Entered April 14, 1902, as second class matter at the postoffice at Lockney, Texas, by act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Beacon will be corrected gladly upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

The average boy today is constantly looking through the window into what he thinks is a magic world. Nearly all the adventure left for him lies in the field of business or the professions. He wants to make something of himself, to achieve something—and often he is not so very clear in his mind just how he is to set about it.

Lockney early risers notice that the sun is getting higher every day—and that most everything else is, too.

Investigators say that milk can be kept in cold storage indefinitely. That's where most of the "milk of human kindness" seems to be.

"BRAIN JEWELS" FROM OUR EXCHANGES

A man who can lose and win it as tho he had won with a big majority is the kind of man that all people admire.—The Jayton Chronicle.

One of the most devastating things that can happen to a friendship is to discover that an act of supposed kindness was motivated by a subtle imposition of selfishness. It may remain under the flowerbush of synthetic smiles, but the friendship is stabbed and faith drains away into the thirsty dust of time.

To sell a product an advertiser must enter the home. He must make that personal contact which is so vital in the sales field. If he or his agents were to call upon every family in a community he would be confronted with a tedious, disagreeable, thankless and impossible task.

over the world. Thousands of communities now have a "Youth Recognition Day" and other events of this period. No more profitable enterprise could be conceived. Those who share in this program are true servants of our community's best interests. To be indifferent to it is to fail to recognize where our own advantage lies.

The newspaper does away with this roundabout task. It reaches the home. It is read. The advertiser who wishes his product to be come known is fully aware of the advantages of the daily and weekly newspaper.

Though the advertiser may be a stranger to the potential consumer, the newspaper is not. It is part of the consumer's life. He has learned to rely upon it as a reliable source of news.

The Senate has certainly put things in a mess; by the refusal to pass the President's relief measure, most of the governmental agencies in the way of relief are running on credit, with the promise to pay if and when congress finally acts.

We are out "gunning" for those editors that "writ" those beautiful editorials about Sandstorms. Last week we swallowed and inhaled so much sand our throat was like a horse-shoe rasp and Saturday we piled up in bed with a good case of tonsillitis and suffered untold agonies for three days.

There is one answer, as Washington sees it, to Huey Long and Father Coughlin—and that is a return of prosperity with the re-employment of many of the idle. Until that comes either this pair or others of their type who promise the people in glowing terms, things that must be accomplished, will continue to have their follow ing.—The Claude News.

Easter will be coming in a few days with her new spring duds her dyed eggs, her flowers, her music. But it is probable that Easter will not be coming on the wings of reverence for the One whose resurrection the holiday is supposed to commemorate. All our holidays, even those which honor outstanding religious occasions, have degenerated largely into pleasure periods.—The Scurry County Times.

There are some men around Lockney who think that any road that leads to success must be the road that leads away from their relatives.

WEST TEXAS NEWS BITS

With fifteen counties competing, Lynn county won second place in the Canned Meat Division of the Quality Meat show in Lubbock last week. Lubbock county won the first prize, Hale county the third, Hockley fourth, and Jones fifth.

The City National Bank of Colorado had over a million dollars on deposit at the close of business March 4, statement made public by the institution in response to call by the Comptroller showed. The bank is shown to be in a most stable condition.

The annual banquet and business meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society has been set for April 12 at Canyon. James C. Swift of the Swift and Henry Livestock Commission company, Kansas City, will be the principal speaker on the banquet program.

The County Wide News of Littlefield will henceforth be under new ownership and management, a deal having been consummated this week between O. D. Carter, who has owned and managed this growing publication for nearly a year past, and J. A. Price, who comes here from Georgia and Mississippi, where he has been spending the winter months, but who is a former publisher of papers in Texas, Colorado, Iowa, North Carolina and Michigan, and brings the benefits of a wide experience to Littlefield.

Mr. Gurrie Bob Hardin, Rural Route Carrier, on Route 1, out of Claude to Washburn, is probably the only man in Armstrong County that owns and flies a Monoplane.

Mr. Hardin formerly owned and piloted a J 5 Moreland Monoplane which carried about 2,800 pounds. He traded this and now has a Monocoup, 2-passenger plane, which he flies with the greatest of ease.

A male quartet of Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene presented a sermon in song at the Lubbock First Baptist church at 8 p. m. Sunday. The boys were James Redden of Valera, first tenor; Payne Hathcock of Abilene second tenor; James Rosser of Abilene, baritone, and Gordon Suits of Tahoka, bass.

G. B. Sandefer, manager of the Hardin-Simmons university Cowboy band, is now in New York making final arrangements for the European tour sponsored by the organization this summer.

Leaving Texas June 16, the Cowboys and their party will spend four weeks in five countries on the continent. England, Switzerland, Holland, Germany and France. With one of the lowest rates ever made for such a trip many Texas are expected to join the party.

With Fred P. Rattan at the helm, the Tiger Band of the Snyder High School is getting ready to enter the state and district contests. The bandster, Rattan, presented concerts recently at Roscoe and Hobbs, along with the one-act play that has over-run the country with good laughs.

SOUTHERN SENATORS MAY ASK CONTINANCE OF 12c COTTON LOAN

WASHINGTON — Chairman Smith of the Senate agriculture committee said after a conference with Secretary Wallace that southern cotton Senators may initiate legislation, for continuation of 12 cents a pound government loans on cotton.

Smith also said he would confer with Chester C. Davis, the farm administrator, on a proposal for the government to buy back 250,000 bales of "actual physical cotton" which was disposed of by taking futures in its stead. "I don't think the government should hold cotton futures against spots," he declared. The cotton, Smith said, is part of the 1,500,000 bales by the old farm board.

The happiest people in any community are the ones who married and never got over it.

COMMON CAUSE OF BALDNESS

One of the chief causes of premature grayness, falling hair and ultimate baldness is lack of circulation in the scalp. To overcome this and bring an abundant supply of blood to nourish the hair roots, massage scalp at night with Japanese Oil, the antiseptic counter-irritant. Thousands of men and women report amazing results in stopping falling hair, growing new hair on bald areas and in clearing dandruff and itching scalp. Japanese Oil costs but 60¢ at any drug store. Economy size, $1. FREE "The Truth About the Hair," Write Dept. 36, NATIONAL REMEDY CO., 84 West 45th Street, New York.

The chart illustrates clearly typical example service to which any home is entitled under rate. You will note that the increased service ranges from 48 per cent to, in some cases, 100 per cent. The only requirement is that you use 20 kilowatt-hours than you did last year. Should you use in excess of the allowance, you are provided an exceedingly low cost consumption and the benefits.

A KITCHENKOOK saves both work and time

I'm sorry I have to hurry home but I have to get supper. I wish I could stay and wait a while longer.

Why don't you prepare over-night? Our supper has been cooking while we've been talking. Come on out in the kitchen.

Tell me some more. Does it cost much to operate and how do you light it?

I light it just like a gas stove. And it costs us a little over a dollar a month for fuel for all our cooking.

