Rail Strike Vote List Announced

The fourteen standard railroad labor organizations that plan to start Saturday polling their 750,000 members on a proposal to strike for annual vacations with pay are as follows, according to a Washington dispatch:

Order of Railroad Telegraphers; International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Welders of America; International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers; Sheet Metal Workers International Association; International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America; International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers; Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks; Flight Handlers, Express and Station Employees; Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees; International Association of Machinists; Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of America; National Organization Masters, Mates and Pilots of America; National Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, and International Longshoremen's Association.

The same dispatch said seven other standard railroad brotherhoods would not be affected—the organizations of trainmen, firemen and engineers, dispatchers and Pullman conductors.

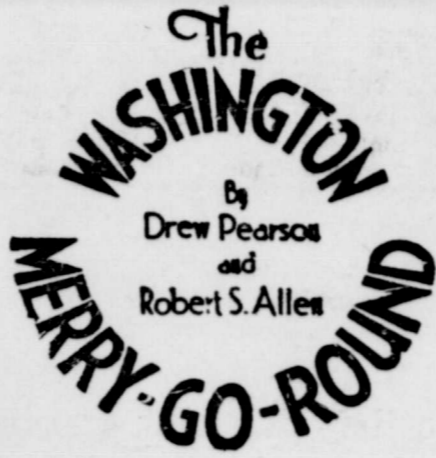

George M. Harrison, president of the Order of Railroad Clerks, and also head of a committee of leaders of the fourteen affected unions, declared a few days ago, that no other course had been left open.

He said, however, he would try once more for an agreement by means of a conference with John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads.

Franco and Suner

Spain's Franco and Suner who yesterday parleyed with Mussolini and reportedly now see eye to eye with him. Today they are meeting Petain and Darlan of France.

Washington — When Margaret Russell was being escorted to the railroad station after rising in the gallery of the House of Representatives wearing a death mask, she suddenly confided to Capitol police that she had forgotten her coat.

The coat, it developed, had been left in the office of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, vigorous opponent of the lend-lease bill. Miss Russell had gone to Wheeler's office, hung up her coat and then put on the black robe in which she gave her death chant against the lend-lease bill.

So police took her back to Wheeler's office, where she got her coat and then caught the train.

MISSING BOTTOMS

A few days ago the United States Lines announced that their Panamanian subsidiary was selling five small, slow, 20-year-old freighters to England for the purpose of carrying war supplies. To insiders, this graphically illustrated the desperate predicament of British shipping.

The problem is particularly acute in the transport of planes—which these five ships were especially chartered to carry. Officials are not shouting it from the housetops, but the grimmest difficulty facing Britain today is not getting warplanes made in the U. S., but getting them into the hands of the heroic RAF in the face of heavy Nazi raids on British shipping.

Britain now has on order approximately 16,000 planes, with another 12,000 contemplated, chiefly medium and heavy bombers. Of the 16,000 ordered, only around 2,000 actually have left the U. S. borders—and not all of them have reached England. Many (the exact number is an official secret) are still in Canada awaiting shipment.

Which adds up to this: If Britain is to get the 14,000 planes remaining on order by July, 1942, as the schedule calls for, the minimum export during the next 17 months will have to be around 825 a month—a threefold increase over the present rate of deliveries. Commerce Department figures show that in November 241 planes were exported to Britain, while the output was approximately 750.

The problem this poses is colossal. Ferrying planes by flying them across the Atlantic is more dramatic than productive, since only long-range bombers can be transported that way, and only when the weather permits and trained crews are available. Pursuits, fighters, interceptors and other short-range planes have to be shipped.

That is why those five rusty old freighters were taken out of the boneyard and pressed back into service, and why England is frantically securing the shipping lanes of the world for every available hull that can carry a crate. Britain has got to have ships if the planes she needs so desperately are to reach her in time.

Pine St. Scout Banquet Tonight

Scouts of Troop 5 and Cubs of Pack 5 will be honored with a banquet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Pine Street Methodist church as an observance of Boy Scout Week. Other Scouts or adults interested in attending are welcome, says Rev. R. H. Campbell, pastor and Scout commissioner.

Dr. T. S. Barcus, district superintendent of the Methodist church, will make the principal address, and Scouts will present a miscellaneous entertainment program.

Poultry Judge Is Chosen

Earl J. Curry, pioneer Amarillo resident and poultry expert, will judge the annual Dalhart Poultry Show Feb. 21-22, officials announced this morning.

The show, offering a wide variety of classes and attractive cash and merchandise prizes is not only for the Northwest Texas Panhandle but for adjacent areas in Oklahoma and New Mexico.

It will be substantially the same this year as previously, except that two classes will be added especially for poultry raised by 4-H club boys and girls. There will be one class for White Leghorns and one class for all other breeds.

4-H club entries will compete against one another, except for the sweepstakes prizes when they will compete against the whole show, officials said.

Curry, widely known throughout the Panhandle, has for years served the Tri-State Fair as superintendent of its poultry department; he also has been superintendent of the Amarillo Spring Poultry Show; has had wide experience as a hatchery man; and is a poultry fancier of note.

Washington, Feb. 13.—With addition of several drastic restrictions, even more severe than those imposed by the House, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today virtually concluded work on the British Aid bill which probably will go before the Senate Monday.

Some of the restrictions, if not actually proposed by the administration, was apparently engineered by them in an effort to win middle-of-the-road senators and to kill forever the charge that the bill would give the President a blank check.

Most severe amendment restricts to $1,300,000,000 the amount of aid the President can extend to democracies without further action by congress.

Other amendments would require the President to ask congress for authority to enter into contracts for supplies for England; then later he would have to request specific appropriations, naming number and kind of manufactures.

Meantime, there were indications that high administration officials—perhaps even President Roosevelt—are giving sympathetic ear to Wendell Willkie's proposal to send England five or ten U. S. destroyers each month. Secretary of Navy Knox yesterday flatly opposed the idea of "further depleting the navy."

Berchtesgaden. — This favorite Hitlerian retreat, high in the Bavarian mountains, is probably today the site of more medicine making for Europe's cruel war.

Prince Paul, regent of Yugo-Slavia, also his premier and foreign minister are assertedly in or en route to the retreat to meet Germany's fueder. One report said the German minister to Yugo-Slavia had replaced Prince Paul.

Yugo-Slavia has been for months under Axis pressure to enter its sphere, but to date has resisted successfully.

Balkans still seeth, but so far there has been no explosion.

Spanish reports today said Premier Mussolini of Italy and General Franco of Spain now see eye to eye as a result of two long conferences in the Italian Riviera yesterday. Franco's brother-in-law and foreign minister, Serrano Suñer, (Turn to Page 9, Column 3)

Slogan Contest Is To Open Friday

The Texan's new contest—open to anyone 16 years old or over who wishes to enter—gets underway tomorrow. A limited number of entry forms has been prepared and are ready for distribution. Anyone wishing to take part in this battle for cash and theatre tickets may secure an entry form at The Texan office absolutely free.

Complete instructions on how to participate are given on the entry blanks. These are large cardboard blanks, 11x14 inches, and each blank is individually numbered. Therefore, contestants are reminded that this form must be used in every contest. The Texan cannot furnish new forms for each contest.

This contest is made possible through the cooperation of 16 business firms. (Turn to Page 9, Column 3)

Three Signed For Child's Clinic

Arrangements have been made to date to take three children to the Crippled Children's clinic at St. Anthony's hospital in Amarillo Saturday, according to Mrs. E. R. Stewart, county welfare head. One child will undergo a foot operation, which will nearly complete treatments enabling him to walk and run normally, Mrs. Stewart said.

Any other children needing to attend the clinic should contact Mrs. Stewart by Friday evening.

