PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

President Wilson after the demands of the mine strike is called for the greatest steps ever proposed in this country affecting the economic welfare and the domestic comfort and health of the people. It is proposed to abrogate an agreement as to wages which was made with the sanction of the United States Fuel Administration and which was to run during the absence of the coal miners from April, 1920. This strike is proposed at a time when the government is making the most earnest effort to reduce the cost of living and to deal with the situation of the coal miners by postponing similar agreements until after the strike will practically shut off supplies of principle fuel when interference with it is calculated to create a fuel famine. All interests affected alike by a strike of this character and its victims would not be the rich only, but the poor and the needy as well. It would involve the cutting down of countless industries and the throwing out of employment of a large number of the workers of the country. It would involve stopping the operation of railroad, electric light and gas plants, street railways and other public utilities and the shipping to and from this country thus presenting our living aid to the Allied countries of supplies which the world is still in suspense, when their means of transport are certain need of fuel. The angle the subject may be apparent that such a strike would be a step toward the production and distribution of the necessities of life. A strike and these circumstances I do not only justify, it is unlawful.

The action proposed has apparently been taken without any vote on the specific proposition by the individual members of the United States Workers of America, throughout the United States, an almost unbroken proceeding. I cannot believe a right of any American worker as to the protection of the taking of an extraordinary step. When a moment reaches a point where it appears to be necessary to the entire productive capacity of the country a respect to one of the most vital necessities of daily domestic and industrial life and when the movement is one of the circumstances I have stated and in a manner which would be to the maximum benefit of the public welfare in the interest of one country's life, public interest becomes the paramount consideration.

RED CROSS IN TEXAS ACTS TO CHECK THE FLU

Special to The Times.

DALLAS, Oct. 25.—The possibility of a return of the epidemic of influenza that swept the country last winter has caused the Red Cross to take steps to check the epidemic and prevent its disastrous work. Prophe- sied by medical authorities through- out the country as a possible epi- demic during the winter of 1919-20, the Red Cross has worked out a plan of co-operation with local health au- thorities as well as providing for a survey of practically every locality in the country where the disease was most prevalent.

As a precautionary measure the sur- vey will provide immediate listing of the health assets of every community together with the listing of the names of women workers who are willing and qualified to serve as nurses or nurses' aids, and to select tentative sites for emergency "flu" hospitals.

The plan further includes the estab- lishment of "squads" of trained workers, each headed by a graduate nurse and composed of those women who have taken the Red Cross course in home hygiene and care of the sick. No one will be required to serve but any qualified person may volunteer. In the event of necessity plans are being made for the establishment of temporary hospitals.

"It is the primary ambition of the American Red Cross to be of serv- ice to Americans," said Dr. Living- ston Farrand, chairman of the cen- tral committee of the Red Cross, after announcing the peace time pro- gram of the Red Cross. In order to make the peace time program pos- sible the Red Cross will ask during the period of Nov. 2-Nov. 11, the heart and a dollar from every person who can give it.

The peace time program of the Red Cross will be the largest ever at- tempted, and with the large mem- bership of chapters in all sections of the United States, it is believed more can be accomplished than ever before. Stress is laid by Red Cross officials upon the fact that funds are not being solicited. A membership in the Red Cross is all that is desired by the Red Cross at $1 each.

The state headquarters, W. L. Fra- zier, director, has received in detail the plan of campaign, includes a "horugh" campaign of every nature to apprise the public of the peace time efforts of the Red Cross. Ar- rangements have already been made in numerous chapters throughout the state for special Red Cross programs and these will be followed out with programs in the schools and churches. The campaign for membership will be concluded on Nov. 11, when has already been set aside by the gov- ernor of Texas in official proclamation as Armistice day.

We are Worker Speaks to Big Street Crowds

Two large street audiences drank in the elixir of music which was dis- pensed Saturday afternoon by the quintette of the Bereahah Home We- fare workers, and heard the soul-stir- ring talks of Rev. J. T. Upchurch, chairman of the National Welfare As- sociation. Collections were taken at each performance for the support of fallen women in the Bereahah Home at Arlington, amounting in the ag- gregate to around $45.

Rev. Upchurch said the throngs how he came to identify himself with the welfare movement, relinquishing a lucrative commercial pursuit in order to assume the strenuous labors and discouragements of battling for the redemption of outcast women.

In his talks he pleaded for parity among the people, for the elimination of the double standard of morals. He affirmed that he was as much engaged in fighting for the nation as was any of the lads who fought the Kaiser on Flanders fields.

He severely condemned the legis- lators who enacted laws licensing the operation of bawdy houses. He gave some of his personal experiences in redemptive work, told of the institu- tion which he had founded at Ar- lington, how it is being supported by free-will offerings, and of the means employed to reclaim women from lives of shame and send them forth pre- pared to do useful work and be living examples of what Christianity can do for the most vile.

The speaker spoke recently of the Sermon, a copy of which he held aloft when referring to his love for them. It had been the redeeming fea- ture in his life and had set before him a gigantic task in which he sought the cooperation of the people. He said he reads the book through once a year.

Rev. Upchurch will be heard at the Young schoolhouse, at the Methodist church and the Hippodrome Theater today. He carries a strong message of appeal to all people and the institu- tion which he represents is receiving the support of all moral and church forces of the state.

PUTNAM SHALLOW FIELD SHOWS WONDERFUL DEVELOPMENT; GRANT NO. 1 IS CONSIDERABLE GASSER

BAIRD, Texas, Oct. 25.—The Ohio Cities Grant No. 1 is still making about 10,000,000 feet of wet gas at 178 feet, having gone 56 feet in the sand, and is considered one of the best showings at this depth encoun- tered in this entire region. Leases in the vicinity of this well are changing hands at greatly advanced prices.

The sand as well as another around 800 feet has been struck in many wells over a stretch of twenty miles, showing from five to thirty barrels of oil or a large volume of gas and is confidently expected a valuable shallow field will be developed in what is known as the Admiral Valley—loca- tions for many shallow wells having air—sily been made.

The Roxana Petroleum company has made a location on their Smartt lease, one and one-half miles west of the Ohio Cities well for a deep test. The Roxana has also made a loca- tion on their structure six miles south- west of Cottonwood.

Roxana Hart No. 1 is drilling at 1905 feet. The well showed for about 15 barrels at 547 feet and an equally good sand at 747. Another oil sand was struck at 1721 feet. Several star rigs will soon begin drilling for this shale well.

Roxana Hart No. 2 is a location about eight miles northwest of Baird. Allied Oil Co. Hart No. 1 is shut down at 2,675 waiting for tools.

Pierce Oil Corporation Tabor No. 1 is drilling at 1440 feet, having en- countered 115 feet of sand at 1120. This well is eight miles west of the Pierce well.

Vander Weide Norman Oil company Harris No. 1 is waiting for drillers at 170 feet, six miles southwest of Clyde. McGinley-Lewis-Choate Cordwint No. 1, eleven miles southeast of Baird, changing contractors. This well is lo- cated three miles southwest of Baird. The Ohio Cities gasser.

Western Oil & Gas company Odum No. 1 is preparing to test an oil sand encountered at 1220 feet. This is seven miles south of Cordwint No. 1.

Midland Oil company Powell No. 1, five miles west of Cordwint well, is drilling at 175 feet.

Clyde-Callahan Oil company Woody No. 1 waiting for fuel at 185 feet, four miles northwest of Baird.

Byron Union Oil company Hennes- sey No. 1, six miles northwest of Baird, building rig.

ROYAL NORTHWEST MOUNTED POLICE AGAIN ORGANIZED

One of the Mounted men from Bonfir, Alberta.

The men of the Mounted are equipped for business

Perhaps the most famous body of men charged with preserving law and order in the world is the Canadian Royal Northwest Mounted Police. For many years they have enjoyed a world-wide and hard-earned reputation for daring and tenacity. It is said that when one of the Mounted sets after a man, either he comes back with a fugitive or he or his quarry is dead.

Now that the war is over, the Mounted is revived. About 3,000 men, mostly returned soldiers, are now in this organization, the requirements of which demand an almost perfect man in physique, mentality, courage and character. Recently in British Columbia they have undertaken a new branch of service. In the past they have been navigators of the trackless prairies, northland barrens and foothill forests of Canada. Now they have started an ocean patrol. This is the first time they have done any patrol work on any but inland waterways. A powerful 30 ton seaworthy launch has been fitted out to patrol the logging camps of the Pacific coast.

About the only thing in common with other weddings was a ceremony and an ordained minister to tie the knot. The ritual of the wedding omitted all the promises and leaned toward compliments. It was a double ring ceremony, the bride first presenting the groom with a ring, and the same time praising his "courage, truthfulness and grace." In return the groom credited his bride with four virtues—"naturalness, purity, justice and beauty." When asked why "love, honor and obey" were omitted the doctor answered with a start: "Why bother with promises? Rats!"

Properties which partake of the aspect described should be cleaned up. The practice of using the creeks in the city limit as receptacles for every form of matter not wanted around one's place should cease. Beds of these creeks should be visited and all such objectionable matter removed. These creeks can be made pretty places through our town instead of an open-air sewer system. The city has an underground sewer system which should be used. Unless the practice is stopped Ranger cannot become a desirable place for the new comers. Ranger's worst sanitary conditions are in the business section. This should be the cleanest. A little energy and a little coaxing by fines should remedy this evil.

THE ROAD AMENDMENT. Millions of dollars of money is being wasted in Texas through inadequate road construction. A policy which would give the state highway commission jurisdiction over these expenditures would result in stopping a great part of this waste and building a far better type of road—A. C. Baldwin, Manager, Campaign Committee Supporting the Constitutional Amendment to Establish State System of Public Highways.

On November 4 the suffrage of Texas will be called upon to vote on House Joint Resolution No. 13, which will authorize the legislature to provide the state highway commission with means for building a state system of highways. Mr. Baldwin in a letter addressed to good roads disciples gives the following simple explanation of the matter: "The importance of this proposed constitutional amendment is far greater than the bonds it is intended to authorize. It means a fixed and definite policy for taking Texas out of the mud."

"The entire amount of bonds authorized, even though issued within the next fifteen years, would increase the tax rate only six and one-half cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, which is too small an amount to be considered as an objection to road improvement." The federal government has apportioned to Texas sixteen million of dollars for road building; this amount available, however, only when roads are approved, by the Texas State Highway Commission, and when Texas has provided a sum at least equal to the federal money used. Texas can never have a state system of highways until the people vote authority to the legislature to raise funds sufficient to connect up the county highways.

Some of the benefits pointed out by improved highways are: School attendance will be better, and our people will therefore be better educated. Health will be better, for bad roads conduce to illness and delay the doctor. Farming will pay better, for more and better men will farm and it will cost less to market farm products. Churches will be more prosperous and there will be better citizenship. Social conditions will improve and there will be less isolation and warmer friendships. Mail will be more accessible and men will be better posted on the business of their government, which means better public service. Business will be better and people better cared for. Industry will be stimulated, giving more employment and more of the necessities of life. Neighborhoods, counties, state and nation will all grow better and happier when drawn closer together by better roads. All of Eastland county and, as far that matter, all of West Texas must unite to see that the legislature is clothed with the authority to make possible of road construction era which will bring about all the benefits of which good highways are capable. The importance of voting was never more patent in Texas—at a time when it is reaching the peak of its highest development. Texas cannot remain in the mud—it must get on higher ground. "What are you in here for?" asked the visitor of an inmate of a cell in the federal penitentiary. "For selling three beans for a nickel," he ejaculated. CENTRAL ADDN. SOON TO BE PUT ON THE MARKET

The work of putting the new Hodges' Central addition in shape for the market is rapidly going forward. The addition consists of 245 acres lying south of Young addition and east of the Texas & Pacific railroad. A contract has been signed with Bert O. Driver and Malcolm B. Proper of Minneapolis, Minn., for the exclusive handling of the addition. Driver and Proper are representa- tives of Thorpe Bros., who are the largest real estate operators in the northwest.

