war and what it has in store. A big dinner will climax the event.

In connection with the grid dinner Chairman L. E. Dudley has called the annual early session meeting of the district executive committee also next Friday at 5 p. m. in Breckenridge. The school executives will exchange eligibility forms and "chew the rag."

Although Cisco coaches and officials have not said, it is expected that they will attend. There will be no Lobo captain there, however, because none as yet has been selected.

As Many Local People As Possible to Be Engaged on Project

"The contract for grading and clearing off the right-of-way for the highway east of the viaduct over the M. K. T. railway, on the Eighth street cut-off of Highway No. One, through Cisco, will be let Sept. 17, I am informed," said Mr. Laurie of the re-employment service at Eastland Friday.

When asked if he was informed whether the contract submitted by the Jensen Construction company had been awarded, he said:

"No, I have no information other than they had submitted the lowest bid, and that they will probably require about 40 men on the job."

"It is probable that the re-employment office at Eastland will supply most of the labor, however, as soon as the contract is awarded. I am expecting to be called upon for much of the labor, as I understand the highway commission will stipulate the employment of as many local people as possible."

"I would like to announce that the re-employment service will have a representative at Cisco every Wednesday from 1 to 3 o'clock p. m. to accommodate

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Never bet against a stranger's talents, as Forrest Wright will advise you today after an experience Friday evening which gained him considerable good-natured ragging at the hands of the gang at the Lake Cisco pools and a thorough respect for the qualities of a certain cowboyish-looking young fellow whom he gave a lift to the lake Friday evening on a swimming dare.

Jacqueline Ruppert, who is only 11 years of age, is among the best young swimmers who go to the Lake Cisco pools. She swims with an ease and endurance that are remarkable.

"I'll give you a dollar to outswim this little girl," said Forrest to the youth. The young man, a bundle of clothing wrapped and under his arm and wearing a faded ten gallon hat, was a fine appearing youth for all his evident shortage of funds.

"I'd hang myself for a dollar and furnish the rope," he grinned.

At the lake, Cisco's aquatic attorney tipped off the attendants to his joke.

The contest was staged around the deep pool, and Forrest gave up about the fourth round, while Jacqueline continued to lead the young man around the course. At the end of the fifth, Wright, with a whole tittering gallery watching the joke that back-fired, induced Jacqueline to leave the pool and give the race to the young man because he thought she had swum as much as she should. Just to cinch matters, the youth went another round, and came out declaring it was the finest pool he had ever been in.

"You know, I've just had a heavy dinner and hadn't been in swimming this year, so I really shouldn't have gone in," he said.

It developed that he was a pre-medical student in the University of Michigan, and that he was accustomed to swimming miles almost every day in lakes near his home. He declined the dollar, but Wright forced it on him. "I'm getting along," he said.

Those who deny that there are real big yellow catfish in Lake Cisco should have seen the prize which O. L. Duckett and C. B. Hill took with a trot line early Saturday morning. The big fish weighed 24½ (Printer, don't forget the half) pounds.

"As usual," said Duckett, "the big one got away." Hooks even larger than that on which the fish was taken were found to have been broken into.

A BIG ONE

A 24 1-2 pound cat fish was caught at Lake Cisco Friday night by C. B. Hill of the Cisco Gas corporation, it was reported Saturday.

THE EIGHTY-EIGHTH DISTRICT COURT

(Judge Davenport, Presiding) Judge George L. Davenport of the 91st district court, and Mrs. Davenport, who have been enjoying their summer vacation visiting their daughter, Mrs. Lingquist, in New York have returned to their home in Eastland where Judge Davenport will resume his bench in continuation of the September term of court Monday.

New Cases Filed

The following new causes of action were filed during the past week in the district clerk's office for litigation in the 91st court:

T. A. Minton vs. Bert Ford, liquor administrator, injunction. Mae Estelle Rich vs. Z. E. Rich, divorce. Mrs. Alice D. Dickson vs. Sovereign Camp Woodmen of the World, suit to collect insurance policy.

Judgments and Orders

The following decree was handed down in the 91st court the past week, Judge Patterson presiding for Judge Davenport: Tom High vs. Hazel High, divorce. Judgment for plaintiff.

THE NINETY-FIRST DISTRICT COURT

(Judge Patterson, Presiding) With both judges of the 91st and 88th courts on their benches it is probable both courts will begin to grind at a more rapid pace during the month of September, was the opinion of District Clerk P. L. Crossley Friday. "I anticipate a busy session for the remainder of the present terms of both courts, which will probably continue into the winter months," he said. "There is always a dearth of litigation during the months of July and August, as those are vacation months, and should the presiding judges be ready it is always difficult to get an agreement from the litigants and attorneys to try the cases."

"Now vacation season is over both courts, as well as the appellate court, will likely have their hands full. This prediction is not based on new matters, but there are many old cases pending on the dockets that the jurists have indicated will be called for hearing. The appellate justices will be back at work beginning Monday, and I am informed matters pending as well as new appealed litigation, will keep them pretty busy for some time."

New Cases Pending

Two new cases have been docketed in the district clerk's office for hearing in the 88th court: Ex parte Frank Sheppard, removal of disabilities of minority, and Ben L. Sears vs. Willie Julia Sears, divorce, were the cases filed.

Judgments and Orders

City of Eastland vs. C. C. Huff et al. dismissed on motion of plaintiff at his cost. Ex parte Frank Sheppard, removal of disabilities of minority. Petition approved, and it was the decree of the court that petitioner be declared of full age for all legal purposes except the right to vote.

Grand Jury Convenes

The grand jury of the 88th court, drawn by the jury commission the first of last week, will convene Monday, Tuesday Judge Patterson will call the docket and assign the cases. The personnel of the jury drawn for this term is J. D. Guy, Carbon; Hal C. Dyer, Vance Littleton, Cisco; Jack Blackwell, H. F. Earnest, L. R. Herring, Ranger; Dallas Jobe, Wayne White, T. L. Jay, Gorman; Rufus Cox, Okra; Otis E. Harvey, Eastland; G. C. Bruce, Desdemona; E. F. Agnew, Rising star; Herman Harrelson, Nimrod; C. I. Hyatt, Olden; R. R. Bradshaw, Scranton.

The following couples have been issued marriage licenses during the past week:

W. L. Darr and Miss Vera Murphy, Winters.

James Huffman and Miss Dorothy Thomas, Denton.

Matters in Probate

Probate matters have suffered in proportion the summer slump as that seen in other departments of the court house. There was no new business transacted, and only a few orders were issued by Judge Adamson, and these were for perfecting cases pending. The following business was transacted:

Petition of Mrs. Flora Westerman, guardian of Guy Westerman, incompetent, to pay certain approved claims against the estate. Petition approved and payment authorized.

