Qualls Told Rotarians About U. S. Marines

Cisco Rotary club climbed to first place in the upper-ten bracket as a result of perfect attendance, which became the ninth consecutive such meeting at yesterday's luncheon. Heading the list of 58 clubs in the district, is no mean attainment, the Rotary district governor thinks.

The program consisted of a talk by Lt. James Qualls of the Marines, who was presented by O. J. Russell, program chairman. Other guests of Mr. Russell were L. H. Qualls and Lt. Robert Donovan. Other visitors and guests were C. W. Geue, past president of Eastland Rotary club; Rev. Houston Walker, guest of Rev. Arthur Johnson; Charles Graham, introduced by Pete Nance; Lt. Gail Jones, guest of E. P. Crawford.

President J. W. Slaughter retired as head of the club by handing the gavel to W. W. Fewell, president-elect, after having a record of thirteen times for his club in the upper-ten attendance division in the district. The club members stood as a body as a tribute of appreciation to Mr. Slaughter for his service during the year. Mr. Slaughter explained how hard it had been for him to attend to his club duties and at the same time carry on his business during the man shortage, and said he wished that he might have had more time to devote to club activities.

Lieutenant Qualls began his talk by giving a brief history of the Marines corps, telling of its organization following the Revolutionary war and describing its activities since that time, including the part it played in the move against the pirates in Tripoli and during the Mexican war.

He then told how the Marine uniform had been devised and traced changes to the present, adding much information regarding the work of the staunch, truly great American organization.

He then told how the Marine uniform originated and explained each change made in it to the present time. He also told of the number of divisions in the Marine Corps prior to the outbreak of the present war and of the number of divisions that has been added and of the places in the Pacific where each division has fought against the Japs.

Qualls gave a very vivid account of the part the Marines have played in the conflict with the Japs, describing in detail much of the difficult fighting and hardships. Following this he told a number of amusing incidents that occurred in the battle for Guam and Iwo. One of these incidents was about a Japanese prisoner who wanted to know why the Marines were taking a part in the fight, as it was the Jap understanding that they had declared war against only the United States army and navy, and had not included the tough do-or-die Marines.

Lt. Qualls interrupted his narrative of Marine fighting to pay a glowing tribute to the men who are fighting in the Pacific area, and also to the Medical corps and the work it is doing. He told of one medical corpsman who was released to go home, but after being away for only one night he reappeared for duty rather than go home and leave the fighting men who needed attention.

Qualls did not mention his own wounds until asked to tell about it. He then explained in detail the incidents leading up to the action in which he was wounded.

With only nine men left out of a full platoon of 45 men he was moving forward at night to caves where the Japs had holed up. He and his men had forced the Japs to run into a valley where they machine-gunned them and shelled them with mortars. When he had only two men left he called for a fire team, which consists of four men. Later, another man was wounded in the leg and a medical corpsman was shot in the back,

Henry Stubblefield Named J. P. By Co. Court

The county court this week appointed Henry Stubblefield of Cisco as justice of the peace for precinct six, following resignation of Judge Will Brown, who held the position four years but is now making his home in Temple. John Akers of the Dan Horn area will serve as deputy under Mr. Stubblefield and will make daily reports to the Cisco office.

Mr. Stubblefield, pioneer citizen and responsible man, is well known, having served as county commissioner of this precinct as well as holding other local positions of trust through the years.

Judge Brown made an excellent official until his health broke about a year ago and he was compelled to ease up and later went to Temple for special medical attention. Since that time the important office has been vacant, but Mr. Stubblefield's appointment is expected to restore it to thorough functioning immediately.

Service of Thoroughly Trusted FBI Invaluable

The identification division of the FBI in Washington, which serves as a national storehouse of fingerprints and other identification data, has completed 21 years of service to law enforcement officers in this area. During this time the FBI's fingerprint collection has increased 11,403.5 per cent.

In making that announcement, A. P. Kitchin, special agent in charge of the Dallas field office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, related that FBI records available to local police officers constitute the greatest collection of this type in the world.

"Director J. Edgar Hoover commenced the present file of 97,200,000 fingerprint cards with a nucleus of 810,188 received from the International Association of Chiefs of Police and the Federal Reformatory at Leavenworth, Kansas, in 1924. Fingerprint contributions are received from 12,438 agencies and during the fiscal year just ended, approximately 30 percent of the people arrested and fingerprinted had prior criminal records. Nearly 15,000 fugitives are located by the FBI for local law enforcement agencies each year through fingerprints. There are 83,000 persons in the United States for whom Wanted Notices are on file with the FBI."

Mr. Kitchin said facilities of FBI's Identification Division are available without charge to all law enforcement agencies and it is possible to determine whether a person has a criminal record in a matter of minutes. FBI experts are equipped to handle any type of identification problem. Prior to the war, information was exchanged with almost every country in the world and even now, despite communications difficulties, a fingerprint exchange is maintained with forty-five nations.

