Santa Claus Will Be In Plainview, December 6th

Plans for the official arrival of Santa Claus in Plainview are well underway. He will arrive on December 6th—the sixth of Plainview's Friendship Days—with festivities starting at ten thirty in the morning with the arrival of Santa Claus by airplane and sleigh and if possible (if Santa has the nerve) he will be asked to leave his airplane in the air and come to earth by means of a parachute jump.

Committees are at work to making this the greatest Christmas event ever staged on the South Plains.

An interesting feature will be the bevy of clowns who will cavort in the parade, and later during the day in the stores and on the streets.

Since the kiddies are to receive tokens from Old Santa a committee has been provided to secure and supervise this giving.

An attempt will be made to have a section in the parade for boys and girls in caricature and for a general pageantry.

MANY THANKS

We wish to express our deep appreciation to each and every one who had a part in Pounding us on last Thursday evening. This came as a pleasant climax to the social held at the Methodist church. It is not so much the monetary value of the things given to us but the spirit in which it was given. Just to have the consciousness of being remembered by those whom you are trying to serve, is worth all the world. It inspires one to do his best. We do want to do our best this year. There are many things we can not do, but that which we can do, God help us to do it well. Pray for us as we pray for you, and the Lord give us a great year in church work this year. Come to all our services. Be on time at Sunday School next Sunday. B. G. OSBORN and WIFE

Thanksgiving Is A Primitive Right

Thanksgiving is celebrated in memory of the day when the Narraganset Indians saw the newcomers farmers of Old New England in deed, because their European cereals failed to grow on the sands of Cape Cod. These red men gave the Pilgrims corn, beans, squashes, wild turkeys, and wild grapes; all considered sacred gifts of the Great Spirit to the soil of America, says Dr. Karl Bates, advisor in Indian extension at the New York state college of agriculture.

However, he says, this was not the first Thanksgiving. The rite was born as early as man sought out his relationship to his creator and wondered at the mystery of the seasons. This became associated with mystery and an element of fear; and to explain this, priests soon developed a ceremonial. History tells of Thanksgiving ten thousand years ago in the Tigris-Euphrates valley of the Nile; in Crete; in the beginnings of some of the priestly rituals in Greece and Rome; among the Hebrews; the Norsemen; in the Congo; and in Tasmania as the seasonal waves threw the quantities of fish on their shores.

To a simple people like the North American Indians, Thanksgiving was personal and sincere. They felt the Spirit at each sunrise and at each sunset, and each month the tribe, in common council, celebrated one of their twelve Thanksgivings. In mid-winter they thanked the Great Spirit for sending the snow to protect the seeds and animals; later they gave thanks for the sweet waters of the woodland, or maple sap; in spring they held their great Thanksgivings, for they were able to plant their food staple—Indian maize—soon followed the ceremony for the strawberries, and in order, those for beans and squashes, the corn harvest for the wild apples and grapes and for the time when the hide and flesh of the deer and bear was in season. Dr.

Bates says the power of the Six Nations came through the common bond of their religious ceremonials.

As the red man looks to the white American today, he says, the Great Spirit has shown the white man that many times more than he ever gave the red man, but the white American has but one Thanksgiving a year. If the red man with his limitations was able to produce his great civilization with his nature book and the sky as his guide, what can the white man not do with his inheritance and the wisdom of ages through the printed pages of his ideals and experiences?

Faith will move mountains in America today as in days gone by. If we place our feet on the sacred soil of the red man and, unafraid, celebrate the true American spirit of Thanks-giving. To be a tolerant, neighborly American, live the Thanksgiving spirit of the red American in daily thought and living," Doctor Bates says.

New Mexico Placer Mining Extended

Aided by the combined forces of the President's gold buying movement and new and improved placer mining machinery, heretofore neglected placer gold mini areas in New Mexico are being brought to life.

In the Burrow Mountain district in Southwestern New Mexico the Sunset Gold Fields, Inc. is planning extensive developments which would involve an expenditure of $17,000 for machinery and $60,000 for electrification of the company's plant at Gold Gulch.

The Burro Mountain district and other placer areas produced much gold at one time, but lack of improved mining machinery, water supply and a sufficient market price retarded real development.

