Little League fever is fast gripping cities where the programs are sponsored.

The time, of course, is playoff time, and youngsters' minds are filled with dreams of making the trip to Williamsport, Penn. and winning the Little World Series.

The trip is a once-in-a-lifetime for every player who goes. And if he does go, he knows he has well earned the trip. His team, to go to Williamsport, must have won the local league championship, the district championship, the sectional championship, and the regional championship.

Once a team has won all these the United States Rubber Company foots the complete cost of transporting every team which will compete in the Little World Series to Williamsport.

Before coming down here, we heard the regional director of Little League summarize the World Series.

Thirteen-year-old boys are eligible to compete in the Series. He said that most boys who play will be close to six feet tall and weigh at least 160 pounds. One pitcher last year was timed at throwing the ball 70 miles per hour. Bobby Feller threw it 80 miles per hour.

Major league officials have echoed the fact that tomorrow's major league players will come from Little League.

This, we feel is true. Besides developing ability, the youngsters too have something to occupy their time and keep them out of trouble besides learning sportsmanship and the rules of fair play.

An American and a Dutchman were talking. "What does your flag look like?" asked the American.

"It has three stripes," replied the Dutchman, "red, white, and blue. We say they have a connection with our taxes: we get red when we talk about them, white when we get our tax bills, and pay 'till we're blue in the face."

"That's just how it is here," commented the American. "Only we see stars too."

Brothy Killallen, the columnist and television star, recently had something pleasant to say about newspapers as reading matter.

"You can read on a train crossing the desert or on a plane at 17,000 feet above the Atlantic—no static, no fading, no blips," says Miss Killallen. "You can read in a bathtub or while hanging onto a pole in a crowded bus. You can read as much or as little as you want, as fast or as slowly as you want."

"And if you read something you like, you can tear it out and save it to read again some day. I enjoy radio and television, and I am gainfully employed by both, but I must admit they have their drawbacks. Did you ever try to clip a television program and paste it in your scrapbook?"

No, I never did.

Bill Elkins, 38-year-old Dallas home builder and candidate for Congressman at large, has noted that George Parr endorsed Congressman Martin Dies for the post.

"My opponent, Martin Dies, is welcome to the vote of George Parr and his Duval County political machine and also to the vote of any and all political bosses who demand special favors in return for their endorsement," Elkins said. "If I can't be elected without (Continued on Page 3)

Ground Observer Posts In County Named By Hyde

Nine Eastland county Ground Observer posts were named Tuesday in an introductory program presented in the Morton Valley Baptist Church for that community.

The posts are to be located in Eastland, Cisco, Pioneer, Rising Star, Abinger, Carbon, Desdemona, Jopman and Morton Valley, with County Judge John Hart as county supervisor. Supervisors for the individual posts will be appointed by Judge Hart.

Staff Sgt. J. E. Hyde, of the Dallas Filter Center, conducted the meeting and showed a film, "Front Lines of Freedom." He will visit each county post in the near future to assist the supervisor in the observation with the organization of their post.

"Six volunteers were obtained at the Morton Valley meeting, but many more are needed," Sgt. Hyde said.

Returning to San Saba, he established his law firm of which he is now the senior member.

Also in 1940, he was a candidate for state representative and was elected for seven consecutive terms. He served his last four years as Speaker of the House during the 52nd and 53rd sessions, being the only man ever to be twice elected Speaker in succession without opposition.

Guardsmen Put Up With Dust, Smoke And Brass

By STAFF WRITER

FORT HOOD—Dust clings to every cedar tree and to men and armored vehicles alike. A range fire burns four miles south over a heavy timbered area and big guns rumble on all sides. This is Fort Hood, where some 150 Eastland County citizen-soldiers are training.

The range fires—started by the 155 and 105 millimeter howitzers of the 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard—throw up layers of smoke which cut off the view to the south almost entirely and send black clouds pouring over your head. A big gun just a scant few yards in front of you, manned by Eastland County men, booms, and you hear directions being sent back from the forward observers to correct the aim. Then the Guardsmen have their target and the

150 Eastland County Growers Vote Friday

Eastland County wheat growers will join farmers in 35 other states Friday when they vote in a referendum on rigid government marketing controls for their 1957 crop.

Farmer approval of controls will assure growers in major wheat states a federal price support averaging $2 per bushel on the 1957 crop. If farmers refuse the government's proposed marketing quotas supports will drop to about $1.21 a bushel.

