BID OF FIRST BAPTIST HERE IS ACCEPTED

Rev. Judson Prince Will Begin Pastorate October 17

The Rev. Judson Prince, pastor of the First Baptist church of Hamilton, Texas, has accepted the unanimous call of the congregation of the First Baptist church of Cisco to the Cisco pulpit, it was announced today.

The membership of the Cisco church met last night and voted without a dissenting voice to call the Rev. Mr. Prince to the place vacated by the Rev. E. S. James, who went recently to accept the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Vernon, Texas.

Welfare Ass'n Plans Biggest Year of Work

The Cisco Welfare association met at 10 o'clock this morning in the first meeting since new officers were elected last month.

There were 20 present at the meeting, each one representing some civic organization of the city.

Poultry Shipments at Low Season

AUSTIN, Oct. 7.—Shipments of poultry and eggs from Texas to interstate points normally approach the season's low during August, and this year was no exception, according to the bureau of business research of the University of Texas.

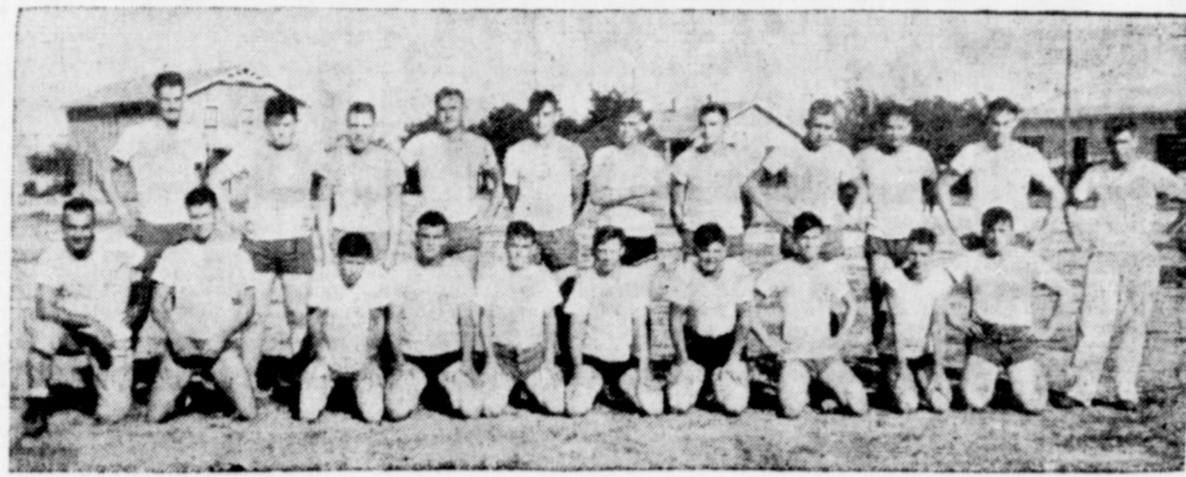

Shipments of poultry to interstate points totaled 38 cars, compared with 36 cars during August last year; and egg shipments totaled only 17 cars, against 37 cars a year ago.

Receipts of eggs from out-of-state points, five cars, compares with three cars a year ago. Three cars were received from Kansas and one each from Missouri and Oklahoma. Last year all three cars came from Missouri.

WINDSTORM AT ROME ROME, Oct. 7. (AP)—Violent windstorms drenched the city today with prolonged heavy rain and hail.

Mrs. W. E. Tyler of Rising Star was in Cisco this morning.

Old Age Pension Liberalizers In House Show Surprising Strength

YANKS WIN SECOND GAME

Score Identical With Series Opener

YANKEE STADIUM, N. Y., Oct. 7.—The New York Yankees, American League champions, were two-up on their World Series opponents, the Giants of the National League, today by identical score in the second game.

The Giants used three pitchers in an effort to halt the heavy-hitting Yanks. Melton, who started the game, was replaced by Gumbert in the fifth. Coffman relieved Gumbert in the seventh.

Bartell, Giant short stop, was the star of the game with his sensational catches of Yankee drives.

Red Ruffing went the route for the Yanks in the box.

