TAHOKA OFFICER SHOT SATURDAY BY HARRY WHEATLEY

Fort Worth, May 12.—Charge of assault to murder today was filed against Harry F. Wheatley, 28, of Tahoka, who Saturday night shot policeman Herman Cobb, 35, and a few minutes later was found in an adjoining room with a bullet wound in his head.

MRS. JOE HANNA MAKES MONEY OUT OF CHICKENS

Mrs. Joe Hann, who lives 14 miles east of Lockney, in the Cedar Hill community, has kept a record on the production of her poultry this year, and reports the following results:

Over a scope of time from January to May she has sold to the hatchery here $90.42 worth of eggs, she has sold $82.62 worth of hens, set and hatched 275 chickens, beginning the first of the year with 120 hens.

She has fed her hens 300 pounds of laying mash, and has paid for the mash with culled eggs. The breed of chickens she has are Buff Orpington.

This is a pretty good record for 120 hens to start with, and shows that there is money to be made out of poultry on the Plains, when handled right.

The South is in position to take the lead in the dairy industry, according to F. W. A. Vesper, St. Louis, director of the National Dairy Show and former Texan, who said the industry is moving South. Formerly, he said, it was centered in the North because of cheap ice, but modern refrigeration methods have dissipated that advantage and the question now is cheap production which the South can furnish, mainly because where in the North dairy cattle must be housed seven months in the year, in the South the outside period for housing is two months. He pointed out as confirming his belief the fact that practically all the large dairying concerns have in the past year or so opened branch establishments in Southern States.

Miss D. Alma Crosswhite of Plainview has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Robbs, the past week-end.

Statement Made by Brother Led To His Arrest Saturday In Plainview

Sam Belyeu, of Lockney, who is accused of thefts, ranging from cows to automobile trailers in Lynn, Crosby, Lubbock, Floyd and Hale counties, and believed connected with thefts elsewhere, was caught in Plainview Saturday after Kelly Hooper, deputy sheriff, had chased him on foot for several blocks. The man was winded by the lively race and had hidden in a back yard in the east part of town.

According to a statement made by David Jordan Belyeu, 19-year-old brother of Sam, the latter burglarized the home of Chas. Saigling 6 miles southeast of Plainview, took a dozen sacks of cotton seed cake, took off a door of the house, and a set of leather harness; stole a trailer from D. R. McVicker here and went to Wayland College and loaded a fine jersey cow of the college into the trailer; stole 6 fifty gallon barrels of gasoline at Lockney; stole a Ford coupe from T. J. Perry, Plainview youth, 2 years ago, stripped the tractor of Mart Meister, farmer living 2 miles south of Hale Center; stole four guns, two pump shot guns and two Winchester from the Hamilton Blacksmith Shop here; a lister from J. T. Cogsdell, four miles southeast of Plainview; and took some stuff from the farm of E. T. White, 10 miles south of Plainview.

The young Belyeu, making a statement to Waywright Bridges, assistant county attorney here, enumerated a long list of other objects taken by Sam and himself. He said Sam bought 75 chickens in the west part of Plainview, giving a bogus check; he described a time when Sam stole two cows near Silverton, in the canyons; and many other times when they took smaller articles.

Officers at Plainview estimated that the articles listed by the younger Belyeu would be valued at $3,000 to $5,000. These articles were taken since last fall, though officers expressed the opinion Belyeu has been operating similarly for five years.

The two Belyeu brothers were arrested at Slaton, Texas, by officers, on April 14. They had been on a foraging expedition, according to the younger boy's statement, and had some stuff piled on the truck. He said they had a flat tire and in order to fix it had to pile some of the junk off on the road. There was a pile of cotton seed nearby and a passer by seeing the two there believed they were preparing to steal them. He notified officers who held the two on suspicion. While the sheriff went to see about identification of the two, Sam escaped on the pretext of getting a drink of water. He had been sought by Plains officers since that time. The younger Belyeu was brought here several days ago from Lubbock by Harvey Bolin and Hooper and readily made a statement to Bridges.

Hooper has been on the lookout for Sam Belyeu and Saturday found him in a local restaurant and went in and sat beside him. He asked the man to go with him to the WesTex Hardware store, where J. H. Byington, formerly of Lockney, was to identify Belyeu. When the latter saw Byington, he ran out of the back door, through the Hunter Coal Yard, and thence to the east side of town, where, winded, he gave up. Hooper had been gaining on him steadily and suddenly drew a gun on him as he rested. Belyeu then admitted his identity. When first picked up he said his name was Wilson.

Sheriff Elmer J. Reed, of Crosby county arrived yesterday afternoon and took Belyeu to Crosbytown with him, and he will likely be tried in district court there the coming week. He is charged by the grand jury indictment with stealing parts of the sheriff's own tractor. This he is alleged to have done on the night he was arrested, April 14.

After the trial in Crosby, Belyeu will be returned here, to be formally charged with theft and burglary. The younger Belyeu in his statement said that Sam was sentenced at one time to five years in the pen in Brown county, and was acquitted in Coleman county on a charge of stealing sheep.

In his statement the younger Belyeu said Sam gave J. D. Hatcher a forged check for a shop-made go-devil. Officers said he has recently forged three checks on O. B. Jackson, signing them "By Lyle Jackson." They said he forged a check for $15.12 Thursday night at the First and Last Filling Station here. It was signed ostensibly by O. B. Jackson and made out to H. N. Clay.

Belyeu's wife and two daughters live in Lockney. His father, a blind man, lives near Tahoka, with his mother and another brother.

MAYFIELD SAYS LAW ENFORCEMENT IS OUTSTANDING QUESTION

Former Senator Opens Campaign for Texas Governor

Winnboro, Texas, May 10.—The outstanding question engaging the attention of the people is law enforcement, former United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield declared in an address here today opening his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Mayfield said that disrespect for law is the quicksand in which the blessings of government perish while respect for law is the rock on which governments endure. He charged it was common belief among "higher-ups" that laws were made for the poorer classes and that the rich can violate the statutes with impunity. It is his influence which is undermining the supremacy of the law, he said.

