

After fingering so many $50 "baby bonds" Tuesday, I began to wish I'd been born twenty years sooner so I could have "done a little time" for Uncle Sam. Then later I thought again and decided that even though the Vets were exuberant over getting the money, if they had it to do over they would take less praise and prestige and more of peace.

Nectar in classic mythology is the wine of the Gods. In college neckthology it's the wine of the government that makes "nectar" the case of all dates.

Boys are not longer embarrassed by not having enough money for a date's drinks, sandwiches and other nonessentials. They merely say, "Sorry, Toots but I don't have the money for this." Toots thinks nothing of slipping a dollar bill under the table to her football hero. Strange, but it still looks better to the public for the man to pass all money and checks over the counter. While the girl is slyly passing a bill under cover, the same thing is probably occurring at the next table. Ah, such is life in the restaurant of today.

From observant experience the only place of importance for a groom is at the altar on time. Announcement parties, teas, showers and fichu-of-lace affairs are given for the bride-elect for weeks before the I-do-pew ceremony. After the engagement the groom is completely forgotten by all concerned and merely serves custom as an affable background for an iteration of frenzied "shindigs" to celebrate the elected's anticipated captivity. The man in the case, and after all it takes two, doesn't really enter the colorful picture but twice. We get a fleeting glimpse of him at the beginning, the announcement, and at the end, the ceremony where he can exercise all the independence he can muster for all depends upon his presence.

"I'm Going To Pay My Debts As Far As It Goes," Vets. Declared Here Tuesday

World War Veterans receiving baby bonds here this week almost unanimously declare, "I'm going to pay my debts as far as it will go!" Only four or five out of the seventy-seven issued Tuesday afternoon at Frank Perkins' office by Joe McCollum, post-masters preferred to keep their bonds. Most of them wanted the cash, and the quicker the better.

Bonds amounting to $14,000 were sent out of the local post-office to Dallas Tuesday and Wednesday where checks will be made out and sent back to the addressees within a week or ten days. These checks may be cashed at any bank or post office.

Fifteen or twenty more are expected to come within a few days. Mr McCollum advised yesterday. If yours has not arrived yet you may be assured of them coming with this group. Veterans will be notified as they arrive and the boys may call for them personally, as this is the only way they will be delivered.

4-H CLUB RALLY TO BE HERE MONDAY

Speakers from A & M Station and Texas Tech to Lay Plans For Year's Work

"A county-wide boys' 4-H Club rally will be held here at the City Auditorium Monday, June 22, beginning at 9:30 o'clock in the morning," A D Bredthauer, county agent, announced here yesterday.

Speakers from A & M college Station, and Texas Technological College will be here to outline the work of the club for the coming year.

Lunch will be served at the noon hour. The local Legion Post will furnish bread for the group and the city of Lockney will make up a barrel of lemonade to serve. All club members are instructed to bring a fried chicken.

Mr Bredthauer asks that all of the 4-H boys in the county be here to hear the instructions and plans made for the work by the authoritative speakers.

Unofficially, 110 Degrees; Officially, 102 Degrees

Unofficially and according to human temperature the sweltering weather reached a 110 here Wednesday afternoon. But officially the thermometer said only a 102 degrees in the shade.

But that's not the hottest weather Lockney's had this summer if reports are correct. It is said that a 104 degrees was reached Tuesday, June 9, at 12:30 o'clock p m just before the rain and had storm. Later that same afternoon after the hail the temperature had dropped to 70.

Thursday at 1 o'clock p m the thermometer stood at 100 degrees with the heat increasing every hour.

FARM GAS PLANTS PROVE A SENSATION

Rural Homes Can Now Have All City Conveniences

The Farm Gas Plant that is being introduced in this section of the country by Baker Mercan tile Company, is proving a sensation. It gives the rural and ranch home many modern conveniences not heretofore enjoyed such as gas for cooking, heating, lighting refrigeration or for many uses that city gas is used for. It is no experiment; it has been proven successful for several years. It is one of the biggest forward steps for the rural home in a generation.

