BIG RABBIT DRIVE IN ROSELAND COMMUNITY TODAY

A big rabbit drive is in progress in the Roseland Community today. Rabbits are being slaughtered by the hundreds. Last week drives were made in the Irick, Ellen and Bellview communities and thousands of rabbits met their Waterloo. It seems that rabbits are plentiful this year and they have certainly been destroying a lot of wheat, so these drives are being resorted to in order to eliminate them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Nall, who for the past one and one half weeks have been in a sanatorium at Ft. Worth, Texas for their health, are reported as being slightly improved. However, they will have to remain in the sanatorium for at least three more weeks at the best.

They were accompanied down there by their son Joe Nall, who returned Thursday of last week.

Production of 491,793,000 bushels of winter wheat this year was announced Tuesday by the department of agriculture as being forecast from April 1 conditions, as compared with 351,030,000 bushels produced last year. 475,709,000 bushels in 1932 and 632,064,000 bushels, the 1927-28 average.

"BRAIN JEWELS"
FROM OUR EXCHANGES

The time has arrived in grand old Texas as it does every two years, when a bunch of state politicians write in to the newspapers to tell them that they are not able to finance an advertising campaign, and appeal to the patriotic sense of the county weeklies to give them publicity. They will state that if they do not get the support of the weeklies, the dailies will wreck the state financially and morally. We have often wondered why every guy gets it into his noodle that the papers are under any obligation to help elect them.—Terry County Herald.

Don't get the impression that the life of a retail merchant is a bed of roses. Any Muleshoe merchant will tell you it is not. Little things come up every day that vex the merchant.

How about the woman who buys a pair of shoes from a mail-order house, finds they don't fit and then want the local merchant to exchange them for a pair out of his stock? How about the customer who is always one cent short of enough to pay the bill, or the one exchanges a large fine roll of butter for merchandise—with a nice clean lump of salt inside of the butter weighing a pound or so?

What about the girl that buys a pair of shoes, wears them to a dance and then asks them back with the complaint that they are too tight? Or the customer who is always contending that she can buy the same thing cheaper in another town?

Yes sir, running the store is a long way from being a bed of roses, even if there were no such thing as red ink to worry about.—Muleshoe Journal.

A good many girls who know how to run their father's car don't know the first principles of running their mother's sewing machine or washer.—Stae Line Tribune.

The trouble is that so many folks want to sit in the New Deal and play contract.—Dallas News

Ripley says that the State capitol building of Texas did not cost the citizens of Texas one cent cash. It is not the original cost, Mr. Ripley; it's the upkeep.—Houston Post.

"Whisky wont hurt you if you let it alone." Ever hear that statement? Some very good people make that remark and do not know that whisky does hurt you, even though you let it alone. How about the three little children who were playing on the street curb of Amarillo last week? One of them was killed outright while the other two were sent to the hospital, probably to die or be injured for life, when run over by a drunken car driver, who said he did not know what he was doing. Did those little innocent babies ever "Touch" liquor? They did not, yet one is dead and two others dangerously wounded, all CAUSED BY WHISKY. Never make that statement again, for you will now know, if you did not in the past, that it IS NOT TRUE.—Claud News.

THEY WORK FOR OTHERS

Had you ever thought how often the local newspaper spoke praise of the community and its citizens individually, and how few times the editor evers hears any comment. But just let him make an error unintentionally, or get some news item wrong, he might as well prepare to hear about it. But this is human nature, we suppose, and is to be expected.