Play by innings:

First Inning Giants—Moore went out swinging. Dick Bartell hit safely to short left field for a double. Ott lined a long single to deep right field scoring Bartell and then stretching the hit to a double. Ripple went out via the strikeout route. McCarthy struck out leaving Ott on second. Two hits, one run, no errors.

Yankees—Crosetti went out swinging. Rolfe was out on bouncer from short to first. Di Maggio's low line drive was taken.

Department Store Sales Show Gain

AUSTIN, Oct. 7. (Sp)—Department and apparel stores sales in Texas measured in dollars during August were well above those of both the preceding month and the corresponding month last year, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. Reports from one hundred Texas establishments show an increase in receipts of 10.7 per cent over August last year, the bureau's survey showed. The increase in sales during August over July was 13.2 per cent, whereas the normal seasonal gain is only 10 per cent.

Cities in which sales exceeded the state average in both comparable periods were: Abilene, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

Senate Economy Bloc Hammers Away for Reductions

AUSTIN, Oct. 7. (AP)—Old age pension liberalizers showed surprising strength in the house today in a move to return to committee the omnibus bill placing higher taxes on natural resources producers.

One side contended that pension liberalization efforts had been "stymied" by the revenue committee. The other faction censured liberalizers for joining with the "no tax" bloc.

The first attempt to send the proposal back to committee failed.

The economy bloc in the senate hammered away again in the attempt to reduce government costs instead of to raise more revenue.

The economy bloc won at least a temporary victory by forcing introduction of a bill, reducing departmental appropriations about $3,000,000.

ALLRED DEFERS ANSWER

AUSTIN, Oct. 7. (AP)—Gov. Allred today deferred answering senate demands for reconsideration of appropriations until he makes a radio address Friday night at 8:30.

"I suggest you query Crowley about that," was Allred's reply to the statement of Sen. Halbrook of Galveston, that Karl Crowley, solicitor-general of the post office department, had telephoned him that he and Farley were tired of Allred's using "our bandwagon."

Garr Brothers Go On Trial October 18

SHELBYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 7. (AP)—The Garr brothers—Jack, Roy and Dr. E. S.—will go on trial Monday, October 18, on indictments charging them with the murder of Brig. Gen. Harry Denhardt. The trial date was set today.

KILLED IN EXPLOSION

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—Trapped in an inferno of live steam, two ship's officers were killed and six others were scalded badly Wednesday when the six-inch main valve on the Clyde Mallory liner Brazos exploded. Two firemen were burned when they plunged down into the steam-boiling depths of the ship in a rescue attempt.

Mrs. E. A. Wilson is visiting her son, Tommie Wilson, student at the University in Texas, in Austin.

MRS. BURNETT IS RE-ELECTED

Heads Association Auxiliary Again

Mrs. J. R. Burnett was re-elected president and Mrs. Van Gardenhire, corresponding secretary of the Womens auxiliary of the Cisco Baptist association in the 54th annual meeting at Carbon Wednesday.

During the business meeting an offering was taken for the restoration of the oldest Baptist church in Texas located at Independence.

Ciscoans who attended were Mrs. T. H. Chumney, A. N. Swindle, C. P. Cole, Van Gardenhire, J. R. Burnett, W. H. LaRoque, G. B. Langston, Ed Thurman, Spurgeon Parks, James Huddleston, C. A. Farquhar, Carrol Surles, Lee Elkins, H. D. Blair and Rev. Blair.

Cisco Students to Hold Pep Rally

Cisco high school students will hold a pep rally at the high school at 7 o'clock this evening preceding the game with the Big Spring Steers at Chesley field tomorrow afternoon. The Lobo band will play, and there will be yells and pep talks.

Joe Stamey and Scrippy Cluck have been named mascots of the Lobo football team. Each is four years of age, one the son of the high school principal and wife, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Stamey, and the other the daughter of Supt. and Mrs. R. N. Cluck. Each will be dressed in pep squad uniforms, similar to those worn by the pep leaders.

Novelty Program for Rotary Club

The Cisco Rotary club today enjoyed a novelty program directed by the Rev. M. H. Applewhite, general program chairman who had charge of the program for the day.