THANKSGIVING CHRYSANTHEMUM

Since it is chrysanthemum season this hardy flower defying the frost—the chrysanthemum is the Thanksgiving flower. That is quite as it should be. Thanksgiving is a hardy holiday as well as a hearty one. It spans the whole distance between the America of the Seventeenth century who held (in New England) all sport an ungodly pastime, and the America of the Twentieth century who makes a god of sport. That shows how truly and abidingly American a holiday is this one, which is so rarely privileged that the President of the Republic has to pay it tribute of an annual official proclamation.

Brisco County Pioneer Died Sun.

Mr. G. F. Mickey, minister of Main Street Church of Christ was called to Silverton Monday to assist in the funeral service of Mr. W. L. Jewett, an aged pioneer of the Plains country who died at his home in that city Sunday evening, Nov. 26th.

Mr. Jewett came to Brisco County, October 1890, and by just living and helpful service made friends of all whom he met. This good man was a Christian of long years standing, and was honored in his death by a large concourse of neighbors, friends, and brethren. He had attained the ripe age of 82 years and 8 months.

Mrs. Gip Hudson and baby returned Friday after visiting several days in Okla., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dudd Ursery.

Miss Othel Gunn of Plainview was here Monday visiting friends and relatives. Miss Gunn is in training at the Plainview Hospital.

Mrs. V. L. Teaver returned home Monday after spending a week in Cedarville, N. M., with her father, Mr. B. F. Milton.

Miss Ruth Ford, who is employed as cashier at the Lubbock Citizens' National Bank, is here spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ford.

Support The Red Cross Everyone

This is the time of year when the annual roll-call of the Red Cross prepares to make its appeal to every helpful-minded American. It is a call that ought to be regarded, for the Red Cross is the nation's greatest mainstay when calamity strikes.

One thing that makes the Red Cross effective is the promptness with which it moves when called upon. It can only do that by having ample cash on hand at all times with which to mobilize the forces of relief. So, even through the year 1933 has been fortunately and singularly free from major catastrophes, such as have brought the Red Cross to the front in past years it is just as important that it should receive its annual contributions as it ever has been.

This winter, as last, much of the relief work of the Red Cross will be in taking care of the homeless and unemployed. There are fewer, numerically, to be looked after this year than last; more men and women are back at work and more are being cared for through Governmental and State relief works. There is ground for great hope in the President's program of Civil Works, which is intended to give employment at fair wages to several millions for the next few months. But there is still a huge burden to be carried by those who still have something left, and it is a burden which ought to be shared by everybody.

There is a double reason, therefore, for giving liberally to the Red Cross this year. Keep its coffers filled against the sudden, unexpected catastrophe, which may strike anywhere, at any time, and throw hundreds or thousands into distress. See that this great instrument of aid to the suffering is not handicapped in its work of keeping American workers from starvation until the crisis is past.

Wheat Allotment Contracts In The Mails Today

Olin Ridings, chairman of the Floyd County Wheat Allotment Committee, informs us that all wheat allotment contracts for Floyd county are in the mails and on their way to Washington. 667 applications were signed, only a few refused to sign. The total number of acres signed were given as 147, 057 out of a possible 175,000 acres as allowed by the State Allotment Board. It was necessary for the county allotment committee to cut each applicant's acreage 1 per cent in order to conform to the State allotment of acres.

The allotted bushels possible for Floyd county is 819,590. The amount signed for, and that the county will be paid on is 739,900 bushels, upon which we will receive about twenty-seven and one half cents per bushel or about $200,000.

It seems that some have been laboring under the wrong impression about the amount per bushel that we would receive. The Government is holding two cents per bushel, which leaves 25c, the county expense will be deducted from the 25c. Our county expense is one-half cent, or a little over, according to chairman Ridings, Floyd county expenses on the wheat allotment program have been held down to a minimum. Some counties not so far distant, we are informed, have run their expenses to as much as 4c per bushel.

WINDOWS MAY HELP BEAUTIFY HOME INTERIOR

Windows can do much more than just admit light and air, they can be decorative as well. Not only can they beautify the interior of the room, but they can also do much to beautify the exterior of the house, since they are already an integral part of the architectural scheme.

