FIGHTING IN ITALY SAID TO BE TOUGHEST YET

APRIL 4 BE CITY ELECTION DAY

At Tuesday night's session of the city commission a resolution was passed calling an election for Tuesday, April 4, when three city commissioners are to be chosen by the voters of Cisco. Terms expire on those of Henry Drumwright, Charles J. Kleiner and A. D. Ashburn.

George W. Downie, city secretary, reported that water revenue, ad valorem taxes and other collections have been ample to take care of the interest of the new bonded bond issue as set out in the contract with the bondholders. That all payments up to present have been met and in addition—set out in the contract of the new bond issue—the city has accumulated approximately $1,000 per month to be used for the purpose of reducing the bond debt of the city.

COLD WAVE TONIGHT.

The weather man predicts a cold wave for the Cisco Country tonight, with temperatures of from 12 to 16 degrees by morning. For more than ten days Ciscoans have been enjoying almost perfect summer weather and fruit trees throughout this area seemed on the point of bursting into bud. Freezing weather now will probably result in considerable damage.

Released by U. S. War Department Bureau of Public Relations
LIEUT. COL. BANDEL—Air WAC Officer Betty Bandel, on her second inspection trip overseas, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel, the War Department has announced. She is the first woman to attain this rank and is next highest officer to Colonel Oreta Culp Hobby, Director of the Corps. Colonel Bandel, a native of Washington, D. C., is a former Tucson, Arizona, newspaper reporter.

PURCHASE OF E BONDS IS EMPHASIZED

Eastland, Texas, Cisco Daily Press:

By this time we are fully saturated with the details of the Fourth War Loan Drive. The papers are full of news items and advertisements, almost any time day or night we turn the radio on we find the drive being discussed on the air and as we meet our friends on the streets, in the places of business and at the individual homes, the Fourth War Loan drive is the first topic for discussion.

We know that the national quota is fourteen billion, that the state quota is approximately four hundred million and that Eastland county's quota is $559,000.

Of this $559,000 we are supposed to buy $272,000 of Series E bonds or nearly one-half of the over-all quota.

So each community in the county knows its fair share of these Series E bonds.

Should we purchase our over-all quota of $559,000 but fail to purchase the $272,000 of Series E Bonds, then, so far as the success of this drive is concerned, we would find ourselves in the same position that the Allies would be in if they should win the War but lose the peace.

In other words, if we want to keep Eastland county's 100 percent record intact, we must not only purchase the over-all quota for the county but we must see to it that we purchase at least $272,000 of Series E bonds.

These Series E bonds are in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1000. They are appreciation bonds, become due in ten years and for each three dollars we have put in a bond we are handed back four if we keep them until maturity. Should we purchase these bonds and after sixty days learn that we must have the money, they will be redeemed at par. If they are kept more than one year they will be redeemed with interest at any time desired by the owner and from time to time with an increasing interest payment until maturity, the exact redemption amounts being written in the face of the bond. This is known as the popular or peoples bond and our government is desirous that we all purchase as many of these bonds as our financial condition will permit. The purchase of these bonds will prevent inflation on the one hand and will serve as a backlog or cushion on the other hand for each owner when the war is over. They are registered in the owner's name and if lost or stolen, nothing is lost to the owner as the government will replace the same. No other issue offered by the government in this drive suits the necessities and desires of most of the people so well.

Won't you go to the bank or postoffice and buy now until it hurts? Our boys will not let us down on the fighting fronts and we must not let them down at home.

Yes, we are going to make our over-all quota and we are going to make it you know that we, as a county, will not be satisfied with anything less than an overwhelming subscription. Delay is deceptive. Let's move forward to our respective duties, now!

Very kindly yours,
CYRUS B. FROST,
Eastland County Chairman,
MRS. PAUL M. WOODS,
Chairman Women's Division.

7 RUSSIAN ARMIES ARE CLOSING IN

MOSCOW, Feb. 10.—Hitler's once all-powerful eastern front was crumbling at many points today under the staggering sledgehammer blows of seven Russian armies.

In the vast reaches of the lower Ukraine the Nazi retreat approached a rout as the tentacles of a great Red army pincers closed on disorganized remnants of between 10 and 15 battered German divisions trapped in the rain-soaked steppe country between Cherkassy and Nikopol, 200 miles to the South.

German dead littered the battlefields as the combined Third and Fourth Ukrainian armies under Gen. Tolbukhin and Malinovsky turned the German retreat west of Apostolovo into a debacle, outflanked the great iron ore center of Krivoy Rog from the south and surged westward to impel the Kiev-Nikolaev railway, sole remaining escape route left to the fleeing enemy.