Referring to prohibition, Mayfield declared the Volstead and attendant laws were here to stay. He asserted the wheels of progress never turn backward and pointed out that no amendment to the federal constitution has ever been repealed. Opponents of prohibition offer nothing to take its place and repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment means legalizing the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquor. Mayfield stated this could not prove satisfactory because government sale of liquor has proven a greater failure than prohibition.

Mayfield scored John Raskob as chairman of the Democratic National Committee for contributing money to the Anti-Prohibition association and declared he was as much opposed to Raskob being head of the Democratic party as he was to "any other Republican being in such a position." The purpose of the anti-prohibition association is to elect "wet" Republicans over "dry" Democrats, Mayfield said.

He promised, if elected governor, to use his influence to prevent a repetition of "the fiasco that took place at the Beaumont convention." The speaker asserted that Texas would send to the national convention that would use its influence to unhorse Raskob and vote solidly against the nomination of Governor Al Smith of New York or any other Democrat for president who is in sympathy with the "organized movement" to break down the prohibition laws and repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

Commenting on the tax problem, Mayfield said that more than one-half of the taxable wealth of the state now is escaping taxation and that the tax burden has been shifted to the farmers, ranchers and small home-owners. Modernization of the tax burdens should be effected at once. He declared the present system is inadequate since it permits billions of dollars of corporate wealth to go untaxed and urged that all public utility concerns and other corporations, doing a state-wide business be placed under the intangible tax law.

He also advocated a tax on the sale of ginger ale, malt extract, and kindred products, a tax on one cent on each cigar and each package of cigarettes purchased in Texas and a tax on money, stock, bonds and credits. Mayfield said that taxes of this kind would produce enough revenues to cut the ad valorem tax down to five or six cents per $100.

Mayfield charged the present prison system was responsible for a large part of the crime wave because it tended to breed and increase crime instead of training prisoners for useful and honorable lives. He stated the prison system should be constructed on the lands now owned by the state, the failure of the penitentiary system to be self-supporting is due to antiquated methods of management, he claimed.

He also asserted that test wells for oil should be drilled on the Imperial farm since one oil company has produced more than 4,000,000 barrels of oil on an adjoining tract since 1927.

Touching on the pardoning power of the governor, Mayfield said it should be used with discretion and should not be abused.

He declared he was opposed to the proposed plan of financing a state highway system through the proposed statewide bond issue and urged that one way go plan instead of one whereby the state would lose $165,000,000 in interest. He also announced himself as favoring an elective highway commission that would be responsible to the people.

Among other things he urged that land titles be made secure through the establishment of recognized corners and boundaries; recommended that the state interest itself in impounding the water of its rivers for navigation, flood control and power purposes; advocated the preservation of the right of labor to organize and bargain collectively; urged liberal appropriations to make the education system of Texas as the best in the United States; favored increased relief for World War

Miss Mollie Newman spent the week end with her parents at Hedley, Tex.

Port Arthur claims to be the one city in Texas wholly independent of agriculture and wholly dependent upon industry for its local support. Refugio promises to be the one taxless city of Texas. Oil, discovered on city owned land, is the explanation. A well now being drilled by the county in the jail yard may bring the same result in the county.

veterans and increased appropriations for the Texas National Guard; declared himself as favoring control of chain stores to prevent monopoly; stated the department of agriculture should be raised to a high state of efficiency declared that a commission should be organized to draft a plan of court reform; asserted that regulation of public utilities should be placed in the hands of the railroad commission; promised improvement in the operation of charitable institutions.

Mayfield also stated that he favored uniform regulation in the cotton growing states as a means of farm relief in the event the federal farm board failed of its objective and stated if elected he would call a conference of cotton growers, governors and bankers to devise some means of aiding the farmer.

He urged state aid for persons seeking to own their own farms thru the establishment of a rural credit system, declaring that when farms are owned by the tillers it will bring about better conditions.

WILL THEY ENLIGHTEN THE PEOPLE?

In the last issue of the Lockney Beacon, this editor published an editorial, written by himself, in regard to the raising of the water rates in this city, and mentioned the fact that the city council had not to this time conformed to the law in regard to an audit of the city's books, and the publication of the semi-annual statements of the city.

One alderman accosted this writer, and said that the reason why we were raising the issue was because the city was not giving us the business and we were just trying to force them to patronize us. If the city followed the law to the letter in this regard to the publishing of the audits and statements the fees would not amount to but a very few dollars to the printer, and would not be sufficient to cause any printer to make a fight in order to get the business, and as far as we are concerned personally the city's business doesn't amount to a hill of beans. But if the business did amount to a considerable amount, this editor is one man that would not lay aside the principles that he believes in for every cent that the city receives for running expenses from the tax payers of this community for the entire year. We answer this accusation here, and flatly state that every member of the city council well knows that we have never asked a favor of them, that we have never solicited any of their city business, and that there is not one bit of truth in any such assertion.

But, now as the proposition has got in print, and the people are still wondering just how the affairs of the city are standing, we are going to ask the city council a few questions, and if they wish to answer these questions we will donate them the space they need to answer them in the columns of the Beacon.

Questions

Why was it necessary to raise the water rates, at this time, in Lockney?

Why was the salary of the mayor raised to $125 per month, and the salaries of the Aldermen to $25 per month, while the city had a lot of unpaid warrants out and the city's finances at a low ebb?

Why the proposition of building the city auditorium and swimming pool was not submitted to a vote before they were constructed, and why the council did not have plans drawn, contractors bid on the jobs, and let the contract to the lowest bidder?

Why has the city council failed and refused to submit an audit of the books of the city in accordance to the law?

Why the city has not conformed with the law regarding the publishing of a semi-annual statement of the city treasurer?