There are 300 business lots and 900 residence lots in the addition. Each lot is 50x140 feet. The survey has been completed and all lots staked off. The ground is being mowed and cleared of obstructions, and all streets will be graded within the next few days.

Ornamental sign posts will be placed at each main entrance, giving the names of the streets. An admin- istration building, located at Fifth and Bowie streets, in the center of the tract is under construction.

Mr. Proper said to a reporter for The Daily Times that he expects to put the Hodges Central addition upon the market on or before November 10. He and Mr. Driver have been negotiating for the sale of the prop- erty for several months. Owing to the fact that there are a number of heirs to the estate it took some time to reach an agreement satisfactory to all concerned.

While awaiting developments in this deal, Mr. Driver and Mr. Proper sent the Sibley-Taylor addition in Wichita Falls upon the market and sold 510 lots within two months' time, on the basis of one-fourth down and 5 per cent a month thereafter.

The Hodges Central addition is the largest single addition placed on the market in Ranger, it is said, and curiously it is surrounded by well- developed property. Mr. Proper ex- pressed the belief that, owing to its convenient location, the lots would who desire costly residences. It is already made inquiries as to prices. When asked what restrictions would be placed upon buildings in the addition, Mr. Proper said teaming camps and wagon yards would not be allowed, and that a four-room house of standard construction would be the minimum allowed. Certain blocks will be reserved for those

The city commission is consider- ing the advisability of opening up Lamar, Houston and Fannin streets to connect up with the addition.

Bob Kennedy's Luck Well Displayed in Film, 'Grim Game'

The inspired press agent, giving an otherwise true account of a camera incident, slights a boy well known locally, who just last week left Ranger, via the air route, for New York.

Here's the way the inspired P. A. tells it:

THRILLING CRASH IN AIR IS CLIMAX IN HOUDINI PICTURE

One of the most amazing air accidents in the history of aviation forms the sensational climax of a new Paramount-Areraft picture, "The Grim Game," starring Houdini, the most famous handcuff king, which is coming to the Lone Star theater Monday and Tuesday.

According to the story, Houdini in an airplane is pursuing a murderer, who is trying to escape in another machine. At a height of 3,000 feet Houdini is supposed to glide above the other machine, let himself down into the cockpit beside the murderer by means of a rope, and throttle him.

All went well with the stunt, the two machines circling one above the other and a third, containing Director Willard and the photographer, about a hundred yards away, until Houdini was just about to lose his hold on the rope. Then suddenly a gust of wind lifted the lower plane into the upper one, and their propellers, locked. They dropped like rockets, revolving nose on nose, with Houdini dangling on the rope and the two aviators making frantic efforts to control their machines. Death seemed certain. But a few hundred feet from the ground, with both propellers gone, one of the aviators by a miracle, succeeded in falling into a glide, and, though the other crashed nose-on into a field, the only injuries sustained were slight bruises.

Here is the truth. Mr. Houdini, skilled enough in tricks with handcuffs and able to jump off bridges, manacled and free himself to escape drowning, is not an aviator. So Bob Kennedy, former army pilot, was chosen for this task. He doubled for the hand-cuff king. Bob is one of the Ranger to New York City pilots who is advertising Ranger on the eastern voyage.

Bob had turned the trick of changing from one plane to another before and would have done it this time, but for a track of the wind.

He was about to drop from the plane above to the fleeing airplane. A puff of wind caught the lower plane and the two ships tangled. They fell, in a twisting dive, still locked together. The ship containing the camera man followed. A few feet from the ground, the ships came apart, but too late to recover stability. Both crashed. Bob still was hanging by the rope. Miraculously, he escaped without serious injury as did the pilots of both airplanes.

The camera man, not too excited by the business of tragedy, realized that was an opportunity that would come again, and as the two followed the luckless pair in their fall, he caught a rare film record of it. Collier's Weekly devoted a page to Bob's wild exploit, reproducing three of the pictures that the camera caught.

The film shows the entire fall.

"MODEL GIRLS"

Perhaps you have wondered where the wax-faced queens come from which you see in the shop windows, lazily staring into space for hours on end. If you have, your curiosity will be satisfied by seeing the new Paramount picture, entitled "Model Girls," which will be shown at the city theater soon. This new Paramount picture in natural colors shows the making of a wax model from the time the sculptor reproduces the form from living models until it is finally clothed and placed in position for its tireless pose. It shows in all its colors how the form is moulded, how the hair is put into place, how the eyes are selected to "match the gown" and how the eye brows and lashes are inserted. The tinting of the face is particularly interesting.

The Prisma picture for the audience to grow on the show window.

"NO CHARMS"

"REGULAR GIRL"

It comes to the Opera House in her first Selwyn "Regular Girl," found the charms between the studio to make up for the had been on the stage years, and never before in her used grease-paint. The instructions she had received to make-up for the screen were obeyed, but her ret were the when Elsie had to become accustomed to carrying them out. She had charms compared to this sticky paste, and travelling benches did not hold half the her first a green pencil.

"Elsie was miserable," her mother plains. "It almost distracted her to smeared up like that, and it pretty made her camera man and director collapse when they could not get her to stop concentrating her face." And it is a known fact, around the anyone who did not know her well

PITTSBURG, Oct. 25.—The day of the "cinema" and the "projectionist" has arrived. "Movies" and "operators" have gone to the dump.

Dignity must be served, the high-brows of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers ruled in their convention here, and the industry received a great uplift.

"The term 'movies' is entirely too lacking in dignity," said one delegate. "Cinema" has the real tone.

"And operators—heaven forbid!" protested another.

From that moment the fellows who stay in the little coop back of the house ceased to operate. They started to project. It was reasoned that with the application of the term "projectionists" the profession will be endowed with more of a tinge of the artistic and feel a deeper sense of dignity in their work.

But there is more. The room of the projectionist must be transformed. The walls must give way to glass so all the world, if it cares to, may watch the projectionist at work.

It was announced at the convention that 1,000,000,000 feet of film had been manufactured in the United States during the last year and that $40,000,000 has been expended.

Standardization of the industry must come before an improvement can be shown in the business, it was agreed. Machines, projectors, lenses, screens, everything, therefore, will be of standard manufacture after a while.

WOMEN LEARN BELL-RINGING AS BEAUTY AID

International News Service.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—To retain your maidenly beauty, good lines and young man who can race a youth to the belfry top and blow away a blow after doing it, says bell ringing is the most healthful occupation in the world.

Especially for women. He wants women bell ringers. He's teaching some of them the art of bell ringing now.

"They're a bit shy at first, but they come right up to the mark very quickly. And when the St. Giles Parish Church started inquiring for lady bell ringers and the ladies heard the alluring reports about knocking ten or twenty years off their figure and complexion by bell ringing, they stood in line to volunteer.

HICCUGHS EPIDEMIC HITS FRISCO—DOCTORS PUZZLED

International News Service. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25.—A prevalence of hiccoughs in San Francisco has caused medical men concern. A debate has already gone the rounds:

"It is caused by wildcat booze or air?"

This question has been asked a number of medics with resulting differences of opinion. Some contend that the hiccoughs among imbibers of blind pig liquor are directly traceable to concoctions served as "the real bonded dope," while others contend that the diaphragmatic spasms are caused by a weakened influenza germ that continues to float about despite the fact that the "flu" season is closed.

In any event the hiccoughs are with the population and physicians have been given considerable concern.

"THE GRIM GAME"

A Paramount-Areraft Picture

Here's a list of the big thrills in "The Grim Game."

Houdini's attempt to evade the police by dashing down a flight of steps and jumping clear of an automobile.

Houdini's liberation of himself from all modern chain and handcuff devices known to the police.

Houdini's escape from a prison cell over the roof and down a flagpole rope.

Houdini's roll under a moving truck and with lightning speed grasping the rods beneath and riding away to safety.

Houdini's liberation of himself from a straitjacket hanging head-down from the roof of a high building, followed by his and his miraculous escape from death by grasping an awning.

Houdini's escape from an old Indian bear trap, and he is suspended in the air by all four limbs.

And Houdini's marvelous death-defying duels with his enemy, terminating with the crash of the plane when the propellers lock!

The above feature will be shown in its entirety on Monday and Tuesday, and take our word, "It's the best picture of the year."

HOW FIELDS IN U. S. WERE WORKED

Dr. J. A. Waterhouse, veteran geologist and driller, now of Fort Worth, penned the following description of the early development of oil in America. Dr. Waterhouse was a boy in knickerbockers when Col. Drake brought in the first well in Oil Creek, Pennsylvania, 1859.

Sixty years ago, on the banks of a small stream flowing through the hills of western Pennsylvania, an infant was born. That infant is now grown to be a giant and its name is Petroleum.

The little stream was called Oil creek and is supposed to have been so named from the numerous seepings of an oily, greenish liquid found along its course and which the Indians are said to have gathered by spreading blankets on the water, soaking up the oily seum, then selling or trading it to the early white settlers, who used it as a medicine and called it "Seneca oil."

The first oil well was drilled by Col. Drake on the banks of Oil creek in 1859. He was laughed at and called a crazy fool, but he persisted in his venture through eighteen months of disheartening work and discouragements that would have caused anyone of less courage to abandon the enterprise, but when success finally crowned his efforts and oil gushed out of the small hole, scarce a hundred feet in depth, the excitement was intense and soon spread far and wide.

Thousands of people literally stampeded into the little hamlet of Titusville, nearby, and the valley of Oil creek was a seething hive of crazed humanity. Land within a few miles of the well was cut up into one-acre tracts and sold for fabulous sums, while the wooded hill farms for fifty miles in all directions doubled and tripled in value seemingly overnight. The county was alive with speculators and all sorts of crazed humanity, a veritable saturnalia of excitement. In fact, a condition aptly described by the homely but expressive phrase, "Hell has let out for noon."

OLD OIL LEASES.

An oil lease of these early days would now be a curiosity. It granted the landowner a royalty of 1-4 to 1-3 of the oil and stipulated that it was to be "delivered in ironbound barrels with their ends painted white," this being done to distinguish it from the lessee's oil. For some years the only method of handling the oil was to barrel it down to "the creek," and thence on down the Allegheny river to Pittsburg, where a small plant had been erected and was experimenting with the oil trying to refine it.

In '65 I saw hundreds of four-horse teams hauling six-barrel loads down the steep clay hillsides along Oil creek, the mud being so deep that the loaded wagons slid along on the hubs.

Three dollar a barrel was the usual price paid for hauling from the well to the creek. The oil was pumped into wooden tanks, then into iron barrels. Hauling oil was a profitable business and it ran down the creek.

FARMERETTES IN THE HOLY LAND

American Corn at Bethlehem.