I also want you to see this. You don't know how good steaks can be until you heat them.

And with that convenient handle you never need to burn your hands.

RELIEF WORKERS WILL SPEND 60 DAYS MAKING TESTS FOR CALICHE IN COUNTY

A total of sixty days work for ten men on the Floyd County relief rolls has been approved by the State Relief Commission for exploration on favorably located farms for deposits of caliche which may be used for road beds in the construction of U. S. Highway No. 70.

The work was begun this week. County Administrator Edwin Heald said, the transportation and supervision being furnished by the State Highway Department.

Farms adjacent to the highway will be explored, where the owners will permit, and the usual procedure, it was said, is to contact the owner for possible contract in uncovering the caliche deposits and using them, should construction of the road be started and the material be found advantageous for use.

LIBERTY NEWS

The Church of Christ Sunday School was well attended Sunday the 2 new teachers will take their classes next Sunday. Mrs. Glin Watson will teach the word class and Mrs. Bobbie Slane, the Junior Class.

We have singing and prayer meeting on Wednesday nights.

The subject will be on prayer this Wednesday night, we hope every one, will come and help with the singing. Everyone should want to learn more about the Bible and how to sing.

There was a singing at Mrs. T. E. Lester's Sunday evening. Every one enjoyed the singing.

The Church of Christ people have planned an all day service Easter Sunday.

Brother Priba of Lockney will be here that afternoon to preach. We hope to have a program that day. Everyone is invited.

Broth S. C. Bailey will hold a meeting at Liberty in August the same time he was here last year.

CCC WILL ENROLL 4,986 TEXAS BOYS

Authority to enroll 4,986 Texas boys in Citizens Conservation Camps, bringing the total to about 14,000, has been received by Neal E. Guy, enrollment supervisor for Texas.

County relief administrators will be notified to instruct select ed boys to report to recruiting stations between April 17 and 23.

It was estimated that the new enrollment for the usual six months' period with opportunity for re-enrollment for an additional six months would remove 5,000 Texas families from relief rolls by June 1.

Guy said approximately 2,725 recruits would be sent to camps in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming, the remainder go to the 55 camps in Texas.

DISTRESSED SCHOOLS WILL SHARE IN RELIEF FUNDS

It is expected that 42,000 public schools, which faced closing because of insufficient funds to pay their teachers, will be kept open this spring with money provided under the $4,880,000,000 public works measure.

While the amendment providing $40,000,000 specifically for that purpose was thrown out in conference between Senate and House, Representative Buchanan of Texas, chairman of the House appropriations committee, gave assurance that the schools will be taken care of under the $300,000,000 fund roughly earmarked for "professional and white collar" relief.

An expert suggests that raising bees will help the farmer. It's a good idea. The farmer is so used to being stung with everything he tries that a few more stings won't make any difference.

WOOL, MOHAIR MARKETS ACTIVE IN WEST TEXAS

San Angelo, April 9.—Wool and mohair markets both moved actively in West Texas the first of the week with a 2 cent increase in the price of the latter as the result of purchases made last week by representatives of Studley & Emory of Boston.

Studley & Emory is estimated to have purchased 400,000 pounds of mohair at 18 1/2 to 20 cents a pound for the grown hair and 30 cents for the kid clips.

Wool is selling in a range of 16 to 21 1-2 cents, but a top of 22 cents was paid for two cars at San Marcos recently.

TEXAS UTILITIES CO. ANNOUNCES NEW DEPARTMENTURE IN ELECTRIC RATES

Series Of Statements Planned To Set Out Benefits Every Home May Have

Ahead of the times the Texas Utilities Company announces in this issue the introduction of a new departmenture in electric rates for residential service. Our information is that this particular announcement is the first of a series of statements planned by the company in order to set out fully the benefits which every home may have by studying the rate's possibilities.

For many years engineers in and out of research laboratories have succeeded in eliminating any doubt that electric current had an unsurpassed value for numerous convenient and economical applications. The simple ease which homes have today in the use of current has long since passed any experimental stage. In this section facilities by which generation and transmission of electric current have been made generally available by the Texas Utilities Company lies a fact quite often overlooked by the average user.

While engineering achievements and economical costs are admitted on all sides, a considerable effort has been made by various agencies to emphasize the adaptation of electricity in the direction of a broader contribution to the social well-being of the home. This trend is one of undoubted merit. In the field of home lighting, useful house-hold appliances, refrigeration, cooking, air-conditioning, and what have you, the possibilities are practically unlimited. The area is fortunate in that a company has for twenty years in this section both in good times and bad made its contribution along such well-defined lines.

Perhaps one of the best means to determine where added current at no greater cost could be profitable used would be to make a room to room analysis of the present lighting conditions. In the application of the "Ultimate" rate we understand the increased cost is little, if any, for a much larger use of current. An attitude of thinking that your present use of kilowatt hours is ample might have a tendency to minimize the influence at work over the whole country to put in the American home the widest, fullest use of this household servant.

Giving Grandma and Grandpa $400 a month under the Townsend act will solve one problem. The grandchildren won't be clamoring for jobs.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR FATHER OF MESSAMES, CONNIE DAVIS AND JOE ANDERSON

The following clipping is from the Alvarado Bulletin in reference to the death and burial of J. C. Brooks, father of Messames Connie Davis and Joe Anderson, which occurred after an illness of but a few days. Mr. J. C. Brooks passed away at a hospital at Cleburne shortly after 5 o'clock Monday morning. He was active until a short time before being taken to the hospital for treatment.

James Cannon Brooks was born in Itawamba County, Miss. on Jan. 27, 1856, and grew to maturity there. On June 18, 1876, he was united in marriage with Pollie Ann Stockton in Lockney, Texas, and they came to Lockney more than 40 years ago, having resided in this community since. The widow, survives, and the 60th wedding anniversary would have been reached next year. Surviving sons and daughters are H. C. Brooks of Guthrie, Okla., Mrs. Eunice Hudson of Lockney, Mrs. E. J. Anderson of Alvarado, I. B. Brooks of Alvarado, and Mrs. Fred Dickman of Houston. Also, there are 13 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

For the past 20 years, or more Mr. and Mrs. Brooks had resided in Alvarado, after he retired from active work on the farm, and he was well known throughout this entire community. He was a man of sincere honesty and deep religious conviction and there was, perhaps, no better informed Bible scholar in this community. He was a member of the International Bible Student Association.

Funeral services were held at Cahill Church at 3 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon with the pastor, Rev. H. J. Sanders, in charge, assisted by Rev. Ed Telcamp of

A large gathering of friends of Mr. Brooks, and of his family, assembled for the rites and the floral offerings were numerous, attesting to the high regard in which this good man and fine citizen was held by all who knew him.—Alvarado Bulletin.

