H. M. Baggary, publisher of the Tulia Herald favored the News with a visit Friday afternoon. During our conversation with Baggary the Republicans, and their fellow travelers, the John Birch Society, didn't fair too well. Of course the gathering of two was unanimously Democratic. Baggary is probably the most prolific weekly newspaper writer in the entire country. He has a column, "The Country Editor", which is devoted exclusively to politics and things political, and which probably accounts for the circulation of the Tulia Herald throughout the nation. Another column "About Town" deals with folksy news items and human interest squibs of one kind or another. On the Editorial page of the Herald Baggary produces a column titled "Thoughts for Thursday". This column is devoted to any number of subjects including theology, the professions, philosophy, etc. Then, too, there will always be a lengthy editorial dealing with some timely topic, most likely politics and it is locally produced, as no canned editorials appear in Baggary's paper. In addition to these special features Baggary gathers and writes all the news appearing in the sixteen to twenty page paper each week. If you think that's not a chore just ask Nelda Thomas, our news reporter, or anyone else that has had the responsibility of meeting even a weekly deadline.

The only reason that I can think of that would make it possible for Baggary to produce the enormous amount of material each week that carries his bi-line is the fact that he is a bachelor. All of his waking hours must undoubtedly be devoted to his newspaper. The fact that H.M. has the time and the journalistic ability to debunk the Republican bunk that is the everyday diet of the reading public in regional daily papers, he deserves and should get the support of area Democrats and what few democratic papers there are in the Golden Spread. Baggary never misses an opportunity to call attention to the philosophy of hate, mistrust and contempt appearing in the A to Izzard column in the Amarillo Morning News. He also alerts his readers to the fact that there are two principal, recognized ethical newsgathering agencies operating throughout the nation and the world, the AP and the INS. These two newsgathering agencies are in the business of gathering and reporting factual news. A service that the public should expect and demand of their daily newspapers. But of late readers, who are forced to depend on the Amarillo Daily Morning News for their early reading, are fed a bunch of editorialized news stories with a credit line to the Chicago Tribune News Service. The Chicago Tribune is a Republican newspaper and it has a perfect right to be as republican as it can get. But by the same token the public has a right to factual news reporting of current events whether political or what have you. Mr. Izzard hollers to high heaven about the government managing news and then on his own does as blantant a job of news managing as can be conceived by a John Birch Society infected mind.

While here Baggary had an opportunity to see the new ammonia plant, the new radio station, and the new Castro County Hospital, all under construction, as well as a number of new residences and others in all stages of construction. And then, to give him the full treatment, he was given the cook's tour of the new high school building. Being a former teacher, of sorts, that really made him set up and take notice. High School Principal, Alvis Fuquay, took time out from his official duties, as set forth by Paul Hilburn, to show us through the new building and explain the purpose of the many and varied new gadgets. As a result of superb planning Dimmitt probably has one of the finest, if not the finest, high school plants in West Texas, or anywhere for that matter. There's no need of me trying to give a description of it here, but it has anything but that I ever saw at Sandy Ridge or Mud Springs either. Being a teacher Baggary could appreciate the new innovations more readily than I could. I was very attentive to Mr. Fuquay's explanations of the various facilities embodied in the modern school plant, but for the life of me I don't see how you can have school without a study hall. Classes are alright but they can be overdone. The idea of going from one class to another without an opportunity to set in a study hall and relax, or maybe put some more coal in the stove, or maybe slip outside and bum a short from some kid that had a pack, has certainly reduced the possibilities of a well-rounded education. I honestly believe that with all the hallways they have in these modern schools I could have gone to school all year without attending a class. The possibilities are tremendous.

Behrends Retires After 25 Years Volunteer Fireman

George John Behrends is the first fireman to be retired from the Dimmitt Volunteer Fire Department. He has served 25 faithful years on the force.

Behrends says, "I joined the Fire Department in 1933 but no official records were kept until 1938. So he has officially served as fireman since 1938."

Behrends was presented his first pension check, Tuesday night at the Fireman's Supper. He is 65. He will receive a monthly check.

Behrends was born March 6, 1898 at Gilmore City, Iowa. He moved to Castro County in 1928. He moved to Dimmitt in August, 1933. He joined the fire department in October, 1933.

Behrends commented, "When I started to work in the Department there were five other firemen. We had a 1929 fire engine." He recalled one famous ride in the old fire truck. He said, "We were going to Hereford. We decided the truck wasn't traveling fast enough so we hooked it to a car and zoomed along about 60 or 70 m.p.h."

Behrends decided the worst fire he remembers and also the scariest was about five years ago when a train collided with a butane tank here which caught on fire. It also burned Jack Gregory's elevator.