The club welcomed two new members—Coach J. T. Petty and Bandmaster R. L. Maddox of the high school. Visitors included T. J. Kirven of Jackson, Ala.; Albert Taylor, Eastland banker, and Ralph Barton, director of industrial vocational education of the high school.

Mr. Kirven is a brother-in-law of F. D. Wright, whose guest he was.

JAP LEADERS 'BEWILDERED' BY FD STAND

Statesmen Gather in Tokyo to Discuss Condemnation

Tokyo statesmen assembled today to discuss the United States' condemnation of Japan's invasion of China while Great Britain and France began an exchange of views with Washington on the convocation of the nine-power conference aimed to curb Far East hostilities.

Tokyo was not expected to reply immediately to the American statement accusing Japan of violating the nine-power pact guaranteeing China's territorial integrity.

A Japanese official said: "We are surprised and bewildered."

General Sugiyama, Japanese war minister, said: "Countries that are talking loftily about justice and humanity are supplying China with dum-dum bullets."

In London the possibility was advanced that the nine-power conference might be held in Washington.

London powers considered "decisive action" unless Mussolini replied promptly to the invitation to confer with France and England on the withdrawal of foreign soldiers from Spain.

The Japanese flagship Idzumo sent shells over the International settlement in an effort to move the Chinese from their positions. Shells fell near the American marines.

More than 500 civilians were reported killed in bombing raids of Japanese warplanes in the Kwangung province.

Midgets Play Eastland Team This Afternoon

C. C. Duff, principal of the Cisco grammar school, announced today that the Midget football team will take on a tough aggregation at Eastland this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The Midgets won the first game of the season last week when they played the Moran pups, winning by a close 7-6 score. This was the first game to be played on the turf of the new stadium. The Midgets have been working hard on their plays this week and have ironed out several weaknesses that showed up in last Thursday's game. They have high hopes of winning their game this afternoon.

It was also announced that a pep squad of around 50 would accompany the team to help cheer them on to victory. The grammar school expects to have a band in the near future and sponsors of the project are working toward that end.

Two New Members VFW Post Initiated

Two new members of the Cisco post VFW were initiated at the regular meeting Wednesday night, when Veterans Jesse H. Lancaster and Kelly Hatton were admitted to that organization.

At this meeting it was planned to elect officers for the ensuing term, but as the officers can be elected at any meeting in October it was decided to postpone this ceremony until a later meeting. There were 30 present from Cisco, Eastland, Gorman, Rising Star and Moran.

LOBOES MEET STEERS AT 3 FRIDAY P. M.

Short Program for New Stadium Will Precede Game

Cisco business men today were exhibiting a wonderful spirit of cooperation with plans for dedication of the new football stadium tomorrow afternoon when the Loboes meet the Big Spring Steers in their first home game and the first high school football game to be played on the new gridiron at Chesley field.

A committee, consisting of Hal Dyer and Rex Carrothers had secured by midmorning a list of signatures to an agreement to close at 3 o'clock for the dedication program and game that was several pages in length. Even the service stations, shoe repair shops and other businesses which normally do not close were agreeing to do so.

There was practical assurance that the Cisco business district would be almost entirely closed when the program begins at 3 o'clock.

This program will get underway promptly at 3, school officials said, in order to cooperate as fully with the business men as they are demonstrating their wish to cooperate with the school. Stadium gates will close during the dedication.

Garrett to Speak

Congressman Clyde L. Garrett is scheduled to make the principal speech for the dedicatory exercises, while a member of the school board will also speak. There will be a review of the Lobo football history and music by the Lobo band under the direction of R. L. Maddox. The entire program, however, will not consume more than 20 minutes, it was promised.

The new stadium, of concrete and steel with board seats, is one of the best in the district. Its seating capacity is now 4,000, although this can be trebled if future Lobo gridiron successes demand it to take care of the crowds.