NINE MONTHS OLD BABY UNDERGOES OPERATION

Mr. J. F. Copeland and wife were called to Lubbock Tuesday where an operation was performed on the nine months baby of Mrs. Celia Martin, their daughter. So unusual was the operation that doctors and nurses gathered in to see it. The small intestine had followed around into the large one twenty two inches and was extricated with great difficulty and danger, the child being on the table thirty minutes. So great was the shock the surgeon held out little hope for life. He said four days must pass before the babe could pass the danger line. Its unusual vitality is his hope.

40,000 COTTON CURE CONTRACTS SENT IN

Cotton reduction contracts for 1935 for 37 Texas counties, totaling more than 40,000 signers, have been forwarded to Washington in the past two weeks by the State Cotton Allotment and Review Board.

A. L. Smith, chairman, in making the announcement said an increase of more than 4,000 signers over the past year is shown in the counties whose contracts have been turned in.

Only 4 per cent of the contracts received have been sent back to counties for correction, he said.

New RFC Director

WASHINGTON... Herbert D. Stephens, former U. S. Senator from Mississippi, has been appointed a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

"GOT ANY CORN?"

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 8.—A farmer who had applied for an emergency feed and seed loan was being examined by Mrs. Jeannie Willis, who handles such matters. She was asking him about seed stores on his farm.

"Any wheat?" she asked. "No," was the reply. "Any oats?" "Any corn?" "More'n a gallon," returned the applicant, seriously.

If the liquor people hire so many wine testers why can't the radio people afford to hire a few joke smellers?

No wonder Lockney people had more religion in the old days. The colder the weather the easier it was to start the horse.

Lowell Williams, who has been ill at his home for the past three weeks was removed to the Lockney Clinic Tuesday where he underwent a minor throat operation. He is resting well and is expected to improve rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lundgrun and two children, of Pyote, returned to their home Monday after spending several days here guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Connie Davis.

Mrs. Connie Davis and Mrs. Joe Anderson returned Saturday night from Alvarado, Texas where they attended the funeral of their father, who passed away about ten days ago.

Former Teachers, Trustees and Pupils of School Invited

Friday, April 26, has been designated as Homecoming Day for all former teachers, trustees, and pupils of the Sand Hill School, and special invitations are being issued this week.

All former teachers and trustees are named as honored guests at the all day celebration, but everyone is invited. An old fashioned "dinner on the ground" will be served at the noon hour by Sand Hill people.

Various entertainments in the form of ball games, etc. will be offered. Program plans for the "old timers" are not complete, but the day will be spent in a general get-together. J. T. McLain, member of the school board said this week.

The recently completed Sand Hill School building will be thrown open to the public, and everyone is urged to be present, especially the former teachers and trustees.

Remember the date, Friday, April 26, and make your plans to be at Sand Hill on Homecoming Day!

FRANCE BAKER ASKS JUDGEMENT FOR $75,000 AGAINST BANKERS

Name Seven in Contract Breach Action Filed in District Court At Lubbock

Asking judgement for $75,000, France Baker and his wife filed suit in 99th district court Friday against Sam C. Arnett; E. P. Ellwood and W. F. Eisenberg, executors of the estate of W. L. Ellwood, of DeKalb, Ill., George E. Benson, S. G. Wilson, W. O. Stevens, and Paul Hardwick.

A contract, dated Sept. 7, 1931 in which Baker sold 750 shares of Citizens National bank stock for $75,000, to the late W. L. Ellwood, Arnett, Benson, Stev Wilson, and Hardwick, is included in the Baker petition.

Contract Provisions Cited It was agreed, it was set out that, $75,000 would be deposited in Arnett's name, as trustee, for two years, and that it would be applied in purchase of such notes and obligations as a bank examiner would classify as bad bankable papers. Baker's note of $75,000 to the bank was to be purchased and canceled, it was set out.

After the sale contract was signed Baker resigned as bank president. His stock, it was set out, was to have been purchased as follows: Arnett, $23,000; Ellwood, $25,000; Stephens, $7,500; Benson $5,000; Norton Baker, $5,000; Hardwick, $7,000; Wilson, $2,500. The petition set out that Norton Baker did not receive the stock and made no payments on it.

Alleged breach of the contract is a basis of the suit.—Lubbock Avalanche.

UNDERGOES OPERATION Mrs. Edna Collis of Lockney underwent an appendicitis operation here Sunday. She was resting as well as could be expected hospital attendants said.

SON SHELTON AND ED FOWLER ARE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

"Son" Shelton was somewhat the worse for an accident Tuesday morning at 9:30 in which he and Ed Fowler, together with "Sons" brand new Chevrolet and Ed's almost as new DeSoto, were the principal participants.

The accident happened when Messrs. Shelton and Fowler had an almost head-on collision as they were driving in opposite directions down Sixth street near the home of Clint Griffin. The Chevrolet was badly demolished according to the owner's report, three wheels being torn off and the fenders, radiator and other parts of the body crushed. The greater part of the damage was covered by insurance.

Mrs. Fowler's car was reported not to be seriously damaged and neither of the men were injured except for a few skin injuries and bruises.—The County News, Littlefield, Texas. Shelton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Shelton of

The 1935 Ford V-8 gives you the most economical car to operate Ford has ever built.

Why take less?

FORD has always aimed to make the automobile-buying dollar go as far as possible. This year, the 1935 Ford V-8 gives you traditional Ford low prices, traditional Ford operating economy—and, in addition, riding comfort, body roominess, new beauty and new safety features that will satisfy the requirements of almost everyone.

Consider some of the major improvements in the Ford V-8 for 1935. Take Comfort: From this standpoint alone, what a completely rounded car this is! Comfort Zone Riding that gives "front seat comfort" even to rear seat passengers. Deep cushioned, high-backed, wider seats. Big, air-balloon tires. Easier steering and a newly-designed clutch that responds to the touch of your foot.

Consider safety: There's safety glass all around—on models—at no additional cost. A new, welded all-body. New, more powerful brakes, with an unusual high ratio of braking surface to car weight. And a low center of gravity that gives increased safety and stability on curves!

Why be satisfied to receive less than this for your money? Examine this new 1935 Ford V-8. Ride in it. Realize that it is truly a new automobile value.

SYNOPSIS

Ben Elliott—from "Yonder"—arrives at the little lumbering town of Tincup accompanied by Don Stuart, old, very sick man, whom he has befriended.

CHAPTER I—Continued

Thought of the rules swept the crowd, because Duval was edging to the right. He moved slowly, awkwardly, at the cost of great effort, toward the center of the log. Was he trying one more trick? Not likely. A man under such a strain does not attempt stunts. . . . not fair strategy. As he progressed an inch at a time Elliott countered by also creeping toward the center so his end might not dip beneath the surface.

Both men had their arms extended and Elliott's grin had faded to a sort of curious smile, a speculative alertness. . . . Close and closer they came together and then, as their extended hands were all but touching, Duval suddenly flung his right wrist in a pass at Elliott's left hand.

