HITLER COUP IS APPROVED AS RIGHTFUL

Speech Reply to Italian Doubts Over German Expansion

ROME, March 16 (AP)—Benito Mussolini promised his people that the pan-German expansion would never penetrate Italian frontiers, but at the same time pronounced benediction on Adolf Hitler's absorption of Austria.

"Our frontiers are sacred," Mussolini told the chamber deputies. "We will not discuss them. We will defend them."

The speech was Mussolini's reply to doubts of his own people over the expansion of Germany. Mussolini said it would have been "historical and political absurdity" for Austria, a German state, to have remained independent and anti-German.

ULTIMATUM PROMPTS HITLER'S RETURN

BERLIN, March 16 (AP)—A German army source said today that Reichsfuehrer Hitler returned hurriedly to Berlin because he had received word that Poland had presented an ultimatum to Lithuania expiring late today.

Details of the ultimatum were not known but it was believed they were based on the frontier clash March 11 for which Poland was demanding satisfaction.

FORMER VICE-CHANCELLOR KILLS HIMSELF AND FAMILY

VIENNA, March 16 (AP)—Major Emil Fey, former anti-Nazi vice-chancellor of Austria, was reported today to have killed himself, his wife, Malvina, and their son, Herbert, rather than face the future in nazified Austria.

C. C. Approves New Stock Show Plan

The Cisco chamber of commerce board of directors last night adopted a new plan for the annual county stock show, approving a schedule set up by T. G. Caudle, vocational agriculture director, which would confine the premium lists to entries by FFA boys, excluding professional breeders.

An appropriation of $250 for the premium list under the new program, was approved.

Mr. Caudle explained that the new plan would likely prove far more satisfying in encouraging the development of well bred livestock in the Cisco territory. Plans for raising the fund for the conduct of the show will be made at a later date. Suggestion that the chamber sponsor the building of a permanent show headquarters on some city property was discussed. No action was taken on this.

The directors heard a report from its Fourth of July committee on tentative plans for the Fourth of July celebration to be held at Lake Cisco in conjunction with the Lake Cisco Amusement company. A three-day program is being worked out, the board was told.

Attending the meeting were President Nance, Directors Butler, Collins, Crawford, Hale, Lauderdale, Nance, Poe, Ponsler Sandler, Smith and Wood and Sec'y Spencer.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

O give thanks unto the Lord; call upon his name; tell the people what things he hath done. And he brought forth his people with joy, and his chosen with gladness.—Ps. cv. 1, 43.

Up the east another day
Shall chase the bitter dawn away;
What though our eyes with tears be wet,
The sunrise never failed us yet.
—CECIL THAXTER.

The joy of faith in its inspiration and emotion is wonderfully renewed from the divine hand. "The Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory." The Gospels are full of these positive and radiant assurances that reveal with the most absolute confidence of joy and trust.—Lilian Whiting.

Frictionless Roads

THE public was somewhat shell-shocked by Senator Robert J. Bulkeley's plan to spend $3,000,000,000 for a federal gridiron of modern highways, to be paid for by traffic tolls. But Miller McClintock, director of the Harvard university bureau of street traffic research, seems to think that is just trifling with the problem. He would scrap the whole $3,000,000,000 miles of American highways, which cost about $15,000,000,000, and build them anew with modern engineering throughout. What that would cost is anybody's guess. It might be $50,000,000,000.

It should be granted, however, that Mr. McClintock knows his traffic engineering, even if he seems a bit wild financially. He says the cause of our appalling traffic accidents and deaths is "friction," and the remedy is simply to eliminate the friction between streams of traffic. Friction, he explains, develops four kinds of friction: First, internal stream friction, the friction of cars going in the same direction at varying speeds. Second, intersectional friction, where two streams of traffic cross. Third, medial friction, where two opposing lanes of traffic scrape or get into head-on collisions, because the lanes are not separated properly. Fourth, marginal friction, caused by impediments at the edges of roads or streets, a flow off the road onto bad shoulders or against parked cars or fixed objects at the edges.

He would rebuild the country's streets and highways to eliminate all these. There would be safe speed lanes to prevent the internal stream friction, divideway streets and roads to avoid the medial friction, smooth boundary abutments to avoid the marginal friction, and overpasses and underpasses to avoid the intersectional friction. All these principles seem to be included in Senator Bulkeley's plan, but it is intended only for rural highways.