Cost of the stadium was $15,000 of which the schools paid approximately one-third, the remainder being borne by the WPA. The playing field has been tur-

West Ward P.-T. A. Preparing Spooks for Halloween

Did you ever see a nightmare walking? Well, carry your rabbit's foot on Halloween when you come to the Country Store on Sixth street, because there is no telling what you'll see! There is a rumor about that a mystery man will be in town, but the West Ward P.-T.A. isn't answering any questions about him. It is too busy gathering in stock to fill the shelves to overflowing, so that there will be a big bargain for everybody in getting rid of its stock, either, because everybody who was lucky enough to squeeze into the store before it was emptied last year is going to be lined up long before opening time hoping to claim a bridge-lamp or a pair of silk hose or at least a big, beautiful jar of Mrs. Smith's famous strawberry jam or Mrs. Jones' well-known peach pickles.

And it won't be tedious waiting for the doors to open, for one

Mickey Mouse Is Teachers' Helper

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 7. (AP)—Comic strips now are offered Laramie school children to whet their appetites for knowledge. Mickey Mouse, says A. A. Slade, superintendent of public schools, is America's No. 1 public hero. "The children know him as a movie star, a comic strip hero, and so they have a warm interest in him," Slade says. "Children learn to read more quickly if they read about familiar things." "So Mickey Mouse, Minnie Mouse, Donald Duck, Benjamin Bull and a host of lesser stars of the comic strips will be brought to the classrooms as supplement-of the Southland's finest bands has promised to gladden the night air with their sweet strains. It is the Rhythm band of west ward school, dashing in their neat red and white uniforms with oodles of buttons down the front, and armed with drums, triangles, cymbals and a determination to make mother and daddy proud of their child. There will be other amusements, too, to satisfy the young, old and middleaged both before and after the bargain sale—booths where you can get $5 thrills for a nickel, tubs where youthful Joe E. Browns and Martha Rayes can bump heads trying for the same apple, and fortune tellers who will tell you whether a dark or a light man is about to cross your path, and what to do about it. Nobody need go out of Cisco Hallway to have all the fun anybody needs, and we hope and expect that many, many of our friends out of Cisco will plan to be in town that night. The play to be given by the grammar school will be an added attraction, and will not conflict in any way with attendance at and enjoyment of the Country Store and its sideshows. Miss Estes' art students and Mr. Henry Schaefer, patron and benefactor of the P.-T.A. are collaborating to turn out some good-looking and informational posters, so watch for them to secure additional and detailed information. Mr. E. P. Crawford has kindly submitted to having a window display in the office next to his, too, so that the coming event may cast its spooky shadow before. Will you be looking for it.—Reporter.

 lebacked and sodded and is in excellent condition. Team in High Spirits
 The coaches report that they have never seen the boys in so excellent of spirits and that they were straining at the leash as game time approached. Most of the boys are in good shape and they feel more confident of a win than they have ever felt with the desire to win the first game to be played on the new turf to spur them on. With several changes in the lineup, the team will be able to put a much stronger team against the Steers than they have been able to throw against any opponent so far this season. The backfield will be strengthened by the addition of Curtis Yancey, a hard charging ball carrier and Odell Harrison, one of the Harrison boys who makes his specialty scattling around enemy ends for long gains. Marcell, the brother and twin of Odell will probably be in there at end displaying his special brand of vicious tackling. The coaches are not taking Big Spring too lightly knowing that Eastland had to resort to the air to defeat them and that they will have a decided weight advantage over the Lobos. Should Big Spring start tossing the pigskin around this week, the Lobo mentors believe that they will have a fairly adequate defense ready for them. A week of hard training has had its results and the Lobos are better prepared for this game than any previous one and will give no excuse if they lose except that their opponents just had a better team. The New York, Chicago and Los Angeles public libraries all circulate more than 10,000,000 books a year. Use tinted coconut to decorate cakes and frostings.

FD HINTS OF NEW SESSION

GRANDFORKS, N. D., Oct. 7. (AP)—In an address strongly hinting at a special session of congress, President Roosevelt asserted Monday that surplus crop control legislation "ought to be passed at the earliest possible moment."

Mentioning the supreme court for the first time on his western trip, he disagreed with its majority ruling invalidating the AAA form of production control.

He said he felt certain that congress will heed the wish of most of the farmers in enacting control legislation. He said because legislation was not passed last session it was too late for it to "have any bearing on winter wheat which is now in the ground."

