County Silver Boom Preceded Oil Here

By VIRGIL L. MOORE
OLDEN — Everyone knows the fabulous tales about the Eastland County oil boom, but the just-as-fabulous tale of the Olden Silver Pass Mining Co. isn't quite so well known.

It was back in February, 1892 that the mining company was first incorporated. Stock began to sell immediately for $100 a share and the stock certificates show the company boasted a capital stock of $1,000,000, which back in those pre-cheap money days, was lots of green stuff.

A mining camp was set up down on Moss Curve, often called Rattlesnake Bend, not far from Olden. Mining began to be the talk of the county as the old wood fired boilers steamed up hopes.

Some folks say it was gold the miners were after, but according to Mrs. H. C. Croom of Ranger, a daughter-in-law of the late J. W. Croom, one of the founders of the mine, it was silver. She says Mr. Croom often told her stories of the venture. From the name of the company, it would appear silver, indeed, was the sought after mineral.

It seems that Mr. Croom was a believer in science. He had acquired a metal finding box which operated magnetically. The box much resembled those used now to find uranium. Using the box on Moss Bend Mr. Croom got positive results. He told his friends about it, and he and nine others put up money to form the company. Then additional stock was sold.

Mrs. Croom says her father-in-law told her they found a lot of minerals, but no silver. Nothing much ever came of the silver venture after that.

Later, during the oil boom, some Austin lawyers convinced the stockholders to form the Oil Field Production Co. With a capital stock of $40,000, the company was formed, with the original stockholders of the Silver Pass Mining Co. keeping just less than 50 percent of the stock in the new company. Oil rights were leased out by the company, and the stockholders got some of their money back in that way.

Today, many will still tell you that "There's silver in that bend," and others don't feel the mining company would have found any of the precious metal if there had been any.