More Arms, Less Trade

THE Deutsche Volkswirt, semi-official publication in Berlin, expresses alarm about the decrease of German exports. They fell 19 per cent in January and continued their decline last month. Many reasons are given, such as the "foreign political situation," the American depression, the war in the Far East, and so on. And it is urged by German economists, as it has been in the past, that the export industry must have preference for a while over armament. But Chancellor Hitler calls for more and more armament. Worse still, Hitler continues alienating Germany's neighbors and friends by threats of aggression, thereby losing good customers. Al Smith could tell him that he "can't have it both ways."

The Americans Get Together

PAN-AMERICAN DAY on April 14 may not mean as much to North Americans as it might, but there are signs that it will mean more in future years. This country has begun to take notice of its sister republics to the south. By years of indifference and neglect we have nearly lost to European governments the friendship, trade opportunities and cultural values which might be ours. Lately we have changed from the big-brother to the good-neighbor attitude. Our travelers are turning with increasing enthusiasm to the unfamiliar lands and peoples of South America. With trade choked off in other parts of the world, our commercial interests are suddenly more aware of possible customers in this hemisphere.

In spite of their long distrust of so powerful a neighbor, the South Americans have responded with amazing friendliness to these first overtures. Many of their business men have been coming recently to get acquainted with ours. Families long accustomed to sending their children to Europe for education now send them here. All these things are mere beginnings. Hard as it may be for us to understand, some of our Latin-American neighbors have regarded this country as a young upstart and have looked to the Old World for their models in art, education, fashion and pleasure. Our own attitude has created a needless handicap for us to overcome, but location and community of interests now work in our favor.

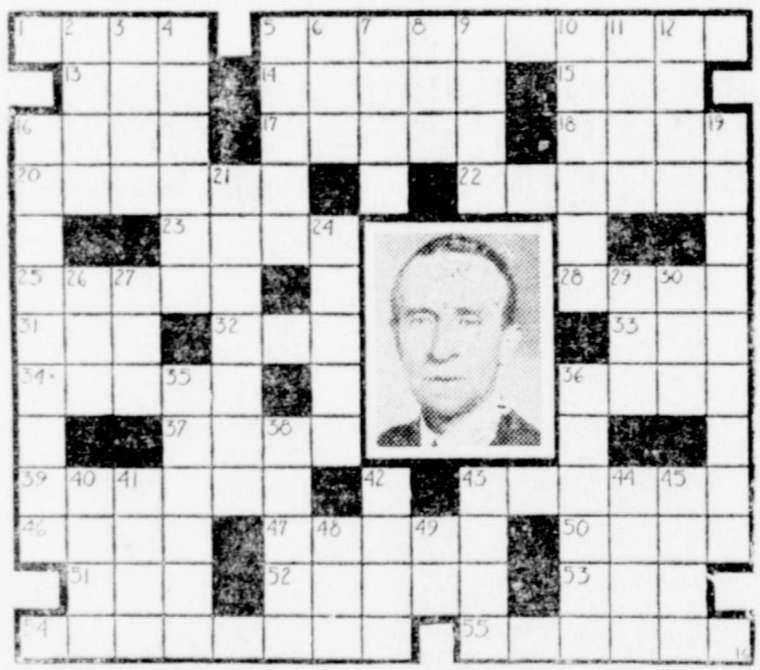

Germany decrees that henceforth no names shall be changed without permission. So a Roseberg by any other name isn't just as sweet?

Two new second-string gubernatorial candidates posted their $100 fee. They are S. T. Brogdon, Stephenville architect, and Joseph King, Houston tavern operator. Vann Kennedy, state democratic committee secretary, declared he is offering the biggest advertising bargain, publishing any man's name to a "million circulation" (the ballots) for $100.

Most political activity in Austin this week was behind the scenes, as Bill McCraw and Ernest Thompson were busy with intensive organization work, preparatory to launching platforms and active campaigns about April 1. Thompson, conferred here with Myron Blalock, of Marshall, chairman of the democratic state committee, who is reported getting ready to manage the red-headed Amarillon's campaign for governor. McCraw filed an anti-trust suit against six Texas cement companies, alleging price fixing in violation of state laws, and seeking penalties which could total a maximum of $30,000,000 if conviction is had.

An injunction asked by Community Natural Gas company, restraining the commission from interfering in certain gas rate hearings, Jurisdiction of the two courts and the power of one district court to interfere with orders of another are questions involved.