Jewish Farmerettes

Islestin's Ancient Cedars

The farmerette idea has invaded even the Holy Land, according to the latest reports received in New York from Jerusalem by the American Jewish Relief Committee.

American farmerettes helped win the war, and then many of them folded up their overalls. These Judea farmerettes, on the contrary, are going in for the tremendously harder task of reconstruction farming. Their job is to transform the Holy City into a garden spot from the place of desolating poverty that war has left it and to help provide additional food supplies for the starving Jewish women and children in the Holy Land.

Sixty Jewish girls from fourteen to twenty years old, almost all of them orphaned, many of them victims of the Turkish invasion, are engaged in this work at present, and their number is increasing every day. Their wages are paid by the Joint Distribution Committee of American Funds for Jewish War Sufferers, which is fostering the farming plan, and one of whose constituent bodies, the American Jewish Relief Committee, is now engaged in a series of state campaigns in this country to raise its coming year's relief fund of $35,000,000. Tools are loaned by the American Red Cross, and seeds are given by the same organization, or sent from England, or purchased locally by American Jewish Relief agents.

Four stony, uncultivated wastes have already been turned into flourishing market-gardens, by the Judea farmerettes, known locally as the Jerusalem Land Girls, whose occupation is all the style in the Holy City. Girls who turn up their noses at the idea of doing domestic work crowd around the gardens, begging to be taken on as farmerettes.

sell the first well to pay for the first dry hole, in addition to which we both worked eighteen hours a day for the next six months until the debt was paid. Then and there, were two wildcatters born.

THE WILDCATTER.

Once a wildcatter, always one. It gets into the blood and once there, is permanent like the color of the hair or a tendency to be a liar. Thus through the years, the romance of oil has grown and the giant Petroleum is one of the rulers of the world. Indeed by his mighty work in the recent world cataclysm it may almost be claimed that he saved civilization itself.

In closing, I pause to ask, to whom belongs the lasting honor, even glory for this great development and rounding out of the age of petroleum?

Unhesitatingly I answer, "the wildcatter." Those hard and intrepid pioneers who could not be stepped by any obstacle or discouragement. The men who found the oil. In Pennsylvania, in the mountains of Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky; under the prairies of Indiana, of Illinois and of Kansas and Oklahoma and who are still with undiminished courage playing out the great drama of oil on the rolling plains of the great state of Texas. All honor to them.

Should the writers "oil ship" ever come in, there will arise on the banks of the little stream among the Pennsylvania hills a stately monument. On its rugged face will be carved the heroic figure of the wildcatter and as the morning sun throws its beams across that granite face, the onlooker will see reflected thereon in all the sunlight's glory, courage that nothing could damp, hope that never died and, sublimest of all, faith, that so beautifully described by Paul, "Things not seen; The substance of things hoped for," and underneath this grand figure will be inscribed, "Erected in grateful memory, by one of the fools."

CHARACTER BY HIS SIGNATURE

International News Service
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—What's in a name? Shakespeare said that, and he knew what he was talking about, because his signature is far more interesting than the nomenclatural designation with which his parents equipped him. Take a look at his signature, photographed for this story, if you don't believe that. Then see how Albert, King of the Belgians signs his front name.
As for the King's family name, nobody seems to know. It really doesn't matter, anyway, for in the signature A-L-B-E-R-T, His Majesty, psycho-analyzed, investigated, probed, judged and generally third-degreed for the International News Service by chirographic and graphological experts (the long words are harmless), we have the whole clue to His Majesty's character, mentality and physical and psychic conditions.
Don't believe it? Well, then, meet J. Vreeland Haring, of No. 13 Park Row, handwriting expert, penman, facsimile artist, graphologist, when it is necessary, and all-around terror of forgers, and who is attached to District Attorney Swann's staff to tell judges just what's what in poison-pen letter cases, and all matters pertaining to handwriting. He has much to say about the subjects of this story.
For instance, Queen Elizabeth, signing her name in a bold, dashing masculine hand, gives us an insight into a character that is essentially different from that of the King. Leopold's chirography shows that he differs quite a deal from both his parents, and if he ever ascends the throne of Belgium will cock his crown at a more capricious angle and swing his sceptre in a manner different from his father's.
"His older than the pyramids, this science of deducing character from handwriting, Egypt, the mother of knowledge, claims the birth of the study. And as, in the way Elizabeth craves her "e" and dots her "i," and in the fashion that Albert carefully outlines his "A" and draws a flourish under his name, and in the manner young Leopold signs himself "de Belgique" in a cramped, still unformed hand, the expert in handwriting sees indeed the handwriting of the man.
Woodrow Wilson scribbles his name to some State document, and the pen-painter's resourcefulness for all who can read. Washington may not have it, but he left an excellent example of himself in his quaint, hunched, old-fashioned hand. Henry Clay prepared for future generations his laud artistic character, and Abraham Lincoln told the history of his development in eight letters in a fine, running chirography.
"Shakespeare? Now there is the contradiction that proves the rule. According to Mr. Haring, Shakespeare must have written with his legs wrapped about the legs of his chair, his tongue between his eye-teeth, his eyes cocked and agony in his soul. And if he wrote his pinyas himself he must have written simultaneously with both hands and at least one foot.
Note how Albert gracefully etches that "A" beginning his name and how simple the whole signature. It's good free hand, says Mr. Haring, and it bears out what history knows. Albert's character. That flourish called a "rubric" and to produce such a signature one must have a roving memory, a keen eye, nerves like taut steel wires and superior muscular control. A man writing such a hand is the man to be trusted, declares the handwriting expert. It indicates a nature that is refinement itself. It is confident, true, and the evenness of the pressure upon the pen shows a faithfulness and resolution.
Albert, who signed with himself, Leopold has not yet learned to write, and does not display the refinement of his penmanship, but as Mr. Haring says, his signature in the Cave of the Nephews, he is willing to bet that the little fellow of her own, is quick in his decisions, and has a royal consort lacks a sense of humor.
Woodrow Wilson, the President's character, leaning toward greater individuality of personality than he was. Woodrow, the handwriter of things, is far more creative than Albert. Indeed, some experts go as far as to say that there is some positively impressive about the way in which Woodrow describes himself in every name. A true lover of a rubric, he signs "W. W."
Woodrow's handwriting is a masterpiece, his plain, graceful signature.

FOUGHT ONCE BUT ANXIOUS FOR MORE WAR

Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 26 (by mail).—Some of the soldiers who served in the great war are finding the humdrum life of the civilian too monotonous to endure and are offering to risk their lives in campaigns anywhere in any adventure to escape the tedium of office or shop life. An example is shown in the following advertisement which appeared in a London paper the other day:
"Young ex-soldier, three times wounded will risk life for 200 pounds, tired of life and alone; write—" etc.
Inquiry disclosed that the advertiser was formerly a stretcher bearer in the royal army medical corps, who won the military medal at Martinpuich and later at Ypres won a bar to the medal. After his discharge he obtained employment as civilian clerk in the royal air force.
"I am paid 3 pounds a week," he told an interviewer, "but I am ashamed to take it. For weeks I have not done a stroke of work. Doing nothing all day is getting on my nerves. I cannot stand it; I want action. Perhaps some cinema firm might want somebody for a particularly risky job."
Recently four officers advertised themselves as ready to enlist in any capacity, in any campaign, for any country, provided there was "some fighting to be done."

Denikin Is Not First Captor of City of Odessa

International News Service.
WARSAW, Oct. 25.—A small group of former Russian officers and a handful of civilians, driven to distraction by starvation and a regime of terrorism and murder, were the real captors of Odessa, the Bolshevik stronghold, and not General Denikin's troops, according to a story brought to Warsaw by Capt. Leo J. McGuire of Tulsa, Okla., the first American to enter the city.
Captain McGuire was sent to Odessa by the American Red Cross to ransom fifty-six Polish families which had been left behind when General Belikowski and his troops were forced to evacuate. Some of the women were the wives of Polish officers. Early in September the French military mission here was informed that the families would be released upon the payment of a sack of American flour for every woman held. The Bolsheviks stipulated however, that only an American official would be received as the Polish representative. Accordingly, Captain McGuire was chosen and started on his perilous journey, accompanied only by an interpreter.
He attached his two boxcars of ransom flour to a military train leaving Warsaw for Lemberg. From Lemberg by dint of bluff, bribery and the prestige of an American uniform, he traveled south through the Ukraine and Rumania to Galatz, a city on the Danube, 10 miles from the Black Sea. It had been arranged for a French gunboat to take McGuire and his supplies thence to Odessa by way of the Black Sea. While the captain was en route, however, Odessa fell and the gunboat was being used for the transportation of Denikin's rear guard battalions. McGuire chartered a small steamer and continued on his journey.
His mission was not made much easier by the occupation of Denikin's soldiers, and upon arrival he had to prove to the Russian army of occupation that he was representing the American Red Cross and the Polish government. This done, his real task started—to single out from among 1,500,000 Russians, Jews and Ukrainians the Polish refugees.

PASSENGERS AND CREW OF FRENCH LINER VENEZIA RESCUED BY STEAMER CHICAGO WHEN VESSEL SINKS IN MID-ATLANTIC

The burning Venezia and some of its passengers as they looked on their arrival in New York.

One of the greatest ocean disasters that have occurred since the close of the war was the recent burning of the French liner Venezia in mid-Atlantic. Although the vessel was lost, all the passengers and members of the crew, together with some baggage and mail, were rescued by the steamer Chicago and brought to New York. There were many women and children on board.

Eventually he found them, living under conditions much resembling those of a town in Northern France during the German occupation. The Bolsheviks had destroyed whole blocks of houses, first rifting them with amazing thoughtfulness. The condition of the captives was pitiful. They had been nearly starved, and but for the help of a few former Russian officers they would, indeed, have died. Bread had gone up to 130 rubles, in addition to the price of bribing an official of the Red army to purchase the food in his name.
The city's water supply broke down completely toward the end of the Bolsheviks' occupation, compelling the wretched people to go either to wells guarded by soviet soldiers or filthy pools dug along the beach. Cholera killed thousands.
Then, according to the story, Captain McGuire, heard from many sources, the former Russian officers and the little group of civilians realized they must drive out the Bolsheviks with the chance of being killed immediately or continue under the distressing conditions and die by inches. Not knowing that even then Denikin was ready to hurl his troops into the stricken city, they chose the former course.
They gained control of the city before the Bolsheviks marched in. It was then that McGuire found the Polish captives of the Red army.
He saw—

IN SAYS OR MEET OF AT IMPORT

International News Service.
Oct. 25.—Under the labor Babel at Washington Daily Mail carries pointing out the worldwide of the international meet- rial and government ex- a will meet in Washington. ference promises to be an of momentous and unpre- mport to employers and the whole of the world's says the Mail, which con- ference is a part of the of the League of Nations. s from all the allied and ne- tries are being invited by ted States government, and sible that representatives of and Austrian industry will admitted. As these enemy es are not yet included in the of Nations, the United States ment has not included them in of invitations, but the inter- al trades unionists who assem- ast July in Amsterdam insisted they should be admitted, and no cle will therefore be opposed to passage to Washington, where question of their admission will decided by the conference itself. Of the other nations invited no wer than forty-five, Mr. Barnes forms me, have notified their ap- ptance, all being keen to take part or the honor and credit of their ountry. Each nation is entitled to end four delegates, two represent- ing its government and one each to represent the employers and labor. here are allowed the help of six or ven expert advisers for each item in the agenda, and the assembly is herefore likely to number some six y seven hundred persons.