XIT Meet Postponed

Because of conflicting engagements, the XIT Cowboy Reunion association annual stockholders' meeting scheduled for tonight has been postponed, Chairman C. E. Coombes announced at noon. Several stockholders must be out of town or attend other meetings and cannot be present, he said. Date of the session will be announced later.

Annual Fireman's Dance To Be Golden Heart Fete

The 36th Annual Fireman's ball Feb. 22 will be a Golden Heart event, the 24 members of the Dalhart Volunteer Fire department decided in a meeting last night, according to announcement by Chief Elmer Burnett.

This means that a substantial portion of the gross proceeds will be donated to the Golden Heart Charities for Children, an organization which is to secure adequate medical or surgical attention for any Dallam or Hartley children who otherwise would not have it. Jim Hammack is chairman of the sis chapter. However, the Golden Heart does complement the work of the chapter which can use its funds only for children whose trouble stems directly from infantile paralysis.

Volunteer fire department members each year stage their ball on George Washington's birthday. Needing more money and wanting to avoid burdening the business men by direct solicitation, or burden them indirectly through asking grants from the City, the department the past several years has sponsored one carnival a season. However, a good many Dalhart parents have objected to this type of show, and the department this year, Burnett said, will not sponsor a carnival. Several business men and parents, he added, have agreed to help the department work out money-raising activities.

Two Different "Sports"

Over in Europe they are killing people, bombing huge factories, homes, business houses. On the seas they are destroying great ships and, if we are to believe reports, sometimes "the seas run red with blood." Men, women and children are in uniform, sleeping in cold, damp underground shelters. Food is rationed and music, sports and games are forgotten entertainment.

For amusement the people of Europe watch from their shelters the big "game" in the skies, where hundreds of planes, driven by trained men, plunge at each other, their machine guns constantly rattling a steady tattoo of death. They cheer as their side wins a victory—a victory that means death or capture for the vanquished. Then back the "audience" go to their respective jobs of producing materials for the next big "game."

Over here we are watching clean, healthy young men battle in a ring with padded gloves, each intent on winning a contest by outpointing the other. And when the judges declare the winner the loser is the first to congratulate him and arm in arm they leave the ring together. Soon we'll be shouting ourselves hoarse at baseball games; watching intently as a man with a bunch of clubs on his shoulder walks calmly up to a little white ball, intent on knocking its cover off; we'll jump to our feet as one of our boys shoots a goal from a difficult angle on the basketball court.

Sure, there's some talk of war in America, but it isn't here yet. It's still time to be thankful for our rights and privileges, still time to "count our blessings." There's so much to be thankful for, so little to complain of.

Like thousands of other little business men in the good old U. S. A., we are extremely grateful for the privilege of doing business in a typical American town, enjoying the right to talk about the Farmall tractor and all the McCormick-Deering farm machinery; for the privilege of having our own opinions and giving the same right to the other person; for the right to conduct our business in a business-like manner without interference from a man in uniform; and the great privilege of cheering our youth in games of good clean sports rather than in a battle where the only victor is death and destruction.

FAMILY AIRPLANE ROUNDS THE CORNER

All the talk is of bombers and armored fighting planes — the artillery of the air which is blasting such frightful paths across Europe, Asia, and Africa. Today the man of peace, the idealist, at times voices a wish that the conquest of the air had never come.

But this mood, like others inspired by the sad plight to which mankind has brought itself, passes and is succeeded by the vision that must have come to the Wright brothers. Civil aviation also is conquering. There is hope that before long it may redeem the horrors of its military contemporary.

The flivver plane is here to stay. Some 5000 were manufactured in this country last year and it is expected that by the end of 1941 there will be 100,000 Americans holding civilian pilot certificates, says Nation's Business. Solo flights in these simple small planes may be made after as little as eight hours of instruction. Light planes sell for as low as $1200 to $1300 and it is freely predicted that once they become popular enough to justify mass production the price will be as low as the most inexpensive automobile.

The great war and American arming against eventualities are causing an enormously increased interest in flying which is bound to result in multiplying light plane ownership. Excess plant capacity for war orders must, after the present crisis, be turned into production for civil use. And many thousands of military pilots will wish to keep on riding the air lanes after they doff their uniforms.

AN IMPORTANT DALHART GATHERING TONIGHT

Postponement of the XIT meeting was announced at noon by chairman C. E. Coombes.

Since the beginning of the now well known XIT Cowboy Reunion the people of Dalhart have indicated their interest in the annual big show by responding to the demands for financial and moral support. Few communities of comparative population have been better united in support of a civic enterprise.

This evening the stockholders of the organization, the men and women who purchased shares of stock when the organization was incorporated, will have the opportunity of hearing a detailed report of receipts and expenditures of all funds. It is a meeting that should be of interest to each stockholder.

The gathering this evening also affords those who have disagreed with the officers, in the manner and type of entertainment offered each year, an opportunity to express their individual opinions. The meeting is the proper place for criticism. It should be remembered that when the elected officers have assumed their duties that their decisions are to be final and criticism and differences in opinions are to be laid aside until the following year, when the stockholders again gather.

We'd like to join the other interested citizens of Dalhart in extending congratulations to the XIT Committee for its foresight in calling the meeting this evening. In this manner they have said the books of the organization are open and they ask for your examination and criticism of them. That is the typical American way.

representative Carl Durham's comment on a Merry-Go-Round note that he was a crack golfer: "You fellows have fixed me so I won't be able to get a gold bet in North Carolina". . . A foresighted survey by AFL Secretary George Meany and John Coyne, building trades boss, has a lot to do with the AFL's cooperation in the national defense program. Meany and Coyne got up a roster of available workers in the various building crafts, and when men are needed for a defense construction job, the AFL calls them from this directory . . . Illustrative of cooperation between Greek-Americans and Italo-Americans, Dr. P. S. Constantinople, well-known Capital medico of Greek descent, greeted his Italian barber with: "Lost any customers as a result of this war, Tony?" "No Greek customers," Tony replied, "but a good many Americans." "They shouldn't hold you responsible for Mussolini," observed the doctor.

Republicans Vs. Republicans

Republican Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire has been opposed to Roosevelt on almost every New Deal measure before Congress. But on the lend-lease bill, much to the consternation of certain GOP colleagues, he is not.

Hearing this, isolationist Senators Taft and Vandenberg dropped around to see Bridges and try to convert him.

"Why didn't you go with Willkie on his trip to London?" one of them jibed. "You're no good to us here."

"And your partisanship," he replied to the New Hampshire Senator, "isn't doing the party any good either".

Note—Bridges has told Senate Democratic leaders he will try to convert as many Republicans to the lend-lease bill as he can.

DOUGHBOYS OF 1941

In all the hullabaloo over slowness of national defense production, not much has been said about the good old infantry, which, despite modern warfare, still remains the of General George Lynch, the infantry has been making such headway that by comparison the infantry of 1917 looks like an antique.

For instance, an infantry regiment in 1917 had 2,500 riflemen out of a total 3,600 men in the regiment. But the modern infantry regiment has only 900 riflemen, with the rest of the men operating tanks, mortars, heavy machine-guns, light machine-guns and repeating rifles.

In other words, the modern infantry regiment actually carries its own light artillery. It can operate quite effectively without supporting artillery. And instead of going into action, every man abreast, one man to a yard, the modern infantry regiment is able to spread its fire over a tremendous area.

In 1917 the U. S. Army did not have one machine-gun at the beginning of the war and did not have tanks until the war was almost over. So it looks as if the modern doughboy would be equipped to handle himself even more effectively than the doughboy of 1917-18.

