JUNIOR CLASS SUDAN HIGH NEWS NOTES

Gathered by Sophomore Class
--Banquet Honoring Football Boys--Muddy Roads for Trucks--New Pupils.

This is the first issue of news gathered by the sophomore class, and we may be "short on news" this week. If so, we shall try to make considerable improvement for next week. Prof. Ross J. Newton is sponsor of this class. This speaks for itself in efficiency of the class, even if we did not bring up standard work otherwise. There are forty pupils in this class, making it one of the largest in numbers in the entire high school building. Oran Neal is president of the class; Donald Robertson is secretary; Leona Slaughter, vice president; and Arthur Shuttlesworth, reporter.

One evening a little more than a week ago, the spinster members of the faculty met in assembly with Miss Eugenia Fryar. While here they organized a club which they call the M. M. W., and asked that we try to find out what it stands for. We sophomores think the initials signify Missing Men for Women. Of this club Miss Hammock is president; Miss Jackson, reporter. The next meeting will be with Misses Bond and Runnels. The charter members of the club are Misses Bond, Eads, Fryar, Love, Hammock, Jackson, and Runnels. We wonder who the first victim of their attack will be, and we believe it will be some innocent man.

Wednesday evening of last week, Mr. Wilkins and Mrs. Franks sponsored a banquet for the football boys, inviting every boy who had come out for football for three weeks. It made no difference with them whether a boy had made the team or not. In fact they say that it takes more courage and perseverance to come out and practice when a boy knows he cannot make the team than when there is a chance for him to make it. At the banquet over fifty guests were feasted. Many citizens of the town were anxious to have tickets who could not have them as there was room for no more plates in the improvised dining room. The tables were set in the front corridor of the first floor of the high school building. An artistic array of candles shed a delightful light on the tables. Waitresses were the girls of the home economics classes directed by Mrs. Franks. Miss Hammock gave her assistance in serving, an aid that would have been acutely missed had not Miss Hammock been there. Many of the ladies of the town lent of their home equipment to make the possibility of the meal a certainty. The girls of the school and the football boys, together with teachers take this means of thanking every one who aided us. We promise that those deprived of tickets for the banquet because of inability to feed more shall have first opportunity next time a feast is spread at school. Short addresses were made at the banquet by W. W. Carpenter, A. L. Stringer, and Capt. Ted Holden, of the football team.

The roads been almost impassable for some of the trucks this week. On Monday two trucks did not reach school at all. The drivers of these trucks were Grover Crain and Melvin Scogin. This is a most unfortunate matter since this caused many children to miss school that day. It may occur again most any time. We understand that a petition is being presented to the commissioners asking that they have the graded portions of these roads dragged after this rain in an effort to prevent such an occurrence after the next rain. This will be a wise move. We of the sophomore class think it is easily possible to repair some of the road on the Brothers truck line so that we may have less trouble there after another rain. If these portions of the road can be made good by our commissioners, we wonder if it will be possible for our city officers to raise the grade on the road immediately in front of the high school. This road is the lowest part of the grade for some distance either way. A raise in the grade there will prevent the formation of mudholes that from a nuisance.

Last Saturday a number of the teachers attended a meeting of the teachers of Curry County, New Mexico, in Clovis. All report an enjoyable and instructive trip. Those who made the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins with Neal and Walter Wayne Wilkins; Mr. and Mrs. Talbott; Mrs. Franks, and Misses Bond, Runnels, Eads and Love. We have an idea that the ladies of the party did some shopping while in Clovis, but the least said about that the best.

Coach Brown went to Lubbock over the week-end to visit a brother and to have a surgical examination made of a bad arm. He returned to Sudan Sunday afternoon.

There have been several new pupils in school this week. Some of those have been in the grammar school, and the names of these we have failed to get. Those enrolled in the high school building have been Misses Blanche Hinton, Loreta Mayben, and Odessa Venable.

The Hollowe'en Carnival at the school building comes too late for a report in this week's issue, but we shall "cover" it next week. Meet us at the football game with Spring Lake on our grounds Friday of this week. We need you to root for the home team, to help us bear our expenses, and you need the recreation and fun. The price is cheap only 25c to outsiders and 10c to school children. Help us out. There will probably be only one other football game on the home grounds after this one, and we shall give you notice of it.

We understand that Mr. Wilkins says he and Coach are working on a project looking toward letter sweaters for the football team. We hope they are able to make the deal to buy them this little testimonial of honor.