"There will be delegates from the new nations of Europe—Poland, rch-Croat-Slovenia and Czechoslo- akia; from all the South American ublics—Nicaragua, Guatemala, uador, Bolivia, etc.; from Cuba Hayti, and even from the king- of Hedjaz. The world has sur- never seen so motley a concourse heard such a babel of tongues.

"The business to be attempted is- ily notable. The conference will establish the guiding principle ough the world's industry that shall not be regarded merely commodity or article of com- The right of association, the of wages providing a reason- anded of life equal pay for wmen, the adoption of the eight-hour day and a weekly rest day, and the abolition of child labor are other principles and conditions which the conference will endeavor to extend over all industrial countries.

"The weak point in the scheme ap- pears to be the inability of the con- ference to enforce its own decrees. During the discussion in Paris the French, Italian and Belgian dele- gation proposed that it should be in- vested with legislative powers, but was thought Mr. Barnes says, that if an attempt were made at this stage to deprive states of a large measure of their sovereignty in re- gard to labor legislation the result would be that a number of states would either refuse to accept the present convention altogether, or, if they accepted it would subsequently denounce it, and might even prefer to resign their membership in the League of Nations than jeopardize their national economic position by being obliged to carry out the deci- sions of the international labor coun- cil.

"It was therefore decided, after much debate, that the decisions of the conference shall take the form of recommendations which each state undertakes to submit within one year to its legislative authority, and it is thought that the propaganda and agi- tation which would inevitably coin- cide with his parliamentary action would usually secure the adoption of the measure. But the commission opes that an agreement between e high contracting parties will be long endow the labor conference power to take, under conditions determined, resolutions possess- force of international law."

NOTED BOTANISTS IN HEDGE CONTROVERSY
International News Service.
EYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 25.— ed botanists from institutions of arning in the effete East may be called here to decide whether the six- black hedge around City park is bar berry or tartarian honeysuckle.

Agents of the department of agri- culture from Washington, declaring that the hedge was barberry and a prolific breeder of black stem rust, destructive to wheat, ordered the hedge destroyed.

Henry Altman, who laid out the park and superintended the building of the hedge a decade ago, claims it is tartarian honeysuckle and is waging a spirited campaign to have the civic improvement retained.

FATHER KILLED BY CAR, CHILD IN HIS ARMS
International News Service.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—His three- year-old daughter hurled from his arms, Cornelius Murphy, a striking longshoreman of this city, was run over and killed when he attempted to stop a surface car. His wife was with him, carrying a smaller baby in her arms. The child Murphy was carrying was painfully, but not seri- ously, injured and will recover.

HIKING TO OL' VIRGINNY WITH A MERE MULE

By Associated Press
GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 25.— Airplanes may roar above railroad trains rush over the rails and automobiles whiz past, but the age of rapid transit does not concern A. H. Price, who is traveling with a donkey from Schroon Lake, in the Adirondack mountains, to Virginia.

When Price was a boy he read Robert Louis Stevenson's "Travels With a Donkey." The desire of emula- tion was kindled in his bosom and these embers never have died out during the years that have passed since, in which Price has married and acquired a family of two children. After camping all summer be- neath the pines on the shore of Schroon, he has sailed forth with burro, babes and wife to seek the balmy air of "Ol' Virginny." The donkey is a high-bred animal and came all the way from Denver, where it won the blue ribbon at the Colo- rado state fair in 1915.

"But even if this burro did carry away first honors in the woolly west, it is hardly equal to hauling the Price family over the long distance they aim to cover. So Papa Price, borrowing an idea from the Indian squaw's method of carrying her papoose, has fastened a pack-basket to his back and into it has tucked Drew Hale Price, his nine-month- old youngster, whose rugged, chubby face peeps over his daddy's shoulder, "babirrin'" how the world was made, as his daddy trudges southward, lead- ing the donkey. At Price's side walks his wife, a pretty, unburned woman, wearing blue jeans, her legs encased in leggings. The other fe- male member of the brood, Miss Dorothy Price, aged two, is the only one privileged to ride. In the two- wheeled cart which the donkey hauls, rigged to resemble a miniature prairie schooner of the days of '49, she nestles beneath the canvas top. She is couched on the party's duffel, which includes a small tent to shelter them at night when they tether the burro and "squat" by the roadside at whatever point on the broad highway the wait of their animal has permit- ted them to attain.

MUENSTER WELL MAY

The Fairfield family was absorbed in the breakfast table when the door opened and Mrs. Garfield spoke abruptly: "Mother, read the 'Watchman'." That man hits the nail square every time; and Carl's dear of yours for Memorial day have to be called off. Seems Grace been a notice in the papers that committee of arrangements for parade wants the loan of cars to carry the old vets. They need twenty. Memorial day is two days off and exactly four people have volunteered to work on the holiday to get out that rush war order and I can't do less. I'm late now, but I'll phone our name in before I leave.

The family kept quiet while Mr. Fairfield's voice sounded at the telephone and until the front door shut behind him. Then Carl broke forth in that heartbreaking tone which only seventeen can assume: "Mother, I simply won't stand for it. We made all the arrangements a month ago for that picnic and father promised then I could have the car. It isn't fair. There are plenty of other people who can lend their cars for the parade.

Carl waited dutifully until his father finished, but not an instant longer. "But I don't get you, dad; I asked you a month ago for the car on that day and I've invited Grace Garfield to go with me and I'm to take four others. It's too late for me to back out now."

"Not another word, Carl, his father interrupted, sternly; you are to drive that car in the parade Thursday. The men in the factory have volunteered to work on the holiday to get out that rush war order and I can't do less. I'm late now, but I'll phone our name in before I leave.

"PERRY" PROBABLY FOUND "POT OF GOLD"

International News Service. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—

Somewhere today there's a lucky laborer known as "Perry."

Perry is his first name. He was helping excavate the basement of a building when his shovel struck the bones of a human and then an iron chest. He tugged at the chest, made away from the scene as fast as he could and has not been heard from since. His fellow workers believe he found a "pot of gold." He has failed to return for wages due him from the contractor.

SAYS WOMEN IN SHIP BUILDING WILL STAY

International News Service. LONDON, Oct. 25.—"Women have come into shipbuilding and engineering and have come to stay," says Professor Kirkaldy of Birmingham university.

Figures prepared by Miss L. Grier, however, show that, taking industry as a whole, there are only 3 per cent more women employed now than in 1914. Where at the time of the armistice 36 per cent of all industrial employer were women, women now form only 28 per cent.

Our Officers

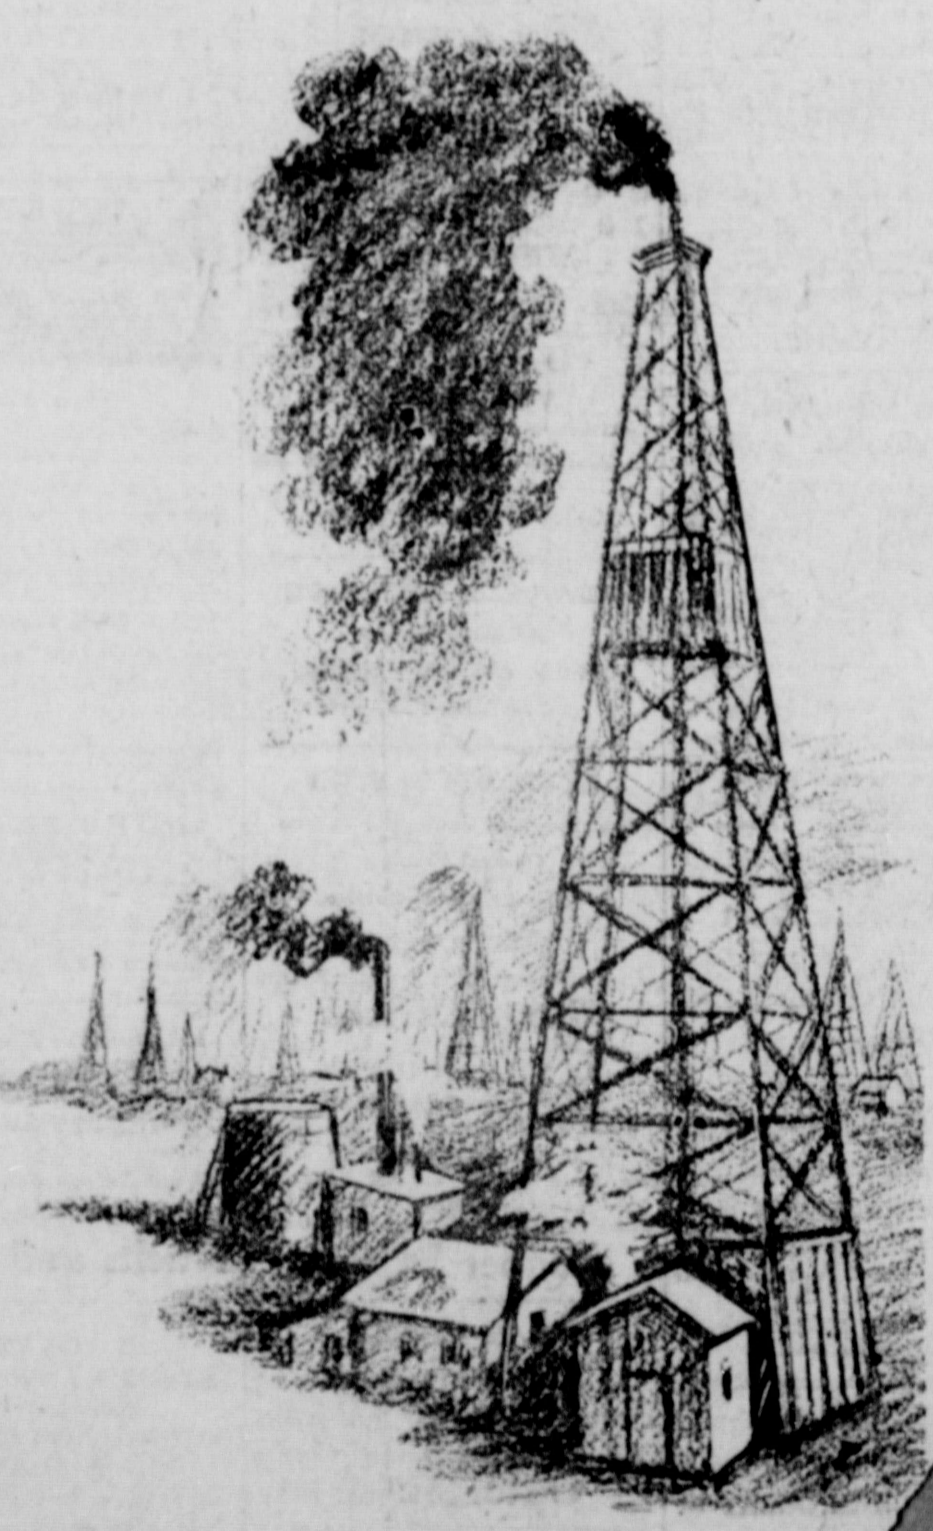

VER HARTT, the President and General Manager, general manager, vice president and trustee of the Mary Elizabeth Oil Co. J. R. Nichols, the Vice President and Treasurer, is president of the Mary Elizabeth Oil Co., and the City Attorney of Ranger, Texas. EARL ADAMS JR., the Secretary, was formerly District Attorney for the Third District, and one of the most highly respected members of the East Texas bar.

