COLLEGE COMMENTARY.

By ROBI ROBINSON and SPIES.

A swell time was had by all at the birthday supper last Thursday for Miss Juanita Hagar, freshman here at College. It was her 19th (birthday, not supper). Those present to enjoy the delicious meal—as well as the cake—were Marie Lucke, La Velle, Edith Simmons, Frankie Brown, Dwan Jackson and the honoree Miss Juanita Hagar.

There were assemblies of both the freshman and sophomore classes Friday at 10:25, to determine the favorite girl of each class. Bobbie Tullos was voted the favorite freshman girl, and the sophomores chose Wadia Lea Fields as their favorite.

At the last meeting of the Veterans' club Friday, more details were discussed concerning the dance to be held February 14. We know now that it's to be at the Country club, and tickets will be $1 per couple, $1 stag. The dance is restricted to vets attending college and their dates. Appointed to various committees were Tom Billy Smith, Darwin Miller and Billy Beth Bacon, Decoration committee; Linton Benge, Clyde Ailsop, Melvin Stokes, Jack Wilkinson, Jack Leveridge and Ed Browne, refreshment committee.

Say, there'll be a quick meeting Wednesday afternoon to settle a couple of things—the time will be posted on the bulletin board. We spotted quite a few of our colleagues at the basketball game Saturday—but almost all of them were the players. Several of the faculty were there—besides Coach Hudgins and Mr. Webb, we noticed Miss Waid rooting for our side, as well as Mrs. Stamey and her family. But the number of students attending was negligible. Now is that any way to support our team? The game was good and interesting, too, although Wayland led 57-36. The story might be a little different if we behind them show enough interest to attend! How about that, at the next game?

There was a meeting of the Speech club Monday at 5, but guess the word wasn't around well enough, because not too many showed up. Buck Cleveland, president of the club, presided; but many of the important matters had to be postponed till the next meeting. That meeting will be at 1:45 Wednesday in the English room. Teachers are asked to excuse members of the Speech club from class at this time. To be discussed are try-outs for a play, initiating of new members, a photograph of the club for the annual, and various other things.

Gotta be dashing now—Seya Thursday. C. J. C.

CONCERT FRIDAY NIGHT.

The third number of the Eastland county community concert association, Don Cossacks Russian chorus and dancers, will be presented at Eastland high school auditorium Friday night. Starting time is 8 o'clock and ticket holders are reminded that this number will probably be one of the most interesting of the series.

Linotype Machine Cisco Folks Gave Cannot Be Bought Total of $1,386.57 For Love, Money to the Polio Fund

A. E. McCorkle, traveling salesman for the Mergenthaler Linotype company of New York, called at the Daily Press office today. McCorkle's visit was in response to an inquiry from the Press concerning the purchase of a third typesetting machine.

McCorkle stated that it would be impossible to deliver a new machine earlier than 16 months from date, and that factory-rebuilt machines, once numerous, were entirely out of the picture. An order for linotype parts placed today cannot be shipped for at least six weeks, the salesman said.

The great linotype plant is now working full-time following a long strike by the workmen, but the hitch now is that the steel and other metal that goes into the manufacture of typesetting machines cannot be had in sufficient quantities.

E. T. Thomas, chairman of the Cisco infantile paralysis drive, which started January 15 and ended January 31, told the Daily Press this morning that the total amount contributed by Cisco people was $1,386.57.

Mr. Thomas considers this a very generous contribution for Cisco and extends thanks to all those who contributed to the campaign in any manner. He expressed particular thanks to the Women's auxiliary of the American Legion, which furnished a large number of workers from the time the drive started until its close.

Southwestern Life New Business For January $7 Million

With more than $7,000,000 of new business written during the month just closed, word received here today from Richard R. Lee, of Dallas, vice president and agency director, indicates that Southwestern Life Insurance company's agency organization is continuing the business strides achieved during the past year.

New life insurance written by the company in January was within $188,000 of that written during the same period of 1946, Lee announced.