The fire remembered the most by Behrends was when Hays implemented had a shop at the back of their building which caught on fire. There was so much pressure on the water hose that it blew the nozzle off. All the firemen ran leaving George Behrends and Brad Fuller holding the hose. "It wasn't that I didn't want to run, I couldn't," commented Behrends. "If we had let go of the hose, it would have whipped back and forth and beat us to death," declares the veteran fireman. He grinned, "Finally someone cut off the fire hydrant and stopped the danger."

Behrends declares, "Fireman is dangerous work and hard work but I had lot of fun working too. I liked my job."

The veteran fireman emphasized, "I want to thank Guy Waldrop and James Slough for helping me to get this pension."

According to Waldrop, Behrends will still be subject to calls but he won't be required to do any actual fire fighting. He will just keep the people from running over hose and take care of other such details.

Grain Sorghum Chat

By Wes Anthony

If you have not been out in the country lately and seen the fine crop, you have really missed something. Of course, we have some weeds, too.

Did you know that Castro County is the third ranking county of the world in the production of grain sorghum? And that one half the nation's cotton was raised in Texas and that the Plains raises a large portion of this?

When the grain sorghum producers were organized there were no Grain Sorghum exports and now approximately one fourth of what we raise is exported today.

An eastern-raised girl had gone to the west and married a Western boy. They were sitting at a cafe eating their breakfast. She was eating a large sweet roll with nuts - it. A cowboy passed by and said, "Whew, I couldn't eat that thing it looks too much like a cow chip." After the cowboy had gone she said to her husband, "What part of the cow is that?"

"Ticket sales are now 40 per cent ahead of last year when an all time record average of 17,000 fans per game was set," declares Greenhoe.

Men Needed For State Patrol Ranks To Curb Increasing Traffic Deaths

The Texas Department of Public Safety is in need of approximately 100 "better than average" young Texans to fill the ranks of the Highway Patrol and help stem the tide of traffic tragedy and rising crime in the Lone Star State.

Applications will be accepted until September 9 for a training school which begins November 19 at the DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin where qualified men will participate in a police training program second to none. Trainees will receive salaries while in training, application may be made by men 21 to 35 years of age through any Department of Public Safety office, or by contacting a DPS patrolman.

The following will be applicable for men selected for the November 19 school:

1. The school will be for Highway Patrol personnel exclusively; all applicants selected for training will be assigned to the Patrol Service.

2. Every effort will be made to assign them to stations within 100 miles of their present homes.

3. Upon graduation, the new Highway Patrolmen will benefit by a pay increase from the present $412 per month to $453.

Highway Patrolmen also receive the following benefits:

Two weeks vacation annually, 12 or more holidays each year as provided by the Legislature, 12 days per year sick leave which may accumulate to a maximum of 36 days, $10 per month added to salary at the end of each five years to a maximum of 25 years, modern liberal retirement system based on age and years of service, social security benefits, traveling expenses when away from station as prescribed by law, group hospitalization and life plan available, uniforms and the necessary equipment to perform duties furnished.

PUBLIC TRUST IS SACRED

"The career jobs offered actually are more than just jobs—they are positions of sacred trust in an organization whose people have earned for it the respect of not only all Texans, but everyone who comes to or travels through our great state," said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., department director.

"The satisfaction of serving and protecting his fellowmen is the priceless possession of each of our patrolmen. We invite young men who can meet the requirements to secure the full facts concerning the rewarding careers offered in the uniformed ranks of the Department of Public Safety, by contacting a patrolman or one of our officers."

During the course of their study at the Law Enforcement Academy student patrolmen are given intensive training in such subjects as Texas Highway Law, Traffic Accident Investigation, Emergency First Aid, Professional Driving, and Firearms Technique. In addition to the classroom work they are taught self-protection by means of judo, boxing, wrestling and various other police-protection methods. While in attendance at the Academy they will be brought into top physical condition.

SATISFYING CAREER

The training of a Highway Patrolman is a test of an individual's intellectual, emotional and physical stamina. It is an educational process which prepares him for one of the most self-satisfying careers in public service—Law enforcement.

REWARDING SERVICE

In his training he is taught to recognize and control any situation that might arise from dealing with people under emotional stress. He is prepared for dealing with unusual situations under adverse conditions. The very nature of police work is demanding on the law enforcement officer but it is also very rewarding. It deals with getting people to conform to the rules and regulations of society with a minimum of friction.

The Highway Patrolman's duties are as varied as the geography of the state in which he patrols. A day's duty may consist of tracking a tornado in the swirling sands of West Texas or rescuing a stranded citizen along a hurricane-swept coastal area. It may involve the high speed pursuit and apprehension of a flagrant traffic law violator or wanted criminal.