Our Aim

The officers of this company have two very definite aims: (1) To give a "square deal" to both the stockholders and the public, and (2) to establish a large, successful and Permanent Oil Company to engage in all phases of the oil business.

Our Holdings

- Lease No. 1— In the very heart of the Desdemona Field, we have two acres on which to drill our first well. There is large production on every side; for instance, the Duke Dome and the Ranger-Rock Island are both reported as 4,000-barrel wells. We can hardly fail to get oil in our very first well. Lease No. 2— On the northeast side of the field we have a five-acre tract that has production on three sides of it. Lease No. 3— Recent excitement in Desdemona has been somewhat in the west and northwest. There also we have five acres. The Lewis well, recently of so much interest and excitement, has carried production beyond this tract. Lease No. 4— Then, in the Southwest portion of the wonderful field of Desdemona we have two and one-half acres near the Eppler, which has been producing for some time. But the Magnolia Oil Co. has just brought in its Carruth well, almost adjacent to this tract. This makes it a lease of unmeasured possibilities. Lease No. 5— In Young County we have 21 acres. This county has large development going on, and it lies largely in the Pennsylvania formation. It is also almost on a straight line between Burk Burnett and Ranger. Lease No. 6— No one doubts any longer that Hardeman County will be a great oil field. Every oil report gives something new and of interest there. Our lease there covers 20 acres. Lease No. 7— The same may be said of Wilbarger county. Several wells there have a showing of oil, proving beyond all doubt that there is some oil in that section. We have 30 acres of it. Lease No. 8— The Geologists are expecting a great oil field now, more than anywhere else, in the Panhandle. One of the places there of greatest excitement and actual development at present is in Potter County, where gas wells have been discovered sufficiently large to supply Amarillo and other cities. It is generally understood, where there is gas, oil is near; in fact, the Hapgood well in the northern part of Potter county is now standing 200 feet in oil and will undoubtedly be a producer before this article is read by the public.

We have some acreage in this county, which will be in the very heart of the oil field if oil is discovered. Furthermore, just over the line, in Moore County, we also have a large block of acreage, which is well located with reference to the Hapgood well, and which alone would make the company immensely rich if it proves to be a gusher.

Lease No. 9— All the world knows about the great fields of Humble, Beaumont, Sour Lake and Goose Creek. In order that our Company might enjoy the benefit of the fabulous wealth gushing from the bosom of the earth, there, we secured 320 acres in Liberty County near the immortal Goose Creek Gushers. Recently six great gushers were drilled in that county.

Lease No. 10— In Nolan County, there are sixteen wells. One is now down 2,700 feet, with a showing of oil. Two others have drilled more than 1,200 feet deep. In that county, also, we have a well located block of acreage that will yield great wealth for the Company, if these other wells prove to be gushers.

Lease No. 11— Runnels County has some shallow production already and many deep tests are being made, and there we also have acreage.

Other Leases— In fact, we have more than 4,000 Acres in the following counties, in addition to four well located blocks in the proven field of Desdemona as shown by map: Baylor, Brazoria, Carson, Childress, Coke, Dallam, Eastland, Hamilton, Hardeman, Hartley, Haskell, Houston, Hudspeth, Hutchinson, Jones, King, Knox, Lampasas, Liberty, Mills, McCulloch, Moore, Nolan, Pano, Parker, Pecos, Potter, Reagan, Runnels, Rusk, Shelby, Tom Green, Wilbarger.

Why a Million-Dollar Capital?

SOME people ask why the capitalization is so large. The answer is clear to those of experience. First, it reduces the risk to a minimum, by making it possible to drill more than one well. A small company can drill only one well. If it is dry the company is lost. But with a large capitalization, many wells can be drilled. Failure at any one place does not mean the end of the company, so far as the dividends are concerned. Large, for if a small company can drill only one well, its capital simply rests on a single well. A large company can drill many wells, and its capital is spread over many wells, and its risk is reduced to a minimum.

VALUE OF INVESTMENT

Table with 2 columns: Investment amount and Value. Includes entries for $100 invested in Union Oil ($150,000.00), $100 invested in Home Oil ($50,000.00), $100 invested in New York Oil ($40,000.00), $100 invested in the Dingman Oil ($40,000.00), $100 invested in the Alcala Oil ($30,000.00), and $100 invested in the Hog Creek Oil Company of Desdemona ($20,000.00).

Plan of Management

- Our general plan of management will be about as follows: 1. To drill well No. 1 as soon as possible. 2. To be economical. 3. To drill out our leases if oil is found in paying quantities. 4. If oil is not found then it will be our plan to drill only in proven territory. 5. To do all of our early operations only in proven territory. 6. And since this company is being organized for the purpose of making a large and successful oil company, we will construct refineries, pipe lines, etc., and the company will justify such undertakings. 7. Drilling will start just as soon as enough money is raised to guarantee the completion of the first well from the very start. Only $300,000 of stock is required. Treasury stock will not draw dividends.

October 26, 1919. A thirty-day option was given on $250,000 worth of stock. If it is not exercised, less than $50,000 worth would remain to be sold.

ROAD ELECTION WILL BE HELD NOVEMBER 4TH

One of the most far-reaching amendments which the suffrage of West Texas can vote on November 4 is that authorizing the legislature to build a state system of public highways. It is the duty of every qualified voter in every precinct to express his opinion by ballot upon every opportunity when something is submitted to him. On November 4 there will come up this great road question, which no man should ignore. He should be either for it or be against it—he should not fail to take the opportunity as a means of expressing his voice, of making some sort of visible expression of his views.

No bonds are to be voted at the November election. The legislature may enact such legislation as may be necessary to authorize and direct the governor to issue bonds of the state in a sum not to exceed $75,000,000, the proceeds to be used in the construction of durable, hard-surfaced roads upon the highways of the state.

The legislature has created a highway commission to develop the state highways. Legislatures never appropriate more money for any purpose than they feel to be absolutely necessary. The highway commission is required to show the legislature the necessity for road money for specific road building before appropriation apportioned to Texas amounts to approximately $16,000,000. It is now proposed by congress to appropriate to Texas for road building $24,000,000. Texas must furnish an equal amount for roads to get this federal money.

The proposed constitutional amendment will enable the legislature to secure this federal money for our roads. Texas can never build a system of state highways until permission is given the legislature to provide means for connecting up the county systems. With state and national provision to aid road building, the roads would be constructed under the direction and supervision of state and federal engineers. Federal engineers would consent to no waste of federal road funds. State engineers would insist upon good roads only. Good roads save more than twice their cost to the people who use them.

Therefore, the voters of West Texas are asked to vote authority to meet the federal requirements in the national program for good roads, and thereby enable the state to secure immense federal funds for good roads in Texas.

The campaign committee appends some very interesting Texas road statistics, which should be perused by the voter who is somewhat unsettled as to his choice in the matter:

Texas state taxes are less than $20,000,000 a year.
Texas pays $30,000,000 a year more for new automobiles than it does for bad roads that would be built if all roads were good.
Texas pays for gasoline tax more than it does for road building.

J. A. CAMMACK VISITS FACTORY

J. A. CAMMACK, the genial and popular representative for the Okay Trucks in Ranger, has just returned from a four-day trip to the factory where the trucks which he represents are manufactured. "Me" was much impressed with the improvements recently made and was enthusiastic over the prospects for business. He had the following to say to the Times Automobile Editor:

"The factory is situated in North Muskogee, Oklahoma, but a bill has already passed the state legislature changing the name of this site to Okay, Oklahoma and it will not be long now until it is known by this new name. Every time I go to the factory I am a astonished anew with the tremendous development undertaken by the Okay Motor Truck Co. The size of the proposition and the effective way in which it is being handled is in reality a revelation. For instance, the company owns 110 acres of land, well supplied with gas wells from which comes the fuel for the entire plant. On this tract of land they have erected a city. The factory, hotel and 23 bungalows, which were built for the employees, cover 13 acres. In addition to these the company is building its own telegraph office and erecting a bank."

"At the present time 10 trucks are being completed each day, and further ones are being planned for. Mr. E. Harrison, the president of the organization, is a splendid type of man and is in the work heart and soul."

We Hear
Ak

He has only one ambition and that is to build the best possible truck for the particular work for which Okay trucks are made—namely work in the oil fields. He has very advanced ideas in the matter of labor and the duty of employer to employ and the spirit of good fellowship and mutual respect of both sides is very evident. The kindest spirit exists and the employees are all contented and prosperous. "I am in a position to promise immediate delivery on a reasonable amount of trucks. The factory has assured me that I will not want and I have already have a carload as far as Fort Worth awaiting the hardening of the roads to bring them over here. I feel safe in promising to care for the wants of the good people of Ranger and the surrounding territory."

SOCIETY OF LAWN ROLLERS ROLL IN FOG TO REDUCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25.—California fog and lawn rolling will reduce fat. That, at least, is the belief today of the Society of Lawn Rollers that each morn as the sun peeps over the Golden Gate and pushes through the early fog roll their rollers and give the green sward of Golden Gate Park. Five corpulent ladies start at the crest of a gentle hill, the ladies start their rolling race. Skirts hooped tightly at the bottom, they gain a fair momentum. The rolling and the early rising, they say, will reduce the corpulency. Park attendants say that only night-watchmen and squirrels so far have witnessed any of the rollers in action.

Table Gives Tire and Its Oversize

Oversize tires, designed primarily for exceptional and hard service, have come into general favor among owners of medium and large capacity passenger cars because of their extra strength, easier riding cushion, and the longer mileage that can be expected of them. They are popular also because, in the opinion of many owners, they add to the appearance of the car.

Some users of oversize tires think that a tire with increased section diameter, but with the same diameter measured across the hub from outer edge to outer edge of tire, is an oversize tire as a mistake. In other words, the regular size tire is 34x4, the oversize is not 34x4 1/2, but 35x4 1/2. Both diameters must be increased, or the bead will be strained in putting the tire on the rim.

Firestone gives the following table to show the proper regular and oversize tire for a given rim.

Rim	Reg. Tire	Oversize
28x3	28x3	29x3 1/4
30x3	30x3	31x3 1/4
32x3 1/2	32x3 1/2	33x3 1/2
34x4	34x4	35x4
36x4 1/2	36x4 1/2	37x4 1/2
38x4 1/2	38x4 1/2	39x4 1/2
40x4 1/2	40x4 1/2	41x4 1/2

The measurement standard is given on scale, which has been adopted by tire manufacturers, sets a maximum and minimum air capacity for each oversize. The table given above applies for those tires which, like Firestones, give the maximum of air capacity for each oversize.

RE A GENTLEMAN, WARNS DOUGHBOTS' NEWSPAPER. International News Service. COBLENZ, Oct. 25.—The Amaree News, the daily published for the soldiers of the American Army of Occupation publishes this gentle editorial reminder:

"Some of the American soldiers continue to claim that it is difficult to distinguish between an American lady and a German lady. Candidly, we don't see why this should cause any worry. If you act as a gentleman it doesn't make any difference if the lady is American, French, Belgian or German. Just be sure you are acting a gentleman and the nationality of the lady needn't bother you. Isn't it so?"

