What's Doing in West Texas

BALLINGER is making plans for the entertainment of the Heart of Texas Press Association on September 9. The program will include a luncheon, an automobile ride, golf tournament and a special program of Ballinger talent. An attendance of 150 editors, publishers, reporters, supply men and others is expected.

COMANCHE'S insurance key rate has been reduced 4 cents with the installation of the new pumper. This brings the key rate down to 40 cents. This will allow mercantile establishments carry full value insurance instead of three-fourths as heretofore.

ROCKSPRINGS will have a new high line within the next three months according to the results of a survey of the Central Power & Light Company. A sub-station is expected to be erected at a point somewhere near the property just acquired by the promoters of the fair grounds.

CHILDRESS' largest hatchery, the Scott and Welling, has increased its capacity from 32,000 chicks to 100,000, and a building is being prepared with facilities for hatching from five to ten thousand chicks at a time. Two or three men will be employed in the plant the year round.

The GRAHAM Chamber of Commerce has started issuing a bulletin every month carrying details of the work done by the body. Civic improvements, service library, the fair, the stock law, advertising, airways, airport opening, highways, the membership drive and paving were topics covered this month.

BIG SPRING city development was given a boost when more than $100,000.00 was raised in four hours by nine business men to assure the erection of a fourteen story hotel building. The building will cost approximately $425,000.

SPUR has changed the position of its White Way. The light posts until recently were in the center of the street, but are now shedding their light from the curb. This expensive move was found necessary because the posts were a hindrance to traffic.

MATAGORDA, one of the oldest towns in Texas, recently celebrated the introduction of electric lights after existing as a town 101 years without that convenience. The Central Power & Light Co., is supplying the town.

The EL PASO Herald is obtaining material for the special West Texas Chamber of Commerce edition which will be published shortly before the eleventh annual convention there Oct. 24, 25, and 26.

POST has taken the first step towards the securing of a modern airport. The name of the town has been painted in a prominent place in box-car letters, and a committee of investigation of West Texas Airports.

LITTLEFIELD postal receipts for the year ending June 30, 1928, totaled $9,939.16; for the year ending June 30, 1929, the total was $11,958.45, an increase in business amounting to $2,019.29 for the past 12 months.

THE TULIA Chamber of Commerce sponsored a movie to help finance the building of a band stand recently. The band played for the audience, and a large number of prizes were given at the "Country Store." All ladies present received free of charge a piece of silver ware at the entertainment.

CULLS

Farming, like any other business, is a continuous process of culling the good from the inferior. Good ideas must be separated from bad ideas and good methods from poor methods. Other things being equal, the farming business which harbors the fewest culls should be most successful.

Because of changing conditions in agriculture, a type of animal, a crop variety or a method of farming which was the best available yesterday may be out of date tomorrow, and inferior to more recent types, varieties or methods. That which was sound and progressive a few years ago may be obsolete and unprofitable today because of the progress of agriculture.

The need for constant culling applies to every phase of farming. Despite the efforts and progress of dairymen, it is generally estimated that approximately one-third of the dairy cows on farms today are unprofitable. Many farm poultry flocks are made up of a high percentage of culls. In 56 counties of one state, more than 115,000 unprofitable hens were culled and sold last year, saving the flock owners an estimated sum of $92,000 for feed alone. Something like 42,000,000 acres of oats are grown in the United States every year, although no one ever includes oats in the list of paying crops, and such crops as barley and soybeans have been demonstrated as more profitable.

The feeling has grown more prevalent in recent years that inefficient methods and practices in farming are as wasteful and unprofitable as undesirable livestock or crops. A worn-out-of-date machine or piece of equipment is just as much a cull as a boarder cow. The poor cow can be replaced with a higher producer and the worn-out, inefficient machine can be replaced by equipment which does the work quicker, cheaper and better.

GOVERNMENT FINDS WAY TO PREVENT LOCO

Bulletin Recently Issued Has Valuable Information

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—Uncle Sam has just completed a study of the private life of the loco weed, has found means to put an end to its mischief making proclivities and is anxious to impart the secret to stockmen in Texas and elsewhere, the Department of Agriculture announced today.

Contrary to some belief the loco weed isn't any copyrighted product of the Lone Star state, the report disclosed. It is found to some extent running up and down a territory extending from Mexico to Canada, generally west of a line north and south through the centers of Kansas and Nebraska.

