THE DRIVER'S SEAT

This is the story of Mortimer Wragg — family man, motorist, good provider, responsible citizen. Mortimer isn't with us any more. But this is his story.

Mortimer worked hard and never slacked his kids. Indeed, it was a dark day in the Wragg household when he even so much as screamed at them, and he never raised his voice to his wife. In business, in good work and charitable pursuits, Mortimer was a model of what an upright citizen should be. It was only when he "mounted to the cabin" and put his foot on the gas that he became a menace to society. And to himself.

Mortimer drove his car as if convinced that every other motorist on the road were expendable. That is, he regarded every other driver as a threat to the four freedoms in general, and to Mortimer Wragg's share of these freedoms in particular. Whenever another motorist tried to pass him, he took it as a personal affront and reacted violently. He considered pedestrians a nuisance that should be abated, and he did his best to abate them.

At home a perfect husband and helmsman, Mortimer in the driver's seat was a free-wheeling catastrophe. His wife told him he should have more care for the safety of others, if not for his own. Business associates expected him to be careful and sober and another motorist with traffic tickets. But Mortimer smiled and kept on driving — his way. He said: "This is a free country."

But they couldn't convince Mortimer. Even a psychiatrist, called in by Mrs. Wragg, gave up in despair and took to his own couch, talking to himself.

One thing Mortimer never could stand was being forced to drive behind another car. To pass whatever might be in front of him, he fractured all speed laws, cut in and out of traffic, and ignored all highway signs and safety markings. He was a schizo on the go, and he took his split personality down the road as if he were roaming the lone prairie.

No one has ever been able to explain how Mortimer avoided disaster for so many years. And no one has ever been able to estimate the miles of shattered nerves he left quivering in other drivers.

But, as it must to all such fools, disaster finally came to Mortimer and it was quite final. Tearing down a highway, fortunately alone, he ignored the brilliant reflective marker that spelled out in the beam of his headlights: "Dangerous curve."

After they had separated Mortimer from the good earth of his native country, they put up a monument to him—a simple thing bearing this simple inscription: "This is the only sign that ever stopped him."

Gibbons visited with R. V. "Rip" Galloway, local manager of the chamber of commerce and during the course of their talk, a remark was made concerning the Ranger fire of April, 1919.

No one knew of a picture in existence showing the results of the disaster until Gibbons made his return to Ranger. Galloway made the statement that he would like to have a picture of the destruction and Gibbons said that he had one and would have a copy made and send it to the chamber.

The picture has arrived and will soon be on display in the chamber office.

Premier Douglas To Address Oilmen

DALLAS (Special) — The premier of Saskatchewan and a prominent Texas oil and gas tax authority are among speakers scheduled to address the 27th annual meeting of the Independent Petroleum association of America here Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 29-30.

Premier T. C. Douglas will discuss the Canadian oil industry, with emphasis on Saskatchewan, at the two-day meeting in the Statler Hilton hotel. In connection with his talk on oil in Canada, IPAA's Western Hemisphere oil study committee will report to the membership at the same session. Chairman J. R. Butler of Houston will report for the committee.

J. Paul Jackson of Dallas will discuss "Some Recent Developments in Oil and Gas Taxation," Jackson, who has lectured at various institutes throughout the country on oil and gas taxation, and has been a lecturer on taxation in the law school at Southern Methodist university, is a member of a Dallas law firm.

Jackson's address will follow the report of IPAA's tax study committee, delivered by Chairman L. J. O'Connor, Jr., of Houston.

IPAA President Robert L. Wood said a number of problems facing the domestic oil and gas producing industry will be discussed and acted upon at the Dallas meeting.

Wood pointed out that just prior to the meeting, the Office of Defense Mobilization will hold hearings on a petition by domestic oil producers urging government limitations on oil imports. He said results of this hearing will indicate a course of action which IPAA might take at its Dallas meeting.

Wood also listed percentage depletion, higher operating costs and federal regulation of natural gas producers as matters which will be carefully studied at the association's meeting next month.