This is a specialized profession only for young men of above average intelligence, with high moral standards and unusual physical courage. The Highway Patrolman's primary job is much like that of a shepherd—supervising traffic on the highways, which includes accident investigation traffic direction and traffic law enforcement.

By his presence on the highways of Texas the Highway Patrolman has the opportunity and duty of assisting motorists in distress, whether it be helping change a tire or rendering first aid to someone critically injured in an accident—this same aid often being the difference between life and death.

EXCELLENT ADVANCEMENT

At the end of two years of satisfactory performance a patrolman is eligible to compete in promotional examinations to advance to the rank of sergeant, or to vacancies which may exist in the Narcotics Section, the Intelligence Section or in other specialized services of the Department of Public Safety. He also is eligible for the Safety Education Service and, after five years the patrolman may apply for promotion to the storied Texas Rangers.

PUBLIC PROTECTOR

For 28 years the Texas Department of Public Safety has been carrying out its duty of protecting the people of Texas in an era of trial and transition during which the present-day concept of law enforcement has evolved.

The department was created by the Legislature on August 10, 1935, at a time when it was realized that the state's part in crime prevention and traffic control was inadequate and improperly organized. The law provided that the department be composed of three divisions: the Texas Rangers, the Texas Highway Patrol and the Headquarters Division.

From this beginning the department has grown with the State of Texas into the far-flung organization it is today. Many new tasks have been added to its duties and responsibilities.

To meet these responsibilities and the problems they present, the department has the following specific programs: crime control, police traffic supervision, driver licensing, motor vehicle inspection, safety responsibility, accident records, safety education, civil defense and disaster relief, and police training.

NEED IS GREAT

The current need for men to fill the ranks of the Texas Highway Patrol may be seen in the light of the continuing upward spiral in traffic death and crime across the State of Texas.

Traffic fatalities in the first seven months of this year ran seven per cent higher than in the same period of 1962—which means that nearly 100 more persons lost their lives tragically and violently on the streets and highways. Unless this trend is broken, it is entirely possible that the 1963 traffic toll will exceed the all-time high of 2,611 recorded in 1956.

Crime to Texas as well as across the nation has been outstripping the population increase for many years. For the first six months of 1963, an

Hobert Kilgore Participates In Swift Strike III

Army PFC Hobert Kilgore Jr., whose father lives on Route D, Nazareth, Tex., is one of more than 75,000 armed forces personnel who participated in Exercise SWIFT STRIKE III, a U. S. Strike Command exercise in Georgia and North and South Carolina.

SWIFT STRIKE III pitted two task forces against each other in a month-long mock war which ended Aug. 16.

Kilgore, a driver in Troop A, 4th Squadron of the 2d Infantry Division's 7th Cavalry at Fort Benning, Ga., entered the Army in November 1961 and completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

The 24-year-old soldier attended Peabody High School, Hillsboro.

Increase of 6.2 per cent was recorded in the major crimes of murder and homicide, rape, robbery, burglary, aggravated assault, theft and auto theft in Texas.

Patriotic young Texans who are qualified for the Highway Patrol are needed to do their part toward halting these trends and at the same time embark upon a life-time career of security and service to mankind.

Watershed Size Influences Need For Conservation

An area of land contributing to run off water at a given point is called a watershed. These watersheds vary in size from a few acres to hundreds of thousands or even larger.

Substantial watersheds are often made up many small watersheds. These small watersheds can be separated from each other, at the same time, they are all connected to the one larger watershed.

For example, a river and all of its tributaries and drainage areas would be a watershed. Then each tributary and the drainage area common to it would be the smaller watershed.

For watershed protection and flood prevention, an entire watershed is analyzed to determine the amount of water which runs off from heavy rains. Then it is determined how this water can best be handled. Some water may be retained on the land by use of terraces or contour farming or use of both.

In other cases diversions and waterways or drainage ways are needed. Retention dams are used to hold water until it can be carried away at a safe rate which will not cause floods or erosion.

In this area much of the land is in small watersheds, many of which are only on one farm, and many more only have two or three farms that contribute to the drainage.

In controlling water erosion on these small watersheds, it is necessary to analyze the problems and then it can be determined how to solve them. In some cases it may be cultivation methods and row direction which will help the problem. This would be true on short gentle slopes. On long or steeper slopes, it may be necessary to use terraces or diversions which will retain the water near where it falls or in some cases divert it to a safe outlet. This outlet maybe on permanent grass, or a waterway that extends to a suitable place of release.