Note—General Lynch, who has headed the Infantry for nearly four years, has almost completed his term of duty, but friends are hoping he will stay.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Nothing of any importance happens in the RFC without a board meeting, with resolutions and debate. At a recent meeting, a resolution was brought forward to provide each board member with a portable radio for use in his office. This time the resolution passed without debate . . . Add to our earlier list of 20 foreign-born members of Congress the name of Harry Sauthoff of Wisconsin, born in the Province of Hanover, Germany . . . Farm Security's burly Jonathan Garst bursts from a conference room saying, "Many people confuse conferring with performing." . . . A Viennese artist named Oskar Stoessel is making a set of etchings of the Supreme Court Justices. He has completed work on Stone and Douglas. Justice Stone, whose wife is an artist, helps arrange the sittings.

WTCC Economy Is Being Practiced

Abilene, Feb. 13 — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce which is urgently advocating more economy in Texas government is being consistent, according to its headquarters offices here. Despite new, also enlarged activities the WTCC operating budget for the fiscal year of 1940-41 has not been enlarged.

The West Texas chamber derives its financial support from individual memberships in its affiliated towns and from advertising revenues in its magazine, WEST TEXAS TODAY, the latter merely breaking even with publication costs. Its affiliate, the Freight Rate Equality Federation, is similarly financed from dues of its 136 affiliated associations and individual members, aided by direct grants from the WTCC treasury.

Say, folks, this new contest that advertising manager, Adrian Odom worked up is a honey. It's something new and you'll like it.

Two first firms to sign up for the annual Texan cooking school: The Dalhart Gas company and the Dalhart Coca-Cola Bottling company. All of which means that you ladies will have Coca-Cola and some lucky woman will probably be made supremely happy with a new gas range.

A very nice letter from Richard Craig whom I criticized for his support of the Fair Trades Act. Richard says: "I realize that the measure is one which creates a conflict of opinion. Certainly I do not see fit to question the motive of those who take a different view from that which I hold. My conscience, however, dictates that I support the measure, and I shall continue to work for its passage unless additional information is given me which clearly indicates that the measure will not accomplish the aims which I expect of it."

Richard also states: "In my opinion, an overwhelming number of small merchants favor this legislation. After giving some four years of study to the problem, I am convinced that the measure is designed to protect the independent retailer."

While I believe Richard is wrong in this particular instance, I do admire his frankness and his evident willingness to be shown that the bill is not what it appears to be. J. R. Fox and Jim and I had quite an argument about this bill. Both of them believe that we need a bill similar to the Federal Trades Act and while I am not familiar with the Federal act I am opposed to placing any more strings on business, especially if it gives a few the right to dictate prices or anything else.

More than $40,000 has been cut off the City's debt since Frank Farwell became our mayor. Now don't misunderstand that statement. I am not starting a campaign to re-elect him, for it is my understanding that he will not, under any circumstances, consider another term. I do think he deserves the thanks of the entire community and if we are the type of citizens I think we are we'll tell him so.

It is time to be thinking about who the next mayor of Dalhart is to be. Some talk about Mr. Walker making the race again, some say his health won't permit him to serve. I've heard W. L. Cotton and H. Coon mentioned and there's some talk of trying to get Gus Coots to make the race.

Now here is a poem that Ed Noland handed me, clipped from a Legion paper. It is rather tragic in a way, but conveys a message of interest to all Legion members.

"MAYBE"

By "Plucky" Smith

Maybe you never stood in mire, In a trench where soldiers die, And saw the glare of bursting shells;

And heard shrapnel whizzing by, Maybe you never heard the groans Above that hellish din, As a comrade's soul was going out, 'Cause his number had come in— "You're a buddy, just the same."

Maybe you only served in camp, And for only a month or two, But you saw the Reaper taking toll

With pestilence and with flu, Maybe the twenty years and more Have blotted out YOUR pains, But you didn't bury a mother's heart

With a soldier's last remains— "You're a buddy, just the same."

Maybe we all can't see alike, God never intended it so, But we CAN unite for God and Man

And the Freedom that you know, Maybe you haven't paid your dues; The Legion needs your han' So join the ranks of the "Peace Brigade"

In defense of God and Man— "You're a buddy, just the same."

Jack Figh: "Everybody has been calling me 'George' since that story came out in The Texan the other day in which I advocated a new way to halt cars at night when you are stalled somewhere on the highway."

Just released by British sources, this picture is the first original to reach the United States of the fall of Bardia, Italian stronghold in Libya, Africa. British troops, rifles ready for action, rush into a street of the town. Bardia was under siege for weeks.

Bonnie Toffer and Bill Belt

Claiming that Willkie did not start his presidential campaign early enough, Bill Belt, 17, of Hermiston, Ore., already has launched a campaign to become president of the U. S. in 1964. "Rely on Belt—Save Your Pants!" is the youth's campaign slogan. Belt has organized a "National Women's Club," too, hoping to find a "First Lady" in a contest. Bonnie Toffer, 16, of Hermiston, serves as vice president of the club and is one of the leading candidates for the "First Lady" of the land—in 1964. Entrants to the "First Lady" contest must be between 12 and 20, pretty, good vote-getters and have a lot of ability.

Gruver Cagers To Play Here Friday

Gruver boys and girls basketball teams will invade Dalhart at 7:30 o'clock Friday night for two speedy cage clashes with Wolves and Wolverines.

The girls play the first game. Wolverines have been having good workouts and are in high spirits, said Coach A. O. Swofford this morning. Gruver has an exceptionally fast girls team and defeated the McAllister, N. M., crew that was touted to win the recent Stratford tournament. One Gruver player also made the all-tourney team.

Wolves are in good shape, Coach E. A. Kimmins stated, and fans should see a fast-paced boys game. He will use his regular starters: Proffitt, center; Ball and Thurman, guards; Thomasson and Vicars, forwards. Season tickets are good for the games.

Wolverines will go to Des

Moine, N. M., to enter an invitation tournament on Saturday, Coach Swofford announces. No brackets have been received here to date on the tourney.

Wolves' first and second string squads will meet Borger Bulldogs and Borger's second crew here Tuesday. Borger has been defeated only three times this season, and fans are expecting good games.

Beery Picture Is Incomplete

"Bad Man," starring Wallace Beery and Lionel Barrymore and originally scheduled for the Mission theater next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Feb. 19-21, has had to be postponed till March because the picture was not finished in time to meet exhibitors' dates, it was learned today.

This is reportedly one of the finest pictures of its kind, and the Mission will schedule it as early in March as possible. Instead of "Bad Man," the Mission next Wednesday and Thursday will show beautiful Hedy Lamarr and James Stewart in "Come Live With Me." This is a comedy and is rated high.

Friday and Saturday, Feb. 21 and 22, the Mission probably will show "Captain Caution," which originally was scheduled for Saturday only. It's a heads-up story, starring Leo Carrillo, who has been a stand-out in such films as "Vive Villa." Also featured is Victor Mature, whom many movie fans remember for his starring role in "1000 B.C." The film is an adventure story of the high seas in the old days when glamour was spelled with cutlasses, daggers, pistols; and when privateers and pirates swaggered through history's pages.

Kitty Pappas

John Pappas

Police in New York City investigate the strangle death of Mrs. John Pappas, 29, found trussed up and strangled in the bedroom of a fashionable apartment by her husband, John Pappas, 49, a well-known wholesale grocer. Pappas is shown as he appeared at a police station for questioning. Police, meanwhile, were seeking a "family friend" as the possible murderer.