So, we are gladly welcoming the revival of the Venetian blind on this as well as other scores. This popular window treatment of the past is fast returning to favor and is being used for the most modernistic of rooms as well as those of more ordinary furnishings. You will find that Venetian blinds not only look well, but that they temper and diffuse light perfectly, and assure perfect privacy. They really do lower the room temperature in warm weather by admitting and breeze there may be, at the same time excluding the sun rays. But they may be used all year round, especially when they form part of the interior decorating scheme.

MR. AND MRS. GILBERT HULLS HAVE SONS VISITING THEM

What Feeders, Buyers and Sellers Are Doing

W. L. Ellwood is feeding a number of his calves on the South Spade ranch near Smyer. He has moved up several lots of calves from his ranch near Colorado City.

D. M. DeVitt, of the Mallet ranch near Whiteface recently unloaded a train with 2,000 calves brought from the Mashed O ranch of the Halsells near Amherst.

Charles Doak, O'Donnell, who operates a big ranch property near Cedar Lake, Gaines county, recently bought 92 calves from Odessa for feeding out at his ranch.

H. Henry Sammons, farmer living northeast of Plainview, has bought 160 Hereford calves for feeding. They had been on pasture at the Leach farm, north of Plainview, during the summer.

Peyton Packing Co., El Paso, is feeding near Littlefield. The pen now being constructed there will handle several thousand at a time and between 4,000 and 5,000 head will probably be fed out this season.

Harris Mullinn has 1,800 head of calves on feed at Plainview, in addition to some sheep.

Tom Goode, Big Spring rancher, will handle at least 2,500 head this year. He has nearly that many head now on feed in Borden county and at other places.

Frank Hinkley, Sweetwater, has 200 cows and calves in pens at the Sweetwater Oil mill for feeding. Drought conditions in Nolan county forced him to go to the commercial feeders.

E. G. Rall of Fort Worth and Tom Owens, who own extensive interests near Sundan, have planned for feeding. Mr. Rall some weeks ago said he expected to feed 500 head or more, but nothing further has been announced.

Will G. Murray, Lubbock sheep feeder who recently leased some 90 sections of land near Rankin, is not planning to feed out his sheep this year unless conditions change. He is "roughing through" his sheep at Rankin, but may put them on feed in January or February if the market situation warrants it.

W. G. Murray sold more than 4,000 head of sheep from his ranch west of Dickens county, to Petersburg, Bessernathy. The sheep went to McAdoo and other places.

Paul brothers, owners of a large ranch west of Sudan, in Bailey county, received four car loads of whiteface feeder calves from White Deer. The calves are being placed on full feed.

Two hundred and fifty head of calves from the Spade ranch near Colorado were shipped to the South Spade ranch in Hockley county. These were in addition to a large shipment several weeks ago.

Thanksgiving

This year, with every citizen vitally conscious of playing his part in the great drama of recovery, with every resource of the nation actively dispelling the gloom of depression, we have more reason to be thankful than at any time during the past three or four years. We've rounded the much talked of corner, and the road is clear.

With recovery in view, this Thanksgiving will not be the hollow, forced effort at gratitude for doubtful blessings it may have been in the past few years. It will not be a "Beau Geste" borne bravely on the shoulders of people famous for undying hope and courageous fortitude. It will be, as it should be, more spontaneous and wholehearted than any Thanksgiving since the World War.

Just as our forefathers felt called upon to pause in their activities and give thanks, grateful for their survival of that first "gloomy time" and stores supplied by nature for the winter that lay ahead, let us celebrate this Thanksgiving with genuine gratitude, thankful that we too have been active, meeting conditions as they are, and have arrived at a time when the future presents a definitely brighter aspect.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Here is a bit of diversion in styles for the week, calling attention to the blouses and sweaters which are getting quite a few votes as the returns commence to come in.

The vest blouse above with its butterfly bow is colorful and so radiantly bound to get attention. Also please note the turned manish cuff on the sleeve.

The sweater combination below in harmonizing colors is a very popular number in all knit or sportwear departments. The under slipover sweater is sleeves with screw neck. The jacket fastens only at the waist. It is an extremely soft camel wool and in color combinations of yellow, brown and orange is very, very smart.