One of these plants is being installed for the J H Fowler home in the Lone Star community this week, and next week one will be installed for the new farm home of C J Taylor, one and one-half miles northeast of Lockney.

Dr. P C Anders Here

Dr P C Anders of Longview will be here for a few days visiting with old friends. Dr. Anders was connected with the Lockney Clinic when it was first established more than a year ago and prior to that time he practiced medicine here. He moved from here last fall to Longview.

not borrowed on the amount several years ago. The lowest amount was $50. Nearly all payments were in uneven lots, and since the bonds were issued in $50 denominations only a check direct from the United States Treasurer covering the unequal amount accompanied the package.

Floyd County has around 3000 ex-service men who will receive an average of $600, which will amount to something like $183,000 for the entire county.

25TH ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH HELD AT PROVIDENCE

Trinity Lutheran Church, of the Providence community, celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the congregation, on Sunday June 14. A host of friends assembled to help celebrate the joyful occasion with the congregation and its pastor.

The Rev. F T Sager, Rev. F A Brächer, of Fredericksburg, Tex., and the Rev. E A Sagebiel, president of the Texas District of the American Lutheran Church, delivered the messages for the day. The Rev. E Herber, a former pastor, was here to extend personal greetings and congratulations.

Trinity Lutheran Congregation was organized on June 11, 1911. There were nine men who affixed their names to the original constitution. One of these is no longer a member of our church, two have died, two have moved away and the remaining four are still members of our congregation. It was a small beginning for this group of Lutheran pioneers out here on the plains of Texas, but by the grace of God the congregation has grown considerably during the twenty-five years of its existence, there were 103 souls baptized here, 83 confirmed here, 24 weddings and 22 marriages. Our congregation has, at the present time, a membership of 132 baptized souls, 84 confirmed and communicant members, 34 families, and 28 voting members.

On Jan. 1, 1934 Trinity Lutheran Congregation declared itself self-supporting. There the congregation reached a goal for which it had been striving for several years, and of which both it and the entire Lutheran Church can well be proud. The Lord blessed the faithful efforts of a small group, and gathered unto Himself a communion of true believers in Jesus Christ.

The following pastors have served Trinity Congregation since its organization: C Stadler, 1911-1913; A L Weber, 1914-1918; A B Weiss, 1919-1922; A W Weber, 1922-1924; John Flierl, 1924-1927; E Herber, 1927-1934, and the present pastor, F T Sager, since the fall of 1934.

Reecer Hatter and Cleaners To Move Next Week

L L Reecer of the Reecer Hatter and Cleaners purchased a complete new Hoffman-Vorelone dry cleaning plant at Dallas Friday. He expects to install the equipment as soon as it arrives in the building south of the Isis Theatre and be ready for business about the middle of the week.

Ike Moore and Reecer left Thursday and returned Saturday afternoon from Dallas. They also visited the centennial exposition while away.

Mr Reecer will have one of the finest equipped cleaning processes in West Texas when everything is in readiness next week. He will use the Master-Shean cleaning process.

Irrigated Vegetable Tract Is Myth To Natives But a Reality To The Growers

Hundred Acres of Irrigated Vegetables Myth to Natives but Reality to Growers

In an effort to prove to this country that the Rio Grande Valley isn't the only paradise in Texas, two experienced men from Houston have a 120 acres of irrigated vegetables under cultivation, considered as somewhat of a myth to the skeptical natives but a reality to the growers. This experiment is located two miles west of the Aiken school house on the place of C M Smith of Plainview.

Geo. L. Dunnam and G. A. Derigo are the two men who have been in this business of raising and shipping vegetables for twenty-five years are more, but new to this section of irrigation.

Mr Dunnam, who has been here since the first week in May, said here yesterday that tomatoes and cantaloupe will be their main crops. They already have 34 acres of Marglobe variety of shipping tomatoes and 50 acres of Hale's Best variety and Weaver Specials of Cantaloupe that will be ready for the market by August 15.

