Napoleon might well have read to better advantage this story of Gideon's army; and our modern world, which trusts too implicitly in great battalions, might likewise take the story to heart.

But Gideon had strategy as well as courage, as he had faith in the strength of a small army of determined men. ERNEST THOMPSON

Ernest Thompson makes no claim to being anything other than what he is-a rugged, red-headed West Texan who has served his state and country with honor in time of war and in time of peace. Ernest Thompson does not pretend to be an entertainer, a magician, a story-teller or a musician. He springs from a school of Texas Democrats who believed that a public office is a sacred trust and that there is no place for levity and horseplay in the governor's chair.

Ernest Thompson is running for governor on a sane, common-sense platform backed by nine years of exceptional public service as mayor of Amarillo and state railroad commissioner. Those who have watched his career say of him:

"He will keep his promises-he will get the job done."

land county to select their county superintendent for the next four years. The length of the term is not the question in this race. The question is and should be the best interest of all the children of the entire county. If the voters will read the recent articles I have had published they will have a fair idea tfe of what has been accomplished.

What I have told the voters is a matter of record and in addition to past articles I wish to state that there has been created during the past four years a better spirit of cooperation and friendliness among the smaller and larger schools than has been enjoyed for many years. That fact is evidenced to all and at the same time every child in Eastland county has free access to our affiliated schools. We now have four accredited rural high schools, namely, Morton Valley, Colony, Alameda and Scranton.

I told the people four years ago that I believed in CONSOLIDATION, was strong for it, but by Vote of the People Only. That has been accomplished.
