Helpy Sely Suffers Heavy Fire Loss

Fire Early Wednesday Morning Does $10,000 Damage to Local Grocery Store

A fire was discovered in the Helpy Sely Grocery store, owned by Smalley & Son, in Lockney, at about 5 o'clock Wednesday morning, and although the fire company promptly responded and soon extinguished the fire, much damage was done to the building, and the entire stock of groceries and fixtures were practically a total loss.

The origin of the fire is unknown, the building showing that the fire started on a small balcony in the rear of the store, where a small space was used to store goods before they were opened and placed into the stock. The heat from the fire was so intense that all plate glass, show case glass, etc., were badly cracked and are a total loss. Mr. Noah Smalley, manager of the store, figures that the loss to the stock and fixtures will be about $10,000, as all the fixtures in the house are practically a total loss, and the heat, fire, and water ruined practically all the grocery and meat stock.

The damage to the house was principally the roof and ceiling, however, the walls are badly smoked, and cracked some from the heat. The building is owned by Mrs. M. B. Hill, of this city.

The building and contents were covered by insurance.

Floydada Couple Married July 8th Under New Texas Marriage Law, Now in Effect

The first marriage license to be issued in Floyd county since the new marriage law went into effect on June 12th, was issued by county clerk Tom Deen, on July 8th to Mr. Ingram C. O'Brien performed the ceremony free of charge; Dr. Andrews, of Floydada, examined the groom free of charge, and Mrs. Maud Hollums, proprietor of the Floydada Greenhouse, presented the contracting parties with a beautiful wedding bouquet, free of charge.

County Clerk Deen stated when the new law went into effect that he would issue the first two marriage licenses free of cost to the contracting parties, and there is still a chance for another couple to get their license free.

The ages of the contracting parties were: groom 23 years, bride 20 years.

NEGRO CHURCH NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Work has begun on the erection of the negro church in Lockney, and the building is to be completed and ready for occupancy within the next two weeks, according to Albert Hanks, pastor of the colored church in Lockney.

Parson Hanks came to this city several weeks ago and begun a campaign for the colonization of the colored population in Lockney, and incidentally to organize a negro Baptist church and build a church house for the congregation. A site was selected for the colonization of the negroes on the south side of the Santa Fe railway tracks, just west of the oil mill feeding pens. Parson Hanks has circulated a petition among the merchants and citizens of the town asking donations for the erection of a church, which has been subscribed to very liberally, and the work has been begun.

Parson Hanks informs the editor that the church will be completed within two weeks and that a revival will be started in the new church on Wednesday, before the Fourth Sunday in July, which will be July 24th, and continue over three Sundays.

It is the purpose of the negro population to colonize on this property, and they are selling lots to those who wish to build houses on the property.

Bakers Building For New Men's Store

Amarillo Man Will Install Stock of Gents' Furnishings In New Building Now Under Construction

Work began on the digging of the foundation for a new brick and tile building just north of the Beacon office Tuesday of this week. Mr. Ed Manning has the contract for the construction of the building and the Baker interests are the owners of the new structure, which will be 21 feet front and 80 feet in length, with large plate glass inset show windows. The concrete foundation will have been run by the time this paper reaches its readers, and the brick and tile work will begin by the first of next week.

The new building will be occupied by Mr. P. W. Price of Amarillo, with a stock of gents' furnishings goods. Mr. Price has been in this line of business in Amarillo for some time, and is an experienced merchant in this line of business. He will move here just as soon as the building is completed.

With the erection of this building, there will be a gap of only 25 feet left to be filled between the original Baker building and the Beacon office, where last October, when the Beacon building was started, there were no buildings in the block, except the 90-foot Baker building. Artie Baker states that he will fill in this small gap just as soon as he can get a tenant for same and make the front along this side of the street solid with brick buildings.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN AS FLOOD OF TEXAS WHEAT REACHES FORT WORTH

Fort Worth, July 8.—The flood of Texas wheat broke all records on the market here today when receipts of the two-day period reached a total of 980 cars, having a value delivered of $1,899,000 and representing actual cash received by farmers of the Texas grain belt of about $1,600,000.

Receipts compared with 751 cars received July 4 and 5 of last week—also a new record and with 454 cars received last Monday, July 1, likewise a two-day record at that time. Receipts during all of last week totaled 2248 cars. Grain men here expect this week to continue at a record-breaking pace so far as wheat reaching railroad yards here is concerned with every prospect that all facilities for handling the grain will be taxed to the utmost.

Railroad officials report all grain offered is being handled promptly both at shipping points and in transit with no prospects of congestion at this market.

Cars Collide West of Lockney July 4th New Currency Now in Circulation in Lockney

Mrs. Tom McGehee and Father, and Mrs. Fairley and Small Baby Hurt In Accident

Two Ford cars happened to the accident of running together on the Lockney and Plainview road, about 8 o'clock Thursday evening, near the Cox vineyard, about ten miles west of Lockney, injuring several of the occupants and badly wrecking the cars. The story as told by Mrs. McGehee was about as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Tom McGehee had been to Abernathy, Texas, to visit Mrs. McGehee's father, Mr. J. M. Osborn, and was returning home, Mr. Osborn accompanying them, when they met a car near the Cox vineyard, in which Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Fairley and son, Herman, age five years, were riding. As the two cars came meeting each other, at a medium rate of speed, with the women in both cars driving, Mrs. McGehee and Mrs. Fairley were both on the same side of the road, Mrs. McGehee crowding to the bar pit as close as possible on the right side of the road coming east, when she decided that the other car was going to run into her car, she attempted to turn to the other side of the road in order to miss the approaching car, and at the same time Mr. Fairley grabbed the steering wheel on the Fairley car, turning it the same direction as Mrs. McGehee was turning, and the two cars collided.