Pluffy, diaphanous nighties do not fit in with this year of elegance. Rich satins, trim velvets cut long, slim flowing lines, devoid of trimmings, make the smartest nightgowns just now. That long, slim, subtle line that adds graciousness and dignity has become very much the thing and girls who were devoted to frothy, frilly things declare in its favor. A very lovely nightgown is a model made of heavy pink crepe, with a square neck and ruffles of satin ribbon to form the shoulders. But the ruffles are very businesslike and reach to the high waistline that ties in back with pink satin ribbon. Another model is on white satin with fagotted surplice panels that tie in back.

Long sleeve dinner dresses have become the darlings of the mode, whether they have a deep décolletage or a more conservative neckline. In some shops it is a better seller than the formal evening frocks, since, if it is elaborate enough, it can even sit in at a formal party. Such a model is one in honey colored chiffon. It has long tight sleeves finished with cuffs or bronze colored sequins. There is a sequin inset in lieu of a belt and the deep V in back is bordered with a band of sequins.

Every type of wrap is seen these evenings, although of course, the short wrap is done only in fur. Some of the new little bolers made of lapin wool are exactly like ermine and are grand for the sub-deb. Then there is a new fur said to be a cross between the humble bunny and the very grand and opulent chinchilla. This is being used for short evening capes and it looks almost exactly like chinchilla.

The separate skirt and blouse fashion has emerged from its place in the daytime scheme and has become the thing for informal evening wear. Some of the smartest costumes seen lately have consisted of slim, ankle-length skirts of dull velvet or sheer wool crepe and a blouse of same or satin.

Fruit stains on the fingers can easily be removed if rubbed with oatmeal moistened with vinegar or lemon juice, before applying soap.

Stockings and socks that are hand-knitted wear longer if a reel of sewing cotton is used with the wool.

IN THEIR FOOTSTEPS....

No longer can Thanksgiving be regarded as an observance grown rather meaningless with the years. Its original purpose is once more righteously restored and made one with our own. If it be true that "History repeats itself," then that surely is the case today.

The trials and troubles of the Pilgrims have been ours, under different names, in modern garb. And now, with time to pause and take stock of our blessings, we find reason to observe a holiday once almost meaningless.

Just as that first Thanksgiving became yearly tradition, at least in spirit, let us resolve to make this Thanksgiving a point from which to move ahead, taking stock of our advantages and resolving to make each succeeding year a greater cause for "Thanksgiving."

Thanksgiving

On this Thanksgiving day we wish to thank the people of this community for all business given us. We have made every effort possible to please you with each and every purchase made, and if we have been successful, we are glad.

The spirit of thankfulness becomes indispensable to our security, our peace and prosperity. We may worship at different altars, we may express our devotions in ways familiar to us, but on our national Thanksgiving day we bow as one people before the "Giver of every good and perfect gift" and with humility recognize his bounty and our common dependence upon his goodness.

Why Children Need a Liquid Laxative

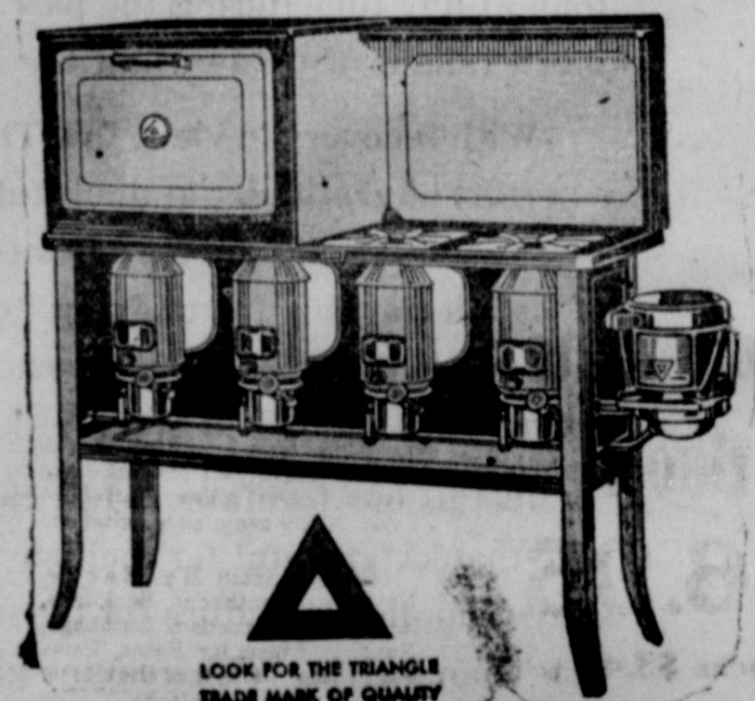

The temporary relief children get from some synthetic, habit-forming cathartic may cause bowel strain, and even set-up irritation in the kidneys. A properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement. There is no discomfort at the time and no weakness after. You don't have to give the child "a double dose" a day or two later.