Today a roarin' lion, the wind's a lamb tomorrow; the days hold winter crispness yet, and summer swelter borrow; the temperature plays see-saw — who knows just what to wear? to go in cloak and muffler, or negligee and bare? We expect the unexpected, and take it as it comes, the tap of gentle rainfall, or roar of stormy drums; snow may be round the corner, soon April makes its bow; it's neither June nor January, it's March that's with us now.

RUSSIANS EXECUTED
MOSCOW, March 16 (AP)—The execution of 18 confessed conspirators against Soviet Russia was officially announced last night. A terse communique announced the death sentences, imposed at the end of Moscow's greatest treason trial March 13, had been carried out without disclosing the exact time or place.

The Trojan war lasted 10 years.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON, March 16.

Unimpeachable Note—Senator Josh Lee, "woy orator" of Oklahoma, says the objections raised against his bill to make the profits out of war are "about as thin as soup made from the shadow of a pigeon's wing that died of starvation."

Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico has introduced a bill proposing construction of a natural broadcasting station near San Diego to disseminate friendly propaganda among the Latin American neighbors southward. Chavez, New Mexico-San Diego—that Latin combination can't be surpassed for Spanish-tongued ears.

Quaking Note—After the 1906 earthquake which roused up San Francisco, the government established concrete monuments for 200 miles along the San Andreas fault line in California. By measuring how the measurements had twisted or slanted each five years it was planned to get data on when the next slip would occur. Not since 1929 have they been surveyed, and Rep. Tolson of California won house approval for an appropriation of $4,400 for a new survey. With this survey, he said, the government "will have facts and data that might save thousands of human lives." But a strident committee, less alarmed, smothered it out.

Fewer Cans And Bottles

The thousand sizes of cans and bottles on grocers' shelves would be reduced to about ten under a bill which Rep. Harry Southof of Wisconsin is defending before the House committee on coinage, weights and measures. The idea of a few uniform sizes of cans and bottles has been supported by cooperative food stores many years.

Where's John? Note—Rep. Hoffman, Michigan republican, was invited to talk to a group of hoosier workers in Reading, Penn. At Baltimore a policeman intercepted him with a request to call his Washington office. There was a telegram signed Raymond B. Troutman advising him "internal democracy" had caused the meeting to be cancelled. He returned to Washington only to learn two days later that the real Raymond B. Troutman, a hoosier magazine editor, had not sent such a telegram and was disappointed when Hoffman failed to appear before him. He says personal investigation disclosed a mysterious "John" had sent the telegram.

Country Boys Scored

Your favorite congressman may be great shakes out in Wagon-wheel Gap out a Washingtonian wrote this about the boys in a letter to a local paper:
"It is about time that these hick congressmen are brought to realize that they may be big splurges in the sticks, but in the nation's capital they are just ordinary persons and have no license to disregard the traffic or any other regulations." So there.

Rep. Merritt of New York has written to the commanding officer

As those who have read this department, books which are the precious hand-out, pretty rough treatment, been bought usually as a whole was usually any writer in the manner first time, in May Sarton's "The Hound" the result of a psychological study overlook a differentiated style.

Miss Sarton starts off of three women past teaching a small and school in the "Hound" Ghent. She is met by Daro, who is a long, lashed slender woman, as Jean Lator, the blonde, the housewife, who holds and earned to go long.

If there is a reader finishing Miss Sarton's not know these most household perfect, most insatiable, den, Pascal, the out, stippled with points of light through the trees, the pupils, all these in a curiously interesting manner.

Then there is Mark, Englishman of French is a poet and who also himself up in his own. Normally young men under those circumstances the dull side, but Miss Sarton had the sense to make a man, not a woman. He is a perfectly substantial character and does not seem well as with his own when, for example, in a painter with the new swan's.

PLANT LICE (Aphides) AND THEIR CONTROL

Plum trees, evergreens, roses, garden crops, in fact all classes of plants are subject to infestations at various times by small, soft bodied plant lice, known as aphides. Each group or family of plants is attacked by a different type or family of aphides. These Eastland county farmers and ranchers used approximately half a carload of poison materials and the estimated need this year is a full carload. An inspection made in the state by Reppert last fall indicated three times the 1937 infestation could be expected in 1938. Nothing has intervened since that time to relieve the situation.

In state legislatures in 1937 there were 140 women in 25 states.