IN THE ARMY NOW! WHY AND HOW

S. T. Williamson

Army drivers were once even as early as the First World War. Traffic jams on the roads and in the cities were a common sight. Last summer's maneuvers showed us as well as, by contrast, the discipline of the military units from Fort Knox. Although their army is the highest mechanized of any, the Germans have had a different problem. A car as a friend of mine was being driven through Berlin by one of the highest-ranking officers of the German Air Force, a stunt flier who knows this country well. It was from a side street charged an officer's truck and missed the officer's car. According to a painter, the truck belonged to the German army school. "Do you mean that the German army has to teach its men how to drive?" asked the astonished American. "Of course," replied his host. "Twenty percent of the men we get in our army never sat at the wheel of an automobile." "In Germany there was but one car for every 54 inhabitants in the United States there is one car for every five persons. To get soldier drivers, one army must "learn 'em," while our army must "un-learn 'em".

And now, what can we learn from the mail? C. F. W., Oswego, N. Y., Would a tailor be assigned to any special work in the Army.

Tailors are needed in every arm of the service—roughly nearly three to every thousand men.

F. Q., Chillicothe, Ohio: What is that green cord some soldiers wear on their shoulders?

That is the French fouragere which is worn looped around the left shoulders of officers and men in regiments of the First Division, certain units in the present Second Division and the Fifth and Sixth Regiments of Marines. It was awarded by the French Army to regiments whose colors had been decorated with the Croix de Guerre after these regiments had been cited three times for gallantry in action. The fouragere is part of the uniform of these regiments decorated. It also may be worn by any member of the Army who was serving in these units at the time they were cited.

TODAY'S DON'T: Unless you're bigger than he is, don't call a Marine "sailor". You'll know that he is a Marine because he'll tell you.

As the Cold Harbor sailed from Baltimore

First U. S. ship scheduled to go through the British blockade since the fall of France last June, the U. S. Red Cross ship, Cold Harbor, has departed from New York bound for Spain and unoccupied France with a million-dollar cargo of food and relief supplies for war victims. The British have given permission for the ship to pass through the blockade. All governments were informed of the ship's sailing. Big Red Cross insignias were painted on the sides of the vessel and she was to be completely lighted at night during the entire Atlantic crossing.

G. S. Lashley To Hold An Auction

G. S. Lashley, formerly of Dalhart and widely known here, has announced a public sale at the Wade Plunket ranch headquarters about 20 miles north of Clayton on the Clayton-Kenton highway, Monday, Feb. 17.

The sale will open at 10 a. m. Terms, he said, will be cash for sums of $10 or under. Over that amount approved notes for eight months time will be taken, at eight per cent interest. Cash for purchases over $10 will carry a two per cent discount.

He will offer a wide range of farm equipment, also some household furniture; 20 Hampshire bucks; 35 milch goats with kids by side; five dozen White Minorca hens and a paint horse.

L. M. Price will be clerk and Rue Wharton auctioneer.

Woodpecker Has Last Wild Fling

Waco, Feb. 13—It may have been his last fling, but size considered that woodpecker created more furore than Herr Hitler, even though Hitler might have to have that proved to him.

Some way a lowly woodpecker, with a passion for anonymity in the best Rooseveltian style, got to the half million dollar Robert Browning collection of antiques at Baylor University in Waco this morning.

Every rap of that bill would have sounded like gold nuggets dropping into the ocean, but fortunately the bill wasn't allowed to rap. The bird, apparently not yet in the pecking mood, was discovered by two co-eds this morning.

They summoned help. It came, and included janitors. Everybody had mops and brooms, and the woodpecker was hardly allowed to light, let alone peck, but in his flight about the room he landed on some exceptionally valuable pieces and ere a mop or broom swished him off the onlookers had some anxious moments.

After six hours he gave up, collapsed behind a music case.

Burl W. Parks, Rock Island electrician, is steadily improving from a broken left wrist incurred a week ago. New York Stocks Are Down Sharply

Nearly all New York stocks dropped sharply today. In the Dow-Jones list, industrials were down $1.87; rails 38 cents; utilities 36; and the entire list of 65 were off 62 cents. Third-hour volume was 460,000.

Aviation, metals, electric, motors, rubber, rails, petroleum and steel all shared the decline.

New Orleans cotton at noon was three to eight points lower.

Chicago wheat was a quarter to one cent down; May 79 cents. Corn was three eighths to a half down, with May at 60 5-8. Oats were off an eighth to a quarter; May 35 3-8. Soy beans were five-eighths to seven-eighths down; May 92 1-8.

Forty-Two Meet Idea Is Approved

Dr. J. P. Powell thinks the Alvis Fleming-Tom Monroe plan for an all-men's forty-two tournament with an entry fee and handsome cash or merchandise prizes is a capital idea.

"Count me in on it," he said. "We haven't done anything definite about the tournament," Monroe said today. "Whether we hold it depends on whether enough men want it".

Persons who are interested are asked to notify Monroe or Fleming, or Monroe said they could contact Dr. Powell; W. O. Clary at the West Texas Utilities Co. ice plant; or R. U. Counts at the County clerk's office in the court house.

the national debt limit from 49 to 65 million is being wound up this afternoon, and probably the measure will go before the whole Senate tomorrow. The House had passed 46 billion day before yesterday.

State Hospital Employee Tells Of Herb Relief

Mr. Farr, of Wichita Falls, says Hoyt's Compound Ended Stomach Distress, Kidney Misery and Bowel Irregularity.

An employee for the State Hospital for the Insane is Mr. Horace Farr, Box 300, Wichita Falls, Texas, who states: "I have been suffering with a bad stomach and kidney misery. I often bloated, and felt like there was a solid lump in my stomach. I was constipated.

"I heard about Hoyt's Compound, and since I have been taking it, I am relieved of the stomach distress. My kidneys do not trouble me now, my bowels are regular. I feel that Hoyt's has given great relief in my case, and I am glad to recommend it to others."

The time has come at last when many of the common, non-organic ills can be relieved by the modern liquid extract of medicinal roots and herbs, Hoyt's Compound. Hoyt's is recommended and sold by the Wolf Drug Store, and by all leading druggists everywhere.

Roger Babson Warns America That Squabbling Must Cease

By ROGER BABSON

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 13.—I have always been sympathetic with labor. During World War I, I served as assistant secretary of labor in Washington. I am sure that labor leaders will tell you that I was far in solving the problems that came to the department; and because of me, there were enough of them! I soon learned that arguments did not do much good, and that lawyers only messed things up. Labor troubles are emotional, not statistical, and they cannot be "ought" successfully. Both sides are usually honest and serious about their points of view.

Have a Heart

The quickest way to solve a real labor row is to take the employer around to the homes of the workers and see the conditions under which they live. Then have some of the strikers shadow the boss for a few days and see how he is working for them twelve to sixteen hours a day against the best competition. Of course, there are some labor leaders who selfishly think only of themselves. They purposely stir up trouble to get the Union to give them a raise in pay. Some are connected with racket rackets. These should be in jail. Most labor leaders, however, are earnest and trustworthy when working to better the conditions of the workers as they see the light.

The chief cause of labor troubles is not the labor leader, or the wages paid, or the working conditions; rather the expensive manner in which certain employers live, the way their children foolishly spend money, and the mistakes they make in exhibiting their power and wealth. Very few wage workers are jealous of the employer who founded the business; but it does "burn them up" to see the employers' children racing around town and blowing in money, while their own children have barely enough to eat and are unable to continue schooling. So much for where I stand on labor problem. Furthermore, let me say that in normal times labor relations are both right and necessary.

Circumstances Alter Cases

When it comes to questions of strikes or lockouts, in days like these, I feel that both are selfish, cowardly, and unpatriotic. The striking of 750,000 rail workers of class I roads with demands by labor organizations, not the employees, for vacations with pay is a good current example. This will use up much of the energy of the President, who is already overworked, and of railroad officials. The time all connected might far better be spent in cooperating to move more quickly important industrial freight shipments.