Nor is it always uniform in appearance, government experts said. It appears in a number of disguises its mischief to perform. Some of its botanical names are purple, white and blue loco, the sheep loco weed, the Thurber loco weed and the two-grove loco weed. There is also one with a little more aristocratic colled the half-moon loco, but when a cow or horse gets loco it's loco no matter how sweet the name by which the weed is designated.

Horses and cattle have different tastes in loco, the statement said. Purple is the color scheme which appeals exclusively to horses. The blue affects horses primarily, but cattle and sheep are also affected by it. The plebian white loco gets them all—horses, cattle, and sheep.

Once an animal gets the "loco habit" he will skip right over nice grass and appease his unnatural appetite for loco, the statement said. Loco weeds can be exterminated by cutting them two inches or so below the surface of the soil and repeating several times to kill new loco weeds. Several methods of curing affected animals are prescribed in the bulletin, the first issued on the subject in ten years, and which the department is anxious to distribute.

RAIL CROSSING ACCIDENTS ON BIG INCREASE

Number of Accidents in Country Jumps Sixteen Per Cent for 1928

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Eighty per cent more fatalities occurred at railroad-highway grade crossings in 1928 than in 1927, and generally speaking, the rural areas were less safe for automobile drivers than they were by comparison with the large cities.

"In 1928 there were 2-8 persons killed at grade crossings and 6,666 injured," reports Clay S. Vite, president of the Standard Traffic Marker Co. of Wichita, Kansas, in a conference with traffic experts here. "The number of fatalities is 8 greater than that for 1927 as shown by reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission."

"From United States census bureau data it appears that in 1928 the automobile deaths per 100,000 population had only increased 10 per cent above those of 1924 for large cities; whereas for the country as a whole the increase was 29 per cent above the 1924 figure," Mr. White added.

Cars Crash More Frequently "Collisions of automobiles with heavier vehicles are more frequent, relatively, in the rural areas but it remains true that collisions of automobiles with other motor transport, or with pedestrians account for four out of five non-fatal accidents."

"Improvements would be served if rural highways were more often set directly in the road. Cities using marked with flexible rubber signals this type of signal have reported that accidents were greatly decreased."

"The arterial highway seems to be the answer to many traffic problems, but crossroad intersection must be properly marked if it is to be most efficient. Detective brakes are reported twice as frequently on any other vehicular defect, but improper lights are another cause of many accidents."

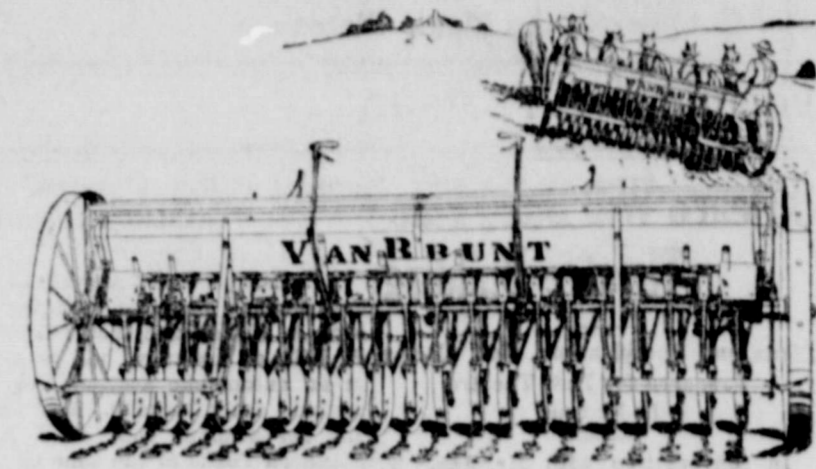

MORE IRRIGATED FARMS IS URGED AT PLAINVIEW MEETING

Plainview, Aug. 18.—Another million dollars could be added to the county's annual crop values by the further development of irrigation around Plainview, according to W. Winfield Holbrook, general manager of the Texas Land and Development Company, in an address before the Plainview Kiwanis Club Friday, when irrigation was discussed by Holbrook and Chas. A. Malone.

Holbrook says that under the present system of farming, with large acreages devoted to wheat and oats, the county is approximately 80 per cent developed in so far as population is concerned, but that with more intensive farming such as irrigation would make possible, the county is capable of supporting thousands of families more.