ONLY YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE

Does Spring begin on March 20th?... or on the 21st? "Begin it today!" pleads your engine. "Bleed out my Winter-poisoned oil. But this Spring help me with more than an oil-change. Change to Your Mileage Merchant! And that's changing to Conoco Germ Processed oil—the only way to change me into an OIL-PLATED engine." You want this modern exclusive OIL-PLATING because especially in Summer your steady driving demands more than the plain old type of oil-film that slithers OFF the working parts like drops of quicksilver. Exactly the opposite is achieved by the Germ Process—patented. It makes droplets of oil act like a billion tiny suction cups, powerfully attracted and OIL-PLATED to every working surface... Never draining down, never inviting friction, no matter how many thousands of starts and thousands of miles you make all Spring and Summer. And you'll notice Germ Processed oil sticking so close to "Full"—even in older cars—that you'll want to be sticking to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Company

Five Suit Bridge Latest Novelty in Card Playing

LONDON, March 16—Five-suit bridge, in which the royal family has evidenced some interest, is the latest novelty among British card players.

The deck is the invention of a Viennese scientist, Dr. Marculin, with rules written by Dr. Paul Stern of the champion Austrian champion bridge team.

The extra suit is called "leaf" or "green" in Austria, but when it was played experimentally in London it was called "wavy." The design of the new suit is usually like that of the regular denominations, such as spades, hearts, diamonds or clubs, but in a contrasting color—green or blue with gold crowns in two opposite corners.

The pack consists of 53 cards, giving each player 13 cards, with one card over. The dealer has the privilege of exchanging any card in his hand or the dummy for the extra one. Game is 120 points. Diamonds and clubs are worth 20 points per trick, hearts and spades 25, wavy 30 and no-trumps 40. Eight tricks must be made before a player starts scoring for contract.

instead of six tricks as in the standard game.
A small slam consists of all tricks except two, with extra-trick bonuses of 500 non-vulnerable and 750 vulnerable. A grand slam is all tricks except one, with bonuses of 1,000 and 1,500, respectively.

A super-slam is all 16 tricks, with bonuses of 1,500 and 2,000, respectively. Four aces in one hand at no-trumps score 150 and five aces 300. Penalties are the same as in ordinary contract.

LOVE LAUGHS THE DOCTOR

CHARACTERS
MISS MAIDWELL— maid-in-
THE BY-ALL-
 he met his most cherry hat and bag and her old Gray squirrel jacket. . . . But, no,
 the cleaner and had not yet come back. . . . Another $5 when it does, Constance thought. She must have that job.
 She smoothed gray silk stockings
 over her slim ankles and put on gray suede shoes and the peach cherry colored hat. Then, in the end, she took down the bouffant gray coat which had been her greatest extravagance, with the
 the soft flare of fur at the neck and buttoned closely up at the shoulders and full young breasts.
 Picking up the cherry bag she went out into the crisp air, swiftly,
 before her heart failed her.
 Daimler's was only five blocks from her apartment. She decided to walk and let the cool air fan
 her tear-fevered eyes.
 Before she reached the canopied entrance to Daimler's, she began to feel, in spite of herself, a definite pleasure in the faint ripple of the soft fur above her ankles. It was nice to be well dressed, even when your heart was breaking.
 Daimler's was the most expensive restaurant in the city. Constance had gone there sometimes with Derek. . . . "It pays to go to the first people," Derek had said when Constance had suggested a more modest place.
 Constance knew that the alacrity with which the doorman,
 who looked like a glorified rear-admiral, sprang to attention at her approach was an involuntary tribute to the plutocratic exclu-siveness of the gray coat and cherry accessories.
 When she spoke her name to the girl at the reservation desk
 just inside the door, the girl smiled brightly and said, "Miss Maidwell?" Of course, Mr. Major sent a note for you."
 She handed Constance a square cream envelope. Constance sat down in a tapestried armchair to read the note.
 "My dear Miss Maidwell," Mrs.
 Major had written, "I am so sorry to be unable to keep our appointment today. I am, as it happens, unpleasantly confined to my bed."
 "However, although I am unable to be present, I hope you will still be my guest. You will find a table reserved; and the maitre d'hotel has instructions to serve you whatever you care to order
 for lunch."
 "Now as to the object of our meeting. My health seems to demand that I relinquish my activities in the Associated Artists' Show to other hands. But Miss