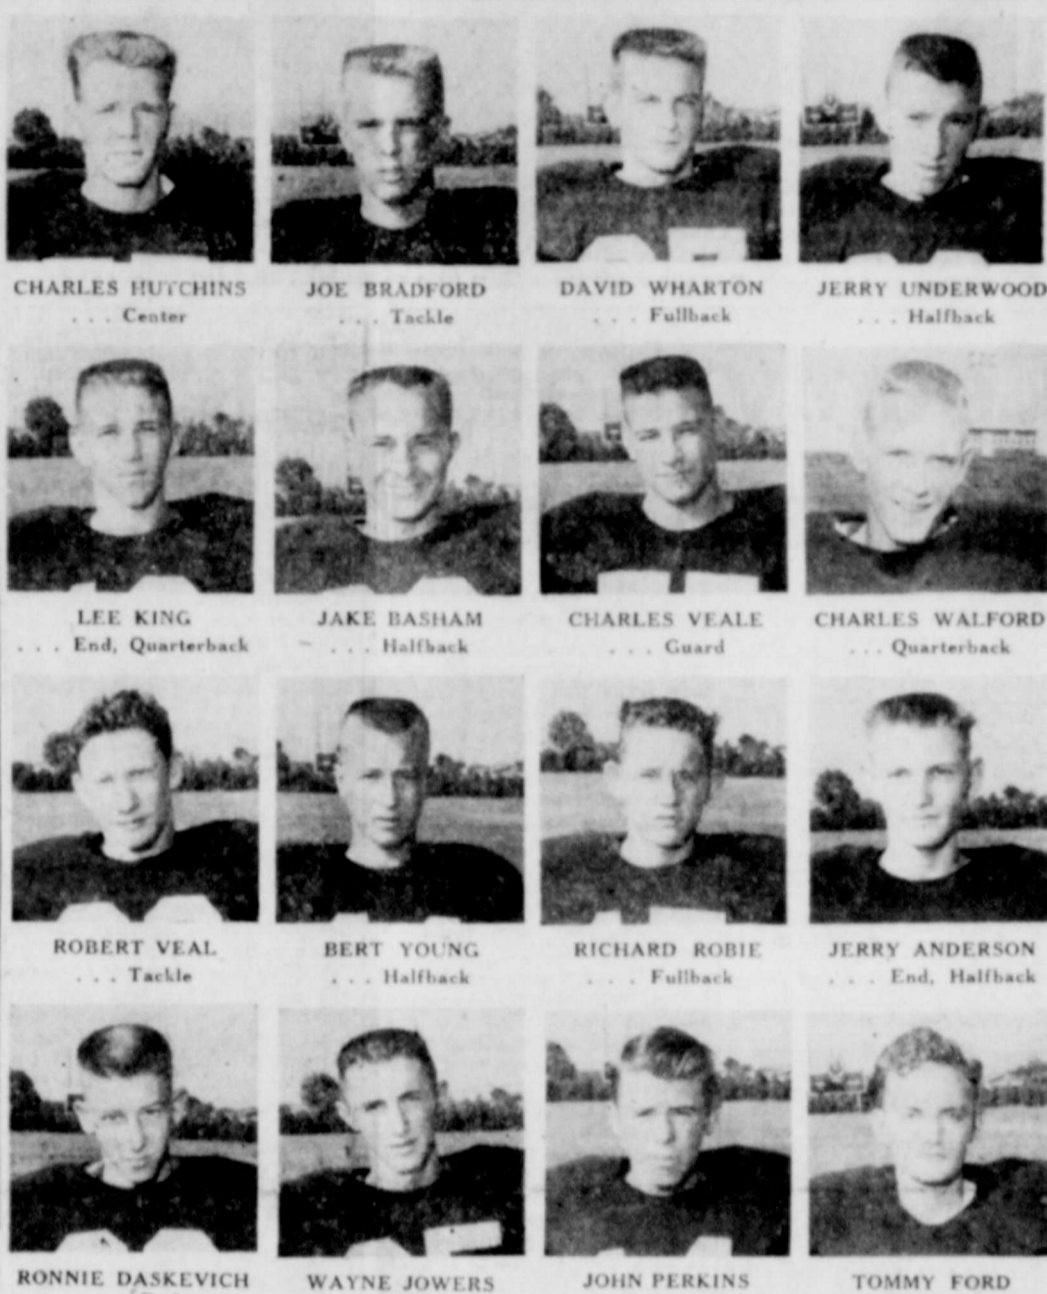

One story has it that the mine was originally "salted" and says that's how so much interest originated. That tale says some old silver coins were shaved into small pieces and placed on an ant bed. The ants, so the story goes, carried the silver underground, and enough of it was discovered to keep interest alive. Mrs. Croom, however, insists that Mr. Croom said no silver was ever found.

Today on Moss Curve about all that remains to remind one of a silver mine once operated there is a number of caves left from the digging.

The original 99-year lease on the land will not expire until Feb. 6, 1991, however, and Mrs. Croom says she still has hopes that someday something more may come of the land. Originally there was 160 acres leased by the company, and all mineral rights were included in the lease.

Mrs. Croom says her father-in-law handed her one large stack of letters and papers concerning the mine before he died. These papers she still has, and they tell an interesting story themselves. All of the original organizers of the Silver Pass Mining Co. are dead now, Mrs. Croom says.

What next at the site of the mine? Mrs. Croom says she tried to interest one man in prospecting for uranium on the land. "He wouldn't do it though," she recalls. "He said there were many rattle snakes down there."

Partial List of Ranger High School Bulldogs ...

Pictured above are a few of the Ranger High School Bulldogs for 1957. There are others, and the Times will print their pictures as soon as they become available. There are also pictures of the "B" Team and the Cheer Leaders which will be published soon. The Bulldogs had a practice scrimmage with Clyde Friday afternoon, during which no score was kept. The "B" Team went over to Baird for a scrimmage Friday, also. All the players have one hard week of work behind them and are still working hard this week for the opening game of the season Friday night at Bulldog Stadium against Merkle. ### Sweetheart Kissin' Season Also Launched

When a guy gets to thinking of all the various and sundry sweethearts we've got to get kissed and crowned around here between now and Thanksgiving, in addition to holding a couple of 6-weeks terms of school, it begins to dawn upon him that time's awasting!

