The piano pupils who entered the South Plains Musical Festival at Lubbock last week, all winning places in the contests, there being nine entries from this city, seven winning blue ribbons and two winning red ribbons. Of the winners three won highest grades in their classes. The pupils were from the classes of Miss Lillian Hoeftin, who had seven entries, and Mrs. Maye Perkins, who had two entries. The three pupils winning highest grades in their groups were Mary Margaret Ridings in the eight year old group; Virginia Hohlaus, in the thirteen year old group and Hazel Ford in the fourteen year old group. Those winning blue ribbons were Mary Margaret Ridings, Mary Alice Baker, Virginia Hohlaus, Hazel Ford, Virginia Norris, Evelyn Stalcup, and Lawrence Hohlaus. Those winning red ribbons were Milton Adams and Mary Elizabeth Broyles.

Milton Adams and Virginia Norris were the only pupils from Lockney playing in winners groups, both receiving second places in their respective groups.

Virginia Hohlaus, who was also an entry in the fifteen year old voice group, won a red ribbon.

The Lockney pupils held their reputation again this year at the festival, winning more places than any other town, according to number of entries, which speaks much for the training they are receiving from their teachers.

Lockney pupils have won more than their share of honors at both the Lubbock and Amarillo festivals for the past several years.

PIONEER DIES AT LEVELLAND FROM WOUND

Found by Wife and Son in Room After Report of Gun Heard

Levelland, Texas, March 10.—W. F. Moore, 55, prominent Hockley county citizen and former head of the Levelland farm bureau, died as a result of a bullet wound at his home near here this morning immediately after being found by his wife and a grown son. No decision as to the cause of his death had been reached in an inquest at noon.

Moore's clothing had become ignited, one hand was burned badly, and there were powder burns where a bullet had entered just below his right rib. The bullet was believed to have stopped inside the chest.

Mrs. Moore and the son said they heard an explosive sound and ran to Moore's room. He was faced upward on the floor and his feet were nearest a dresser on which a pistol lay. One chamber was empty.

Last year Moore was a candidate for election as Hockley county judge. Subsequently he retired and lived about two miles north of Levelland. He died at 8 o'clock this morning.

TAKING OF FLOYD COUNTY SCHOLASTIC CENSUS UNDER WAY

The taking of the Floyd County scholastic census began last week when the necessary supplies were sent to the census trustee of each rural community by County Superintendent Price Scott. This census is taken each year from March 1 to April 1, and Mr. Scott urges the workers to take special care that no scholastic is overlooked as it will cut down our quota for state aid.

The law requires that the census trustee shall enroll each scholastic residing within his district between the first of March and the first of April inclusive. In case a family moves during the month of March from one district to another within the county, this fact shall be explained to the county superintendent, whose duty it is to strike this name from the roll of the first enumeration.

In case a family moves during the month of March to another county after the children have enrolled, the law provides for the first enumeration to be cancelled upon order of the state superintendent, when an affidavit of the parents is submitted, certifying to the fact that he has removed his residence to another county after the children have enrolled. Removal from the county after April 1, will not entitle a parent to change the enrollment of his children.

WETS AND DRIES SCENT BATTLE

Republicans Snap Up the Prohibition Issue for 1932 As Advanced by Chairman Raskob of Democrats

Washington, March 7.—Republican dries today snapped up the prohibition issue for 1932 advanced by Chairman Raskob of the democratic national committee.

From Senator Capper of Kansas came the first call for the renomination of President Hoover by the republicans and a challenge for a prohibition showdown.

Capper Confident "President Hoover will be renominated," said Capper, "and will lead the republican party to victory in 1932 on a prohibition platform. That is the issue. The republicans are dry. Let us settle it."

But the aroused democratic congressional forces were rallying behind the demand of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the economic rehabilitation to be made the issue.

Alarmed at the prospective division of their ranks over the state liquor plank proposed by Raskob, the democrats were preparing to quash this proposal at the December meeting of the committee.

STERLING'S STAND ON FARM BOARD TO BE TOPIC AT MEET

Assures Callers He Favors Farm Co-operative Organizations—Governor Criticized for Recent Interview

Austin, March 7.—Political interest in Texas will swing next week to Dallas, where the Texas Cotton Co-operatives hold a session beginning Thursday. There the attitude of Gov. Sterling on the federal farm board and cotton marketing is expected to be a hot topic.

Statements attributed to the governor in the Cotton Trade Journal put him squarely against the federal farm board as an agency for marketing crops.

"Relief of the farmer," he was quoted as saying, "does not necessarily mean that the government should take the funds of all the taxpayers and go into competition with private agencies."

Favors CoOps When farm members of the legislature called on the governor as a result of the interview's publication, he assured them he favors farm co-operative organizations. He did not however withdraw the statement attributed to him as opposing the federal farm board operations.

The cooperative meeting in Dallas is that of co-operatives directly connected with the federal farm board marketing plan.

"The governor is consistent," said Representative Englehead of Eagle Lake, who was a member of the legislative delegation that called on the governor, and who is also a director in the Texas Cotton Cooperative association.

"He told us he was opposed to shipping subsidies when they were cited as instances of government activity in behalf of businesses other than that of the farmer. He also pointed out," said Englehead, "that the tariff, while not a direct gift to manufacturers of tax money is but an indirect way of taking the money out of the pockets of consumers and giving it to manufacturers."

Taylor Here Friday and Saturday Nights

Pioneer Show Man and His Company Will Be at Auditorium Last Two Nights of This Week

Lockney is to be favored Friday and Saturday nights of this week, with an engagement from one of the Pioneer Show Men of this state, Albert Taylor, who will be supported by one of the best legitimate stage repertoires, that has visited this city in many years.