Taft has spoken so highly to me
 of you that I am passing on your name to my successor, the present chairman of the committee, and suggesting that she get in touch with you.
 "With best wishes for your success, I am very sincerely yours, Marcia Major."
 CONSTANCE sat for a moment,
 turning the note over and over in her fingers. . . . "I am passing on your name . . . suggesting
 . . . with best wishes—" not too promising. . . . Well, Constance decided a little grimly, I might as well get a lunch out of it, anyhow.
 This was the busy hour—but
 Mrs. Major had reserved a table.
 As Constance looked about her for the maitre d'hotel, a round
 dark little man with a Vandylke beard caught her eye and signaled her towards an empty table near the edge of the stage. . . . No doubt the girl at the desk had signaled him that Mrs. Major's guest had arrived.
 Moving toward the table, she found herself halted by the leisurely progress of a smartly-dressed young woman in the aisle ahead of her. Glancing at her, Constance was surprised to see that she was wearing a long velvet dinner dress with a silver cocktail jacket.
 Doesn't the girl know it's still mid-day? Constance thought. Oh, well, I suppose it's new, and the poor thing just had to wear it somewhere.
 As she stood waiting for the girl to finish a brief conversation with someone at the table ahead,
 she glanced with some compla-cence down at her own eminently correct ensemble.
 Looking up, she caught the eyes of a man fixed upon her from a nearby table. There was something vaguely familiar about the man; he was youngish and broad,
 with sandy hair inclined to be red, and—of course! He was the man who had almost knocked her over outside Derek's studio the day before.
 His singularly olive brown eyes,
 now coolly amused, said as plainly as words, "Well, well! The little girl rather fancies herself in that set-up, doesn't she?"
 Constance was furious with herself for flushing.
 She was turning away with what dignity she could retrieve when a plump elderly lady who sat at the table with the imper-tent young man leaped toward her and asked pleasantly, "Will you please tell me the price of that coat?"

"Personal" Motive Seen in OGPU Murder

Love for Mrs. Peshkoff, pictured above with her father-in-law, Maximo Gorby, who is holding the Peshkoff baby, was the "personal" motive of OGPU chief Henry G. Yagoda in ordering the liquidation of her politically unimportant husband, Maxim Peshkoff, son of the noted Russian writer, according to a report of the secret police heard's confession during current Soviet mass treason trials.

His yield on a 400-acre terraced field of wheat averaged 17½ bushels an acre, while the crop on an adjoining, unterraced field was abandoned because it did not get enough moisture to live.

Boy Scout Drive to Be Held Here Next Tuesday

The annual campaign for financial support of the Boy Scout program in the Cisco district will be made next Tuesday, it was announced today.

In order to further acquaint with the public the purpose of this drive, the following facts relative to the Comanche Trail council and the Cisco district, have been presented:

The Comanche Trail council supervises scouting over eight counties, including Stephens, Eastland, Erath, Comanche, Brown, Mills, San Saba and Lampasas counties and the town of Elaville in Young county.

There is a population of 144,000 in this area. Each year, 1500 boys become 12 years of age. For scouting purposes, the area is organized into eleven districts, each functioning committees which meet to dividends when he increased his yields of cotton and grain sorghums 30 per cent.

Reports from the 363 demonstration farms showed that 84 of the owners started soil conservation programs during the year and 51 families started landscaping projects.

plan and promote the scouting program in their area.

Maintenance campaigns are put on in each district to the support of the Council.

Cisco District
 The Cisco district takes in Cisco's trade territory. Not only may boys living in the city limits have the opportunity to become scouts, but the boy living in the country may enter through the Lone Scout department. Cisco's three scout troops are scoutmastered by S. E. Hittson, C. R. Sanford and John A. Smith. E. P. Crawford heads the district committee as chairman having been re-elected at a recent meeting where more than twenty scouters attended. J. D. Lauderdale is finance chairman for the district and will be actively in charge of the campaign Tuesday.

What the money is spent for:

Maintains headquarters office.
 Employs an executive now, and will make possible employment of a second staff member.

Office secretary -- stenographer (combination).
 Transportation expense.

Promotes scouting in over 27 communities.
 Makes possible summer and vacation camp program at minimum expense.

Promotes rallies, camporees, circuses, jamborees, training courses and conferences.

Extends cubbing to 9 and 11-year-old boys and senior scouting activities among older boys.

Net Incomes of Farmers Range $312 to $19,401

COLLEGE STATION, March 16.—Extension experts of Texas A. & M. college who analyzed 20 of the outstanding demonstration projects in the state reported today that the net incomes of the 20 farm families during the past year ranged from $312 to $19,404.

The $312 income was reported by a family living on a 48-acre cotton farm in central Texas. The maximum figure, $19,404, was the income from a 1,000-acre diversified farm in the northwestern part of the state.