And all of this is just one more loud signal that school has started again in Ranger and the long, hard grind will continue until the 26th day of next May when they will hand out diplomas again.

A total of 210 students registered in high school, 123 in Junior high, 273 in Hodges Oak Park and 170 in Young elementary. There will be a few more in all schools before registration is complete.

Ranger is again stirring with life and noise and traffic on downtown Main Street, and it's a shoving contest to see who gets to eat dinner first in the downtown cafes.

School supply counters are swamped with students and mamas lined up three deep stocking up on the tools of the trade in getting an education; clothing and ready-to-wear stores have been doing a brisk business in back-to-school wearables, the drug store soda fountain has done a land-office business and Del Capps, the town photographer, has been hunting a new place to hide.

Principal Charlie Garrett of the high school has stated that registration is almost complete and all students have been given their assignments as to schedules. He also stated that all students had been given a Handbook of Information for their own use and for the use of all parents. The Principal said he was particularly anxious that all parents take a look at this handbook, because there was valuable information in it that they should know, and which the school wanted them to read.

All buses ran on regular schedule this morning and all cafeterias were in full operation. The tardy bell at high school was barking in all directions to be in their seats before the "too late" gong sounded at 8:25.

Band music rehearsals and marching classes have stepped up the tempo of their activities in order to be in shape to perform this coming Friday night at the first football game of the season with Merkel in Bulldog stadium.

And that brings up sweethearts again, of one kind and another. Coming up is the crowning of the band sweetheart with appropriate ceremonies, and there will also be a football sweetheart. This will be repeated, of course, for Ranger College, and that crowd usually throws in a Homecoming Sweetheart. So, sweetheart crowning and kissin' season is open again and there's a big job ahead. It's hard work on everybody including the sweethearts, the crowners, the photographers, the kissers and the kiss-ees and the mamas who have to make all the pretty dresses and the daddys who have to pay for them.

There will be snow and ice and rain, no doubt, to add to the enjoyment of all the functions, but who could enjoy a football game without freezing to death and getting soaked?

Teen Town will be running full blast so the youngsters will have a place to go on non-school nights, and it will also be the scene of many an activity after the games when the Bulldogs play at home.

On top of all this, there is a lot of studying and learning that has to be packed in because high school graduation requirements are getting stiffer by the minute, and the youth of Ranger will be burning a lot of midnight oil before the last bell rings sometimes next Spring.

Editor's Note About This Issue

Today's issue of the Times is not packed with a lot of "small" news items because we, too, took a holiday Monday.

But there is a wealth of good reading.

There are TWO chapters in the "History of Eastland County" series instead of one. One is entitled "In Search of A Wife," and the other is "Ranger History Briefed." Do not confuse this latter chapter as being about the Town of Ranger, it is about the Texas Rangers. A chapter on the Town of Ranger is coming up later.

We are sure you will enjoy the story about Eastland County's Silver mine, over to the left of here, and there may be some real cheering news in the story about the football outlook for Ranger College this year.

Pardon the paucity of other news, but we just HAD to take the day off, too!

TCWylie Rain Showers Peanuts Over Week-end

A regular TCWylie rainstorm, measuring up to one inch and better in spots, showered the Eastland County peanut crop over the Labor-Day week-end and there is a good chance that more may follow, according to the weatherman.

At least an inch and more fell in the Carbon and Gorman area, Rising Star got a half-inch and even the City of Ranger got an even half-inch between midnight Monday and early Tuesday morning. Cisco and Eastland both reported almost a half-inch, indicating that the showers were pretty general.

In Carbon one farmer said the moisture saturated the top soil for about six to eight inches. Although the peanuts could use some more moisture, what they have just received may be enough to give them that added push toward production of a superior crop.

Mothers Club To Meet Wed. Eve.

All members of the Teen Town Mothers Club, and other interested, are asked to meet at Teen Town Wednesday night at 7:30 when tickets will be given out which are to be sold for $1.00. Two $100 Bonds are to be given away, and net proceeds will go to pay for the current expansion program at Teen Town.

