YANKS BREAK THRU DEATH LINE

AVIATOR TOLD LIONS OF FOREIGN SERVICE

Capt. Charles C. Botvidson, whose parents live in Cisco at present, was the speaker at Lions luncheon yesterday, being introduced by Norman C. Huston, program chairman. President Carlos J. Turner announced that perfect attendance would be counted from September 11 until the end of next April, and that all so deserving would receive pins as awards. Six of these pins were awarded yesterday to O. L. Stamey, Harry Schmidt, C. J. Turner, W. H. LaRogue, Charles S. Sandler and Charles Clark for the past year.

Captain Botvidson said he was not a speaker but would be glad to answer questions from members. However, he disproved that statement by proceeding to tell of his adventures in the flying service, which included those in Portugal, England, North Africa, Sicily, Corsica and Italy, in a very entertaining manner. He did answer many questions from Lion members.

In answer to a question, he accounted for his presence in Portugal, a neutral country, by the fact of his plane being forced down by bad weather, resulting in his internment for six months during 1943. He spoke of an expedition in which his forces shot down 100 planes with the loss of only 4 men.

Speaking of planes, he said he liked the little Spitfire, which had more speed than anything he had flown. He tried the P-39 and was glad when he was given back the P-51.

Other guests were Aviation Cadet William T. Sherman, Douglas Anderson and F. B. Altman. Sherman is on leave from the training service, while Anderson is a businessman in Breckenridge. Altman is a Cisco business man.

OLDEN BOY EVACUATED.

The 15th AAF, Italy, informs the Daily Press that Staff Sgt. Jackson H. Fidler, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Fidler of Olden, tail gunner on a B-17 Flying Fortress, was among the American airmen recently evacuated by air from a prison in Bucharest, Rumania, where he was held after being shot down over Ploesti, Rumania, July 22, until the Rumanian surrender. A late photo of the Eastland countian has been added to the Daily Press picture gallery.

Mitchams show herd, which swept the Hereford field at West Texas Livestock show, Abilene, with eight firsts, one grand champion, three seconds and four thirds, started its round of the "big time" circuit this morning.

The Cisco cattle, among the most magnificent ever produced in this country and consisting of ten show animals and three nurse cows, were loaded into a Texas and Pacific cattle car under the supervision of G. P. Mitcham and his chief herdsman, Pete Dean, bound for a round of international and national shows beginning with the premier exhibition of them all—the International Livestock show — to be held this year at Atlanta, Ga.

The Cisco ranch will enter exhibits in all Hereford classes from the two-year-olds down. Mr. Dean will accompany the cattle to Atlanta, where Mr. Mitcham will join the rail caravan before the opening of the Atlanta exhibits.

The International show, customarily held at Kansas City, was moved to Atlanta this year as one means of stimulating more livestock interest in that section of the United States.

From Atlanta the tour will include shows at Tulsa, Okla.; Shreveport, La., and Arlington Downs.

Mitchams' spring show herd — not this group — won more than $600 in Fat Stock Show judging last March. The ranch's current show selections are considered superior to the spring showing.