LADY'S DEFECTION TO 'HOOVERIZED'

International News Service. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Herbert Hoover spoke here the other day to the San Francisco Center—and the ladies flocked to Hooverize their receptivity to the guest of honor. With the exception of two others Mr. Hoover was the only man among hundreds of women. Cakes, cookies and all manner of knickknacks were served at the luncheon and then—oh, priceless sugar—Hoover's name was etched on a nice pink cake.

gence won the confidence of the elder statesmen. He became absolute master of the war department and eventually a war councillor.

The achievement with which his name will ever be associated is the annexation of Korea. Appointed governor general in 1910, his aim was to win the Korean people near to the Japanese. He ruled the Koreans with a firm hand, took over the police powers of the government and stationed Japanese soldiers in every province. Within a few months after assuming the office of governor his work of annexation was complete, and the fact was announced to the world powers. The emperor of Korea was reduced to the rank of a viceroy and the rule of Terauchi was supreme. Under his direction Japan pent vast sums of money in improving and developing the province. His constructive ability as manifested in rebuilding won for him the admiration of the Japanese people.

Small in stature and modest in appearance, Count Terauchi combined with his military knowledge a large capacity for statesmanship and power of leadership. His aversion to politics cost him many friends.

As premier he announced his aim would be to promote friendly ties between Japan and the United States, that he had no intention of "waving the sword" at America and that he accepted the office "as a statesman seeking the lasting interests of his people; not as a military seeking glorification by the sword."

SAN ANGELO TESTS AT INTERESTING DEPTHS

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 25.—West Texas tests for oil are reaching the interesting stage in many instances and interest in results is growing.

The deep test of the McClarey Oil Association in the northwest part of Sterling county is at 500 feet in Pernian clay, and the well is being undermined. A stream of paraffin was struck a few days ago.

The General Oil company in Glascock county is shut down at both the Neal and McDowell wells. The Neal test, four and one-half miles from Gordon city is over 200 feet deep. The McDowell well is twenty-three miles southwest of Big Springs and is below 500 feet. The General company is rigging up on the Robert well southeast of Big Springs.

The Texas Oil Producers company well on the Brunson ranch in Glascock county is shut down between 1,300 and 1,400 feet. Materials that are now on the way will enable a resumption of drilling.

Late last week the Reilly-Teva-Aerage company received a socket for which it had been waiting, and some of the tools that were lost at the 3,100-foot level had been gotten out. Drilling is to begin as soon as the hole is cleared.

The Ryan Petroleum Corporation has resumed drilling on the Roy H. erson ranch in Crockett county and the casing was at the 600-foot level.
Wet weather and heavy rains have forced a suspension of work at the Cash Oil company's well in Edwards county. The depth of the well, which is on the Whitehead ranch near the Valverde county line, is reported to be about 2,500 feet.

U. S. Tires Big Sellers Abroad

American tires are keeping step in popularity in foreign lands with American automobiles. Last year the United States Tire company sent its product to forty countries scattered throughout the world. The removal of shipping restrictions is expected to result in adding twenty-five or thirty countries to the list during the current year.

A few days ago an Iceland automobile dealer paid a visit to the New York office of the United States Tire company and ordered full tire equipment for fifty cars. He said that this brand of tires was regarded as the "quality brand" in his country.

Turning to the southern hemisphere,
it is noted that a recent issue of "La Nacion," the leading newspaper of Santiago, Chile, carried a half-page article telling of the wonderful performance of a Scripps-Roth car in a test run of 100 kilometers over the mountain roads of that country.

At the conclusion of the run the driver remarked, "I must mention that during the entire run from Concepcion to Coquimbo, a distance of about 1200 miles, we had only one puncture.
The tires were United States Royal Cords and we think it our duty to speak of their quality."

While this approval for the popular American tire is being given in the Far South and East North, unmy-testimonials are given from the tropics, where long tire life is generally regarded as impossible because of high temperatures. One United States tire in Manila has already given 16,200 miles on a heavy garage car.
Another went 10,200 miles without being taken off the wheel. A Royal Cord gave 14,100 miles under most severe conditions of road and weather.
The lowest transportation company in the Philippines states that 7,600 miles in the extreme mileage with United States fabric tires.

Pencil Wood Shortage.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25.—
In Tennessee the pencil manufacturers are endeavoring to to be replacing old fences with new woven-wire fences in order to prevent the red-tails for pencil manufacture. An investigation of wood not already used for pencils is being made by a lumber company in California to offset the shortage of pencil woods.

NOTED SCULPTRESS TO VISIT AMERICA

Countess Feodora Gleichen.

Art circles are interested in the announcement that Countess Feodora Gleichen, famous European sculptress, is soon to visit America. Her work has attracted much attention in this country. She is the daughter of Prince and Princess Victor of Hohenlohe of Langenburg.

MUCH PROTEST OVER OIL LAND LAW OF MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25.—A sharp conflict is being waged in the Mexican senate over the nationalization of oil lands as provided in the decrees of President Carranza which were intended to put into effect article 27 of the Mexican constitution. These decrees have been the object of bitter attack by the foreign oil interests, which declare that both they and article 27 of the constitution would be confiscatory. Disappointed over the inactivity of the chamber of deputies, which has delayed action on the nationalization question, the senate brought up as a new oil initiative based on that of the president but differing from it in the vital point that it should not be retroactive. If adopted, this law would not nationalize oil lands to which the title was perfected before the present constitution became operative, which was on May 21, 1917.

Debate on this measure, however, soon became complicated as a result of attempts to include in it a complete redrafting of article 27. In the senate discussions, Luis Cabrera, secretary of the treasury, and Leon Salinas, sub secretary of industry and commerce, have presented the government's side in support of nationalization.

Secretary Cabrera also is quoted in newspapers as asserting that the senate is only wasting time in discussing the oil question, since the oil interests would not be satisfied with the senate's decision.

The foreign oil companies have brought suits in the Mexican court to prevent the presidential decree from taking effect, and these have been appealed to the supreme court.
Secretary Cabrera has opposed action of the supreme court in these cases seemingly to delay action until the executive department of the Mexican government and representatives of the oil interests can reach an understanding. What, if any, progress has been made toward reaching such an agreement is unknown.

The Secret of a Superlative Tire

Any concern can build a good tire. For there are no secrets about tire building. The test is to build a super-tire. And that is entirely a matter of policy.

How far the maker cares to go in giving as little or as much for the money as possible depends upon his ideals.

In our search we found one concern with the ideals we all admire. That was the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, makers of The Brunswick. No tire, we should say, is sold on so close a margin to the maker. For The Brunswick is made better first—the cost considered afterward.

BRUNSWICK TIRES

We know Brunswick ideals as interpreted in Brunswick Tires, will appeal to you if, like most men, you are interested in getting 100 per cent value. The man who is satisfied with the average cannot appreciate Brunswick betterments.

Yet the price to you is no more. Come in today and know for yourself the price of The Brunswick.

This German Can Have His Medal Back Any Time

International News Service. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 25.—Let this go down in the annals of war as the story of Charles O'Mahoney.

He was a kid in Kildare, Ireland, in the days of the Dublin gun-running, just before the war in 1914. They came down from Kildare, one midnight—Charles with them, a volunteer—and they landed the "stuff," which is Sinn Fein for guns and bullets.

Then came the draft. He went to the draft board, A. J. Schur by name, asked him if he was trying to work up the draft, and after a few words pronounced that he was going to send Charles back to fight in the English army, than do which Charles replied he would not in any first.

Charles was arrested and Schur swore that the boy had made scurrilous and scandalous statements calculated to hold the United States up to scorn, ridicule and contempt.

But when the United States Commissioner ordered Charles brought from prison for a hearing, Commander Bell swore to O'Mahoney's eagerness to join up before the draft and members of the draft testified to having heard Charles say hard words of only England.

On the morning of December 8, a break attack was launched against the "Jerrys," and O'Mahoney suddenly found himself sticking his automatic in the faces of a "Jerry" lieutenant and six little "Jerrys," all of them with their hands to high heaven holding the banner of "Kamerad."

It was Charles' duty, according to the rules, to lift everything the lieutenant had in the way of papers and souvenirs. Besides several pieces of paper which was a leather case containing a nice Iron Cross and ribbon and a citation which said that the cross was given to "Grenadier Ruster, 7 Kompan, Royal Jueger Rifles, 202, 17 August, 1917, in the field."

Grenadier Ruster had become a lieutenant. He asked in perfect English if he could not keep his cross, as he wanted to show it to the folks back home.

"Where you from?" asked Sergeant O'Mahoney.

"St. Louis is my home, but my folks moved to Germany five years ago."

"Well, here's my name and address," said O'Mahoney, "and when the war's over write to me and I'll send you your Iron Cross."

The war is over now. Charles came back to Indianapolis from Cologne last Saturday. The first thing he was asked was about five minutes with Mr. Schur, the clerk of the draft board.

"Oh," said his uncle, "You'll be a hero."

TWINS, PLAYING ENDS AT NORTHWESTERN, BEWILDER OPPONENTS, PUZZLE OWN MATES

to wait a long time. He's doing eleven years in Atlanta for draft frauds," "well, then," said Charles, "you have a safety deposit vault box. I will you'd take this from Texas and citation and keep it safe, and put an ad in the papers that Herr Lieutenant Ruster can have it back. He was a pretty good sort, at that."

PROMPT U. S. ACTION QUASHED METZ REVOLT

International News Service. COBLENZ, Oct. 25.—This is a story of an infant revolution in the German village of Luetz, 200 souls, that lasted just four hours, thanks to the prompt intervention of the American Army of Occupation.

Word reached the Americans at noon that something unusual was going on at Luetz. Two officers were sent over. They discovered that the village society of Reds, calling itself "Hilflichkeit," had erected a seventy-foot flagpole, from which floated a red flag, had frightened the village officials into fits and were patrolling the outskirts to prevent outsiders from entering.

"Where's the head of this outfit?" asked one of the Americans.

"The executive council is down the street drinking to the success of the revolution," replied a villager.

The American officer hastened to the cafe.

"Here, you," he shouted to the executive council, "Come out of that—quick. All of you get shovels and uproot that flag pole."

Thus ended the revolution of Luetz.

HAMON-KELL TO TAKE OVER WICHITA LINE

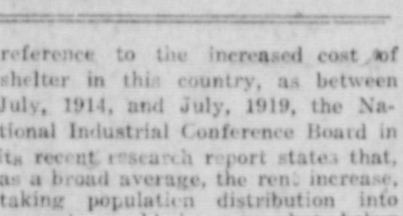

Special to The Times. AUSTIN, Oct. 25.—The necessary steps have been taken by officials of the Hamon & Kell railroad for the taking over of the Wichita Falls & Southern railroad by the Hamon & Kell interests. It came to be absorbed by the Wichita Falls, Ranger and Fort Worth railroad, which is now building out of Ranger in two directions. The Katy is now leasing the line from Wichita Falls and it is said that it may have an interest in the line being extended into the oil fields.