Voting places in Eastland County will be at the Cisco Chamber of Commerce building and the Eastland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in the courthouse in Eastland.

A two-third approval margin is necessary to put the quotas into effect.

Eastland County has an estimated 150 eligible voters, according to Emmett Powell, ASC office manager. Some 950,000 wheat growers in the 36 "commercial" growing states are eligible to vote.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Wheat marketing quotas were in effect for the 1954, 1955 and 1956 crops. Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson proposed them again for 1957. The law requires him to do so when supplies are more than 20 per cent above normal. Supplies for the marketing year which began July 1 are 71 per cent above normal, the department said.

Burton-Lingo... Stays Here

Contrary to existing rumors, the Burton-Lingo Lumber Company will continue operation indefinitely in Ranger, J. D. Nichols, manager of the local firm, said Wednesday.

Nichols said the word came from W. B. Ferguson, president of the company which has headquarters in Fort Worth and operates 32 lumber yards in the state of Texas.

College Prof To Roughneck In Eastland County

DENTON (Sp.)—A North Texas State College professor is leaving his classroom to work two months in the Eastland County oil fields as a roughneck.

He is Jeff Hooper, a teacher of insurance in the NTSC School of Business Administration.

It's not teachers' salaries that inspired the change—It's research he needs for a doctoral dissertation on the problems of insurance coverage on oil well drilling installations.

Hooper feels that working in the field is the only way he can get to understand the problems involved in his research. His employer this year will be Fred Poole, oil well drilling contractor, out of Abilene.

If all goes well, Hooper will move next summer to the Gulf Coast to study the risks involved in off-shore drilling operations.

Two Escape Serious Injury In Collision

Two men escaped with only minor injuries in a two-car crash in Ranger Wednesday night around seven p.m.

Treated in Ranger General Hospital was Bert M. Klimist, 48, of 1107 Jackson, Dallas. Attending physicians said he was given treatment for cuts and scratches and released. Raymond Freeman, 39, of Brownwood was apparently uninjured.

Investigating officers said Freeman, driving a supply truck for Garrett Barber and Beauty Supply of Brownwood, was going west in the left lane on Highway 80. Klimist, who was driving a 1955 Cadillac, was going east toward Dallas, where he is a furniture wholesaler.

The supply truck turned left into the El Rancho Motel when it was struck on the side near the rear end by the Cadillac. The Klimist vehicle was spun completely around by the impact, officers said, and finally came to a standstill about 120 feet from the point of the crash. The supply truck veered about 20 feet to the left before turning over once.

Damages to the Cadillac were estimated at a total loss. Damages to the Garrett truck and supplies inside were estimated at $2500.

Topping On Highway Starts Here Monday

John Lee Smith To Bring Drive Here Saturday

Former Lt. Governor John Lee Smith will campaign in Eastland, Ranger and Cisco Saturday, in a bid to return to the office he once held.

The Lubbock attorney, who has hit hard at corruption in office, will be in Abilene and Winters earlier in the day and then will visit Eastland County's three largest cities.

Workers will begin to put topping on Highway 80 north of Ranger Monday, Bill Clem said Wednesday. Clem is superintendent of the Collins Construction Company, which was awarded the contract for building the highway.

Clem said he expected the equipment necessary for the topping to arrive here by Monday. Once the equipment has arrived and workers have begun to lay the topping, it should be completely laid in two or three weeks, Clem said.

An average thickness of about one inch or 135 pounds per square yard will be laid.

Clem also said the rock crusher should complete its work in about two or three weeks.

Construction of the highway has been way ahead of schedule, Clem reported. The company was given 390 working days to complete the construction and they expect to finish using only about 200. Original estimates said the road would be completed by the first of October or November, but Clem said they would turn the road over to the Texas Highway Department around September 1.

Guardsmen—

Ranger's Service Battery are bringing up more ammunition for Cisco's Battery A. The men work quickly, unload the ammo and the truck roars away.

You wander back to a small cedar tree where an even smaller tarpaulin is stretched overhead, giving about three square feet of shade. Capt. Frank Sayre, commander of the Cisco unit, from Eastland, and Lt. Williams of Cisco sit there, both with field telephone in hand. A fire command has just come through, and the two officers are relaying commands to the guns. Then the barrage starts again and about a half minute later booms can be heard from the area where the range fire is burning out of control.