In the wreck Mrs. Fairley and her small son were thrown through the windshield. The small son of the Fairleys received a severe blow on his head, and it is thought that his skull was fractured, however, the doctors at the sanitarium were uncertain about the matter. Mrs. Fairley was badly bruised and Mrs. McGehee received a wound on the side of her face. Mr. Osborn was probably the worst injured of all the people in the wreck, receiving a fractured hip, and suffering from nervous prostration; he was carried to his home at Abernathy, where he has been in a precarious condition since the accident, but is reported to be doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances, as he is 69 years of age, and very feeble. Messrs. McGehee and Fairley escaped uninjured. The cars were badly wrecked.

MEXICAN REBEL HEAD EXECUTED

Was One of Band Which Killed Two American Mining Engineers Last February 29

Mexico City, July 7.—The War Department Sunday announced the capture and execution at El Zaus in the State of Guanajuato of Jose Pardon, one of the leaders of the rebel band that kidnaped and killed Joseph M. Underwood and C. C. Aistrophe, American mining officials, on last February 29.

Padron had been sought since the double killing and immediately after being captured by Federal troops Saturday he was summarily court-martialed and executed by a firing squad.

After being carried off by the rebels from the Bustos mine of the Guanajuato Reduction and Mines Company, near the city of Guanajuato, Aistrophe and Underwood were killed by their captors when the rebels learned that troops had been sent to pursue them. A short time later the troops overtook the rebel band and killed most of its members, Padron being one of the few who escaped.

EXPECTS VALUATION TO RUN ABOUT $13,000,000

Floydada, July 4.—Although it will be several weeks before definite figures on the total taxable valuations for Floyd county will be available, County Tax Assessor C. M. Meredith this week vouchsafed an estimate that the figures would run around $13,000,000, an increase over last year's valuations of about $1,600,000.

"This is just a guess based on a rough estimate of the increase in values of the county," Mr. Meredith said, and cannot be taken as an official statement.

The first official report Mr. Meredith will make on the probable taxable values of the county will come later in this month, when he will give the State Comptroller an estimate for the use of the State Automatic Tax Board, and to the local Commissioners' Court for their purpose in making the annual tax levy.

Dr. Freeman Makes Dairy Talk Here

Pioneer Lockney Man Enthusiastic Over Prospects for Dairy Show Here

At the meeting of the chamber of commerce Monday at noon, Dr. W. H. Freeman, of Dougherty, Texas, was the honored guest, and the speaker of the occasion. Dr. Freeman is the owner of one of the best Jersey dairy herds in the county, and has demonstrated what can be done with a dairy farm in this county, and his talk was along dairy lines.

Dr. Freeman took as his subject "The Possibilities That Confronted the City of Lockney in the Building of the City Park and Fair Grounds On the Site of the Old Christian College." At this time the college building is being remodeled and converted into a city hall, auditorium, and club rooms, and it is proposed to use the grounds adjacent to the building for a city park and fair grounds, and it was upon this part of the program that Dr. Freeman urged that the city of Lockney and the citizenship of the community co-operate to build an adequate building to house the dairy and chicken shows here, and that he would assist them in this enterprise and would hold sale of his Jersey cattle here in order to help establish a regular dairy sale and show here each year. Dr. Freeman stressed the point that this was to be the greatest dairy country in this state, as here those following the dairy business could be more successful than at other places because of the fact that the dairy farmers here were able to raise a surplus of feed to care for their stock, and did not have to import feed at high prices from other sections of the country, which is the case in the sections down in the state.

Dr. Freeman was for years a resident of Lockney, and every time he visits the town he has something of a development nature to offer to the people here, and he never lets an opportunity pass when he travels over the county to tell the people of the wonderful resources that can be found in Floyd county.

His suggestions along the building of a dairy and poultry barn at the old college grounds is something worth while, and if accomplished by the people of the Lockney community, will mean that we can have a high-class dairy and poultry show here each year, and this can be added to by holding a fair of some kind each year, and give the people a chance to show what they produce and let visitors from all parts of the country come and see and take part in our shows. There is no reason why a yearly exhibit of farm, dairy, and poultry products cannot be arranged for here in Lockney, and one that will be worth while and will draw large crowds of people from other sections of the country. At least once a year the people of the Lockney country should hold a several days fair, where every person in the county and those from surrounding counties, who care to, can put on exhibition their products and have a regular fair and reunion. This could be arranged and after the first year it would be no trouble to arrange for the holding of such an affair each year.

The citizenship of the town and community should urge the city council to build barns on the college grounds sufficient to take care of a good dairy show and all such shows that the barns might be needed for, and the chamber of commerce should take it upon themselves to arrange for annual fairs, where the people of the Lockney country could put on exhibits the many different kinds of crops and dairy and poultry products that are produced here each year. Let's all get into this enterprise and put it over in a big way.

SMITHERMAN INJURED THURSDAY OF LAST WEEK

Mr. P. M. Smitherman, who lives about nine miles east of Lockney, on the Floydada-Silverton highway, was painfully hurt Thursday of last week, when he was thrown under a wagon, loaded with wheat and a wheel passed over one of his arms.

Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Abney, Miss Willie Abney, and Mrs. E. C. Bateman and son, Cecil, have been visiting their sister, Mrs. J. H. Hohlaus, and family. Cecil Bateman had been here about two weeks visiting his aunt. They all left Tuesday morning for their home in Textline.

Spending Money In The Home Town

Home Communities Can Only Grow and Prosper Through Business Done In The Town

As stated in the Beacon last week we intended to continue the discussion of the necessity of loyalty to the home town and community in the matter of doing business. There is only one reason why towns grow and become prosperous and that is because those who are loyal to their home institutions and industries and do business in their community.

There is absolutely no valid argument for sending your money away from your home community. It is only by the merest accidental chance that one can hope to secure even a slight temporary advantage, and this is more than offset by the fact that the money has left the community never to return to the channels of trade in your locality. Of course a single small item sent away would not make much difference but when people send away so that it amounts into sums of thousands of dollars in the aggregate, then it becomes a very serious matter for the community.

If everybody, for instance, in Lockney would make it a practice to send away for their merchandise, etc., business enterprises of Lockney would vanish for they could not live without patronage. It is only due to the fact that all do not send away their money that the community is able to survive and those who do business in their home town are the ones who should have credit for the schools, churches, and public conveniences that are only possible through the public enterprise and business of your home town.

Of course there are sometimes inequalities that arise to discourage home trade. There may happen to be short sighted business men in the community who does not fully appreciate his opportunity for service to the people of his community. But it is a sure thing that he will sooner or later be eliminated, for business today, especially in the smaller cities and towns, is based on service.

The value of the business done in the town is definitely reflected in real estate values throughout the entire country and neighboring territory, and thus brings the question of the importance of home trade directly to the door of the farmers as well as everybody else, for it determines the value of his farm. There is also the social side, churches, schools, etc., as well as many other things of a public nature to be enjoyed by the general public.

These benefits are the direct results of co-operation. On another page appears advertisements of the business men of Lockney who have selected the Beacon to carry their message of service in this home trade campaign to our people. The Beacon will continue this subject in future articles.

Austin, July 6.—Candidacy of Senator E. G. Senter of Dallas for governor of Texas was announced yesterday at the meeting here of the Texas Bar Association. "ME NO SAVVEE THE MOUNTAIN TROUT? ME CATCHUM CAT FISH"

We have oftimes heard fellows rave about the sport of catching Mountain Trout, and about those fish that were as long as your arm, up in the mountains, where the water ran in brooks, and you could see the fish and the bottom of the brooks, and all this kind of stuff, but the editor and his family arrived home Sunday afternoon from the mountains of New Mexico, and we spent about three hours one morning, up at Ross Cope's place, 8,500 feet above the sea level, in the mountains, trying to induce some of those speckled trout about three or four inches long to swallow a hook, and all they would do was to take a look at us and run on up the stream, and about all we got out of this mountain fishing was a pair of extra sore feet from walking over the rocks along the banks of the little brooks, they call creeks in the mountains.

Then another thing, we did not kill any squirrels, when we saw a squirrel he would scamper up a pine tree so high that it would take an army winchester to shoot to him, and we didn't even waste a cartridge shooting into space. Now, there may be sport in catching those mountain minnows for some people, but we like to spend our time trying to catch fish big enough to eat when we go fishing, so about three hours found us back at camp, eating dinner and getting ready to go on a sight seeing trip, instead of meandering along the brooks trying to keep out of sight of the fish. They tell us if the fish sees the person on the bank, or if the line is course enough for them to see it, they will not bite, and our conclusion is, that fish as wise as these, were never intended to be fished for, for they seem to know more than most of the people who go fishing. We prefer to fish for fish that will pull the cork under, and don't investigate to see whether the bait they bite is tied onto a string and pole or not, and then get fish that you can slice up and fry and that will satisfy the inner craving of a hungry stomach. Well, we quit fishing early, got packed, run our car over a rock, way up in the mountains, broke off the drain cock on the bottom of the crank case of our car, made a flying tackle for a bucket to catch the oil before it all run out on the ground, succeeded in saving about a half gallon of the oil, crammed the hole in the crank case full of rags to keep the oil from running out, poured the oil back into the crank case, stepped on the gas and climber about fifteen miles over the tops, up and down the mountains, to make it to a town and filling station before the oil all leaked out, to keep from being hearted for a full day over the heart of the mountains, while taking off a crank case and carrying it to town to be patched. We outrun rains and storms on mountain roads that were not more than eight or ten feet across, felled with rocks, with high embankments on one side, and a million pine trees on the other side, and between you and the bottom of the canyons thousands of feet below. There was one good thing about these mountain roads, they were considered extra good mountain road, and if we had run off the road, we could not have fallen very far, because the pine trees and aspens were so thick that they would have caught and held a car. Some people may think it fun driving in mountains, but this tribe of people are always back seat drivers, we don't believe that our wife or boys gave us one bit of advice about how to drive on the thirty mile stretch we made across and back over the mountains, most of their breath was taken up with some stunts we pulled as we shimmed around curves, horseshoe bends, trying to pull grades where the car would stop and we would have to hold it with foot and emergency brakes, or go down mountains so fast that a stream of smoke, and nearly blazes, would pour from the brake bands. Believe me, this was one place that the back seat drivers had more than they could look after without giving out a lot of free advice. But we made the trip, and with the exception of the episode of the crank case, everything went through in good shape, and we reached the highway at Pecos, and headed into Santa Fe Friday afternoon, where we gave that town the once over, and watched the natives part the tourists from their money Friday evening and Saturday morning, and we want you to know now, that if we ever get a fool idea in our head that we want to get rich we are going out in that country and start a cuero shop, or get us a well, and watch out for such fellows as "Smockey" Price and Hugh Counts, for out in that country every few miles some "Sitting Bull" or "Panch Villa" is located with a high way scheme with which to part the ever-eager tourist from the few paltry dollars he has saved during the past year, or several years past, in order to take a short vacation and see that great ruins that they tell us were built when old "Noah turned the dove out of the ark. But we are of the opinion that some of these ruins haven't been built no thousand years past as they are now, you couldn't travel hundreds of miles without finding inhabitants, for if all the ruins had had families they would have been sufficient to have populated the entire Western hemisphere several hundred years ago. The gypsies haven't got a thing on those greasers and Indians, when it comes to getting the money from tourists, and they even tried to sell my wife a rabbit foot to work on us.