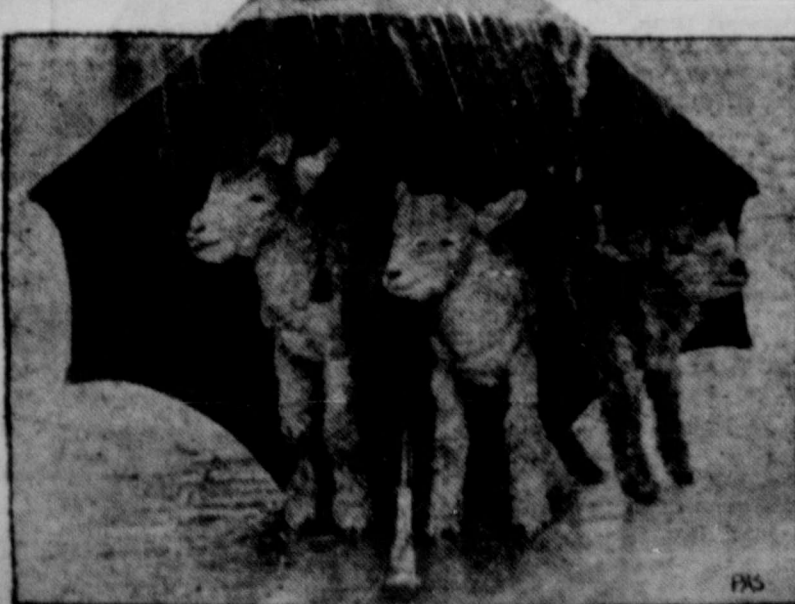

If a fund is to be raised for a church or other laudable purpose, the editor is approached first. They must have the support of the paper. He gives it, and adds to this financial help at the same time. If a new store open up the proprietor expects a generous amount of free publicity on the opening, and so on and so on.

The local newspaper doesn't mind this, however, just as long as they can do good and be reciprocated in his line by the business man and citizenship that he serves.—Crosbyton Review.

People are funny creatures. Some of them think the way to build a town or community is to try to tear down somebody else's proposition. This cannot be done. Towns are built by co-operation and Miami will go forward just as people stand together on matters pertaining to the development of the communities around her.—Miami Chief.

Crime does not pay. C. C. Julian, ex-millionaire defrauder from Oklahoma, fills a pauper's grave in China. Samuel Inault, a man without a country, awaits in Greece to be deported to this country to answer for the collapse of his huge scheme, which defrauded thousands of their earnings. When men approach you with glowing descriptions of "easy" money and sure profits, consult your banker. Enterprises which are sound are usually financed without difficulty; the doubtful ones employ high pressure salesmen to extract coin from the unsuspecting ones.—Canyon News.

As Spring Brings April Showers

They were beautiful... and not dumb, this trio of young lambs which sought shelter as the April showers began to fall. An old umbrella in the yard caught their attention and, knowing what it was for, they calmly kept their tails dry. Spring, beautiful Spring.

—and the Worst is Yet to Come

WOMAN'S COLUMN

(BY JEANE SUITS)

Whew! but its plenty hot today and 'ole sol is really beaming down upon we poor defenceless natives. The only thing we can do about it is to grip and endure, but after all, we always have something sarcastic to say in regard to the weather and what pleases one displeases another and thus goes the Human race. I don't blame the weather man for a thing he does for more than likely even I might do the same or even worse!

Readers, no fooling, this feeble brain of mine almost refuses to function today and the high boss is hollerin' for "more copy." I've been sitting here at this typewriter like a bucket of water for the last thirty minutes and as to yet this is the sum and total of my accomplishments! One thing hindering my mental power is the fact that over the week end I was presented a new desk and a brand spankin' new office to put it in and for that reason I don't seem to be able to center my mind on anything but sliding around on the top of this sleek desk and every thing! Its really a dilly, you must come up and see it some time, any old time, and perhaps I'll let you go slidin' too.

While driving around our little village the other day I noticed the fruit trees were in full bloom in red, pink, yellow, and white and really they made a lovely picture for anyone with an eye for beauty. Once again I envied the true artist who paints any scene he desires at a moments notice for artist brushes, easels, oil paints and he are all one and the same. Such beauty as I saw only lasts through the spring season but the artist's vision of it will linger for years and years even unto the darkest winter days. Even if I were a poet I could describe the magnificent blend of colors and their reaction upon me, but as it is, I can only see and admire for a few brief weeks. Oh, I guess only a few are gifted with such talents and the remainder of us can do nothing but read after the poets and admire the artists just as I'm doing now. Consolation comes to us through the fact that being a good reader and observer is 98 per cent of the battle.

Well, pack your lunch, don your hiking clothes, and lets be off on the first picnic of the season. Such weather as we've been having this week inspires one to get in the great out-doors once again by eating, sleeping, and playing under the moon and stars. "Back to nature" seems to be the universal cry this season as we long for the great open space. This time of the year is a great opportunity for all botanist and nature lovers who revel in the study of flowers, trees, herbs, butterflies, and birds. If you see someone with a hand net dashing from one flower to another never fear, tis' only a nature lover chasing a butterfly and if my any chance you encounter an intent figure bending over small shrubs, its a botanist observing the growth and nature of the plant. I'm telling you all of this so in case you do meet such people you will not turn them in for escaped lunatics! Remember, tis' only the season of the year that makes them behave in such a queer manner.

The little sister cried, "You Got Me in the Palm of your Hand" while being spanked by her mother.

