JUNIOR COLLEGE IS COMMUNITY STABILIZER

BOARD WORKED WONDERS IN ORGANIZING AND FINANCING THIS SERVICEABLE ADJUNCT TO THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF CISCO

Study of the report filed by Cisco Independent School Board at its meeting of May 1, 1943, relative to the founding and financing of Cisco Junior College, reveals a wizardry of organization, financing and execution rivaling that of some of the executives of the big business world, in that school board members seemingly grasped a handful of nothing out of space and molded therefrom a serviceable institution, with instant success.

To acquire a college building and a 40-room dormitory, fully equipped to pass rigid examinations for its right to function, together with clear title to 82 acres of land—all paid for now and more than $1,600 in the bank—is no mean accomplishment since its inception in 1940. It sounds like a fairy tale, but it is nevertheless true.

Realizing that the community would have to provide an opportunity for the graduates of Cisco high and adjacent schools to obtain at least two years of advanced education at home, the board decided to try to establish a Junior College in connection with the high school.

Of course, they realized that they could not use public school funds for this purpose and it was estimated that it would require at least $4,000 for equipment to start the Junior College.

But the report tells the story of how much more than their fondest dreams was accomplished. We quote from the report:

"The chamber of commerce, recognizing the value of a Junior College to our community, raised by public subscription $3,411 and gave it to the school board for the purchase of as much equipment as possible to begin offering two years of college work. It had been intended to use a part of the high school building for this purpose, but at this time an opportunity was found to secure the buildings and equipment then known as Randolph College, which had closed a few years before.

Due to the rather unfortunate experience of our citizens in trying to help finance and keep in operation Randolph College, they were rather skeptical about a Junior College being operated in connection with our schools—an opinion which we, your school board, shared. We told your chamber of commerce that unless we could find ways to keep operating, we would not ask for any further contributions or financial help.

"We bought from the Temple Trust Company the Randolph College property which consisted at that time of 41 acres of land, the administration building and considerable school equipment that could be an asset. Also a 40-room dormitory of modern fireproof construction, built by Randolph College in 1927, at a cost of $68,000, also a great deal of furnishings in the dormitory. The purchase price to date of buildings and 82 acres of land is $2,301.40.

"We have spent for repairs and redecoration to date on the buildings $7,680.78, making a total plant cost to date of $9,982.18. We have purchased to date equipment in the amount of $2,096.17, making a total investment in the plant, building and equipment to date of $12,078.35, and have purchased permanent educational supplies and equipment in the amount of $4,627.88, making a total investment in permanent plant and equipment of $16,706.23. Our operating costs to date have been $21,462.29, making total expenditures to date (May 1, 1943) of $38,168.52. See detailed statement of operating expense.

"We have recently purchased a tract of land consisting of 42 acres adjoining the college property. About thirty acres of this land is being put in cultivation by M. D. Fox, our agricultural teacher, and his class of FAA boys. It is the intention of your board that this land be used to establish a practical demonstration farm by our high school for the benefit of our FAA students. We believe eventually it will enable us to establish a joint educational program with our high school and Junior College for agriculture and shop work training, with the necessary buildings and equipment.

"In the three years Cisco Junior College has been operating it has been fully accredited and its graduates are accepted by all Senior colleges. It has sponsored and graduated 100 students in primary flying. In 1942 it sponsored and made possible the War Training School for women, which brought to Cisco a payroll of about $2,500 a day. This school could not have been secured without your Junior College as sponsor.

"Below is a recapitulation of receipts and disbursements from September 1, 1940, to May 1, 1943:

Receipts.
Sept. 1, 1940 to Aug. 31, 1941.	$8,605.89.
Sept. 1, 1941 to Aug. 31, 1942.	$15,515.89.
Sept. 1, 1942 to May 1, 1943.	$15,711.78.
Total receipts.	$39,833.56.
Disbursements.
Sept. 1, 1940 to Aug. 31, 1941.	$8,556.06.
Sept. 1, 1941 to Aug. 31, 1942.	$13,058.91.
Sept. 1, 1942 to May 1, 1943.	$18,553.55.
Total disbursements.	$38,168.52.
Cash balance, May 1, 1943.	$1,665.04.