F. F. T. Meeting Postponed

On account of inclement weather last Monday evening the F. F. T. meeting was postponed until next Monday evening November 5th. All members, parents and business men are cordially invited.

W. M. U. met with Mrs. Carpenter for the lesson in Royal Service, Mrs. Robertson leading. We had a very interesting program with eight members present. Because of the weather it was decided to wait until Tuesday November 6 to pack the box for the Orphan's home. All who care to have a part in this box please bring or send in your things. Will meet next Tuesday with Mrs. Long.

The Golden Rule

Man who stole an auto has been ordered by a judge to attend church once a week for the next three years. And possibly he is one of these guys who will think his punishment severe. But while he is listening to the sermon he is at least saving gasoline. Now if all traffic violators could be sentenced to church the pastors would think a religious boom was on.

Big Vote

There has been an alert interest in the presidential campaign just drawing to a close. The vote on next Tuesday, Nov. 6, will be greater than the country has ever known. It looks like a big job for the election judges and clerks.

Be sure you vote.

Canning Poultry Culls

D. A. Adams, County Agent

"The pantry shelf is a good place to put the loafer hen culled out of the poultry flock this fall provided she is well encased in tin," so home demonstration authorities of Texas A. and M. College Extension Service declare. Years ago it was nearly out of the question for the house wife to can meat but since the invention of the steam pressure canner all has changed. The barn yard sheik and the boarder hen are now turned to profit by this means on thousands of Texas farms. Those unfamiliar with the steam pressure canner, however, will find it necessary to learn its operation from a neighbor or home demonstration agent.

In canning chickens care must be taken that the meat is not over-cooked and that as little liquid as possible is used in order that the delicate poultry flavor may be retained. Older birds may be boned by splitting the flesh down the back and removing it from the skeleton with a sharp knife. A more common method is to steam in pressure canner for a short time and pack the meat in tin cans to be sealed and processed.

Younger birds may be fried as usual until thoroughly browned and then packed in cans for sealing and processing. The liver should never be packed with the rest of the chicken because its flavor will penetrate every piece in the can. When carefully packed three cans will hold a frying size chicken.

Canned chicken is best served, according to these home demonstration dishes, such as chicken sandwiches, creamed chicken, croquets, salads. A circular, C-55, "Home Canning of Meats," including receipts, is available by writing the Extension Service, College Station, Texas.

Vote!

Vote on Election Day next Tuesday, November 6!

Vote as you please, but vote. The citizen who means anything at all to his country will vote in the presidential election next Tuesday.

To vote for one who may become the chief executive of this great nation for a constitutional period is the highest privilege of a free man.

The unusual interest in the political situation this year should afford an answer to those who feel it would be useless to vote, that their vote would count for nothing, anyway. The election, admittedly, may be close. Large numbers of states are being placed in the doubtful column. There is the possibility that a small number of votes may decide the issue.

The only votes that count are those in the ballot boxes—not those you cast on the street corners. Do your hollering in the polling place next Tuesday.

Vote! It is your duty, your privilege, your obligation!

Usually Enough

It seems unfair, after the candidates have had months and months to make their say to give the voters just one day for theirs. But that one day is usually enough.

Every vote counts.

WHY THE SUDAN NEWS FAVORS NELSON FOR CONGRESS.

We are for V. C. Nelson for national congressman from this district because:

1. V. C. Nelson is a loyal, able, incorruptible citizen, frank in his dealings with his neighbors, and willing to recognize the kinship of the sons of Adam.
2. Nelson is the strongest representative of his party on the Plains and is probably one of the strongest statesmen of any party in that territory.
3. Nelson has never asked political preferment, but is making this campaign at the request of men who recognize his fitness and ability.
4. Last but not least, the editor has his personal reasons, and his reasons are similar to those of many other men who came to the Plains "on a shoestring" and depended on Nelson to help them make good. About twenty years ago, we bought land on a time limit subject to forfeit. The money for the deal could not be raised. We were about to lose the forfeit. Nelson could have benefitted by our loss to the amount of the forfeit. Instead of doing so at a profit to himself he came forward and offered use of money that enabled us to make our deal, giving us an opportunity to clear over $1,000. In doing this he gave up his own chance to make a legitimate profit, made nothing for himself, and we were the gainer. For his many acts like this we say in this campaign: "Men may come and men may go," but we go for Vic. Nelson.