Can constipation be corrected in children? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say many mothers who have followed this sensible medical advice: 1. Select a good liquid laxative. 2. Give the dose you find suited to the system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until the bowels are moving regularly without aid.

An approved liquid laxative (one that is widely used for children) is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The mild laxative action of this excellent preparation is the best form of help for children—and grown-ups, too. The dose can be regulated for any age or need.

We Are All THANKFUL

Down at the Cozy Cafe we are thankful for the fine business that you have bestowed upon us. Our business the past year has been pleasant and profitable.

America on this Thanksgiving day must acknowledge with gratitude another year of unprecedented blessings. Widely scattered as our peoples are, diverse as are their interests, they are the sharers of a common bounty. Surely at such a time and under such conditions it is fitting that we should unite to "offer unto God thanksgiving."

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

Apple Cake

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1-4 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons lard
2-3 cups milk

Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut lard into dough. Mixing with knife add milk. When soft dough forms, pat out until it is one-half inch thick. Place in greased shallow pan, spread with apples.

Cherry Salad

Cream cheese and maraschino cherries, combined with sliced pineapple, makes a new and colorful salad. Mix enough cherry juice with the cheese to form a smooth paste. Add a few chopped cherries to this mixture. Place a slice of pineapple on lettuce on each salad plate and heap the cheese concoction in the center of the pineapple slices.

Pecan Pie

1 recipe pie crust
3 eggs beaten
1.2 cup sugar
2 tbsps butter
1 cup pecans chopped
1 cup dark karo
1 tsp vanilla
Salt

Bake pie crust slightly—just enough to "set." Then mix filling ingredients well, pour in shell and bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. until done. If you prefer a pie of lighter color, use white karo.

Cookies for Everybody

2 cups flour
2 tps baking powder
1-4 to 1-2 tsp salt
1-2 pkg pasteurized dates
1 tsp vanilla
1-3 to 1.2 cup shortening
2-3 cup sugar
1-4 cup milk or water

Sift the flour, salt, and baking powder. Mix the sliced dates through the flour with the finger tips. Cream the shortening; stir in the sugar gradually then the unbeaten egg. Mix well, add the milk and vanilla. Stir in the dry ingredients. Drop by teaspoonfuls on the reverse side of a well-oiled baking sheet or dripping pan. Bake in moderate oven 375 degrees F. until firm to the touch and delicate brown in color. This recipe will make about 36 cookies.

Baked Bean Sandwiches

For a novelty in sandwiches for the evening party mash cold baked beans to a paste, season with mustard, add finely chopped celery and spread between buttered bread-brown bread if you have it. Serve with small pieces of cheese and coffee.

Custards steamed in a saucepan are apt to curdle. To prevent this, place a thick layer of kitchen paper or news paper at the bottom of the pan before putting in the water. Curdling is caused by too strong heat, and paper, being a nonconductor of heat obviates this.

It sometimes happens, when cooking peas and similar vegetables in a steamer, that only the bottom layer gets cooked because many of the perforations are blocked by the peas. To prevent this, put one or more pie funnels in the steamer first. This insures plenty of steam over the top as well.

Mayonnaise sauce that turns oily will thicken if another yolk of egg is added and the mixture stirred quickly the reverse way.

Poultry Topics

FORCED PULLET IS NOT BEST PRODUCER

Should Have Time to Develop Necessary Stamina.

"Pullets should be given every opportunity to develop normally without being forced, in order that they may have the body vigor to withstand a long and continuous period of heavy egg production," says O. C. Ufford, extension poultryman for the Colorado agricultural college.

"It is not good practice," he adds, "to force growth by the use of a heavy protein diet over the entire growing period."