The conservation farmer is aware erosion, though very slight, can in time damage the land so good crops are impossible to produce.

The services of the Soil Conservation Service technicians, assisting the Running Water Soil Conservation District, are available to farmers of the district who are interested in developing and carrying out a better plan of operation on their farm. This service includes analyzing the problems, developing with the farmer a plan which will suit him and his farm and other technical assistance as needed to carry out this plan.

It must always be kept in mind, that one area may be helped by a certain practice, but at the same time, damage be done to another area. Therefore, it is necessary to analyze the entire watershed and work to benefit it.

"Looking Through The Knot Hole"

With Myrtle

Hello there; have you been to John Nichols store lately? Well go down and see the new fixtures for lighting your home.

Lighting is called the fourth dimension in Interior Decorating. It can create drama, intimacy, safety, relaxation and privacy.

The right light is a unifying and vitalizing force, your draperies and furniture texture can be made a special thing. Your rooms, with the proper lighting, creates your own personality, mellow, gay, intimate or exciting. Choosing the right light is not easy. There are so many different styles and designs. Some are petite or enormous. There are the charming wall sconces, as small as your hand or the regal crystal chandeliers large enough for a ball room, and many more that will in the average family house and pocket book. I have the "Progress Book on Lighting", this company is the worlds largest producer of house lighting and related electrical products.

I want to tell you of some of the more outstanding designs and the rooms pictured. This might help you decide the pattern you want. In a small wood paneled wall, 5 dramatic-pendants in a lacy design, hang from the ceiling in front of the fireplace, these are in antique white. Looking through the big door into the dining room in blue wall paper and draperies, hangs a hand decorated white chandelier, over the maple table.

In another small living room, there is pictured the contemporary walnut trimmed pull down lighting fixture. These pull down lights come in several styles and colors and can be used over your reading chair or in corners to save space. They give a nice clean modern look.

For the larger house, the entrance hall light is a pretty chain pendant with inverted crystal bowl, over electric candles, looking into the big living room is a cascade of glittering crystal pendants and lights reminding you of a fountain spray. This makes a dramatic focal point in this sumptuous setting. The walls of the foyer are in fine wood paneling, with other walls in fine imported Coronado paper.

Another picture of hospitality is an Early American room in greens and Maple, has the American three chain, lights with the white globes and the single white chain light over the Maple buffet.

You must go see the light fixtures, you would surely like the "Casablanca" a Spanish inspired fixture in wrought iron, either black or antique white both with brass. This pretty fixture has the ageless romance and color of Spain and Mexico.

The "Tole" is a delightful flower of the French Provincial. The chain pendant with five hand decorated lights in white with gold tole painting. The hanging lamp in antique gold and white with the big shade would be so pretty in your living room or any room. The Americana is one of my favorite lights for the den. This recalls an America that is serene, secure, a nation of warm friendly homes. This has Opal glass shades over frosted chimneys and antique bronze finish bowls.

Do you remember the gay nineties? Neither do I, but if you see the pretty light called the "Delmonico" with its bold authentic gas light reproduction with 6" opal globes, hand crafted filters and canopy, you will remember the stories your granddad told of those rollicking days, and you will want to see the pretty lights that are on chains and pulls in many styles, some round in lacy design, a Japanese Lantern, the smooth modern globes, round and elongated some of these single globes in China with delicate carvings, the Opal glass and frosted hyperion ss. This is called the garland collection all made by Progress Light-Co, and all of these and many more are sold by John Nichols at Nelson & Nichols Lumber Co.

(Pd. Adv.)

See till next week.

USDA Announces Grain Program's Major Provisions

The U. S. Department of Agriculture today announced the major provisions of the 1964 voluntary feed grain program, designed to continue the progress made since 1961 in balancing supplies with needs and to protect incomes of feed grain and wheat producers as fully as possible.

The 1964 feed grain program will be basically the same as the successful 1963 program. In line with producers' recommendation, the Department has held changes to the fewest consistent with law and economic circumstances.

The major change is an increase in the top limit on diversion from a farm's base acreage with an increase in the rate of payment for maximum diversion. This change is intended to encourage producers to divert additional feed grain acreage and to increase their income. In 1964 a producer may divert as much as 50 percent of his feed grain base acreage.

Because of a new provision of law for determining average yields used in computing payments, State and county yields for 1961 and 1962 will be averaged with the 1959-60 yields, which were previously used.

Officials said that in preparing the 1964 feed grain program careful consideration was given to the alternatives which could help maintain income from wheat while continuing progress in meeting the feed grain program objectives—increasing farm income, reducing Government stocks, and reducing costs to taxpayers.

