Eastland County Well Suited To Dairying, Claim

In order to promote more effective interest in dairying as one answer to the problem of developing a sound and prosperous agricultural industry in Eastland county to stabilize it after the war, the Cisco chamber of commerce will sponsor a visit of leading Eastland county farmers to Hopkins county next week. Several Cisco business men will accompany the group to view the successful program that has been developed in Hopkins county, which is rated as one of the leading dairy farming areas in the state.

Robinson, Native Ciscoan, Now Marine First Lieut.

Marine First Lt. William H. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Robinson of Ft. Worth, has been promoted from second lieutenant to his present rank, says a report from Camp Pendleton, Calif. Robinson, who served 39 months overseas, is in training at Camp Pendleton at a super-combat school for officers. He served overseas at Pearl Harbor, Midway, New Florida, Russell Islands and Eniwetok.

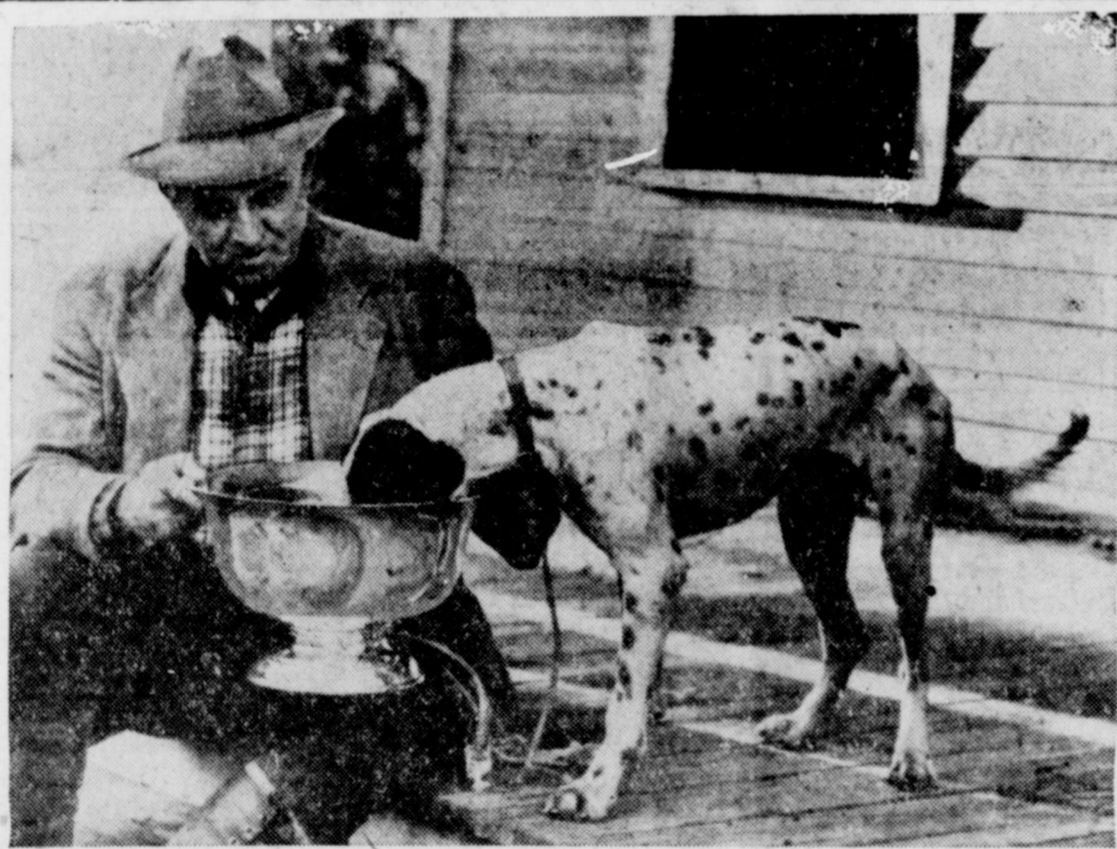

OFFICERS PROMOTED—Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift congratulates three officers recently promoted to full colonels somewhere in the Pacific area. Left to right: Gen. Swift, Col. Rowland O. Hudson, A. G. Tuckerman and Roy Lasseter. There were no cheering crowds.