Combined annuity and new life insurance written during the past month exceeded that produced by Southwestern Life's agency organization during 1946, he said. In January, 1946, it was more than $8,370,000. Total such business written during the month just closed was in excess of $9,700,000. The announcement was released to the company's local Southwestern Life representative, Jack D. Lauderdale.

Patterson Rushes to the Aid of Mr. Lilienthal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (U.P.)—Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson threw his support behind David E. Lilienthal today in the face of a major shift in senate Republican sentiment that threatened to block Lilienthal's confirmation as chairman of the atomic energy commission.

Patterson's surprise appearance before the joint congressional committee on atomic energy underscored the administration's growing alarm over the long delay in getting confirmation of Lilienthal and the four other atomic commissioners appointed by President Truman last fall.

Congressional sources indicated that Army Chief of Staff Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower also might testify before the hearings close.

TEACHERS' PAY BILL.

AUSTIN, Feb. 11. — Rep. Woodrow W. Bean of El Paso today introduced a "Teachers Pay Bill" to be financed by an increased natural resources tax rate. He estimated the increase would put an additional $22,000,000 per year in the available school fund. "The bill is a reasonable compromise for finding funds to pay the teachers a decent salary," Bean declared.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Congress was told today that coal operators will refuse to pay tonnage royalties to the United Mine Workers'—ALF—health and welfare fund after the government turns the mines back to private owners—even if it means another coal strike.

Collective Bludgeoning.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (U.P.)—Steel fabricating companies today accused the United Steel Workers—CIO—of refusing to bargain collectively and asked congress to outlaw "unionwide" bargaining.

A spokesman for the fabricators told the senate labor committee that the USW had resorted to "collective bludgeoning" rather than bargaining in the 1946 steel wage dispute.

The fabricators were told to accept the terms of the basic steel agreement "or else" he testified.

The spokesman spoke after Sen. Wayne Morse, R., Ore., had criticized the closed shop, but questioned the constitutionality of legislation to outlaw it.

Legislature Gave Budget Committee Rural Teachers tee Trying to Fix and Others Boost Spending Ceiling

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—Rural school teachers, state employees and welfare recipients in Texas got a $9,205,765 financial boost from the legislature Monday.

It finally passed emergency bills releasing $1,784,100 to 15,948 teachers, at a rate of $300 a year each; a $3,140,000 supplemental allocation to old age assistance recipients, needy blind and dependent children, and appropriating $1,315,713 to raise salaries and $65,652 for traveling expenses of state employees.

All three bills go next to Gov. Beauford H. Jester, who recommended them to the legislature two weeks ago.

The welfare bill raises to the constitutional limit of $35,000,000 a year for allocation for the aged, the blind, and dependent children. Its final approval in the legislature came when the senate accepted a house amendment which will apply to future transactions, but not the past, a prohibition against granting state funds to any person who has transferred property within the preceding two years in order to qualify for a pension.

The house acted finally upon the other bills, passing them overwhelmingly and without changing the terms laid down by the senate. The teachers' aid bill will pay $75 a month for the next four months to those paid under the state equalization (rural aid) law, which fixes the salaries. Other Texas teachers received raises last fall from a supplemental payment of state per capita apportionment funds.

Four bills were enacted in the house raising salaries of departmental, eleemosynary, college and judiciary employees and increasing from $4 to $5 a day the amount allowed them for room and meals, while traveling. The salary hikes apply equally: 15 per cent for the first $2,600 a year of any salary and 5 per cent for the portion between $3,600 and $5,000.

Osteopaths Join Chiro in Battle With Allopaths

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—The proposed "basic science law" for Texas today was in a senate public health sub-committee for "thorough study" after medical doctors, chiropractors and osteopaths clashed in a four-hour public hearing last night.

A 9-to-4 vote by the senate's committee on public health, before which the hearing was held, set up the sub-committee and gave it two weeks in which to report.

The proposed legislation, sponsored by the State Medical association, would set up a board of six members to examine and license all who practice "the art of healing." Requirements would include a high school education and the passing of an examination in basic science. Present practitioners would be exempt.

Chiropractors charged the bill was aimed directly at putting them out of business. Osteopaths joined them in their opposition. Dr. Merton Minter of San Antonio, also representing the state medical association, said it was "dangerous" to let anyone practice who could not pass the basic examination.