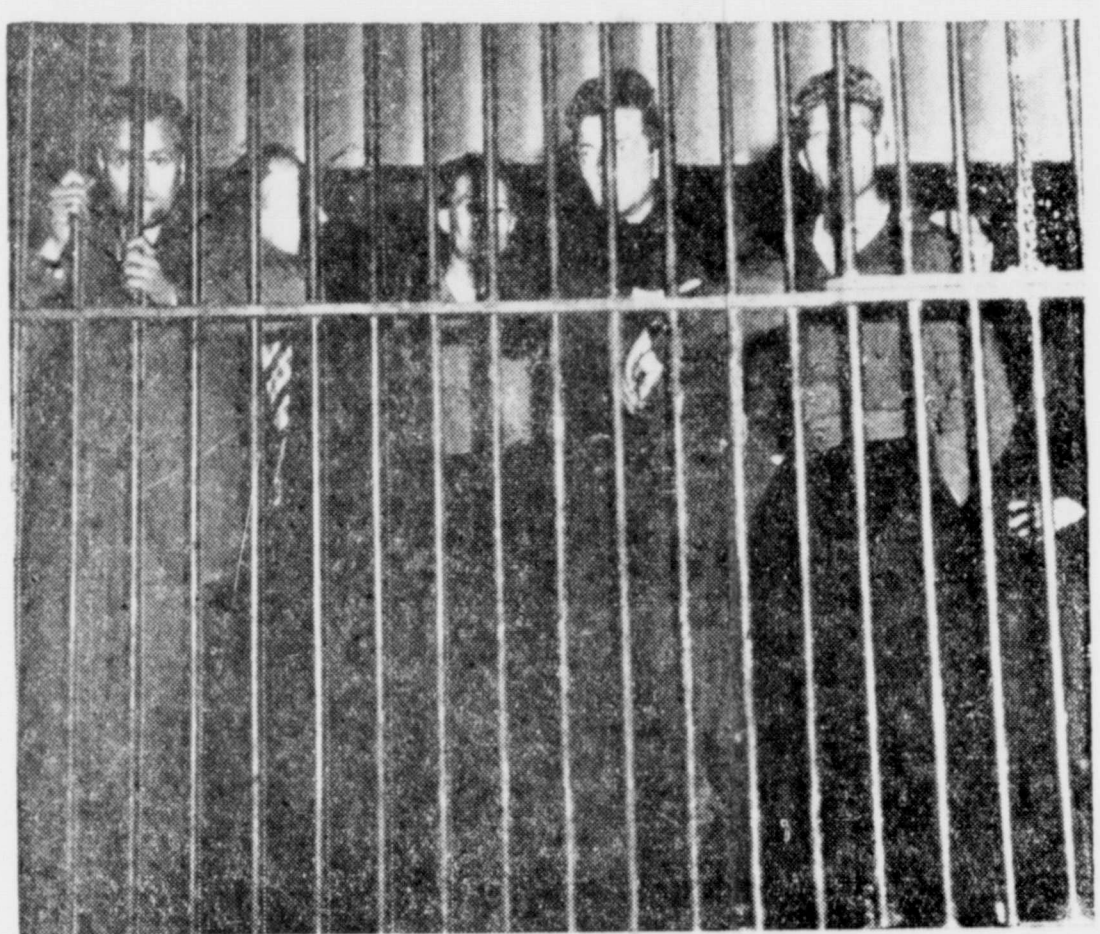

The cattle travel in a self-contained slatted box car, equipped with water, feed and everything necessary for the comfort of the cattle. There is sufficient room for the animals to lie down on the thick hay carpet, and there should be no loss of show quality during the round, Mitcham said.

DRESSINGS FOR WOUNDED.

Twenty-five women completed 1,653 surgical dressings for the wounded men of our army and navy Wednesday afternoon at the Red Cross work rooms in the Reynolds building. Those participating included Mesdames Sam Kimmell, Bob Latimer, R. C. McCarter, A. E. Jamison, J. T. Anderson, J. E. Burnam, E. H. Hester, W. J. Poe, Ed Aycock, J. A. Jensen, Edward Lee, A. D. Anderson, Alex Spears, J. E. Hart, W. W. Moore, Harold McGowen, Roy Fonville, J. B. Pratt, C. A. Williams, Les Jenkins, T. O. Thomas, Willie B. Dunn, J. E. Caffrey, F. E. Shepard, E. J. Poe.

SERVICE MEN'S PICTURES.

Service men's pictures are on display at the office of Cisco Gas Corporation, Mrs. J. E. Caffrey reminds, and if owners desire to change their pictures, or the addresses thereon, they may visit the gas office Friday, Sept. 29, between 8:30 and 10 a. m. New pictures may be added to the collection on that date, too. It is also stated that pictures cannot be removed from the collection without first notifying Mrs. Alex Spears, Mrs. H. C. Henderson or Mrs. Caffrey.

HIGH COURT VERDICT BE HEARD SOON

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—By Saturday Texas should know whether the Roosevelt or the anti-Roosevelt electors will go on the Nov. 7 general ballot as Democrats.

The Supreme Court Wednesday heard arguments in the case and announced it would try and have its decision by the end of the week. Monday midnight is the final time for closing the ballot.

A crowded courtroom saw two hours of argument as counsel hammered away at the court of nine judges reviewing the legal, political and historical aspects of the controversy to support their opposing contentions.

R. W. Calvert of Hillsboro, ex-Senator Woodville Rogers of San Antonio and James V. Allred of Houston represented the fourth termers who seek to have Secretary of State Sidney Latham certify the Dallas or September pro-Roosevelt electors in place of the fifteen May electors who have openly announced they will not vote for Roosevelt and Truman in casting the electoral college. Frank J. Knapp of Houston and Connie C. Renfro of Dallas appeared for the anti-Roosevelt forces.

Rogers was rather sharp in referring to political events, and Allred was only slightly less so, causing Knapp to tell the court that he would be justified in moving to dismiss because of inflammatory remarks.

