Ball Says Legal Immunities of Unions Must Be Curbed

TO EXPLAIN CITY MANAGER PLAN

Wendell Bedichek, managing editor of the Abilene News-Reporter has accepted an invitation to address the Cisco Junior chamber of commerce at its regular meeting next Monday night.

The meeting will be held in the roof garden of Laguna Hotel and will be open to the general public, said Charles Burke, Jaycee president, who urges a general turnout of Cisco voters, both men and women. The starting hour is 7:30.

The visitor's subject will be "The City Manager Form of Government."

Mr. Burke stated that it is not the purpose of the Cisco Junior chamber of commerce to try and convert Ciscoans to the city manager plan, but that Mr. Bedichek, being a recognized authority on that subject, had been invited to come here and explain its workings.

The speaker, Burke said, will be glad to answer any questions that may be propounded.

The literary events of the interscholastic league was the theme of a very timely talk by Principal G. H. Wells, at chapel exercises Tuesday morning. He congratulated the students and coaches for the excellent athletic record of the high school teams this year. He complimented the individual members of the team for their good work, both on the athletic court and in the class rooms and he made it plain that he did not want to detract a thing from their credit. But he also warned the student body that they must not become enthused over the athletic events at the expense of the literary events in the county meet.

A near tragedy was averted by the quick wits of the teacher and pupils of the Grammar school when Helen Pelfrey's clothes caught fire from the open back of a gas stove, a teacher in the school said. Students and the girl's teachers quickly tore the burning clothing from the child's body, saving her life. She was not very seriously burned, it is reported, and is back in school. It is said the accident was due to leakage in the stove and that there was no cap on the back of the stove, and when a fire was started flames shot out through the open back, enveloping the child.

61 Citizens Pay Mrs. G. L. Harper Poll Tax to C. Secretary at 4 A. M. Today

Miss Susan Haynes, chamber of commerce secretary, who is now accepting poll tax payments at her office, stated this morning that she had already issued 61 receipts.

The plan whereby poll tax payments can be made locally instead of traveling to the county seat, was arranged for by Glen Boyd of the Cisco Junior chamber of commerce.

It is reminded that all citizens under 60 years of age who wish to participate in the city and school board elections to be held in April, must provide themselves with poll tax receipts before the end of this month.

It is also reminded that all bonafide residents who have passed the 60-year milestone may vote without having a poll tax receipt.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. — Sen. Joseph H. Ball, who is quarterbacking Republican senators' drive for new labor legislation, said today that a solution to labor problems is to eliminate or curb "the special privileges and legal immunities" of unions.

The Minnesota Republican made the proposal before the Senate Labor Committee as it opened hearings on legislation which promised to bring a broad congressional review on national labor policy. Ball is a member of the committee.

Ball said the "arrogant defiance" last month of John L. Lewis, chief of the United Mine Workers, was the logical culmination of that development.

Ball said the government had strengthened the power of unions and their leaders, while decreasing their legal duties and responsibilities.

BUFFALO CHURCH GUTTED—Firemen battle this spectacular three-alarm fire which virtually destroyed the Church of St. Mary of Sorrows in Buffalo, N.Y. Damage was estimated at $300,000. Preparations were under way for the Church's 75th anniversary.

Atlanta Bank Is Honoring Checks of Gov. Thompson

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 23. (UP) — Funds of the State Highway Department and State Revenue Commission were temporarily held up today because of the tangled Georgia gubernatorial campaign.

State Treasurer George B. Hamilton announced that highway department funds, including several government checks, could not be turned over to the department until the senate confirms the department treasurer.

Meanwhile, acting Gov. M. E. Thompson announced that an Atlanta bank handling most of the state's business, is recognizing him as acting governor and has honored checks drawn by him on a $100,000 executive department account.

Jury Says May Got $53,000 in Corrupt Manner

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (UP) — Former Rep. Andrew J. May, D. Ky., today was accused by a federal grand jury of corruptly receiving $53,000 in cash, checks and land from the fabulous Garsson munitions combine.

The jury put the finger on the former chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee in an indictment which charged him and the Garsson brothers of conspiring to defraud the government by "dishonest, unlawful, corrupt, improper and undue pressure and influence."

May, described by a former employe of the combine as "guardian angel" of the firm, had insisted he never profited "by a single penny" from his dealings with the Garsson combine.

Portal Pay Suits Cause government Lot of Trouble

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (UP) — The government demanded today that the Mount Clemens Pottery Co. case, key portal-to-portal pay suit, be thrown out of court unless evidence can be produced of more unpaid working time than is now claimed.

The demand was made in a brief filed by Atty. Gen. Tom C. Clark with federal Judge Frank A. Picard of Detroit.

Picard will decide the Mount Clemens case under a supreme court mandate to determine how much of the unpaid working time claimed by 289 pottery workers is substantial enough to require payment.

Meanwhile, Phillip Wenchel, chief counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, told a Senate Judiciary sub-committee the government would have to pay out some 60 per cent of all portal wage awards in tax refunds.

HOUSE BANK REOPENS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. — The house of representatives "bank" reopened today after an enforced 17-day holiday, and, despite a $125,000 shortage, managed to dig up enough money to change a $100 bill so a congressional secretary could buy breakfast.

Harriman Finally Approved as Commerce Secretary

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (UP) — The Senate Commerce Committee

today unanimously approved the nomination of W. Averell Harriman to be secretary of commerce after he denied allegations that he took part in a railroad freight rate "conspiracy."

Harriman has been serving an interim appointment as successor to Henry A. Wallace, who resigned as secretary of commerce after criticizing U. S. foreign policy.