In addition to Jackson, Premier Douglas and other principal speakers not yet announced, oilmen at the meeting also will hear reports by Wood and Russell B. Brown, general counsel for IPAA in Washington.

Sharp-Clawed Tigers Chew Bulldogs, 19-7

The Tigers of Jacksboro roared out of North Texas Friday night and sent the Bulldogs of Ranger down to their third successive defeat of the 1956 "hog-hide" season.

With Mbuton Gunter and Bill Sparks helping out, Tommy Mustin, the Jacksboro speedster, really carried the team as the Tigers rolled to a 19-7 victory.

On the local side of the ledger, Paul Hinds, David Wharton and Charles Wolford ground out yardage. This was probably the best game the Bulldogs have played thus far.

In the aerial department, Jacksboro completed 3-of-11 for 33 yards. Ranger went to the air lines 15 times, completing 4 for a total of 86.

On play number 24 of the second quarter, Tommy Mustin, the beauty-of-a-runner for the Tigers, electrified the crowd as he tore off downfield for a 54-yard sprint. Heads-up blocking by Jacksboro enabled the scabbard to break away and although he was in the clear and running prettily, Paul Hinds "tied him to the sod" in that he just flat outran him and brought him down from behind.

Bulldog David Wharton brought up the top run for Ranger when, on play number 28 of the fourth quarter he rambled 27 yards. Hinds racked up two 15-yarders and one 19 for his longer travels as he added to his season mileage.

Paul Hinds was the leading gainer for the Dogs as he threw the oval all over the field, ran the Tigers dizzy and punted and kicked-off well.

During the jury's three day session, they returned a total of eight true bills, two no bills and passed one case.

Sportsmen Asked To Protect Cranes

Sportsmen of Texas, and other states, were called upon this week to aid in the protection of the nearly extinct whooping crane. The story below is of interest to local citizens in that they may have an opportunity to participate in this venture.

WHOOING CRANES FLY AGAIN

DO NOT SHOOT ANY LARGE WHITE BIRD

Once again a little band of great white birds—the last flock of wild whooping cranes—is preparing for the long and hazardous journey south to winter quarters. Last year at this time a major nesting area of this rare species had been discovered in northwest Canada and several young cranes observed there prior to migration. This past summer, however, witnessed an apparent shift in the major breeding locale and once more a veil of mystery has been dropped over the summer activities of this bird that has won the interest and concern of millions of people throughout the world.

But there is no cause for undue alarm. Of the 28 cranes that nested in the Texas coast last fall, 25 migrated northward again in 1956, a number in excess of the 18-year average of 23 spring migrants. The three birds that failed to migrate include one adult that disappeared but may still turn up, a young bird that chose for reasons of its own to remain on the Texas coast for the summer, and a second adult that was wing-tipped

HITS and MISSES

By ED JOHNSON

I once heard a man say: "It's a great mistake to play the American people for boobs."

Countless times during my so-called childhood and later my more or less adulthood I have observed many people trying to play others for boobs.

Some are glibly enough to swallow anything "hook line and sinker" . . .

Young boys, and girls, too, for that matter, play mother, or dad for boobs . . . today I honestly believe that the youngsters take their parents for boobs . . . in that they go beyond the borderline of white lies and plunge into absolute and deliberate falsehoods of the blackest nature . . . still the parents are as much at fault as the kids . . . they seem to be willing to believe that "my child will not lie."

Be that as it may . . . children of today will make boobs out of mom or dad . . . if they stand to gain their point . . . or evade a thrashing.

This is by no means an attempt to classify the "little brats" as all being in one category — that of lying . . . Rather it is used as an illustration that boob-making begins in the home.