NEW TRAIN ABILENE TO WICHITA FALLS NOV. 3

Special to The Times. AUSTIN, Oct. 25.—The railroad commission of Texas yesterday ordered that the railway administration put on an additional passenger train each way between Abilene and Wichita Falls and demands that the service begin operation November 2. The train was ordered some time ago, but the order was in some way blocked. The commission has now given preliminary orders that the train be installed.

WITNESSES WITH TRIAL

(Special News Service.)
 London, Oct. 25.—London dailies were bored over the unexplained delay in that provision of which was intended to bring other officials of the German government to international tribunals. They find something in the situation and, under the Great Show in the eyes, "considering all that is not to be done in the name of the Kaiser," the board with the "war material" part, follows:
 stood in legal circles, general has at last a case against the day now. On the other side for the prosecution in seventeen large on the east coast, is all remains to be done is to collector willing to understand the defense, and to the trial will be held. The last connection a quiet regard is regarded as the this suggestion has considerable competition in rural district councils, well after the job.
 town clerk of Sligton-in-the- example, has written drawings to the advantages of a fine assortment of trees, most of which have been planted in the neighborhood.
 other, writing from a beautiful in the garden, refers to its will be a "thing of beauty" with a long record of successful crowning fatalities.
 great objection to holding in such a spot is the short- term course, one could say the "Cove" and its good stabling, the landlady into the street, temporary buildings will have to be erected, old army huts transported to the trial, with lots of tents and hangars.
 will have to be a legal G. O. baths, hot and cold, for the general and his minions, a lot of huts for the shorthand clerks and their clerks, with the evidence along, huts for the men who will see that the mess doesn't get away, huts for thousands of witnesses for the trial, a hut for the witness for the trial, huts for the pressmen, photographers, the cinema operators, telegraphists, the G. P. O. wireless station will be an absolute necessity, and, of course, we have to accommodate the representatives of the allied newspapers and their interpreters.
 mushroom city will grow up in peaceful valley. With tents and huts and booths and fish-and-chips and stewed-egg stalls, and gas and sarsaparilla outfits, and roundabouts, all for the entertainment of the people while the court is sitting in camera.
 Nor must we forget the pomp and circumstance which is bound to find excuse for turning up. We shall have to find a bed-sitting room for the incontinent Pursuivant, and another for Red Trousers and a third for the Suspender King-of-Arms and his retinue.
 "And Mr. Hughes will want to be there, and all the other funny people who think they won the war, including Mr. Churchill, with a spare hat for his hat boxes. But Bill Smith of Poplar and Harry Tompkins of New castle, who really did win it, will be far too busy earning their living."
 "It is going to be a tremendous business, and when the great Assize town is ready, we shall find that they've forgotten all about the Kaiser. And they'll have to lock him up in the village church.

 "Considering all these things, would it not be easier and cheaper to hand him over to the disposal board with the rest of the old war material?"

GETS OUT OF RUSSIA AFTER SIX YEARS' EFFORT
 SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25.—

More than 80 years of age, Mrs. Chonaba Loya, Russian, is here after six years' effort to get out of Russia.

Hold up continually prior to the war by the red tape of the then Russian government; detained through the war on one pretext and then another, held nine months when she finally reached Shanghai, China, before she could get to the states, were among the experiences of the aged lady. She arrived here on the liner Venezuela, after that vessel had fought its way through a 120-mile-an-hour hurricane off the China coast. She was greeted here by her son, S. F. Schwartz, president of the Pacific Coast Paper company, and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. They received her with flowers and feted her at a banquet.

FRENCH DAIRY EXPERTS HERE TO PURCHASE CATTLE
 TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 25.—A commission of French dairy experts is making a tour of the dairy farms of the United States and Canada to purchase animals to be shipped overseas for foundation herds in the devastated areas of France.

The commissioners have announced they will buy 3,000 animals as quickly as they can be selected for immediate shipment. If the cattle prove satisfactory later purchases will be larger. Two per cent of the animals will be bulls.

The dairy industry in France was seriously crippled by the war. The German occupation left hardly a dairy cow in the northeastern district. France is urgently in need of thousands of dairy cattle to re-establish the herds wiped out by the war.

CISCO GOES TO MAT WITH RY. ADMINISTRATION

The Cisco Chamber of Commerce and the Cisco business men are ready to go to the mat with the railway administration because of the alleged failure to fulfill promises made in the way of improved passenger service, additional side tracks and enlargement of freight warehouse, according to information brought to Ranger Saturday.

Cisco will make particular effort to have the Oil Field Special extended from Eastland. Sometime ago, according to Cisco authorities, a half-way promise was made that when a new train was instated it would have western terminus at that place. When the train was turned at Eastland Cisco folks took it as a slap. A protest meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce gave the business men a splendid opportunity to vent their spleen, which they are reported to have done "in big chunks." Secretary Downing and other representatives of Cisco went to Dallas to confer with the railway administration officials, with what degree of success is yet to be seen.

Ranger people particular wish for the train to be extended to Cisco. While it is a matter of great convenience to Ranger people and visitors who wish to go to Eastland and Oil, the great bulk of travel westward is between Ranger and Cisco, where connection is made with the Katy to the north and south and to the Gorman oil fields.

In an interview with Superintendent J. W. Knightlinger a few days ago a newspaper reporter was told that the principal reason for making Eastland the terminus of the new train was that one train is supposed to make the trip from Fort Worth, to Eastland and return, and, if for any reason it should become a bit tardy, the eastbound would also be tardy, and that the slack time between arrival and departure at Eastland was so brief that the train's extension to Cisco would be out of question unless the leaving time from Fort Worth was made earlier or the departure from Eastland made later.

The schedule to the east is most convenient to Ranger patrons. The service to Eastland is also desirable, but its extension to Cisco would make the westward accommodation one hundred per cent better.

roads in southern Taylor county, and the work of grading and graveling State Highways Nos. 7 and 39 in that region is being pushed as rapidly as weather conditions will permit.

Many miles of roadway has already been graded but so far not much of it has been gravelled. The roads are being worked from Abilene to Tuscola via Cedar Gap, from Tuscola to Buffalo Gap and from the latter point into Abilene. The work will continue probably to the Kunnels-Taylor counties line, a short distance below Tuscola.

RANGER SENDS DELEGATE TO ROAD MEETING

P. Learned has gone to Dallas to attend the good roads meeting at which the state highway commission will have representatives and the campaign committee for better highways will meet. Mr. Learned went in the capacity of official-representative of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, which is for the passage of the constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to issue $75,000,000 in state bonds for improvement of the road system of the state.

It was pointed out at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday that because Eastland county has already voted $4,500,000 in bonds for better highways should not cause advocates of good roads to neglect to vote for the amendment at the election in November.

While the road building program Eastland county man feel the need to have this system connected on all sides by the new state roads, giving outlets to all parts of the country.

Prominent officials and newspapermen are devoting considerable time to publicity work in connection with the passage of this great amendment and everywhere are receiving the liberal attention of the voters. The only fear of these men is that the voters who are really interested in the measure will neglect this opportunity to vote, not realizing its importance.

TAYLOR COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE HAVING BIG RUSH

ABILENE, Oct. 25.—Heavy business in the county clerk's office here has forced the county to buy and install 312 new steel filing cases and 117 steel roller shelves, at a cost of a little under one thousand dollars.

Miss Fannie Tinnett, the county clerk, has found that since the coming of the oil boom her duties are very heavy indeed, and she has employed many assistants to help her with the work. Her office is the largest in the courthouse.

RESCUE HOME FOUNDER WILL SPEAK IN CITY

Rev. J. T. Upchurch, chairman of the International Rescue Work and founder of the Berachah home at Arlington, for the redemption of betrayed and outcast girls, and his evangelistic party, including the famous Berachah quartet, will render special evangelistic services in social welfare work Sunday.

At 11 a. m. the party will be at the Young school house in the Young addition, where Rev. Mr. Upchurch will conduct the services and preach. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon he will preach at the Methodist church and the quartet will sing. At 7:30 p. m. the party will appear at the Hippodrome theater, all exercises the quartet will be heard.

From the east to the west, from the north to the south, and wherever effective rescue and welfare work is being accomplished, the name of Rev. J. T. Upchurch is inextricably linked. He was founder of the Berachah home at Arlington. This plant includes five buildings situated on a tract of thirty acres. At the present time the institution is caring for forty girls who are being retrained for the duties of life.

The institution is likewise caring for twenty-five children. At the present time the home is hampered by reason of the limited capacity to take care of others begging for admission.

The Berachah work was begun by Rev. J. T. Upchurch and his wife in September, 1893. Later the Berachah Rescue society was organized in May, 1903, and the famous Berachah home for the redemption of erring girls was opened at Arlington.

The Berachah Rescue society is a national organization for the two-fold purpose of protecting American homes by helping to keep boys and girls from going astray and to help delinquent boys and girls to honorable, useful lives.

The Bible is accepted as the foundation and text books of the institution because the founder believes it to be the inspired Word of God and believes that its teachings are properly applied people will be happy and useful.

The home is self-supporting but does endeavor to prepare its wards for self-support when they are honorably discharged. No pay cases are admitted into the home and mothers are required to keep their babies.

All connected with the Berachah keep busy in the various departments of industry, including housekeeping, gardening, sewing, study and the printing office. The home is supported by free-will offerings and public contributions.

Trustees of the institution include C. P. Sites, a prominent architect of Dallas; A. Bagland, proprietor of a business college at Dallas; Arthur A. Everts, of the First Christian church of Dallas; James Ditto, president of Arlington State bank and a prominent Methodist; Judge O. S. Littmore, of the court of civil appeals at Austin; Judge J. W. Stitt of the Presbyterian church of Fort Worth, and J. B. Baker, of the Methodist church, and a florist, of Fort Worth.

The board of directors are prominent in the work is international.

The services today will be splendid and the quartet will render special music.

The Kaiser trusts to Mein Gott that America won't ratify the peace treaty, for it mean that his person will be delivered over to the allies for trial and subsequent execution.

WILSON HOTEL WILL BE BEST IN WEST TEXAS

Construction on the Wilson hotel, formerly called the Gholson hotel, will start as soon as the water can be removed from the basement, according to Mrs. Mabel Wilson, the owner. The contract for the hotel has been let to Walsh & Burney of San Antonio. The building will be five stories in height and the cost will exceed that of any other hotel in West Texas.

The Wilson hotel will be thoroughly fire-proof in every respect, and equipped in the most up-to-date manner, with elevator service, inter-communicating telephones, running hot and cold water in each room, tub and shower baths, and electric fans in each room.

The lobby of the hotel will be one of the largest in the southwest, being approximately 85 by 55 feet, and will be decorated in Verde antique marble and gold. The floor will be used in the lobby, as well as in the lounge rooms on each side. Antique fireplaces are planned for opposite ends of the lobby, in the lounge rooms. The decorations of the entrance corridor will be similar to that of the lobby. Telegraph and telephone exchanges, a newstand and offices will be located in the lobby. A public washroom also will be located on the first floor.

The mezzanine floor will have a spacious banquet room, palm room, writing spaces and a beautiful open balcony overlooking Main street.

The first floor, facing Main street, is designed to furnish a haberdashery, a ladies' specialty store and a drug store. The basement will have a large, modern cafe, a barber shop, a tailor shop, a laundry and boiler and mechanical rooms.

The building will contain 200 rooms and has been designed in Italian renaissance, faced with brick and stone trimmings. It promises to be one of the most attractive in Texas.