We leave these questions open for the members of the city council to answer, and offer them free gratis the columns of the Beacon in which to answer these questions. We hope that the council is able to answer these questions to the satisfaction of the tax payers of the town, and will await any comment regarding same, until sufficient time has elapsed to give them every opportunity to enlighten the people of the community through the columns of this paper.

MAYFIELD OPENS CAMPAIGN

Ex Senator Earle B. Mayfield opened his campaign for governor of Texas at Willsboro on May 10th, before a vast crowd that had assembled to hear his first campaign speech.

Mr. Mayfield laid down some principles in his opening speech that are worthy of the consideration of the people of Texas who have the best interests of the state at heart, and who believes in a more economically conducted government of the state and the enforcement of the laws of the state.

He stood for the strict enforcement of the laws on the statute books of our state, regardless of the station that the offender occupied, and the dealing with the rich and poor, the powerful and powerless, on the same basis. He believes in the continuance of the 18th Amendment, and the strict enforcement of the Volstead and other prohibition laws.

Mr. Mayfield paid his respect to John Jacob Raskob, republican leader of the Democratic party, and Mr. Raskob's position in reference to the 18th Amendment, and his crusade for the liquor interests of the country, and favored his removal from the Democratic party leadership, and the placing of the party in the hands of legitimate democrats, who stood for the principles of the party, and not in the party to tear it to pieces.

Commenting on the tax problems, Mayfield says, that more than one-half of the taxable wealth of the state is now escaping taxation and that the tax burden has now been shifted to the farmers, ranchers, and small home owners, and that modernization of the tax burdens should be effected at once. He said that the present system is inadequate since it permits billions of dollars of corporate wealth to go untaxed and urged that all public utility concerns and other corporations doing a state-wide business be placed under the intangible tax law, and that many items that are now escaping taxation be brought under a taxation system, to the end that the ad valorem tax of the state be cut to five or six cents on the $100 valuation.

He declared that he was opposed to the present plan of financing the state highways, which is to vote a large state bond issue, that will mean the paying of at least half the issue in interest, added to the amount voted, and which will have to be paid by the people, and favored the pay as you go plan of building highways, and recommended the election of the highway commission by the people, so that the highway department would be answerable to the people for their actions. This is in keeping with his platform, which plainly states that he favors the people retaining the power of governing their own government, and that all servants of the people be held responsible for their actions while serving them as officials. He favors free speech, free press, and a free commonwealth, and believe that the people should have the right to dictate the kind of government they want to those whom they elect to serve them.

He urged state aid for persons seeking to own their own farms through the establishment of a rural credits system, declaring that when farms are owned by the tillers it will bring about better conditions in the state.

Mayfield believes in the regulation of the chain stores, and that they should be regulated so as to be on an equal with the home owned stores, thereby placing them in a position where they would be forced to give their support to their local communities and state in which they were permitted to do business.

Mr. Mayfield's platform meets with the approval of this writer, and we believe him to be the outstanding candidate of the sixteen that are in the race for governor of Texas this year.

THAT SAND STORM

Again West Texas is West Texas. On last Friday night 63-100-inch rain fell in the town of Lockney, and covered a good scope of country, practically from Plainview on the west to a point seven or eight miles east, and across the county from northeast to southwest, and early Saturday morning things were fine, and it never entered the minds of the people that it was possible for a sand storm to appear that day—but reckoning was all wrong, the power of the west wind, the dryness of the Lamb county sand hills soon made the people realize that the days of Forty-Nine were not gone forever. For, the near on to twenty years we have been on the Plains, we do not recall a worse sand storm than the one that raged Saturday. The fact that Lockney and this section was wet, didn't faze the sand storm one particle, and the air was really stifling, and cold, throughout the day, and a more disagreeable day has been rarely witnessed. It brought back the realization, that although settled and civilized, we still lived in West Texas, and that nature would prove herself over and over as the years roll on.

YOU CAN'T STOP 'EM

Again mob law has predominated in Texas, and again a negro has been cooked for intruding on the forbidden fruit. When the negro lets his passion get the upper hand of his judgment he may know what to expect and what he is going to get, for if he escapes the mob, the electric chair will get him. If the courts functioned quicker, it might be that the lynching of a negro depredator would be less often, but the slow grind of the court, and the chance for the criminal to get out of being punished causes the people to take the law in their hand. The mob at Sherman last week proved that the people of that section still intended to preserve the superiority of the white race without any question and that all the officers, State Rangers, and National Guards would not stop them when they became excited over a negro criminally assaulting a white woman. As long as negroes assault white women just that long there will be a negro burning, and it won't make no difference whether the crime is committed north or south of the Mason & Dixon line. Every once in a while you will read where they have lynched a negro up north, not so often as down south, because there are fewer negroes to contend with up north! but when those northerners get excited they too lynch the blacks, and then raise cane when they hear of a negro being lynched in the south. When a negro assaults a white woman he knows what the penalty is, and he may well expect to die for the crime. Southerners will always be Southerners, and they will enforce the law in regard to negro and white equality any time they are called upon to do so. While we deplore the fact that they did not await the decision of the court, we do not condemn them for making the negro brute pay the penalty for his crime.