Foreign countries continue . . . as always . . . to attempt to make boobs of this great country of ours . . . and in monetary matters, they succeed rather well . . . as even the withholding tax of the lowest-paid worker of the nation will attest . . . not that I have any quarrel with social security . . . but the chances are about 10,000-to-1 that by the time workers in the 30-40 age bracket reach the promised golden age of retirement years . . . some do look forward to this gentle way of living . . . social security will in all probability be outlawed . . . the funds will not be returned to the workers nor the employers . . . or the ones that are actually out of pocket for payments . . . but instead, they will be diverted to some other department of government . . . then employer and employe, alike, will once again be made boobs of.

Election year, for Republican and Democrat, alike . . . is the time for rosy promises to woo supporters for candidates seeking office . . . always . . . and always . . . there is ever held before

If that doesn't "take the rag off the bush" . . . then I, for one don't know what does. When can a "boss" be cited for contempt of a hiring? . . . yet they do it up in the District . . . and they get away with it . . . who is being made a boob of?

Boobs . . . they come in every walk of life . . . pay the bills and foot the debts of some big-shot . . . it has to be spelled that way in order to be published . . . and the lowest paid breadwinner in the land is always the victim.

Yes it is a great mistake to play some people for boobs . . . but hardly can it be expected that there will never be any boobs . . . this world could not get along without them.

And as long as foreign nations . . . and there are no few of them . . . succeed in making boobs of our government . . . then we, the working class, will be made boobs of . . . we still have to pay the bills . . . and the kids will learn how easily parents can be made boobs of . . . then — they will grow up . . . get federal jobs . . . and continue to broader fields . . . making boobs.

University of Dallas Opens September 24

A major step toward meeting the need for additional college facilities in the North Texas area will be taken Sept. 24 with the opening of the University of Dallas.

The university will begin operation as a four year co-educational liberal arts college. It will offer pre-medical, pre-engineering, pre-dental and pre-law courses as well as business administration, nursing education and teaching.

There will also be well developed athletic and extra-curricular programs. Classes on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and on Saturday mornings will be held for teachers and working adults.

The first year, freshmen only will be admitted. Additional freshmen classes will be added for the next three years until the student body is rounded out in 1959.

Located on a 1000 acre site between Dallas and Fort Worth, the university is just north of Highway 183 at the intersection of Loop 12. It is nine and a half miles east of Amon Carter field.

The first six buildings, built at a cost of over one million dollars, are air-conditioned and incorporate the latest advances in educational construction. They are the science building, lecture hall, chapel, cafeteria and men's and women's residence halls.

Erected under the auspices of the Catholic diocese of Dallas-Fort Worth, the university is open to students of all faiths. The diocese covers the 63 counties in North Texas. Bishop Thomas G. Gorman is chancellor of the university and Dr. F. Kenneth Brasted is president. They head a faculty distinguished by the fact that nearly half its members are holders of the Ph.D. degree.

Information on courses and the university catalog may be secured by writing the Registrar, University of Dallas, P.O. Box 1330, Dallas 21.

The idea is startling to Americans . . . because we have had so little of anything like this kind of thinking. We are content to let things roll along . . . evidently the general public does not mind being made boobs of.

When state socialism is carried too far, it kills incentive and it decreases the sources of abundances . . . people are content to sit in the shade . . . and be made boobs of.

If an employer does not get satisfaction from any individual employe he . . . usually, that is fires him . . . he will not be made a boob of.

Still, the glibly public will hire officials (by going to the polls) that cannot possibly deliver the goods . . . then if anything is said . . . the public, is hauled up . . . and cited for contempt . . .

If that doesn't "take the rag off the bush" . . . then I, for one don't know what does. When can a "boss" be cited for contempt of a hiring? . . . yet they do it up in the District . . . and they get away with it . . . who is being made a boob of?

Sportsmen-

While efforts to rear young whooping cranes in captivity suffered disappointing setbacks this past summer, what has been happening to the wild flock? As of this date no one knows for certain. A total of 68 young have been successfully reared and brought in safety to the Texas wintering grounds since our records began in 1939, but to date no young have been reared in a captive state. Over a period of 17 years the wild flock has more than held its own, returning to the Gulf Coast each fall with an annual average of four new youngsters. Known losses in the same period show an annual average of 3.35 birds of all age groups.