A message comes for Capt. Sayre. He is to report to Battalion headquarters to get information on a move which has just been ordered. He has time to eat and you go along with him back to the field kitchen. There Sgt. Moseley, mess steward, has things under control and he fills your plate with meat loaf, potatoes, pears and even cottage cheese. The food's good, but not as good as the iced tea, which partially hides the taste of the foul tasting water.

Capt. Sayre leaves and you wander back to the Ranger unit, which is located just back of the Cisco unit mess. Things are more dusty here than up front. The motor pool is covered with chalk-like dust. Few men are in the area. Most are at work somewhere in the field. Lt. Roscoe Thumms of Ft. Worth and Lt. William Eaton of Morton Valley show you around. Specialists Third Class Richard Yann and Tim Woods of Ranger and Specialist 2e Alfonso Gato of Eastland grin at you through the dust.

You move on down to the Ranger mess. There you see Sgt. Billy Ogden, J. C. Tankersley, Jerry Page, Jimmy Wheeler, Weldon Needam, Pete Tibbels and Jerry Cantrell. You are told that the outfit just received a superior rating on their kitchen. But the men are already loading up to move to a new location.

"Sure wish we could stay here now that we are all fixed up," Sgt. Ogden says, reflecting the feeling of all.

Earlier you had an opportunity to see the Cisco unit show off for

Lt. Gen. Samuel T. Williams, commander of the Fourth Army, his staff, and Maj. Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson, commander of the 49th Division, and his staff. The general staff made an unexpected stop at the Cisco unit, and Lt. Williams gave command for two quick rounds from one of the unit's 155 howitzers. The "brass" was impressed, and the men knew it.

Pay Day Friday

You get the story of what has been happening! The troops get paid Friday and will be on their way back home Sunday.

They have been at Fort Hood since July 8. With all all-time high strength of over 9000 officers and enlisted men from 114 units in 55 Texas cities, the division has been engaged in intensive training with all its arms and services.

The first week of the training period was devoted to range firing with small arms, mortars, machine guns, rocket launchers and tanks; recruit training and small unit exercises.

Last Saturday the division paraded before Gov. Allan Shivers.

Abolish The Evil Tax Law Now!

Recently I proposed abolition of the progressive income tax. I suggested its replacement with a flat rate tax on income with a top limit of 22%, plus a Federal sales tax. I pointed out that not only would this form of tax encourage greater investment, greater risk, harder work and larger incomes for all—it would also not necessarily reduce the tax collections by the government. The Federal government will even collect more in taxes with lower rates.

Figures from the past show why this would probably occur. In the National Review of March 28 there is an article advocating a 25 per cent limit on income taxes. It contains some highly significant figures.

They show that in 1925 the maximum income tax rate was 40 per cent and the maximum personal exemption $2,500. Total income tax collections in 1925 were $2,584,140,000. The next year the top tax rate was dropped to 24 per cent and the personal exemption was increased to $3,000. But tax collections increased from $2,584,140,000 to $2,836,000,000. Thus with lower rates for higher income groups and greater exemptions for lower groups the revenue department collected more money.