STAMEY, BINT ENTERTAINED LIONS CLUB

An interesting series of moving pictures were brought by O. L. Stamey and Arlin Bint as the Lions program Wednesday. They were introduced by N. C. Huston, chairman for the day. Lion Huston explained that a speaker who was scheduled to be present could not attend and that this program was a pinch hit by the high school. The pictures were greatly enjoyed, being educational as well as entertaining.

President R. W. McCauley announced that the club was sponsoring a waste paper drive and called on Chairman Jay Garrett for a report of his activities. Mr. Garrett said he was not ready to report.

A card of thanks for flowers was read from Lion and Mrs. Charles S. Sandler they having been sent to Ft. Worth on the occasion of the funeral of Mrs. Sandler's father, M. E. Goldberg. President McCauley said preparations are being completed for the ladies night program, scheduled for the evening of February 23, when George Jordan, past president of Lions International, will be guest speaker.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Japanese military experts believe that a large scale offensive by Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's forces in the Pacific is imminent and concede the possibility that sea-borne troops may be landed successfully in Malaya, Burma, and elsewhere, the Berlin radio quoted a Tokyo dispatch as saying today.

YANK FORTS BLAST BRUNSWICK

LONDON, Feb. 10.—American Flying Fortresses smashed Berlin's defense shield in terrific battles with hundreds of German fighters today and successfully bombed Brunswick, medieval metropolis which Adolf Hitler made into a big aircraft center.

Early reports indicated that the running battle fought along the skyway to the heart of Germany might have rivaled the sensational conflict waged over the same area just a month ago, when 60 bombers were lost and 152 Nazi fighters shot down.

After smashing through the massed German fighter formations today, the Forts crashed their bombs on an altitude of five miles on select targets in Brunswick, 120 miles west of Berlin.

The first crewmen returning from their eight-hour flight through bitter cold said hundreds of Messerschmitt 109's, Focke Wulf 190's and Junkers 88's swarmed up to challenge the U. S. bombing fleet sweeping straight toward Berlin.

PARTIES NOT PART STATE GOVERNMENT

AUSTIN, Feb. 10.—Atty. Gen. Grover Sellers refused to answer any of the nine questions propounded by Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith and Senator Karl Lovelady directed at issue as to whether political parties may prescribe qualifications for their primary election voters and thus permit soldiers voting without payment of poll taxes.

Smith immediately retorted that the attorney general had entirely overlooked a constitutional provision making him eligible to ask legal questions and receive answers.

Sellers added, significantly, "most of the questions presented by you relate to matters affecting the party primaries in this state. Political parties are not a part of our state government, nor are their officials state officials. Nowhere in the statutes are we authorized to advise officials of the political parties either directly or indirectly."

SAYS POLITICS CAUSED SALE RADIO STATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—A story of the sale of a New York radio station to a former aide of Harry Hopkins under pressure which the seller said emanated from the white house was told to a congressional committee investigating the federal communications commission.

It was unfolded by Donald Flamm, owner until December, 1940, of the independently operated Station WMCA, New York City. Flamm said he sold to Edward Noble, former assistant secretary of commerce under Hopkins and recent purchaser of the Blue Network, only because he was convinced his license would not be renewed if he did not sell.

Into the transaction the witness brought the names of David K. Niles, a presidential aide; Thomas (Tommy the Cork) Corcoran, former white house adviser; William J. Dempsey, former chief counsel of the FCC, and Leslie Roberts, former radio executive for the WPA.

AN AMERICAN UNIT BATTLED INTO CASSINO 3 TIMES IN A DAY, BUT WAS FORCED OUT

ALGIERS, Feb. 10.—Massive German armored attacks broke against a stone wall Allied front yesterday on the plains below Rome, as American troops in the Cassino sector fought with increasing fury to smash through the Nazi lines and relieve their Fifth Army comrades on the imperiled beachhead.

Fighting under a hell-fire of German shells that ripped into every sector of the narrow beachhead front, American and British units smashed back six powerful Nazi thrusts against the flanks and center of their line.

RAF Spitfires operating from newly-established fighter strips within the beachhead, bombed and strafed the attacking Nazi columns while American light and medium bombers raked the enemy rear lines and supply roads.

The Germans again threw the main weight of their onslaught against British veterans holding the northern flank of the beachhead in the Aprilia sector northwest of Carroccio.

(A German communique broadcast by Radio Berlin today said the British counter-attacked in the Aprilia area yesterday and lost 17 tanks in a savage, day-long battle.)