Mr. H. B. Adams, Editor, Lockney, Beacon, City, Dear Sir:—

With reference to your editorial in your last week's paper pertaining to the raise in water rates, the writer has on desire or inclination to enter into a controversy with any one pertaining to the operation of the city government, as I know full well that no one handling the affairs of the city a day time, can or will, handle the city affairs that will be agreeable to each and every one of the residents of the city, but, in as much as the writer made the motion that did increase the water rent, and as exception has been taken to the increase, both, as an increase and also that the users of the water had not been previously notified of the increase, I am writing this just to clarify the situation as much as possible. The writer was a member of the city commission at the time the water rates was lowered from $1.50 minimum and around 20 to 25% per 1000 gallons on the excess, and I do know that we were not criticized or attention called to us that we should have notified the water patrons in advance that we were making a reduction in the rates, the rates when lowered were considerable under the water rates charged by any of the cities surrounding Lockney, our rates were placed too low at that time, but they have been retained at that basis for a period of nearly three years, at the present time it is necessary to employ additional help to operate the water system, in addition to that, the three years operation of the machinery is bringing about repair bills, and the cost of operating the water department naturally increases as time goes on, just the same as the expenses of a business increases as their business increase when the machinery was all new, the actual cost of producing 1000 gallons of water was 8c, and we were selling this water at 10c, and have retained this price for nearly three years, the most of producing water today is higher, as the machinery is continually used, naturally the efficiency of it drops, and water that did cost the city 8c when all of the machinery was new, is costing more money to produce today, after putting on the increase of 5c per 1000 gallons on the excess over the 3000 gallons, we have only gotten our water rates on a level with Plainview water rate at this time, Plainview has a population of five or six times that of Lockney, as a comparison of the different cities and rates I give you the following:

Floydada, $1.50 minimum 2,000 gallons, 25c per 100 gallons excess; Tullia, 30c per 1000 for first 5000 gallons, 20c per 1000 gallons excess; Canyon, $1.50 for 2000 gallons, 50c per 1000 gallons excess; Itala, $1.50 for 1000 gallons, 50c per 1000 gallons excess; Crosbyton, $2.50 for 3000 gallons, 75c per 1000 gallons excess, Hereford, $2.00 for 3000 gallons, 15c per 1000 gallons excess; Plainview $1.00 for 3000 gallons, 15c per 1000 gallons excess, so you can see that the water rate in Lockney with a minimum of $1.00 for 3000 gallon and 15c per 1000 gallons over the 3000 minimum is still a very reasonable rate in comparison, especially by taking in the consideration our population.

I do agree that when a major issue comes up in the government of the city, that the people are entitled to pass upon the proposition, but on a proposition like the above coming up, if it is necessary to put this up to the people to have them act on it, and for their approval, before any definite action is taken in the matter, then it is an absolute sinecure that you do not need a city council to handle any of it.

The above is given that your readers may get another side of the water deal, there is nothing about the operation of the city affairs that is intended to be secret in any way, the meetings of the council are open to any one, and for that matter we extend an invitation to anyone to attend our meetings with us, also the editor, we are not lawyers, we are only human, we are going to make errors, we do not make any errors intentionally, we are putting our honest efforts to handle your business with horse sense and in a business like way, naturally, anyone wanting to criticize us will find things alone to criticize us on, but in doing this, if the same effort is put to find out all of the things we do, and in fairness, give the council the breaks along, we will appreciate the same amount of publicity on the things that we accomplish, that are worthwhile.— J. H. HOHLAUS, City Alderman.

EDITOR'S NOTE—We will comment on the article in this issue in regard to raising the water rate in next week's paper.

REGARDING THE RAISING OF THE MAYOR'S SALARY

We have been informed by the City Secretary that the raise in the mayor's salary, passed some time near the first of the year, is now in force and that the salary is now being paid. The salary was raised from $100 to $125 per month. Below we quote the law on this proposition, which is plain and self-explanatory, and unquestionable:

Art. 1010. Salary of officers—The City Council, shall, on or before the first day of January next preceding each election, fix the salary and fees of office of the mayor to be elected at the next regular election, and fix the compensation to be paid to the officers elected or appointed by the city council. The compensation so fixed shall not be changed during the term for which said officers shall be elected or appointed.

Court Decisions in Regard to Violation of above Article—Municipal corporations are creatures of statutes, and have no power excepting those expressly or impliedly granted by the statute creating them. Waldschmit v. City of New Braunfels, (Civ. App.) 193 S. W. 1077; Stevens v. City of Dublin (Civ. App.) 171 S. W. 549; and others.

Neither a municipal corporation nor its officers can do any act or make any contract or incur any debts not authorized by statute of creation. City of Uvalde v. Uvalde Electric &

Ice Co. (Civ. App.) 235 S. W. 625; Foster v. City of Waco, 113 T. 352, 255 S. W. 1104.

There is also a law on the Criminal Statutes governing the punishment for the violation of the above article.

TEXAS THOUGHT

BY WAYE

ADMITTED leaders in the Texas gubernatorial race are James E. Ferguson, Earle B. Mayfield and Dan Moody, if he ever definitely makes up his mind to get into the free-for-all mix-up. Moody's preliminary announcement of his likelihood of asking for a third term nomination acknowledged the fact that Mayfield and Ferguson are outstanding candidates, and if Moody enters it is generally conceded that he will be a powerful contender for a place on the run-off ticket with either Mayfield or Ferguson as his opponent.

DESPITE rains at the Winnsboro opening on Saturday, May 10, Mayfield's speech attracted state-wide attention. Friends and supporters braved an all-day downpour to hear the former Senator open his campaign. His clear cut announcement of his stand on vital public questions of the day won for him universal acclaim from the group that heard him. The daily press of the state gave his platform wide publicity and it is expected that his candidacy will take on renewed vigor after the delayed opening speech.

It is Mayfield's intention to put on a state-wide speaking tour, it is said from his office in Austin. Moody, if he makes the race, likely will do the same, while Ferguson will depend largely on his Forum to get his message to a group of his friends. Mayfield has a platform that takes into consideration practically every question affecting Texas life today, while Moody's stand will be taken in vindication of his two terms at the helm of state.

THE INSENSITY of the gubernatorial race will eclipse all other political activities of the year. Candidates for minor state offices such as Treasurer and Comptroller are going to have a hard time to make themselves heard through the din and noise made by the score who are seeking the gubernatorial nomination.

George H. Sheppard, present State Comptroller of Public Accounts, is getting set to run a good race. He has the advantage of being in the office at the present time, and has done much good in straightening out its affairs during the few months following his appointment. His good work will merit consideration at the hands of the electorate. He is strongly endorsed by his homefolks in the Sweetwater territory. They say that if there is any opposition to him they have not heard of it.