President's Report.
The report of the accomplishments of the college as an institution of learning, is as follows:

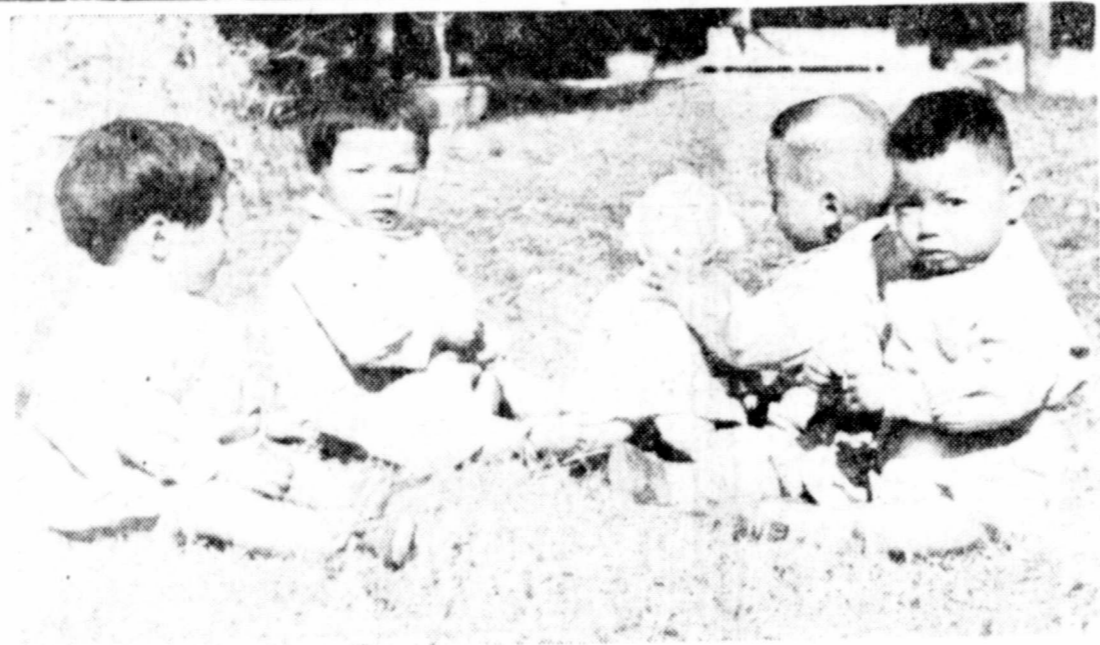

Since the opening of the college in September, 1940, there have been 469 students enrolled. In the department of business there have been enrolled 197 students. Of that number 101 are now filling jobs in the army and navy in civil service; 33 are still in school; 39 are married and not holding jobs; 21 are in military service, with no data on the remaining 21. Thirty have completed the two year-course and graduated from Cisco Junior college.

Out of the above number, seven are teaching, five finishing senior college this year, six in the air corps, twelve doing secretarial work, and five are married.

Out of the 100 boys who took flying at Cisco Junior College, 30 are now commissioned officers in the armed service of the United States, 10 are cadets, eight are civilian instructors, six working in defense plants, 32 are serving in the armed forces, six unaccounted for and eight in civilian life.

IMPORTANT MEETING.

All business people of Cisco are urged to be present at a meeting at the chamber of commerce Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, when an important matter relative to the future rationing program will be discussed. P. R. Warwick, secretary, announces.

BIG FOUR—China's famous quads. From left: United States Chiu, Great Britain Chiu, Soviet Chiu and China Chiu. They were born Armistice Day, 1939, in a refugee camp near Canton and are now at a camp run by United China Relief funds.

MODERN JUNGLE TRAIL—New Guinea natives repair an American corduroy road that leads to an advanced base, somewhere on the island. Road, flanked by underbrush, is ready to carry anything from a jeep to a convoy of transport trucks.

GOOD FRYERS SOLD FOR 85 CENTS, HERE

John G. Leftwick, farmer in the Scranton section, sold 40 dozen eggs today for $13.20 and 16 fryers at 85 cents each, bringing him a total of $26.80. Mrs. Leftwick said she would bring in some blackeyed peas Monday.

Her vines are rather full and the quality is exceptionally good. Mr. and Mrs. Leftwick say they have no trouble selling enough each week to make them a fair salary above their living. Leftwick said he saw no reason for running off to defense work when he could stay at home and live quietly and in peace with his own family and clear a lot more money, even if he had to rent land. And he added that it looked to him like there was no better defense work than to stay at home and grow food, which promises to be very scarce by fall.