THE GRAIN TRADING CODE

The president's signature of the code of fair competition on the grain exchanges brings to an end the present of the long agitation for the correction of evil of the system of trading in the basic grains. Representatives of the grain trade and experts of the Government believe that the code tends to end objectionable practices unobjectionable in themselves, while protecting the hedging market for the farmer's grain.

Under the code the minimum margin for open trade is 10 per cent of the market price, and after Aug. 1, an additional 15 per cent on all trades in excess of 2,000,000 bushels. Thus big trading, of the sort likely to influence the market, is subject to a 25 per cent margin requirement. These minimum provisions do not attach to trade for hedging or "spreading" operations. The intention is to protect legitimate speculation in futures, while suppressing harmful speculation. A supervisor is provided under the business conduct committee of the exchange, who will have among other duties the job of examining trades to determine whether they are actual hedging operations. A code authority of seven members, no two representing any one exchange, will have general administrative power under the code.

An object of the code is to protect useful speculations in futures, while eliminating the use of the exchanges for mere gambling in grain. Like much of the administration economic program, it is frankly and admittedly an experiment. If gambling is suppressed, it will drive off the exchanges two elements usually antagonistic to the "professional" speculator and the "public". An analysis last year of dealings on the Chicago exchange brought out that the "public" is almost invariably on the short side of the market. The "public" is composed of thousands of little gamblers in grain. The little man commonly does not understand the intricacies of short selling. Either he stays out altogether or he comes in to buy. The same is true of security exchanges. The "public", therefore, constitutes a normally strong influence for higher prices, through thousands of small buys. It is gambling, of course, precisely a "professional" operation is. The "public" sells hysterically, however, when a continuous slump in prices occurs, accentuating the decline.

Limiting trading on grain exchanges to the legitimate purpose of the grain business is highly desirable—and at the same time highly experimental—Star Telegram.

THIS SPINACH IS NEWS!

Spinach is an old story in the Spring and cheese balls are an old story the year round, but spinach and cheese balls are new. Press the moisture from 1 cup cooked spinach and mix well with 1 beaten egg, and 1 cup soft bread crumbs. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 table-spoon melted butter, and a dash of allspice. Stir in one cup grated Parmesan cheese, form into balls, dip in little flour or sifted crumbs and cook in mazola heated to 385 degrees F. or hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 40 seconds.

The Great Smoky Mountains have had that name so long that historians do not know who originated it or when.

Left-over biscuits, rolls or corn bread may be cut into strips and toasted until well browned and then served with soups or salads.

Fat, in which doughnuts or similar foods have been fried, can be cleared by stretching cloth across the top of a jar and pouring the warm-melted fat through it.

begins where your Telephone is made

The men and women who furnish your telephone service here could not do their job so well without the help of Western Electric Company, supply unit of the telephone service.

SKILLED WORKMEN at the lathes and furnaces of Western Electric Company turn raw materials from the far corners of the world into the 100,000 delicate parts and appliances needed for the telephone service.

These parts are sold to the 24 operating companies of the Bell System—of which the Southwestern Company is one—at a cost that, as a proven fact, is below what they would have to pay in the competitive market.

Western Electric, the purchasing and manufacturing agent of the Bell System, is one of a specialized group of organizations that plays an important part in giving you a good telephone service at a fair cost.

This policy has been chosen deliberately as the course that will in the long run prove soundest for the telephone company. We believe that in an organization planned like the telephone service for the long pull, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the policy that will bring us the surer, more certain success. Attractive Apron Frock Pattern 8166—Here is a most satisfactory apron dress. In each of its details of design a thought for beauty and a thought for use are given. The long lines, slashed sleeves, and sash tied in a bow all combine to make it becoming to the wearer. Also the dress is so constructed as to be possible to open out flat for ironing, making it unusually useful and practical.

A polka dot, paisley, checked, or checked or striped, sprigged, plaid, gingham, floral print cottons of any sort lend themselves readily to the making of this wrap around frock.

—Rusabout Suit—

Pattern 8139—At last we have found the perfect design for that really all-around useful suit which is sometimes called the troteur suit—perfect, to the last detail, and beautiful beyond belief. Make it up in pastel tweed, such as elusive pink or new dawn green or a herringbone pattern in deep tan color or rich smoky grey. It is equally attractive in silk, either figured or plain, or linen, gingham, or pique for summer. With any of these materials the cleverly simulated blouse may be made in white for striking contrast.

Some women have the idea that hustle and bustle are a necessary part of modern life. They are mistaken. One gets more work done by systematic planning, and there's less strain on the nervous mechanism.