So it is that all eyes are now turned on the migration route, and especially on its terminal point at Aransas Refuge, where the final accounting will be made when the flights are completed in November. But the danger lies along the flyway. Each year that these great birds undertake this autumnal journey, protection along the route becomes more vital than it was the year before. And each year the challenge to conservation forces must be met anew. The vitality and reproductive vigor of the whooping crane has made a remarkable and unique record. The weak link in the survival chain is represented by the loss that takes place during the fall migration, chiefly as a direct result of illegal shooting. Once again a strong appeal is being made to give the whooping cranes safe passage through the Canadian provinces and through the states of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Friends of the whooping crane are now legion and the cooperation of state wildlife and conservation authorities, sportsmen's groups, civic and conservation organizations has reached new heights. But the risks are so great and the danger area so extensive that the help of all interested parties will be needed. If you live in a province or state through which the whoopers migrate get in touch with one of your conservation clubs or agencies and offer to do your part. You will be helping to save one of our proudest and most deserving wildlife heritages. Help us to see that the whooping crane is given safe conduct through your area!

George Alford, chairman of the speech and drama department at Ranger Junior college, called the assembly to order Thursday morning. After the invocation by Rev. Branom, the pledge to the flag was given in unison.

Following an inspirational talk on the meaning of our national anthem, Al Lotspich conducted the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. A very impressive and effective arrangement with piano and drums supplied the background music with Jackie Corneliuson at the piano and Ray Falk on the drums.

A pep rally steaming with school spirit and a determination to "Scalp an Apache" was then held. Pep speeches were made by Coach Hestand and Weir, and co-captains of the Rangers, Eddie Jo James and Teddy Henderson.

The Rangers left at 2 p.m. Friday. Game time is 8 p.m. at Tyler on Saturday evening.

The idea is startling to Americans . . . because we have had so little of anything like this kind of thinking. We are content to let things roll along . . . evidently the general public does not mind being made boobs of.

When state socialism is carried too far, it kills incentive and it decreases the sources of abundances . . . people are content to sit in the shade . . . and be made boobs of.

If an employer does not get satisfaction from any individual employe he . . . usually, that is fires him . . . he will not be made a boob of.

Still, the glibly public will hire officials (by going to the polls) that cannot possibly deliver the goods . . . then if anything is said . . . the public, is hauled up . . . and cited for contempt . . .

If that doesn't "take the rag off the bush" . . . then I, for one don't know what does. When can a "boss" be cited for contempt of a hiring? . . . yet they do it up in the District . . . and they get away with it . . . who is being made a boob of?

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Warren

Sherry Ann King, Jerry A. Warren Are Married in Church Sept. 15

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry A. Warren are making their home at 808 1/2 West Quay in Artesia, N. M. after their marriage Sept. 15 at the First Baptist church, Ranger.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized before an altar centered with a white prayer bench. Baskets of white gladioli and mums interspersed with palms and candelabra burning white tapers formed a semi-circle around the altar. Rev. Ralph Perkins, pastor, officiated.

Miss Mary Ellen Deffebach of McMurry college was at the organ. She accompanied Jackie Fryar, Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, who sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Walk Hand in Hand."

The bride's only attendant was her cousin, Miss Kay King. She wore a dress of pale blue nylon net over taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet of blue feathered carnations.

John Warren of Sweetwater, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers and candlelighters were B. H. King of Wichita Falls and Robert M. Browning, III, of Austin, cousins of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a waltz length gown of Chantilly type lace over pure white gleaming satin. The closely molded bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline with a yoke of filmy white illusion. Dainty appliques of the lace design were encrusted with iridescent sequins to highlight the yoke. Long lace sleeves tapered to petal points terminating over the hands. Her tiny waistline was emphasized by a crushed satin cummerbund which tied in a large pouf bow in the center back. The circular lace skirt fell over layers of net and satin.

Her finger-tip veil of white illusion was caught to a queen's crown of Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones.