CANNING SUGAR MAY NOW BE SECURED

Information from the county ration board is that canning sugar may now be had by calling at the Cisco chamber of commerce on weekdays except Tuesday and Friday. Hours are from 9 o'clock until noon, and from 1 until 5 p. m. It is said there is no need of a rush to obtain canning sugar, since it may be had at any time this summer, when needed.

Every one is allowed as much as 25 pounds of sugar for canning purposes for 1943, five of which may be used for preserving and jams. Unless one uses for these purposes he is urged not to ask for this sugar, and not for the full allotment unless needed.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF LUTHERAN SOCIETY HERE

The Waltham league, young people's society of the Lutheran church, will be host today to leaguers from many sections of West Texas, said Rev. W. H. Seymour, pastor of Grace Lutheran church.

The rally will begin at 3 o'clock this afternoon and all meetings will be held at Cisco Country club. Highlights of the program are as follows:

Registration 2:30 p. m.; opening devotion, 3 o'clock; business meeting at 3:15; talent quest 4:30; vesper service, 6:15. The evening entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock.

Leaguers from Albany, Abilene, Sagerton, Brownwood and Cisco will be represented. About 120 guests are expected.

Rev. V. L. Behnken of Ft. Worth will be the speaker for the vesper service. Mr. Behnken is well known in Lutheran circles and his leadership among the young people of the church makes him a very appropriate guest speaker. He has chosen for his subject in the vesper service at 6:15: "You Reap as You Sow."

SOVIET AIR STRENGTH.

MOSCOW, June 12.—The Soviet air force, relentlessly pursuing a campaign to destroy the Nazi air arm on the Russian front, knocked out 150 grounded German planes in a series of new assaults by formations of craft, air circles reported Saturday. Out of the formidable armada of 700 aircraft which attacked several unidentified Nazi airdromes only 19 Soviet planes failed to return.

AIRPOWER MERIT IS ARGUED

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Airpower may be given all summer to prove whether it can beat Germany. You can get bets on either side. Pantelleria surrender is used by both schools to bolster their arguments. Consensus in important congressional circles is that Pantelleria proves it will take an army of well-equipped, hard-fighting men to beat the Nazis on the continent. Their argument: Pantelleria is only 60 miles from our African airdromes, is only 32 miles square, was weakly garrisoned. Yet it held through 20 days of incessant pounding. Other side pins its faith to destruction of industrial installations, crippling of Germany that way. Don't count on invasion of Italy to follow Pantelleria. But it will make Mediterranean safer for our convoys.

Enthusiasm for Churchill speeches wanes in congress. Many members, pleased a few weeks ago at his frank talk, now wish he would talk less, blame him for waves of optimism through U. S. and Britain. They concede his "war nerves" speeches have been useful in Germany and Italy, but say this is offset by excessive hope here for quick end of war. There'll be no showdown for months, they warn, perhaps not before 1944 or 45.

President Roosevelt will sign the labor bill. But the use he'll make of it is a question mark. It offers him broad discretionary powers.

Secretary Morgenthau resents interest other departments take in tax programs—particularly OWM Director Byrnes' conference this week. Morgenthau stayed away, was represented by Randolph Paul, treasury general counsel. It gave Paul a chance to push his complicated spending-tax plan—flatly rejected by senate last year, but still Paul's favorite. Friends say Economic Stabilization Director Vinson, a former house tax expert, disapproves the spending tax. And it's not popular within the treasury itself.

BAPTIST REVIVAL IS OFF TO A GOOD START

The revival now in progress at First Baptist church has been attracting good crowds with a full choir and unusually inspiring music. Several orchestra pieces have added to this feature of the services. Joe Trussell, an evangelistic singer of note, has been able to draw the best possible efforts from these forces with himself singing a solo each evening.

The preaching is being done by Rev. Sid Martin of Wichita Falls. His sermons have been forceful and have been given attentive hearing.

Today is expected to be a full day at the church. Special services will be held in the adult and intermediate departments of the Sunday school.

Rev. Mr. Martin will speak at the regular morning and evening services.

Singers from other churches have been asked to come to the choir and aid in the singing. Those who play instruments have also been invited to bring their instruments and join the orchestra.