Hedges Should Be Planted About
November 15th

This is the seven in a series of articles appearing in the Cisco Daily Press and written

By J. B. F. WRIGHT
Planting time will soon be here so get ready by preparing your ground and beds. Get the soil dug up and thoroughly pulverized. If your soil is too poor have some hauled, like good leaf mold or good loam, something that will not bake and that has productive qualities and that will grow shrubs and plants. Several have already told me they were planning on planting hedge. Now is a good time to get ready for this work by digging a trench ditch, say about 18 inches deep and about 18 inches wide. If your soil is poor have some good soil hauled and pile it up near by so when you set your hedge about Nov. 15 you can fill in this ditch with the soil.

Now when you plant your hedge set the plants about two feet apart in this ditch and fill about three-fourths full of soil. Then give it a good soaking. When the water soaks up finish filling, leaving it lower than the sides so water will run down so you can water it as it takes a lot of water for a hedge.

I have different catalogues of shrubs and plants, etc., and will be glad to assist you in any way I can to get you your stocks. This is all free service as I get no commission from anyone. It's a pleasure to me to be able to advise and help my good people who have proved their ability to serve, so be free to call on me at 306 West 8th or phone 74.

Now as to the kind of hedge to plant. If you want to grow a tall hedge, I recommend the Amour privet, like that around the P. L. Hoffman home on 7th street. If you want a low hedge that will trim up beautifully the California privet is the most graceful as the hedge at the new telephone building. The Amour River privet is the more hardy and will not freeze nearly so easily as the California, though it is more susceptible to red spiders and other insects than the California. Each has its advantages over the other. There are several other shrubs that will make hedges, but the privets are the best specimens when planted in corners and wide spaces about the house. You can trim them any shape and they will look good, square or round or oval and the beauty of hedge is that you can change it anytime by trimming it anyway you want to. Nothing add to the beauty of a house more than a well kept hedge. See the Hoffman and O'Brien homes on Seventh street for the two different styles.

VIOLATORS OF TREATIES ARE SCORED BY FD

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—President Roosevelt bitterly arraigned aggressor nations before the bar of world opinion Tuesday and called upon peace loving countries to join in a "concerted effort" to restore international tranquility.

Withholding any definite proposals for an international conference or invocation of peace pacts, the president asserted in dedicating the bridge here: "There must be positive endeavors to preserve peace." He said that America was determined to stay out of war and would not remain aloof from these efforts.

Gunsight Was Host To Singers Sunday

One of the queries in Specs column recently was: "What has become of the old-fashioned all-day singings with dinner on the grounds?" John Dill answers the query by saying: "They have moved their places of meeting from the towns to the country, where there is something to eat."

Supporting this statement he told of two recent singings held near Cisco. About three weeks ago there was a most successful songfest held at Hodnett grove, south of Cisco, and last Sunday another big singing meet was held at Gunsight. At both places, Dill said, there were a large number in attendance, and many prominent singers. A splendid dinner was served at each meeting, and a most enjoyable day was spent.

Among those attending from in and near Cisco, Dill said, were Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Robinson, Don Rupe and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Clark, John Dill and family and large delegations from Dan Horn and other communities in the Cisco country were at Gunsight.

On the fifth Sunday in October the singers will hold their meeting in Cisco he said.

Ass'n to Pay
93 and 87 Cents
for Peanuts

The Southwestern Peanut Growers association will pay 93 cents per bushel for Number one farmers stock peanuts and 87 cents for number two as soon as the association begins operation within the next few days, according to W. B. Starr, president. Mr. Starr advises that these prices have been approved by the secretary of agriculture.

Number one peanuts contain 70 per cent or more sound meats while number two contain 65 per cent to 69 per cent sound meats. Mr. Starr also advised that within a few days locations of bonded warehouses, where buyers will be located to buy peanuts, will be announced.

Directors of the association met Thursday, Sept. 2, and changed their membership plan from one-half cent per bushel per peanuts produced to seven and one-half cents per acre per peanuts grown. A membership drive will be held in Eastland county October 14-16 for the purpose of enrolling growers in the association. Key peanut growers of the county will meet in the court house, Eastland on Monday night, October 11, to map a membership drive for Eastland county. Similar drives are being held in each central peanut growing county.