The bride's bouquet which was carried on a white Bible, was a white orchid with stephanotis.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the lower auditorium of the church. The bride's table was laid with a white cutwork cloth and centered with the bride's bouquet. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with blue spun-sugar roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Appointments were of crystal and silver. Those in the house party were: Mrs. Bill Herrington, Abilene, Mrs. C. E. May, Jr., Mrs. Allen Rushing, Miss Wynona Raines, Mrs. H. P. Flowers, and Mrs. J. C. Carter.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride wore a two-piece blue and gray fitted suit with black accessories.

Mrs. Warren is a graduate of Ranger high school and for the past year has been employed by the National bank in Sweetwater. Warren is presently employed with the Currier Abstract Co. in Artesia.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. King and Carol Ann of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Browning and Bobby of Austin, Mrs. Byril Hittson of Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Whitley of Palo Pinto, Mrs. John Warren and children of Sweetwater, Me. and Mrs. B. H. King of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Carter and Gerald Clay of Eunice, N. M.

Cancer Films To be Shown

The Eastland county unit of the American cancer society will show two films on cancer at the high school auditorium, Tuesday, Sept. 25 at 8 p.m.

The two films, "A Question in Time" and "The Traitor Within," will be shown for the public, and it is urged that everyone see them. There will be no charge for admission.

"A Question in Time," which is 22 minutes in length, both asks and answers questions about cancer. This film emphasizes the importance of seeking early medical advice, tells of the work of the American cancer society, and discusses the danger signals, the three methods of treatment, and the hope of cure.

"The Traitor Within," which is only 11 minutes long, puts across the cancer control message in colorful animated cartoons. Short, vivid sequences tell the cancer story — how normal cells function, how cancer cells develop, their uncontrolled growth, and how they spread to other parts of the body.

This program is sponsored by your local committee in the hope that through knowledge some life may be saved and the committee urges that everyone who possibly can, see the films.

Use this HOME FIRE SAFETY CHECK LIST to Safeguard Your Home Today

TAKING care of home fire safety is a family job. Dad, Mother, brothers and sisters all have a personal interest and should take part in a check-up to find and list fire hazards. Since this check list is supposed to cover the kind of house most people live in, it is quite possible some of the hazards listed are not found in your home. For example, your house may have no basement. Therefore, basement hazards will not be found. Or, you may live in an apartment and have no yard or garage hazards and, quite possibly, you do not own a portable oil heater.

Therefore, each question which points out hazards which cannot possibly be found in your home may be cut off the list by simply drawing a line through the entire question. All questions on this check list may be answered "Yes" or "No." Each question answered "No" points to a fire hazard. After you have answered all the questions you can, read the blank over again. The "No" answers will give you a good picture of the fire hazards in your home. Then you can take immediate steps to correct the hazards you have found.

- YARD AND GARAGE HAZARDS Check Yes No
- Have you removed all combustible rubbish, leaves and debris from your yard?
 - Have you removed all waste, debris, and litter from your garage?
 - Is an adult always present during the entire time trash, leaves, etc., are being burned out of doors?
 - Is trash and refuse burned in a suitable outdoor incinerator?
 - Have weeds, dried leaves and rubbish been removed from vacant property adjacent to yours?
 - Does your garage have a concrete, brick, or earthen floor?
 - If you store paint, varnish, etc., in garage, are the containers always kept tightly closed?
 - If your garage is in the basement, or is a part of the house, have cut-offs or barriers been provided to prevent leakage of gases, smoke or odors into living quarters?
- HOUSEKEEPING HAZARDS
- Do you keep your basement, storerooms, and attic free from rubbish, oily rags, old papers, mattresses, broken furniture, etc.?