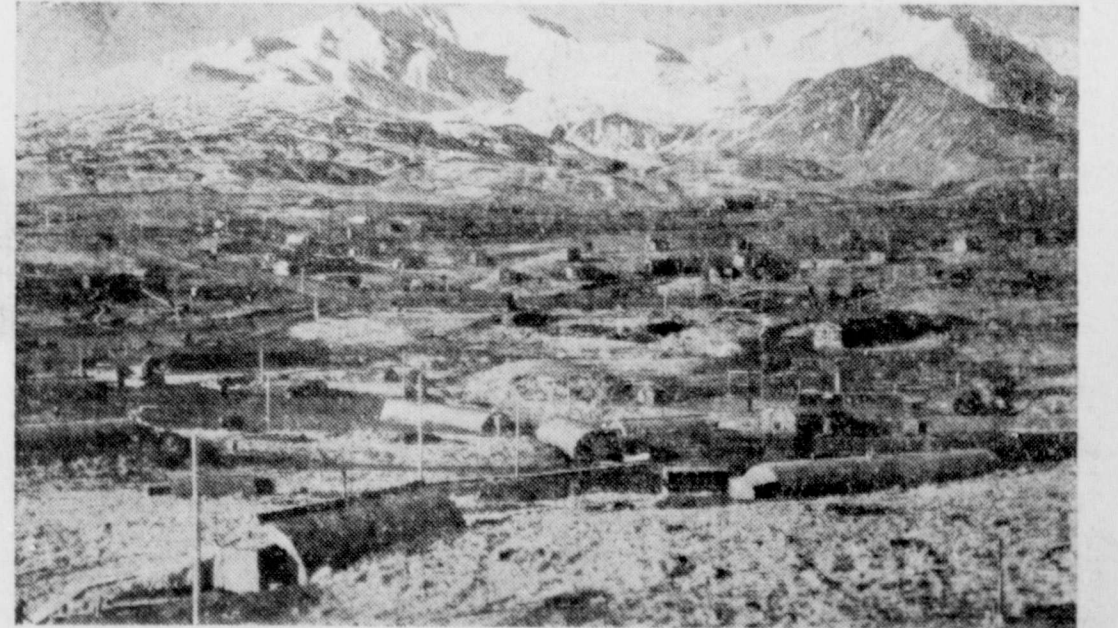

Dr. Phil Russell, Fort Worth osteopath, declared himself as one who wouldn't be able to pass the examination without a review. "And medical doctors won't pass it either if I give the examination on anatomy," he added.

PROPOSED BASIC SCIENCE LAW NOT NEEDED IN TEXAS

(Ft. Worth Star Telegram).

A bill to establish a state board of examiners in the basic sciences of the healing arts was considered at a hearing before the Senate committee on public health at Austin Monday night.

This measure, popularly known as the basic science bill, has been widely represented by its proponents as being in the interest of the public health. Whether enactment of the bill would, in fact, improve public health in Texas should be the paramount consideration of the committee.

Inasmuch as this bill is part of a plan which contemplates the subsequent repeal of portions of the 46-year-old Medical Practices Act and the amendment of other portions of it, as well as parts of the penal code relating to the practice of medicine in Texas, it is a subject which touches closely the welfare of every man, woman and child in the state.

Because of this and the heated controversy which the bill has stirred up, The Star-Telegram has carefully analyzed the proposed basic science bill, as well as the provisions of the present Medical Practices Act, under which the state has been regulating the practice of all phases of the healing arts for the last 46 years.

This analysis leads to the conclusion that enactment of the basic science bill would not result in any improvement in the practice of medicine in Texas and passage of the bill therefore is not necessary in the interest of the public health.

On the contrary, enactment of the basic science bill is a dangerous and wholly unnecessary tampering with the time-tested and proven Medical Practices Act.

Furthermore, enactment of the bill would necessitate either the creation of additional licensing boards for each of the several schools of medicine now represented in the state, or would result eventually in the minority schools being effectively barred from practicing in the state.