"Ah, th' dirty—!" But Bird-Eye's high scream was cut short by an ominous roar. The Bull, facing defeat, had overstepped all rules. The slightest touch on the other's body would upset his balance, now, and after Elliott had proven himself above taking what was even recognized as a fair advantage, the last vestige of loyalty to town or whatever it was which had put men on Duval's side was whisked away.

On Duval's face was ruthlessness along with the flush of fatigue and humiliation. He would be the last man on that log, though disqualified for any prize. At any cost he would stay on that log.

But would he? Elliott, a steely quality coming into his grin, retreated until he was out of the other's reach. The log sank beneath him but he did not slow his cadence despite the fact that he ran in water. He loosed the last reservoir of his energy and by the way his feet flickered and clawed and spurned that log one might well have believed that until now he had only played with this crowned king of the log.

Again the Bull sought to strike Elliott's extended hand and missed by inches. His left hand raised jerkily up and up. His body tilted. His great torso was twisting, wrenching at the hips, and, seeing this, Elliott leaped high, came down—rearing, sent water splashing back and forth the length of the stick until with a throaty cry of rage and humiliation, of hatred and jealousy, the great Bull, missing a stride, went sideways and backward, disappeared beneath the surface of the pond with a mighty splash and came up blowing and shaking his black-thatched head.

Hats went into the air, then, along with yips and yells and enthusiastic oaths as Ben Elliott, panting heavily, brought the log to a stop and, hands on his knees, stood blowing and grinning and watched the man whose tickle he had taken swim for the boom sticks.

"There's no place for him here," Brandon said positively. "Come, Stuart, it's almost train time."

"Well, now, say! No place? Suppose a place was made for him a few days? I'd sort of planned on that. There's a hotel here, and I'd be willing to—"

"I don't know you," Brandon interrupted and irritably crept into his voice. "I've never even seen you. I've known this man for years. He's an old employee of mine. This is my affair. I never have others, especially strangers, meddling."

A low whimper came from Stuart and Ben rubbed his chin with one knuckle.

"Yeah, I am butting in, I guess. But . . . You see, the old timer told me a little about you. He's been lonesome a long time, I take it. He's not what you'd call in robust health. I figure that if I was in his shape I'd like to be with a few old friends myself and I—"

In the distance a train whistled and on the sound Brandon's eyes snapped. "I've not time to argue my affairs," he said sharply. "Come, Stuart."

"But, Nick! See . . . here, Nick. . . I'll never get back . . . again. It's lonesome, bein' sick . . . alone, where you can't . . . Nick! You're . . . hurting my wrist!"

He winced from the grasp and on that last shadow of smile went out of Ben Elliott's face, the slightly apologetic look at interfering in a matter which was not strictly his affair passed from his eyes. He put himself squarely before Brandon.

"Let him go," he said quietly, but his look drove hard into those black eyes. The man hesitated and flushed.

"If you aren't looking for trouble," he said, voice edged with wrath, "you'll keep out of this!"

"Fair reason than I know about, let a better reason than I know about, let the old timer alone! Let go his wrist!"

he added sharply, as Stuart winced again. "I'll thank you to keep out of—"

"Let—go—his—wrist, you d—d bully!"

He had grasped Brandon's forearm with both hands, letting his pack slip to the sidewalk. The clutch on Don Stuart's arm loosened. With a snarl Brandon drew back and swung for Ben's jaw. Elliott ducked, swayed forward and bending his supple body caught Brandon about the middle, drove his head into the man's chest, raised a knee to his groin, lifted him from his feet, swung, shoved and flung him free.

With a sharp oath Brandon went down in the half-thawed mire of the street, sprawling ignominiously on his back.

"Well, now! This was something else again. Men had been coming, edging cautiously near during the brief argument between Elliott and Nicholas Brandon. But when Brandon, the man who ruled Tincup and its county, was seen lifted from his feet and tossed ignominiously into the mud, trampled by his horses, stirred by the wheels of his wagons and tractors, the mill . . . Well, then they came a-running!"

Bird-Eye cackled an impudent laugh and turned to watch the faces of the vanguard who came to see their liege lord, sprawled in the mud there, scrambling.

He turned then and fastened a severe gaze on Brandon.

"And you, chum, let him alone!" he warned. "Until a doctor says he can travel, you watch your step with him!"

But Brandon ignored this. He was buttoning his coat, pushing his way through the group, which fell aside respectfully.

"All right, Sheriff," said Ben to that worthy. "Let's go!"

CHAPTER II

Able Armitage, justice of the peace in Tincup, looked over his spectacles into the face of the prisoner before him and a twinkle appeared in his keen blue eyes. He asked:

"Now, young man, you're charged with assault and battery on the person of Nicholas Brandon. Are you guilty?"

From the rear windows of his cluttered little office, Able had watched young Ben Elliott emerge from the stables of a complete stranger to the populace to that of his latest hero by sending Mr. Bull Duval to a dam, and ignominious finish in the log pond.

After that he picked up the log and sent it flying into the pond, and then he came back and not completely satisfied.

He was so occupied either with the musical performance or with his thoughts that he did not hear the tramp of many feet on the walk outside and was unaware that he was about to be called on to function in an official capacity. When the door opened, though, and Ben Elliott, Hickens, the sheriff, and Nicholas Brandon, followed, it seemed by the total male population of the county, surged through the doorway the clarinet's squawking leaped into a shrill squeal and died away. The judge's feet dropped to the floor and he swung his chair to face the entrance.

The sheriff stated his errand, the complaint was drawn, Nicholas Brandon affixed his signature and then for the first time Able looked closely into the face of the defendant.

It was a long and searching look and was met steadily by a pair of clear, steel-gray eyes which seemed, on careful inspection, to be struggling to hold back an expression that might, if permitted to develop, have proved to be a mischievous smile.

Origin of English Toy Spaniel Much Disputed

Retrouse nose, abundant coat and highly intelligent expression—these are the chief characteristics of the English Toy Spaniel, observes an authority in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

There are four classes of English Toy Spaniels—King Charles, Blenheim, Ruby and Prince. Charles, King Charles have a black and tan coat. Blenheim have a red and white coat. Ruby, a solid red and Prince Charles a tricolor coat.

Under an American Kennel club ruling in 1902, English Toy Spaniels were classed together in a general group. Another standard for the breed was adopted by the Toy Spaniel Club of America in 1909.

The origin of the Toy Spaniel is so much disputed that Pug, Maltese, Pekinese, Jap and even the Bulldog have been credited with a share in its ancestry. A cross probably was used to obtain the present short-faced specimen.

Toy Spaniels date back to the sixteenth century. They were in high favor before the restoration of the House of Stuart in England.

Since the days of King Charles, whose name they bear, they have been closely associated with royalty. They reached the zenith of their popularity during the reign of James II, who bred them extensively.

Sensitiveness to Sound

Tests of human sensitiveness to sound show that when a paper bag is exploded near a man's ear, the pressure on his brain increases fourfold, while the rhythmic working of his stomach muscles is slowed down by third.