Chas. A. Malone told of his farm northwest of Plainview where he is installing eight pumping plants, operated by electricity, from a 20-horsepower Deisel type engine. He is producing energy at a cost of a half-

60 Years of Experience Are Built Into This Drill

John Deere-Van Brunt Double-Run Grain Drill

When you buy a John Deere-Van Brunt Double-Run Grain Drill, you are investing in a drill that is the outgrowth of over sixty years of successful grain-drill manufacture. Its accurate job of seeding either in hilly lands or on level ground, and its long life are the result of the experience gained through the years of building high-quality grain drills for the farmer.

If you plant your fields with a John Deere-Van Brunt, you will not be troubled with the seed clogging or bunching. The accuracy of the planting is maintained regardless of the kind of seed sown or the jarring of the drill in going over rough ground.

The Van Brunt Double-Run Drill plants seeds in fifty different quantities, without bruising or cracking the kernels. It handles wet seed as accurately as it does dry seed.

Remember, the Van Brunt Double-Run is the grain drill that does not buckle or sag, because it is built like a steel bridge. It's the drill you'll be proud to own.

Come in now and get further facts about this remarkable grain drill.

cent per kilowatt, not counting the interest on his investment. A 900-gallon capacity well costs him six cents per hour for operation on this current, and labor cost is running $8 per day, and fuel $1.50. When his project has been completed he will have eight pumps on the farm, each housed in a brick building, with a concrete slab top on opening for putting the pump for repairs.

Malone is cutting his fourth crop of alfalfa this year. He has 400 acres of alfalfa.

A farmer bought a cow for $31 and a 1923 model T Ford for $28.85. The cow gave 16 quarts of milk a day which the farmer sold for 11 cents a quart, and purchased gas at 19 cents a gallon. How many miles per cow does he and, and how.

The Dog and the Shadow

AESOP tells how a dog crossing a bridge over a stream with a piece of meat in his mouth, saw his own shadow in the water and took it for another dog with a piece of meat twice the size of his own.

In his desire for the larger piece of meat he lost the substance by attempting to seize—a shadow.

The light and power industry, as it is today, is the substance held by the people of the United States. The shadows are age-old theories that have never successfully taken the place of individual initiative.

CANDIDATES IN GOVERNOR RACE IN DULL WEEK

No New Entries Although One Lost to Early Field—Pollard Somewhat Cooled

Austin, Aug. 19.—It seems a futile week indeed that sees no new candidate in the governor's race. But that past week was one of these, and instead of adding to the count, actually saw one entry drop out reducing the list of those who have announced this 17 months before the inauguration to only eight. But there are others known to be waiting to get in at such time as their campaign will require over half the length of the term to which they aspire.

Recurrent hints and suggestions of the possible entry of R. S. Sterling, Houston publisher and capitalist, chairman of the highway commission, as exponent of the state highway bond issue program, have followed the organization of a non-political working body to support the bond plan.

Pollard Somewhat Cooled Earl B. Mayfield is virtually ready to return to the political field again as candidate for governor. Attorney General Claude Pollard seems to have tamed his interest in the race. Robt. Lee Bobbitt of Laredo has been "looking around" until his friends expect a definite statement from him soon, and believe he will have a fling at the state race.

Col. William Easterwood of Dallas, announced, then withdrew, when he decided he really wanted to run for state commander of the Legion rather than for governor.

The last individual to enter the governor's race was Mayor Charlton Brown of Mineral Wells, running on the "blue shirt" ticket and said to have been discovered as potential campaign material by Mayor J. Waddy, "Hot Dog," Tate of Dallas.

For the convenience of the card indexes others who are officially and formally running for governor, are: Thomas B. Love, Barry Miller, Lieutenant governor; Representative T. N. Mauritz, Ganado, income tax exponent; E. G. Senter, Dallas, reformer; Miss Katie Daffan, Ennie, the defeated former Mayor Oscar Holcombe, Houston, and Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher, Austin.

Love, Senter Already Working Senator Love and Mr. Senter already are actively campaigning, and making political speeches, though the campaign echoes back a little strangely, without the background of aroused interest in its outcome.

The entry of Treasurer Hatcher into the governor's race apparently was the result of a sudden decision on his part. Previously he had said he wanted to continue serving the people at $2,500 a year as treasurer, rather than to aspire to the $4,000 reward of the governor's office. Some of his friends were inclined to doubt his remaining in the race; at the same time it was believed more than likely that several of the minor candidates would quietly drop out before the time came for the paying over of $100 in hard money for place on the state primary ballot.