We do not believe that the creation of several additional licensing boards, each with its own staff and attendant expense for travel and salaries, to do the work now being done efficiently and effectively by a single board (the competent and highly-regarded State Board of Medical Examiners) is in the public interest.

It is a snare and a delusion to argue that the expenses of these several boards and their staffs would be paid out of fees assessed against applicants for licenses. If the fees were insufficient to cover expenses, which is quite likely, the deficiency would have to be made up out of the state treasury. And in any event, the cost in the long run would be passed on to the people of the state.

If the thinking of members of the Legislature is attuned to the evident desires of the people, more effort will be exerted by the current session toward consolidation and elimination of boards, bureaus and commissions than to searching out reasons for accepting excuses for the creation of new ones.

The creation of additional licensing boards, of course, would be a prerogative of the Legislature.

If after establishing the proposed board of examiners in basic sciences and a new board to pass on licenses for allopathic physicians, the Legislature should decide against the establishment of boards to pass on licenses for osteopaths, homeopaths, eclectics, chiropractors, naturopaths and possibly other schools of medicine, the effect would be to preclude new practitioners of such schools from establishing themselves in Texas.

The obvious result of such a policy would be to give allopaths, now the dominant school of medicine in the state, a monopoly on medical practice in Texas.

With due regard for all that allopathic physicians have done toward the advancement of the medical science in general, we submit that creating a monopoly for them or any other particular school of medicine definitely is not in the public interest.

We recognize, of course, that adequate knowledge of the basic sciences is a necessary prerequisite for the competent practice of all schools of medicine. Examination in these basic sciences already is required by the present Medical Practices Act, and every applicant for a license to practice medicine in Texas must pass such examinations to the satisfaction of the State Board of Medical Examiners before he is permitted to do business.

Section 1 of the proposed basic science bill states that "no person shall be permitted to take an examination for a license to practice the healing art or any branch thereof, or be granted any such license unless he has presented to the board or officer empowered to issue such a license as the applicant seeks a certificate of proficiency in anatomy, physiology, chemistry, bacteriology, pathology and hygiene and public health as issued by the State Board of Examiners in the Basic Sciences."

And here is what the present Medical Practices Act says on the subject of medical licenses and examinations: "All applicants for license to practice medicine in this state must successfully pass an examination before the Board of Medical Examiners. Examinations shall be conducted on anatomy, physiology, chemistry, histology, pathology, bacteriology, diagnosis, surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, hygiene and medical jurisprudence."

It will be noted that the proposed new law requires examinations in but six subjects, whereas the present Medical Practices Act not only requires examinations in the same six subjects, but in six additional subjects as well. It appears that this would weaken rather than strengthen our present medical laws.

If, as is probable, examinations in the six subjects not mentioned in the basic science bill should also be required, enactment of the proposed bill would not be an improvement over the present law. We then would be just where we are now. It would be legislation without apparent purpose.

Our present medical laws, with minor revision, have afforded the public adequate protection ever since 1907. Let's leave well enough alone.

Unfair Trade Bill.

Rising Star Record: We note that the famous, or infamous, so-called Fair Trade Bill has again been introduced in the Legislature. To our way of thinking it should be correctly called the Unfair Trade Bill. Powerful interests outside the state have had a big lobby in Austin working for the passage of this bill for the past several years and this year our own

Senator Pat Bullock, has not only brazenly come out in support of the bill, but is one of the co-signers. If this bill is allowed to become a law it will allow eastern and northern manufacturers to set the price of everything you buy. This law will allow them to not only set the price the merchant pays for the goods but also set a price for him to sell at. In other words, if a merchant should wish to reduce his prices as a special inducement for trade, he would be violating the law.

If you don't want to have the big interests say what prices you are going to pay for the merchandise you buy, get busy with your representatives by letter or wire and ask them to fight this vicious bill to a finish.

Eastland county people should write both Turner Collie and L. R. Pearson, House of Representatives, Austin, Texas, and do it at once. In our opinion now is the time to get rid of all price controls possible and for pity sake, not to add others. Don't wait for "George" to do it. Write Messrs. Collie and Pearson today. Brown county citizens should write, or contact Hon. C. L. South at the same address.