Grind The Cow's Grain

When it comes to eating threshed kafir or kafir in the head the milk cow is almost a total failure. In most cases the cow extracts 10 to 20 per cent of the actual feed value. A few cows with good teeth, patience and determination will realize up to 10 per cent of the feed value.

In eating corn and oats the record is a better one, but by no means perfect. There is a loss from the grain not digested. There is probably a greater loss in requiring the cow to do grinding which can be done more cheaply in a mill.

The finer the grain is ground the more completely and easily it will be digested. The energy which the cow saves in grinding and digesting will be turned into milk.

Ordinary corn chops is much too coarse for best results. Often when the grinding is being done at a custom mill the operator will open up his grinder and hasten along the process. Watch him. Get him to grind it finely.

Corn, oats and all the grain sorghums ought to be made into a meal for the milk cows. They should be ground finely as the so-called dairy meal which is seen in feed stores. And if it cost 6 to 8 cents a hundred more to get it ground finely and extra money will be well spent--Terry County Herald.

Restore Gray Hair Without Using Dye

Wonderful Compound Cures Dandruff; Stops Falling Hair

"One of your salesmen sold me a bottle of S & S Hair Color Restorer while I was in the drug store one day. He told me that it would turn my gray hair back to its original color but at the time I was doubtful, because it was a clear liquid like water. But after I had used it ten days the color started coming back and after two weeks it was all back to its original black color. I have bought another bottle from the druggist for my sister-in-law to use. It is really wonderful and I cannot recommend it too highly."

Hundreds of letters like the above are received from people who are enthusiastic about their results with S & S. Even people whose hair was originally red have brought their red color back.

S & S is not a hair darkener—not a dye. It is a clear colorless liquid, guaranteed to restore the original color to gray or faded hair. It is pleasant to use and always makes the hair soft and lustrous. Get a bottle today at your druggist or write S & S Central Laboratory, Cushing, Oklahoma, enclosing $1.50 for full-size bottle.—Advs.

Touches that Add Style to Dresses

By MAE MARTIN

It's amazing to see how faded, out-of-style dresses can be transformed by a few buttons, a little braid and the quick magic of home dyeing or tinting. You don't need any experience to tint or dye successfully if you are sure to use true, fadeless Diamond Dyes. Tinting with them is easy as bluing, and dyeing takes just a little more time to "set" the colors. They never give things that re-dyed look which comes from using inferior dyes. Insist on Diamond Dyes and save disappointment. Over 20 million packages used a year.

My new 64-page illustrated book, "Color Craft," gives hundreds of money-saving hints for renewing clothes and draperies. It's Free. Write for it, now, to Mae Martin, Dept. G-143, Diamond Dyes, Burlington Vermont.

WILL DO ALL IT CLAIMS TO DO

Mrs. Steele Says of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pratt, W. Va.—"I was so weak and nervous that I was in bed most all the time and couldn't sit up and I am only 30 years old. I saw your advertising in a magazine and after I had taken three doses of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could feel that I was better. After taking two bottles I began doing my work and I feel like a new woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and say it will do all it claims to do and more. I will gladly answer all letters I receive."—Mrs. S. E. STEELE, Pratt, W. Va.

DINSMORE'S FOLLY

W. N. U. SERVICE

SYNOPSIS

That her grandfather left her the architectural monstrosity known as "Dinsmore's Folly" is for esthetic reasons, by no means pleasing to Ethel Dinsmore, modern "dancer." She would refuse the bequest, but her father, millionaire head of Consolidated Trust, will not allow it. Ethel visits the place, Perkins, the caretaker, is the victim of a matrimonial mishap, his wife having left him. Fred James, newspaper reporter, comes. Mr. Paul, Dinsmore's right-hand man, proposes to Ethel and is rejected. He takes the rejection in a melodramatic manner. Ethel sees a connection between Perkins' runaway wife and Mr. Paul.

This was a shock; coming so soon after Mr. Paul's performance it was a distinct shock, though perhaps not so strong a one. O. Henry says that within ten seconds of the time a woman first sees a new man she unconsciously decides either that she may marry him or she opens her mouth to yell for the police. I had been ready to yell for the police when Mr. Paul began to talk sentiment, and I had not thought of the police at all in connection with Fred. So, if O. Henry is right— But it surely was a shock, nevertheless, for I had known Fred for only ten days.