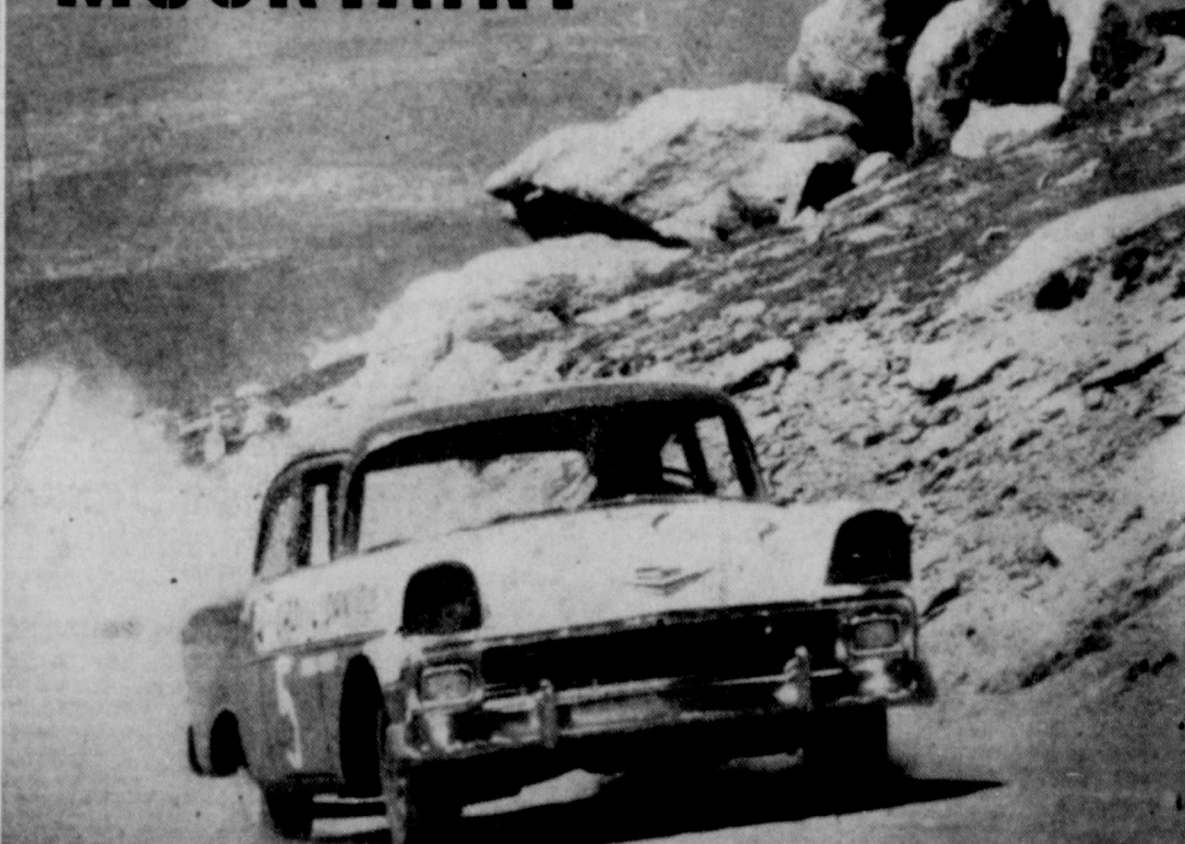

In 1927 the top tax rate remained at 24 per cent but personal exemptions were increased to $3,500 taking more lower income people off the tax rolls. Again the revenue collections increased. They went to $2,865,683,000. Next in 1928 the top tax rate was again dropped to 20 per cent. The exemption remained the same. This further reduction in rates caused only a slight dip in collections amounting to $75,147,000. The next year at those same lowered rates, however, the revenue bureau again gained more revenue. It collected $2,939,054,000. And still at those same lower rates in 1930, the tax take rose to the highest level of all, although at half the rates in 1925. It reached $3,040,146,000.

These figures prove conclusively that a drop in tax rates does not automatically mean a drop in revenue. More often than not it means an increase in tax collections. Canada tried this in recent years and it paid off. It pays off because at lower rates people try to earn more so they can keep more. They risk more because if the risk pays off they can profit more. They work harder, spend more, build more and employ more because they don't have to share such a large proportion of the fruits of their labor and investment with the government. But by earning more and profiting more and employing more they pay more taxes even at lower tax rates.

In my opinion right now would be a good time to try that kind of tax policy again. Save the working man from becoming an economic slave. $1,500 exemption for each person. A family of four making $6,000 would not pay taxes. The working man and the independent business man deserves a fair deal. God willing, we shall abolish this terrible injustice where the middle and low income tax group is giving its money to the government without any strings attached, and paying most of the bills. Then our politicians turn around and give it to our foreign friends to keep them liking us and from joining the Russians.

In the referendum. If quotas are approved:

All farms with more than 15 acres of wheat in "commercial" wheat states, including Texas, will be subject to marketing quotas.

Growers who comply with quotas will get a national average support price of $2 per bushel in commercial areas.

Farmers who put part of their 1957 wheat allotment into the acreage reserve of the new "soil bank" will get government payments of $1.20 per bushel for each bushel they do not produce next year.

Farmers who overplant their allotments may not sell any of their crop without paying a penalty of about $1.09 per bushel on production from the extra acres. In some cases the penalty can be avoided by putting the excess wheat in storage. Farmers with allotments under 15 acres may market up to 15 acres without penalty.

If quotas are voted down: There will be no penalties for production above the acreage allotment level.

The price support rate will be cut from $2 per bushel to about $1.21 in commercial areas, even for farmers who comply with allotments.

Soil bank payments for 1957 wheat will be cut to about 73 cents per bushel.