Hopkins county resorted to farm dairies as the answer to an acute problem of farm conditions following the decline of cotton growing in that area. The result has been, according to records there, such a great increase in prosperity and soil fertility that sharecropping and tenantry has declined to the lowest point in the county's history while the number of farm owners has increased to the greatest degree.

Germans Say Red Offensive Is the Biggest of All

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Germans declared Saturday that the Red Army had launched a gigantic winter offensive with three mighty attacks in Poland, East Prussia and northern Hungary. The major assault, the Germans said, was from the Vistula river bridgehead, approximately 120 miles below German-held Warsaw. Admitting penetration of Nazi lines west of Baranow, Berlin described this offensive as "the biggest of all time."

DRINK FOR A CHAMPION—E. K. Sing, of Charlotte, N. C., gives his champion Richochet Guy, a drink out of Trammwill Scott Memorial trophy, which dog won in southeastern Regional Amateur Field Trial Association championship held at Pinehurst. Hound seems thirsty.

"Many methods of developing a dairy program have been tried, but there is only one sure method," said Mark Buckingham, aggressive Hopkins county agent, who was called from Dublin to that county to help promote dairying. "While conditions may differ between areas, the principles remain the same, and these principles must be observed in the fundamentals if you expect to make any progress. A dairy economy is something which does not come over night. We shall be happy to welcome your party and to show you what we have done and explain how it was done."

JUST COLD—This Belgian youngster isn't a stickler for style. Rescued after German siege, he was glad to get hand-me-down coat and muffler to ward off cold. Anyway, it fits well around the neck.

Current higher cash yields from farms in Eastland county offers what agricultural leaders believe is a good opportunity to promote a dairy program. Those farmers who are interested will have more resources to invest in good stock.

The Kraft Cheese company, which already has several important plants in Texas, and other large milk processing companies, are known to be planning considerable expansion after the war. Dairy products, not only as food but as plastic and synthetic sources for many commodities, such as clothing, etc., will be in greater demand than ever, these concerns point out. At least one of these plants has declared that it is definitely interested in coming into this area with a plant if sufficient milk volume can be assured.

Dairy experts declare that Eastland county is basically well suited to dairying and that a soundly based program of dairy development could be a success. The object of the Eastland county visit to Hopkins county will be not only to stimulate more interest in this development, but to discover in inspections of our dairy plants and in discussions with dairy leaders there how properly to go about a similar development in this county.

Musical and Pie Auction at Scranton Hi a Success

The musical and pie supper at Scranton last night, given by the Senior class of Scranton high school and sponsored by Mrs. John Leveridge of route four, was a fine success said Mrs. Roy Battle, a Saturday visitor to the Daily Press office. More than 200 people were present and $73 was cleared from the sale of delightful home-made pies. Pie auctioneers were B. T. Leveridge and J. L. Thornton of Cisco and Herbert King of the air forces. All three of the auctioneers were in good voice and spirits, kept the large crowd in good-humored rivalry and completely ignored OPA ceiling prices.

SHERIDAN PROMOTED. J. E. Sheridan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sheridan of route two, Cisco, with General Patton's Third army in Germany, has been promoted from second to first lieutenant. He is 25 years of age and has been overseas since last March. He was inducted into the army March 18, 1942. He graduated from Rising Star high school at the age of 17.

Nazi Back-Pedal Get Out of Pocket

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Three Allied armies fought into the Ardennes pocket today in a bid to prevent the Nazis from turning their salient into a barrier that would block a new Allied march on the Ruhr and Rhineland. The battle of the Ardennes was developing into a race by the converging American and British forces to overrun the entire salient before the Germans could dig in on a semi-permanent line along the wooded ridges extending northeastward from Houffalize to St. Vith.

MARYLAND NEGROES. CHANCE, Md., Jan. 13.—State police early Saturday took into custody two young Negroes as suspects in an outbreak of violence in which one white man was shot to death, another was wounded and two women were assaulted.

These eight were elected by the city commission from a list of 16 nominees submitted by the board of directors. They are J. R. Deen, N. C. Huston, J. D. Lauderdale, A. B. O'Flaherty, L. A. Warren, R. N. Cluck, H. H. Tompkins and P. R. Warwick.

Plugging Japs More Fun Than A Turkey Shoot

Mr. and Mrs. S. Boyd, 411 west Sixteenth street, have received a letter from their son, Byron Boyd, 22, seaman of the first class, which was written in the South Pacific on December 29. Excerpts from the interesting letter are as follows: Well, folks, plenty happened this Christmas. We missed your swell cooking, Mom, and the chance to give Dad a new pair of slippers (why does somebody always give him slippers?), but we tried to make up for it by kicking Tojo in the pants—twice. It was our Christmas gift to the folks back home.