We had a fine trip though, it was filled with thrills and excitement, and that is what a bozo is looking for when he struts out on a vacation, he wants something different, and we got it. We enjoyed ourselves, saw a darn sight worse country than the one we live in, patted ourselves on the back because we lived in a country far ahead of what we had seen, a much cleaner country, with a higher type of civilization, and a far better developed and richer country, and a country where people can raise something to eat. We made a run of nearly two hundred miles Saturday afternoon, saw about a half dozen houses in all, two or three bunches of sheep with Mexicans and burros following them as they grazed, saw probably fifty or seventy-five head of cattle, and that was all; however, the grass was good and we could not figure out why there were not more cattle and sheep on these ranges, unless it was because there was no water. As we said we had a nice trip, and it was educational, and we will probably visit that and other parts of New Mexico again in the future, but when we want to go fishing, we will turn our car another direction and down on the Concho, Colorado, and other Texas streams, where fish are fish, and they are not so wise that they look for the fisherman and line before they take a chance at playing with the bait.

WHAT NEW MEXICO HAS TEXAS BESTED ON

Three is just one thing that we can say truthfully that New Mexico has Texas bested on, and that is the roads of the state. Texas is many times larger than New Mexico; Texas values are hundreds of times greater than those of New Mexico, acre for acre, but still New Mexico has far better roads than Texas, and keeps her roads in far better shape than Texas. During the week-end we traveled over several hundred miles of road in New Mexico, going one route and returning another; we crossed ranches that were many miles across, yet a good highway, worked and up in good shape, was what we found in every instance. We came over a stretch of highway possibly one hundred miles, where there were not more than a half dozen houses in the entire distance, yet the highway was first-class, freshly worked, and dragged, and you could not want for a better road. You find a stretch a hundred miles long in Texas with a half dozen houses in such a distance, and there would be no road at all. The travel in New Mexico is heavy, and if there was anything to cause people to want to settle in that state, the state would develop much faster than the western part of Texas. Good roads appear to every one, they like the country better if the county has good roads, and every dollar that is invested in good roads pays greater dividends than it would if invested in any other way. New Mexico doesn't get so very many dollars in return from her investment in good roads as far as development is concerned, on account of the drouthy nature of the country, but she sure gets returns from these roads in the way of tourists and these tourists leave millions of dollars every year in that state. Nearly every car you see on the roads of that state are tourists and they sure spend the money as they go, and they would not be in New Mexico if it wasn't for the good roads in that state. Here in Texas we do not need good roads to attract the tourists, however, if our roads were good we would have more tourists and therefore, would reap a great benefit from the money they would leave with us; but we need good roads to haul the products that are produced in the state over. It is our farmers, our stockmen, our merchandisers, our laborers, our entire agricultural and commercial bodies that are in need of good roads, and they are spending more money traveling over bad roads and getting nothing in return for it than it would cost them to build and maintain good roads, and the sooner they wake to realize this fact the better off the whole state will be. The people of Floyd county and many other counties in the state have paid for good roads many and many times over, and yet they have nothing to show for them, and the reason is they have been paying for building mud holes by paying repair bills, loss of time in going over bad roads, loss of money through high transportation costs, and failing to take advantage of the opportunities offered them by voting bonds and building good roads. Floyd county, and many other counties have already paid out enough money in automobile and other road taxes to have paved practically every road in the county, but they have refused to take advantage of state aid, and therefore they are continuing to pay out the money and get no returns from same, and as long as they refuse to take advantage of state aid they are going to continue to waste their substance by paying for roads in those counties that are far sighted enough to take advantage of state aid. Texas has a highway system, but this highway system only operates in counties where they are wanted, and the people show they want them by meeting them on half way ground and making an effort to help themselves. If Floyd county does not take steps to get good roads by voting bonds or issuing warrants, they can never expect to get any help from the state highway department, and if they never get any help from the state highway department, the roads won't be one bit better in twenty years from now than they are today. There is just one good road in the county, and it is good only when it is dry; twenty years from today if the county still takes the attitude it has in the past, we will still have the one road that is dry in good weather, and no roads that are good in wet weather. The state passes the "buck" up to each and every county in the state, and those who take advantage of the state aid gets the roads, and those that do not go on paying, but they never get anything out of the money they pay in. Put on your thinking cap, and see if you had not rather reap a little of the benefits you are due for the money that you are paying into the highway department every year. It's a game you lose if you don't and win if you do. It's a good investment every time you can put in a dollar and draw back from $2 to $3. Every time you build a good road, one that the state will take over and maintain the whole country comes out a winner, and every time the state takes over a road it lightens the burden on the commissioners, which have to maintain the county roads with county money. It is merely an investment that no county can well afford to let go by without getting their share of the highway money and enjoy the advantages that good roads will bring to them, and the greater benefits that good roads mean to every county that has them.