Petition previously filed by the guardian of Philip Thomas Pegues, and hearing ordered, for authority to expend $50 of her ward's funds to purchase a bicycle and equip him to attend school. Hearing held and expenditure authorized.

Lunacy Cases

State vs. Visa Basham, lunacy. Verdict of jury that defendant was a person of unsound mind, and it was the decree of the court that she be admitted to the state hospital at Wichita Falls for restraint and treatment.

State vs. Vera Melton, lunacy. Jury returned a verdict that the patient was of unsound mind, and the court decreed that she be admitted to the state hospital at Wichita Falls for treatment and restraint.

Application of T. R. Overby for permit to retail malt and vinous liquors at a location in the 500 block on West Main street, Eastland approved and permit ordered issued.

County Court

The following cases are pending in the county court:

State vs. L. W. Normood, transportation of illegal liquors. Automobile seized. Bail bond in the sum of $750 filed, and replevy bond for car of $1,000 posted, with W. C. Kimbrough, G. W. Kimbrough, C. E. Kimbrough and M. E. Lawrence, sureties, filed and approved.

Longhorns Open Training Grind On September 7

AUSTIN, Sept. 4. (Sp.)—Bible-ized football will become a matter of actual fact at the University of Texas Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 8:30 a. m.

Dana X. Bible will gather the 37 Longhorns around him at that hour, take a piece of chalk and outline on the blackboard their assignments for the day. Each morning at 8:30 and each afternoon at 3, until school opens, the Longhorns will engage in two-hour practices.

The forenoon sessions will be devoted largely to demonstration, with Assistants Blair Cherry, Bully Gilstrap, Jack Gray, Clyde Littlefield and Ed Price helping. Afternoons, the candidates will do most of the heavy work themselves.

Equipment will be issued Monday while Bible is at Dallas for the southwest rules meeting and the All-Stars—Chicago Bears football game. He attended the rules session of the Missouri Valley district at Kansas City Saturday.

If the former Texas A. & M. and Nebraska mentor had to put a team on the playing field the first day out, he'd more than likely call on these 11.

Joe Roach, squadman, and John Peterson, letterman, ends; Ray Keeling and Will Tullos, both lettermen, tackles; Howard Terry and Charley Naiser, lettermen, guards; Glenn Jackson, sopho-

Such an outfit would average around 200 pounds in the line and 180 in the backfield.

But Bible does not have to select his starters until Sept. 25, when the Texas Tech Matadors arrive, and in the meantime there will be considerable argument over some of the positions.

For example, Sophomore Lewis Ford, a 205-pound youth, is going to put up a terrible howl about Roach being at left end. Letterman Bernie Esunas may have something to say about the right tackle situation. Soph Charley Haas and Senior Jud Atchison will make Bryan prove his right to play halfback. And so on.

Skirts will not be shorter than fall than they have been during the summer. Suit skirts, however, will be pencil-straight and slit.

Advertising Manager West Texas Utilities Co., Abilene, Texas.

Dear Sir:

The purpose of the contest that your company arranged is one that should appeal to every American woman, for it is true that the facilities for the effective management of the home have, within the past few years, become so notable as to remove -- let us hope, forever -- much of the ceaseless drudgery formerly a concomitant of that necessary field. Science and invention, I am sure, will shortly find ways to eliminate the few remaining onerous duties. It is, therefore, indeed high time that the term formerly synonymous with household drudgery be relegated to the limbo of forgotten things.

Accordingly, I have examined with the greatest interest all the entries that you sent me by airmail. I can not be certain, naturally, that any of them would become the one term that will be received by American women as a permanent and acceptable substitute for the outmoded term housewife. I think, therefore, that your plan to offer a selected list of prize-winning terms is the wise procedure, thereby suggesting possible lines which may lead to a term -- perhaps altogether new -- that may be generally accepted.

I regret that a great many of the entries seemed to me altogether too flamboyant and fanciful for even brief consideration. Others, the language with far different meanings. Others were altogether dependent upon the correct pronunciation for their significance.

My search for the winner of the contest led me to seek a term that was not only new in every respect, but that would be formed with due regard to etymology and with a recognition of the fact that the chief agency in the relief of household drudgery is electricity. This word I found in Neoelectress, coined by Mrs. Ben D. Parker, of Abilene, Texas.

For second choice, I have selected the entry of Mrs. F. B. Probandt, of San Angelo, whose word is Domestician. My third choice is the entry of Mrs. W. B. Bourland, of Oklaunion, whose word is Homeologist. The remaining selections, in the order of my preferences, are attached hereto.

Very truly yours, Charles Earle Funk Charles Earle Funk.

Do you like "Neoelectress"? N-e-o means new. L-e-c-t-r-e-s-s has the feminine ending and suggests electricity. Taken together, the word suggests a modern home maker alert to this new electric age. Dr. Funk, in his letter, says "the chief agency in the relief of household drudgery is electricity." Thus, we define "neoelectress" as meaning "a modern woman freed of kitchen drudgery by Electric Servants." The name is being copyrighted with that definition.

The contest was successful because it attracted attention to the improved status of West Texas women. A thousand women specifically said they dislike the name "housewife." However, it is more difficult than we at first thought to find a suitable substitute. But we like "Neoelectress" better the more we think about it. We hope you will. To all entrants we express sincere gratitude for their help. We only wish there could have been prizes enough to go all the way round!

3 New Research Projects Will Be Inaugurated

AUSTIN, Sept. 4.—Three new research projects of more than usual interest will be inaugurated this fall by the bureau of research in the social sciences at the University of Texas, according to Dr. W. E. Gettys, professor of sociology and director of the bureau. New funds totaling approximately $30,000 will be available to the bureau, which is financed jointly by the Rockefeller foundation and by legislative appropriation.

Utilizing a new medium, motion pictures, Dr. C. W. Ramsdell, professor of history, will begin a project of photographing historical documents in the archives of the whole south, the reproductions to become part of the university's southern archives. Funds for the film are being supplied by the university's Littlefield fund for southern history, while the bureau of research in the social sciences is supplying two full-time investigators to visit the southern libraries and film the material.

"Film P. Photostating"

By this process, known as "film photostating," reproductions can be made of vast quantities of historical documents at relatively low cost and can be preserved in small space. An additional advantage of this form of reproduction is that a whole volume can be photographed and the film projected in continuous sequence; the projection machine can be halted so that any section of the film may be examined minutely, and "still" photographs, enlarged, may be made of any desired "frame," or individual shot.

"The story of the Rio Grande," its history, its economic importance, its international implications, its influence on the development of the territory adjacent to it and on the people of its environs, will be the subject of an exhaustive study that will be started this fall by Dr. C. A. Timm, professor of government. Dr. Timm has for a number of years concerned himself with the activities of the international boundary commission in connection with its work along the Rio Grande, and he now proposes to compile the whole "story" of that international boundary stream.