"Birds that have received such a diet will start laying a month or three weeks earlier than the normal maturing period for the breed, but they will not have the body growth that enables them to stand up under heavy egg production over a long period of time."

For pullets on a summer range, a growing mash of ground grains containing 10 per cent meat scraps and 5 per cent bone meal, is suggested. This may be kept before them all the time in outdoor hoppers. The hoppers should be so constructed, that very little mash can be wasted, and the hoppers should never be allowed to go empty, it is stated.

This growing mash may be kept before the pullets until they are three or four months old, depending on their development. Then, in order to prevent too rapid development, the percentage of meat scraps may be greatly reduced by adding ground oats or barley, corn meal or bran to the growing mash mixture. Reduction of the animal food allows the pullets to grow and develop without stimulating the growth of the egg-producing organs.

"This method of handling pullets enables them to put on body weight and fat, and when they come into winter production they will be able to produce steadily because of their vigor and vitality," Ufford explains.

Too Much Sunshine Is Not Good for Chickens

While sunshine is necessary in the development of chicks, one should not overlook the fact that during the hot summer months protection from the hot sun is absolutely necessary. One reason why late hatched chicks fail to thrive is because of failure to keep them supplied with shade. Chicks that are compelled to remain in a close, hot coop in the heat of summer because of no other protection are not getting the best possible treatment. The air under shade trees is fresher and cooler; there is less danger from mites and they are closer to green food and insect life.

If summer shade is not provided by trees and bushes the next best thing to do is to plant patches of sunflowers or corn. It is of course necessary to keep the chicks away from it until it gets a fair start. After the plants have grown to a sufficient height, chickens can run in them with practically no injury to the crop. In fact, there is no objection to growing a crop of chickens and corn on the same piece of ground. This can be easily done by erecting temporary fences and confining the chicks to a portion of the yard or it may mean the removal of the chickens to new yards more suitable for summer growth. On the farm this latter method can usually be employed.—Missouri Farmer.

Feather Pulling

The feather-pulling habit is usually caused by overcrowding. Another cause is the taste of blood, which may result from accident or disease. When hens, and especially roosters, taste blood they become part cannibal. Feather pulling is the natural result for the birds soon find that there is a drop of blood at the bottom of the quill they pull, and they have been known to practically eat a weak member of the flock alive. The best remedy is to kill the cannibals and segregate the victims as soon as it is seen that they cannot protect themselves. Out of door exercise and change of feed will do much to stop the trouble.—Montreal Herald.

Curing Sealy Leg

The shanks and upper surfaces of the toes of fowls are protected by horny overlapping scales. A little mite, called by scientists sarcoptes mutans, has a habit of burrowing under these scales, causing an irritation and making the feet sore. Its presence is detected by the loosening of the scales and accumulation of crusty matter under them. The condition is corrected by dipping the feet in a mixture of linseed and kerosene oils, equal parts, or by anointing with vaseline.

Rhode Island Red Bantam

The general rules and practices applied to the raising of "large" poultry hold good in handling the Bantam, also. The Rhode Island Red Bantam is coming to the front as a popular member of the midget group and some good specimens of these birds are to be seen occasionally in showrooms. They have not been admitted to the American Standard, but it is likely that in course of time they will be recognized. The males weigh about two pounds.

Brooding Period Is Always Most Critical Time.

Getting the poult through the brooding period into free range is the most difficult job in turkey raising, and this requires management and clean sanitation.

"The first requirement for a successful hatch with turkeys is the use of strictly fresh eggs," says C. J. Maupin, extension poultryman at North Carolina State college.

When turkey hens are confined to a small range or yard, the eggs may be gathered twice each day and then stored in a well-ventilated room or cellar where the temperature is not over 60 degrees. It is better to set the eggs when only seven to eight days old, whether a hen or incubator is used. When poulters are first hatched they are less active than chicks and must be kept warm. The temperature in the brooder house needs to be kept around 90 degrees for several days.

Maupin says the homemade brick brooder may be used for poulters, but it is well to make some wire partitions in the house to separate the ages. Feeding the poulters is about the same as for baby chicks. Hard-boiled eggs with some of the shell left in has worked out well for the first feed. Give one egg to each twenty poulters. Water should be given at 36 hours, and the first chick starter or chick scratch given by the second day. Sour skim milk may be added when the poulters are from 36 to 48 hours old and then kept before them thereafter at all times.