What We Need Is Not Trial Marriage But Trial Divorce, for if Nine-tenths of the Fighting Couples Were Separated for a Year They Would Kiss and Make Up," Says Dorothy Dix

Here is a story that a woman told me not long ago that has in it a moral for every disgruntled couple who is looking wistfully toward the divorce court:

"My husband and I had been married ten years and had got along peaceably and happily enough," she said, "and I never dreamed but that he was as contented as I was. Then suddenly the blow fell. He told me that he no longer cared for me and had fallen in love with another woman and he wanted me to divorce him so that he could marry her.

"I was stunned, of course, and heart broken, but I had too much self-respect to be any man's duty wife and too much pride to hold on to a man who was trying to get rid of me. So, after I had thought the matter over, I proposed to my husband that we should part for six months and during that time hold no communication whatever with each other. That would give him a chance to find out how deep was his felling for the other woman and if he still preferred her to me we would arrange the matter decently so as to cause as little talk as possible.

"He agreed to this and I packed my trunk and went to a nice hotel to live. He made a suitable financial arrangement for me and I got the old job back that I had held before my marriage. I didn't wear the willow nor go about weeping on the breasts of my friends and demanding that they mourn with me over the sorrows of a poor forsaken wife.

"On the contrary I got myself some pretty new clothes and I went everywhere I was invited and because I was being a good sport about being ditched even people I hardly knew went out of their way to give me a hand. So I kept too busy to have any leisure for self-pity and I found out that the world has a number of things in it besides husbands. Especially besides husbands who are in love with other women.

"In all the six months I never wrote or telephoned or spoke to my husband, and when at the end of the probation we met to discuss our affairs I found that he had been completely disillusioned with the other woman and that his love for me had revived and was stronger than ever, and that his one ardent desire was for me to forgive him and come back home.

"But I played foxy. I told him that I wasn't so sure of my own feelings; that I had enjoyed my freedom, and that there was another man in whom I had become interested. That settled Friend Husband, and he started on a whirlwind courtship that I permitted to sweep me off my feet and in the end and I went back and we re-established our home, with no hearts broken. That was five years ago and there is no happier couple than we are and no husband in the world who is more vamp proof now than mine."

This story confirms a theory I have long held, that what we need is not trial marriage, but trial divorce, for if nine-tenths of the fighting couples who want to break the marriage bond were separated for a year and given time to cool off and think it over they would kiss and make up, instead of wrecking their homes.

The thing that makes husbands and wives get on each other's nerves is seeing each other too closely for too long a time. They get so that they can only behold each other's faults. Every little habit and peculiarity irritates them beyond endurance, and by contrast every stranger takes on an alluring charm. Every woman whom the man only sees when she is dolled up becomes a siren. Every man that the wife only meets occasionally is a shiek.

And it is the same way with domestic life. The home becomes a prison that they hate. All its duties and obligations become loathsome. The man feels as if he was returning to a jail when he comes home at night. The wife feels that she is nothing but a slave doomed to perform an endless round of domestic tasks. Each longs for freedom and wide-open spaces of the night clubs and cabarets and the wild life that has no fetters upon it.

Also the bored, dissatisfied, disillusioned married couple look upon divorce as a sort of Elysium. They believe that a decree absolute will work a sort of miracle and translate them to a state of ecstatic bliss in which they will have no more troubles or worries and that, above all, it will restore them to their former state in which they were laughing and care-free boys and girls.

Blessings notoriously brighten as they fade and home and home cooking begin to look mighty good to a man who has been accustomed to them, after he has lived for a few months in a restaurant or club where he has had to order his own meals and rub his own rheumatism. Nor does it take a woman long to find out that it is just as monotonous to punch a time-clock in an office as it is to answer the alarm clock in the kitchen.