However, I had strong convictions on the subject about which he was speaking light, and I had no intention of deserting my guns.

"He'd be a mighty poor man if he didn't ask her if he wanted her," I answered, sharply.

Fred's face lighted up. It positively gleamed. "Then—then—" he cried; "then, may I—"

It was time to stop him. We had to stay at Dinsmore for three days more. If we had had to stay a month longer I should have let him go on, for then he would have had time to get over it and come back and be friends. But three days! It takes most any man at least three days to get over being rejected. And I positively couldn't spare Fred for those last three fog-end days. Besides, I liked the boy—he is really older than I, but a girl is always so much more grown-up than a man—and I didn't want to hurt him.

(Fred wants me to insert a note here saying that in his opinion the dope about a girl being more grown-up than a man is all futile puff. He says after I've been married a while I'll find out the real truth! Horrid, stinky beast, Fred is.)

Anyway I didn't want to hurt Fred, so I just dodged. "Oh, sugar!" I cried. "Cut out the sentimental stuff. Come! I'll race you to the point yonder." Then, most unfairly, I shook the reins and jabbed the spur into Gypsy.

Gypsy wasn't used to the spur; and as I just said, Gypsy was skittish that morning anyway. So she bolted.

I wasn't a bit frightened. The road was narrow but it was open and presumably clear. Gypsy might run literally for miles without getting into any trouble. The only danger was from automobiles, and this was slight, for a far better auto road ran nearly parallel with this one only a mile or so to the west. So I just settled back to let Gypsy have her run out. I couldn't have stopped her, anyway.

Fred followed, of course. But he hadn't a chance of overtaking me. His horse was good, but Gypsy was a racer. I looked back once or twice and each time saw that he was farther and farther behind. The last time I looked he had vanished altogether.

Gypsy was going strong when she turned into a long straight stretch of road, bordered by a fence on one side and a deep ditch on the other. And there, not a hundred yards away, was a big autobus full of people trundling slowly away from us. Gypsy was blind with rage or fear, or whatever horses go wild with, and I knew perfectly that in another minute she would hurt herself bodily into the rear of that autobus. It was so huge that I could not hope to pass it.

I saw this in the wink of an eye. Then I screamed (which only made Gypsy run the harder) and began to saw at her mouth, which had no more effect on her than it would have had on an elephant.

Most girls would have screamed again and closed their eyes. I may have screamed, but I'm proud to say I didn't close my eyes. I know I didn't, because I saw what happened at the bus. A second after my initial scream its rear door flopped open and a man tumbled out and ran toward me. At the same instant the bus undoubtedly gathered way. The man ran toward me; then, when I was nearly on him, he turned and ran with me. He didn't reach for Gypsy's bridle; but as she passed him he caught the front of my saddle and vaulted up behind me. Then, quick as a flash he reached around me, one arm on each side, caught the bridle and pulled Miss Gypsy down. It took an awfully strong man to do it, but he did it easily. Gypsy stopped about two feet behind the autobus, which had suddenly turned into an aggregation of heads and eyes—chiefly eyes.

That was all I noticed about it at the moment. I really had no time to study it, for by that time it was going pretty fast; and when Gypsy stopped it simply ran way from us. When it did stop, it was a hundred yards, or more, away.

Meanwhile, my preserver—I have to call him that, for I didn't learn his name for some time after—my preserver had jumped to the ground again. He held Gypsy's bridle with one hand and took off his hat with the other.

"Are you all right now?" he asked, as casually as if stopping runaways at that heathenish time of the year, and it was almost as lonely as it was up at Dinsmore. Fred was back from his vacation, but he had very little time. He came around now and then, but he said nothing more about poor men marrying rich girls. I didn't understand his silence, and out of pure idleness I tried to encourage him to go on. I guessed that he felt dejected because he couldn't help me when Gypsy ran away or when the police burst in at the fight, and I tried to tell him that I knew it wasn't his fault. For of course it wasn't. His horse was a good one, but not good enough to catch Gypsy when she got started. I said all this, and Fred listened and thanked me and—changed the subject, and wouldn't come back to it again.

We had been in the city for nearly a month when things began to happen.

Fred had gotten into the habit of taking us about more or less—always to thrilling places where none of us set ever dreamed of going. I remember one awfully delightful place where we went through the kitchen to the back yard and ate a forty-cent dinner (red-link wine included) and didn't hear a word of English while we were there. Josephine disapproved of these expeditions, and went only because I swore I'd go without her if she didn't.