Wish a 120 acres already planted, they plan to put in 400 more acres of cabbage, spinach, English peas, lettuce, and cauliflower in July and August.

"All of these products will be sold to the Eastern and Southern markets and South Texas," Mr Dunnam said, "with some of our treat, Canada." Those products cantaloupe reaching far in Mon-having to go the longest distance will be shipped by railway and the shorter markets will be reached by trucks.

"At the present time we are planning to make Plainview our shipping point, but some of it will probably be sent from Lockney depending upon the destination of the vegetables." Mr Dunnam explained when asked about possible shipping stations.

Besides the tomatoes and cantaloupe, 15 hands are now working 8 acres of beets, 10 acres of carrots, 2 acres of cucumbers, 8 acres of green beans, and a mixed acreage of squash, mustard, and collards. In July they are going to plant 100 acres of Irish potatoes.

Mr Derigo, who only came here last week, said that he hoped to make such a success with the irrigated garden idea that he could induce other people in this shallow-water belt to try it. Then with several thousand acres under cultivation producing a volume, the big market buyers could be drawn directly into the fields to buy, pack, and ship to places all over the United States.

"I think the irrigation method of controlling moisture here is a marvelous idea with a brilliant future," Mr Derigo answered when asked what he thought about the plan. He is accustomed to cultivating as high as a thousand acres at one time in the Rio Grande Valley and around Houston.

He said, "Of course we are new to this country and do not know the harmful insects and bugs to vegetables but we are only planting small plots of some varieties this year merely to experiment and see what insects do appear. Then next season we will know what we have to combat."

They expressed the fact that they did not have any fear of being able to dispose of their products. They have several connections with large distributing concerns whom they have been selling to for years.

Mr Derigo said that irrigation in this country is pretty well advertised but not nearly so much as it is going to be in the future because of the increasing interest that is being shown around here.

Contributors to leave Subscriptions at the Lockney and Greer Drug Stores

Funds are now being raised by private subscription for work on the Lockney streets. Dr. Conrad Frey who has had charge of the soliciting states "that those wishing to contribute should leave their subscriptions at the Lockney Drug Co. or the Greer Drug Store."

Elbert Harris has been placed in charge of the work which began Thursday. It is thought that the work covering the entire town will be completed in three days time.

This work was started in the hopes that it can be continued until other means are devised.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDS SINGING

Singing to be Held Once a Month at City Auditorium in the Afternoon

A record crowd unexcelled by any since the Panhandle-Plains singing convention here last summer, attended the Northside Floyd County semi-annual singing Sunday at the City Auditorium which was more than filled to capacity.

After several hours of enjoyable singing luncheon was served from the baskets brought by the members.

Since there seemed to be so much enthusiasm about the singing conventions this year, it was decided that a singing would be held at the auditorium the second Sunday afternoon of each month. The next one will be Sunday, July 12, and all of the singers in the county are invited. This affair is not to be especially for the Northside but will take in the whole county. Joe McCollum, local director, extends an invitation to all who enjoy singing.

BASEBALL GAME HERE SUNDAY

Local Club Defeated By Amherst 11-6 in Game Sunday

The Lockney Baseball club is scheduled for a game with Quitaque here Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in the third game with that club. Lockney has defeated the Quitaque club in two of these games.

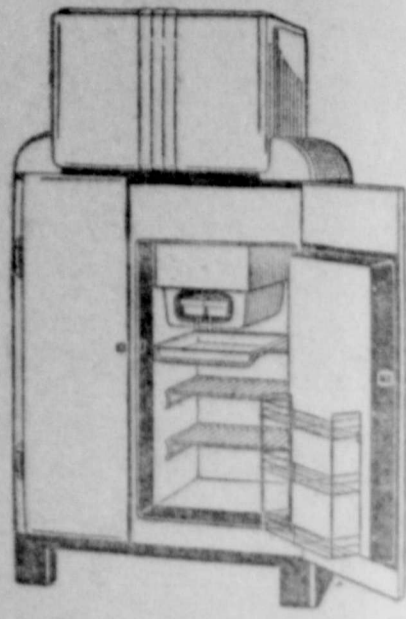

The Amherst gall club defeated Lockney Sunday at Amherst with a score of 11 to 6.