This will be Mr. Taylor's first visit to the plains country since 1912, having spent most of the time since that date, playing the theaters of the larger cities. Before 1912 Mr. Taylor and his companies played West Texas regularly each year, and many of the old-time show goers will remember many evenings of pleasure spent at theaters where Taylor's plays were presented. The editor has known Mr. Taylor, as a show man, for more than thirty years, and can say, that in our estimation there are no better plays offered or played than those that are presented by Mr. Taylor and his company. Back in the old days when the legitimate stage demanded the attention of the people, Mr. Taylor played to packed houses throughout all Central Texas, and the name Taylor meant that the best in dramas and comedies would be presented wherever he had an engagement.

We assure the people of Lockney that they will make no mistake in giving Mr. Taylor and his troupe a good turnout both nights, when they will present plays at city auditorium in Lockney, under the auspices of the Landrum Post, American Legion. In his younger days, Mr. Taylor supported such theatrical celebrities as Frank C. Bangs, in "The Silver King"; Robert Downing in "Shakespeare and classic repertoire; Viola Allen in "The Christian"; Richard Mansfield, in repertoire; Effie Ellard, in "Hazel Kirke"; Nat C. Goodwin, in repertoire; etc. With each of these stars he played many engagements on Broadway in New York city. The training he received under these associations gave him the fundamentals for his brilliant and artistic career.

From the years of 1906 to 1920, (20 years) he headed his own company, "The Albert Taylor Stock Company," and toured through the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado, presenting the very best of the American dramas and surrounding himself with the highest salaried and most talented people available for these tours. Many stars of today—both stage and screen—received their training in this company, under Albert Taylor's careful stage directions. Among them are Herbert Brenon, Lassie White, Lon Chaney, Lucia Peyton, Gertrude Ewing, Bebe Daniels, Foster Ball, Hollingsworth sisters, Gail Kane, etc.

This company established several records, which, perhaps—have never been equaled by any other theatrical attraction in America; Albert Taylor played an engagement for fifteen consecutive summers at Clyde Park, Dallas, Texas; the Christmas date, for eleven years at Palestine, Texas; the Thanksgiving date for eleven years at Wichita Falls, Texas; was the opening attraction for eleven seasons at Greenwald Opera House, Fort Worth, The Grand Opera House, San Antonio, and the Sweeney and Combs theater, Houston; played the first week in November for twelve consecutive years at the Overholser theater, Oklahoma City and during those engagements read—from the stage—the returns of three Presidential elections; was for three consecutive seasons at the Crawford theatre, El Paso, Texas; has appeared in eight different theaters in New Orleans, La. etc.

During the fall of 1920, when the moving picture interest had bought and leased nearly all of the theaters in the South West and the booking of a road attraction became impossible, Mr. Taylor returned East and became a stockstar and dramatic director for Northern theatrical interest. For the seasons of 1920 and '21, also 1921 and '22 he was at the Broadway theater, Columbus, Ohio; for the seasons of 1922 and '23 and 1923 and '24, he was with the Walnut theater, Louisville, Ky.; during the season of 1924 and '25, also 1925 and '26 he was with the Colonial theater, Detroit, Mich.; and for the seasons of 1926—'27 and 1927 and '28 he was at the Frankford theater, Philadelphia. During the years of 1928, 1929 and the spring of 1930 he played over the Keith and R. K. O. vaudeville circuits with a comedy sketch entitled, "The Days of '61."

During the seasons of 1930 and '31 he again has organized his own company and is touring his old territory presenting "The Game" and "The Man Hater" and the tour is proving

SENATE PASSES AMENDMENTS TO SCHOOL BILL

Warrants to Pay Teachers' Salaries for Best of Term Authorized

Austin, March 9.—The senate worked for 100,000 school children of Texas this morning.

It occurred with the house in amendment tacked onto a bill which asked that school districts be allowed to issue interest bearing warrants to their teachers as pay in order that the schools might complete the regular term of work.

Both houses passed the bill last week. The emergency legislation was drawn solely for 1931. Warrants would bear six per cent per annum. They would be issued to fall due on Dec. 31.

The senate before it sent the bill back to the house added two amendments drawn by Senator Parrish of Lubbock. One Parrish amendment stated that when the holder of the emergency warrants was notified in writing that the school district had sufficient funds to pay the indebtedness the interest on the warrant would automatically stop. The other Parrish amendment said that no warrant which had been issued and sold prior to the passage of bill would bear interest.

The house must first concur in the senate amendments before the bill goes to the governor. If the house should fail to concur with the senate then the bill will go into the hands of a free conference committee.

Mayors Marriage Bill

Austin, March 9.—The senate today voted 25 to 2 for a bill which asked that mayors of Texas cities and towns be authorized to perform marriage ceremonies and administer oaths of office. Senator Loy of Sherman and Purl of Dallas voted no.

Senator Woodul of Houston said he feared that the mayors of Texas' largest cities would suffer from such legislation. He stated he believed persons would be calling the mayor out at 3 o'clock in the morning to marry them. The bill was passed as originally drawn to include all Texas cities and towns.

The senate voted unanimously for final passage of a bill by Senator Small of Wellington which asked in changes of venue of civil cases from one county to another, that the county where the suit was brought should assume the costs of the jury.

The senate passed a bill by Senator Rawlings of Fort Worth, drawn to tighten the arson statute and allow the law to reach the parties involved in the preliminary and preparatory stages of incendiarism.

WIFE TELLS POLICE SHE FIRED SHOT

Abilene, March 8.—M. I. Pigg, about 35, tire company representative, was shot to death in his home here Sunday afternoon. His wife, Mrs. Virginia Pigg, surrendered to officers.

Asserting that Pigg returned home under the influence of liquor and chased her about the house, Mrs. Pigg told neighbors and officers of the shooting.

"I didn't mean to shoot him. I was merely trying to frighten him when I fired the shot," she was quoted as saying. She said that he had been away from home since noon Saturday.

An 18-month-old child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pigg, was in the house when the shooting occurred.

Miss Rosie Ann Pigg of Dallas, a sister of the slain Abilene man, was on her way to Abilene Sunday night. Mrs. Pigg is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Caldwell of Mount Pleasant. Pigg and his wife have resided in this city for the past six months, coming here from Sweetwater, where they lived for 18 months.