Furthermore, the divorced husbands and wives who marry their affinities discover that they are no easier to get along with, and have just as many faults and eccentricities as many knobs on their dispositions as their first husbands and wives had. Perhaps more. And they are no better off in their second estate than they were in their first, to say nothing of the alimony and their half-orphaned children. Sometimes divorces does improve the situation. Generally it doesn't. A trial divorce would give men and women a chance to prove whether they are really temperamentally incompatible or whether they were just bored with each other and needed a vacation. Therefore, I recommend it to all disrupted husbands and wives.—Dorothy Dix. BETTER CONSTRUCTION REDUCES FIRE WASTE Teaching carefulness in regard to fire is a never-ending job, in the opinion of A. Ludlum, of the National Fire Waste Council. "It seems to be necessary," he says, "if any impression is to be made, to create, if possible, a habit of caution and carefulness on the part of the individual citizen by constant reiteration and preachment of fire prevention. "It is admitted and recognized that all fire losses are in the final analysis paid by society and that every fire loss accordingly represents a real loss to society, but the average individual is not much concerned over the final analysis from which he feels himself quite remote. "Building to resist fire is as important as is the teaching of carefulness, and it should be apparent that all organizations interested in America's fire-safety and the conservation of its created resources should sponsor a safe and sane construction program that would reflect credit upon community intelligence, and combine their resources and informed knowledge to bring about greater fire resistance in buildings." East Texas tomato shipments for 1929 season exceeded 2,400 carloads. For new terminals and a new passenger station at Fort Worth, the Texas & Pacific Railroad has set aside $8,000,000, the new station getting half the appropriation.

800 Acres of Wheat Worth 2,000 Dollars more when Planted with a SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILL Mr. DuBois Walker of Hereford, Texas has this to say about his crop planted with two SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILLS— "I drilled eight hundred (800) acres to wheat, encountering wet, dry and trashy conditions. Under all conditions the SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILLS functioned properly and I got a perfect stand of wheat. Today I compared my wheat with wheat sown at the same time as mine and under the same conditions but with a regular spaced drill. I figure my eight hundred acres of wheat are worth two thousand (2,000) dollars more than they would be had I used regular spaced drills." What the SUPERIOR DEEP FURROW DRILL has done to increase yields for this progressive farmer it has done for hundreds of others and will do for you. If you are interested in 25 to 50% greater yields than you are now getting, you will be interested in this remarkable drill. The seed germinates quickly in the moist soil without waiting for rain. The deep furrows catch the snow insuring a plentiful supply of moisture and protection against winter killing. This is truly a remarkable drill that will increase your profits and yields. See this great new proven drill at our store today. Sow your next crop with this drill and pay for it out of the extra profits it will bring you at harvest time. SOUTH PLAINS LUMBER CO. INDEPENDENCE!

Independence is the greatest thing a person can have. It is something that every person is willing to lay down their life for, it is one thing that nations fight for and the inhabitants of the nations will volunteer to go to war in order to gain or preserve.

No person can be independent nowadays unless they have money, and if you make all the money you want to, you cannot be independent unless you save a part of it. No person knows the day or hour that they will not be able to earn money, and if they fail to lay aside part of that which they have earned during their active period, they will find their independence gone when the pinch comes, and will be dependent on some one in their times of trial and old age.

A bank account, no matter how small to begin, will grow rapidly, if added to regularly out of your earnings, and before long you will have the "rainy day" insured against harming you. Start an account at this bank today, if you do not have one already, and add to it regularly. It pays to be safe, instead of sorry.

"ANOTHER GUY BACK FROM HIS VACATION"

FRANK NORRIS' CHURCH PART RAZED BY FIRE

No Estimate Obtained On Amount of Damage—Pastor Away On Vacation

Fort Worth, Aug. 16.—Fire for the third time has swept through properties of the First Baptist church here today, destroying its educational building. Dr. J. Frank Norris is pastor.

The blaze was caused by a spark from a torch being used in removing debris from the ruins of the church's auditorium destroyed by fire last January. Several times before the firemen had been called to extinguish fires in the structure from the same cause.

Seven companies of firemen battled for more than an hour to prevent the flames from spreading. A filling station nearby added danger to the fire fighters. Employees of a nearby four story building fled when smoke poured into their offices.

Fire has plagued the church for many years. In the first blaze, a number of years ago, the main building was destroyed. Dr. Norris was accused and tried on charges of arson in connection with the fire, but after a bitter court trial he was acquitted.

The building was rebuilt, but was razed again by flames the first of this year while Dr. Norris was visiting in Austin. After the embers had cooled, city investigators found several cans believed to have contained gasoline. The origin of the fire, however, never was decided. The educational building was damaged by the January blaze.

The church's pastor has charged repeatedly that threats have been made against his life and property of his church as the result of vigorous campaigns he has conducted against so-called vice and criminal elements in Texas.

Dr. Norris was before the public eye again two years ago after he shot and killed D. E. Chipps, wealthy Texas lumberman, in his study at the church building. His trial was at Austin on a charge of venue. After sensational testimony he was acquitted. The pastor claimed Chipps threatened his life.