Argues With Actor

LENINGRAD, Oct. 7. (AP)—A member of the audience was so carried away by an espionage play in the Gorky House of Culture here that he shouted defiance from his seat to the actor in the role of a spy.

The scene was the office of an official who was questioning a foreign spy before trial.

"We have thousands of secret spies," the prisoner said.

That was the cue for a sharp voice in the audience to shout: "We have millions of open spies and you can't escape us anywhere."

the dark ships

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Neill, a young federal agent, finds his beloved Janet, a gun and Prescott Fanning's freshly shot body locked in a cabin on Fanning's yacht at Absalom's Harbor, Md. Neill hides her nearby in a disguised liner, then joins Mark Bonniger, local investigator. When Neill learns Janet didn't shoot the flashy swindler, he suspects queer little Eyster, who hated Fanning. Also on hand are Kettering, a Baltimore lawyer, and Ira Buckless, a tough who trails Neill. The dark ships are searched, but Neill and Janet cleverly dodge the searchers. Neill is having a friendly chat with Bonniger when they are hailed from the yacht. They row out.

Chapter 32 Buckless Talks

They went aboard. The lights were off. Their electric torches revealed that the doors of the forward hatch, the dining saloon and the after companionway had all been forced. Down below, the yacht was a scene of wreckage. At first glance it appeared as if somebody had wantonly torn and smashed his way through the cabins, but upon closer examination it was clear that there had been a painstaking search for something.

Neill thought: Buckless! "What was he looking for?" asked Wilson.

"Some loot that Fanning had or that the murderer thought he had," said Bonniger. "Judging from the general ruin, he didn't find it. That's all to the good." Bonniger was only one step from the truth.

"He was scared off on the night of the murder," Bonniger went on, "and tonight he came back to look again for it."

Forsythe said: "I think I scared him off this time too, sir. When I was rowing out I heard oars up the inlet. But by the time I had got aboard, he had landed."

Longcope, Wilson and Truman rowed back to the shore, the sergeant to spread what men he had to search through the village. Bonniger and Neill remained on board to make a closer examination. It was evident that the man had worn gloves because there were no fingerprints to be found anywhere. He had torn up the carpets, slit the mattresses and cut open the pillows. He had even gone down into the bilge under the cabin floors. Here he ran into some grease, for they found the print of a whole hand under a hatch cover.

"He was wearing gloves, sure enough," said Bonniger examining it. "Pigskin gloves of all things!"

There was nothing more to be done aboard. Forsythe put Bonniger and Neill ashore in the dinghy and returned to his post. The news had spread around the village and a small crowd of men in various stages of undress was waiting on the wharf. Newspaper men and villagers. They fired questions at Bonniger. He led them across the road and into the store to look them over under the lights.

Kettering was in the thick of the crowd and on the edge slouched the uncouth figure of Ira Buckless. Neill edged around behind the latter without attracting his notice. Buckless was closely attending to the questions the reporters were asking and Bonniger's answers. Neill took note of a bulge in the righthand pocket of his jacket, and with delicate fingers pulled the pocket open a little. Inside lay grease-stained pigskin gloves.

Neill moved away from him. He had no intention of passing on the tip to Bonniger. He could not risk a show-down until he had proof that Buckless was the killer.

However, Bonniger's keen glance picked Buckless out as the only completely dressed man in the crowd before him. "Hey you, whatever your name is—I mean the big fellow there," he said sternly. "I'd like to ask you a few questions. Come back into the office with me, will you?"

Buckless looked around scowling, made up his mind that escape was impossible and, pushing through the crowd, went with Bonniger. Neill remained in the background. Anxious as he was to keep in touch with what was going on, he knew that for him to be present at this scene would only precipitate disaster.

The Soiled Gloves
 Virgil, uneasy about the fingers in his cracker boxes, was shepherding the crowd out on the porch. As the floor cleared, Neill saw a pair of soiled, trampled gloves lying there. Virgil pounced on them. "Here! Here!" he cried running to the office with them.