WEARING the last miles out of old tires, during the slipperiest, most dangerous driving months of the year when "flats" often mean going into a ditch and skidding frequently causes crashes—

That was the old "habit." But, nowadays, car owners realize that this is the very time that safe new tires are most needed.

We are equipping many cars with new Goodyears right now. Their owners don't propose to take chances on smooth, thin tires by waiting until Spring.

No sir! And they get their new Goodyears cheaper, too, because we can allow more for the old tires now than later when they'd be done for.

LOS ANGELES QUAKE HURTS FOUR PERSONS

Pacific Coast Cities Severely Shaken By Tremor on July Eighth

Los Angeles, July 8.—Four persons, two men and two children, were injured in an earthquake which severely shook Los Angeles and communities within a 30 miles radius at 8:45 a. m., today. These injuries were reported from Santa Fe Springs, oil town fifteen miles south of here.

Long Beach, Hermosa Beach and Santa Monica, on the Pacific ocean felt the tremor more than the inland communities of Pasadena and Glendale.

The tremor was undulating north and south movement, causing chandeliers in some buildings to sway like pendulums, rattling windows and moving small objects, but causing no damage.

A second tremor of less intensity was felt an hour later at 9:45 o'clock.

In Long Beach the Press-Telegram building at Sixth Street and Pine Avenue was rocked for more than fifteen seconds causing the machines in the composing room to vibrate while printers were getting out the first edition.

Other buildings in the city rocked perceptibly. Considerable excitement was created as it was the first earthquake of any consequence ever felt there.

EARTHQUAKE FELT AT LONG BEACH; NO DAMAGE DONE

Long Beach, Cal., July 8.—An earthquake tremor which lasted more than twenty seconds, was felt all over the central part of this city at 8:47 a. m., today. It was the first severe shock ever authentically reported in this beach city.

The tremor was felt in all big buildings in the city. No reports of accidents or damage had been received at the police station when a check up was made.

SEVERE EARTHQUAKE IN ATLANTIC IS REPORTED

London, July 8.—An earthquake of considerable magnitude in the Atlantic Ocean off Brazil has been recorded by the Kew Observatory.

OLD TIME RANCHMEN'S REUNION JULY 18-20

Lubbock, July 10.—Every thing is ready for the biggest old time ranchman's reunion and old settlers picnic that has ever been held in West Texas. Bud Johnston, owner of the Bud Johnston Ranch, better known as the old Igo Ranch in the Yellow House Canyon, 6 miles north of Slaton, has announced. The celebration will be July 18, 19, and 20.

A three day rodeo, racing program, dancing each night and many other features have been arranged and the old settlers will register and get together again to talk over old times. A prize and a pass to all the events will be awarded to the oldest settler that registers.

A good quarter mile track has been prepared and in addition to racing ponies each day, the crowds will watch saddle ponies race. Wild buffalo riding will be added as a special feature each day as will wild cow milking, cowboy range relay, novelty race, chariot race, and wild mule races. Over $500 in prizes have been hung up by Bud Johnston and the best skilled riders, ropers and other rodeo performers are expected to be on hand for the three day celebration.

A special platform has been constructed for the dancing and both old time "fiddle" music and modern "jazz" tunes will be played for the crowds that come to dance.

An old fashioned chuck wagon will be on hand at the celebration during the entire celebration where people can secure food cooked in real old West Texas fashion.

No charge will be made for entering the park, Johnston says. The Johnston Ranch contains more than 5,000 acres and is one of the most beautiful and picturesque places in this section of the state. It has an abundance of pure water from springs, ten miles of scenic drive-ways, and suitable places for outings, boating, fishing, picnicing, and other sports.

H. A. Johnson, of Lubbock, widely recognized as "Huckaberry Slim" and as an outstanding rodeo man is assisting the Johnston Ranch officials in making the celebration a success.

GOVERNOR RACE

APPEARS WARM

Several Recently Announce Gubernatorial Hopes In Session

Austin, July 8.—Midsummer sessions of the legislature have started the political pot boiling in at least three races, and may cook up more campaigns in the remaining month before the lawmakers disperse.

Announcement of Sen. Thomas B. Love and Rep. T. N. Mauritz for governor, Rep. Fred H. Minor of Denton for speaker and Rep. George C. Purl of Dallas for state senator, have come within the past weeks.

Candidacy of Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller for governor also has reached a stage of virtual certainty. It has been acknowledged in statements from the floor of the senate, which went unchallenged.

Representative Mauritz of Ganado has announced for governor with the state income tax his major plank.

Barron Named

Names of Speaker W. S. Barron and Representative Sam Gates of Runge have been mentioned in connection with the lieutenant governor's race. Mr. Gates has been banteringly introduced to audiences as a candidate for the office, but has not officially entered the race.

Indications were that Representative Ray Holder would defer his own race for speaker, he having said that either Minor or he, but not both, would aspire to the office.

Senator John W. Hornsby, whose term has two years more to run, has frequently been mentioned in connection with next year's race for congress from the Austin district. Congressman J. P. Buchanan of Brenham already has announced for re-election.