The government is putting a ceiling on the profits of all businesses, and it is only fair to likewise veto strikes and lockouts. Although in the past labor has not had a fair deal at times; yet "two backs do not make a white". When the whole nation is in danger, as at present, we all ought to be ashamed to do anything which holds up production. Certainly, during the present emergency, Congress should demand compulsory arbitration. We either must go to work or go to war! I had much rather go to work, — forgetting wages, hours, or profits.

In view of the recent Supreme Court decision which was 100 per cent in favor of labor, I wish to remind labor of what is happening broadly. When I was over there two years ago, I found that Germany had "canned" all the labor unions and threatened to shoot anyone who called a strike or a lockout. France refused to do this as the French politicians were afraid of losing votes. Even last April, when the Germans were pounding at the gates of France, labor leaders and employers were fighting one another.

As a result, the Germans marched into France! The Germans then disbanded the French labor unions and their leaders were put in jail.

Labor Leaders Are In Jail

Up to February first of this year, the English government was very patient with the labor unions; in fact, my friend, Minister of Labor Bevin, is a radical labor leader. When he got on the inside, however, and saw the great dangers, he made both strikes and lockouts illegal. Since February first he has been putting uniforms on the workers, the same as on the soldiers. Anybody who sabotages or even refuses to work in an airplane factory, tank plant, or munitions factory is thrown into jail.

Worse things have happened to the labor unions in Norway, Belgium, Holland and other countries that tried to remain neutral as we are trying to do. These countries had not only very strong labor unions, but also unemployment insurance, old-age pensions, sickness benefits, and co-operative factories, stores, and even banks. All of these good things have been thrown out of the window. The United States and Canada are now the only countries that have these blessings today. It certainly seems as if we all should be on our good behavior and quit quibbling, or even arguing among ourselves.

Remember The Farmers!

Farmers are not perfect. They have always howled and always will howl. On the other hand, they sure are getting the short end of the stick when it comes to prices, wages, and hours. Once I figured that if farmers were paid the same as the building trades are paid, beef would sell for three dollars a pound, eggs would cost two dollars a dozen, and bread would sell for twenty-five cents a loaf. Of course, this unequal treatment is very unfair to the farmers. You would think that the city people, especially union labor, would be ashamed to look a farmer in the face.

In this connection, let me say that the British are not only forbidding strikes and lockouts; but are doing other big things. For instance, they are endeavoring to put an end to installment buying. The government makes the point that it is the total debt of the nation which really counts. Hence, as their national debt increases, they insist that personal debts be reduced.

I am no war monger; but I doubt that we can save Great Britain and our own necks by continuing, during the emergency, either the Old Deal or the New Deal. We have got to forget both, and this includes profits, wages, hours, and all the "fixings" that go with these things. Moreover, the sooner we forget ourselves, the sooner we will save our necks. Let us make no mistake about this.

Two Wage-Hour Fines Assessed

Dallas, Feb. 13.—The Jaffee Cotton Products Manufacturing Co., Inc., and the Ace Heater Manufacturing Co., both of Dallas, each have been fined $250 on pleas of guilty to charges of violating the minimum wage requirements of the Wage-Hour law, according to Gus C. Street, Jr., Wage-Hour regional director. The Ace Heater firm also agreed to pay $534.81 in back wages to about 30 employees.

The State Court of Civil Appeals for the Fifth Supreme Judicial District, sitting at Dallas, has also just ruled, Street said, that Texas employees covered by the Wage-Hour law may bring suits for back wages and overtime pay either in a state or federal court.

"This has special significance," Street said, "because it comes on the heels of the U. S. Supreme Court ruling that the Wage-Hour law is constitutional."

ness firms, whose names are listed below. The purpose of the contest is for each contestant first to write a slogan about any or all of the firms represented. A winning slogan will be selected each day, with the writer receiving a free ticket to the following Wednesday-Thursday picture at the Mission Theatre.

As each slogan appears, all contestants must clip the advertisement of the firm for which it was written and stick the ad lightly on the space bearing the lowest number appearing in the advertisement. The highest number cannot be covered until the firm has a second winning slogan during that contest. Winners are judged according to the arrangement of advertisements on their blank form. Complete instructions are given on the entry blank.

In addition to the daily theatre pass, there are weekly cash prizes totaling $6.00, half of which is to go to winning contestants and half to the firm whose slogan provided a winner. In case the contest is not completed by the end of the second week, cash prizes of the two weeks are combined, and the same procedure is followed each succeeding week in which no contest is completed.

Contestants must enter at least one slogan in order to be eligible for a cash award.

Get your entry blank at The Texan office today. Write your first slogans, and let's get started. Each contestant may enter as many slogans as he desires on the first day, but thereafter will be limited to not more than one slogan daily. Slogans not winning on the day entered, will be re-entered on each succeeding day.

Participating firms, about whom slogans are to be written, are: Western Auto Associate Store, Red Horse Service Station, Edwards Chevrolet Co., O. K. Tire Shop, French Cleaners, The Crank, H. and H. Cafe, Bailey's Garage, Welch Grain Co., Stites Paint Store (and Lincoln Sign Service), Dalhart Garage, McIlroy Furniture Co., Good Eats Bakery, Helpy-Selfy Laundry, Koehler Motor Co., and A-P Service Station.

ner, also sat in on the parleys. The Spaniards today are conferring with Premier Petain and Vice-Premier Darlan of France. Their topic assertedly is the balance of power in the Mediterranean.

Los Angeles, Feb. 13.—The FBI today started a West coast aircraft production probe to see if collusion between manufacturers and German patent holders is holding up defense work. If any manufacturers are involved they reportedly will be prosecuted under anti-trust or other criminal laws.

Rome.—Italy asserted today that her troops had thrown back, with heavy losses, British attacks in East Africa. It also said German planes had bombed British troop concentrations, airports and marching columns in Africa.

One or more German surface raiders yesterday assertedly attacked a British convoy in the Atlantic. It was the first assault since several weeks ago the Jarvis Bay, gallant British ship, held off a convoy raider but sacrificed her life to do so. She went down with guns still blasting.

English reports indicated today that strong naval units have swept a thousand square mile area in the North Atlantic in an effort to snare raiders.

London.—Dispatches routed from Amsterdam by way of Berlin—where they may have been delayed for weeks—indicated on release today that there had been Jewish disturbances in Amsterdam and that some Germans as well as Dutch police had been injured.

New York.—Britain, according to reports reaching here, has agreed to allow another shipload of food and medicine to go through her blockade to unoccupied France and Spain. All would be distributed under strict supervision of the Red Cross so that none would fall to the Axis. The ship would carry vitamin concentrates and medicine for French children; and wheat for hungry Spain.

Fire Damages Denison Garage

A garage at the Ross Denison home in Kella Hill, property of Harold Voth, was badly damaged by fire Wednesday noon, as was a second-hand truck in the garage, according to Fire Marshal O. W. Raillard, who estimated damage at around $600. Origin of the blaze was undetermined.

Ray Matthews, ill for several days, is much improved.

Mrs. Margie Bell and Mrs. Gene Jarrett, Nara Visa, were here last night to visit Mrs. Blanche Watts at Loretto.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX WORK SHEET GUIDE (FOR 1940 RETURNS)

Important! Recent Changes Affect Millions!

If you are single and your gross income averages over $66.66 per month, or if you are married and your gross income averages over $166.66 per month, regardless of the amount of your net income, you are required to file an income tax return for 1940 under the new tax law. Heretofore you were not required to file a return where your gross income was under $5,000 or, if single, your net income was under $1,000 and, if married, your net income was under $2,500.

In addition to towered exemptions, the tax rates are higher.

These changes in the law will affect millions of persons in all walks of life!