After the shooting Mrs. Pigg said she ran from the house to the residence next door of County Judge Tom K. Eplen. He was not a home. She then went to the home of H. L. Debusk, city attorney. Mrs. Debusk summoned the officers.

A charge of murder was filed against Mrs. Pigg in Justice P. B. Ford's court. Examining trial was waived and bond was set at $2,500. Investigation was led by Sheriff Burt Wheeler and County Attorney Gray Browne.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hohlaus and family, and Miss Lillian Hoeftin spent Thursday and Friday in Lubbock attending the South Plains Plains Music Festival.

Mrs. L. P. Goin has returned to her home in the Irick community, after nursing Frank Marney for several days through serious illness. A veritable triumph. Crowded houses and enthusiastic audiences are welcoming him nightly.

The residents are asked to rake up and pile in convenient places, where the city wagons can get same, all trash and rubbish, and the wagons will call and haul same to the dump grounds. The wagons will start hauling the rubbish on next Tuesday.

The mayor has asked that in case any one is overlooked by the trash wagons, that they call him and he will see that their rubbish is hauled off at once.

HOUSE PASSES WARRANTS BILL

Permits County Commissioners Courts to Issue Warrants to Buy Stock Feed and Seed for Desitute Farmers

Austin, March 6.—After battling several hours, the house today passed a bill by Senator Cunningham of Abilene to permit county commissioners' courts to issue warrants to buy stock feed and seed for desitute farmers. The vote was 108 to 10.

Under the bill the commissioners will be permitted to issue warrants up to $50,000 to buy feed and seed. It will be sold to farmers on production notes, the county to be repaid when the crop is harvested. Bids for feed and seed will be taken by the commissioners.

Validity Raised SLAYING OF COWBOY

The main sticking point of the bill was doubt to its constitutionality. This point also was raised yesterday during lengthy debate. A point of order against the bill on this ground, made yesterday by Representative Greathouse of Fort Worth, was withdrawn shortly after the session opened today, but the house continued to argue about minor amendments.

The bill probably will be sent to the governor tomorrow for signature. It received enough votes in both houses to put it into immediate effect if signed by the chief executive.

WHAT GOVERNMENT OR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP DOES

Australia, whose government has entered business on a wholesale scale, is in the midst of a financial crisis. The country is suffering from a shrinkage in national income of $500,000,000.

Public ownership may spell disaster both to industries and workers.

WORSE THAN WAR

During 18 months of the World War, 50,510 members of the American Expeditionary Force were killed in action or died of wounds.

During the 18 months preceding January, 1931, 50,900 people were killed in automobile accidents in this country.

There could be no better illustration of the seriousness of the automobile accident situation.

According to a survey by the Travers Insurance Company, the leading cause of accidents in 1930 was failure to give right of way, which accounted for 15 per cent of deaths and 31.5 per cent of injuries.

How improper training on the part of the motorist, coupled with inadequate enforcement of traffic laws. That such accidents could be at least partially curbed by examining and licensing laws, and by adequate enforcement of modernized traffic codes, is well within the limits of plausibility.

Every year complete and detailed resumes of the previous year's accident record are prepared. Study of them should show what enforcement is needed, what can be accomplished. A few states, in a period of rising hazards, have managed to appreciably decrease accidents within their borders. All other states can do the same.

State Agricultural Commission News

J. E. McDonald, Commissioner

DATA INDICATES COTTON ACREAGE REDUCTION NEEDS

Austin, March 10—A study of cotton production and consumption records was recommended today by J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, to farmers preparing to plant their cotton.

Without attempting to forecast market or price trends, McDonald cited best available figures on the 1930 crop, together with past tendencies, and urged farmers to draw their own conclusions from these figures. His statement follows:

"It may be well to call to the attention of Texas cotton farmers a few cotton statistics and reliable estimates. The 1930 crop was around 14,000,000 bales. The consumption of American cotton for this fiscal year, based on the ration of consumption since Sept. 1, 1930, will be 11,457,000 bales, and the best authorities estimate the carry-over at the end of this fiscal year, on Sept. 1, 1931, at eight and a half million to nine million bales of American cotton.

"We must also take into consideration the fact that foreign growths of cotton have encroached upon American production at the average rate of 600,000 bales per year for the last ten years. These are cold facts, and it behooves the Texas farmer to keep these figures in mind and pitch his 1931 crop accordingly.

"It will be of vital importance that the farmers this year endeavor to raise abundant food and feed crops. This is good economics and good farming any year. It makes living conditions on the farm more attractive, as well as more profitable; and if the state department of agriculture has any advice whatever to offer at the beginning of the planting season, it is that the land owners of Texas cooperate with and offer every inducement for tenants and farm laborers to plant, cultivate, harvest and preserve an abundance of fruits, vegetables, and meats for their families. There is plenty of acreage in Texas, and our land owners can well afford to make special inducements for the planting of such crops as will make living conditions better for those assisting in the cultivation of our farm lands."

W. A. Cannon, marketing chief in the state department of agriculture, is on a two weeks' inspection trip of the citrus groves of Florida, studying marketing conditions there with a view to improvement of the Rio Grande Valley system. Cannon planned to confer with federal officials while in Florida, and also to study that state's marketing system for Irish potatoes.

REGIONAL GROUP FAVORS CENSUS OF TEXAS RESOURCES

Regional chambers of commerce and individual chambers from all parts of the state have thrown their support to the Farm Census bill now pending before the Texas legislature, sponsors of the measure said today.

The U. S. department of agriculture, and state departments at Austin and College Station which are charged with the task of advancing agricultural developments, are already united in support of the measure, on the ground that accurate and complete knowledge of present conditions is vital before sound, constructive programs can be forwarded.

Cost of the annual census would be four cents per farm, distributed over the state's 497,000 farms. Of the $20,000 asked, $18,750 would go to county tax assessors for taking the census along with their regular tax assessment work, and the remaining money would go for printed forms and printing. The U. S. department of agriculture would carry the expense of compiling the data, assisted by the state department of agriculture. NO appropriation has been asked by the state department, which expects to use its existing forces.