The program announced today assures cooperating corn producers of price support at $1.25 per bushel (national average) compared with an estimated 80 cents which could have been expected if new feed grain legislation had not been enacted by the Congress last spring. Wheat prices can also be expected to stay above the estimated 85-90 cents a bushel that would have been likely without an effective feed grain program. However, Department officials pointed out, even the improved program for effect on wheat prices will not prevent a drop in wheat income.

The total national average price support levels in 1964 will be the same as in 1963, with a slightly larger proportion of this support to be made available in the form of loans.

By individual feed grains covered by the program, the support loan and payment division will be as follows:

Corn (Per Bu.) Loan rate, $1.10, Support Payment, $0.15, Total Support, $1.25.

Barley (per Bu.) Loan Rate 0.84, Support Payment, 0.12, Total Support 0.96.

Grain Sorghum (per Cwt.) Loan Rate, 1.77, Support Payment, 0.23, Total Support, 2.00

Two rates of diversion payment will be offered as before, but the higher rate may be applied to more acres. The payments will be computed as follows:

A. Producers who divert at least 20 percent of their base acres are eligible for payments computed by multiplying the diverted acres by 20 percent of the normal yield times the county's total price support rate for the feed grain diverted.

B. For diversions between 20 and 40 percent of their acreage, participants will earn payments or this part of the diversion at a rate of 50 percent of the farm's normal yield times the county support rate.

C. Those who divert 40 to 50 percent of the base (or 25 acres if this is greater) will receive the 50 percent maximum rate of payment on all acres diverted.

D. Under a new legal provision, payments may not exceed 20 percent of the value of the land diverted. Payments in kind for both diversion and the non-loan part of the price support will again be made in the form of negotiable certificates with which the producers may receive grain from CCC stocks or cash at the county ASCS office if he wishes the assistance of Commodity Credit Corporation in marketing the certificates. Part of the price support will be provided through loans.

The sign-up period for both fall and spring sown crops is planned for early 1964.

As in the past, eligibility for payments and price support is conditional upon maintenance of normal acreage (1959-60 average) in soil-conserving crops or practices, including summer fallow and idle land. Also as in the past, a producer who owns or operates more than one farm will be eligible to participate in the program on one farm only if, on each of his other farms, the feed grain base is not exceeded.

Requiring the normal acreage to be maintained in conserving use insures but any planting of wheat in excess of the allotment on a complying feed grain farm would have to be at the expense of some other soil-depleting crop. Thursday, after extensive consideration, the Department has decided not to make eligibility for feed grain program benefits in 1964 contingent on staying exactly within the wheat allotment, if any, for the signed farm.

As indicated by Secretary Freeman's press conference statement on June 26, the Department also considered including a new provision, now permissible by law, under which feed grain program participants also complying with a wheat allotment could be authorized to substitute wheat on feed grain acres or feed grain on wheat acres. This provision was not adopted. The decision was based on a careful review of the effects of this provision on producers' income and discussions with agricultural leaders, including members of the National Agricultural Advisory Commission. It was concluded that in 1964 the complexities of this provision outweighed any possible advantages that might result in limited areas. The program announced today will support farm income and reduce government grain stocks and costs more effectively than would alternative measures, and will be the same time keep the program as nearly like the 1963 program as possible.

Producers who planted up to 30 acres of wheat for home use under the so-called feed wheat exemption during any one of the years 1959, 1960, and 1961 will have their 1964 feed grain base increased to the extent that the 3-year average of such wheat plantings exceeded 15 acres, which has been allowed them as wheat history. This is a provision of law.

In view of the above-average level of barley stocks on July 1 and an expected harvest sufficient for all purposes during the current Marketing year, malting barley acreage in 1964 will not be excluded from the diversion requirements of the feed grain program. A decision will be announced later with respect to the production of minor non-surplus crops on acreage diverted from feed grains.

1964 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM IGNORES WHEAT ALLOTMENT PROVISION