The third new project sponsored by the bureau of research in the social sciences is a study of Texas population, under the direction of the department of sociology. It is not intended that this survey shall be merely statistical in scope, but it is proposed to make a cultural study of the peoples of Texas, their racial backgrounds, their ethnological development, their economic status, their age distribution. It is hoped to make an ethnographic "atlas" of Texas, showing all racial groups—Germans, Czechs, Italians, French, English and other groups.

New Studies

In addition to these three new studies, the bureau will continue some score of other projects already under way or nearing completion. Additional grants have been allocated for the following investigations: A study of organized labor in Texas, by Dr. Ruth A. Allen, associate professor of economics; an historical study of Sam Houston by Dr. E. C. Barker, professor of history, who expects to have one volume of his findings ready for publication this year; work of the bureau of municipal research, which will continue to carry on its studies in the field of Texas local governmental units and their activities; translation of Pichardo's treatise on the boundaries of Texas and Louisiana, by Dr. C. W. Hackett, professor of history, who will probably publish the third volume of his translations; a survey of the functions of the courts of law in Texas, by Judge R. W. Clayton, professor of law; a study of Mexican federalism by Dr. J. L. Mechem, professor of government. Others, almost completed, will be continued on their unexpired balances.

Freshmen, Do Not Rush Into Wrong Sorority

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

It'll soon be open season for rushing in the colleges. Masses of freshmen will be squired about campuses by upper-classmen who hope to get the best of them for their fraternities or sororities.

Unaccustomed to the flattery that is part of rushing, a lot of those freshmen join the wrong groups at the end of the four or five-day rush week and spend their declining four years regretting their error.

"Gushers" Disliked

Esther Jacobs of Chicago, rush captain of the oldest chapter of the oldest sorority in the country (Alpha, of Kappa Alpha Theta, De-Pauw university), has some good advice on the subject:

"Clothes may help make the rushee, she says, but so does her conversation.

"While we don't like the silent type of girl," she remarks, "gushers are definitely unpopular. A girl who can talk easily and with some sense is very much appreciated.

"Speaking of clothes," she continues, "complete outfits make a good impression. Since rushing begins in the fall most girls know that fall clothes are in better taste. Those clothes ought to be correct and simple—not elaborate.

Three 'Rush' Events

Rush dates usually fall into three categories: Calling and teas, informal parties and formal parties.

Street dresses or dressy sports clothes (sweater-skirts-ghillies combinations are generally out) are best for the first. Add suitable accessories—hat, gloves and purse.

Long, "informal" dresses are suitable for informals. That means a dressy dress, but not an eve-

"Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, September 5.

The golden text is: "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them" (Genesis 1:27).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God" (Romans 8:16).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is the family name for all ideas,—the sons and daughters of God" (page 515).

Advice to Rushees

Don'ts for rushees:
Don't break any local rush rules. That can get both you and the sorority in trouble.

Don't talk about any other sorority—favorably or unfavorably.

Don't break dates—especially those made in writing. It's generally considered proper to split dates—that is, divide your time between two or three houses—if each house knows exactly how long you plan to be its guest.

Don't stay after the party is over.

Don't be away from your room during calling hours. If you must be absent unavoidably, leave a note of explanation on your door.

Don't let your chin sag. If you don't get what you want and haven't a close second choice, don't join just for the sake of joining.

Trailer Travelers Given a Break

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 4. (AP)—Complaints of trailer dwellers have received an official answer from the California legislature.

Under a law now in effect, all trailer camps must be licensed and regularly inspected. Patrons are guaranteed camp sites at least 20 by 25 feet, adequate clean water and a shower bath to every 20 persons.

On their part, trailerites who camp beside the road must get at least 20 feet away from the traveled part of the highway.

The "dominant" is the name given the fifth note in any scale.

Youth Keeps Up Broken Arm Record

BURWELL, Neb. Sept. 4. (AP)—Gerald Hald, 14, looks for trouble every year during the period preceding the annual Burwell rodeo, or during the rodeo.

For the past three years he has suffered broken arms either just before the rodeo or during the cowboy and cowgirl show.

He kept up the record this year when he fell from a bicycle and broke his left arm just a few weeks before rodeo time.

Rest Cure Prescribed For Sleeping Horses

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Sept. 4. (AP)—The rest cure is prescribed by Dr. W. J. Butler, state veterinarian, for horses with sleeping sickness.

An epidemic of the disease has swept western states this year. "Just let the animal be undisturbed in a dark stable," Dr. Butler says. "Put gunny sacks or wood sacks over him and keep the flies away."

CAVE-IN KILLS THREE
POLSON, Mont., Sept. 4. (AP)—Three men lost their lives when they were buried under more than ten feet of dirt in a cave-in at the Polson dam site, six miles southwest of here, late Friday.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Peace be multiplied unto you.—Dan. iv. 1.

A peace above all earthly dignities, A still and quiet conscience. —SHAKESPEARE.

Far from mortal cares retreating, Sordid hopes and vain desires, Here, our willing footsteps meeting, Every heart to heaven aspires. —JANE TAYLOR.

Bless me in this life with but peace of my conscience, command of my affection the love of my dearest friends, and I shall be happy. And dispose of me according to the disnom of Thy pleasure, even though Thy will be done in my undoing. —St Thomas Browne.

As Right As Rain

DISCUSSING the farm tenancy problem, the Brownwood Bulletin makes some pertinent and practical comments with which this newspaper heartily agrees. "The problem with which the government should devote itself first," suggests the Bulletin editor, "is that of improving the conditions of farm tenancy rather than attempting to sell farms to hundreds of thousands of tenants, many of whom do not want farms or are incapable of operating them without supervision. The old-time political slogan of 'forty acres and a mule to every voter' was no more illogical than a proposal that farm lands be bought by the government and distributed among all the tenants of the country. The land is not available in many sections, and in any event the cost of the experiment would make the total of relief costs insignificant. In any event, there is a need for very conservative thinking about the subject, and whatever action there may be should be taken slowly and cautiously."

THERE is some commonsense advice that the administration should take seriously. The idea that a man in need is entitled to a largess of some character is entirely out of gear with the facts of human nature. He is entitled to assistance, but the kind of assistance makes a big difference. Despite the fact that the very basis of our social, political and economic system is individual ownership, it is not actual ownership that makes the system work. It is the proper handling of the resources upon which prosperity is based. We believe, all of us who have faith in the democratic and so-called capitalistic system, that individual ownership is a means to an end, not an end in itself. The belief proceeds from the fact that individual ownership stimulates in the individual an interest and an initiative which produces the greatest good for the greatest number. To place in the hands of a man unprepared either by training or nature, the management of a property is to defeat the very purpose of the system and to do for the particular man and for society a great harm.