The only farm census now taken is that by the U. S. department of agriculture once in five years. Information compiled in this census is from three to eight years late. Compilations for 1929 are now available for only one Texas county—Hudspeth, with 93 farms—and it will be a year before the complete compilation for the state is available. The next census will be taken in 1937.

SOUTH ENCOURAGES CHIEF COMPETITOR BY FAVORING JUTE

The cotton-producing south is also one of the principal consumers of cotton's chief competitor in the bagging field, jute. J. E. McDonald, agricultural commissioner, pointed out today in urging south-wide cooperation toward the substitution of cotton for this foreign product.

Three of the principal uses for jute, he said, are: wrapping for cotton bales, for fertilizer sacks, and for various containers used in the wholesale grocery trade. The south wraps most of its cotton in jute, manufacturers and uses a large part of the fertilizer, and sacks it in jute, and has its quota of wholesale grocers.

"It is a disappointing commentary," he said, "that the south should work against itself in this fashion, especially at a time when cotton sells below cost of production and the south faces an enormous surplus."

Survey by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate that general substitution of low grade cotton bagging for jute in these three fields alone would open a market for at least 680,000 bales of cotton a year. Successful substitution depends upon whether proper economics can be effected.

The bureau estimated that cotton bagging to wrap the cotton would consume a minimum of 120,000 bales annually; cotton bags as containers of wholesale grocery shipments would take another 400,000 bales; and fertilizer bags alone would take another 166,000 bales. McDonald said he believed these figures unusually conservative. It was estimated that 200,000 bales would be used in making wrappers for cotton the first year, and 120,000 bales a year thereafter, taking re-use into account.

Sale of cotton on the basis of its net weight in the world's markets, including local markets, would obviate losses which would result from the use of a light weight bagging, thus doing away with the principal objections to the use of cotton bagging.

The survey indicated the grocery trade now uses 200,000 bales of cotton a year in making containers and set the potential consumption of the trade at 400,000 bales. The study of the fertilizer industry showed that 97.6 per cent of the nation's fertilizer is handled in burlap (jute) bags, and general use of cotton bags would mean an increase from 4,000 to 170,000 bales, or an increase of 166,000.

Other possible markets discussed by the bureau, included wider use of laundry bags in commercial power laundries; adoption of cotton bags to retail marketing. The latter source was held to have great potentialities, with the trend toward standardized packages.

ERADICATION OF POTATO PESTS IS SOUGHT BY STATE

Steps to protect the rapidly developing potato industry and freeing growers from burdensome quarantine restrictions imposed by other states have been taken by the state department of agriculture.

Effective April 1, the department has issued quarantine proclamations barring the importation of potatoes counties until the potatoes have undergone strict inspection. The quarantine is directed against all districts known to be infested with the potato tuber moth and the Colorado potato beetle. The three counties were said to be free of the pests.

J. M. Del Curto, state entomologist, said that the entire Valley and the Houston-Eagle Lake-Wharton districts would be surveyed, to determine whether the pests are present and whether they should be added to the quarantine areas, contingent upon the appropriation of expense funds by the legislature. The department hopes, he said, to accomplish for the Irish potato industry what has been accomplished in northeast Texas in eradicating the sweet potato weevil, saving the growers hundreds of thousands of dollars which otherwise would have to be spent in treating their products.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor.

One-half the total terracing and contouring of farm land in Texas in 1930 was done in the northwest quarter of the State.

One of the reasons Texas is getting her land terraced so rapidly is the spirit of helpfulness that prevails between neighbors. Those who have been trained to use levels and lay off terraces swap work with those in need of a little surveying done. In a recent month in Rannels county C. W. Lehman, county agent, figured that the services of these local helpers at $2 per acre would have amounted to $8022 for the 30-day period. It's small wonder there's demand for them, for "practically the only crops made here last year were on properly terraced land."

The total number of hogs produced in demonstrations by 424 farmers in 73 Texas counties in 1930 was 12,395, valued at $681,048.95, county agents report.

Mrs. Addie Kuykendall at Sadler, Grayson county, took in charge 355 baby trucks last spring. Her husband took 35 acres of cotton. He made a net profit of $375, and she $609. It may not work that way next time, although Mrs. Kuykendall is confident of the superiority of turkeys over cotton if you worm them properly and feed and care for them as she did in this demonstration with the county agent.

A county recreational association to promote community development by the fostering of old fashioned games and singing has been formed in Floyd county with the help of the home demonstration agent.

Hot Baked Bean Dishes For Chilly Spring Nights

By JOSEPHINE E. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company

ANY family coming home tired and hungry on a cold, wet night would welcome a dinner built around a casserole of delicious baked pork chops with Oven Baked Beans, a steaming bowl of bean soup, a Welsh rarebit with plump, meaty Oven Baked Red Kidney Beans, a Boston roast, or any of the countless other dishes using a can of Oven Baked Beans as the basis.

Baked Beans are coming into their own! Recent scientific investigations have proved that Baked Beans contain valuable mineral substances, as well as being a rich source of protein. This makes them an excellent substitute for meat. Many people have adopted the old New England custom of serving Baked Beans and Boston Brown Bread every Saturday evening. With crisp pickles, a green salad and dessert, Baked Beans form a nourishing and appealing dinner menu.

Your family will like these delicious new Baked Bean dishes:

Pork Chops and Oven Baked Beans En Casserole: 6 pork chops; 1 can Oven Baked Beans—Vegetarian Style; 1 teaspoon sugar; 1/2 cup Tomato Ketchup. Fry chops brown. Cover with Baked Beans, add sugar and Tomato Ketchup. Bake in a moderate oven—350 degrees F.—for 20 minutes.

Welsh Rarebit with Oven Baked Red Kidney Beans: 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 cup milk; 1/2 teaspoon pepper; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 cup American cheese; 1 small can Oven Baked Red Kidney Beans.