Neill went into the hotel and paced his room in a torment of suspense. What was going to come of this interview? During the last two days Buckless had had reasons of his own for keeping his mouth shut about Janet, but Bonniger was pretty sure to get him in a corner.

And what then?
 In a few minutes there was a knock on the door. When he opened it, Neill stiffened at the sight of the waiting constable. The man said: "Mr. Bonniger says he's sorry to disturb you, but will you please come down to the store?"

The crowd was still hanging around the store when Neill passed in, talking over what had happened in low voices. He saw Eyster in the group with the top of his pajamas tucked in his pants. Eyster grinned at him in his crazy fashion, and nodded to assure Neill that he could depend on him.

Neill entered the little office at the back. Bonniger was there with Sergeant Wilson, Kettering and the hulking Buckless. Bonniger's greeting was unchanged. So nothing serious could have happened yet. Buckless on the other hand was sweating and uneasy. Kettering's face wore its usual pleasant mask. The soiled gloves lay on the desk. Bonniger said:

"I picked up this fellow on suspicion of having broken into the yacht. He swears he has never been aboard her."

Neill coolly looked Buckless over. The big fellow showed his teeth.

"The gloves were picked up on the floor of the store," Bonniger continued. "Anybody in the crowd might have dropped them. I have no proof as yet that this is the man we want, but I have trapped him into an admission that he knew Fanning, and I have decided to take him into custody until I find out how much he does know."

"How can I help you?" asked Neill.

Bonniger smiled. "He has intimated that you know more about this case than you have let on."

"The usual red herring," said Neill easily.

"Sure. But I thought you wouldn't mind confronting him."

"Certainly not. Why does he pick on me?"

"Aah! you're a cool hand all right," growled Buckless. "You know what I know about you!"

There was nothing for Neill to do but brazen it out. "Well, spill it!" he said.

"This guy is a federal agent," Buckless said to Bonniger. "I don't know what his right name may be, but he goes in the department by the name of Neill Tryon."

"I know it," said Bonniger. "So what?"

"He knows the girl in this case," Neill laughed out. "That's a good one!"

Kettering led the laughter of the others. But support from this quarter only angered Neill.

Looking for Revenge
 "She was his girl," Buckless asserted. "Fanning took her away from him, and he was looking for revenge!"

"How do you know all this?" asked Bonniger.

"Fanning himself told me."

"How did you know that this was the man called Neill Tryon?"

"I seen him in Fanning's company Monday night."

"Under what circumstances?"

"I went to Fanning's room to report..."

"Just a minute. What were your relations with Fanning?"

"I worked for him."

"In what capacity?"

"Body-guard."

"Body-guard?"

"That's what I said. Fanning was a slick business man, and when he out-smarted a man sometimes the fellow would get sore and lay for him, and it was my job to protect him, see?"

"Ask him what Fanning's business was," put in Kettering.

"You heard the question," said Bonniger.

Buckless turned wary. "I don't know. Fanning was a slick operator, and I was just his strong-arm guy. He never told me nothing about his business and I never asked."

"Which may or may not be true," said Bonniger. "Let's go back a little. You say you went to his room Monday night to report."

"Yeah. And he says, 'Ira,' he says, 'I got a guy here who's entirely too nosy and I can't figure what he's after. Take a look at him through the door.' I takes a squint and I says: 'I never seen him before, boss, but I get he's one of these college-boy federal dicks. I can smell out them buzzards.'"

Kettering laughed heartily. "And then what?" asked Bonniger.

"That was all at the time," said Buckless. "But I seen Fanning again couple hours later and he says to me: 'Ira, you was right about that guy. I been through his pockets since I seen you and had a look at his papers.' And I says to Fanning: 'What the hell have the federals got on you, boss?' And he says: 'Not a thing in the world, Ira! It's a personal matter with that guy. His doll has fallen for me. Is that my fault?' And he laughed. He showed me a picture of the doll that he had took out of Tryon's pocket."

All Buckless' hearers laughed together. Bonniger said:

"Have you any proof of this yarn?"

"Only what I'm telling you," growled Buckless.

"Well, as the self-confessed strong-arm man for a swindler, your word doesn't carry much weight."