APPROVED BY THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for April 14

CHRIST THE SAVIOUR

LESSON TEXT—John 3:16-17; Romans 8:16-18; Philippians 2:5-11. GOLDEN TEXT—For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. John 3:16. PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Jesus Came. JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Saviour. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What It Means to Be Saved. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Christ Saves Us.

It is not feasible to consider all the texts proposed by the lesson committee, but it is desirable to select the three suggested to be printed and to introduce several others.

I. The Saviour Predicted (Gen. 3:15; Isa. 9:6, 7).

In connection with the fall of man and consequent pronouncement of judgment upon the woman, the man and the serpent, and the announcement of the undying enmity which was to exist between the seed of the woman and the seed of the serpent, ultimate victory was predicted of the woman's seed. On the cross which imposed the death sentence (John 12:31; Heb. 2:14). In due time the unlawful ruler of the world will be displaced by the coming of the king and the establishment of a universal and everlasting kingdom.

II. The Saviour Born (Luke 2:11, 30, 32).

That which had been predicted was historically fulfilled in the birth of Jesus Christ in Bethlehem. When Jesus was brought to the temple as a child the Holy Ghost revealed to Simeon that Jesus was the Messiah.

III. The Saviour Described.

1. A savior of the lost (Luke 15:3-7). This seeking of the lost is illustrated by the man leaving the ninety and nine sheep and going after the one which was lost, and his rejoicing over his success in finding it. Great, indeed, is the joy in heaven over the salvation of a lost soul.

2. He died for the lost (John 3:14-17). God gave Jesus Christ to die to make an atonement for the sins of the world. As the brazen serpent was lifted up in the wilderness by Moses, so Jesus Christ was lifted up on the cross to draw all that were ready to trust.

3. He knows his own (John 10:14-16). Believers are Christ's sheep, and because they are his sheep, they hear his voice and follow him. He not only knows them personally, but they, in turn, know him. He not only gives unto them eternal life, but holds them in his omnipotent hands.

IV. Some Blessings Received Through the Saviour.

1. Justification (Rom. 5:1-11). The one who receives Jesus Christ is by the living God declared righteous. His guilt is removed and he is given the same standing as Jesus Christ himself. Because of this, the very peace of God settles down upon his soul. He has the assurance of God's love and is able, therefore, to have joy in God himself.

2. Freedom from the power of sin (Rom. 6:1-7). It is not enough, to be freed from the guilt of sin, there must be a dynamic which will enable the believer to live a life of victory over sin. Being vitally united to Jesus Christ in the power of his resurrection life, the dynamic is provided which enables the believer to triumph over sin.

3. He is free from the law as a means of sanctification (Rom. 7:1-6). Christ's death nailed the law to the tree. The one who has been vitally united to Jesus Christ by faith died with Christ. The law, therefore, has no more dominion over him.

4. Victory over the flesh through the indwelling Holy Spirit (Rom. 8:2-6). The introduction of the law of the spirit of the life in Christ Jesus enables the believer to free himself from the dominion of the flesh.

5. Christ is the supreme example to the believer (Phil. 2:5-11). Because the Saviour became incorporated with the race through the incarnation he is able to impart life to those with whom he is identified. Furthermore, because he thus imparts life, the believer is able to make the Saviour his grand exemplar.

The World's Three Evils

The three great evils of the world are impurity, inequality, and hopelessness. The world doesn't know the character of God, therefore it is unclear. The world does not know the love of God and therefore men are not brothers. The world does not know the life of God, therefore men despair alike of the present and the future.

Goes Deeper

Do not prescribe nor is such courtesy as goes no words and gestures.

Indian Visited
Almost 400 years ago Soto visited the town of the North Carolina. Dr. John R. Swanton, reanu of American Ethnology at the Smithsonian Institution's leading authority on Indians of the Southwest, declared the site of the long-lost village has been "rather definitely" located at the site of the old Indian mound near Murphy, N. C. Smithsonian Institution scientists have been excavating the mound, almost certain for weeks it was the situation. De Soto's visit was in 1540. It was described at that time as a town of 300 wooden houses—probably an exaggeration—capital of a province of the same name, where the hungry Spaniards were given a hearty welcome. Its occupants may have been Cherokee, since this was in territory later held by the Cherokee tribe.

The people of this town were visited in 1506 by the Spanish official, Juan Pardo, who "held conference with them in interest of his holiness and his majesty and they replied that they wished to be Christians and have his majesty for their master."

Today the place is marked by a large mound. The excavation was undertaken under the direction of J. D. Jennings, of the University of Chicago, representing the Institution.

Nye's Committee Offers Drastic War-Profit Bill—Austria Decides to Enlarge Its Army—Progress of European Peace Negotiations.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
Western Newspaper Union

SENATOR GERALD P. NYE'S munitions committee, which has spent seven months investigating the doings of the manufacturers of arms and munitions, reported to the senate its measure designed to take the profits out of war and provide for the conscription of industry in the event of another armed conflict involving the United States. The bill is decidedly drastic, giving the President in war time practically unlimited powers to fix prices not only for the products of war but also to license all industry and control raw materials. It also has taxation features that will increase considerable opposition. It would raise individual income surtaxes up to 24 per cent in wartime, levy in excess of $10,000, and seize profits of corporations in excess of 6 per cent return on invested capital.

Hitler will prefer other fields of aggression, and an intensified revision of the map of Europe will be started not in the east but in the west.

PREMIER MUSSOLINI is highly skeptical of the success of efforts to persuade Germany to enter into general peace plans for Europe. In his newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, appeared an editorial, probably written by Il Duce himself, warning his fellow countrymen that no miraculous results may be expected from the conference of foreign ministers in Stresa. It asserted that the western European powers "must stabilize their line of common action against several eventualities which can be foreseen, and they must take definite responsibility."

It then charged that the French and British are impeding Mussolini's wish to take action against Hitler because of their preoccupation about their own internal policy.

Premier Etienne and Foreign Minister Laval of France were reported to have devised a vast, new, flexible plan to organize the peace of the continent within the framework of the League of Nations.

POLAND appears to have decided to play a lone hand in the European embroglio, though she remains friendly to Germany. It is reported that Captain Eden's visit to Warsaw was as disappointing as was that of Sir John Simon to Berlin. The Polish government is determined to sign no pact that would commit the nation to fight for Russia against Germany or for Germany against Russia and France, nor will it permit either German or Russian troops to be transported across Poland. The Polish statesmen say they will sign a series of bilateral pacts, and will go as far as any other nation in parallel disarmament. They assert that they have no alliance with Germany, though their mutual troubles have been settled for the next ten years, and that the alliance with France still holds good.

FROM Tokyo there came reports that the Japanese government is ready to discuss powers that are sought by Hitler. Austria has decided to regard the limitations on its army strength set by the treaty of St. Germain and to increase its army forces immediately. The official communique issued by Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg did not say how big the army would be or whether conscription would be restored. The annual spring parade of the army at the Ringstrasse in Vienna was revived, and the troops appeared in fine new uniforms.