Booster choirs and prayer meetings are to be organized next week.

BRITISH LOST 43 PLANES IN GREATEST RAID EVER HURLED AT A. HITLER'S ARMED FORTS

LONDON, June 12.—The greatest force of British heavy bombers ever hurled against Adolf Hitler's European fortress smashed vital war targets in Dusseldorf and Munster and blazed a path of fiery destruction through Germany's Ruhr and Rhineland.

Forty-three bombers were lost in the terrific assault, which followed by less than 12 hours a double-barreled American daylight raid yesterday on the German U-boat centers of Wilhelmshaven and Cuxhaven.

Refreshed by a 12-night lull in the Bomber Command's pre-invasion offensive, huge formations of RAF four-engined bombers loosed their main attack on the arms center and inland port of Dusseldorf while a smaller force attacked Munster.

A highly concentrated attack was crowded into one hour over Dusseldorf and preliminary reports told of great damage to the city, site of the huge Rhein metal, iron and steel works and other key war factories, the Air Ministry announced.

"Great results" also were reported from the raid on Munster, the Ministry said. Other targets also were blasted in the Ruhr and Rhineland industrial areas, but no details were given.

British Intruder patrols also were out over France during the night and one enemy aircraft was destroyed over Holland.

The Air Ministry described the bomber force engaged in last night's raid as of "very great strength."

The bombers ran into strong anti-aircraft defenses over Dusseldorf at the start of the raid, but the weight of the attack saturated the gun batteries and searchlight posts.

Dusseldorf is a key communication center as well as a production center for guns, tanks, shells, bombs, mines, torpedoes and U-boat parts. The Rhein works turn out arms at a rate comparable to the famous Krupp works.

Nearly all the Australian bomber squadrons in Britain, as well as 12 Polish squadrons, participated in the raid. None of the Polish planes was lost.

The resumed offensive found both the American and RAF Bomber Commands stronger than ever before and gave promise of soaring into what Mr. Churchill has called an experiment to determine whether Germany can be knocked out of the war by bombing alone.

The American raids were centered on the German U-boat yards at Wilhelmshaven and the submarine base at Cuxhaven, at the mouth of the Elbe river. Bomb bursts were observed on both target areas.

The more than 200 heavy bombers, almost the largest American force ever employed in a single day's operation, flew between 700 and 800 miles unescorted, but despite fierce enemy fighter opposition over Wilhelmshaven, only eight planes were lost. A "large number" of intercepting German planes were reported officially to have been destroyed.

FLAG DAY.

"When Freedom Lumber mountain height
Unfurled her standard to the air,
She tore the azure robe of night,
And set the stars of glory there."

Tomorrow is the day when all Americans fly their flag. They know it for the flag of freedom, the recognition of the rights of man. To them it means what America means—opportunity to progress and develop, liberty of thought and action in which growth may safely and happily be made.

Every American who flies his flag this June 14 may thank God for the safe home where it flies, the safe farm or factory, office or kitchen where daily work is done. He will pray, as the shining folds swing in the breeze, that by the time another Flag Day rolls around many lands now under the Axis heel may see their own flags flying freely.

The thoughtful, selfless American realizes also that he has a duty to keep the flag flying. Only by hard work and personal sacrifice came the chance to fly this banner of freedom. Only by hard work and sacrifice can the right work be maintained. He determines to put his shoulder even harder to the wheel. For only as freedom is earned and shared does its flag become the flag of glory.

One of these days Stalin will just step on Hitler, and there will be only a yellow spot on the pavement.

AMBITION.

John L. Lewis seems to deserve study and comment not only for his recent procedure in the big coal strike, but for his general history and attitudes. While the present ruckus proceeds, it is interesting to recall some of his operations and declarations of the last two or three years.

It appears that in January of 1940, while predicting defeat for President Roosevelt, he asked labor not to endorse any other candidate for president, but to leave that to the C. I. O. executive board (controlled by Lewis).

In April of that year he told the United Mine Workers and the C. I. O. that he was "not yet prepared to support any candidate for president."

About the same time he suggested that if the Democratic party did not nominate a candidate and adopt a platform "satisfactory to labor" he would call for a labor-youth-Negro farmer convention to form a third party.