THE proper course for the government to undertake in this instance, it seems to us, is a course designed to help the tenant farmer to help himself, and not to bestow upon him an obligation which he cannot discharge. We have said on several occasions in the past that the farm tenant who has never had training or experience in management of land must be taught first to manage such property and then, if possible, assisted in buying and paying for it. We cannot with any degree of ultimate success wall off in the economic body of this country an area of subsidized inefficiency not responsible to the practical obligations which we recognize in the normal world of business and economics.

MERE sympathy will not suffice. The problem with which in this case certain theorists are now attempting to deal is as old as Adam and as constant as the movement of the earth around the sun. No other solvent than hard work and intelligence has ever been found for it. And such a remedy takes time and persistence.

Constitution Day

SEPTEMBER 17, if you do not know, is "Constitution Day," the anniversary upon which the fundamental law of our government was formally signed 150 years ago. Columns of editorial comment have been written upon the document over the course of its history, urging appropriate recognition of its birthdays and a more thorough understanding of it. Interpretations of it are as varied as human opinion. The real significance of the constitution, aside from the fact that it furnishes the guide and the authority by which the duly chosen representatives and executives of the people govern, is that it is a central fixation for the pendulum of our political activity. It represents the investment of authority, without which there can be no government, but of greater meaning, it is a surrender of certain individual rights in the common interest. Thus, it proceeds from the people, and not to them, and for that reason it should be an instrument cherished and understood, in its general provisions at least, by the individual citizen. It would be a more appropriate and a vastly more beneficial observance of Constitution Day if each person would read this remarkable document with due care for what it contains.