You are invited to attend any or all of these services says L. L. Walker of Moran. On Sunday lunch will be served and there will be singing in the afternoon.

and while Lt. Qualls was removing his men from the operation he was wounded. He stated there were 196 Japs killed out of a force of 200 in this operation.

Four Jap Cities Burn After Visits From Big Supers

GUAM, June 29.—Smoke rose to 20,000 feet over the big Japanese shipbuilding center of Sasebo and three other enemy industrial cities this morning after fierce fires were started by from 450 to 500 Super Fortresses, returning crewmen said.

The cloud cover screening the target cities glowed "like a red hot plate," said the bomber crews, who reported that fires were visible from 50 to 70 miles away.

One E-29 ducked under the cloud cover and the crew said the coal and iron port of Moji—one of the targets on northwestern Kyushu—was well hit and fires were getting a good hold as the plane left. Large explosions and fires were observed over Nobeoka, producer of chemicals and explosives on eastern Kyushu.

Super Fort crews said that the heat over Okayama was so intense "it burned a hole in the overcast." Bombing was visual over Okayama, which is the site of many small war plants, including aircraft parts.

The unrelenting war of annihilation from the sky caught the Japanese without a defense. Not a single enemy fighter plane rose to meet the intruders.

OPA Has Turbulent Time Both Houses Congress

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The conference report on the OPA extension bill, passed by the senate in a turbulent session last night, headed for a house session today which observers predicted would be even more turbulent.

The senate's turbulence was partly due to a Southern filibuster against the FOPC; the house's turbulence is expected to center on the OPA bill itself.

The measure passed the senate at 9:20 p. m. last night by a vote of 40 to 8.

House Republicans are reportedly waiting for it with the intention of making an organized fight to send it back to conference for more amendments favorable to the farmer.

FREE SPEECH COSTLY.

Mills, science instructor at Washington High School, who allegedly made disparaging remarks about President Roosevelt at a memorial service the day after his death. The teacher was accused of remarking to a class, "For the first time in 12 years I can pledge allegiance to America."

LEGION MEMBERSHIP.

Dr. E. R. Ammons Elected District Governor Lions

Dr. E. R. Ammons of Riverside (Fort Worth) Lions club was elected to head District 2-E for the year beginning July 1 at a joint business session of the district and state organizations Thursday at Abilene.

District Governor Ammons succeeds Gov. Ivan P. Oliver of Stephenville. Herb Peetry of Carizo Springs was elected International director from Texas.

Although the convention had been limited to a one-day business session this year, it had an enrollment of 425, the largest for several years, if not for all time.

The International convention will be held in St. Louis during the week beginning September 10. Cisco Lions attending the Abilene session were Carlos J. Turner, H. R. Garrett, Jack Anderson, O. L. Stamey and W. H. LaRoque.

3-Church Union Services Start Sunday Evening

For the past several years Cisco Presbyterian, Christian and Methodist churches have united for the Sunday evening services during the months of July and August. These services have been popular and well attended. One feature has been the combined choirs of the three churches, and it is expected that the choir and congregational singing will be an outstanding feature this summer.

The services will be held on the spacious lawn of First Methodist church and every thing is ready for the first of these meetings this summer, which will start Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Singers from the three churches are asked to be on hand to lead the congregation in the worship through song.

The first sermon will be delivered by Rev. J. R. Wright, pastor of the First Christian church and a cordial invitation is extended the public to attend and enjoy the blessing and comfort of the outside worship.

FEAR OF HOMELAND INVASION AND DAILY DESTRUCTION OF JAP CITIES, IS THE CAUSE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Tokyo today reported a mass movement of Japanese industry from bomb battered and invasion threatened Japan to Manchuria in a redeployment plan aimed at laying new foundations for fighting a long war.

Japan's mounting fear of the invasion was reflected in a Tokyo report that U. S. parachute and mountain troops had been moved into the Aleutians. Japanese broadcasters coupled with the report a warning that Japan might be attacked from the north as well as the south.

American Superforts struck another powerful blow in the strategic reduction of Japan's homeland war potential today. Some 40 to 500 of the big bombers crashed more than 3000 tons of fire bombs into a south Japanese naval base, two seaports and a training center in a pre-dawn attack.

The Japanese, describing the air battle over Kyushu as the curtain raised to the decisive battle of Japan, said the Americans already were attacking from 10 air fields on newly captured Okinawa. Alarms sound on Kyushu often more than 50 times a day, they said, and it was feared that a further step would keep the island in a state of alarm constantly.

Radio Tokyo said Japanese industrial plants were being shifted from the homeland to Manchuria on a big scale. By this means, it added, the Japanese hoped to set up a defense system to withstand a long war and to provide the means for seizing the initiative when possible.