- If you use an oil mop, do you keep it in a metal container or other safe, well ventilated place where it will not catch fire by spontaneous ignition?
 - Do you destroy or safely dispose of oily polishing rags or waste after using?
 - Do you deposit ashes in covered hole-free metal containers, and dispose of them at frequent, regular intervals?
 - Has your family been forbidden to use gasoline, benzine, or other similar flammable fluids for cleaning clothing or floors in your home?
- HEATING AND COOKING HAZARDS
- Is your inside basement door at the head of the stairs tightly fitted and kept closed at night?
 - Are wood floors under stoves and heaters protected by metal, brickwork, concrete, or ventilated air space?
 - If your house is oil heated, is the motor oiled, and burner cleaned, adjusted and inspected by a reliable service man before the heating season?
 - Are all stovepipes and chimneys cleaned, repaired and your furnace inspected each fall?

Miss Ella Sue Thomas Becomes Bride of Rev. Jackie Heath

In a double ring wedding ceremony Monday evening, Sept. 10, in the Avenue Baptist church, Hereford, Miss Ella Sue Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Thomas of Hereford, became the bride of Rev. Jackie Lee Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heath of Houston.

Rev. Grady Allison, pastor, conducted the ceremony as the couple and their attendants stood before an arch of white flowers and fern flanked by seven branched candelabra holding white wedding tapers.

Mrs. Grady Allison served at the organ and accompanied Harlon Reece of Plainview who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Allison played a medley of wedding songs and the traditional wedding march.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Frances Thomas, who wore a cocoa brown cotton satin waist length dress with a bouquet of white carnations, John Higgins, uncle of the bride, served as best man and ushers were Charles Thomas and Charles Self.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white tulle gown with length dress trimmed with seed pearl buttons. Her scalloped veil of illusion was held in place by scallops of lace with seed pearl trim and the bridal bouquet of white rosebuds was carried on a white Bible. Her only ornaments were pearl earrings.

The bride's mother wore a dress of brown nylon and cotton with beige accessories and white carnation corsage.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's maid's bouquet centered the table which was laid with a white lace cloth. Assisting with serving were Pearl Thomas and Frances Thomas.

After the reception the couple left for their home in Ranger, where he is pastor of the Eastside Baptist chapel.

For traveling the bride wore a brown cotton frock trimmed with white and the corsage lifted from the wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Heath is a graduate of the Hereford high school and was a junior student at Hendrick Memorial school of Nursing in Abilene at the time of her marriage.

Rev. Heath graduated from Ranger high school and received his degree from Hardin-Simmons university. She will continue her schooling at Ranger junior college.

Stephenville Man Finds Talent As Song Composer

AUSTIN (Spl.) — A former University of Texas football guard, who went into his family's nursery business and found out by accident he was a frustrated musical composer, has written a new "fight" song for his alma mater.

Danny Wolfe of Stephenville, 1949 Longhorn co-captain, composed the "Texas Color Song," played for the first time Saturday night at the Texas - University of Southern California football game.

"Texas Color Song" was written at the request of Vincent R. DiNino, Longhorn band director, and is dedicated to Mrs. J. M. Griffith, longtime housemother to university athletes.

The university fight song is the first march Wolfe has ever written, but it is only one of more than 100 tunes he has produced in the past two - and - a - half years.

This fact would not be too unusual unless you knew that until 1954 Wolfe had never had a music lesson in his life. Since then, however, his musical success has assumed almost story - book proportions.

In 1954, Wolfe gave an apti-

The Sunday morning and evening services will count in the required number of periods for award.

The nursery will be open for all the sessions.

The firm which administered the tests advised Wolfe to take up musical composition as a hobby.

Wolfe, although skeptical, bought a piano and a chord progression course. After a few lessons, he found he could easily compose any kind of song - children's, popular, western, classical, rhythm and blues, religious, rock and roll.

Publishers and recording companies liked his work and bought his songs. Wolfe now has 56 tunes under contract, while Gene Vincent's recent Capitol recording of Wolfe's "Gonna Back Up Back" sold more than 150,000 copies in the first 10 days after publication and has been picked as a hit by Billboard magazine.

tude test to his nursery employes to see if they were fitted for their jobs. Just for fun, he took the test himself.

To his complete surprise, the results revealed he had a strong, undiscovered musical - composing ability.