You know, the army boys have been wallowing Tokyo with their B-29s and have made it pretty hot for the Nips. Well, the Japs have an island a few hundred miles from Tokyo that needed attention by our navy, and our idea of a Christmas gift was a bombardment of that island that the enemy would remember for several yuletides. Our job was to "discourage 'em," as Dad says when he gets out his old 20-gauge to snag a chicken hawk. And we really worked them over. We cruised up there first the day before Christmas. We had some cruisers and destroyers. The army worked with us and their B-24 bombers gave the Japs plenty to be worried in; some P-39s also went in and put the Nips in their foxholes (the idea was to keep their planes on the ground so they couldn't attack us.) They did a swell job.

Our targets were coastal guns, buildings, fuel dumps, ships, planes—anything with the Jap red circle on it. We followed the navigator's "track" around the island and pumped our big shells into their gun positions; we lobbed over plenty of five-inch stuff, too. It was really something! The noise was terrific. Powder fumes drifted back after every salvo and over a loud speaker the voice of our plane spotter came in, telling us the results of our fire. We plugged at them for over an hour. It was better than a turkey shoot, folks, and we left a lot of Christmas eve headaches for the Japs on the island that day.

Two of our destroyers chased a Jap destroyer 35 miles when she tried to escape. They caught her and sank her with shell fire. We also exploded a large landing ship. The captain of one of our destroyers and three men were wounded.

We gave the Japs on that island our second present right after Christmas, with trimmings. During that bombardment we fired a Jap escort gunboat and another large landing ship. The gunboat blew up and the ammunition in the other ship was still exploding when we went over the horizon. Those Nips were sorry to see this Christmas holiday.

We spent Christmas of 1944 firing those guns so we could all be together as soon as possible for a big Christmas at home. It made me feel pretty good, folks. Yours, BYRON.

STAFFORD WILL INSTRUCT. Technical Sgt. J. L. Stafford, 23, son of Mrs. Don McEachern, who is with the air forces in England, writes that he has finished his second tour of air missions in the European theater of war. The capable Ciscoan, who holds many awards for valor and efficiency, will remain in England as an instructor. Ray McEachern, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don McEachern, enlisted in the navy on January 11 and is now in California.

84 NIP SHIPS BLASTED; OFFICER SAID IT WAS SIMILAR TO SHOOTING SITTING DUCKS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—American air and naval forces, lashing at Japanese shipping from the Philippines to French Indo-China, sank or damaged 84 enemy vessels from convoys carrying reinforcements to the Philippines where U. S. Sixth Army troops were steadily driving inland from a 26-mile beachhead on Luzon, it was disclosed today.

The assaults on Japan's dwindling shipping resources and the successful American ground operations on Luzon apparently frightened the enemy war lords in Tokyo. The Japanese also reported that approximately 90 B-29 Superfortresses last night attacked Saigon, big naval base on the French Indo-China coast where carrier planes of the Third Fleet were striking powerful blows on enemy shipping and ground installations.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced at Pearl Harbor that the carrier planes in the first phase of the assault sank 25 Japanese ships, damaged 13 others and destroyed 39 planes. The attacks were made along a 250-mile stretch of the French Indo-China coast from Saigon north to Quinhon.

The ships included six and possibly 12 transports, a 5800-ton Katori class light cruiser and several destroyers or destroyer escorts. "At last reports, our service forces have suffered no damage and were continuing their attacks," Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced.

At least four Japanese convoys were hit in yesterday's strikes and it was theorized that some, if not all, had embarked on an attempt to move additional troops and supplies to Luzon, about 1000 miles to the east. Early advices gave no clue whether the convoys had been wiped out completely, but it appeared certain they had been forced to disperse, such ships as might have escaped may be overhauled yet and blasted to the bottom.

Nimitz said last reports showed that the surface forces suffered no damage and "were continuing their attacks." Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced at his Philippines headquarters that American naval units sank or damaged 46 Japanese freighters and coastal vessels attempting to land reinforcements and supplies at San Fernando.