Of course it was only a question of time till we got into trouble. I can see that now. Each venture that we got through safely made me long for one more exciting, and at last—

It was a prize fight this time. Fred had told us that he had to report it in explanation of his inability to take us out that evening; and I had jumped at the chance. "Take us, too," I clamored.

Of course there was an uproar right away. Josephine said I was crazy and Fred said it was out of the question. But I stuck to my guns and after I had made Fred confess that there would certainly be a few women there and that nobody would dream of hurting us, Josephine's objections slimmered away.

So we went. It was not a very important prize fight. No national championships were involved at all. As I remember the names it was a contest between the New Jersey Mosquito and the Brooklyn Spider. They were both little and skinny and ugly. And they were both as quick as chain lightning. It made me dizzy to watch them.

Saw Much Difference in Log Structures

Cabin and log house are synonymous to most persons today, but in the early days of Ohio, when such structures were common for residence purposes, there was a nice distinction between the two, it is brought out in the Journal of Thaddeus Mason Harris, a preacher of Dorchester, Mass., who, in search of health, traveled in the summer of 1803 from his home to Marietta, Ohio, and published a record of his travels. He wrote:

"The temporary buildings of the first settlers in the wilds are called cabins. They are built of unhewn logs, the interstices between which are stopped with rails, caulked with moss or straw, and daubed with mud. The roof is covered with a sort of thin staves split out of oak or ash, about four feet long and five inches wide, fastened on by heavy poles being laid on them.

"If the logs are hewed; if the interstices be stopped with stone and neatly plastered, and the roof composed of shingles nicely laid on, it is called a log house.

"A log house has glass windows and a chimney; a cabin has commonly no window at all and only a hole at the top for the smoke to escape."—Kansas City Times.

The rapid growth of Texas recalls the prophecy of Sam Houston in 1832 that Texas was capable of supporting 10,000,000 persons. At that time there were fewer than 1,000 Americans in the Lone Star state.

"In 1912 I had a great deal of trouble with my stomach and bowels. For several years I tried everything that I saw advertised, but I kept getting worse all the time. I got so bad that I was in bed for three months in 1916. While in Philadelphia in 1917 I happened to see one of your ads. I had tried everything that I thought was any good, but concluded to give Milks Emulsion a trial. It could not do any worse than the rest.

To my surprise it regulated my bowels and I found I did not suffer any more after eating and had no pain at all. I continued the use of Milks Emulsion for six months, until I was in fine health and have been for the past eight years. The school children have no objections to frequent changes in textbooks. A book used by an older brother or sister is not nearly as fascinating to a child promoted to a higher grade as is the brand-new book with stiff cover and pages spotlessly clean. And it is stimulating to start clean. We older folks don't take advantage of such an opportunity frequently enough. We keep right on and try to clean the page that is hopelessly spoiled.

Santa is Coming

Over 200 tons of toys from Germany arrived on a single ship dropping into New York the other day. There are devices and mechanisms almost beyond number. It looks like a good year for the lucky youngsters who have faith in Santa Claus.

It is reported that 40 tons of maize was sold in Sudan last week at $14.75 per ton.

Doctors Disagree

When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old-fashioned remedy, which you can get at 35c per bottle from H. G. Ramby Drug Store.

Hoover a Modest Man

Mr. Hoover is a truly modest man. He is embarrassed when his own achievements are mentioned in his presence. He brushes all praise aside with the remark that his own part in the work is not of importance--it is the work itself that matters. He refuses to speak of his own role in these achievements.--Herman Bernstein.

Tammany Gets Millions

"If Tammany could be incorporated and all its earnings, both legitimate and illegitimate, could be gathered up and paid over in dividends, the stockholders would get more than the New York Central bond and stockholders and more than the Standard Oil stockholders."--Lincoln Steffens.

School, the Melting Pot

Some poetic mind called America the melting pot of the races; there have been some disappointments in melting adults, but none will deny that our public schools are the real melting pots. Under our schools, race, class and religious hatreds fade away.--Herbert Hoover.

Hitchcock Lauds Hoover

Senator Hitchcock (Dem.) of Nebraska, Administration leader in the Senate, quoted in Herbert Hoover's behalf in the Senate January 23, 1919, said then:

"I know something of the struggle Mr. Hoover has had with the packing combines in the United States, and I want to say that, if there had not been a Hoover and a Food Administration, the packers would have made a great deal more than they did make. Mr. Hoover has been vindicated. He came out of the war, I believe, with a better reputation than any other public official."