Tax Saving Possible in Many Cases

Every taxpayer is required by law to file an accurate income tax return. You should not ignore the fact that the Government requires you to pay the correct amount of tax due. In many cases, large savings may be made by taking advantage of all possible deductions, and all other legal and honest means.

The Work Sheet Guide Will Coach You Step by Step

The Individual Income Tax Work Sheet Guide provides spaces for and guides you in computing each item of income and deductions. Each item of income and deduction and each schedule appearing on the return is explained. Non-taxable income and deductions which may be overlooked are covered. Salaried persons, business men and everyone required to file an individual income tax return will find the Guide invaluable.

Edited by Experienced Accountant

The Work Sheet Guide was edited by an accountant with twenty years' experience in public accounting. The most advantageous features of the Guide were based on the problems he has confronted in getting data together for filling out returns and in associating with each situation and each item of income and deduction the applicable provisions of the law, regulations, etc., with as little loss of time and effort as possible.

"HONEYMOON PREFERRED" by May Christie

SYNOPSIS

Walter Mallory, eminent young lawyer, was Jean Garrett's heart, but she loved the gay, social whirl and so also dated Tommy Alden, society playboy, and Pedro de Moraes, sleek philanderer. Walter and Jean quarrel about this. The rift widens, one night at a dance, when Helen Hobart, Jean's rival for Walter's affections, contrives to have the intoxicated Tommy go off in Walter's cruiser with only Jean aboard. The escapade causes her wealthy stepfather, Rupert Van Auken, to threaten to cut her allowance, and also brings a rebuke from her frivolous mother, Laurel, vacationing in Cuba. Jean and Pedro visit "The Blue Owl", a nightclub owned by Green, "The Gook", a shady character. Pedro takes one look at Mademoiselle Gaby, the new diva, and asks Jean to leave. Shortly after, Gaby calls on Jean, supposedly to return a compact Jean had left at the club. Seeing a portrait of Laurel, Gaby laughs hysterically. It reminded her of her mother. Talk turns to Gaby's career. She tells Jean she recently arrived from Martinique and adds pointedly, "I do not think I shall have great trouble in making a living." That night, Jean goes to see Pedro off for Cuba. She plans to stow away on the boat and join her mother, but Gaby arrives and frustrates her, revealing that Pedro has a wife and three children in Paris. She explodes another bombshell with "I am your sister!" Gaby offers to show Jean proof if she will go to Gaby's room.

CHAPTER EIGHT

"Let's all go to Tony's for a nightcap," one of the gang suggested, when the ship had slid from the pier. Jean's eyes were straining for Pedro, but he was no longer at the railing!

"You will come with me now," Gaby's voice in her ear.

"Go away at once! We make short shrift with impostors in America!"

"But I will not leave you!"

Jean was so mad at the singer that it would have been a pleasure to tear her hair; to yell at the top of her voice what she thought of this impudent impostor. What about unmasking her to the whole gang, here and now?

But they'd gossip! The stunt of the sister—a sister singing for a living in a dive!—would be too choice a morsel. Jean visualized them telling it at Tony's. The buzzing would reach the gossip columnists and her name would be shockingly linked in print with The Blue Owl. This time, her stepfather would do something drastic. He wouldn't overlook a scandal in the papers a second time.

"C'mon, Jean. Quit mooning for Pedro!" someone shouted.

The gang all laughed. She flushed hotly.

"Get me a taxi, porter." She'd leave them flat.

"Miss Garrett—please!" The French girl had overtaken her halfway to the exit. Jean swung about.

"I'll have you deported if you don't keep away from me!" she snapped.

"Then I shall be forced to tell your stepfather what I wish you alone to hear. For you that will be bad. Very bad! But perhaps it is proper that I tell him."

Blackmail! The woman was in league with Green "the Gook," of course! Why had she ever gone to the wretched Blue Owl? But if the other thought she'd won out, she was mistaken!

The voice went on: "If you love your mother, Miss Garrett, if you wish to protect her future, you will come with me to Mulberry Street now. You will examine the proofs of what seems a fantastic story. But it is a true one!"

"Proofs?" Jean thought grimly. "Probably the composite-photograph trick!" Disagreeable stories flashed through her mind. Faces of prominent women who could afford to pay hush money had been transposed on other pictures and rephotographed! And the blackmailers had demanded huge sums of money from their victims for these dreadful pictures!

But curiosity, as well as a queer intuition, was aroused.

The French girl gave the taxi-driver the address in Mulberry Street. And when they reached it, Jean followed her up the dark, rather smelly stairs.

A key was inserted in the lock on the third floor back. Light flooded a poorly furnished but clean room. It had a couch in one corner. A screen in another.

Because she was taking no more chances than she had to, Jean snapped from the threshold: "What's back of that screen over there?"

"Look." The girl drew it aside. An old-fashioned sink, with a single cold-water faucet. "This is all the kitchen and bathroom that I have, Miss Garrett." On the extension of the sink stood a two-burner gas stove, with rubber tubing.

"And what's behind that curtain?" asked Jean wheeling round.

"My clothes." There were no cupboards. No icebox. On the narrow fire escape outside the window stood a milk bottle and a covered bowl.

Two chairs were drawn to a table, and behind that was a shelf, with bright cheap dishes. Against one wall, a shabby, foreign-looking trunk.

Jean thought: "This is no dream home for a French gold digger!"

She said tartly: "So this is what you came to America for?"

"No. I had a reason. Will you please sit down? You remember, the night you were at the club with Mr. Alden, you asked me why I picked such a place in which to work? It was for the same reason that brought me to America, Miss Garrett—to meet you!"

"And who are you?" Jean wryly inquired.

The girl drew herself up. "I am Gabrielle de Fleury." She watched Jean intently.

"That conveys nothing to me," Jean said.

"Miss Garrett, you have not heard?"

"Heard what?"

"That my mother, who is also your mother, married my father, Etienne de Fleury, at the outbreak of the World War, in Paris, where she was a poor American governess?"

"How dare you invent such a crazy tale?"

The other went swiftly to the trunk. Unlocked it. Drew out a shabby leather box. It looked as if once it might have been a jewel-case. She brought it to Jean.

"You will sit down by me on the couch," Jean complied. Humor her and get it over. She'd been a fool to come here. The girl was undoubtedly crazy.

Gaby pressed a spring in the box and up flew the lid. On the lid's satin lining, in faded gold lettering, a name was scrawled.

"Read it," Gaby ordered.

Jean looked closely. "Laurel de Fleury." That was odd!

"And this," Gaby removed tissue wrapping from a gold watch. On the back was inscribed: "To Laurel from Etienne—June 20th, 1915."

"My father gave it to my mother, who is your mother, to commemorate the day I was born," Gaby said.

Jean flashed: "But there's the heck of a mistake here! Mother's first husband was Eugene Garrett—Gene Garrett, my father—who was killed in action in the Fall of 1918, as I already told you at the club!"

Something like a gleam of pity came into the other girl's dark eyes. "Be prepared that what I am going to tell will hurt you. My father divorced our mother because she ran away with Gene Garrett, your father!"

Jean sprang to her feet. "That's libel! How dare you?"

"My poor sister, be calm. I have the proofs here in this box." Gaby drew her down to the couch. "First, this wedding picture. We lived forty kilometres from Paris in a beautiful chateau. It was turned into a hospital for the wounded. It was there that Laurel de Fleury nursed the American soldier, Gene Garrett. After she disappeared, my father destroyed all pictures of the wedding, but my nurse saved this one, to give me when I should be old enough to know what sort of woman my mother was to desert her three-year-old infant!"

Jean stared at the faded photograph that Gaby had taken out of the leather box. Under the fluffed coiffure of 1914, under the wreath of orange blossoms, the girlish face of Laurel, her own mother, looked at her with a scared expression.