No estimate of today's loss had been made. Dr. Norris was in Wisconsin with his family on a vacation.

LUBBOCK STUDENT HURT IN MOTORCYCLE CRASH

Lubbock, Aug. 17.—Alvin P. Risinger, 20-year-old Lubbock Tech college student, was injured seriously last night when his motorcycle struck Joe Lowmire, 23, who was walking across a street. Risinger suffered a badly fractured skull while Lowmire suffered a broken right leg and concussion of the brain.

HELPING TO BUILD TEXAS

The United States imports 80,000,000 pounds of dates and produces 1,000,000. Mesopotamia has a date-palm that is "rain-resistant," meaning thereby that the date can have any amount of rain without hurt except at the one season of the year when the fruit is maturing, and the United States Department of Agriculture recently has imported 1,350 cuttings from rain-resistant trees. Most of these cuttings will go to the Weslaco Experiment Farm in an effort to develop on a commercial basis the date industry in the Rio Grande Valley. If the experiment succeeds, experts believe the Valley can produce dates profitably and on a large scale, and those interested are seeking a small appropriation to conduct the experimentation necessary.

The Williamson County Sun reports the close of a successful campaign for raising the $10,000 capital required for a cheese factory at Georgetown.

Texas has 253 organized and one unorganized county—Loving.

For taxation purposes realty and personality are rendered on an average basis of 33 1-3 per cent. The approximately $4,000,000,000 total represents more than $12,000,000,000 in actual wealth.

WEALTHY WEWOKA BLACKSMITH SUICIDES AFTER KILLING WIFE, SIX CHILDREN HURT

Wewoka, Okla., Aug. 19.—While six children slept in an adjoining room early Sunday, Jim Goodrich, 55, wealthy blacksmith, beat his wife, 40, to death with an auto spring and then killed himself, Homer Bishop, county attorney, said today after an investigation.

Tracing the crime, Bishop said it appeared Goodrich had come late Saturday night and attacked Mrs. Goodrich in the family bedroom. Condition of her body showed Goodrich must have been in a rage and continued to hammer on her even after death. Her skull was fractured in three places.

After killing Mrs. Goodrich the blacksmith went to his shop, as a pistol in his mouth and pulled the trigger, dying instantly.

Goodrich made his money as the discoverer of oil in the Seminola area, having operated a shop here for years prior to the oil developments.

The crime was discovered Sunday when a negro went to the blacksmith shop and found the body of Goodrich. He called officers who in turn telephoned the house. The phone was answered by the 17-year-old boy who discovered the mother's body when he went to awaken her.

Although the blood spattered on him bore evidence of the struggle between the husband and wife, none of the six children were awakened by it, Bishop said.

Bishop said he could discover no motive for the crime other than Goodrich's weakness for liquor. Officers were recently forced to sober him up in jail, Bishop said.

Power Plus

Our modern industrial age is the result of scientific and engineering achievement. The test-tube and the turbine are symbols of progress and prosperity.

We command a mechanical power capacity equal to that of 700,000,000 horses, or 5,600,000,000 human slaves.

Such statistics are too stupendous for the average imagination. But they are brought home to every citizen by the modern factory, the railroads, electricity in the home and business, the net work of wires that cover the nation.

Since 1900 our machine horsepower has increased 1100 per cent, while population has increased but 50 per cent. It was a period of dynamic change in which new ideas inflamed the world, new theories were tried and new methods substituted for old.

The possibilities of the machine in influencing the economic and social life of the masses are but touched. This century marks the starting point of a civilization that makes the ancient dreams of Utopia seem puny.

Oil and the People

There are more states that have a significant share in the petroleum industry than there are cotton states, or wheat states, or corn states, or steel states, or textile states. Of all the mineral industries, the production of petroleum shows the greatest gains. The petroleum refining industry ranks fourth in the value of products manufactured in 1925, the latest census year. The railroads of the United States transport a larger tonnage of petroleum products than of any other manufactured commodity. The petroleum industry is one of the largest purchasers of steel. It is one of the largest users of passenger and commercial vehicles. Petroleum ranks first in exports of manufactures from the United States. It gives work to 1,000,000 persons and indirectly to another million or two. Tankers owned and operated by the industry comprise 17 per cent of our merchant tonnage. It owns 150,000 tank cars. It has a network of 90,000 miles of pipe lines.