Melt butter in a saucepan, then mix with flour. Scald milk and stir into the butter and flour. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Beat in grated cheese, and when cheese melts, add drained Kidney Beans. Serve on hot toast with broiled bacon.

Baked Bean Soup: 2 or 3 cups Beans, mashed; 1 1/2 qt. cold water; 1/2 lb. salt pork or ham bones; 1/4 teaspoon pepper; salt to taste; 1 stalk celery, minced; 1 bay leaf; 1 onion, sliced. Brown minced onion in a tablespoon of fat, and add to the Oven Baked Beans with other ingredients. Bring slowly to a boil, simmer for 1 hour, put through a colander, and serve. This serves from 10 to 12 people.

Casserole of Corn and Oven Baked Red Kidney Beans: 1 medium sized can Oven Baked Red Kidney Beans; 1 can corn; 1 green pepper, minced; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 egg; 3 tablespoons grated cheese.

Mix Beans, corn, green pepper, salt and well beaten egg. Put in a baking dish, and sprinkle with grated cheese and fine buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven—375 degrees F.—for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve with Chili Sauce.

New England Roast: 1 medium Baked Red Kidney Beans; 1 cup soft crumbs; 1 cup grated cheese; 1 medium sized onion, chopped fine; 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 egg.

Mash Beans or put them through a chopper. Mix with other ingredients and bake in a moderate oven until nicely brown. Serve with Tomato Sauce.

Tomato Sauce: 1 tablespoon butter; 1/2 cup milk; 1/4 cup Tomato Ketchup. Melt butter, add flour and milk slowly. Cook until thickened, and add Tomato Ketchup slowly.

Brazilian Cabbage Salad: 1 medium Baked Red Kidney Beans; 1 can coarsely shredded cabbage; 3 tablespoons Fresh Cucumber Relish; 3 tablespoons Tomato Ketchup; 3 tablespoons Mayonnaise Salad Dressing; 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Place beans in a sieve and rinse sauce from them. Drain, chill, and add remaining ingredients. Toss together lightly and chill. Serve on crisp lettuce garnished with Mayonnaise Salad Dressing.

CORRECTIONS MADE IN SCHOOL GEOGRAPHIES OF WEST TEXAS

Stamford, March 10.—Every correction suggested by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for "Advanced Geography" textbook used in the sixth and seventh grades of Texas public schools, has been accepted by Rand McNally Company, publishers of the book, and will be included in a reprinted edition now being made ready for the press.

This marks the second successful accomplishment in the effort of the WTCC to secure justice for Texas in the school books and officials of the organization are much gratified at the co-operation given the undertaking by the publishing concerns and by members of the Texas state textbook commission and board of education.

Corrections and changes presented by the regional chamber have already been made by the MacMillan Company in "Elementary Geography," the fourth and fifth grade text. Now an effort will be launched to get similar corrections in all school geographies used in the United States.

Proof sheets of the pages in "Advanced Geography" on which the changes were requested have been received at the WTCC general office here and reveal that Texas, and especially West Texas, is much more fairly and accurately treated than in the heretofore distributed editions of the book. Now the student who uses "Advanced Geography" will be told that West Texas produces wheat, cotton, oil, gas, copper, gold and silver. Also he will learn, that the use of power machinery is widespread in agricultural operations in West Texas and that the area has a large production of grain sorghum.

Further, the book will say that immense quantities of wheat are grown, milled and exported in Texas; that there has been a rapid development in western Texas and Oklahoma in recent years; that Texas produces nearly nine-tenths of the world's supply of sulphur and that the state ranks second in the production of rice.

On top of all the foregoing, the reprinted geography will give the "Great Plains" region of Texas credit for being one of the leading cotton growing regions of the United States—that matter will be stated as follows:

"Cotton grows best in the rich soils of the coastal plains of Alabama and Georgia, and in the coastal plains and portions of the great plains of Texas, and in the Piedmont Belt south of Virginia and in parts of the rich alluvial plain of the Mississippi. This is the so-called Cotton Belt, from which comes most of the cotton grown in the country. Texas leads all the states in production."

The geography, in its improved form, also recognizes Texas as a leading producer of citrus fruits, vegetables, and other commodities, which heretofore, has been credited to Florida and California only. None of these items have been in this book.

A question in the book which reads: "Why are there so few large cities in western Texas and Oklahoma? Why is this section less densely populated than Mississippi and Alabama?" has been eliminated and in its place this will now be asked: "What reason can you give for the rapid development of Western Texas and Oklahoma? How did this development effect their towns and cities?"

Another statement—"West of the 100th meridian and extending to the eastern foot of the Cordilleran Highlands is a dry region, but not one dry enough to be a true desert."—has been cut out, as has one immediately following which told about the territory west of the 100th meridian being the home of that system of dry farming which was made up of the program of using two year's rainfall to make a crop every other year.

In listing southern resorts, seaports, important cities and places of tourist interest, the reprinted "Advanced Geography" will give Texas a "square deal," El Paso is now mentioned along with Asheville, N. C., as among the interesting and attractive places in the South. Corpus Christi is added to the list of "significant ports and shipping centers, which has previously included only Savannah, Ga., Charleston, S. C., and Key West and Tampa, Fla.

The map carried in the geography up to now, which classed parts of the United States according to production and other parts according to physical characteristics, and on which all of Texas, west of 100th meridian, was designated either as the Great Plains region or as the Arid Inter-mountain plateau, has been changed and now shows that a part of the cotton-belt extends all the way across West Texas and that the Panhandle area is in the winter wheat belt.

Another significant addition to the book is the picture of a wheat field near Lubbock, which shows three tractor-drawn combines harvesting the grain. This picture and the text explaining it, indirectly calls attention to the difference between agriculture in West Texas and in other sections.

The service was read at 8 o'clock by Dr. C. W. Jackson of the Junior college faculty. Thirty-five close friends and relatives attended. Violin and piano selections provided the musical background.

Spring flowers of many varieties.

palms and ferns formed an altar before the large fireplace. In a deep alcove above hung a wedding bell of flowers. Tall cathedral candles gave illumination.