SUBLETT FINISHES COURSE. Pvt. Jay G. Sublett, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Sublett of Cisco, has completed a four-week heavy tractor training course at the engineer school, Fort Belvoir, Va. He attended Cisco high school and entered the army Nov. 13, 1943. He worked with his father as a painter and also with the Magnolia Pipeline Co. before entering the service.

Political Turning Point of War Is Near; Watch Reds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Some of the best posted observers here are saying: One of the turning points of the war is likely within the next 30 days. It will be political, not military. In the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting don't count too heavy on Stalin agreeing to the Vandenberg formula—if the President offers it. Stalin is believed to be hewing to a cut-and-dried program which calls for a "Russian peace"—a sphere of dominance reaching from Narvik, Norway, to Fusan, Korea; and from the Barents Sea to the Persian Gulf.

Once that is a fait accompli, Russia will gladly sit with the big powers in the Dumbarton Oaks organization—again provided she can veto any United Nations action against her colonial empire. When the United States breaks the back of Nipponese resistance, Moscow will break with Tokyo—whether the Nazis have been finished off by that time or not. Russian plans in the Far East necessitate such a break, just as Russian plans in Europe necessitated a break with Poland.

Look for an early Muscovite move in the Dardanelles. Turkey will be required to give Russia free access to the Mediterranean from the Black Sea. Events in Yugoslavia are proceeding according to plan. Tito is to be dictator. The youthful King Peter is already being thimble-rigged. He didn't have a chance from the beginning.

JAPS SAY "READY." LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Tokio radio said Saturday that Manila, goal of American forces invading Luzon, would be defended "to the utmost. All defensive preparations in Manila have been completed," the broadcast declared. "Many Filipinos have volunteered for the Japanese army. All airfields are in a state of constant alertness."

DALLAS, Jan. 13.—A combination of circumstances, including flat pocketbooks, adverse war news, and draft reclassification threats, have boosted job seekers 50 per cent in this manpower region.

CONVALESCING—Cpl. Mae Finacune spent 17 months in Africa and Italy with WACS. Now she's home after convalescing in Vaughan General Hospital from injury received while on overseas duty.

PERVERTED SCIENCE.

We shall win the war. This, probably no American doubts. But it is the hardest, toughest, most dangerous and most troublesome war in which we have ever engaged.

In waging it we are obliged to abandon many of our old ideas. It is the first great war fought under the auspices, and with the instruments and methods, of modern science and technology. We seem to be only at the beginning of the chapter, as far as military science is concerned. And perhaps the saddest thing about the whole war is the fact that this scientific flowering, which idealists have expected to make an easier, pleasanter and more wonderful world, has been turned by a vicious enemy to human slaughter, in which we are forced to follow.

Is this fierce struggle between good and evil a foretaste of the indefinite future? If so, we might better have grown up on remote but peaceful islands in the South Seas, ignoring the great products of science and the mastery alike of brute creation and material things.

God grant that, after military victory, we may turn to wiser purposes our victories over Nature herself.

SAVING FINE ART.

Reconstruction of the damage done to churches in Tuscany, treasurehouse of Renaissance art, by German demolition or by bombing is proceeding apace. In some cases the injury to paintings and carving is indirect, a result of roof holes which let in sun and rain. In others, direct hits have destroyed the works of years of loving skill. The efforts of the inhabitants to save their treasures have been tremendous. Walls are being buttressed and temporary roofing installed. Perhaps the most difficult task was that attempted by a fresco restorer named Tintori.

This specialist in the restoration of fresco paintings—those done directly upon the wet surface of new plaster—lives within three miles of Prato, near Florence. In bombing raids upon Prato, the house and sanctuary of Filippino Lippi, famous fifteenth century painter, was hit and one of his loveliest frescoes, "The Madonna and Child," blown into bits. Tintori, even while the bombs fell, collected every minute fragment of plaster. Finally, with about 5,000 tiny pieces in his workshop, he started the big job of putting them together. Today, after ten months of work, the picture may be enjoyed again without any repainting at all.

As long as there are craftsmen of such devotion, civilization has a chance to revive.