It is believed Hungary and Bulgaria soon will ask permission to increase their armies and re-introduce conscription.

SOVIET Russia is ready to line up with Great Britain, France and Italy in promoting the general European security pact which is the basis of England's plan for peace. This was brought out by the visit to Moscow of Capt. Anthony Eden, British lord privy seal, and his conference with Dictator Josef Stalin and Maxim Litvinov, Soviet foreign commissar. According to the joint communique given the press, these statesmen "were of the opinion that in the present international situation it is more than ever necessary to pursue the endeavor to promote the building up of a system of collective security in Europe as contemplated in the Anglo-French communique of the third of February, and in conformity with the principles of the League of Nations."

It was made clear that Germany and Poland would be welcome to enter the arrangement, but that it would go ahead even without them.

Captain Eden then went on to Warsaw to talk things over with the Poles; and even as he was departing from Moscow the Soviet press launched another fierce attack on Germany. Michael Tukhachevsky, vice commissar for defense, in an article in the newspaper Pravda, declared Germany would have an army of 840,000 by the summer, exceeding the French army by 40 per cent and almost equaling the Soviet army in size.

He charged Hitler with "bulling France to sleep" with anti-Soviet war talk in the hope France would not realize her own peril.

Tukhachevsky's view that Germany contemplates attacking France was supported by an authorized article in the weekly Journal de Moscou which asserted the leaders of the reich realized "the exceptional risk to which Germany would subject herself by invasion of the tremendous territories of the U. S. R.—a country possessing powerful armaments and unlimited opportunities for improving and increasing these armaments."

"It is almost probable," the Journal said, "that under certain circumstances

WHEN the Illinois legislature, at the behest of Governor Horner and the federal administration, passed a state recovery act the New Dealers hailed this as an example that all states should follow. Now County Judge Homer W. Hall at Bloomington has held that the act is unconstitutional. He also declared the national automobile code inoperative as applied to Illinois.

Under the state recovery act, the judge remarked, an unlawful delegation of the authority of the state legislature whereby violations of the state act can be prosecuted by the state only through the sanction and by the authority of the federal director of codes.

THROUGH the efforts of Donald Ribberg, chairman of the NIBB, an agreement was reached by the bituminous coal operators and the United Mine Workers, whereby the prevailing coal code is extended to about half a million miners averted. The present wages and hours work are continued. President Lewis of the miners insisted the union had not remained to the operators; but the fact remained that it had not consented to the agreement Mr. Ribberg could and would have extended the code by executive order.

SCORES of agents of the Department of Justice's division of investigation were carrying on a concentrated search for three men now listed as the worst "public enemies" at large, according to Chief J. Edgar Hoover. The three are: Alvin Karpis, twenty-five, a leader in the notorious Barker-Karpis kidnap and bank robbery gangs; Raymond Hamilton, twenty-two, killer who broke jail while awaiting execution, and Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., twenty-eight, kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, wealthy young society matron of Louisville, Ky.

ONE of America's leading sculptors, Augustus Lukeman, died in New York at the age of sixty-four years. After Borghum was ousted by the Confederate memorial committee in 1925, Lukeman took over the work of carving the huge memorial on the face of Stone Mountain in Georgia, completing it in 1928. He was chief of sculptors at the World's fair in Chicago.

OBEDIENCE alleged directions from the yacht which President Roosevelt was fishing in Florida waters, the majority in the house refused to accept the restrictions injected in the work relief bill and sent it back to conference to have these removed.

The restrictions objectionable to the majority of states at least one-third of the money should be expended for direct labor. The latter requirement, according to Secretary Ickes and others, would result in the exclusion of rural electrification, slum clearance and similar projects.

Defending the move to send the bill back to conference, Buchanan of Georgia said: "The President is assuming responsibility. All we ask is to give him a bill that he can work on in shifting from dole to employment."

In replying to Buchanan, Representative Robert Bacon (Rep., N. Y.) contended that the labor provision was needed in order to "kick out pet local projects" and afford as much direct relief of unemployment as possible.

"Congress has reached a pretty low ebb," declared Minority Leader Bertrand Snell (Rep., N. Y.), "when it can't even pass on a conference report without receiving orders from the Chief Executive."

FOR the second time the United States Supreme court reversed the convictions and death sentences of two of the Scottsboro negroes who were accused of assault on two white girls. The court held that since negroes in Alabama are not permitted to serve on juries, they are denied "equal protection of the laws" in violation of the Fourteenth amendment. It declared the state court erred in not quashing the indictments.

This was a big victory for the colored race, but in another decision by the Supreme court the negroes were the losers. The tribunal ruled that the Democratic party in Texas is a voluntary association, not subject to control by the state legislature, and as such may exclude colored persons from voting in its primaries.

DIRECT negotiations with Italy over the border dispute were broken off by the Ethiopian government, which sent a new note to the League of Nations. Special measures were taken to protect foreigners in Addis Ababa. The Italian government did not take this rupture seriously, still hoping a peaceful arrangement might be reached without the intervention of the league.

NINETEEN cardinals met with Pope Pius in a secret consistory, and to them he delivered an emphatic denunciation of war, which he said, "would be so enormous a crime, so foolish a manifestation of fury, we believe it absolutely impossible." If, however, there is someone who wishes to commit "this nefarious crime," then the holy father said, he could do nothing else than pray to God to "destroy those people who desire war."

The consistory approved the canonization of Blessed Thomas More, King of England's chancellor, and Bishop Fisher of England, who lost their lives for opposing Henry's marriage to the French princess, Catherine of Aragon.

Lays Out Work for Congress

Washington.—President Roosevelt has submitted to congress a list of the legislation he deems necessary to have passed before the present session adjourns. He has divided it into two categories—"must" and desirable. If congress enacts only the list of "must" legislation and passes over the other group of bills which the President considers desirable, it is made to appear that the membership of the house and senate is due to suffer some of the torrid temperature and the uncomfortable humidity of a Washington summer. The President said he must have legislation extending the National Recovery administration, providing social security, eliminating public utility holding companies, increasing the loaning power of the Home Owners Loan corporation, extension of the so-called nuisance taxes which expire by limitation of law on June 30, and revision of the banking laws.

In addition, the President made known that he would like to have enacted legislation to take the profits out of war, whatever that may mean. He previously had sent a message asking enactment of a law providing for expansion of the American merchant marine through the use of ship subsidies, and he also desires to have enacted legislation setting up machinery for the settlement of labor disputes. This legislation is in the congressional hopper in the form of a bill by Senator Wagner, of New York.

The President would like to have amendments to the agricultural adjustment act in order to eliminate some of the weaknesses which the AAA people admit exist. The airmail contract situation is another matter with which Mr. Roosevelt has been concerned.