So far, definitely-announced candidates for governor include Senator Love, Representative Mauritz, E. G. Senter, Oscar F. Holcombe, and Miss Katie Daffin. Lieutenant Governor Miller, R. S. Sterling of the highway commission; Former Speaker R. L. Robbitt of Laredo, and Former U. S. Senator Earle B. Mayfield are listed as the most likely of additional candidates in the ring.

TO CARRY M. D. ANTI-LIQUOR FIGHT TO MEET

Texas Doctors Will Ask Prescription Privilege Be Withdrawn

Dallas, July 4.—A national issue will be made of Texas physicians opposition to the present law allowing doctors the right to prescribe alcohol in prescriptions.

Dr. C. M. Rosser, Dallas, a delegate to the American Medical Association convention next Monday and Tuesday at Portland, Ore., has announced the Texas delegation would present a resolution in which the national group would ask the United States government to withdraw the privilege. The Texas Medical Association recently adopted a similar resolution.

The use of alcohol as medicine is unnecessary, Dr. Rosser explained. "Usually it is injurious, and should not be prescribed."

HELPING TO BUILD TEXAS

When the Knight dairy farm at Clarendon was burned, the barns were replaced and electrical equipment installed throughout, according to the Clarendon News, which says that every mechanical part of the work at the dairy from milking machines to the cooling system is now done by electricity. The Knight home also was completely electrified with a range, lights and other electrical appliances designed to lighten and brighten housework.

Hill County is grafting and top-working many native pecan trees, grafts being put in the main trunk and buds inserted in the limbs. By 1931, it is calculated the trees will be bearing paper-shell nuts and the prices received are expected, on present market quotations, to be three to four times those paid for the native pecans.

Fifteen hundred and sixty-six carloads of Texas grapefruit were shipped from the Rio Grande Valley during the season recently closed, a gain of 550 cars over the total last year. This year's Texas crop-grown mostly in Cameron and Hidalgo Counties with some orchards in Willacy—was valued at $1,600,000. Grape fruit census shows 2,606,403 grapefruit trees in Texas and when they all come into bearing within the next few years, there will be a distribution problem to be met and overcome.

Texas is sixth in winter wheat production this year, according to Department of Agriculture estimates, which place the Texas crop at 31,013,000 bushels out of an expected total of 622,148,000 bushels, based on June 1 condition report of 79.6. The five-year average is 549,257,000 bushels.

Donley County has produced more than a half-million baby chicks and four-fifths of them have gone to Donley County farmers.

A steam power plant to cost $1,500,000 or more is to be built on the Devils River near the Southern Pacific bridge, according to announcement from President E. B. Neiswanger of the Central Power & Light Co., in the Del Rio News.

With a lot of interest the results from the Texas sunflower crop are being awaited. Probably 3,000 acres of land in Dawson County have been planted to the crop, according to a Lamesa dispatch. One man made 600 to 700 pounds of seed per acre last year and sold it at 5c to 6c a pound, with the result that he announces he will plant 1,500 acres this year.

The Smith county blackberry crop will bring in $200,000 this year, according to an estimate made after a survey of the 7,500 acres devoted to the crop.

The Nacogdoches canning plant, just completed by local capital at a cost of $18,000 is starting operations. It will employ 75 workers and take care of the products of 200 acres of tomatoes in that vicinity.

WORK FOR SAFETY

The tragic phase of automobile fatalities is that most accidents are unnecessary.

Yet every year thousands of people pay with their lives for carelessness, recklessness, and incompetence of drivers.

Compulsory insurance can never offset this irreparable loss. At its best it can only indemnify. It begins at the wrong end of the problem.

What is needed is a safety consciousness on the part of the public and rigid enforcement of adequate driving laws. In certain communities safety lessons have been given in schools, with the result that accidents to children appreciably decreased. Tests have shown that the accident rate will drop to a minimum when traffic laws are enforced and offenders punished.

In many localities the traffic codes are worn-out and inadequate, having gone unrevised since the time when an automobile was something of a curiosity.

Education and law enforcement have helped the railroads lower accidents and helped in fighting fire and disease. Applied to the automobile accident problem they would give quick and gratifying results.

A Fair Tariff Principle

The best rebuttal of the statement that our tariff excludes foreign producers from the American market are the statistics showing imports.

Every year an increasing amount of foreign goods passes through the American customs, to be sold all over the nation in competition with domestic articles.

This is as it should be. Our tariff principle has never been to exclude imported produce. All it does is to equalize producing costs here and abroad by levying a duty on goods manufactured or grown in countries where living conditions, the wage scale, and the social status of workers is far inferior to ours.

The Control of Crime

"What the criminal law needs is not teeth, but brains", says William J. Donovan, former Assistant Attorney General of the United States, "not the mental activity of a specially appointed commission of lawyers, but the concentration of the public brains."

"The criminal is alien only mentally and morally. He is not a denizen of some remote island. He is living among us, a part of the community in the physical sense. He has access to the automobile, to the airplane, and, far readier access to the automatic pistol than has the law abiding citizen. These things cannot be kept from him."

"Shortening and simplifying the processes of criminal law, extending the power of the judge upon the bench, enforcing local laws locally instead of through the already encumbered Federal courts, developing a sense of responsibility in the individual citizen, in the community and in its judicial officers—these are the steps which will bring about the control of criminality."