It is estimated that there are some 1,500,000 stock holders and bond holders, owners of royalties, etc., interested in oil properties. The all industry today is publicly owned.—Inland Oil Index, Casper, Wyoming.

American corporations will earn a total of more than $10,000,000,000 this year and nearly $7,000,000,000 will have been distributed to stockholders—little investors as well as big—

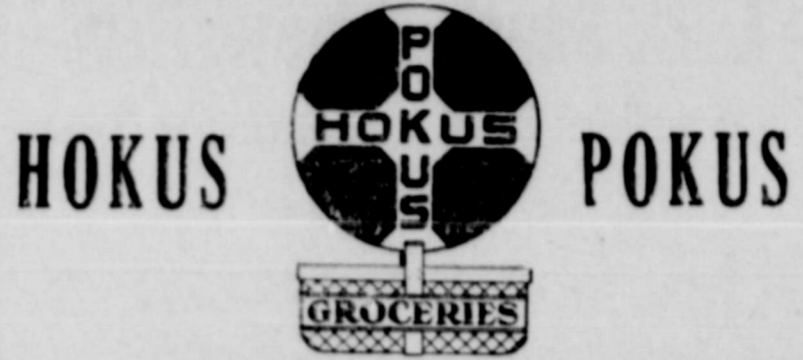

Los Angeles Times.

Studying Highway Question

Today street and highway building absorbs a larger percentage of the tax dollar than any other item except schools.

The United States Chamber of Commerce, through committees, is studying the proper relationship of four chief sources of highway finance—general revenues, special property assessments, special taxes against the highway users and highway bond issues.

They will endeavor to determine when bond issues are justifiable and the best means of redeeming them, how gasoline taxes should be applied, what the property owner's contribution to the highway past his door should be, the proper relationship of the Federal government to the highway program and other important questions. The improvement of secondary roads to open up the back country and relieve congestion on main highways is a question of outstanding importance.

Pioneers in Airway Marking Only a few years ago a tire company, at its own expense, put markers along the Pacific highway giving travelers at that time the only authentic information as to the distances along the route. Today, less than 15 years later, the airplane has brought a new method of travel. Few flyers know anything about navigation or the art of following a course without land marks to guide them. As a result airway beacons are essential for safety in flying, particularly at night. The Richfield Oil Co. has adopted a progressive program of building 8,000,000-candlepower steel tower be-cons in conjunction with its modern gas stations, approximately every 50 miles along the Pacific highway from Canada to Mexico. It is said that these beacons are visible in clear weather for 50 miles and the light which illuminates them will penetrate fog and mist for a great distance. Thus has a private company again stepped into the breach and marked our newest transportation routes, namely, the airways, and made them more safe and practical for amateur flying as well as mail and transport planes. These beacons would cost local communities thousands of dollars which could never be raised for a uniform system through several states. Erected as they are they illustrate the duty which private industry feels it owes as a public service in conjunction with the operation of its business which is of such a widespread public character. Texas public school system comprises 1,000 independent and about 7,000 common school districts with school property valued at $179,200,598. Texas leads all the states in variety of bird life with nearly 600 different species.

Welch's Are On Vacation Trip

Mr. Z. W. Shackelford of Lockney, has a letter from his daughter, Mrs. Ford Welch, of near Froina, Texas, stating that they are now on a vacation trip through New Mexico, Colorado, and Utah, and to the Yellowstone National Park. The letter says in part: "We will go from home to the Carlsbad Cavern, where we will be joined by Nelson and Willie Howell, and the party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Welch and Nelson and Willie Howell will then go to the Grand Canyon of Arizona, from there they will go to Salt Lake City, Utah, and on to the Yellowstone National Park; on their return they will visit Pike's Peak in Colorado. They will be gone on the trip about two weeks, when they will return to their home at Froina, Texas."

J. L. LEVERETTE, M. D., Paris, Tex. Federal Government Cuts Costs At the end of the last fiscal year on June 30, the Federal government had a surplus of $185,000,000 in the treasury, five times the estimated surplus. During the year the national debt was reduced $673,000,000 and is now less than $17,000,000,000.

The policy of retrenchment in Federal expenditures, established a few years ago, has resulted in the conversion of savings into tax reduction for the people. Within eight years nearly two million people have been relieved entirely of Federal taxation.