Renfro said if any party obligation existed it was forfeited when the national convention nullified Texas action by seating delegates from a rump, pro-Roosevelt convention at Austin in May.

SOUVENIR SHOES.

Mrs. Elbert Ezzell has received a pair of wooden shoes from her son, Lt. Elbert M. Ezzell, who is serving in France. They were evidently made for a child and the only leather used was for the straps to hold them on. Lt. Ezzell, 36, is attached to a replacement center of the army. He is a native of Eastland county, a graduate of Cisco high school and also Abilene Christian college, later receiving his master's degree at Texas Tech. In a letter to his mother, Ezzell said wooden shoes have been numerous in France during the war.

CROSS RHINE RIVER AND RUSH TO AID OF ENCIRCLED AIRBORNE TROOPS 10 MI. DISTANT

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Sept. 21.—Tank-riding American paratroopers shot their way through a Nazi death battalion in the streets of Nijmegen today, broke across the Rhine river and sped northward with a British armored column to relieve an encircled airborne force holding out 10 miles away in Arnhem, gateway to the Reich.

Only a few narrow canals between Nijmegen and Arnhem barred the way to the broad German plains sweeping eastward 260 miles beyond the Dutch border to Berlin, and it appeared that the Germans had little left in the immediate area to halt the American and British thrust.

First word of the dramatic crossing came in a front dispatch from BBC Correspondent Stewart McPherson, who reported that the Americans made an assault crossing near the main highway bridge late last night and cut in behind the Germans, who were defending the span against a British frontal attack.

Under the front and rear attack, the Germans broke and fled, leaving the key bridge intact for a flood of British armor to stream northward to the rescue of the airborne troopers at Arnhem.

At the same time, headquarters revealed that the American 1st Army to the south drove another spearhead into Germany at Scharpenseel, 11 miles north of Aachen, after a swift advance across the narrow neck of Dutch soil separating Belgium from the Reich.

Other First Army troops were locked in a violent battle for Stolberg, 6 1/2 miles east of Aachen, while Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3rd Army closed to within six miles of Metz and ground slowly forward against fierce armored counterattacks northeast of Nancy.

But, for the moment, the key to the battle for Germany lay in the flaming Nijmegen-Arnhem sector where the Anglo-American armored force was moving in giant strides around the northern corner of the Siegfried Line into exposed German flatlands.

The Germans, faced with the possible loss of 100,000 men pinned against the Dutch coast west of Nijmegen as well as a direct invasion blow toward Berlin, were throwing every available man, gun and tank into the battle.

MOSCOW. — The government newspaper Izvestia said today that the Red Army campaign to liberate the Baltic states is almost won.

Four Russian armies were wheeling through the Baltics on a 200-mile front, riding down the rear guard of an estimated 200,000 German troops threatened with imminent death or capture.

Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian stormed the suburbs of Riga. Gen. Ivan Maslennikov deepened his thrust toward the sea northwest of Valga. Gen. Andiei L. Yeremenko pushed against Riga from the east.

Writing against that backdrop in sarcastic vein, Izvestia's military commentator said that "the Germans soon will be compelled to announce the 'successful' conclusion of the Baltic campaign."

Front dispatches indicated that main barriers in the path of Govorov's two-way thrust through Estonia already had been hurdled, leaving before him a relatively clear coastal plain stretching to the capital city of Tallinn.

Soviet Premier Josef Stalin revealed last night that his Leningrad Army, freed for action by the capitulation of Finland, had been thrown into the battle for the Baltic States, joining the offensive opened by the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Baltic armies.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTH PACIFIC — Land-based Liberator bombers, intensifying the two-way drive on the Philippines, battered the big port of Davao without opposition in daylight Monday, it was disclosed today as American forces virtually completed their conquest of the stepping-stone islands east and south of the Philippines.

Tokyo Radio indicated that the Japanese feared an American landing in the Philippines was imminent. More than 50 Liberators of the Far Eastern Air Force carried out the attack on Davao, showering 120 tons of bombs on air-dromes, supply and personnel installations.

The heavy raid, first large-scale operation since carrier planes from Admiral William F. Halsey's Third Fleet hit Mindanao nearly two weeks ago, came as soldiers and Marines were cleaning up enemy forces on Morotai, 250 miles south of the Philippines, and in the southern Palau Islands to the east.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced that the Marines killed a total of 7045 Japanese, approximately three-fourths of Peleliu's garrison, in less than one week of bitter fighting on the strategic island, 560 miles east of the Philippines.