W. H. Lee Dies In Chicago

W. H. Lee, 61, brother of Mrs. Mary Young of Ranger, has passed away in Chicago, it has been learned here. Mr. Lee had visited in Ranger many times and knew many people here. He had been connected with the Chicago Tribune, one of the country's greatest newspapers, for more than 30 years.

Mrs. Young said that due to her health, she would not be able to go to Chicago for the funeral.

Fire Dept. Called To Lake Leon

Fire trucks from both Ranger and Eastland answered an alarm from Lake Leon at 1:40 p.m. Monday for the purpose of fighting a grass fire that broke out in an area north of Arterburn's cabin on the north shore. The fire was not caused from anything around the cabin, but rather from carelessness by somebody much further off up in the woods.

The two fire departments put out the grass before any damage was done.

Wreck Victim Transferred To Fort Worth

Mrs. Daisy Falkner Harper, 44, of Talco, one of several victims brought to Ranger Monday following a 3-car wreck on Highway 80 east about 10 miles from Ranger, was transferred from West Texas Clinic to Methodist Hospital in Fort Worth by a Killingsworth ambulance late Monday afternoon.

Dr. P. M. Kuykendall said the woman was in a critical condition suffering from a fractured pelvis and internal injuries. He said the woman was vomiting blood and passing blood from the kidneys which would indicate a punctured bladder.

Jewell McCain and Kenneth McCain, 10, were released from Ranger General Hospital Tuesday after being treated for injuries there overnight.

The accident involved a pickup truck and two automobiles. According to highway patrolmen, the truck collided first with an automobile occupied by a Negro family and then with a car driven by a young man from Lubbock. Both cars were headed west, and the truck, driven by Mrs. Harper, was headed east.

Robinson's truck stop, near the scene of the accident, notified Ranger police who in turn notified the ambulance and the highway patrol.

EASTLAND COUNTY HISTORY REVIEW

Rangers History Told

(Editor's Note: This is the twelfth in a series of articles taken from the book, "A History of Eastland County, Texas," written by Mrs. George Langston in 1904.)

In Search of a Wife
 One day, early in 1863, Mrs. Blair took her small children, leaving Delphia and Charlie at home to do the family wash, and went to see a sick married doctor living near. She left a pot of peas and bacon on the hearth, with one fried egg and bread in a skillet all ready for the girls' dinner.

There was small danger of Indians at that time, yet the instinct of watchfulness had been well trained, and the frontiersman was ever on the alert.

When the noon hour arrived the girls came in to eat their dinner.

"I'm going to eat my peas first and save the best for the last," Delphia remarked.

"Well, I'm going to eat the best first," laughed Charlie, "and then I'll know that I have it." A noise at the gate aroused the girls and Charlie, aged 13, went to the door.

"Mercy, me! Delphia, it's a big Negro man." Her sister came to look and cried out, "Charlie! It's an Indian!" The younger girl dashed under the food curtain and her mother's headstaid, while Delphia hurriedly hid herself between the two feather beds.

The Indian came on, opened the door, looked around, (Charlie watching him through the curtains), went to the glass, combed his hair, turned to the fire-place and discovered Delphia's eggs as well as Charlie's peas. These he quickly dispatched, scooping up the peas with his hand.

Mrs. Blair had sent her little boy, Dave, and a smaller girl, Adeline, across the field to her home for some medicine. When the boy stepped to at the door, the Indian looked up and said, "Come in," but the little 10-year old lad turned and catching his sister by the hand, made his way back to his mother as fast as his legs could carry him, coaxing his sister, when she stumbled or fell behind, "Run, Susie, run or the Indian will catch you."

As the children did not see the girl's mother naturally supposed they had been murdered, and she started home screaming. She was cautioned to go by a neighbor's, and not expose herself to a like fate. This she did, and she and Mr. Bell cautiously approached the house, the mother not being able to restrain her grief, as no sign of life appeared about the place. When they entered, the Indian rose, held out his hand and said, "Howdy." ("bobberey.") Mr. Bell shook hands with him. "I don't want to shake hands with you," said Mrs. Blair. "Tell me what you have done with my children."