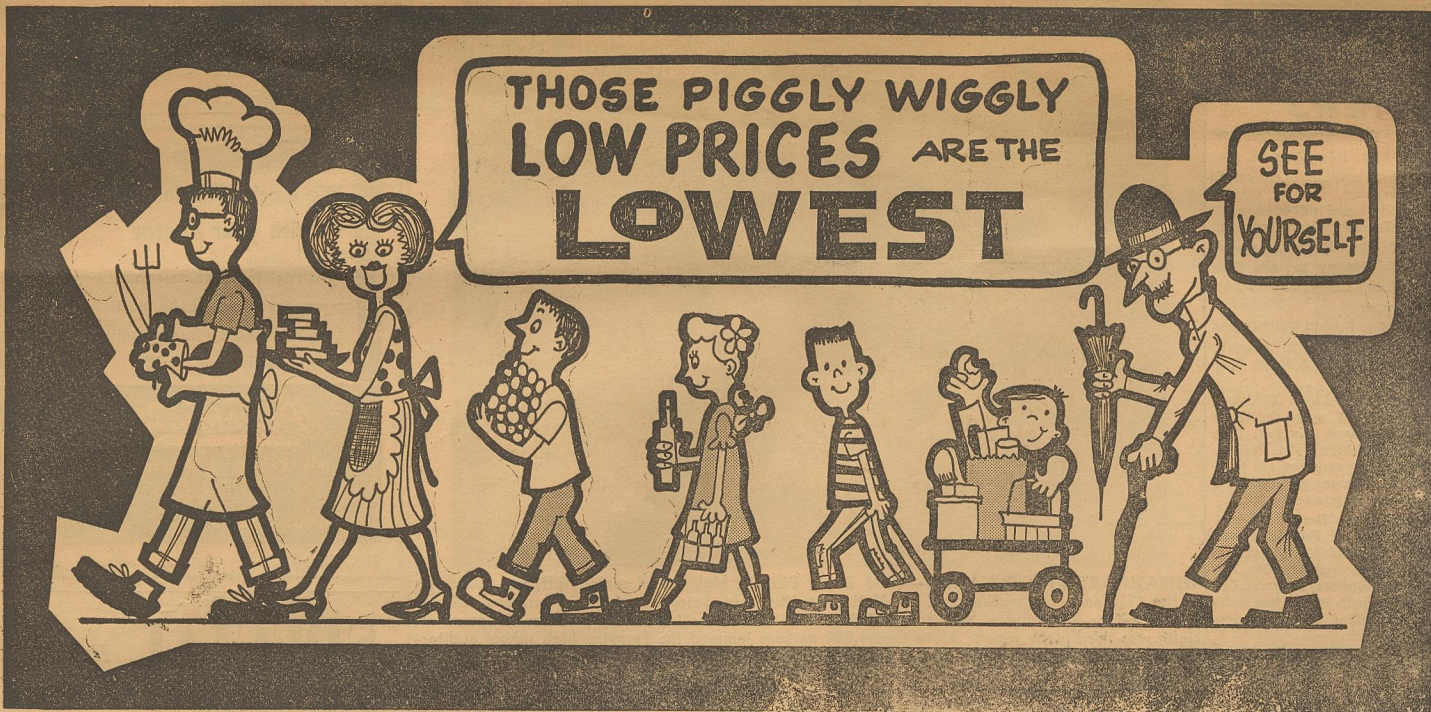

Eligibility for feed grain program benefits in 1964 will not be contingent on a producer's staying exactly within the wheat allotment, he said today.

It is felt, he explained, that requiring the normal acreage to be maintained in conserving use for 1964 will insure that any planting of wheat in excess of the allotment on a complying feed grain farm would be at the expense of some other soil-depleting crop.

Another provision which was considered earlier but not adopted was one authorizing feed grain program participants who also complied with a 1964 wheat allotment to substitute wheat on feed grain acres or feed grain on wheat acres.

The Chairman explained that these program decisions were reached after extensive consideration. The effects of the substitution provision on producers' income were reviewed carefully and discussed with agricultural leaders, including members of the National Agricultural Advisory Commission. The conclusion was that in 1964 the complexities of this provision outweighed any possible advantages that might result in limited areas.

A new provision of law will permit increases in the 1964 feed grain bases of producers who planted up to 30 acres of wheat for home use under the so-called feed wheat exemption during any one of the years 1959, 1960, and 1961. The increase will be equal to the difference between the 3-year average of such wheat plantings and 15 acres, which has been allowed them as wheat history.

Jaycee Jake Says

(NOTE: Reprinted here is the most famous of all Jaycees Speeches, "What Is A Jaycee!" It was written by John Ben Shepperd, former Attorney General of Texas; Past President of the Texas Jaycees; and Past National President of the United States Jaycees.)

What Is A Jaycee?

"A Jaycee is ignorant, and he has distorted sense of values. He is so ignorant that he doesn't know some things are impossible, and he goes ahead and does them. He is so backward that he still believes in the old ideals that made his country great. He denies the proposition that it's not what you know, but whom you know, and thinks that success comes to the man who can deliver the goods. He is so mixed up that he thinks it's better to be right than to be rich, and that he can rise highest by staying on the level. He thinks it is better to be free than to be secure, better to run his own government than beg from it—and he looks for a helping hand at the end of his own arm.