Amarillo Visitors

Miss Georgia Belyeu was in Amarillo Monday and Tuesday of this week visiting Mr and Mrs Harvey Williams and daughter, Dorothy Lee, who formerly resided in Lockney.

He decided to come out here and look it over last spring after having so much trouble with floods in late years around Houston.

The first week in May two men came out of the south, made a deal on Friday with C M Smith for his irrigated farm, started plowing Monday, and planted Tuesday. Such is the speed with which these two men work!

JULY 1 SET FOR PENSION PAYMENT

Needy Peoples' Applications Being Attended to First so They Will get Money July 1

Orville S. Carpenter, director of the old age assistance commission, estimated this week that 33,000 to 40,000 persons will be on the pension rolls by July 1 and receive their first payments within a short time.

He explained that many who are eligible, however, will not get any money on July 1 but a start will be made on that date. Those persons who are depending upon the payment for an absolute living will be attended to as soon as their applications are approved. You may be eligible but maybe will not get your application approved before July 1, therefore you will not receive any money on that date but later.

Special consideration is being given to those who appear to need the pensions the worst and so far the approvals have outnumbered rejection three to one. The commission is especially eager to pay the needy persons first and that is the reason they are trying to dispose of these applications first. Even if the old peoples' applications are not approved until after July 1, they may be assured of receiving as much money as though their application already had been passed on.

Some on the rolls will receive only a few dollars a month while others will receive the $30 maximum.

CONGRESS CANDIDATE SPEAKS

Office Seeker is Supporter of Townsend Plan

E. B. Speck of Lubbock, Townsend Democratic candidate for the 19th Congressional District, spoke here on the streets at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He is seeking the seat in Congress now held by George H. Mahon.

Mr. Speck gave a brief outline of his platform which is mainly concerned with Townsend Old Age Pension Plan. He advocated investigating some of the investigators at Washington when speaking of the appropriation to investigate the Townsend Plan.

The candidate says that politically he is a plain Democrat but economically he is a Townsend National Recovery Democrat.

Meat Cuts and How to Cook Them BEEF CHART

Every housewife is confronted with the three-day question of variety in the meats she serves. In beef we become addicted to roasts or steaks and forget all about the other good beef cuts which will give pleasing variation and be easy on the pocketbook, too. Perhaps our trouble lies in the fact that we are not as familiar as we should be with many of the possibilities offered by beef. If you are one of those whose use of beef is limited to a roast or a steak, the chart given above will be invaluable in learning to identify and locate the many retail cuts of beef. The chart will show you at a glance just how each one should be cooked. You will want to preserve this chart for ready reference.

Lets Talk about Clothes

During these hot sultry days little attention is given to clothes. Something cool is all that is necessary for the average woman, but for the office worker, the appearance element enters just as strong as in the winter months. She has to look nice even if the thermometer does register 98, and sometimes it isn't such an easy problem.

The elimination of silk from the office is by far the best thing girls have done. In the middle of the afternoon nothing can look worse or be so hot and sticky as a wilted silk dress. And no girl can do first class work when her clothes are uncomfortable.

Instead of the old tub silks she now adorns crisp little cottons—dotted swisses, dimities, and novelty weaves of every description. There's a new fabric on the market similar to crash, yet as thin and cool as dimity. It makes an ideal office dress. Of course, linens and piques are always nice, but they wrinkle too easily to be really practical for office wear.

The dresses are simple—we see no intricate patterns or unnecessary trimmings. They have very short sleeves, medium-low necks with tiny flat collars of contrasting material, and few or no pleats. Trimming consists of colored buttons or grosgrain ribbon belts and bows.