Other German tanks and assault troops lunged against the southern end of the Allied line seven miles southeast of Anzio, and thrust three times against American units dug in west of Cisterna at the center of the beachhead perimeter.

The Americans held their ground stubbornly against the German thrusts and then counter-attacked savagely, regaining some recently lost positions.

(Radio Rome gave two divergent accounts of the action, one broadcast asserting that the Allies were attacking in great strength and another that the German counter-offensive was in full swing. The latter account claimed the Allied beachhead had been cut down to 72 square miles, or less than two-thirds its original area.)

Equally-fierce fighting continued in the Cassino sector to the south, where American units of the 5th Army have been striking hard for more than a week in an effort to break through the Germans' mountain defenses and join forces with the Allied armies battling on the Rome beachhead.

The communique said savage street fighting was in progress inside Cassino, but acknowledged that the Germans had thrown in several powerful counter-attacks elsewhere on the main 5th Army front—apparently in the hills above the town. These Nazi thrusts were repulsed, the communique said.

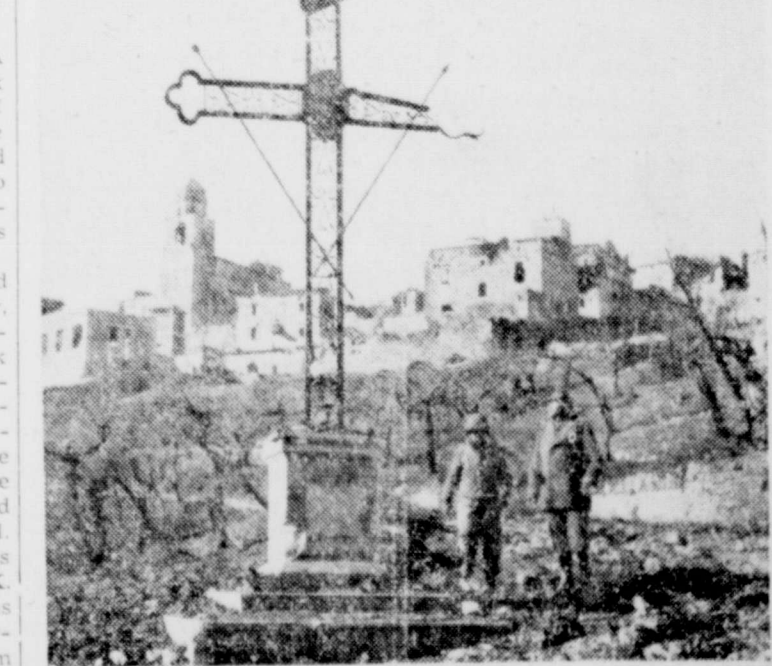

United Press Correspondent James E. Roper reported in a front dispatch that the battle in and around Cassino was the toughest American troops have engaged in since the beginning of the Mediterranean campaign.

Fighting from strong hill positions above the town, the Nazis repeatedly beat back American attacks, and inflicted "serious" casualties on the attacking doughboys, Roper disclosed. Officer losses are heavy, he said.

Inside Cassino, the Americans faced equally bitter resistance from hidden German gunners who laid down a murderous cross-fire of machine-gun bullets and cannon shells from virtually every building in the town.

One American unit, Roper reported, battled its way into the town three times in 24 hours and was driven out again each time.

The communique reported that "very bad weather" again bogged down the British 8th Army, and limited activity on that Adriatic front to patrolling.

STAYING IN SCHOOL.

"Stick to her, kid," I wish I had that old high school diploma.
That's the kind of talk the big brothers are sending back home. That's what they say when they come on furloughs or leaves. That's what they say when they are discharged and come home to start over again.
That's the kind of talk school principals and teachers like to hear, too. They have been telling youngsters that for years, but in these dangerous days of lax parental authority many of them yield to the lure of easy money and leave school the first possible minute for jobs which will not last and will leave the kids high and dry with no sound basis of education to base their future lives on.
That's the kind of talk, also, that employers like to hear. They will take any boy or girl who can operate a punch drill at the present moment, but they know full well that these jobs are due to end within a year. Then they will have fewer jobs to fill and want better-balanced people to fill them.
Good balance means recognition of parental authority and good schooling. Education is not a lost cause. The world is full of people who wish they had more. Did anyone ever wish he had less?

DEPENDENT LADY.