OFF TO THE WARS to entertain fellow servicemen go Sgt. Peter Badrich and aid sub-Pvt. Oscar O'Connell. Ventriloquist is stationed at Scott Field and hails from Hagerstown, Md.

ALL-MUSICAL TREAT HEARD BY ROTARIANS

Rotarians listened today to an unusually entertaining program consisting of vocal numbers sung by Mrs. Bill Prange, who is visiting her husband's relatives in Cisco. She is a California girl and is engaged in war work activities in that state.

At the business session, President J. W. Slaughter announced that repairs for the soldier's depot, sponsored by the Rotary club, had been made. J. E. Hays announced that some absentees each week were cutting down the usual good average of the Cisco club.

Mrs. Prange is the widow of the late Lt. Bill Prange, to whose memory she dedicated her songs. After singing several numbers, accompanied at the piano by Miss Marilyn Sertzer, Mrs. Prange was encored by the audience.

Other visitors were Mrs. J. W. Slaughter, T. F. O'Brien of Fort Worth and Jack Frost of Eastland.

A very marked feature of the Rotary club activities each week is the excellent singing, usually led by Ernest Hittson. All members take part and seem to enjoy that part of the program.

UNUSED LAND.

Governor Dewey, who never before had occasion to pay much attention to the West, has been learning some important things on his present tour. They are things that should interest the American people generally, no matter who makes the discoveries or spreads the information.

One of them is the tremendous amount of unused land in the West which might be used profitably. Americans from eastern states who have never been west would be amazed at the comparative emptiness of many vast areas, even in regions where water is available and the climate is reasonably good. Wyoming and other north-western states, as well as regions farther south, afford good examples.

Gov. Dewey points to the problem created by the acquisition of land in such regions on a vast scale, by investors who make little or no use of it, but hold it as an investment or a sort of Gargantuan playground. But still more important is the vast amount of land which, for one reason or another, is going back into the hands of the federal government. He finds that this kind of property now totals nearly 400,000,000 acres. It means not only an enormous withdrawal of land from possible use, but deprivation of the potential taxes which settlement would provide.

NAZI BRAVERY.

Some Nazis have one redeeming quality, stubbornness in the face of defeat. Examples are the "mad colonel" of St. Malo, and the Germans besieged in Brest, who refused to accept failure.

This is a quality that Americans can appreciate. It was possessed by Col. Charles W. Whittlesey of the "lost battalion" in the last war, and his famous reply (which he later denied making) to a call to surrender: "Go to hell!" It has been shown in this war by the last-ditch fighters of Bataan and Corregidor.

Some people may call the St. Malo colonel mad, but the American soldiers who faced him will call him super-brave. What a pity that this one fine quality has, in the Nazis, been so often marred by treachery and cruelty!

LIQUOR PROSPECTS.

Washington says that distillers may soon be allowed to make beverage alcohol again. Since the war began, nearly all such production has been put to military use. Alcohol is one of the most important war materials, and is used in the manufacture of many explosives and—otherwise.

The chances for a moderate "return to normal" in this line depends largely on the current corn production. If it proves to be a bumper crop, as is expected, a lot of it will be turned into bourbon whisky. That would make a "production holiday" in more than one sense. But the benefits—if they may properly be called such—will not be immediate. Corn takes more time to ripen in liquid form than it does on the stalk.

Constitution Day

This week has two important dates and they have somewhat of a similarity --- They both bring to mind the idea of equality. Constitution Day --- September 17, and Equinox --- September 21, with both meaning equality.

The equinox, which means days and nights of equal length and the days still growing shorter and nights longer, is usually a stormy time so far as weather is concerned. At this season of the year we usually have rain or storms or both.

This simile also extends to the date of the constitution adoption. And most certainly it was a time of storms in the minds of men. We had just won the right to make our own laws and govern ourselves, yet the privilege was being abused and most every colony was doing pretty much as it pleased regardless of the rights of others.

Now this great document grants to us the rights to do as we please just so long as it does not disturb the rights of others. Therein lies the hint of the Golden Rule which says we must treat others as we would have them treat us. Then to have rights for ourselves we must grant rights to others and do unto others as we would have them do unto us.

So this week we celebrate the anniversary of this great document which guarantees to us more freedom than has any other state paper in all history. Let us treasure it --- guard its every provision with our lives if necessary, so that these freedoms will be kept intact and sacred for our posterity as long as time shall last.

Help our soldiers uphold this freedom by giving freely of what ever is demanded of you.