On the arm of her uncle, J. L. Deck, the bride descended a long, winding stairway which was beautifully banked with flowers and ferns. She was gowned in amulet blue French crepe combined with lace bodice and puffed sleeves.

BIG BOLL PEDIGREED MEBANE COTTON
$1.25 PER BUSHEL DELIVERED AND SACKED
PLANT GOOD SEED

We have arranged with Ferris Watson, the North Texas Cottonseed breeder, for seed which represents a loss to Mr. Watson.

We have grown short staple cotton here till we are penalized, we must bring our cotton business back to staple basis, instead of selling out cotton 125 to 300 points off of middling basis.

We are taking orders for the Big Boll Watson Pedigreed Mebane Cottonseed at $1.25 per bushel delivered at Lockney.

These seed are direct from registered block seed. Watson is one of the oldest cottonseed breeders in Texas. The record of this cotton shows a good turnout and staple which makes it worth while that you get at least apart of your seed of this type.

This seed was sold last year at $2.50 per bushel, but in the drought area this year the cotton has dropped out to enable the hard hit farmers to plant some good staple cotton.

CARD OF THANKS—We, the out-of-town relatives and friends of Mrs. Walker and family, wish to take this method of thanking the people of Lockney for their wonderful kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our friend and brother, Y. F. Walker.

Deep down in our hearts we appreciate every act of kindness which you bestowed upon the family during this the darkest hour of sorrow through which they have been called to pass. Your acts of kindness, your tender words of comfort, your beautiful floral offerings have lightened the pathway through the shadows for them and have left fond remembrances which we will carry with us through life. We would cherish the opportunity of thanking each one personally, but this is impossible and so we are expressing in this feeble way the feelings in our hearts.

May God in His goodness give you strength to bear up under like sorrows when you are called to pass through the valley of shadows, and when the time comes, our earnest prayer is that a host of friends will be present to stand by you as you have stood by us in this time of sorrow, and minister unto you as you have ministered unto these our loved ones.—Mr. and Mrs. J. TECH STUDENT ENDS HIS LIFE IN DORMITORY

Lubbock, March 8.—Frederick Raymond Koeninger, 22, a senior at Texas Technological College, was found dead in his room at a dormitory early today.

A coroner returned a verdict of suicide.
Koeninger attended a dance and a theater preview last night, after which he returned to his room. He told roommates he was going for something to eat, and during the night one of his companions found the youth still breathing but in a serious condition. He was dead when he reached a hospital.

After attending Ranger High School, where his parents live, Koeninger graduated from Wayland College at Plainview in 1927. At Texas Tech he was a member of the track squad.

He left notes to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Koeninger of Plainview; a brother, an older sister, a roommate and a woman student at the college here.

AMARILLO PLANS CHEAP GAS RATES 40 PER CENT CUT

Amarillo, Texas, March 7.—This city tonight boasted a plan that will give it the "cheapest gas of any city in the world," according to Mayor Ernest Thompson, who announced Amarillo would go into the gas business itself.

The gas will be brought to the city through a six-inch pipe line from the producing fields of the Huber Petroleum company in Hutchinson county.

40 miles away. The company has 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas production in the field.
Rates will be cut 40 per cent here, permitting a scale of 22 1-2 cents for domestic consumers and prices as low as seven cents for commercial consumers using 10,000,000 cubic feet.
The plan was decided on at a meeting of the city commission last night when the Amarillo Gas company, which has been serving the city, refused a reduction, claiming a loss of $20,000 in 1930.

ABILENE PAPER STARTS FUND TO PAY RASKOB OFF AS DEMOCRATIC LEADER

Abilene, March 7.—The Abilene Reporter-News will say Sunday that an editorial in Friday's Morning News, suggesting the best day's work the Democratic National committee could possibly do would be to 'pay off John J. Raskob, its chairman, and then get rid of him,' has found an immediate and unlooked for response in this section, a stronghold of democracy until the last presidential election, when it went for Hoover with loud and joyful cries.

The News editorial advanced the belief that many Democrats, chafing under the "mortgage held on the party by its chairman," would be glad to "kick in" 50 cents or a dollar apiece "if they could be sure of getting rid of Raskob, paying him off and turning him loose to go back to his own Republican party, if he chooses." Asserting the editorial had brought offers from readers, the Reporter-News will say that it will receive donations for that purpose, but holding the fund so raised "subject to payment to the national organization if and when Mr. Raskob resigns. Should the chairman not resign or otherwise relinquish the reins, all contributions will be returned to donors.

The paper calls Raskob "an expensive luxury the Democratic party can not afford to maintain," and says the money which he and his associates put up "to prevent a foreclosure has produced a condition of intolerable humiliation to the rank and file of the party who are overwhelmingly dry."

KNOW TEXAS

Texas has sixty-six airports, representing an investment of $3,854,000 with $685,000 more to be spent this year. (Authority: Department of Commerce).

Texas brought in 4,361 oil wells and 356 gas wells during 1930 and drilled 2,889 "dry" holes in addition. (Authority: Oil & Gas Division, Texas Railroad Commission).

Bids on $100,000 court house at Menard are to be opened in March. Haskell county plans expenditure of $100,000 for two annexes to its temple of justice. LaSalle county sold $90,000 court house and jail bonds preparatory to starting construction. Liberty county $210,000 for the same purpose. . . . Glennore District Tom Green county, will build a $12,000 school house. Fort Stockton sold $100,000 worth of school bonds and Rio Grande City will receive bids on $100,000 of the same kind.

Brazoria county received bids on $500,000 road bonds. Gonzales county is planning a road bond election and Cooke county will provide bond money for completing the paving of Highways 5 and 40, crossing the county east-and-west and north-and-south respectively. Promise of more road building in Texas is in sight for 1931 than any single year, and an important feature of the promise is that it means the filling in of many gaps that have seriously impaired the usefulness of paved stretches for through traffic.