Cotton laces are extremely popular, according to girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA). They are shown in pastel colors with shoulder lacings of narrow velvet ribbon. Some even have a tiny bolero jacket that makes a dress-up frock when you have a luncheon date. The dresses are street length and have very little trimming.

WILL THERE BE ANY CHANGE IN THE WHISPERING CAMPAIGN?

An interesting question arises with the naming of a Republican candidate for the Presidency. Will there be any change in the whispering campaign of detraction and vilification which has been such a feature of the pre-convention activities of the minority party?

The reference is not to the wearisome repetition of the charges of extravagance, waste-movements toward despotism, in stilling socialism-taking the profit motive out of industry and commerce, and the rest of the absurdities that frankly bear the label of the American Liberty League, and such auxiliaries as the Republican National Committee. This being a political year the minority has got to make some sort of a campaign, and there being no way in which it can controvert the evidences of returning prosperity, it has to take some form of attack.

Lacking facts, adjectives are the indicated alternative. So everything the Administration does is described as sinister, subversive, dictatorial and a hundred other things that mean nothing. This course has the advantage of avoiding details. If the President points out that a Supreme Court decision compels a legislative alteration to bring enactments within the limits of the High Tribunal's rulings, it is presented that he is fiendishly trying to undermine the people's faith in the judicial branch of the Government. If the President suggests some form of legislation, he is diabolically planning to make the legislative branch a vassal of the Executive. If he meets new and unanticipated governmental obligations with requests for new appropriations, he is violating his platform plank as to economy.

If he, through his agencies, puts white-collar workers to the sort of employment they are capable of undertaking, he is boon-doggling. If he didn't do this he would be arraigned as being criminally callous as to the needs and necessities of those people. If he asks authority to relieve distress, which the States say is beyond their resources, the minority party cries that he wishes to destroy States' rights and arrogate all government to the Federal establishment. If he didn't do this, he would be accused of evading his responsibilities and of having no answer to the problems that his election imposed on him.

Those things are all rights according to the habits and customs of a political campaign. It could have made no difference whom the Republicans selected. We are bound to hear the same sort of rubbish from now on until November.

Yes sires, the Parking Meter salesman has hit Lubbock and contracted with the City Dads to put in the dudads for 120 days of trial. If they don't like 'em they will take 'em out. And as usual, some of the Lubbock citizens are raising a howl, claiming they will drive business away, as farmers won't come to Lubbock to do their trading on account of having to drop a nickel in the slot to pay for parking space for an hour. It always looked and sounded funny to us that some business men are always afraid the farmers will not come to their town and do their trading if they have to observe a few rules. Farmers are just like any other citizen, they do not expect a whole passle of privileges not accorded to other people. When you begin to pet and pamper them in order to get them to town they become suspicious right away, and who can blame them. Some business men and individual citizens in towns try to make the farmer believe he is a temperamental fellow and if they don't handle him with kid gloves he will blow-up and take his "marbles and go home." That is not so, farmers are for law enforcement and traffic regulations so they can get in and out of town, they are for building and developing. Give service, price and the goods and you will enjoy the farmers business without a lot of petting and pampering. Farmers have the nickle to drop in the parking meters at Lubbock, and they will do it.

Soldiers everywhere stood in line Tuesday to receive their long fought for bonus. For the past seventeen years the soldiers have been trying to get their bonus and for the past seventeen years they have been served as political hash by the office seekers. Though succeeding election years the bonus question was made to seem so important that it would make or break a political party, but this year the bonus question was completely ignored in the campaigns and didn't effect the status of either party. Instead the Atlas like burden which the poor weary soldier had carried through all these years was picked up by the still wearier shoulders of the agricultural element. The reason that the bonus question stayed before the public for so great a length of time was due to the fact that there was an element of the heroic in it, and this lent it self to fancy words and beautiful phrases. While the public imagination has never been able to create the farmer in the heroic role therefore we predict his little spot in the sun short lived.