"Why, Ma here we are!" cried out Charlie. "I rode to school and I rode home, while Delphia at the same time tumbled out from her snug hiding place. The mother, clasping her children to her breast, began shouting. When her joy had somewhat subsided, she went up to the Indian and said, "Now, I'll shake hands with you, I've found my children." In the meantime Mr. Blair and Mr. Whitley, who had been out after board timber, came in. The Indian made them understand that believing the white man would not kill the red man if he gave himself up, he had waited several days for an opportune time. He was guarded closely over night and sent to Dublin next morning, from which the soldiers carried him back to the Comanches.

On their arrival in Dublin an interpreter found in Mr. Bab Burton, the Indian told his squaw had been in a raid some weeks before and as she had never returned, he had come to hunt for her.

Mr. Burton told him of the accidental killing of the wounded squaw and as the time agreed he decided it was his wife.

The Texas Ranger
 It is not definitely known when the Texas Ranger service was instituted, but as early as the colonization of Texas under Austin, companies of volunteers were formed to repel Indian invasions.

The Congress of the Republic after Texas had gained her independence, made provision for a mounted force to guard the frontier which, in 1836, was Naacodiches, Houston and San Antonio but "it was in the Mexican War of 1846-1848 that the Texas Mounted Volunteers in the service of the United States, under such noted leaders as Walker, Hays and Gillespie, achieved world-renown fame and clothed the name of Texas Ranger with its traditions' glory."

The "State Police" of the reconstruction period which became so odious to the citizens of the State was, in no sense, a part of the Ranger service. The former was characterized by outrage and lawlessness; the latter by intrepidity of bravery, self-sacrificing courage, calmness in danger, and

County Keeps All Precincts

It was the same song, just another verse Friday afternoon when County Commissioners held a special meeting to decide on the question of abolishing of the smaller voting precincts in Eastland County. Commissioners all reported that after checking with voters concerned, they would not recommend that any of the precincts be dropped. Thus the same thing that happened before happened again. Apparently the county will keep all 25 of its voting precincts until such time that voters in a precinct partition to have it abolished. The question comes up almost every year. Voters in the smaller precincts feel strongly about taking away their precincts. Despite the fact that they poll few votes, they argue that they have the right to have a voting box close to their homes, just as voters in the larger towns do. They also point out that many of the people in the smaller precincts are elderly, and they maintain they could not come to town to vote. They also say that most of the smaller precincts are in farm areas. "Our men don't have time to go to town and vote, they have crops to tend," they explain. But the main argument is usually this: "You have taken or schools and in many cases our Church. But you won't get our voting box." That's a good argument to a man who depends on the vote of the people to keep his job. Commissioner Bob Carter of Rising Star, newest member of the Court, seemed to sum up the thinking of other commissioners. "I may never run for office again," he said, "but I have to live with people down there and they are not ready for this." Commissioners also approved the bond of W. C. Crawford, who has been appointed new Rising Star justice of the peace. The only other action during the special session was the passing of an order to allow Precinct 1 Commissioner J. B. (Tip) Arther to advertise to purchase a new truck.

Mrs. G. D. Riley and Gene spent the weekend in Fort Worth with her daughters.

Mrs. Vida Dukes of Artesia, N. M., and Mrs. Eloisa Scowen and children of Odessa were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Riley, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Linder and children of Rowell, N. W., were recent visitors in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Linder.

Mrs. Gene Marshall of Fort Worth spent Friday night and Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Andrews spent Sunday and Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Mark Burrows. Lines of a mountain, a tree and a buffalo is a symbol of his proficiency as an emergency mountain-climber, trained fire-fighter and expert tracker. He travels by horse or dog team, sometimes using over-snow equipment such as weasels and snow cats. In emergencies he can call in a helicopter or a plane with trained "smoke-jumpers" to fight forest fires.

In the summer, the Rangers usually limit their tracking to children. There are about 35 lost children a week in Yosemite alone. Most of them are found quickly, but some require intensive searches. Many mountain climbers owe their lives to Rangers. In 1955 four Rangers rescued a badly hurt young woman who'd fallen 60 feet while climbing the Yosemite's steep Washington Column.