A Washington Daybook

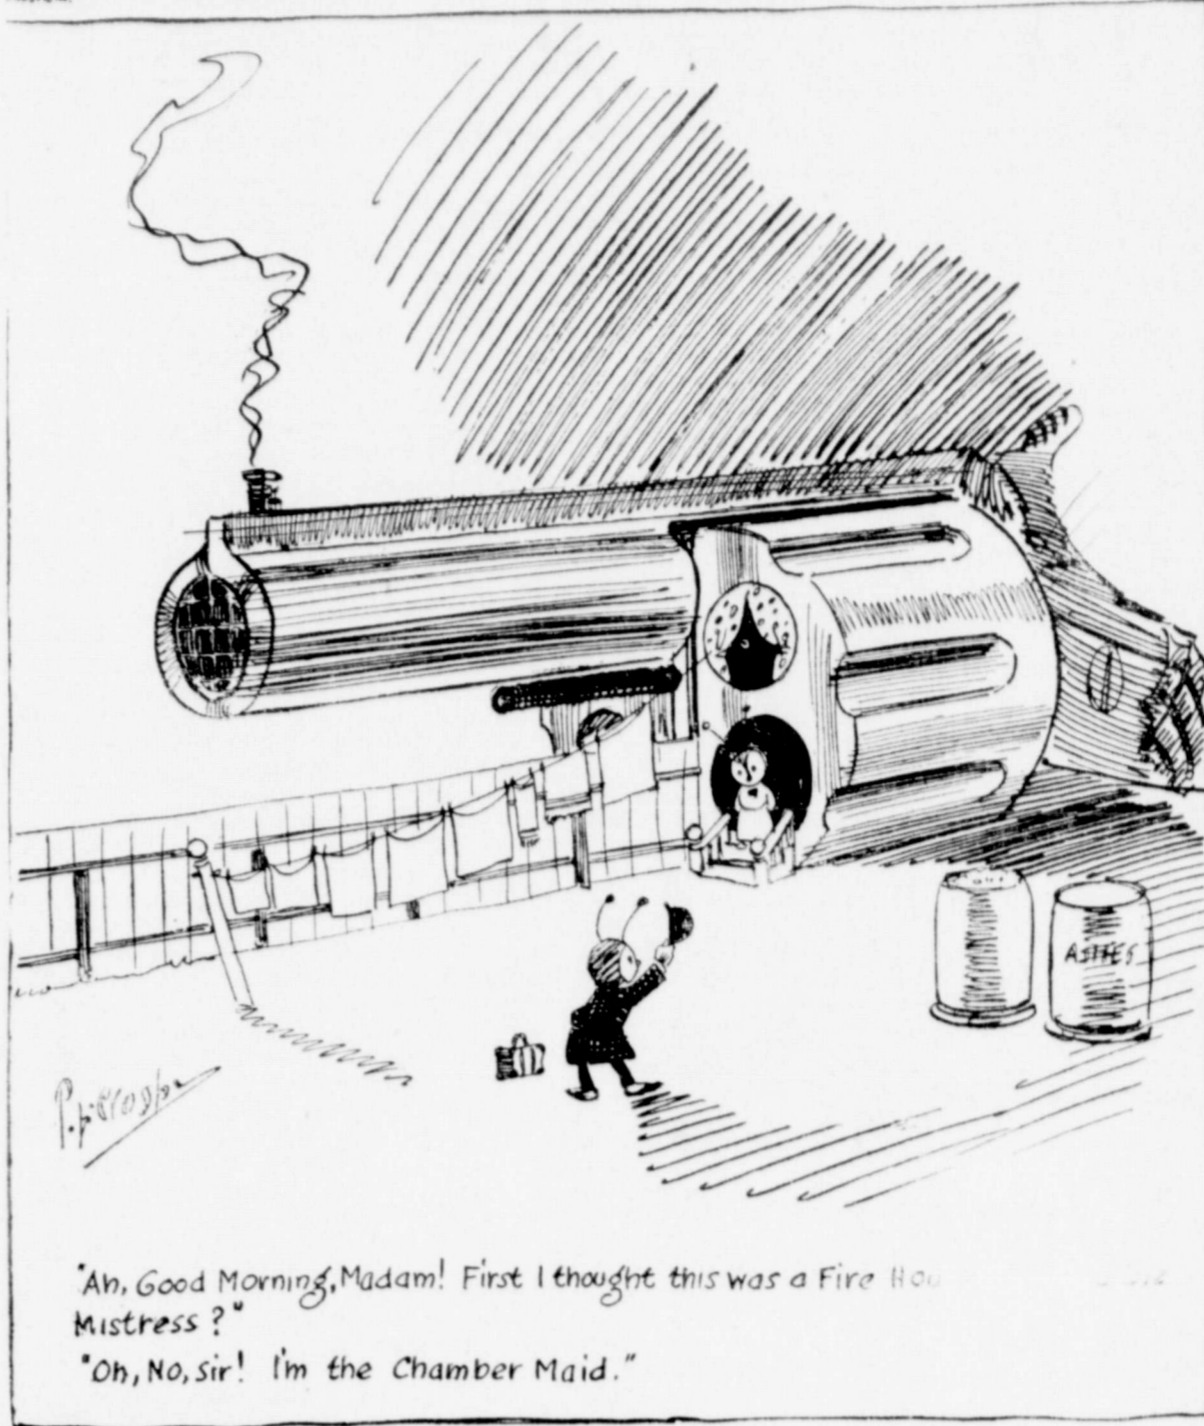

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The anti-court democratic members cannot look for support from independents and progressive republicans then. These will be voting in other primaries, if at all, or sharing in conventions of other parties. And in this most trying hour, the support of progressive republicans, for instance, might be well nigh fatal. Nothing can hurt a candidate in a primary more than to have support of a rival political party. For instance, if republican progressives who opposed the court bill should announce that they were going to work for the nomination of Senator Van Nuys of Indiana, a democrat, it could just about be the end of all things political for Van Nuys, a court bill opponent. And already the wolves are after Van Nuys. Governor Townsend of Indiana came from a conference with the president a few days back and said the people of Indiana would not support the senator. Farley Left a Joker The result is that these republican progressives who might like to support such men as Van Nuys must lie low during the toughest battle. Of course, after the nominating primaries and conventions, they might offer help where needed. Support Is a Handicap The principal opportunity of administration forces to damage democratic senators or representatives comes during the primary or convention. Then is when charges of disloyalty to the president can be used against them.

said public support should be given to democratic as well as republican members of congress who had opposed the court bill, it sent shivers of dismay down the backs of democratic court-foes. It was an "experiment noble in purpose" which promised to do them no good at all. Fervently they hoped Hoover would continue silently fishing in the Pacific northwest, or silently doing something else. Of course at this point it must be recorded that Postmaster General Farley said the administration would take no part in the democratic primaries. Yes, indeed, he said that. Wheeler's Philosophy Senator Wheeler thinks there is little difference between his aims and the president's. They differ strikingly, however, on method. Said the Montana liberal as I talked with him in his office just after adjournment: "I think the president wants to win greater rewards for our average citizenship by gathering and manipulating the controls of governmental machinery in Washington; I want to accomplish fundamental, democratic reforms through sound law. "Under the American system, the president can gain his end only by having a subservient congress set up boards and bureaus to make rules of conduct, and by winning favorable supreme court opinions to uphold this procedure. "But such bureaus are hazardous. Either they will crawl under the wing of the president and make him a dictator, whether he wants to be one or not, or the rule-making bureaus will soon find themselves dominated by the interests they are supposed to curb. WHAT IT MEANS:

The Democrats' Family Fight

By MORGAN M. BEATTY AP Feature Service Writer WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Now that congress has blackened a presidential eye and streaked for home, it's Mr. Roosevelt's turn to: 1. Grin and bear it; or... 2. Follow congress home and try to give it a dose of its own medicine. Unless the chief executive has lost his famous tenacity, he is going to set out down the road after those flying congressional coat-tails. He has already shaken his fist after the vanishing figure and repeated to the nation that he will fight for "greater opportunity, greater security, and greater happiness for the average of our citizenship." One Man Stands Out When and if the president retaliates, he probably will name no names. But it is only natural that the leadership responsible for thwarting presidential plans will absorb its share of the blows. The question is: Who threw the punches that killed the plan to enlarge the supreme court? Lots of people claim credit for that. But one man took the strategic offensive in the senate, where the coup de grace was delivered. That man is Burton K. Wheeler, the sandy-haired senatorial fireball from Montana. There's little question, furthermore, that Wheeler represents—perhaps typifies—the opposition to the president's 1937 program more nearly than any other one person. Wheeler's Philosophy Senator Wheeler thinks there is little difference between his aims and the president's. They differ strikingly, however, on method. Said the Montana liberal as I talked with him in his office just after adjournment: "I think the president wants to win greater rewards for our average citizenship by gathering and manipulating the controls of governmental machinery in Washington; I want to accomplish fundamental, democratic reforms through sound law. "Under the American system, the president can gain his end only by having a subservient congress set up boards and bureaus to make rules of conduct, and by winning favorable supreme court opinions to uphold this procedure. "But such bureaus are hazardous. Either they will crawl under the wing of the president and make him a dictator, whether he wants to be one or not, or the rule-making bureaus will soon find themselves dominated by the interests they are supposed to curb. "To prove my point, I nominate such a miserable failure as NRA, or that political football, the federal radio commission. "On the other hand, Mr. Roosevelt is right when he condemns the growth of monopoly across state lines. It is true that local, county and state governments find themselves impotent to deal with 'economic royalists' whose businesses encompass several or many states. "So, it is my opinion that, when we find such a situation, the federal government should try first some form of regulation to aid the states in correcting the evil. "Failing this, the congress should step in and do the job by prescribing a clear, concise and understandable federal law regulating interstate commerce. But we should emphasize localized control of our economy wherever possible." And That's The Issue There is the coming issue in the democratic party, through the eyes of the man who fought back and beat the president's plan to rejuvenate the supreme court—and who, incidentally, insists he still is a friend of the president. When the president next turns the heat on congress, watch the Montana liberal. He may be the man who signals whether the democratic party will split up or keep its banner in line behind Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE "Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and the stranger as the home-born, as thyself" (Lev. 19, 18b, 34b). These verses give all men—self, neighbor, stranger—equal rating, with self-estimation as the measure. This law of Jehovah allows self-preservation which is after all only a fulfillment of trust by taking care of the life that has been committed to our care. But it includes also something we are more apt to overlook, consideration for life other than our own for which we have a share of responsibility. A man is not likely to minimize his own worth; then let him learn to appreciate fully the worth of his neighbor and even of the man he has never had acquaintance with. According to the standards of this Levitical code we can at least leave the gleanings for the needy. And we can let him have all that is his own, not stealing his belongings nor withholding his wages; not cheating him in weights and measures; not wrestling nor twisting our treatment of him into injustice; and especially not robbing him of his good name by "going up and down as a tale-bearer." Of course the Christian standard rises higher even than this; but if the majority would even come up to the ethics of this ancient law we would have a much better world than we now have.