Anti-pistol laws, anti-automobile laws, anti-aircraft laws or any other kind of "anti-laws" based on the theory that they will prevent crime, simply punish the law-avoiding to the benefit of the law-breaker. The more laws we pass the more-lawbreakers we have. Crime will be reduced in proportion as the law-breaker learns that punishment will be swift and certain.

Foreign Flavored Lyric Results In New Type of Jazz

NIKITA BALIEFF

The up-tempo new music, with its swing and its big beat, the supreme jazz of the day.

Balieff of Chauve Souris Predicts Musical Change

New York City.—In writing modern American music for such foreign productions as the Chauve Souris are our musicians developing a new type of music? "No matter what part of the world we play in, we find it wise, oh very wise, to have an American song as the song hit of the show," declares Nikita Balieff of the Chauve Souris. "It would seem that whether people understand music or not, they can always understand American jazz. It is the easiest to memorize, and has the catchiest tune. "But the hit songs American composers have supplied for the Chauve Souris and similar productions are not the ordinary type of jazz song. The tunes are pure jazz, but the lyrics have a foreign flavor. The present song hit of the Chauve Souris, "Oh, You Oughta Hear Olaf Laff, 'I Miss My Swiss' and "Oh Katharina, are examples of the blending of jazz tunes and lyrics suitable for foreign interpretation. "That a distinctly new type of modern music will eventually result from this marriage of American rhythm with foreign lyrics is predicted by music critics. "Morris Gest who brought the Chauve Souris to this country and has contributed so much to the American stage is perhaps on the way to contribute as much to American music for this new type of music has been developed under his guidance.

average of 706 per year. As a matter of fact 747 of these applications were presented for action to the Supreme Court during the year ending Oct. 1, 1928.

Task Is Increasing
The system of presenting applications for writs of error on the date mentioned had been in effect thirty-six years during which time the total number filed was 16,384, and of this number nearly 800 were filed during the last year. These figures illustrate the enormous increase in the business of the Supreme Court.

During the ten year period from 1892 to 1902 there were 1,141 cases placed upon the cause docket of the Supreme Court, these causes originating from the writs of error and original cases, such as mandamus in the Supreme Court itself. This means that the average number of cases per year placed upon the docket of the Supreme Court for that ten year period was 114. During the next ten year period there were placed upon the docket of the court 1,320 causes, or an average of 132 per year. During the next ten year period there were placed upon the docket, from 1912 to 1922, 1,366 causes, or an average of 135 per year. During the six year period from Oct. 1, 1922 to Oct. 1, 1928, there were placed upon the docket of the supreme court 1,300 causes, or an average of 218 per year.

Work Being Done
From Oct. 1, 1892 to Oct. 1, 1916, a period of twenty-six years the supreme court actually disposed of 2,674 cases or an average of 103 cases per year. From Oct. 1, 1918, to Oct. 1, 1928, a ten year period, the supreme court, with the aid of the commission, disposed of 2,337 cases, nearly as many cases as previously disposed of in twenty-six years—giving an average of 233 cases per year. This year we have already disposed of more than 280 cases and the number will reach or exceed 300 by the end of the term. From Oct. 1, 1928 to June 12, 1929, the Supreme Court has passed upon 804 applications for writs of error, we have examined and entered judgment on 278 cases passed on by the commission of appeals, and will likely dispose of a sufficient number to make the aggregate 300 before the term ends. Up to the present time we have passed on 507 motions of various kinds which number will be considerably increased by the end of the present term.

The figures may not be absolutely accurate, but they are sufficiently so for all practical purposes, and plainly illustrate the enormous increase in the business of the Supreme Court, due of course to the development of the state, its increase in population, and all of those things which go to produce litigation.

"BOOTED"

Business Has Been Tripled

A casual examination of the figures given will show that the business of the Supreme Court is substantially three times as great as it was in 1892, when the present appellate system was inaugurated.

In so far as the judges of the supreme court themselves are concerned, it must be borne in mind that they pass upon all applications for writs of error in conference around the consultation table; that the same thing is true of all cases in which opinions are written by the Commission of Appeals, and that all of the motions of every character which go either before the commission of appeals or the court itself. In fact, from an actual consideration of the work done, more than three-fourths of the time of the supreme court is taken up on the application docket, examining opinions from the Commission of Appeals, and passing upon motions. For some six years up to the present time the number of orders entered by the Supreme Court, which required the joint action of the judges, ranged from 1,100 to 1,360 per year. This year we have already entered upon more than 1,589 orders and judgments, which required and received consideration at the consultation table. It is quite unnecessary to say that the enormous volume of work which must pass over the consultation table under the present system almost destroys the ability of the Supreme court to do that for which it was originally organized, to wit, to write opinions of its own on the cases before it. (Clip from the Dallas News.)

It remains with the people of a state to lower taxes on property by ceasing to demand new governmental functions that are not necessary, of which there are many that can be dropped and the people get along just as well.

A San Antonio woman has asked the police to find her husband, and, with him, $14, which she claims he slipped from her pocketbook while they were sitting in a theater, for, after getting her money, he disappeared.