"A Jaycee is so inexperienced that he can't solve a community problem by sitting in an air-conditioned office and drifting off into the cool stratosphere of abstract thought. He has to put his shoulder to the wheel and his hand in God's hand, and pray like a lost sinner while he totes the barges and lifts the bales.

"You can't recognize a Jaycee just by looking at him. To thousands of poor children at Christmas time, he looks like Santa Claus. To millions of citizens who see him sweating in the summer heat to get out the vote, he looks like Uncle Sam in a limp shirt. To the forgotten people in the polio wards and the TB hospitals who depend on fellows like him to gather the money that saves human life, he looks like an angel. And to the political crooks and demagogues who creep into local governments to pull down the wool curtain of secrecy, close the open doors of public office, and steal away the people's liberties, he looks like the hangman.

"And even if you know a Jaycee today, you won't know him tomorrow. Today he may be an obscure clerk; but after while in the Jaycees—after getting into blood-stream of community affairs—he'll be hiring and firing clerks by the dozen. Today he may be a follower; tomorrow he'll be a leader. But in the meantime he'll spend time on committees, or running around on cold nights helping on some kind of improvement project or standing on the street corner with a loud speaker telling the people to give, and vote, and go, and come, and listen, and be concerned. And he'll start getting public recognition; and people he doesn't know from Adam will call him by name on the street; and he will be speaking terms with hundreds he never knew before; and his boss will begin to realize what a valuable employe he is; and his fellow citizens will be turning to him for leadership. And he'll be lucky if his wife loves him enough to gripe like the dickens because he doesn't spend more time at home.

"But his real reward will be the comfortable realization that he is doing things that build communities and states and nations. He can say with solemn pride that while others stayed in the background,

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
I would like to put my two-bits in regarding the traffic and parking situation in Dimmitt. I think we do need more traffic lights in several places in town.

As to parking, if we business people and their employees would stop parking in front of our businesses or their neighbors, there would be plenty of parking for the customers. There is a considerable amount of parking yet available on the East, south and west of the square. We have a two hour parking limit in most of the business district which is completely ignored by all of us. We need the City Commission to have that ordinance enforced.

As to doing away with the Court House lawn and trees and making a parking area out of it, it seems to me that you are about twenty years ahead of time. This is not a metropolis; it is just a small town, filled up by we small town people who would rather live here than anywhere else. Our town has been noted for a long time for its beautiful shrubs, trees and fine lawns, including the Court House lawn. Why change it to that hard, cold, city look until you have to - it will come soon enough.

VISITS PARENTS
Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hulse visited in the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Woodell last weekend. He is receiving his Masters degree in Economics at Texas Tech today. The couple will be moving to Corpus Christi.

The expense involved couldn't be much more than two or three times an ordinary yard. The County, I believe gets it's water much cheaper than we individuals and the labor is by the regular Court House Maintenance Crew, supplemented by prisoners who do a lot of that part of the work. And, as to the trouble, that is what the County Officials get paid for - to look after the County business. Anyway, it doesn't look now like they have been put to too much trouble. If necessary they could haul off some of the top soil and haul more in. The County has thousands of dollars in dirt moving equipment that could be used, since the town certainly pays a good chunk of County taxes.

Let's keep our Court House lawn and trees and make it even more beautiful than it has been. It certainly makes an impression on people who travel the two highway that intersect right at the corner, and it makes the people here proud they live here.
Sincerely,
Jack Cowser.

Gov. John Connally's Committee on Education Beyond the High School has its eye on Tuition-free colleges and "super universities."

Also being looked upon with favor are Texas junior colleges and vocational schools. Committee is searching for a way to meet educational needs in the next decade.

Task is made difficult by the need for 900,000 new junior and senior college graduates by 1974. The prediction, called "conservative" by committeeman Gifford Johnson, Dallas industrial leader, includes 456,000 four-year college graduates, and 440,000 graduates of two-year schools.

Right now the total enrollment in 19 of the state's four-year colleges and 34 private senior colleges totals 175,000. Junior College enrollment in 35 state junior colleges and 10 private schools is 37,200.

If these students all were to graduate, they would produce about half the number of graduates needed in the next four years. But Johnson said the problem is — many won't graduate. There is a big drop-out problem in colleges and an even bigger drop-out problem in the grades below college level.

Johnson stated that only 54 per cent of the students enrolled in the third grade in 1953 graduated from high school in 1963.

What to do about the drop-out problem, which Governor Connally has called "One of the most critical problems of the decade"? Both Johnson and committeeman Tom Sealy of Midland, as well as other members of the committee which is composed of some of the state's most powerful citizens, recommended more and better counseling through all the high school years and college.