In addition to the cash income, the 20 families averaged $722 in contributions of the farm or ranch to the family living.

These 20 farms were among 363 demonstration projects in 116 counties.

Results of the survey among the cooperating families showed a number of interesting sidelights on farm life.

For instance, the 363 families spent, as a group, almost as much on automobiles as they did on clothing. They spent an average of $37 for doctor bills, $20 for recreation, and $56 for community welfare.

Individual farmers noted some surprising results in their financial figures. Lee Stewart of Wood county found out that five acres of fruit trees and grapes brought him a net profit of $209, while 24 acres of cotton brought him only $185.

Archa D. Smith of Harris county more than doubled the carrying capacity of his 23-acre pasture by mowing the weeds and grubbing out the underbrush. He found that cotton which he fertilized yielded 1,006 pounds to the acre, while unfertilized portions of his field made only 513 pounds to the acre.

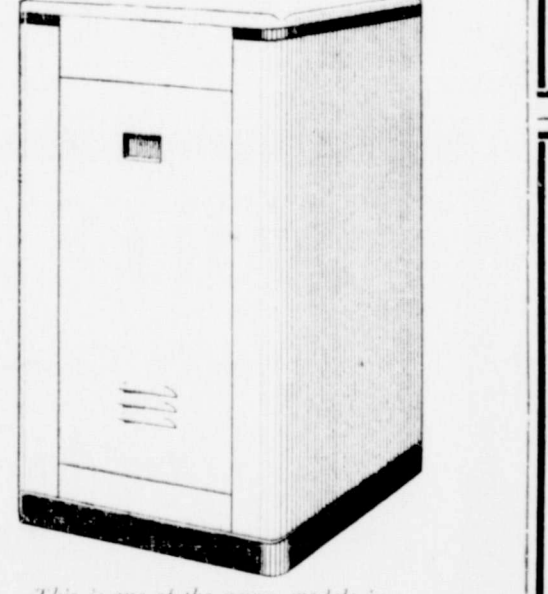

W. R. Trece of Sherman county learned that terracing paid

New Officers Are Installed By Auxiliary

The Presbyterian Women's auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon at the church for installation of the new officers elected for the coming church year. The program, "Service of Peace," was directed by Mrs. E. P. Crawford, and opened with a prayer by Mrs. C. H. Fee. The scripture was read by Mrs. Crawford with responses by Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. M. H. Applewhite, led in prayer. The president's yearly report was given by Mrs. J. R. Warwick, followed by the presentation of the "Keys of Service." #### Homemakers Club Meets on Tuesday

The fifth period class of the Future Homemakers club met Tuesday afternoon with the president, Mildred Curry, presiding. A short program was given, on which the following girls took part: Gertrude Kinard, Jane Hooker, and Elizabeth Bailey. During the business session, committee reports were given and approved. It was decided that the club would be named the N.E.D. club, for Miss Nelle E. Dearmont, supervisor of Homemakers for District Two.

Brilliant Chicago Boy Is Topsy-Turvy Writer

This is no stunt for Frank Balek, 11-year-old Chicago schoolboy shown writing upside down and backwards. It's just the easiest way for him to write. Frank used to write just backwards—mirror fashion—and teachers had to use a looking-glass to read his themes. So he changed, and now writes both upside down and backwards, so that teachers need only turn the paper around to read it. School authorities tried to correct his writing, but discovered he is an "inversionist" and actually sees the world upside down. So they let him write as he pleases, and find he is really a brilliant student.

I am an ADVERTISING MAN

For many years I have been writing advertisements for national advertisers --- shoes, soap, cereals, automobiles, radios, tobacco, blankets, tooth-powder.

To me it is the most fascinating work in the world --- learning about the merits of merchandise and telling people about them --- bringing greater comfort and enjoyment, into people's lives --- introducing people to new pleasures, helping them to get the most out of their money.

Besides being fascinating, it is satisfying. An intimate experience with advertisers has shown me that, except for rare exceptions, the manufacturers and merchants of this nation lean over backwards to be sincere and honest.

The law of advertising is simple once one understands its working---the more people know about the merit of a product, the more people buy it. The greater the volume of sales, the less the cost to manufacturer. Savings in making mean either lower prices to the consumer or greater value put back into the merchandise.

As an advertising man I can sincerely affirm that it pays to read the advertisements in the newspaper ---for news of new things, for news of bargains and savings.

There are thousands of other men --- and women ---devoting their lives to advertising writing, who would tell you the same thing. They know!