Beaumont plans spending $200,000 on street improvement, $150,000 for sewer extensions and $50,000 on waterworks improvements. It is considering a $100,000 bond issue for aiding the Southeast Texas Fair. . . . Waco has ordered the sale of $300,000 bonds, $60,000 of which is for school improvements, $70,000 for storm sewers, $100,000 for paving, $30,000 for sanitary sewers and $40,000 for bridges. . . . Mercedes is to have a new airport with clearing of the site ready to start.

Marked copy of the San Benito Light and a letter from Temple give the 1930 building permits of those two cities and ask inclusion in an early issue of the Public Service News, neither having been listed in the towns mentioned in the issue of Feb. 2. San Benito issued permits for $443,154 in new construction during 1930 and Temple's total was $1,439,000. Both are to be congratulated on the showing made. The list published made no pretense of being complete, including only such towns whose totals had been secured from various sources.

Seymour is to have a broadcasting station to be known as KTST with a daytime broadcasting radius of 100 miles. . . . Afton, Dobbs City and McAdoo are three new towns served by West Texas Utilities with completion of a 35-mile transmission line. . . . Dalhart is to have a new "sweet feed" mill handling 60,000 to 80,000 pounds a day of row feed and grain sorghum mixed with molasses. . . . Taxes $1.15 a day and wages of $5,200 a day represented a total of $1,900,000 paid out by the West Texas Utilities in 1930 under those two headings. New construction and expansion of existing facilities cost the company $4,600,000 during the year and yet residential rates have been reduced 25 per cent and over-all rates 50 per cent in the past four years.

Bad Form and Bad Business

This man is making two serious mistakes. He is writing a letter by hand, which, in the business world, is bad form . . . and he is not going to have a carbon copy, which is bad business.

And on top of all this he is punishing himself by doing the job in the hardest possible way.

It is much easier to write with Corona than by hand.

Corona is ideal for the small office, store, garage—as well as the home. Phone us and we will bring you the latest Corona for examination. Sold on convenient monthly terms.

Legislators Take More Interest in Work This Session

Tax Reform Bills Major Ones Introduced During First 60 Days of Session
By CLYDE W. WARWICK
(Representative 123rd District)
Austin, March 10.—(Special)—The first sixty days of the 42nd Legislature will end Saturday.
The people of Texas no doubt will wonder whether or not it was a wise thing to do to pass the constitutional amendments last November to extend the regular session of the Legislature to 120 days and to increase the pay of the legislators.

From the standpoint of the public there may be some disappointment as to the results so far obtained in this first session under the new amendments, but from the standpoint of the members this session has been much more satisfactory than those in the past when it was necessary to attempt to pass upon all classes of legislation in a sixty day period.

No major bills have been passed so far this session, and none were expected to pass. Not a great number of bills have been passed, and a majority of these were local in nature or generally accepted as being of an uncontested nature. It is expected that a majority of the major bills will be passed out of the committees some time during the coming week in order that the full sixty days of the last period may be devoted to debate of these measures.
From the members' standpoint, this session has been much more satisfactory than the past sessions of the legislature. Committee are taking more time to consider bills and therefore it is expected that a better class of legislation will be the result of this session.

Furthermore, the members of the 42nd Legislature are taking a great deal more interest in their work than was the case of the 41st Legislature. The increase in pay has had something to do with this improvement, although the present members were nominated before this increase was adopted. There is a feeling on the part of some, perhaps, that unless the members are on their jobs that the voters will see to it that a change will be made at the next election. In order to keep a quorum during the 41st Legislature, the House was under call more days than any Legislature during the past ten years. The 42nd Legislature has not been under call a single time and the roll call shows an average of from 115 to 120 present in the hall at all times, but there have been from 125 to 130 members in Austin at all times since the opening. This is an exceptionally good attendance considering the fact that there are 150 members in the House.

Old members of the House are wondering what would have happened if this legislature were limited to 60 days period. Nearly 1000 bills have been introduced in the House. Of this number nearly 50 proposals are made to change the constitution. About 60 proposals are made to change the taxing system. Oil and gas regulation as well as pipe line bills, bus and truck regulations have brought more than 100 bills into the hopper. These must be carefully considered in the committee rooms before being submitted to the House or violence may result to existing order of business.
A large flood of legislation results from the business and economic depression. There are always more radical bills introduced in a time like this than under normal conditions. Thanks to the better judgment of a majority, most of these bills get the ax in the committee rooms or do not survive long on the floor of the House. Business interests have little to fear from adverse legislation when their case is properly presented.

Citizens who are prone to criticize their legislative bodies for slow action should compare the difference between the status of legislation today and twenty years ago. This modern intricate fast-moving 1931 life has brought to the legislative halls scores of problems which were not seen twenty years ago when booze regulation and railway regulation were about the only questions before our legislative bodies.

Governor Sterling in an interview made it plain that he considered the government is taking too much hand in our business affairs. It will be no surprise if the veto power is used very freely should new regulatory measures and new boards and new bureaus be passed which might hamper private business.

Where are we headed on this road to tax reform? That is the big question today. Everyone agrees that the state should be run on the lowest possible appropriation.

Every bill to increase taxes or change the method of taxation is met with a large lobby of citizens in opposition to changes.
But continually the legislature is besieged with requests for additional appropriations either for existing institutions or the establishment of something new.

Land owners over the state are holding meetings for the purpose of cutting their land value renditions.
Business men who have not made money on their investments the past two years are complaining that something must be done to reduce the tax burden.

A bill is pending to reduce salaries of all state officials and employees.
It will be seen that an interesting session will be had under the big dome at Austin during the last sixty days of this session.

WHAT IS THE TEXAS EXPERIMENT STATION DOING FOR THE TEXAS POULTRYMEN?