WALTER C. CLARK is admitted to be the strong contender for the State Treasurer's office. He has worked in the department for twelve years and his entire life has been given over to the same kind of work that he is called upon to do in the Treasury. A substantial group of workers in the department are solidly behind him. This group will give him substantial support and will give him the edge over at least one of his opponents.

COUNTY and district candidates, following a custom that came into vogue in Texas several years ago, generally are fighting shy of taking a stand in the gubernatorial race. They are none too anxious to become entangled in the ramifications of the questions affecting the state's welfare and almost unanimously are leaving the major candidates to run their own races. This stand likely will have its effect upon the future legislation of the state, due to the fact that a governor might find himself in office with a legislature that is not in accord with his policies. Moody found himself in such a position during his present term and the state was the sufferer.

Miss Nancy Douglas left for her home in Farmersville, Texas, Saturday night. She will stop over a few days in Dallas with relatives before going on to her home.

Last Wednesday night as Miss Irene Willard and Lowrairie Bowers were on their way to prayer meeting they narrowly escaped an accident. They were going rather slow because they had no lights and as they turned a corner Mr. Kelly Bowers and Reginald Mathis ran into them. There was no serious damage done, nor no one hurt.

Texas granite from the Llano sections is being used in the $15,000,000 Edison building and also for the $1,500,000 Roosevelt memorial in New York City. "Is there any good reason why Texas stone should not go into Texas buildings?" inquires the Dallas News in an editorial commenting on the revival of big building plans over the state. It goes on to point out that in addition a Texas granite being the equal of the best in the United States, Texas limestone of the Bedford type is now being quarried and that Texas marble is as good as the best in the country. "We ought not to overlook good material merely because it is nearer to us and costs less," the editorial pertinently suggests.

Conditioned on a $700,000 contribution by Valley counties, the United States Army Board of Engineers has recommended construction of a ship channel and turning basin at Point Isabel. Their report favors a 300-foot outer-channel scoured by littles and a 100-foot channel of 16-foot minimum depth with a turning basin 500 feet across. Inferentially, if the 15-foot channel is found a paying proposition, the board would favor making it 25 feet. Electric tramways from Brownsville and San Benito to the port are parts of the project.

Down at Odem, in San Patricio county, E. C. Caldwell has one of the largest radish and beet farms in the United States with 700 acres in radishes and 600 acres in beets. He has contracted 400 carloads of radishes and 40 carloads of beets and both crops are being moved out as fast as 1,500 laborers can gather them. Last year the little town of Odem shipped 1,400 carloads of vegetables and this year will far exceed that total.

Brenham claims the "world's largest" shipment of day-old chicks—by airplane. The 10,000 chicks were shipped by plane from Brenham to Senisto Gasco, Mexico, according to a Brownsville dispatch.

Diary of Houston Trip

Misses Thomson, Thelma Good, and Ethelene Wofford left April 29, 1930, from Lockney on their clothing contest trip to Houston. They made their departure from Lockney on the Fort Worth and Denver Railway at 9:35 p. m., Tuesday night.

10:00 p. m.—Changed pullman cars at Sterley.

10:15 p. m.—Went to bed.

4:30 a. m.—All is well, but Thelma and Ethelene are as wide awake as hoot-owls. Miss Thomson fast asleep, but the girls were riding crosswise in their berths watching the ravines, hills, rivers, etc. swim by.

6:30 a. m. Wednesday—Time to get up. Ethelene and Thelma slept one hour.

8:30 a. m.—Arriving at Dallas. Went to the top of the highest building in Dallas, the Magnolia building, which was thirty stories high. Then we window shopped, and saw the different parts of car engines at the Lincoln Car Exhibit.

9:30 a. m.—Ate breakfast at Dallas Coffee Shop. Window shopped until 11:45 a. m. Then started for Dallas Union train Station. Almost got left but arrived just in time. The Silver-Ton girls, who started with us, did get left.

6:30 p. m. Wednesday—Arrived at Houston, tired but happy. Took taxi to the Rice Hotel, the home of all six hundred. Home Economics girls while in Houston. As Thelma had worn blisters on her heels, the next stop was at a drug store for adhesive tape for bandages. Then they ate a nice supper about 7:30.

9:30 p. m.—Went to bed after freshening up and writing letters to our friends and parents.

9:30 A. M. Thursday—Awoke and prepared for breakfast, of which we partook about 11:30 a. m.

2:30 p. m.—Mrs. Sloof, of the P. T. A. of Houston, met us in her car. She took us on a tour of Houston, then to San Jacinto battlefield. A dinner was served to all Home Economics girls at the San Jacinto Inn. A lecture was listened to, by the girls, about the most interesting features of the San Jacinto battle. Mrs. Sloof brought us back to Houston and drove us over the grounds of Rice Institute, took us to see Houston's Public Library, the Catholic Abbey and cemetery, and other important spots of that city.

9:30 p. m.—Went to show, "The Rogue Song" at Loew State Theatre.

11:30 p. m.—Went to bed after writing more letters.

10:00 a. m. Thursday—Awoke and prepared general exhibit for the contest.

 11:30 a. m.—Ethelene's traveling suit and case were judged with a number of other contestants.

12:00—Ate dinner.

2:30 p. m.—Thelma's commencement dress was judged. Honorable mention was given this garment.

6:00—Went to see show "High Society Blues," starring Janet Gaynor and Chasles Farrell. One interesting feature about every show Miss Thomson and the girls saw provided vaudeville also. This was very interesting, as the girls had no chance to see this feature in any show before.

10:00—Went to upper, and window-shopped awhile. Arrived at hotel at about 12:00 o'clock, but wrote letters until 1:30 or 2:00 a. m.

9:30 a. m. Saturday—Decided to come home Sunday at 12:00 o'clock instead of Saturday.