Football--

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) at quarter this week with Curtis Yancey running right half and Chesley Tipton and L. M. Yarbrough alternating in the left half hole. Both weigh about 140. Odell Harrison, about 155, has been running at the full back post. Friday Bobby Bacon, letterman end, was shifted to left tackle when Parks Bailey who had been working there, sustained a cut tongue. He will be back in the workouts immediately, the coaches said. Walter Preston will make the Loboes a good wingman at the left end position if he keeps up his work, the mentors reported. Troy Stewart, who lettered at center and tackle last season and who is eligible for three more seasons, has been in the center position. Here is another worry for the coaches. Tray is the main man at that slot but James McCrary has been working there a little. W. A. Walls and Billy Latch have been holding the guard posts with Rex Pollard seeing action there also. Another guard who may be shifted to tackle is Ray Burnside, a 150-pounder who moved here recently from West Virginia. He has never before competed in football and will be eligible this season and for two more after, the Cisco coaches reported Saturday. He is expected to make a good man because of the impressive showing he has already made. Cullen Harrison and "Bunk" Wade have been alternating at the right tackle hole while Marcell Harrison has been showing well at right end with Warren Doggett also seeing service there. Coy Warren, probably the smallest squadman, has been looking well at quarterback and undoubtedly will see action this season. He has two more after this one. Raymond Reames has been working at the right half post and Charles Fowler has been looking up in the backfield. Fowler recently moved here and as he has never before been in football competition he will be eligible. He is a sophomore in high school.

Oak Mills Boom On Distillery Orders

HARRISBURG, Ill., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Saw-milling, a pioneer industry of this territory, has been revived because Kentucky's distilleries need whisky barrels. Landowners are shipping their white oak to two mills for from $5 to $10 a tree. One of the mills turns out saves and the other barrel heads. Nearly 80 men are employed at the two mills, which have a daily capacity of 10,000 boards. The white oak which abounds in this section is a tall tree which requires about 100 years to mature, but officials of the forest service say it is one of the "fast growing" hardwoods. The wood resists water and is also used for shipping and flooring. It is "air-cured" about 90 days before it is shipped to the distilleries.

MORAN, Sept. 4 (Sp.)—Mrs. Brit Pippen, the former Miss Alice Dale Townsend, of this city was honored with a bridal shower here Friday at 3 p. m. Her hostesses, Mrs. W. P. Grace, Mrs. C. Harper, Mrs. Glen Cottle, Mrs. R. L. Martin, and Mrs. O. F. Ethridge, entertained in the elaborately decorated basement of the First Baptist church.

Guests registered in a grass-floored, garden-lobby, and were escorted to a receiving line composed of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. M. Townsend, her sister, Mrs. Garland Shelton, of Moran, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Pippen, and Mrs. W. R. Huestis of Cisco. Near at hand was a punch table, presided over by Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Etheridge. Mrs. Cottle presided at the registration table.

The spacious church assembly was decorated to represent a model home, with all living room and dining room appointments. Decorations were carried out completely in a color scheme of green, pink and white. Indirect lighting was used.

Refreshments were served to 84 guests. Plate favors were gold wedding bands, complementing the tasteful servings of white sherbet in green glasses with pink cake.

Programs, printed in green on pink folders, announced the following entertainment: "To a Wild Rose," piano solo by Mrs. Garland Shelton; "Macade," reading by Miss Mickey Howell; "An Sweet Mystery of Life," vocal solo by Mrs. W. M. Mix, of Albany, accompanied by Mrs. W. R. Biggs also of Albany; "Because of You," combination reading and presentation of gifts, Mrs. T. L. Nipp.

Presentation of the numerous gifts was made in "the horn of plenty" motif.

Out of town guests were Mrs. W. R. Huestis, N. A. Brown, and A. J. Pippen, and Misses Maude Smith and Nadine Huestis of Cisco; Mrs. W. M. Mix, Will Biggs and I. M. Chism of Albany, and Mrs. J. B. Mueller of Abilene.

The honoree was presented with a registration booklet, containing autographs of guests, and many appropriate poems.

SYNOPSIS: When Neill, a young federal agent, gets to Baltimore for a week's vacation with his girl, he finds Janet won't break a dinner date with Prescott Fanning. Fanned, Neill says Fanning is too old for Janet, too slick and spends too much money. They quarrel and part, Neill setting out to check up on Fanning. He finds him at his hotel and strikes up a bar friendship. Fanning is genial, but discloses nothing about himself. Finally he invites Neill to his party. They go upstairs to Fanning's suite, have a final shot and set forth. In the taxi, Neill loses consciousness.

Chapter Five Janett's Gone!

When Neill came to, he found himself lying fully dressed on his bed at the Hotel Stafford. For the moment his mind was a blank; he was only aware that he felt terrible. The sun was streaming in and he glanced at his watch. Nearly 12 o'clock. He sat up, pressing his head between his hands, then staggered into the bath for water.

Suddenly recollection returned—Janett, the Lord Baltimore hotel, Prescott Fanning, the taxicab. Good God; Fanning doped me! he thought. But how? I was watching him. The dope must have been in the wet glass when he brought it from the bathroom! Oh, God! What a fool I was!

Neill went through his pockets. His money had not been touched, but a glance in the other side of his wallet told him his papers had been ransacked. So Fanning knew now that he was a treasury department agent. Only one thing had been taken: a photograph of Janet.

When he thought of Janet, he turned sick with anxiety. What had happened to her? He ran to the phone and called up the smart dress shop on Charles street where she worked. A woman's voice, refined and acidulous, said:

"No, Miss Emory isn't here."
"When will she be in?"
"I don't expect to see her again. She sent me a telegram this morning resigning her position. She has left me flat. It is the most inconsiderate . . ."

Neill was not interested in Madame Annette's feelings. He hung up Janet gone! He could not take it in fully. Gone?

He took down the receiver again and called up the flat that she shared with a girl pal. A sickening wait while he listened to the double buzz of the bell.

ringing at the other end. No answer. Remembering what Eyster had told him, he called up the City pier to ask about the yacht Nadj. She had pulled out at 7:30 the previous evening, he was told. At 7:30 Fanning had been with Neill. But of course they could have joined the yacht at some other point later. Where was the yacht bound? Through the Chesapeake and Delaware canal, he was told, and out to sea.

He rose and paced the room in an agony of distress, not knowing what to do. Janet's friend was a student at the Maryland institute and he didn't know how to reach her by phone.

A Cab Driver Reports

In a moment or two his telephone rang and he ran to the instrument with a wild hope of hearing Janet's voice. No such luck. It was the clerk downstairs saying:

"There's a young man here wants to see you. He says you don't know his name. I think he's a taxi-driver."

"Send him up," said Neill. It was a wizened little fellow in nondescript clothes with an engaging grin. So far as Neill could remember, he had never seen him before. He said, grinning:

"My name is Johnny Tingstrom. I'm the guy that picked up you and the other guy at the Lord Baltimore at 7:30 last night."

Neill seized his arm and jerked him through the door. "For God's sake what happened?"

"Wait a minute!" Tingstrom laughed. "The other guy, he tells me to drive to the Belvedere . . ."

"I remember that."