Seasoned observers recognize that this list of "must" legislation, not to mention the desired legislation, is sufficient to keep congress grinding away far into the summer. They recognize likewise that if the desired legislation later becomes of such concern that the President wants to place it on the preferred list as well, the membership of congress must be prepared to forego summer trips of any kind.

Pets of Their Own

It is to be remembered, as has been reported in these columns, that Mr. Roosevelt is unable to ward off criticism of some of his proposals. Indeed, there have been Democratic criticisms and Democratic opposition to a greater or lesser degree to all of the legislation he has proposed since congress convened last January. All of which is by way of saying that congress faces weeks of committee work and floor debate despite the fact that the house Democratic leaders still retain rather solid control of a sufficient majority in the lower house of congress to drive through any pet measures for the administration. In the senate the situation is decidedly different.

Included in the legislation being fostered by individual members is the bill that would permit cabinet officers to appear on the floors of congress for questioning and explanation, such as occurs under the British and French parliamentary systems. The administration does not want this bill. It will have to exert some pressure to avoid passage. The reason is that the Roosevelt administration is no longer one in which the cabinet is dominant. Cabinet officers are only pawns in the scheme, and if congress wanted to inquire about the handling of relief money, which it probably will desire, it must talk with Administrator Hopkins. Mr. Hopkins is not in the cabinet. The same is true of NRA and to some extent to the AAA, although Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture theoretically is a superior officer to Administrator Davis. The administrator is definitely opposed to the passage of bonus legislation for the former soldiers, sailors and marines and it looks like a Presidential veto will be necessary there. The same is true of inflationary proposals of which there are many. The situation is one, therefore, in which Mr. Roosevelt must be constantly on his guard to prevent action which he does not want as well as being fortified at all times with pressure to put through the legislation he has described as necessary. Thus it is seen he is confronted with many complications which did not disturb him in the first two sessions of New Deal congresses and these complications mean a longer life for the current session.

Let us examine the status of the legislation which the President said "must" be passed. The outlook is something like this:

Some "Must" Legislation
The extension of the National Recovery administration is still far off. Senate hearings are just ended and the house is still further behind. No action can be expected in either body for several weeks. The present law expires June 10.

Recently Mr. Roosevelt sent to congress a very bitter message denouncing public utility holding companies and demanding legislation eliminating them from our economic structure. The house committee considering this legislation is just winding up its hearings and the senate committee which will have jurisdiction has taken no action at all. It must be said that a hard fight is in prospect if and when this legislation reaches the stage of debate because investors in these companies are not going to have their equities destroyed while they sit idly by. These investors are doing more now than just making faces at congress and the volume of letters which members are receiving in opposition to the holding companies legislation transcends anything that ever has happened in the memory of this correspondent.

The banking legislation which Mr. Roosevelt has proposed, or which was proposed for him by Governor Eccles, the New Deal and radical governor of the federal reserve board is faced with opposition equally as bitter and as well organized as that confronting the holding companies bill. Perhaps it can be said that opposition to the banking legislation is even stronger because in that fight the President will be opposed by Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who must be regarded as the most virulent of all the Democrats in the senate. The house banking committee has about finished consideration.

The social security bill about which Mr. Roosevelt has done much toiling, because it is distinctly a reform measure, has finally been re-drafted in the house while senate leadership is unable to get together on any policy respecting it. Some senators who are split up this bill and pass the section providing for old age pensions, allowing the other parts of the bill to die a slow death.

The legislation to increase by $1,750,000,000 the loaning power of the Home Owners Loan corporation probably will move into the senate without much delay. The house passed the bill because it could not do otherwise with individual members realizing that there was a chance that some of this money would go into their particular districts. Included in this bill is a provision that promises a good many hundred jobs for politicians and it is natural that the party in power is not going to overlook this possibility.

There remains on the "must" list, then, only the proposal to extend the nuisance taxes which expire at the end of June. It is probable that the bulk of these levies will be accepted by congress as necessary.

One cannot fail, in tramping around Washington these days, to note the frequent expressions concerning the outlook for the New Deal and for President Roosevelt's personal political future. In fact, some hardboiled observers lately have been heard to say that Mr. Roosevelt is suffering from too much ballyhoo. He was put up on a pedestal that made of him in the eyes of many persons something of a superman. He himself is regarded as having contributed to this condition by his many campaign promises, some of which he has found absolutely impractical as remedies in leading the country out of the morasses and on to a more satisfactory economic plain.

It is still fresh in the minds of men and women throughout the country how President Hoover was over-advertised as a superior person in an administrative way. Mr. Hoover suffered from too much ballyhoo to an extent greater than any other man who has served as President with the possible exception of Woodrow Wilson. When the depression came and the current turned against Mr. Hoover he was utterly powerless. With a recalcitrant congress on his hands and a disaffected people, Mr. Hoover met the fate that must have been expected.

IDEAL FROCK FOR AFTERNOON WEAR

Something different in the way of smartness is this youthful afternoon dress. Its yoke, round in front and buttoning into a chic triangle at the back, points the way to shoulder width, which every style-conscious woman knows is most important this season. The smart bodice is tucked at the yoke-line for flattering fullness. Then, too, the skirt—coming to a nice point above the waistline, back and front—boasts a slimming back seam and kickpleat for extra "back interest." This design would be particularly lovely in metal beaded crepe, either silk or wool. Short sleeves are included with the pattern.

Pattern 9206 may be ordered only if you give your NAME, ADDRESS, PHONE NUMBER and SIZE. Complete, diagrammed Sewing Instructions included. Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighth Street, New York.

Son of Plaids and Checks

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

GOES madly on the rage for checks and plaids. Where fashions are at their smartest these animated patterns are flourishing with all their might, both for day and evening wear. The new plaids and checks are apt to be "all wool and a yard wide" (more likely fifty-four inches) as they are apt to be of washable synthetics, linens or cottons. In fact among the swankiest weaves going you will find linens done in garish, racy plaids which make up too swagger for words—ever so effective for sports wear. Then, too, topcoats of gorgeous plaids are going places where they never went before, for women are wearing them during the daytime hours about town and for travel as well as sports. Some have fur collars and some haven't, but they are that good looking with or without you will be envying the fortunates who possess them. The girl seated to the right in the picture is wearing a model which is styled with latest details, such as the hand-

There are tweed checks galore out on the field of action. They are smart, to be sure, but we must say there is a regular landslide in the direction of the simple little checks as pictured.

It is ever so good style to wear a tweed wool check skirt with a jacket of plain or the reverse. It is smart, too, to top a plaid or check skirt with a colorful suede jacket.

Plaid taffetas for daytime frocks, either synthetic or pure silk are making a grand success of it this season. A shirtwaist dress of plaid taffeta is in the height of fashion. Likewise a one-piece taffeta frock topped with a redingote of wool in navy or black makes an ideal spring costume. Myriads of simple little morning and afternoon dresses, some plain, some with

POULTRY FACTS

OFFICIALLY TESTED CHICKS, EGGS BEST

Poultrymen Are Warned to Watch for Pullorum.