March, 1928

(Files of Cisco Daily News)

Seventy-two citizens of the Pleasant Hill community engaged in an all-day rabbit hunt yesterday (March 15), in which 321 rabbits "bit the dust." It was a great day, according to R. L. Poe, who was one of the number. Pleasant Hill is Mr. Poe's old home community, and although he now lives in Cisco, he never fails to take an interest in the doings of the community. The men were divided into two armies, commanded by R. L. Tucker and Parks Poe, each leader having 36 men. They drove the rabbits and dispatched them with shotguns whenever the opportunity afforded, and their efforts show that it was a good day's work. Mr. Poe states that the most enjoyable hour of the day was spent at N. S. Kinard's tank, where the women of the community met and spread dinner for the rabbit hunters. It was a great feast, and the association and good fellowship was in every way worth while. Those present from Cisco were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Poe, Mrs. Charles Clifton, C. O. Pass and Jim Collins. A similar hunt is planned for the country near Carbon for next Thursday, in which it is expected more than 200 men will engage in the drive for rabbits.

The campaign for $10,000 to apply on the indebtedness of the First Methodist church, scheduled for this week has been called off. The reason is that the $10,000 will be in hand by 8 o'clock this evening if all the membership can be seen today, Rev. P. T. Stanford said today (March 19). One of the most unusual services in years was experienced yesterday morning. It was "Every Member Day" for the First Methodist church and a number of laymen and laywomen were called on to speak concerning the raising of the $10,000 this week. No plans had been made to take an offering and it was so stated in the church's publicity, but the congregation requested the pastor to take an offering after the following laymen had talked: J. M. Williamson and William Reagan rehearsed briefly some of the history of the church; Mrs. George Winston, president of the Woman's Missionary society, was called on and responded with an inspiring talk, and she in turn called on Mrs. William Reagan, treasurer of the Woman's Missionary society, who spoke in glowing terms of the work of the church in behalf of the society. The ladies of the church presented $2,000 to apply on the campaign. George Winston and J. D. Barker, Mrs. W. E. Ricks and others made talks. When the service was over approximately $7,000 of the $10,000 had been given.

CHURCH BOARD GUESTS AT DESSERT LUNCHEON.

Mrs. W. J. Armstrong and Mrs. J. S. Mobley were joint hostesses at a dessert luncheon Monday afternoon in the dining room of First Christian church. Members of the executive board of the women's council were invited guests.

The dining table was covered with linen cloth and centered with blossoming potted plants of red with green foliage. Lighted red tapers in candelabra stood at each side of the centerpiece. Other room decorations carried a red and green color scheme. A special point of interest was a table covered with an imported Chinese cloth on which were placed a map of southeast Asia and a World Call magazine which depicted the council study for the next six-month period. The table was centered with red flowers and the cloth was one purchased by Mrs. Armstrong from a missionary who visited in Cisco several years ago.

Mrs. W. J. Armstrong poured tea, using a Chinese tea set; place cards were miniature hand-painted china.

Places were marked for the council president, Mrs. J. S. Mobley; first vice president, Mrs. Sam Kimmel; second vice president, Mrs. George Atkins; secretary, Mrs. W. J. Armstrong; treasurer, Mrs. Guy J. Ward; World Call secretary, Miss Alice Bacon; missionary chairman, Mrs. John Elkins; pastor's wife, Mrs. J. R. Wright; pianist, Mrs. Charles R. West; group leaders, Mrs. James Haynie, Mrs. H. H. Davis, Mrs. Homer H. Tompkins, Mrs. Rex W. Moore and a special guest, Patty Nell Haynie.

A business meeting followed at which detail business affairs were transacted.

Constitution Day

The Years Serve to Strengthen the Worth of This Great Document--

It's Our Job to Keep it Living Forever

Our nation's constitution means as much, or more, to the people of this generation as it did over a century and a half ago when it was drawn up. Millions of American lives have been given to perpetuate the liberties it guarantees to us so long as we keep its principles intact. Countless words have been spoken to impress all the people of this country and those liberty-loving peoples of the earth who dream of such an instrument for themselves, but who have not yet attained that goal.

Today, we are fighting in foreign land that despotism may not steal to our shores and rob us of its guarantees.

Our leaders have called upon the American people to carry on in our homefront as never before, to the end that our soldiers may win the battle which seemingly grows stronger against us as the snows of winter descend in blasting fury on the Allied Armies on the German front.

We must not let the softening influence of more wealth and luxuries blind us to the stern facts that confront this nation. We must forget selfishness and mortal greed if we would perpetuate the liberties granted by this great document.

It is ours to enjoy so long as we guard its provisions with our earnest efforts at home as well as at the fighting fronts. Let's ask ourselves seriously just what we can do, and then do it.