"When we are coming up the hill beside the Peabody he raps on the glass and says: 'My friend has passed out cold!' So I pulls into the curb and gets out and we looks at you and shakes you. You was in the gauze all right. Paralyzed. So the guy says: 'He lives at the Stafford. We better take him home and put him to bed.' And I says: 'Okay, boss.'"

"So I drives to the Stafford and we take you in, one on each side. The clerks and the bell-hops and the other guys in the lobby, they get a big laugh seeing you brought in cold so early in the evening. So me and the other guy we lays you on your bed and beats it. I drives him to the Belvedere.

"Now I thinks there's something funny about this business, you was perfectly steady when you got in my car. You passed out too quick. So I made up my mind to take a little time out to investigate. So after I dropped him I turns at the next corner and drives back, and I sees the guy coming out of the Belvedere and getting into a private car."

"Did you get his license number?" asked Neill.

"Sure, but that won't do you no good because I looked it up myself later, and it was only a drive-yourself car, hired for the evening. It was brought back to the garage at 8:30 by the guy who was driving it. They thought it was funny because he hadn't had it out but little over an hour."

A Wonderful Looking Girl

"What did the driver look like?"

"A hell of a big guy with heavy shoulders."

"I've seen the man. Go on."

"From the Belvedere they drives to a house on Calvert street and picks up a young lady. Gee! a wonderful looking girl, boss! She was wearing a pink dress and a black velvet wrap, light brown hair and blue eyes that looks almost black at night. There was something about her, you know, something that strikes a man down. I mean any man, even a poor hackie like me."

"Get on! Get on! said Neill irritably. "I know what she looks like."

"Pardon me, boss. From Calvert street they drives to the Hotel Milner on Cathedral with me following. At the Milner they picks up a couple."

"Describe them."
"Well, I don't get a very good look because I don't dast go close. A youngish couple; the doll was all fixed up swell, but not like the young lady. Too much paint. And the guy, he is just one of these ornery guys who dresses up like a sore finger and goes out at night when some other guy is saying."

"Go on."
"They starts downtown with me following, but at this hour the streets is almost empty and the big guy, I reckon he gets on to the fact that he's being trailed, and passes the word to his driver. They begin to speed up and to turn one corner after another to try to shake me off."

"And you lost them?"
"It was no fault of mine, boss. I was stopped by a cop at the corner of Madison and Eutaw. It is always the way in this world; the crook gets away and the honest guy gets a ticket."

Villagers of East Draw Biggest Incomes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4. (AP)—The annual family income in mid-western villages is $1,227, according to a recently completed Department of Agriculture study of 2,000 odd families in 13 Pennsylvania and Ohio villages. Similar surveys, made previously, put the New England village family income at $1,480, and the western (Kansas and North Dakota) at $1,193.

Eastland Water, Sewer Revenue Bonds Reduced

EASTLAND, Sept. 4.—Water and sewer plant revenue bonds of the city of Eastland, the validity of which $114,000 was questioned, recently have been reduced.

City officials announced that a $103,000 refunding issue bearing 4 per cent interest will be taken by the Dunn-Israel company of Wichita, Kan., in exchange for the original $135,000 outstanding bonds which bore six per cent interest. The action is the result of a compromise and agreement by attorneys.

Several months ago the city of Eastland through its attorneys, J. Frank Sparks, filed suit in district court at Eastland to invalidate $114,000 of a total of the $135,000 bonds. Naming C. C. Huff and other bond holders as defendants, the city alleged $114,000 of the water revenue bonds had never been voted by the citizens. The $114,000 bonds were two of a series of three. The other was dated in 1930.

Meanwhile Brown-Crummer company, purporting to be the representative of the majority of the bondholders, filed suit in federal court to take the litigation questioning the $114,000 in bonds from the district court. Eastland took the case on to the New Orleans Circuit Court of Appeals in opposition to the Brown-Crummer action.

In the period of the litigation and after the Dunn-Israel company of Wichita acquired all of the outstanding bonds. Then the arrangement to settle for 75 per cent of the questioned $114,000 amount was made. The remainder of the $135,000 total in bonds had never been questioned. Both the $114,000 in bonds and the remainder in $21,000 are being refunded and another series issued. The bonds now will total $103,000 in contrast to the former $134,000. Also the interest rate is now only 4 per cent. Formerly the interest rate on the bonds was 6 per cent.

The case in district court is being dismissed.

An agreed judgment is to be submitted by representatives of the company and the city in federal court at Dallas for approval this month.

Care for Trees, Shrubs After Planting Them

(Editor's Note—This is the second in a series of articles by J. B. F. Wright on planting and caring of trees and shrubbery.)

By J. B. F. WRIGHT
Don't plant anything unless you expect to take care of it. I mean by taking care of it to keep it worked and keep the weeds and grass cleaned out and keep the top soil loosened up to retain the moisture. It takes regular attention and as I have said before it takes work to have these beautiful things, but they will surely pay you for your efforts. And when you water your trees and shrubs and plants, give them a soaking, lay your hose down and let it run till the beds are soaked. One good soaking each week is much better than spraying each day, for lots of your trees and shrubs have roots two and three feet deep. It takes deep watering to reach their vital life's arteries.

Plant Culture Fascinating
It is so fascinating to see these beautiful things develop into their majestic loveliness that we oftentimes forget the work, being so absorbed in the beautiful life of our trees and shrubs, watching their transformation into their glorified state, till we fail to realize our fatigue and maybe have our grounds cleaned out before we hardly realize it. One of the most wonderful things about this fascinating work there is always so much to be learned we never know it all; in fact life is an endless panorama where nature is continually unfolding to us in all her beauty and grandeur.

The most fascinating things of life is to live to learn to love. When we get into the life of our trees and shrubs and plants as they unfold to us, we are getting very near the heart of him who said consider the lilies of the field how they grow. They toil not, neither do they spin and yet I say unto you that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these—Matt. 6:27-29. And Jesus is called the Rose of Sharon and the Lily of the Valley. What other beautiful endeavoring terms could better eulogize the beautiful Christ than to compare him to a rose or lily, the handiworks of him who doeth all things well.

Loved Trees
I have always loved trees, shrubs and flowers; to stroll thru a field of blue bonnets in full bloom. Oh the glorified scene; I always feel like taking my shoes off my feet as you do on holy ground.

If we can see the millions of beautiful flowers in every color and hue, the handiwork of their creator, and inhale their matchless fragrance and realize it is the breath of him who breathed into man the breath of life we can then begin to appreciate the many things bequeathed to us to bless our lives as we journey here below. I mention this to deepen our appreciation for these beautiful things and to help stimulate our enthusiasm to do more to have them.

We need more trees, more shrubs, more flowers, more appreciations for the beautiful things bequeathed to us by him who hath the stars numbered and calls them all by name.