Dear Friend:

This is the last of my newsletters for this year. They will be resumed with the next session of Congress in January. Meanwhile, I am returning to Texas for rest, relaxation and some visits with old friends.

But since this is the last of my newsletters for the time being, I think it is time to take a look at the first session. It did not accomplish everything. No session can do that. But it delivered what it promised.

overall water plan for Texas. MILITARY? Military construction is important to Texas. Our State is a key part of the defense system. Congress appropriated $72,375,000 for further construction and expansion of facilities in Texas.

MUTUAL SECURITY? The Congress shifted from the "giveaway" concept of Foreign Aid to a sound respectable program of loans. It has been our experience that gifts create ill will and bad feelings. But nations to whom we have lent money have a good record for repayment and feel better about the whole transaction.

ECONOMY? The people called for economy and they got exactly that. The budget was cut by $5,600,000,000 — 8.7 percent. A Democratic Congress saved that much money out of the proposals of a Republican President.

CONSERVATION? Important water projects were advanced. New ones were launched. Surveys were started on the Texas rivers. Most important of all, the Bureau of Reclamation and the Army Engineers agreed to work together and produce an

The closing days of the session were featured by the debate over the civil rights bill. It was necessary to accept an amendment approved by the House. But this amendment did not touch the Senate jury trial provision to any practical extent.

It represented primarily a method of coming to an agreement. But the conditions of the compromise are such that no prudent judge will hold a criminal contempt trial without a jury.

I want to thank all the people of Texas. You have been very understanding. It is a great pleasure to work for such wonderful people.

For the time being, so long. I hope to see you while I am in Texas this Fall. Meanwhile, goodbye, good luck and God bless you.

Veterans to Get Increased Pay For Disabilities

38,068 veterans in VA Dallas regional area will receive increased compensation for service-connected disabilities as the result of legislation signed Monday by President Eisenhower. Scott B. Harrington Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Dallas, Texas said today.

With some exceptions, the raise is about 10 percent across the board for veterans with service-connected disability ratings. For dependents where the rating is 50 percent or more, and for those receiving certain statutory awards, Harrington said.

The big exception is those veterans rated 100 percent disabled. These veterans will get a boost of 24.3 percent to $225 per month. Three other exceptions include statutory awards for loss or loss of use of one part of the body and arrested tuberculosis. These awards, which are payable in addition to the new disability ratings, are unchanged.

Harrington emphasized that the new rates apply only to living veterans and not to survivors getting death compensation. The veterans in the Dallas area are among 2,000,000 living veterans getting the boost in compensation under the new Public Law 85-168 which first checks due about November 1. No action is required by veterans receiving compensation since the increase will be automatic, Harrington said.

Coach Sammy Baugh

22 Lettermen Back At Hardin-Simmons

Smiles with glints of optimism are appearing on the faces of the Hardin-Simmons University football staff this week as the coaches plan for opening grid drills for the Cowboys Monday, Sept. 2.

What could be more heartwarming to a staff of coaches than knowing they will have 22 lettermen an eight starters returning plus the fact that close to 100 hand-picked players are expected to answer the call for practice on opening day?

That's what head coach Sammy Baugh and his associates face next week when the Cowboys open their rigorous four-a-day drills at Paramount Stadium in preparation for the 1957 season which sees them facing one of the toughest schedules in history.

Football players from a four-State area are expected to begin arriving here this week for the months of hard work that confronts them. The coaches will probably receive the brunt of the punishment from the four drills each day.

Varsity players will drill twice each day, at 8 a.m. and at 2 p.m. Then the varsity coaches as well as freshmen coaches will join the newcomers in two more daily sessions. Freshmen drills are beginning for 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. each day.

Baugh, who is beginning his third year as head coach of the Cowboys, has separated the varsity from the large number of freshmen in order to give the first-year men a better chance to show themselves. An expected 54 frosh will try for the team next week.