Well, the Republican Convention is over, the "theme song" has been sung, and it was a wow of a convention. Every Republican that cared to do so, was given an opportunity to criticize the present administration and its New Deal measures. They sure did get a load off of their chest. They raved and ranted, pulled their hair, bucked and pitched all over the convention hall. Pep rally after pep rally was held to work up enthusiasm and finally they really came to the conclusion that they could elect a president in November, that is, the younger generation of Republicans came to this conclusion, the Old Guards boys were ignored and they just stood around like a town boy at a country picnic, knowing good and well they could not elect this year anyway, so they just let the youngsters rave and cavort and hold them in line for the big drive in 1940.

WHAT WE SEE IN THE PAPERS

By Margaret Hage

While we here in the United States are discussing party platforms and government programs just across the "big pond" that nation which has received much rank criticism is building a new constitution. From the outline that we saw of the Soviet Union's constitution it didn't look so worse. It guarantees the Russian citizens a democracy somewhat similar to our own. Their constitution has embedded in its chapters an interesting article on work. Stating that work is the "duty of every able bodied citizen in accordance with the principle that he who does not work does not eat." Russia is not fooling her citizens on this point. Making them believe that the world owes them a living, but shows them clearly that at least one nation does not.

"Peace"! The talk on this subject seems to be never ending, but while we are all engrossed in the forwarding of peace by making speeches and pacts, Japan has taken the hononym meaning of the word. She is gradually taking piece by piece of China, until the time will come when we awaken to the fact that there is no China.

The man with the hoe. King Edward of England, who has relinquished his golf and horseback riding to labor in his garden, offers a sharp contrast to the man leaning on the shovel that threatens to become a symbol of the U. S.

It can easily be seen that Texas is going to have a centennial celebration no matter who gets nominated for president. The Texas G O P delegates proved to be adequate boosters of the great state at the Cleveland convention. But we should worry another president can be secured in four years time while it would take a hundred years of waiting to stage another centennial.

We read of a unique proclamation which was issued by Governor Wellford of North Dakota. The proclamation set aside the sabbath for a state wide plea for divine help for the drought stricken area. As the churches were gradually being filled for the prayer meeting the supplication was answered in advance when a light shower began to fall. "And those that came to scoff remained to pray." This should offer conclusive proof to those that claim to doubt that there is a divine answer to prayer.

While we consider it a worthy ambition of Rudy Valle to want to become a supreme court justice, we advise him to stick to his crooning. The Supreme Court justices are going out of style.

Of the 96 members of our Senate, 65 are lawyers, and of the 438 members of our House of Representatives, 263 are lawyers. Too many lawyers, entirely too many lawyers, why not a few butchers and bakes and candle stick makers? It looks as though our legislature is a lot of law and not much order.

If the wealthy Indian of Calcutta who can't sleep would come to America and walk down the streets of one of our larger cities with a few dollars in his pocket, he might get permanent sleep.

Modern Farm Women

The 6,500 farm women who listened to an address by President Roosevelt in Washington Monday represent a long step in advance of the farm women of a generation ago. Many of the farm women of earlier days were heroic—they had to be to survive. Yet most of their time was spent in drudgery. They spent many hours of the day in hot, steamy kitchens; usually they had to take care of the garden and the chickens; some of them had to help with plowing and harvesting in emergencies.

Such conditions still exist in too many instances, but the status of most farm women has undergone a change for the better. Electricity has brought lighting, refrigeration and other conveniences to the farmhouse, while additional improvements have lightened the work of the farm wife and given her time for recreation. The radio now brings music and other entertainment to the farmhouse, and farm wives find increasing time for club meetings and other social activities. Politicians have learned that the votes of farm women are worth going after.

The time was when ambitious farm girls wanted to move to the city as soon as they could, hoping to marry men in business. Now, with city conveniences on the farm, the situation is almost reversed. When a farm girl comes to town to marry, it may be because city girls have captured all the eligible farmers.—The Semi-Weekly Farm News.