BIG INCREASE IN LABORS OF TEXAS COURT

Careton Shows Growth of Business Before Supreme Tribunal

Austin, Texas, June 25.—C. M. Careton, Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court, Tuesday gave out the following statement reviewing the work of the Supreme Court since its creation to the present:

The Journal of the Constitutional Convention held in 1875, and which framed our present constitution, adopted in 1876, shows that one of the serious questions which challenged the attention of the convention was the framing of the judiciary article of the Constitution so as to relieve the then congested condition of the docket of the Supreme Court, as well as other courts. Various solutions were offered, some advocating a membership of three judges, some of five and some of six for the Supreme Court. In a minority report presented to the convention, signed by John H. Reagan, C. B. Kilgore, Marston Martin and P. R. Scott, it was stated that the objections to the then existing judiciary system more probably than those of any other part of the then existing Constitution, induced the people to call for a constitutional convention. They urged among the principal grounds of objections to the then existing judiciary system that the dockets of the Supreme Court, and the District Courts were so crowded with petty cases as to impair their usefulness. This minority of the committee, headed by Judge Reagan, submitted a plan for a Supreme Court, consisting of a Chief Justice and four associates. Other minority and majority reports of the Judiciary Committee of the convention evidenced the crowded condition of the dockets of the Supreme Court and various suggestions were made. The one finally adopted was a Supreme Court of three Judges with jurisdiction outlined in the Constitution, and the Court of Appeals having jurisdiction of criminal cases and certain classes of civil cases.

Relief Not Afforded
The Court began to function under the constitution of 1876, but the relief expected from the new system was not found to exist, either because of the increase in the population and wealth of the State or because the system itself was in its inception inadequate. Be that as it may, the Legislature at its called session in 1876 created a Commission of Appeals similar to that now existing, providing for three judges as constituting the Commission. This law, with various modifications continued down to 1891, when the several acts were amended and two Commissions of Appeal, consisting of three judges or an each, were created and functioned until the constitutional amendment of 1892, which was adopted and made effective by legislative act.

The Constitutional Amendment of 1892 provided for a Supreme Court of three Judges as it had existed since 1876; for a Court of Criminal Appeals, with exclusive criminal jurisdiction, and gave the Legislature power to create Courts of Civil Appeals. Three Courts of Civil Appeals were created, and on Oct. 1, 1892, all causes on the docket of the Supreme Court were transferred to the Court of Civil Appeals. There were 1,239 cases. It will thus be seen that although the Supreme Court of the State had operated from 1876 down, with the assistance of the, during a portion of the time, Court of Appeals, exercising both civil and criminal jurisdiction, and with the assistance of a Commission of Appeals of three Judges, and finally of two Commissions of Appeals, it had nevertheless fallen behind in its business some 1,239 cases.

From Oct. 1, 1892 to Oct. 1, 1918, a period of twenty-six years, the state operated under a system having a supreme Court of three Judges and various courts of Civil Appeals created under the constitutional power granted in the amendment of 1923.

Commission Operates
On Oct. 1, 1918, the present Commission of Appeals system with two Commissions of Appeals, composed of three judges, each was placed in operation. The reason for this was that at the time the Supreme Court was behind on its cause docket some 490 cases. The State has been operating under the present system, with a supreme court of three judges and the two Commissions of Appeals, for a period of ten years, to Oct. 1, 1926, and the Court on Oct. 1, 1928, had on its own docket and on the dockets of the Commission of Appeals 125 causes undisposed of and some 438 applications for writs of error.

The increase in the business of the supreme Court may be shown by considering the time since 1892, when the writ of error system and the present system were adopted, down to Oct. 1, 1928. During the first ten years, from 1892 to 1902, there were 3,548 applications for writs of error filed, or an average of 354 per year.

During the ten year period from 1902 to 1912, there were 4,308 applications filed, or an average of 430 per year. During the ten year period from Oct. 1, 1912 to Oct. 1, 1922, there were filed 4,770 applications, or an average of 477 per year. During the six years period from Oct. 1, 1922 to Oct. 1, 1928 there were filed 3,651 applications or an average of 608 each year. During the last two years, from Oct. 1, 1926 to Oct. 1, 1928, there of Appeal, consisting of three judges were filed 1,412 applications or an

ROYALTY

Royalty is something left to a person after they have sold an article for all it is worth. For instance if we had a grocery store and buy 100 sacks of Sugar for $1,000 and sell half of them for the cost of them all, what is left would be royalty but, if there is nothing left after the cost is paid we would be broke instead of having royalty. So in the face of those two extremes, we are trying to get first cost and have enough left to continue in business.

We invite the public to trade with us on those terms, thereby helping us while we help you, then we can all continue together until the end, then what? (We don't know).

You Wouldn't Plant Your Corn With a Flat Land Planter—

Of course not! You plant it in lister rows to conserve every bit of moisture, to protect it from blowing, and to put the seed in moist ground where it can quickly germinate. This is the time proved, sensible thing to do.

GIVE YOUR WHEAT THE SAME CHANCE THAT YOU GIVE YOUR CORN. USE THE SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILL AND TAKE 75% OF THE GAMBLE OUT OF WHEAT RAISING! This drill makes deep furrows that retain the snow and protect the seedlings from cold winds, reducing the danger from winter killing.

The rigid profile of the soil produced by the DEEP FURROW DRILL reduces loss from soil blowing to a minimum. The deep furrows retain the snow which melts, insuring a plentiful supply of moisture during the growing season.

Give your wheat the best possible start. USE THE SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILL FOR YOUR NEXT JOB OF SEEDING. Get the best stand of wheat you have ever had. LET THE DRILL PAY FOR ITSELF WITH PART OF THE EXTRA BUSHELS YOU WILL GET AT HARVEST TIME.

We have the SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILL on display at our place of business. Come in today and let us tell and show you all about it.

You can't tell much about the new Haag 75 until you see it work in your home. We'll gladly demonstrate—without obligation, of course. When may we?