The four-a-day schedule is expected to continue for 10 days. After the freshmen list has been trimmed, the two squads will start working together for twice a day sessions until shortly before the Cowboys get ready for their first test of the season against the University of Tulsa at Tulsa. Baugh expects to have approximately 40 players on the varsity squad.

Altho Hardin-Simmons boasts one of its finest teams in recent years, the Cowboys have picked to finish no better than third in the rugged Border Conference. All six members of the conference expect to field better squad this season with the nod being given to Arizona State of Tempe and Texas Western.

The Cowboys won only 10 games last year with three of the victories coming in the last games of the season against College of Pacific, New Mexico A&M and Texas Tech. The Poges dropped close decisions to Arkansas and George Washington. Another outstanding non-conference slate faces the Cowboys again this season. They take on Tulsa, University of Mis-issippi, Wichita University, Texas Tech and Oklahoma State University in non-conference action. Conference competition is against Arizona State, West Texas State, Texas Western, Arizona and New Mexico A&M.

Starters expected back this season include ends Joe Sharp and

Keith Miles, tackles Pat Young and Burley Polk, guard Lawrence Hill, halfbacks Earl Brown and Dewey Bohling and fullback Pete Hart. Outstanding among the other returning lettermen are quarterback Ken Ford, halfbacks Charles Masseege and Joel Honeycutt, fullback Don Sizemore, center Freddie Jonas, guard Joe Biggs and end Charles Shelly.

Make seeing and studying easier!

with proper light at the study table

School age youngsters need plenty of good light to prevent eye fatigue and to aid concentration. You'll be giving your children real help with their homework when you make sure they have good study lighting.

In most instances, a good table lamp with a 150-watt bulb will provide ample light. The lamp should be properly shaded to conceal the light source from the eyes and should be tall enough to spread light evenly over the work area.

Check home study lighting now. Be sure your youngsters have plenty of good light to make seeing and studying easier.

LOOK UNDER THE SHADE! To soften the light and prevent glare, a study lamp should be equipped with a diffusing bowl (A), or a 150 watt white indirect bulb (B), which has its own built-in diffuser. For three-way lamps use a 50-100-150 watt or 30-200-250 watt three-way bulb.

Southland Chicken Salad

With chicken one of the best buys, you'll be having it often probably, which means more left-overs. Here's something different to do to stretch them, in the way of a cool, delightful salad, one with added flavor and food value with little effort.

To your greens, diced celery, and diced chicken, add canned Florida grapefruit and orange sections, plump and as refreshing as a tall glass of citrus juice, and particularly fitting for summer fare. The canned sections this year are of excellent quality, low in price, and so versatile you'll find plenty of other uses for them in your menus. Here's the citrus-chicken salad recipe:

Florida Chicken Salad

1 can 20-ounce Florida orange and grapefruit sections	2 tablespoons lime juice
2 cups diced cooked chicken	1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 cup diced celery	1/2 teaspoon salt
	1/2 teaspoon pepper

Salad greens

Drain citrus sections thoroughly. Add drained sections to chicken and celery in mixing bowl. Mix together lime juice, mayonnaise and seasoning. Add to salad and toss lightly. Serve with salad greens and garnish with additional sections.

YIELD: 5 to 6 servings.

NO STEP THERE—Nancy Jamieson looks as if she wants to take another step down as she acts as ballast during a wild sail on Lake Calhoun in Minneapolis, Minn. Chivalry took a beating, too, as her brothers Tom and Jerry take it easy inside the class D sailboat.

What's Cooking—

Texas House Republican Leader Joe Martin, who hoped to score a great political victory for the GOP, got only the left-overs and the scraps from the table.
The most empty-handed Republican of all, who hoped to ride the Bill into the presidency, was Richard Nixon. He was left holding nothing but the remnants of a busted balloon, and looking exactly like what he is—a paper sack full of hot air with the air all let out.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Attend Shrine Convention

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crawford attended the Shrine Convention held recently in Mexico City and took a short vacation in the meantime. Crawford said they flew back from Mexico City to Amon Carter field in less time than it took them to drive from Amon Carter field to Ranger.

back and Bill Chapman, a 210-pound guard.
On top of all this, there are a whopping 60 men out for the team, and there will probably be several more by the time school gets going good.
As we say, far be it from us to wax enthusiastic too quick about the Ranger College Rangers, but how can a person look at an aggregation like this without getting ideas?