Maupin also suggests gradual changes in feed as the birds grow older and then when they are ready for the range, the ration may be simplified and reduced to whatever grains are available on the farm.

Poultry Meat Deserves Attention and Thought

The production of poultry meat deserves more attention and thought if the maximum profits are to be derived above the labor and feed costs. The different breeds of chickens vary in the ultimate size of body at maturity. Valuable data have been found in an analysis of the present edible meat to the live and dressed bird, with dressed stock representing four different types commonly kept by farmers as commercial poultrymen.

Roosters, twenty-eight weeks old of four leading breeds, were carefully weighed and the amount of edible meat in relation to live weight determined. Buff Orpingtons showed slightly over 50 per cent of the live weight to be edible; Rhode Island Reds, 49.10 per cent; Plymouth Rocks, 49.00, and White Leghorns, 43.63 per cent.

This wide range between the heavier types and the Leghorns points out the necessity of disposing of the Leghorn males as broilers rather than carry them to the roaster stage. The heavier stock eat more feed but not relatively more for the weight attained at maturity. Very little difference exists between the types in dressing percentage, but the per cent edible meat to dressed carcass is quite striking. The difference of 12 per cent edible meat as shown between the Orpington and the Leghorn, and 10 per cent between Red or Rock and the Leghorn, indicates the relative difference of the two general types for the production of meat.—Montreal Herald.

Cull Out Weaklings

When putting chicks out on the range it is a good plan to discard everyone that as you handle it seems to you to be notably below the average of the lot in substance and vitality. The tendency is to keep any which are regarded as having a chance to grow to marketable size. This is done with the idea that if one eventually gets something for such a chick, he is better off than if he killed it at this stage. "While there's life, there's hope," may be a good motto in some things, but not in managing hens and chickens. If one will keep the weaklings, let him put them in a flock by themselves, away from the others, and keep a separate account of their feed and of what they bring when sold.

Eggs With Watery Whites

Where eggs are discovered to have watery whites and weak yolks after a heavy laying period the exhausted condition of the egg-producing organs is the cause, according to a poultry expert. In the spring there is a tendency for eggs to become watery due to the increase in water and green feed consumption. A properly balanced ration in addition to the green feed should be fed at all times, especially during the spring months. The frequent collection will also help.

Extremes in Fowls

The common weight of fowls is from 3 to 5 pounds for hens and 4 1/2 to 6 1/2 for roosters. The smallest bantam females weigh less than one pound. Cochins and Brahma males have been known to weigh 16 and 17 pounds each. Neither the very small nor the very large specimens have anything to recommend them but their rarity. The smallest bantams are the poorly developed specimens of breeds in which adult females of good type weigh from 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pounds each.

The fact that persons attending places of amusement recently established in the vicinity of the City Hall and Fire Station are persistently parking their cars in the drive-way of the City Fire Truck, making a very dangerous obstruction to the passage of the fire truck creates an emergency and calls for a suspension of the rules requiring ordinances to be read on three separate meeting dates, and this ordinance shall be in force and take effect from and after the date of its passage, and publication This, the 27th day of November, 1933.

ANOTHER GRAFT ABOARD IN THE LAND

Pyramiding Dimes

Parties are distributing circulars in this community in regard to the National Old Age Pension association. The object is to promote and urge upon congress the enactment of a law granting pensions to the aged. A blank is filled out and sent in with 10 cents. Also each person must furnish five names of other persons to whom blanks can be sent. Is this a worth cause?—G. L. M.

It is a worthy cause but in our opinion a hopeless cause. It strikes us as being a money making cause for the gentleman who originated the idea. It is a fine pyramiding scheme. Supposing he started with the name of only one aged person. That person furnished the names of five more, these five furnished the names of 25 more, those furnished the names of 125, those the names of 625, those the names of 3,125, those the names of 15,625, those the names of 78,125, those the names of 390,625 and each of those five more names which would make 1,953,025.

Now add those altogether and you have 2,441,306 names and each of those sent in a dime which makes $244,130.60. This thing has been going on for months and months. One name has been pyramided by five and ten steps above. We wouldn't make a guess how many times the original names have been multiplied by 5 and 10 cents collected from such hopeful, aged person in the last several months. We don't wonder er that someone in the central office is wonderfully enthusiastic and hopeful for the future, as the dimes and names come pouring in—remember it is now nation-wide in its aspirations.