And so on and on. Many people believe that, in various utterances along this line Mr. Lewis was really speaking for himself. His strong stand recently against the present administration has suggested that he himself has a tremendous ambition to be president, seeking election presumably on a farmer-labor ticket. Whom, of course, is his or any citizen's privilege, if he can "make the grade."

SULFA DRUGS.

There is nothing pleasant about any phase of this war, but there is growing appreciation of the notable saving in life and disability, through better care of the wounded and use of the new "sulfa drugs."

It is surprising how few of the wounded die, how well they are cared for on the battlefield and in the hospitals, and how quickly their wounds heal. Death from excessive bleeding, and the shock that comes with it, is prevented by the injection of blood plasma, provided mostly by civilians back home and stored for use at the front. Deaths from infection after being wounded are immensely lessened by use of the sulfa preparations which the fighting man carries with him. The medical units work more rapidly and effectively than ever before, and there are usually enough doctors at hand to provide adequate care. Men seriously wounded are shipped by airplane to fully equipped hospitals, with facilities for operations. Thousands of men who would have died in any former war are quickly made fit to fight again, or are shipped home in much better shape than would be expected.

This is not saying that war is not still a very painful and terrible thing. But except for the bombing, the danger and terror seem less now than they were in the last war, and deaths are relatively fewer.

BOOMS.

In the foolish twenties, there was a great inflation in Florida real estate, now called the Florida Boom. A few people made a little money and were able to hang on to it. Thousands made much money and lost it twice as fast as they made it. The results on the whole were sad, both for the individuals and for Florida.

The present boom in real estate values does not have to develop into a crazy boom. So far, it is sound. More home-sites for after-war building are being purchased than for many years. About twelve per cent of the new owners plan to build homes costing not more than $5,000. The fact that such properties are tax-free in Florida favors the building of small dwellings, encourages the seasonal tourist to become the owner of a permanent, inexpensive home. This is a constructive development.

Only when ownership changes rapidly from hand to hand, like stocks in a boom, or like the tulip bulbs whose speculative price expansion without reference to their real value once almost wrecked the economy of the Netherlands, do real estate sales become unsafe. The value of a home as a home is its true intrinsic value. Prices based on this principle fluctuate a little but not too much. When the price of anything is based only on a theoretical resale value it becomes dangerous to buy it.

Florida has many values for home-owners. So have other states, as well as the empire of Texas. It would be a pity to see these values destroyed or obscured by a speculative bubble.

What about your reservoir of moral stamina for daily living? Do you have such a reservoir? Is it sufficient for the heavy drain on it when the world is out of joint? Are you keeping it replenished? That is what worship does for any one who has learned the art and who cultivates skill in the practice. Our church invites all who will to enter into our services of worship in the sanctuary with us. Beautiful music, a quiet atmosphere of reverent meditation, a sense of divine presence, opportunity to listen to the voice of God, these are our purposes as we seek to lead the congregation in worship. Morning devotions are at 10:50 and evening services at 8. The church school meets at 9:45 a. m. The young people meet at 7:30 p. m. and have a fellowship period after church. CISCO WOMAN SAW WRECK OF BIG BOMBER

Mrs. M. E. Goldberg, who is visiting her son-in-law and daughter Dr. and Mrs. Leon Krupp at San Diego, Calif., saw the wreckage caused when a 4-engine bomber—the second accident of the kind in two weeks—crashed within ten feet of the office of Dr. Krupp, a dentist, attached to the navy.

The pilot of the plane and four Marines were killed, while 86 persons on the ground were injured when the big plane smashed through a fence that separated Lehigh Field from the Marine base. The second accident occurred at 6 a. m. Mrs. Goldberg stated in a letter received by her husband yesterday.

Stepping Out Into Life's Service.

Cisco's schools have ended their regular terms and her graduates are stepping out into the world of action—their life of service.

There has never been a time when we have needed the service of young men and young women more than we do today . . . The Army . . . the Office . . . the factory . . . the farm . . . All industry of every nature needs youth—youth that has prepared its mind and body for the struggle of life—youth that is patriotic, willing to give its all for the needs of our country.

Visualizing this mighty throng of youth that is ready to give its service, we feel that the country is safe—with the ideals of patriotism . . . love of country and free dom of mind and body . . . that has been instilled, no despot can ever hope to crush out that flaming light . . . that hope that will not be denied . . . America Is Safe.