County History—

a recklessness of self-preservation that will be the admiration of ages. It was at first semi-military, neither officers nor men wore uniforms, there was no strict discipline, no music—only mid-night rides in tracking a foe, only cool daring in encounters.
The Ranger service was an outgrowth of the times. No Military in the world ever excelled the early Ranger in devotion to duty or obedience to orders.
When it is remembered that all over the broad expanse of Texas there was a moving frontier line made by the hardy Anglo-Saxon pioneer, and many hundreds of roving, hostile Indians composed of numerous tribes, each with a stronghold in the fastnesses of the mountains of the unsettled West, it will readily be understood that a mounted service for frontier protection must from necessity be maintained. Again, when the vastness of the unsettled country is taken into consideration it is not to be wondered at that the Indians was not the only menace of the frontier, nor yet, his ofttime ally, the secretive Mexican, but the bands of desperadoes infected the country. In all times of frontier settlement there has always been a border warfare born of necessity—so it was in Texas.
When the Ranger service was organized Texas had no money; the times and conditions did not warrant an effort toward a strictly disciplined military body; but and armed force, both for internal al and border protection, was demanded. This was not alone because of the foes mentioned that threatened her welfare, but the demand was accentuated by the loose characters that drifted hither and thither, oftentimes renegade from justice, caring little if they did murder, or were themselves l'pached.

"Out of this combination of circumstances and the necessities arising there from, was the Ranger service evolved, and so efficient and valuable did it prove that, as soon as practicable the organization was given official recognition and a legal status and title."
When Texas was a part of Mexico she needed the Rangers when Independence perched aloft her banner, the frontier Battalion sustained her; when she entered the galaxy of Stars as the one of the greatest possible magnitude, the Volunteer Companies protected her frontier; when she came out of the Union, standing with the glorious, honorable minority, she needed more than ever before the loyalty of her brave sons; and then when again she re-entered a unified government, her Southern flag foiled, her individual rights assailed and imposed upon, governed by aliens, and looked upon as a reprobate, did she need the fearless strength of the Texas Rangers.
In the year 18— Cape White, who formerly lived in Cisco, but now deceased, commanded a body of Rangers and was located at Ranger Camp. This was near the site of the town of Ranger and gave the village its name.

ASSAULT FROM THE SKY—Riflemen of the Army's pentomic Infantry divisions of 1960 will likely as not enter battle from troop-carrying helicopters like the "Shawnee" shown here. The "choppers" will carry men into combat fresh and can then return with reinforcements and supplies if necessary after the engagement they are available to carry the soldiers to another part of the battlefield or to rejoin their parent unit.

Ouch! Tax Bite In County Is Nine Million

You are spending much more than you realize, dear Eastland County taxpayer, to keep the wheels of government—Federal, State and local—rolling along.
As did most people, you probably thought you were paying about a sixth of your income for the purpose. That was the amount that was asked of you as a married man with two dependents and with average local earnings of $4,550.
According to a recent study, however, you are spending much more than that through indirect taxes that make sneak raids on your wallet. In your case, these extras bring your total tax up to $1,415 a year.
They are the unseen levies applied along the way on nearly everything you eat and use. You don't see them because they are hidden in the price you pay for things. They have been added by the producers, manufacturers, middlemen and retailers who have had to pay them along the way.
There is for example, the $255 in taxes ($288 visible and $267 hidden) on a $2,000 car. The hidden part consists of Federal excises on the radio and heater, license and title fees, local business taxes and many others. These are included in the selling price.
An analysis of these hidden taxes has been made by the Tax Foundation, a national, non-profit organization seeking more efficient government.
Application of its findings to Eastland County shows that local residents paid an estimated $9,450,000 in the past year, directly gross income per family averaged $4,550 last year and the net earning, after income taxes, was $4,050, the total tax bite, including hidden taxes, averaged $1,415 per family.