"If students aren't encouraged to stay in high school and perform well there, they don't have a chance," Johnson said.

His concept of free colleges and state universities which would admit only the top 15 per cent of high school graduates brought a lot of favorable comment from the committee. But Chairman H. B. Zachry of San Antonio warned all that this was just preliminary to a preliminary report. Final report to Governor Connally is not due until August, 1964.

POLL TAX CAMPAIGN ON—
Governor Connally will kick off the League of Women Voters' campaign for repeal of the poll tax with a speech on September 9—the day the women launch a two-month drive for repeal of the tax. November 9 is the date voters will decide whether to strike the poll tax requirement for voting from the State Constitution.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Sen. John Tower, congressmen and state legislators are being invited to the September 9 meeting in Austin.

NEW REGIME—
Commissioners of two brand-new state agencies were sworn into office, as well as the man who will take Attorney General Waggoner Carr's place on the State School Land Board, Judge Wilson Fox of Taylor.

New commissioners are Loan Regulatory Commissioner Frank Miskell, and Parks and Wildlife Commissioners, Will Odom of Austin, chairman, J. M. Dellinger of Corpus Christi, and A. W. Moursund of Johnson City. All four have been trying to keep up with new roles and heavy commission agendas at the same time.

PARKS BOARD BOWS OUT—State Parks Board held its last meeting just a few days before being replaced by the Parks and Wildlife Commission. But it could not transact any business since it couldn't get a quorum.

Chairman Maurice E. Turner of Huntsville was there, as well as Ed Killman of Houston and Max Starke of Austin. But Reese Martin of Beaumont was out of the state; Uvalde member Harry Hornby was ill, and J. Carter King of Albany was not available.

Parks planner E. J. Urvanovsky of Texas Tech was on hand to present an estimated $400,000,000 plan for a model parks system—developed with a $70,000 legislative appropriation. But the board asked him to make his recommendations to the Parks and Wildlife Commission at some later date.

REHABILITATION RECORD SET
J. W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education, claimed a new record for the Texas Vocational Rehabilitation program. He announced that a total of 3,566 disabled men and women were rehabilitated into productive jobs during the year ended on June 30.

Edgar said 365 of these persons had been receiving public assistance payments totaling some $346,000 a year. He figured their new ability to be self-supporting now would save many thousands of dollars in federal and state assistance funds.

New law assuring Texans 65 years of age and older the right to purchase health insurance now is in effect. First period of enrollment for the cooperative plan will be October 1-31.

All licensed insurance agents in the state are eligible to give details about the plan.

SLOW DRIVING PROHIBITED—
Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, issued a reminder that the new speed law specifically makes it a violation to drive a vehicle so slowly as to impede traffic.

Minimum limits, as well as maximum limits, are being posted on the highways throughout the state. YOUTH—Austin was stacked full of high school leaders as Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held a conference on youth.

The 1,140 young people who attended were told how to prevent juvenile crime and school dropouts. It is up to them to put the ideas into effect through high school organizations.

Basically, the solution is in finding things for junior high and high school students to do. Recreation for those who only need to keep occupied and jobs for those who need to help their families at 14 or 15 were the major prescriptions. Carr hoped the conference had set some brushfires in the civic consciousness of high school leaders to burn out the pockets of trouble for many thousands of Texas young people.

PADRE—
In a colorful ceremony, the State of Texas handed over some 90,000 acres of submerged land in Laguna Madre to become a part of the Padre Island national Seashore.

Hailed as a tourist attraction, the Padre project was created by Congress and the Texas Legislature agreed to contribute the state's land.

Reserved to Permanent School Fund are the oil and gas which may lie under the shallow waters of Laguna Madre.

The National Park Service, with a $1,500,000 appropriation to start, will buy the uplands of Padre Islands of Padre Land from Private owners. Governor Connally, land Commissioner Jerry Sadler and Attorney General Carr, members of the School Land Board which signed the deed, all predicted bright things for this major addition to the Texas recreation scene.

POLLUTION—
Some areas of the state have developed major water pollution pro blems and the new Texas Water Pollution Control Board has set out to cure them.

Board will have a hearing on September 25-26 designed to protect the vast Ogallala formation, which supplies irrigation and municipal water in most of the Panhandle and South Plains. Expected to come from the hearing is an order prohibiting the use of open unlined surface pits for the disposal of salt water produced with oil and gas.

Already the Board has started placing strict chlorination requirements on municipal sewage treatment plants in the Houston area to stop pollution of Clear Lake where a huge population growth is being created by the Moonshot Center of the National Aeronautics & Space Administration.

Water pollution problems are popping up all over the state. New money given to it by other state agencies, is going after them as fast as it can.