"And the man?" Was she going mad? What nightmare nonsense was this? With his pointed black beard, his high forehead, the lines about his eyes, he was no mate for the lovely young girl in the wedding gown, though he had an air of great refinement. "Why, he's old!"

"He was forty-three. She was nineteen. For her, it was a good marriage."

"And now she's forty-three! And I'm nineteen!" Jean gasped. Oh, it didn't make sense!

"She is forty-four years old! And you must be twenty, since your father was killed before the Armistice," Gaby corrected. "Now you will please look at this miniature. Our mother, with me, when I was two years of age. Painted just before she met Gene Garrett."

Jean saw, in Laurel's arms, a lovely baby with the great dark eyes of Gaby the impostor! Laurel, even at that age, strikingly resembled the much later portrait in the drawing room on Park Avenue. No wonder Gaby had laughed hysterically, seeing it this day, saying it reminded her of her own mother!

"And will you look at this marriage certificate, please?"

In the long French record, faded now, the name of Laurel Selby fairly sprang from the parchment, opposite Etienne de Fleury.

"But... but she was a nurse in a hospital, she always said! It was there she met my father—"

"Look at that, please." A group of American soldiers, in uniform. In front, the strikingly handsome doughboy, Gene Garrett. Laurel, stunningly pretty in a white natty uniform. In the background, the chateau.

"She was a nurse, yes—but she forgot she was also the chätelaine of the hospital, Miss Garrett." Gaby's dark eyes were blazing with resentment.

"How dare you?"

"I dare anything, because I have the truth on my side."

"I'll tear this up!" Jean cried, hardly knowing what she said, she was in such mental turmoil. Impossible to think that Laurel had hidden this early marriage all these years!

Gaby wrenched marriage certificate and photograph from Jean's grasp. The photograph tore. But the certificate, of heavy parchment, was intact.

"I have a pistol in my trunk," warned Gaby. "Do not dare what you Americans call to pull a fast one on me, or I use it!"

miles to the westward which could have placed them in this territory.

Earl Walker, Rock Island engineer, was awakened early Sunday morning by the slight quiver of the earth. Having been a telegrapher in his youth, the number of slight jars registered instantly with him, and he counted four. He looked at his watch and it was 6:30, which of course is Central Standard time.

He didn't think a great deal about the matter, until later in the day when a newscast said seismographs in New York City early that morning (the exact time not given) had recorded earth shocks, estimated to have occurred some 2600 miles to the west. A letter has been dispatched from Dalhart seeking to learn the exact time the shocks were recorded in New York.

Thinking perhaps that he could still be mistaken about the shocks, Walker didn't say much about them, but it is now disclosed that a good many persons felt them. However, they assigned them to some other cause. Some workmen at the Rock Island shops noticed them, it was learned from Walker yesterday, but they attributed them to one of the huge locomotives moving about nearby.

Watch Family Now While Epidemic Colds Are Spreading

At a treacherous time like this, with an epidemic of contagious colds all around us, what you do today may save you and your family a lot of sickness, worry and trouble later.

Follow these simple rules of health: Live normally. Avoid excesses. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Take some exercise daily—preferably outdoors. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

Then use these two time-tested treatments when needed.

AT THE FIRST SNIFFLE, SNEEZE OR NASAL IRRITATION . . . put a few drops of Vicks VapoRub up each nostril. This helps to prevent many colds from developing, because Vapro-nol is expressly designed to help Nature's own defenses against colds. (If a head cold causes stuffiness, you'll find that a few drops of Vapro-nol help clear the clogging mucus and makes breathing freer and easier.)

IF A CHEST COLD OR COUGHING COLD DEVELOPS

(some colds get by all precautions) use Vicks VapoRub to relieve miseries. Rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back and cover with a warmed cloth. VapoRub acts to bring relief 2 ways at once. It stimulates surface of chest and back like a poultice. At the same time it releases helpful medicinal vapors that are breathed direct into the irritated air passages.

Both Vapro-nol and VapoRub have been tested through years of use in millions of homes. When you use these two medicines you are not experimenting, you are not taking needless chances. Remember: If the condition of the cold fails to respond quickly to treatment—or if more serious trouble is indicated—call your family physician right away. In the meantime be prepared! Get a bottle of Vicks Vapro-nol and a jar of Vicks Vapo-Rub today—have them handy, ready to use.

the record!" So ordered a Chicago judge, Rudolph Desort, hearing a divorce complaint bill, when Lawrence Feiler, left, appeared in the courtroom with a phonograph and a record which, he claimed, would prove his charge that his wife was unfaithful. Feiler contended the record was made during his wife's alleged affair with another. The two are suing for divorce, she charging adultery and he, misconduct. Appreciation Offered For Generous Polio Aid

Bill Autry, chairman of the 1941 infantile paralysis campaign for Dallam county, and who also served on a two-county steering committee with Sheriff Ralph Queen of Hartley county, today expressed his "deepest appreciation to the countless persons who helped make this year's campaign an outstanding success."

"Support was so generous and so widespread this year that it has been humanly impossible to find out about all those who have contributed lavishly to the brilliant achievements of the campaign," he said.

"And so I know that no list can be complete. Yet I feel that an effort should be made to let the general public know at least some of the persons who this year—and some of them every year—gave time, money and effort to this great humanitarian program that has a twin goal: 1, to banish the withering, maiming death; 2, to help restore to normalcy those who have been or may be stricken. "I want to emphasize," he continued, "that the list below makes no attempt to give the names of the countless Hartley county persons who served in that county, and who may also have served in Dallam county, just as some Dallam countians had the privilege of lending a hand in Hartley."

Incidentally, the Hartley county list is now being compiled by polio leaders in that county and will be published as soon as available. Sheriff Queen of Channing was Hartley county chairman; and he and Autry, with J. C. Hammack, a Hartley county man of Dalhart; and Secretary Rex Mahoney of the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce, a Dallam countian, formed the two-county steering committee.

Mrs. L. M. West of Channing was Hartley county vice-chairman; and County Judge L. M. West personally directed the sale of 1941 polio memberships in Channing and vicinity.

This year's program introduced the membership or roll call idea. The Polio balls were still available for those who wanted to attend them. Whenever a person bought a $1 membership, signified by an appealing lapel emblem, he was entitled to, if he wanted it, one ticket to any one of the several balls held in the two counties. There were also basketball games, community programs, book reviews and other events all dedicated to the polio war, but the emphasis this year was on the roll call or memberships.

Autry paid particular tribute to Mrs. Harry Miller, vice-chairman for Hartley county who, with Mr. Mahoney, made one trip to Channing to aid in explaining the polio campaign to a P-T.A. meeting. She also originated the idea for a review in Dalhart of Ernest Hemingway's book, "For Whom the Bell Tolls." Fr. J. L. Daly, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic church, was the reviewer. Others aided on the program which was one of the stand-out successes of the campaign. The program was sponsored by the Senior and Junior Woman's Literary clubs; the Senior and Junior Mothers' clubs; the Contemporary club and Beta Sigma Phi.

W. L. Crouch of the West Texas Utilities company was chairman of the halls committee, but his most brilliant contribution was origination of the appealing and dramatic Polio Tableau that in three brief minutes depicted in blazing impressiveness the high humanitarian goals of the campaign. A good many persons assisted in the tableau, as well as in the book review program and to them all Autry expressed his deep appreciation.