By—R. M. Sherwood, Chief Poultry Division, Experiment Station.
Before answering the above question I want to point out that the Poultry division of the Experiment Station belongs to Texas poultrymen. It is the place where poultry problems are studied and results given to all Texas farmers. It is the aim of the Station to work on as many practical poultry problems as funds will permit. At the present time the Station is testing various feeds for young chicks, it is trying to determine the correct amount of cottonseed meal, dried milk, and meat scraps for baby chicks. It is also studying how much bone meal and oyster shell should be mixed in a ration for baby chicks. In making these studies health and economical growth are both considered.
The Station is studying the value of Texas grain sorghums as compared with corn as a feed for laying hens; also the value of various dried milk products for laying hens. In the studies with laying hens not only the health of the fowls and eggs production, but also the quality of the eggs are noted. Some out-of-the-state people claim that Texas does not produce good eggs. We know that Texas produces some excellent eggs but she also produces some poor eggs. We have learned that some feeds produce eggs that will not store well and it is, therefore, our purpose to learn as much as possible about this problem.
Breeding is another problem given careful study. We are trying to learn just how to mate hens for best results. Our breeding experiments have already improved the Station flock remarkably.
The Texas Station has not overlooked the turkey industry and we have a good breeding flock of turkeys. We are studying different problems of turkey management.
Before closing we wish to point out again that this is your Experiment Station, and that we would be glad to have you make use of its work and visit it at any time.

HOOVER COMMISSION RECOMMENDS 180,000,000 ACRES GOVERNMENT LAND BE TURNED BACK TO WESTERN STATES
Washington, March 9.—The troublesome question of what to do with nearly 180,000,000 acres of government land in 28 western states was answered today in the Garfield commission report made public at the White House.
The vast tracts, used largely for grazing, should be turned back to the states as rapidly as possible if the states want them, according to the conclusions of the committee on conservation and administration of public domain. It was one of Mr. Hoover's favorite commissions, appointed 18 months ago to look into the question.

Report Approved

The United Press was informed that the administration endorses the report in general. Hoover is preparing to submit it to congress at the December session in order that necessary legislation may be considered. Secretary of Interior Wilbur also has sanctioned the recommendations.
The report was made public at this time, following the recess of the old congress, in order that it might be discussed in all western states for several months before being taken up by the congress, according to Hoover's associates. It has been on his desk several weeks.

The commission worked out a detailed plan for the public lands. It provided that any land refused by the states be turned into national ranges for grazing.

National Ranges

If the states fail to act on the offer of the property within their boundaries during the next 10 years, the president would be authorized to issue an executive order setting aside such land as national ranges.

The federal government would retain the known minerals in the land at the time of the transfer, but all discovered after that would be the property of the states.

Exempt from the offer would be thousands of acres of timber land, which the commission proposed should be made part of the national forest and national park systems.

A board would be created in the interior department to carry out the transfers. All stock driveways would be protected. The states would be required to pass the land into private ownership as rapidly as possible thru public sales. The present reclamation policy would be continued. A survey of all unsurveyed areas would be made by the general land office.

Two Texas League cities are playing baseball under electric lights and their success indicates there will be others before the beginning of the 1931 season.

PLAINVIEW, TEXAS

scripture read by Rev. Pat Horton, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Plainview were selections which had been sources of inspiration to Rev. Walker through all the years of his christian experience. And the keynote of the funeral sermon, preached by Rev. Matt Harder of Falls was "Cheer Up," a message which had been carried to the last of 33 years of earnest preaching by Bro. Walker. A large number of old time songs was played softly by Mrs. E. R. Williams of Plainview as an innumerable host of friends and loved ones passed slowly by to the view the remains of this their friend.

A beautiful floral offering surrounded the altar and paid a glowing tribute to the life and work of this man of God, who while living planted sunshine and flowers in the lives of all with whom he came in contact.

The flower girls were selected from the class and schoolmates of Mary Pope, his daughter, and consisted of the following young ladies: Mesdames Zelma McMurray, Lula Watson, Alma Holmes, Emma Thornton, Mavis Lunren, Laura Manning, Edith Box, Opal Thomas, Wanda Frizzell, and Misses Nora Sams, Nova Wells, Elvie Cook, and Estelle Byars.

Rev. R. E. L. Muncy concluded the service at the Lockney cemetery where the remains were laid to rest.

In Memory of Rev. Y. F. Walker
Last Wednesday afternoon we layed all that was earthly of our loving friend, Rev. Y. F. Walker, in its last resting place to await the resurrection morning.

It seems so sad that he should be taken from his family and so many dear friends; yet we cannot think of his career as being ended, but as being crowned with the everlasting crown of life.

God did not give him to us to keep, but just loaned him to us for awhile to love, and our hearts were broken when the call came on the morning of March 1st. And now the tears we are shedding are just the interest on our loan.

The beautiful floral offering was so lovely, but was such a wee expression of his beautiful life.

Just here, the writer is reminded of a poem that is such a beautiful expression of Bro. Walker's life:

Lord help me live from day to day
In such a self-forgetful way
That even when I kneel to pray
My prayer shall be for—Others.

Help me in all the work I do
To ever be sincere and true
And know that all I'd do for you
Must needs be done for—Others.
Let self be crucified and slain
And buried deep; and all in vain
May efforts be to rise again
Unless to live for—Others.

And when my work on earth is done
And my new work in Heaven begun
May I forget the crown I've won
While thinking still of—Others
Others Lord, Yes Others
Let this my motto be
Help me to live for—Others
That I may live like thee.

His greatest joy in life was serving his Master and living for others.
—By a sincere friend.

Walker Funeral Largely Attended
One of the largest crowds ever to attend a funeral service at a local church, assembled at the First Baptist church on Wednesday, March 4, 1931, to pay a last tribute to the remains of Rev. Y. F. Walker, who died at his home on Sunday morning, March 1, 1931.

The funeral services were under the direction of Rev. Cal McGabey, pastor of the Baptist church at Sudan, Texas, and were very impressive throughout. The music was under the direction of Mr. Homer Shirey of Lockney, and consisted of songs which were loved by the deceased while active in the ministerial work. Chief among the songs was Bro. Walker's favorite "Whispering Hope", sung by two old time friends, Mrs. Bigges of Lockney and Mrs. S. W. Smith of Plainview, an old classmate at Simmons University. The