Breakfasted at Manhattan Cafe. We visited the new Gulf building in Houston, which is the highest building in the Southwest. This building, thirty-nine stories high, had a large telescope on the roof, through which we saw the entire district of Houston. Galveston could be seen dimly, as the morning was foggy. Then, we visited the City Market which was very clean. The fish market contained many types of sea food, among which were seen the pink salmon, speckled cod, sheep's head fish, and large live crabs. In the City Market, we saw the stuffed head of the elephant that killed many people in northern Texas, caused by going mad as the result of an aching tooth.

2:00 p. m.—Ethelene bought her a beautiful dress after much pondering over a blue and pink chiffon. We only had time to eat a little, and catch the interurban for Galveston.

We crossed the causeway over the ocean. Courtesy cars of Houston's P. T. A. drove the contestants over interesting parts of Galveston, took them to visit the British cruiser in port, then drove them to Murdoch's bathing house. The Chamber of Commerce of Galveston furnished free tickets and bathing suits for all the girls. Miss Thomson and Thelma entered the water expecting to swim, but the white-caps soon convinced them that they would have to jump, or let the waves swallow them. They jumped, generally, but several times a wave unexpectedly caught them with their mouths open gasping for breath.

8:00 p. m.—Dressed for banquet given by the Houston Chamber of Commerce at the Rice Hotel. Here we enjoyed many talks given by members of the head department of Home Economics, from members of the Chamber of Commerce, and witnessed a play given by the Sour Lake Club Girls.

9:30 p. m.—Went to show entitled "Ladies in Leisure." Saw another wonderful vaudeville.

11:30 p. m.—Arrived at hotel and prepared for the night.

11:00 a. m. Sunday—The girls and teacher intended to get up early, so packing could be done, breakfast eaten and a trip to the zoo accomplished, but as it was, no breakfast was eaten, clothes were dumped in bags, and they barely caught the train. They sat on the observation car all afternoon. Rain sent Miss Thomson to the adjoining car, but the girls dimly sought comfort in the sound of their songs. Thelma sang, "I Get the Blues When It Rains" between verses, and Ethelene reviewed appropriate sacred songs. Their singing came to an abrupt ending when a passenger asked them to sing "Down On the Farm."

They ate on the diner of the train, and say, ask Miss Thomson if she plans to be a star actress soon. She's starting off well.

6:30 p. m.—Arrived in Dallas. Miss Thomson and Ethelene strolled over parts of the city. Thelma wrote more letters.

8:30 p. m.—Switched trains to Fort Worth and Denver. Went to bed.

9:30 p. m.—Miss Thomson's "beau" met her at the station at Wichita Falls. She let us peep out the window while she paraded him by. Then we slept some more.

6:30 a. m. Monday—Dressed.

7:30 a. m.—Arrived at Lockney.

This trip was thoroughly enjoyed by all three young ladies. Miss Thomson helped the girls to enjoy themselves every minute of their trip. Experience is the best lesson, too. Ethelene learned to lay off the porter-bell, while viewing the sights from the train window. Thelma learned that too full a cup of coffee on a diner sent a perfectly lovely brown streak the entire length of the table. Miss Thomson learned to discern the difference between the rouge and powder puff.

We hope that the contest will be a closer town next year, so many of the girls con go. We want to thank the Home Economics girls and everyone else who made it possible for us to go.

What Literature Can Do For Me

Lurla Witte

Only educated people know how much literature helps them. People who have never gone to school, do not read literature because they have not been prepared to do so. They do not realize that literature helps them if they could read. Reading is more than a person's pastime.

A person who reads much has a broader view point than one who doesn't. Books written by foreign authors, when read, will make a person seem acquainted with the people of foreign countries. He can understand their feeling and actions better than if he merely read news items of happenings there and did not know something of their literature. I always had a horror and deep fear of the Chinamen. When I was very young, I had a book about China. Most of the pictures and illustrations were scenes of cruelty. The sickening feeling remained until I read Ross "The Changing Chinese" and articles by Joseph F. Rock in the National Geographic Magazine. Now I feel that they are like other people. Other people have had prejudices removed by reading books of aliens. The American Indians have been the object of horror to many people who knew nothing of them. The people had not known that the Indians resented the intrusion of foreigners. The Indians did not want to leave their homes and the lands of their forefathers. Until the people have read about them and feel that they understand them, they cannot believe they are really human and not so cruel as most Indian stories imply.

Books are the gateways to other lands and the roads that lead to adventure and romance. I have found escape to the North, East, West, and South in many books. Jack London has taken me to the frozen North, with its gold fields, dog trains, dangerous blizzards, and adventure in the monotonous white spaces. Robert Hichens took me to the Sahara Desert, with its mysterious natives in the oasis, brilliant moonlit, silent nights with occasionally the bary of a rover's dog shrilly sounding on the stillness, and the melodious strange music of the natives. With Joseph Conrad, I have visited the Caribbean Sea, the dangerous overwhelming jungles with distant murmur of native tom-toms. With Cooper's scout, the Deerslayer, in "The Deerslayer," "The Last of the Mohicans" and a few other books, I have been in the Great Lake Region and had pleasurable adventures. I have visited the lumber camps, gold fields, Foreign Legion in Africa, the Arabs in their deserts, the fishing people in Labrador, the Chinese in their cities, and other places, and with the aid of the author, I have seen it all without leaving home.

Books bring the best from dim recesses of history, and interpret the present, with a suggestion of what the future might bring. With Bulwer Lytton, I visited Pompeii and knew its people. A foreign author showed me the Christians and the happenings which affected them in "Quo Vadis." Dumos' "The Man In the Iron Mask" showed me the prisons and the cruelty of early kings. Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front" took me through the war with the Germans while Nason's "Three Lights from a Match" gave me adventure on the American side of the front. Cooper's books were adventures with the frontiersmen, while Dana's book carried me around the tip of South America on the route to California. Scott's "Ivanhoe" was England in the early centuries, where I learned much about the people and their lives. Churchill and Ford have been my companions at different periods. Thompson took me with George Rogers Clark on his conquest of the Northwest, and I met Alice at old Vincennes. My acquaintance have been many and interesting, and best of all, I have met them in my own home.