Bob Martin and Ed Bishop were co-chairmen of the Dallam county roll call committee. Committee members included Mesdames Sam Huggins, Dixie Hogg, Herbert Peoples, Elmer Elliott, Dan Spencer, Bill Randolph, E. C. Thomas, O. E. Duggins, A. P. Edwards, Maurice Chernosky, Bill Hylton, Clyde Pipkin, W. B. Foltz, E. M. Cushman, A. H. Hesse, Burton Hanbury, Alice Henderson, Iva Carlberg, Bennie Alexander, Harry Schultz, also Misses Anna Mae Hesse and Linda Windhorst, and Frank Phillips, Rex Mahoney, Neal Hutton and B. L. McClure, Jr.

Mahoney, also in addition to serving on the two-county committee, volunteered as a general utility man. Buford Moss directed the hall decorations and various downtown displays.

Myles Floyd was secretary of the 1941 campaign; Kenneth Lovell treasurer. The Rita Blanca studio contributed pictorial work. Albert Law directed publicity.

Jim C. Hammack, chairman of the Dallam-Hartley Counties chapter for Infantile Paralysis, which directs expenditures of polio funds in the two counties, gave invaluable aid in a number of ways. Mrs. Hammack was chairman of the Host and Hostess committee.

Hosts and hostesses for the two polio balls held in Dalhart were drawn from both counties and from a number of nearby towns and communities. They included:

At the Legion hall: Mr. and Mrs. Jess Kitching, Texline; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Harrell, Perico; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie H. Parker, Stratford; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ford, Boise City; Mrs. Hettie Baskin, Middlewater; Messrs. and Mesdames Raymond Stucker, W. L. Cotton, J. T. Mann, Tom Sechrist, J. C. Parker, Dr. and Mrs. Karl Pieratt, Miss Thera Baird and Meredith Ashby, Dalhart. The grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Thomas of Dalhart.

At the Trianon hall Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hammack led the grand march and the hosts and hostesses included: Mr. and Mrs. John McMillen and Mr. and Mrs. Gardie Bryant, Hartley; Mr. and Mrs. Hose Flores, Stratford; Mr. and Mrs. Noble Thomas, Channing; Frank Phillips, Middlewater; Dr. and Mrs. Artis Dawson; Messrs. and Mesdames Lyle Johnson, J. L. Wilson, O. W. Raillard, Dick Miller, Chas. Coombes, Albert Law, Cecil Jones, Herbert Peoples, Webb Wharton, Clyde Pipkin, and Mrs. T. L. Swearingen, Miss Luzelle Hicks and Mack McCreight, Dalhart.

Miss Katherine Coons, Dalhart dancing teacher, presented costume numbers at the Dalhart balls; Elmer Elliott made a piano available for one hall; all three of the city's lumber yards loaned and gave material, and the West Texas Utilities company furnished considerable labor, wiring and electricity.

Following a custom established last year, Texline again had its own dance in the Crystal ballroom of the Arrowhead cafe, which again was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Suddarth. Mr. and Mrs. Jess Kitching led the grand march at Texline and hosts and hostesses included Messrs. and Mesdames Temple Abney, Dick Abney, W. A. Halliburton, Roy Suddarth and Miss Pearl Wilson and C. A. Brown. "Undoubtedly," said Autry, "other persons in or near Texline contributed to the fine success of our program and I am deeply grateful to all of them."

Two outstanding polio events were the Community Night at Conlen, and a doubleheader basketball game last week at Texline.

Conlen turned its regular monthly Community Night program, Jan. 30, over to the polio program. A number of speakers were heard, games were played and the generous free will offering all went into the polio war chests.

The Texline high school boys and girls last week entertained the Stratford basketeers and dedicated the twin bill to the battle on behalf of American childhood and youth.

W. H. Johnson is able to be out after a two-week illness with flu.

Lana Turner, Anna Sklepovich, Wallace Beery and Carol Ann Beery

"Victim" of a joke played by her brother, but which backfired into the most thrilling moments of her life, Anna Sklepovich, 14-year-old Gary, W. Va., high school girl, celebrates her birthday with President Roosevelt at a gala Washington affair attended by many celebrities. The "Cinderella" of the president's birthday ball in the capital wrote a letter to President Roosevelt, congratulating him on his 59th birthday, Jan. 30, and mentioned that her birthday was the same day. The president replied, offering felicitations. Before Anna opened the letter, her brother opened it and added the postscript: "We would like to have you come to the White House and meet the president." Anna and her parents thought it was genuine and she went to Washington. Above, Anna dines with Lana Turner, screen player; Wallace Beery, also a film actor, and Beery's daughter, Carol Ann, right.

More Details On Extension Course

The state department of industrial education trade extension courses, which are to be formed at a meeting in the court house next Tuesday night at 7:30, will come in 48-hour units of study, according to C. M. Davis, of Austin, area coordinator who will attend the meeting.

The meeting, incidentally, is open to everyone interested, and attendance will impose absolutely no obligation. After they get all the facts they can enroll or not, as they like. Among courses offered will be care and operation of internal combustion engines, welding, electricity and maintenance and repair of general mechanical equipment.

Persons must be in work related to the instruction they wish to take, Davis said.

Usually, said Davis, classes meet twice a week, and a very important fact is that they meet in some location most convenient to the men who are enrolled. The place of meeting can be a residence, if big enough to accommodate the class; a clubroom or any other building that is adequate and convenient.

Davis estimated that total cost of a course will not be more than $4. Tuition will be $2. Cost of textbooks has not been determined, but he presumes that will not be more than $2.

Wendell Willkie and wife

Back in the United States after a two-week tour of Great Britain, Wendell L. Willkie, the defeated Republican presidential candidate in November, is shown with his wife posing for newsmen in New York. Talking to reporters, Willkie warned that "if we do give aid to Britain we are likely to stay out of war, while if we do not give aid to Britain, we shall probably become involved in war."

R. U. Counts Will Direct Registry

County Clerk R. U. Counts, who has directed the selective service registration in Dallam county last fall, has been made chairman of the committee to register all World War veterans in Dalhart and the area served by Dalhart Legion post, according to Post Commander Roy Noland. Committee members include O. V. Hartshorn, Burch Gregg, W. L. Cotton, Elmer D. Elliott and Ted Boatright. All officers of the Roy Rhoades post, Noland said, also will serve as ex-officio members of the committee and help in any way possible.

While the National American Legion accepted the responsibility of arranging for the registration, it is not to be thought of strictly as a Legion program or activity, Noland emphasized. It is a nationwide patriotic effort which seeks to compile an inventory of the man

Registration day is Feb. 22 at the Legion Home in Dalhart. But if veterans find they will be out of town, or cannot come to Dalhart that day, they can get questionnaires a time from Noland, Counts at his

Students To Attend Press Convention

About 10 members of the Dalhart Hi-Times staff and Mrs. H. H. Jackson, sponsor, are planning to attend the Panhandle High School Press association convention in Canyon Saturday, reports Miss Eleanor Cotton, editor.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. on the WTSC campus, and the convention during the day will hear Dr. Paul Popenoe, Los Angeles social office or Gregg at the First National Bank.

Noland emphasized that the registration is purely voluntary, but hope is that every World War veteran will register. In this hour of national crisis, one or a group of experts sometimes are urgently needed to prevent an impending bottleneck. This registration aims to provide the government which information as to where it can reach those experts if and when they are required, Noland said.

relations expert; Dr. Riddings of TCU; and John McCarty, Amarillo Daily News editor.

Entertainment during the day will include a luncheon, tea and dance. Dalhart is asked to bring one entertainment number, Miss Cotton said, which likely will be dance numbers by Betty Jane Cox and Roy Forson.

Gruver Man Is APCA Director

Emil Knutson of Gruver was re-elected to the board of directors of the Amarillo Production Credit association at its annual meeting there Wednesday. Over 100 members, 60 wives and 100 visitors attended and were served a John Snider barbecue luncheon.