Soil Conservation Convention to Be Held September 13

TEMPLE, Sept. 4. (Spc)—The first state convention of the Texas soil conservation, an organization of farmers and farm-operators of Texas, will be held in Temple Monday, September 13, with V. C. Marshall of Heidenheimer, Bell county state chairman, presiding.

Every section of the state will be represented at the meeting which will effect a permanent organization of the present temporary set-up.

The meeting was called at Temple because of the central location, but also because Temple is the headquarters for the first and largest soil conservation project in the country.

The association's program will be to effect a practical cooperation between the federal and state government and the farmer and to see that the most effective soil

Safe Cracking at Albany Unsolved

ALBANY, Sept. 4. (Sp1)—No definite clues have been found in the safe cracking of the Sanders Drug store here Wednesday night when the safe was knocked while the nightwatchman was elsewhere on his rounds.

Bills and checks totaling $692 were taken along with a diamond and some small change out of the cash register.

Entrance to the store was gained through a wired-glass skylight. The thief was evidently handicapped by lack of light as he left several bills lying on the floor. Loss was not discovered until Thursday morning when the owner's son came down to open the store.

Officers say all evidence points to this being a companion case to the safe cracking at Stamford about a month ago when approximately $1,000 and some diamond rings were stolen.

and water conservation program possible is put into effect in this state.

Joseph C. Peacock, formerly of Palestine, is executive secretary of the association which was organized early this summer in Austin. Temporary offices are in the Professional building, Temple.

The convention will be held in the Temple municipal auditorium with important state leaders in conservation work on the program.

Man Saved as Car Drives off Drawbridge

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 4. (AP)—Many an autoist has wondered what would happen if the drawbridge across the Oakland ship channel went up while he was driving across. Keith Singleton now knows.

Singleton was trapped there when a breaking cable separated him from a towcar which was taking his sedan to a garage. At the same time a tug and gaso-line-laden barge approached on a swift tide and whistled for the bridge to be lifted.

Fearing an explosion if the barge crashed, the bridge tender shouted to Singleton to run for his life and then started the hoisting mechanism. The motorist got to safety, the barge passed and the sedan tumbled into the bridge's supporting framework. It took a crane to get it out.

Rings Worth $3,580 Are Lost in Scuffle

MANITOU SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 4. (AP)—A friendly scuffle with another man cost L. P. P. Bottemer of Manitou Springs $3,580 in rings.

He took the rings off and placed them near a grating over a creek which runs through town, then engaged in the scuffle. When the playful fight ended Bottemer's rings were gone, apparently knocked through the grating and into the waters of the swift-moving mountain stream.

A Safety Tip FOR YOUR Labor Day Trip

TAPPING RUBBER TREES ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA
From the Firestone plantations in Liberia comes an ever-increasing supply of the world's finest rubber. Money saved here and in manufacturing and distribution enable Firestone to sell a safer, first-quality tire at lower prices.

Here's Why FIRESTONE STANDARD TIRES GIVE YOU MORE FOR YOUR MONEY

DON'T take chances on your Labor Day trip. Protect yourself and family by equipping your car with a set of new first-quality Firestone Standard Tires. Firestone builds extra quality and extra safety into these tires and sells them at lower prices because Firestone controls rubber and cotton supplies at their sources, manufactures with greater efficiency and distributes at lower cost.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord because every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping Process. This counteracts the internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because there are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING—because the tread is scientifically designed.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE—because of the extra-tough, long-wearing tread.

You need all of these features to make your car tire-safe on your Labor Day trip. Firestone gives them to you at lower cost. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires—today's top tire value.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON SMOOTH WORN TIRES!

DO YOU KNOW THAT last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 38,000 men, women and children? THAT a million more were injured? THAT more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to smooth, worn, unsafe tires?

As right is a section cut from a new Firestone tire. Note the thick, non-skid protection against skidding. It is a 2 1/2" wide puncture. Come in and see by actual demonstration.

In the second inning Red Front, scored their lone tally when Rylie doubled. Moffett struck out, Johnson was safe at first on Perot's error, Rylie scoring on the play.

The scoring for the night was finished in the last of the second round when Huestis tallied three times. Howsley, first up, was out to Van Horn. Perot walked. Shockey struck out. Sublett singled to score Perot, Wilkins hit to White, who erred, with Sublett scoring. Wilson tripled to left center, Wilkins scoring and then was caught at the plate when he tried stretch the hit into a home run.

The rest of the game saw the two teams settle down each playing brilliantly with few errors and plenty of thrilling plays by both.

Rylie made the only two base hits of the night and Wilson made the only triple. Sublett accounted for two of his team's six hits and Wilson's triple and single and singles by Bennie and Perot were the crop of the winner's hits.

Rylie issued one base on balls and Wilson gave up only one. Wilson struck out five while the opposing hurler whiffed three. Rylie allowed four earned runs while Wilson didn't allow any. Both pitchers made one wild pitch. The losers had three left on bases and the Sinclairs had four.

Umpires were Stamey, Moore and Monk. The time of the game was 62 minutes.

AUSTIN, Sept. 4.—Urging state-wide observance of the annual fire prevention week, Marvin Hall, fire insurance commissioner, has written over 425 mayors of Texas cities and towns requesting their continued support of what he terms a "most profitable and worthwhile civic project."

The week of October 3 to 9 has been chosen and appropriately named, Fire Prevention Week of 1937.

Adding impetus to the movement will be a proclamation issued by Governor Alford requesting cooperation and support from "every Texan interested in performing a distinct service to his state, to his community and to himself."

"Fire uncontrolled is one of the most serious problems that confronts us today," Hall declared in this letter to Texas mayors. "For years it has taken far too heavy a toll in life and property. May we suggest that you and your city officials, fire marshal, fire chief and his department begin making preparations at once for the proper observance of Fire Prevention Week this year."

Tersely expressing the theme of the week's activities, Hall wrote: "The fire that never starts will never get out of control. Fires can be controlled, but not until every single Texas citizen accepts fire prevention as his individual responsibility."

"Since fire losses have a direct bearing upon the fire insurance rates which the people pay," Hall explained, "there are a great many practical benefits accruing from effective fire prevention. Fire prevention is a habit and easily acquired; and it is most pleasant to practice, for by practicing it, a life may be saved or a disastrous fire prevented."

Calling for immediate action, Hall said: "Today, not tomorrow—for tomorrow it may be too late—is the time for you to call a fire prevention meeting. We suggest that you invite representative business men and women of your community, as well as school teachers, preachers and patriotic workers, and scouts. It is everyone's duty to prevent fires. Act today."

Herbert Dudley, Horace C. and S. P. Miller are spending day in Lamesa.

George Rogers Clark, American "frontiersman," began his life at 19, when he left home to come a surveyor of lands in the Ohio river.