Anyone who wishes may have these friends and more. Why should one hate books when they bring friends and adventures, and the monotonous life some people find can be left behind? Unconsciously, a person's knowledge and thoughts are broadened, and he has a better understanding of life and its ways. Eliot, Cooper, Scott, Poe, and other authors, modern and earlier, are friends and companions, if a person only wants them. They do no intrude or demand your time, and yet when you are ready for them, they are waiting.

The Conquering Seniors

Dear people I'll tell you a joke, A funny thing to hear. 'Tis on Lockney's Junior folk, So give me a listening ear.

'Twas on the eve of "Senior Day," This funning thing occurred, And in their little junior way, The Senior party blurred.

The kids put up their Junior flag, A mighty simple thing, The Juniors' interest did not lag, And loudly they did sing.

The Senior boys of Lockney High As all you people know, Are somewhat bashful and rather shy; They do not make a show.

But when Juniors' flag was hoisted high, The Seniors got rather bold, And vowed that every one would die, Or make Juniors' feet get cold.

We all assembled 'round the pole To face the awful fight, For little Juniors to be so bold - Was a very pitiful sight.

Ole Pup and Stowe and Cook and Jack A leading all the rest, The Juniors received an awful whack, And we the battle pressed.

Their mealy flag was on a pole, In Lockney High's back yard, The Juniors thought with all their soul That they could hold their guard.

We got some climbers from old Kyle, After a terrible chase, Cook had to run most a mile, But Cook, he won the race.

The Juniors clustered 'round the pole While Seniors raved and tossed, Although they lost their climbing hold The battle was not lost.

We tried and failed, at times grew pale, And worked with ill-content, Till George Knerim, the mob he scaled, And up the pole he went.

Now don't you think I climbed the pole, By my unskillful skill, But remember Senior boys are bold, And do things with a will.

We tore to pieces this dirty rag That floated in disgust, The Senior spirit never lagged; We put them in the dust.

There's the Sophomore, James Flournoy, For Juniors he did fight, But Spence is such a mighty boy, He kept Jim out of sight.

Now I have told you the story In my own simple way, I do not expect any glory, Only teach Juniors a lesson today.

Remember in Lockney High School, This is our last year, That Seniors all obey the rule, And never show a fear.

Remember in sunshine and showers, Wherever you may be found, Keep your flags off of water towers; Plant them on your school ground.

And als remember this clearly, Although your interest may lag, That the sun rose bright and early On our dear Senior flag!

—George Knerim.

PUPILS WITH HIGHEST NUMBER OF GRADE MARKS IN 5B

Glady's Pratt has the highest number of grade points of any one in Room 5B. She has made 204 points and 132 are required for promotion. Muriel Trussell is second with 198 points, and Bob Collier third with 195 points. This is a splendid record and the teachers are glad to turn out such pupils.

parted for home after the most enjoyable day of the year.

The flag fight at the school building detained most of the seniors. The seniors didn't fail to show the juniors who is boss. George proved himself a worthy senior by climbing the pole and tearing the junior flag into bits. The rays of the rising sun beautified the senior flag and all it represented on Wednesday morning. The juniors faced defeat with a grin and Buster with a "busted" knee. The seniors appreciate the juniors, for they are good fellows. The juniors will surely be O. K. if they follow the example of this dignified senior class. Seniors forever! Yes!

A Pioneer of Small Combines

Backed by 99 Years' Experience

WHEN you invest in a harvester-thresher you expect to use it for many years. You want to harvest a variety of crops—you will have to harvest them under a variety of conditions and seasons. A combine must be able to do these things. If it does not it fails as an investment.

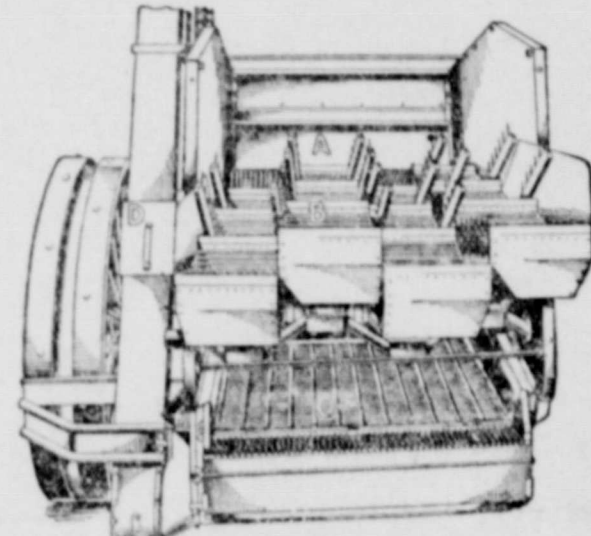

International Harvester is a pioneer in building the small combine. For 16 years it has been manufacturing and perfecting harvester-threshers. Refinements and improvements have been made from time to time only after thorough field tests.

But here is the point of significance: the sound, accepted principles of harvesting and threshing mechanism remain—as the best methods yet devised for harvesting a variety of crops, threshing cleanly, and saving the grain or seeds.

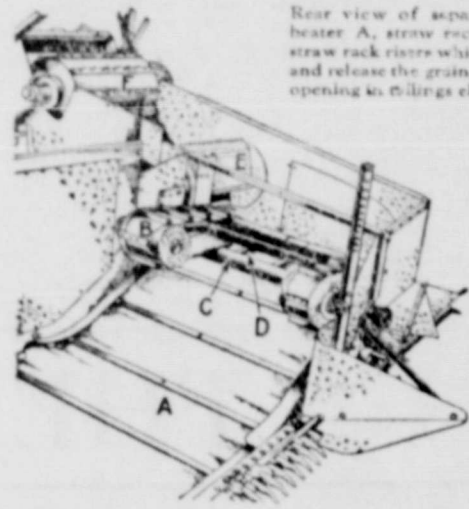

McCormick and Deering names represent pioneers in the building of harvesting machines—and the McCormick-Deering is the only harvester-thresher that can trace its ancestry back to the Original Reaper. It is the only combine that has 99 years of harvesting-machine experience back of it.