Women with jumpy nerves and tired bodies won't find much beauty help in cosmetics. They grow wrinkles, suffer from disturbances or malnutrition, awaken feeling haggard in the morning, wear a woe begun before breakfast face. Ease up, hustlers and bustlers. You'll stay young longer.

Women who enjoy a good lively argument can start one by mentioning eye shadows. The conservative old-time stand-pattern are dead set against them, but the gals who skip along in the vanguard of the beauty parade are keen about 'em. Sideline sitters believe it is right if you shadow and right if you don't; every ducky to her taste.

Fresh alcohol spots on furniture may be repaired easily by vigorously rubbing the spot with the finger. The surrounding softened varnish will spread over the bare spot and cover it.

A few drops of turpentine, if poured into the water in which wash ink is to be done, will loosen the dirt in the clothes and whiten them.

When washing materials that are likely to run observe the following rules: Black materials may be set by rinsing in clear water into which has been poured a large quantity of vinegar. Purples and blacks will also be preserved by the use of vinegar. Alum water, two ounces to a tub of water, will keep greens, blues, and reds, and rods and pinks from fading.

There are three ways to tell when scales don't by testing it with a straw, or by pressing the top with the finger—when it springs back in to place it is done; and it is obviously done when it shrinks away from the sides of the pan.

To clean brushes put a teaspoonful of cloudy ammonia in a half pint of water and dip the bristles downward into the water and out again repeating till they look clean. Rinse in cold water, shake well and set to dry in the sun—not by a fire.

Hadja says the title given to any Mohammedan who made the pilgrimage to Mecca.

Charges Communism

GRAY, IND. . . . Above is Dr. Wm. A. Wirt, educator, who charged the Roosevelt "Brain-Trust" with Communism in a letter read by James H. Rand, Jr. Dr. Wirt says he will reveal the names of the brain-trust whom he accuses of plotting to undermine the government, when the welfare of the country demands gressively decrease. But it is shown also, in 1929, that when the crop was short enough to reduce the carryover temporarily, prices immediately responded with an advance to the level adjusted to reduced carryover.

These facts furnish the most complete justification for the Administration's cotton reduction program. The reduction contemplated is often misunderstood, and misrepresented, to mean bringing American production below the normal volume wanted by the world. What it actually means is a reduction for the purpose of wiping out the surplus of production above world needs of our cotton, which surplus has been built up through a period of years and which acts at this time to no other purpose than to beat down the price of American cotton below its intrinsic value.

Whatever be justly said in opposition to compulsory reduction of acreage—the method selected for putting into effect the Administration's plan for getting rid of the surplus—it may be said that any other plan is most likely to fail. Thus if the purpose is good and necessary, the method is automatically vindicated.

The eventual purpose of the reduction program is to increase the return to the grower. But this is not to be done by producing an artificial famine. It is to be done by eliminating the influence, at least temporarily, of past years of overproduction. If this increases foreign competition in cotton production, it can not be helped. It would be unwise to refuse to help ourselves simply because in doing so we might help others—Star Telegram.

Anything new in the paper today, George?

No, my dear—just the same old thing, only happening to different people.

But how do the police spot a man who is on the wanted list?

I passed a milliner's shop without looking in at the window.

CONVINCING FIGURES

The Houston Chronicle reports Congressman Mary Jones' summary of the cotton problem in statistics of carryover and price. Mr. Jones recently pointed out that:

In 1925 the carryover was 1,439,400 bales; the price was 22 cents a pound.

In 1926 the carryover was 503,800 bales; the price 19 cents.

In 1927 the carryover was 400,000 bales; the price 12 1/2 c.

In 1929 the carryover was 2,400,000 bales; the price 16 cents.

In 1931 the carryover was 4,300,000 bales; the price 9 1/2 c.

In 1932 the carryover was 2,200,000 bales; the price 5 7/8 cents.

In 1933 the carryover was 9,400,000 bales; the price 6 1/2 c.

These figures show that such figures it would be foolish to deny the exact relation between carryover and price. As the carryover increases, the price drops, and as the carryover is reduced, the price rises. This is a very definite law, and it is the only way to increase the price of cotton.

Floydada Steam Laundry

Thousands have Ended their Bowel Worries by taking this advice!

Can constipation be safely relieved? "Yes" say medical men. "Yes!" say the many thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not likely to cure your constipation with salts, pills, tablets, or any of the habit-forming cathartics. But you can correct this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. The dose can be measured, and the action controlled. Pills and tablets containing drugs of violent action are hard on the bowels.