The architects for the hotel are Beshegorin & Cabell, who have designed many of the best buildings in the new six-story "Bank building" erected, the P. & Q. Co. Lone Star theater, which greatest seating capacity in town.

Mrs. Mabel Wilson, owner of the hotel, is well known for her unflinching persistence in the face of difficulties has been possible.

Mrs. Wilson lost $11,000 in the disastrous fire which was given a temporary hotel started by the P. & Q. Co. company and called the Spell hotel. In May the Spell found it necessary to abandon it on account of the failure of their oil in Wilson was the heaviest in order to protect her was compelled to assume bilities of her own lease and the minor losses on the building. By dint of hard work and unflinching enthusiasm she has accomplished her object and placed the hotel on a firm basis. Mrs. Wilson has taken an active part in drawing the plans for the hotel, working in collaboration with Beshegorin & Cabell, the architects.

The following are the heaviest stockholders in the Wilson hotel project: Mayor M. H. Hagaman, J. M. Gholson, R. A. Hodges, E. B. Denison, the First National bank and the Guaranty State bank.

OIL TO BE USED AS FUEL FOR BRITISH SHIPS

LONDON, Oct. 25.—England hopes to win back her predominant place in the shipping world through oil-burning steamships, which will be far more economical to operate than coal-burning vessels. Quietly and unobtrusively all the big steamship companies in this country are converting their fleets to oil burners. The increased cost of British coal is a further incentive.

The change is the most radical since the steamship supplanted the sailing vessel and the fast clippers of the late sixties.

Here's the economy: the Mauretania, England's largest steamship, is a coal burner requiring 312 coal trimmers and stokers; a ship of the same size burning oil would need but 32 men, and not only give the ship more efficiency, but, what's more important, more cargo space.

It requires about two months to change a coal-burning ship into an oil-burner, if the necessary machinery is available.

The shipping companies are devoting their capital, brains and energy to restoring their former prestige and they hope to ride to success on a wave of oil.

The revelations of Admiral Lord Fisher as to the necessity of oil-burning or internal combustion engines for all warships, which themselves must be capable of diving and operating submerged, has brought the oil engine for warships to an acute point.

Admiral Fisher says coal-burning warships would be as useless as wooden ships of a hundred years ago in any future war.

The discovery of both shale oil and petroleum, the latter in Derbyshire, and the former in Norfolk, will be a great aid to this country in the future in maintenance of the most powerful fleet and commercial ships.

SO MANY FONG SINGS JUDGE FORCED TO NUMBER 'EM

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 25.—So many Fong Sings appeared to charges of violation of the Federal narcotic laws that Federal Judge William Van Fleet, of the federal court here, was forced to place them in numbered chairs, such as "Fong Sing No. 1, Fong Sing No. 2," etc., down the line.

Each was pleading on the other's tows, so to speak, and all the attorneys and all the king's men had a terrible time parting them again.

Forty-two Chinese face the charge of selling narcotics without a license.

TWINS WILL BE OPPOSING CENTERS WHEN YALE AND PRINCETON ELEVENS DO BATTLE

"Tim" Callahan of Yale, at left, and "Mike" of Princeton.

One of the oldest battles in collegiate football will be staged November 15, when the Yale and Princeton football teams meet. It might well be dubbed the "Battle of the Twins." Captain "Tim" Callahan, center of the Yale team, and "Mike" Callahan, center of the Princeton team, are twins.

AMERICAN "INVADERS" WILL TAKE FIVE MILLION ABROAD

(By International News Service.) LONDON, Oct. 25.—The Sunday Express understands that a vast American "invasion" of Europe is anticipated next spring and that already no fewer than 300,000 passages to England have been provisionally booked.

Inquiry at the headquarters of the principal trans-Atlantic lines elicited the fact that the shipping companies are making every possible effort to cope with the anticipated rush, and believe that they will be able to meet the requirements. The Cunard company alone have twenty large new vessels building, and the White Star hope to hold their own. By the end of May no fewer than 100 liners may be engaged in ferrying American visitors across the "big drink."

This will mean that American dollars will pour into this country, and the present unfavorable rates of exchange are likely to be affected to a considerable extent. An American financial agent has estimated that nearly a million Americans will invade England and France between May and October next year and that they will spend at least $5,000,000,000.

ITALIAN PEN? THEN IT DOESN'T WRITE, SAYS POET

(By International News Service.) LONDON, Oct. 25.—The poet d'Annunzio, dictator of Fiume and antagonist to America and England, was recently present at a reception in Italy where he was asked to sign autograph books, according to Albert DeCourville, composer and producer of revues.

A young lady handed him a fountain pen. "This is American," he said, handing it back. "I won't use it."

Another young lady handed him a fountain pen with the remark that it was made in his own country.

"An Italian pen, eh," he said. "Then it doesn't write."

OPEN NEW AIR ROUTE FROM LONDON TO BRUSSELS

(By International News Service.) LONDON, Oct. 25.—A new air route has been opened by the Handley Page company from London to Brussels. Machines are of the same type as those on the London-Paris service.

Ten passengers, with thirty pounds each of personal luggage, in addition to 500 pounds of freight are carried.

Private landaulettes await the passengers at each aerodrome and take them to the center of the city. The service starts from London on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, returning on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

THIRSTING FOR KNOWLEDGE. ENGLISH CROWD MUSEUMS

(By International News Service.)

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Mummies are booming, and the British Museum is coming into its own. The dust of ages is being stirred by large crowds which daily follow the scholarly lecturer as he conducts a sort of intellectual Cook's tour through the corridors of time. Also at the South Kensington Museum there are large gatherings to "see the wheels go round" in the sections of science and invention. Either the public is being consumed with a thirst for knowledge, or the paucity of London's free exhibitions is causing a run on the available institutions.

JAPANESE ATTEMPTS HARI-KARI; HAD BEEN ILL

(By International News Service.) NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Kihachiro Hata, a Japanese, attempted hari-kari in this apartment in this city. He was found in bed with a gash in the abdomen, inflicted with an eighteen-inch blade. Miss Gertrude Walsh, Hata's landlady, carried a trap up to the Jap's room and rapped on the door. He whispered he did not care to eat. Hata was lying in the bed and Miss Walsh was stilled to see the bedclothes crimson. Hata told her he was sick of life and wished to die. According to Miss Walsh, he had been suffering from nervous trouble.

U. S. MOVIES ARE CALLED MENACE TO THE BRITISH

LONDON, Oct. 23.—American monopoly of the moving picture market in Great Britain is slowly but surely "Americanizing" the United Kingdom, according to an article in the Sunday Pictorial, written by Sir Sidney Low, a distinguished author and journalist, who calls the "menace" a "kultur" conquest, indeed.

The Sunday Pictorial not only gave the article considerable space but carried it under the caption "The New Conquest of Britain," in black-face type.

The article in part follows: "The war, which has nearly wrecked the Old World, has opened illimitable prospects to the New World.

"The United States was a very great nation five years ago. She is now, in all that concerns industry, production and commerce, the greatest nation of the earth.

"Her ambitions go beyond merely material triumphs. She is out to capture the intellectual and artistic markets also.

"She has risen far in these matters already. It is not so many years since Great Britain furnished the mass of the American readers with their fiction, poetry, history, philosophy.

"We took in exchange Longfellow, Emerson, Oliver Wendell Holmes and one or two others; but, even with Mark Twain and Bret Harte thrown in, the 'balance of trade' in literature was heavily in our favor.

"In those days, too, we gave the American stage some of its best material.

"The American dramatist is a comparatively recent creation. The theaters of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other trans-Atlantic cities subsisted chiefly on adaptations from Paris and on importations from London.

"Now all this is changed. America is an exporting country for these literary wares, and her external commerce in them is growing, one may say by leaps and bounds.

"Her amazing energy, her rapid adaptiveness, her remorseless practical efficiency, have been brought to bear, and the tide of invasion is rolling in upon us with increasing volume.

"We watch American plays, we read American stories, we look perpetually at American moving pictures. The American dramatist, the American novelist, the American magazine editor, and the American film producer are catering not only for their own fellow citizens but for the buyers and readers and sight-seers of the British islands.

"In the theatrical season now closing there were no fewer than sixteen American pieces produced at London theaters, in addition to four or five surviving from the previous year.

"Night after night, and several afternoons in each week, British maids and matrons, men and lads, stood in their queues to gain admittance to entertainments 'made in America,' laughed over the antics of American comedians, heard the jingle of American dance tunes and musical numbers, and thrilled to the 'punch' of strong situations devised by American playwrights.

"Then there is the American story. I hardly ever pick up one of our popular magazines without finding two or three tales by American writers.

"Sometimes these works of art are camouflaged—I do not know why—to look as if they were of British manufacture, so that you get a queer jumble of the speech and manners of two distinct communities. Obviously a picture of life which may be correct in Fifth avenue or Colorado loses its fidelity when transferred to Piccadilly or the South Downs.

"But when we want to see the American imagination at work, we turn to the American novelists and story writers. Here we find a freedom of expression and a boldness of imagination which we have not seen elsewhere.

AMERICAN COUNTESS ASSISTS SURGEON IN DEVELOPING 'PERPETUAL YOUTH' DISCOVERY

Countess de Porigny.

Recent dispatches dealing with the remarkable success of Dr. Serg. Voronoff, Russian scientist, in restoring youth by implantation of glands, gave Countess de Porigny, his assistant, credit for her invaluable services in the work. The countess is an American woman. She was Mrs. Evelyn Postwick of New York and is the daughter of Mrs. Helen C. Postwick. After her marriage to Comte de Porigny four years ago, the countess became head of the nursing staff of the entire French army.

IRISH PLAYWRIGHT AND WIFE ARRIVE; HE'S TO LECTURE

"We have no grievances against our conquerors. We can only admire the ingenuity, the resource, the mental agility and the inventiveness by which the conquest has been effected; but the thing itself is a portent. We have the highest regard for our kinsfolk across the ocean. All the same, we would prefer, I think, to remain British.

ROXANA COMPANY HAS WELL IN YOUNG COUNTY

JACKSBORO, Oct. 25.—The Roxana Production company has light production on the Donnell tract, block 1112, five miles southeast of the Colvard well, now 4,200 feet deep. The Donnell well is "not deep and has not yet reached the hitherto unknown oil zone," announced without comment by the company. It is expected that the well will make a big discovery.

DAVENPORT HARDWARE COMPANY

...ing of our new business, located in the Newnham
... and Cherry streets, we thought it proper to acquaint
... columns of our daily paper with the plans and ambitions
... this business.

... of all, we hope to operate the most complete hardware store in West
... ering particularly to the needs of the oil fields. This is a big job.
... already boasts of firms in this line of endeavor which would be a great
... ity. But we do not feel that the needs of the Ranger territory are be... ing completely covered.

We will endeavor to keep at all times in very large quantities such articles as nails, bolts, chain, boomers, etc., so that the local demand can be supplied locally.

In addition to oil field hardware we will specialize in Builders' Hardware as well as roofing. We will distribute the famous Oak Leaf Roofing, made by the Enders Roofing Co. of East St. Louis. A full investigation convinced us that this is the best roofing in Texas.

We will also distribute the famous Garland Gas Stoves and Heaters. This line will stand comparison with any made.

In short, we plan to conduct an up-to-the-minute Hardware Store and would appreciate your patronage.