It makes use only of proved harvesting and threshing machine features. It is built upon principles that have stood the test of harvesting and threshing for years.

Ill 12 Years Konjola Wins Real Victory

Stubborn Case Soon Yields to Power of New Medicine—Grateful Lady Eager to Tell Others

MRS. LILLIAN LORANE

"I suffered for twelve years from kidney trouble and nervousness," said Mrs. Lillian Lorane, Mablevale, Ark., near Little Rock. "My kidneys were in a very bad state and I was forced to rise many times each night. This naturally made sleep difficult. My nerves were in very bad condition and this seemed to affect my eye sight. I could scarcely go about my work and I was worried and discouraged. I seemed to have no energy for anything. "I tried a great many medicines and treatments but nothing seemed to do me the last bit of good. I finally decided to give Konjola a trial and the benefit which I received from this medicine is almost unbelievable. Konjola built up my health until I am in better condition than I have been in years. My kidneys are normal and I can sleep without interruption. My entire system seemed to respond to this modern medicine and my friends all remark upon the improvement in my appearance."

Konjola has become the most talked of medicine in America because it makes good. Taken after meals over a period of from six to eight weeks, this great medicine has made a remarkable record in the most stubborn cases.

Konjola is sold in Lockney, Texas, at the Stewart Drug Co., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Rio Grande Valley folk are watching interestedly a 110-acre experiment with avocado pears. The first trees were set out only after Lon V. A visit to the Pavitte lead mine, a new industry in Texas, is described by the editor of the Burnet Bulletin, who says results from ore sent to smelters for refining were "all and more than were expected," with "thousands of tons" of ore already in sight. . . . Samples of the Monahans white sand are being analyzed to determine if it contains elements necessary for use in making glass. If analysis is favorable it will make available one of the largest glass-sand deposits known. Glass manufacturers are showing interest in Texas sand deposits and a sand from near Denison also has recently been subjected to scrutiny.

UNDER THE OLIVER FLAG

Put Your Discs in Deep—The Oliver Hart-Parr Will Pull Them

There's no reason to "skim" your land with a one-way disc plow if you are using an Oliver Hart-Parr Tractor. Set the plow down where it belongs—the Hart-Parr will pull it.

With Oliver Hart-Parr Power, you can plow full width at any depth. Many farmers are using two and even three one-way disc plows behind the larger Hart-Parrs. The Oliver Hart-Parr is built to handle the ordinary work of the farm and has surplus power for the peak loads. For instance, the Oliver Hart-Parr 18-36 pulled 32 h.p. on the draw-bar and 43 h.p. on the belt in official tests—16 h.p. over its drawbar rating and 7 h.p. above its belt rating. This surplus power means many added years of service.

Come in and see them. Our guarantee is backed by the manufacturer "Under the Oliver Flag".

A Philosophy Of Industry

Large-scale output can be marketed only on widespread buying power.

Widespread buying power rests on continuous employment and adequate wage scales and earnings.

High individual production per worker alone can maintain high wages and reasonable leisure.

High production per worker is secured only through machine and POWER EQUIPPING of the worker.

It is like "the house that Jack built."

POWER turns the wheels of industry.

POWER, in itself only a small item, in turn reduces all other manufacturing costs, because the use of the power permits the use of the most efficient machinery.

This is a day of keen competition.
Don't handicap your business—ELECTRIFY.

"A Brother in Texas" "A Sister in California" and a telephone call that broke twenty years of silence

ONE night, in a little Texas town, a man dropped a letter into a box.

The mail snatched it up with mechanical precision . . . sorted it . . . stamped it . . . routed it . . . hurled it into the lighted doorway of a steel coach. Westward it raced, the coach a part of a heavy train that pounded upward along steep mountain grades, then slid down long, pleasant slopes to the Pacific.

And one morning, from across 2,000 miles of distance, out of 20 years of silence, a postman dropped it at a California doorstep.

A young housewife opened the letter. She read it . . . and sat for many minutes gazing with unseeing eyes out of a window! From times dim in memory, pictures moved across the sun-filled street: a mother's death . . . days of confusion that a tiny girl had not quite understood . . . a little boy who had gone far away to live with relatives.

Picking up a pen, she began to write.

But even after she had mailed her reply, she was not satisfied. There were still the pictures . . . of the days of sadness . . . of the little boy! How did he look now? How had the years treated him? Was he waiting impatiently for word from her?

In a corner of the room, the telephone met her eye.

Was he waiting . . . impatiently?

Thoughtfully, she moved toward the telephone. She lifted the receiver, gave a name, an address, a Texas town.

"Thank you," said the operator, "Hold the line, please."

Read a newspaper's "matter-of-fact account of that conversation: "His sister, who has grown up and married since he last saw her twenty years ago, called him . . . for fifteen minutes brother and sister conversed over the 2,000 miles of telephone wire as perfectly as if they had been a block apart."

Where have you a loved one . . . a relative . . . a friend who once was close?

"Long distance" can bring them to you today, quickly and at low cost!

On eight out of ten long distance calls, connections to the called point are established while the person calling waits at the telephone, telephone statistics show. Service is fastest when you give the number of the distant telephone.

And as to price . . . a call from New York to San Francisco which three years ago cost $16.50, now costs $8. The cost after 8:30 p.m. is still lower.

Number, please?

*Name of the newspaper and date of the story will be furnished on request.

100 miles for 60 cents.
500 miles for $2.