If there are children in your household, don't give them any form of laxative, but use a healthful, helpful preparation like Syrup Pepsin. Its very taste will tell you it is wholesome, and agreeable to the stomach. Delightful taste, and delightful action; there is no discomfort at the time, or after. Ask your druggist for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, all ready to take.

First: select a properly prepared liquid laxative. Second: take the dose you find suited to your system. Third: gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving of their own accord.

Simple, isn't it? And it works! The right liquid laxative brings thorough bowel action without using force. An approved liquid laxative, one which is most widely used for both adults and children is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, and is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna—a natural laxative. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help, as in the case of mineral drugs.

What Feeders, Buyers and Sellers Are Doing

South Texas furnished the top load of yearlings on the Fort Worth market Monday. They came from Reeves Brown of Mathis and sold at $6 for heifers and steers. Brown is not an extensive feeder but he markets 2 or three loads each year and usually they top the market.

The South Plains country supplied the market with a number of loads of yearlings and cattle on the 2-year-old order Monday. Popular prices ranged from $5.50 to $5.75.

decks of lambs were trimmed up Friday by Art Boswell, salesman for Cassidy-Southwestern Commission Company, for shipment from Littlefield, where George L. White and P. W. Walker have fed around 5,000 lambs this year. They have only a few cars unsold.

W. L. Harrison of Stamford has about 2,000 lambs unsold from his Winter feeding. He is planning to ship them within a few days.

Some lambs in the Slaton feed pens will be ready for shipment in about two weeks.

Feeders have had very satisfactory results from their sheep feeding this year. The weather was favorable and gains and prices were satisfactory.

R. F. Dickson, superintendent of the Spur Experiment Station, has tentatively selected May 4 for the nineteenth annual Spur Experiment Station's feeder day. This is one of the most important occasions of the year to the cattlemen and draws visitors from all over West Texas. Beef specialists from Texas A. & M. College and Texas Tech will attend as well as number of county agents and members of the feeder-breeder association.

At the third annual auction of the Eastern New Mexico Hereford Breeders Association at Roswell recently 100 bulls sold at an average of 102. Top price for the auction was $325, this being paid for two animals. One was consigned by O. M. Hedgecoxe of Caprock N. M., and sold to W. H. Corn of Roswell; while G. B. Armstrong of Roswell purchased the other consigned by L. O. Hudson, Melrose, N. M. A club calf show was held at the same time as the auction and 17 calves averaged $11.20 a hundred pounds.

Winston Bros. of Snyder sold a short time ago 10 yearling bulls to O. B. Holt of Midland and 30 yearling bulls to T. J. Meriweather, Alpine.

Harrie Winston of Snyder, who recently was elected president of the Texas Hereford Association, says conditions in that section of the State are much better than last year. There is a good season in the ground. Grass is coming and cattle have wintered unusually well. Winston is planning an active campaign in the interest of Hereford cattle as part of his duties as president of the Texas association. The organization is out of debt and an effort will be made to enlarge the membership during the year.

Sweetwater will be the location for the Midwest Fat Stock Show on May 15 and 16. About 125 calves are being fed by 4-H Club boys and vocational students for the show. The Nolan County Hereford Association will hold an auction of registered animals at that time.

E. P. Neblett & Sons, Sweetwater, sold three bull calves to P. V. Cartwright of Alpine.

stock yards at Ft. Worth, some of the big cattle buyers from the north are waiting to make purchases of feeder cattle until they see what is done about the processing tax under the cattle relief program put into effect by the Jones-Connally bill.

Fred Snyder of Lubbock has been buying some cattle the past 10 days and has been looking over a number of others with a view of making further purchases. He fed about 5,500 cattle this year. Most of them are about ready for the market.

Koma & Company will present in person the great Ray Fuji, who has appeared in the largest cities in the world during the last twenty five years as a head liner on various circuits, one of the most important being the Orpheum Circuit. Fuji walks on his head and does many other balancing tricks. He is a native of Japan and the last of the famous Fuji family. In his repertoire he includes walking up stairways on his head and balancing himself upside down on the small end of a bottle. One of his big thrills is balancing himself on local building reading a newspaper.

Koma, the man of mystery, presents an amazing and bewildering array of magic and scientific wonders of which you have never dreamed. Koma invents almost every effect he presents.

O La La, the Brazilian Nut, will also be present adding nonsense comedy and laughter to the program.