The transfer to Manchuria was described as even more vital to Japan's war effort than the dispersal of war industries on the home islands in an attempt to escape American air raids.

On tiny Tarakan Island the Allies today began getting back the oil the Japanese stole in 1941—the oil needed now to power an invasion of Japan. The rich, black oil can be piped right into ships without refining.

The Japanese reported that the three-weeks' long naval bombardment of Balikpapan continued, and that minesweepers still were operating in the bay there.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters at Manila confirmed that the 7th U. S. fleet, led by Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, was on the prowl in the Macassar Strait between Borneo and Celebes. The MacArthur communique said the fleet had destroyed three enemy planes.

Truman Favors U. S. Tie-in With A World Republic

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 29.—President Truman continued his leisurely vacation pace today after a startling proposal of a world republic as the only effective antidote for future world wars.

The President confers with Alf M. Landon, former Kansas governor and 1936 Republican Presidential candidate, today and plans to attend a newspapermen's party for his press secretary.

Mr. Truman said last night, "it will be just as easy for nations to get along in a republic world as it is for us to get along in a republic of the United States."

RE-EDUCATING NAZIS.

Teachers in our schools get a back-handed testimonial to the importance of their profession from a 65-year-old German priest, who says, "The history books of Germany today are the preparations for wars." He says they must be completely revised. "Teen-aged German youths must be forced back to their classrooms to learn that Hitler was a devil, not a god."

This story challenges Americans to keep ever in mind that liberal education is the most fundamental process of a democracy. When the free spirit of education is crushed, and the people permit it to be crushed, the nation is already far along on the road to dictatorship.

Perhaps among the lessons learned from this war will be that of renewed respect for America's universal public education. It is easy to take this for granted, or even to complain about the high cost to the taxpayer. But a major part of the enormous public debt of $240,000,000,000 this nation now owes can be charged to the fact that Nazis were permitted to stifle or befool the springs of German education.

HOW SOLDIERS VOTE.

Politicians are already worrying about how the returned servicemen will vote. Some light may be thrown on this by the defeat in his Alberta district of Canada's premier, Mackenzie King. He won on the civilian vote, but the soldier ballots, counted separately, turned him down for the candidate of the more radical Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

In our own election last fall the soldier vote was counted separately in seven states. In all seven, President Roosevelt ran better among servicemen than he did among civilians. In one, Colorado, he got an actual majority of the service vote though the civilian ballots carried the state for Dewey.

The returned service man may be glad to get back to God's country, but all indications are that he would like to see some changes made in it.

Frozen Hopes.

Saying what a man earns, expressing it in cents per hour or dollars per year, does not tell much about the measure of prosperity he enjoys. Good living depends on so many things that change from time to time and differ from place to place. Prosperity depends, in very large part, on what people must pay for the things they need and want.

Putting the conveniences and luxuries of life in reach of a large number of people helps to build a nation's prosperity. Franklin's discovery of electricity became a great discovery when electric lights began costing less than oil lamps. The automobile became a great invention when cars were priced down where only rich people could afford to own horses.

Plain people pay richly for favors; plain people are so many. Names like Edison, McCormick and Ford stand for huge estates because these men did a real service for a lot of plain people. It is because they hoisted a whole new standard of living in a free country. Thousands of men have done the same thing on a smaller scale and profited handsomely.

Actually, the thing that inspires mechanical inventors to invent, the thing that fires scientific explorers to explore, is the chance to earn from a free people the rich reward for a valuable service. Once upon a time in the United States of America men who had ideas could afford to develop them. They can't do it now. How I hope those days soon return.

Big Ideas on Sale.
Edison, McCormick and Ford didn't need to hawk their ideas, neither did Bissell, Denton, Parker and O'Sullivan, but Foster

Gunnison had to sell his. Gunnison's inventions came later. Do you ask, "Who is this Gunnison man?" Well, he is a great inventor, not yet famous. But, unless I miss my guess, he is America's post-war Henry Ford.

Gunnison invented a prefabricated house and worked out a plan to build it in mass production. His units were scientifically constructed, insulation built in, thoroughly modern in every detail. Individually, his house models are so different that a tourist might drive past 100 of them in a row and never guess that they were drawn by the same architect.

I could talk for hours about Gunnison houses. They come in eight sizes with great variety in looks. They are far better than any house possible to build of old-line materials in any community for the same money. They have everything from bathtub to garbage grinder, economy and convenience; a poor man's palace, amortized to $1 a day. But the inventor sold to the U. S. Steel Corporation. — Why?

He lacked capital and, under today's tax laws, never could make much profit. The giant corporation can run the project in the red and deduct early losses from war profits, most of which the government will take anyway. Unless our war-time tax laws are changed, every fertile idea in this inventive nation will have to hatch under the wing of some huge corporation that exists already.