President Hoover has announced that a careful study is being made to determine the possibilities for reducing Federal taxes in the future. This will probably be done, but it will be of little direct benefit to the public if the orgy of spending by local units of government, that has multiplied their cost time and again in recent years, is continued.

UNCLE SAM'S BUSINESS WITH JOHN BULL GROWS Washington, Aug. 19.—Uncle Sam did a $1,509,000,000 business with his cousin, John Bull, last year. Official figures for the "visible" and "invisible" trade between the two English speaking nations, issued today by the department of commerce showed that 30 per cent of the international transactions of the United States were with Great Britain in 1928. Great Britain purchased merchandise from United States and obtained gold valued at $883,000,000 and in turn sold this country goods appraised for customs purposes at $324,000,000, leaving a balance of $559,000,000 in favor of America.

On the "invisible" side of the trade ledger England and its possessions had a balance of $68,000,000. Every item on the list was in Britain's favor except the $160,000,000 paid to the United States on the war debt.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—President Hoover's formal acceptance of the Elihu Root formula for American adherence to the world court is ready for publication, the United Press learned today.

Mr. Hoover has decided to request senate approval of the Root plan as a substitute for the senate reservations which for three years have prevented the United States from becoming a court member.

Next month the League of Nations assembly in annual meeting at Geneva will pass upon the revised court statutes which Root and a commission of jurists drafted last spring. The revised statutes, in the opinion of Mr. Hoover, Secretary of State Stimson and other advocates of American adherence, remove the conditions against which the senate sought protection.

FORMAL APPROVAL ROOT PLAN READY FOR PUBLICATION

Only seven of the 47 court members assented to the American reservations. Objections of other members concerned the two of the senate's reservations. One provided that the United States might at any time withdraw its adherence to the protocol, and that the statute for the court could not be amended without the consent of the United States.

SAM B. MOORE KILLED ON TRAIN NEAR GRAPEVINE Shifting Girders in Box Car Fall On Plainview Man Monday Night

Plainview, Aug. 20.—Sam B. Moore, aged 20, was killed in a box car near Grapevine, Texas, when some steel girders slipped and crushed him last night, according to word received by his father, Rev. A. D. Moore, 600 Oakland. Mr. Moore left his Thursday to go to Dallas, where he was said to have had employment. For a time he was employed at the Cash Grocery store here.

He is survived by his wife and their small child and by his parents. Rev. Moore is Methodist circuit preacher here and the family has been here a number of years.

The body was discovered by trainmen and a telegram was set at once to the youth's father. After the body had been prepared for burial at Carrollton, Texas, it was shipped to Plainview and will arrive here Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be conducted from the Methodist night.

church tomorrow afternoon by Rev. C. L. Cartwright, pastor, and Rev. M. M. Beavers, presiding elder.

Young Moore formerly was a member of the Plainview Municipal Orchestra when that organization was directed by J. V. Havener and later by Prof. Harold Dallinger.

Took Train at Dallas Sam B. Moore and Jack Rhine caught a northbound freight train out of Dallas last night, B. F. Blewett, justice of the peace at Addington, Texas, informed The Herald by wire today. They were in a local car load with steel girders and were between the steel and the side of the car. The train in switching on a siding shifted the steel, crushing Mr. Moore to death. His companion jumped in time to escape injury.

BORGER YOUTH HELD IN JAIL AFTER SLAYING No Bond Allowed "Blackie Moore In Sunday Night Affray

Borger, Aug. 19.—"Blackie" Moore, 22 years old was held in the Hutchinson county jail without bond tonight after a preliminary hearing this afternoon before Justice Judge Walter Broomball in the killing of Homer L. Brown, 22 years old, by stabbing on the streets of Borger, Sunday night.

Moore, alias Guy Greer, will seek a habeas corpus through defense attorney L. G. Hurley.

Four witnesses testified for the state but none could swear to having seen the knife during the altercation. The pocket knife with about a three-inch blade was not discovered until after the victim had been taken to the hospital and then removed to the morgue and his clothes removed, due to the fact that it was almost completely buried in his back.

At the hospital where he died, a deep cut across the left breast was sewed up but at the morgue it was found that he had a deep laceration clear across his back under the shoulder blades beside the knife buried lower down.

Brown was held in jail awaiting action of the grand jury in October. He was arrested near Skelleytown, east of here, early Monday morning. He was driving an automobile which he had borrowed from a friend, he declared. The affray, according to witnesses, followed a quarrel and fight earlier in the evening.