And worst of all, we regret to know that the hopes of thousands and thousands of needy aged persons are being inflated by this sort of propaganda. There is no way to measure their disappointment when finally, we believe, they will begin to discover that nothing has come of their great hope. This nation can hardly at this time or soon assume the burden of paying pensions to needy aged persons on top of the huge expenditures for recovery among all ages and classes. We may finally get to old age pensions, but not soon.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you. But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all. Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. MAIN STREET CHURCH OF CHRIST
G. F. Mickey, Minister

Would you give careful consideration to the following excerpt from an editorial published in a recent issue of the Christian Standard?

"Materialism is dominant. Every program of recovery is attuned to it. Gambling is the antithesis of stewardship. Our State is willing for a price, to take a chance upon the debauchery of her citizenship. Business men systematically despoil the public for huge sums of money to supplant hoards already to great for use. Social affairs are built entirely around the card table, which is gambling; the dance, which is thinly veiled adultery; the theater, and motion picture, which are almost uniformly lecherous; the wine cup and whisky bottle, which are drunkenness."

Are the above indictments of modern politics, business and society too severe and untrue? What is your verdict as a Christian. Are you willing that things shall continue as they are? What do you think about the purity of the Church, and are you doing your part to keep it clean? How are you going to act in the face of your decisions? Remember—"We shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ" where we shall each "give account of himself to God."

For the next Lord's Day great things are offered of the Lord. Let us not be negligent, careless, or slothful in not the temporal things crowd out the ritual things. Be in your place of service on time. Fall not to get every prayer, and scripture lesson together with the communion and fellowship. The topics for the day's sermons are as follows, and come in the order mentioned—"Sanctified Rules", and "Biblic Truths." Let us make this truly a "day of joy and gladness."

Woman's Missionary Society, Monday 3 P. M.

We had a number of new folks at church last Sunday. This is very much appreciated by the church, and especially by the pastor. In fact, each service was well attended. Yet, there was room. Many more should have been present. We hope to have an interesting message for next Sunday. The past 14 Sundays have been taken largely well along started with the new year's work. We are endeavoring to install a systematic plan of financing the church, paying weekly, using the Envelope System. A great many have signed up to use it, and many more will do so. From now on, we hope to be able to give ourselves to the preaching of the gospel, to the edifying of the people, and to the approval of the Lord Jesus Christ. Let every person stand in his place, and be loyal, and faithful to the

We Are THANKFUL

To our many friends and customers of this community for the business accorded us the past year. Our business relations have been pleasant for which we are thankful.

Thanksgiving day, rightly interpreted, places fresh emphasis not only upon the source of all our blessings, but compels us to recognize the closeness of the tie that binds us together in a great fellowship. It is the family day of the nation. It reminds us that we are bound together "for better or worse, for richer or poorer," and that what effects one section for good or ill affects all.

Preaching at 11 by the pastor B. T. S. 6:30, Mrs. Silas Ellis, Director
Preaching and report from B. T. S. Convention at 7:30
The Volunteer Band from Wayland has had to call off the engagement here this coming Sunday due to a conflicting date with the Falls church. The pastor will preach at the morning hour and the subject of the message will be in keeping with the season of the year. As their has been no union Thanksgiving service we shall make this a Thanksgiving service to God, expressing our gratitude for the bountiful blessings of the past year. Two car loads of B. T. S. members of the church left Thursday afternoon for Mineral Wells to attend the State Convention. They were Rev. and Mrs. Joe Wilson, Rev. Clay Muncy, Mrs. Silas Ellis, Mrs. Willis J. Ray, Miss Lena Moore, Bruce and Rosch Allen, Joe Earl and Billy Jean Wilson. Billie Jean will be a contestant in the Primary story telling, and we hope she may prove the best in the state. The subject for the evening will be "The Pool." He is spoken of in the Bible and still characterized as such by the Bible. Your presence is appreciated and visitors are always welcome. Remember the Lord's Day is not our day to do with as we please but is the Lord's Day and should be observed as He commanded. You are welcome at the Baptist church the friendly church.