RELATIVES HONOR RADIOMAN RICHARDSON.

Honoring Clayton Richardson, navy radioman, a group of relatives met in the home of his sister and husband Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Agnew Sunday for a family reunion. A fine picnic dinner was served to the group at Lake Cisco. Wednesday they were entertained in the home of their uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Eppler with a fish dinner, the fish being furnished by a cousin, J. T. Richardson. They were entertained again on Thursday night with a picnic supper and swim at Lake Cisco.

Relatives participating in the events were Clayton Richardson, Handley; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Agnew and daughter Wanda Jean; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Richardson and son Wayne, Freeport; Mrs. R. W. Smith and three children Ronny, Glenda Kay and Sherry Lynn, Odessa; Mrs. Lynn Robertson, Handley; Mrs. S. A. Gasperek and children Bobby and Nicky Lee, Laredo; Miss Daltis Rae, Floydada; Miss Muriel Potter, Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. Marguerite Pittman and son Gary, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Taylor of Cisco and son Pfc. Elvay Taylor, Camp Hood; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Richardson and son Johnny Bob; Patsy Agnew, Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Agnew and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Eppler. A group of friends joined them in the picnic supper Thursday evening.

Radioman Richardson joined the navy July 9, 1941, and was stationed at Pearl Harbor for three years as radio-technician, but has been on submarine duty for the past year. Having joined the navy before finishing high school, he has been able to complete five and one-half credits toward graduation by applying himself to study when off duty. He only lacks a credit in English now to be able to graduate and hopes to finish that soon.

He enjoyed a visit with his brother Wendell Richardson, naval storekeeper at Guam, during February. Needless to say the boys were delighted to see each other, as it was the first time they had been privileged to do so in three years. He will report for duty at New Haven, Conn., at the expiration of his leave in July.

WORKERS CONFERENCE WAS WELL ATTENDED.

Workers' conference of Cisco Baptist association met with East Cisco Baptist church Thursday for a one-day inspirational meeting. A splendid meal was served at noon by ladies of the church to 165 people. The assembly was called to order at 10 o'clock with a devotional period and the program for the day was sponsored by young people groups of the association.

Rev. Sam Taylor of Rising Star brought the morning sermon at 11:30 and separate business meeting.

Back in the Good Old Days—

... the most of the lawyers compiled their own abstracts. The records were simple and few. But how times have changed! Today, the modern abstract office is a mass of indices, field notes, files plats, tracings and copy taken from hundreds of records at the Court House — all coordinated, assembled and classified in systematic order by trained personnel with years of experience in title work. The abstract has become absolutely essential in every real estate transaction.

LAKE CISCO AMUSEMENT CO.

The World, the Peace and Andy Gribbin.

It takes people to make a house a home and it takes people to make the earth a world. That's what the world is—people. Andy Gribbin here is the essence of the world because he's just about as small as people can be.

Now an important thing about Andy Gribbin's education is that his whole early life is spent in learning the essential business of cooperation, of getting along with fellow-beings. First, he has to learn how to fit into his immediate family, learn the give-and-take necessary to get along with brothers, sisters, elders.

Then, after a few years, his world enlarges, he is sent to school. Pretty soon he learns how to spell C-A-T, a moderately useful thing to know. But about this same time he learns something much more valuable, which is that he mustn't pull the cat's tail because a cat is a being, and therefore entitled to certain inalienable rights.

He also learns that 1 plus 1 equals 2. That also is fairly useful. But much more useful is learning that 48 equals 1, that 48 states make 1 nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

As Andy grows up his world will continually expand. At church, at school, in business. And through it all will run the theme of cooperation, of getting along with people of different religious, political and economic beliefs; with people some of whom he doesn't even like.

But—the tragedy of world history is that the Andy Gribbins have not learned that in a constantly shrinking world, cooperation must extend beyond the borders of the country; that just as it is necessary to get along with neighbors and neighbor states, so is it necessary to get along with neighbor nations.

And today, with no spot on earth more than sixty hours away by plane, with oceans shrunk to the width of rivers, with the age of rocket-travel upon us, all nations are neighbor nations.

There are hopeful signs that finally we are awake to this. There are hopeful signs that Andy Gribbin will not face a World War.

Even so, a lack of determination, of responsibility, of effort could again ruin the peace and set the stage for World War 3.

What can you do to help make sure that war will never come? You can . . .

First, get and keep yourself informed about the specific proposals for peace and international cooperation which are now before us. Read and listen to the discussions of them. Ask your Public Library, school, church for material on them.

Second, interest your friends in these questions. Get them discussed in any social, labor, business, religious or other groups to which you belong.

Third, say what you think—for or against—in writing, to your Congressman and Senators, to your newspaper. Declare yourself. Speak up.