By Dr. Henry Van Hook, Veterinary Department, Massachusetts State College, WNU Service.

In order to insure the health of the poultry flock, poultrymen are urged to buy hatching eggs and baby chicks this spring only from poultrymen whose birds have been officially tested and found to be free from pullorum disease. County agricultural agents and the state department of agriculture can provide lists of poultrymen whose flocks have been officially tested and found free from the disease.

Pullorum disease, also known to poultrymen, as "B. W. D.," is probably the most serious disease attacking baby chicks and causes the loss of thousands of chicks every year. It can be prevented only by starting with hatching eggs from pullorum-clean stock, hatching them under the most sanitary conditions, and always keeping the chicks free from contact with possible sources of infection.

The poultrymen in the state whose flocks have been found 100 per cent free from pullorum disease, have gone to considerable expense and trouble to eliminate the disease from their flocks. These flocks may provide stock of hatching eggs for replacing diseased flocks.

Warning is also sounded against buying chicks from hatcheries which hatch eggs from infected or untested flocks. Chicks from disease-free flocks can easily pick up pullorum infection in the hatchery if any infected chicks are present.

Claims as to freedom from disease may not be reliable, and for his own protection the poultryman should get a list of pullorum-clean flocks and buy his supply of chicks or eggs from one of them.

"Open Front" Plan Good for Airing Hen Houses

The best method of poultry house ventilation is the one that will secure good ventilation without cold drafts upon the fowls, particularly at night, says a correspondent in the Rural New-Yorker. There are many plans for accomplishing this, few of which can be considered here. The "open front" plan is the most commonly used. It consists in having all walls of the poultry building airtight, with the exception of the front one, and the "front" is usually that facing the south or the southeast.

If cross openings are afforded, it will be difficult to prevent cross drafts, whereas if but one side of the building has outside openings, winds cannot blow through. The idea is illustrated by an attempt to blow into a bottle. It is true that a long building with opened front windows may suffer some drafts by permitting air to enter at one end and sweep through to the other. This may be prevented by the use of partitions extending from the rear wall nearly to the front of the room. A common mistake made by those using an open front is to close it up in unusually cold weather, this stopping the interchange of air and bringing about dampness of the interior.

Exercise Unnecessary Exercise, it has been found, is not necessary for laying hens, says the Missouri Farmer. Since eggs are made from surplus, it is logical to believe the less energy expended in exercise the more surplus there will be for the manufacture of eggs. In visiting the hoppers, the watering tank, nests, flying up on roosts and in ranging over the laying house hens in confinement get enough exercise for their daily egg-production needs. This is not true, however, where hatchability of eggs is concerned. Hens whose eggs are to be hatched should be given exercise, particularly some six or eight weeks prior to hatching time. Lack of exercise in breeders makes for weak germs and weak chicks. Breeding hens should be given range out of doors whenever possible.

In the Chicken Yard

Pound for pound a pullet needs four times more oxygen than a cow. Birds which start to lay when very young are likely to produce smaller eggs throughout life than those which start production later.

Young ducks attain weights of about four pounds in from seven to eight weeks. Hen ducks are housed in laying quarters at about six months of age.

It is estimated that close to a billion chicks are hatched each year in incubators.

Only happy, contented hens lay eggs and, in addition to making them comfortable, adequate roosting space will prevent accident by hens being crowded off and injured.

A national survey has determined $45,000,000 is lost annually by the American poultry industry as a result of improper methods of producing and handling eggs.

BOTH HUMOR AND POETRY EVINCED IN PLACE NAMES

The southern mountaineer's whimsical humor is seen not only in some of his songs and hoe-downs but in place names commemorating some jest, some episode more or less grimly comical or tragic—Broke-Jug creek, Tear-Breeches ridge, Chunky Gal mountain, Seldom-Seen hollow Rip-Shin ridge—ouch! How vividly that recalls certain scrambles through stony thickets—Burnt-Shirt mountain, Jerk 'Em Tight, Hanging Dog creek, Headforemost mountain, Bore-Anger creek, Flery-Gizzard creek, the Devil's Courthouse, and so on.

In Cumberland county, Tennessee, two beautiful brawling streams unite whose names are No Business creek and How Come You creek. Undoubtedly there is a story back of each name.

But the mountaineer is often poetic, too, and gracefully descriptive in his place names. The touch of melancholy in his nature is evidenced by the frequent recurrence of such names as Lonesome and Troublesome, Desolation, Defeated, Poor Fork, Kingdom Come, Falling Water and Lost creek are significant names of streams. Crazy Dome, Balsam Cone, the Black Brothers, Lone a Bald Thunderhead, Little Snowbird, Grandfather, Hawksbill, Graybeard and Wine Spring Bald

NAVY AND YELLOW

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

It is good-looking, this girlish frock and hat to match, is it not? It is a film-folk fashion and you know it is smart and advance if it originates in Hollywood, as it has. Ruby Keeler wears it. Attention to its navy and yellow color scheme. Navy for the foundational color with either white, yellow or pink is the talk of town this season. The smart set are carrying out the idea by wearing accessories made of natural toned chamois skin. The dress pictured is of navy wool with accents of canary colored rough-textured crepe.

Turquoise Preferred The turquoise has the preference among evening jewels, appearing especially with white crepes and satins especially with black velvet. Big noise buttons trim a black velvet cut away in front to show a faded undershirt of black tulle.

"SKIMMER" NEWEST WHIM OF HATTERS

The "skimmer" is the newest whim of the hatters, with madness its chief distinguishing charm.

The skimmer is the 1935 version of the pancake sailor which has been with us, off and on, in recent months. Only now it is flatter and crazier and generally more exhilarating than ever. You clap it on the side of your head at whatever angle best suits your current mood, batten it down with a band around the back or even a hatpin, and then go out and join in a sporting battle with the spring breezes.

There is one redeeming feature about the new skimmers. They have done away with the unsightly elastic bands that decorated last spring's version of this particular style of headgear, and have substituted bands of ribbon or felt or straw to match the hat.

New Silhouette Featured by Alix and Schiaparelli

There is much discussion and some difference of opinion expressed concerning the new draped lines which had their most prominent exponents in Alix and Schiaparelli dresses. These influences, variously related to the Hindu, the Persian and the Iranian, are best known in the saridraped togas familiar in Near East photographs. The draping is in a soft, statuesque line, swirled round the body in a continuous movement from ankles to head. Several arrivals consider it a significant new silhouette trend, promising more for later season development. Others are inclined to disregard draping, considering it too extreme.

Spring Accessories Matter of Importance to Fashion

Accessories are going to be matters of prime fashion importance this spring for there are "ginger and snap" in the way they are put together. Here is the way one chic Parisian accents a black and white check suit: Yellow straw hat with black band, yellow blouse and yellow chamois gloves, blue cornflower in the buttonhole, black suede bag and gloves.

Lace With Tweeds Flows of soft lace are being worn with tweed costumes.