Of course there was Captain Jinks, of the Horse Marines, who fed his horse on corn and beans—but nobody ever accused him of trying to dodge a draft. Edward M. Sheridan, on the contrary, managed to keep out of the army for two years by declaring his main Mary Ann as a dependent.
It wasn't his fault, he declared, if the government blanks were easier. He filled them honestly. Under Sex he put down Female, which was correct. Under name he wrote Mary Ann Sheridan. Under date of birth he stated Sept. 12, 1941. It was all true. It wasn't his fault he heard thought he was a pre-Pearl Harbor father. The blank didn't ask his wife's name. He hasn't any.
"She's a draft horse, all right," said the assistant U. S. Attorney. "She kept him out of the draft."
"Why not?" asked Sheridan. "Buying her out kept me broke."

ARMY SAVINGS.

Secretary of War Stimson says the Army is not going to use all the money appropriated for it lately. This does not mean, says War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, that there is any "lessened need for more tanks and more bombs, but it shows that the army does not spend money simply because it is made available.
The Army needs great amounts of money—and spends as freely as need be to get the war pushed along on all fronts, from jets to libraries. But it is not throwing money around carelessly. It saves what it can and where it can.
Some of the projects, stressed at this time because not needed with German submarine war in abeyance, will be finished later when there is more man-power available. One was the Alaska Highway, now in use and able to carry 18,000 tons a month with its present capacity. Plans to enlarge it to a monthly capacity of 300,000 tons have been postponed. That would have meant stronger bridges, wider and better roadways at more points. It ran on as it is for a time. Another highway was that down through Mexico, whose completion can also wait, now that the Panama threat has been lessened.
Various other fortifications, bases and other military projects have been cut or postponed. "Weapons and equipment, because of the skill of American industry, are wearing out less rapidly than had been expected." Also because of "tactical successes greater than could be reasonably anticipated" cut-backs have been made.
It is a satisfying report. We are using vast sums, but not wasting them.

MRS. J. M. WITTEN ENTERTAINED CIRCLE.

Mrs. J. M. Witten was hostess Tuesday afternoon to circle one of First Methodist W.S.C. A visitor, Mrs. Randolph Lee Clark, was welcomed. Mrs. C. E. Paul, chairman, was in charge and directed the afternoon program on "Post-War Churches." Mrs. B. E. Morehart read an article, "The Flag of Faith is Never Furled," by Bishop Moore; others taking program parts were Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. D. P. King, Mrs. J. M. Witten and Mrs. C. E. Paul. A round table discussion concluded the meeting.

Mrs. Witten served a delicious refreshment plate during the social hour following.

MRS. C. A. SHOCKEY HOSTESS TO CIRCLE.

Circle two of First Methodist women's society of Christian service met in the home of Mrs. C. A. Shockey Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. D. M. Carr chairman in charge. The meeting opened with a hymn, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," led by Mrs. John Penn with Mrs. Fred Hayes at the piano. Prayer by Mrs. J. T. Fields preceded the devotional which was brought by Mrs. M. D. Paschall. Scripture basis used was Judges 4 and 5, in which the importance of woman's part in national life was stressed. Mrs. J. T. Fields read an interesting article from "Methodist Women" magazine, "Indians of Oklahoma;" Mrs. B. J. Ostrom gave the story, "Crescent in Montevideo;" prayer by Mrs. M. D. Paschall closed the program.

The business session was then held in which minutes of previous meeting were read and approved and the treasurer's report was given. Mrs. Fred Hayes was chosen to look after subscriptions for magazines. Each member agreed to save all waste paper, card board and magazines to help the circle fund.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments of an-

Bonds Are the Best INVESTMENTS.

Every community in Eastland county doing as well as Cisco would put this county far above quota. While this is nothing to boast about, it does speak well for Cisco people who are supporting the boys they have sent to the front to fight their battles. Cisco always does its full share.

Let's keep Cisco on top.

Yes, the farmer takes care of his farm machinery. Then we should all take care of the things we have so that our extra dollars may be turned into war bonds. While it's true that Cisco has already far exceeded her quota, many places perhaps not as fortunate as Cisco have not been able to reach their quotas, so it is necessary that some communities make up for the shortage of those places.

I Built This For Hitler!

You bet your boots I did! I knew nothing would please "The Fuhrer" more than to have me let my farm machinery and equipment deteriorate so I could stop helping in this war! Those farm machines are my fighting machines and have got to be in tip top shape! I don't mind long hours of work when I've got the support of smooth running equipment. That's why I built this Machine Shed. It protects those "fighting arms" from the sabotage of weather and rust. It helps keep a steady flow of food to the home and fighting fronts. It has improved the efficiency of my farm... and the appearance. It sure was a good investment! It's sturdily built and practical in design so that I can keep right on using it after the war.

Yes, Mr. Hitler, you'd better watch out!