Hoover Saved 20,000,000

How many lives have these Hoover organizations saved since the armistice? I asked a European who knows. "Ten million at a minimum," he replied. "But if you said twenty million, you'd probably stand within the truth."--Will Lett.

Labor Improves Condition

Labor in its collective efforts has contributed greatly to the maintenance of proper wages and to improved conditions of labor. But collective bargaining alone cannot overcome the forces that make for unemployment. The problem of insuring full work all the time is a problem of national concern. Our workers as citizens at the ballot box have a large part in determining our economic policies.--HERBERT HOOVER in his Newark speech.

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

Question

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective anti-acid like Phillips Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal. Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Next time a hearty meal, or too rich a diet has brought on the least discomfort, try—

Dorothy's Mother Proves Claim

Children don't ordinarily take to medicines but here's one that all of them love. Perhaps it shouldn't be called a medicine at all. It's more like a rich, concentrated food. It's pure, wholesome, sweet to the taste and sweet in your child's little stomach. It builds up and strengthens weak, puny, underweight children, makes them eat heartily, brings the roses back to their cheeks, makes them playful, energetic, full of life. And no bilious, headachy, constipated, feverish, fretful baby or child ever failed to respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup on their little bowels. It starts lazy bowels quick, cleans them out thoroughly, tones and strengthens them so they continue to act normally, of their own accord. Millions of mothers know about California Fig Syrup from experience. A Western mother, Mrs. J. G. Moore, 119 Cliff Ave., San Antonio, Texas, says: "California Fig Syrup is certainly all that's claimed for it. I have proved that with my little Dorothy. She was a bottle baby and very delicate. Her bowels were weak. I started her on Fig Syrup when she was a few months old and it regulated her, quick. I have used it with her ever since for colds and every little set-back and her wonderful condition tells better than words how it helps." Don't be imposed on. See that the Fig Syrup you buy bears the name, "California" so you'll get the genuine, famous for 50 years.

POULTRY

CULL AND MARK PRODUCING HEN

Fall is a season of year when flocks of poultry should be culled, according to L. H. Schwartz of Purdue university. Getting rid of the nonproducers now means better living conditions for the birds which are left. It gives the better birds a chance to produce eggs from now on when the price of eggs begins to rise. It will also reduce the feed bill.

Poultry flocks should, of course, be culled regularly. Any birds which show indications of positive sickness, poor laying capacity and lacking in vigor should be culled whenever seen. This is the time when a number of birds will take a vacation from laying. The nonlaying bird will show a comb which is either dried or beginning to dry up, a close space between the pelvic bones and keel and between the pelvic bones themselves. The longer they are out of laying the heavier may be the deposit of fat on the pelvic bones.

The birds may also be in a molt. All molting may not be due to poor laying. It may be the result of feeding a ration which is not high in protein. Purdue university recommends the following ration to feed to laying birds: Grain, 300 pounds yellow corn and 200 pounds of wheat; mash, 100 pounds each of ground yellow corn, wheat bran and middling, and 75 pounds of meat scrap.

It is very desirable also not only to cull the birds now, but to mark those which show every indication of being high producers. Those birds which show no molt have a large body capacity and have a large soft abdomen are the ones which should be marked as possible breeders for another year. Many folks who have culled their flocks at this season of the year have received, actually, more eggs from the remainder of the flock than they did when they had the culled in with the whole flock.

Whitewash Henhouse in Fall for Winter Use

A coat of whitewash or cold water white paint on the inside walls of the poultry house will brighten up the interior and make it lighter during the winter months when the hen needs all the light she can get.

To make whitewash: Slack a half bushel of quicklime or lump lime with boiling water, keeping it covered during the process. Strain it and add a peck of salt dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice boiled in water until it is a thin paste, a half pound of powdered Spanish whiting, and a pound of clear blue dissolved in water. Mix these together well and let the mixture stand for several days. Heat it and apply as hot as possible with a whitewash brush. Alum added to whitewash will make it stick better. Use an ounce to a gallon. Molasses makes the lime more soluble and makes it penetrate wood or plaster more deeply. Use a pint of molasses to a gallon of whitewash. A pound of cheap bar soap dissolved in a gallon of boiling water and added to five gallons of thick whitewash will give the finished job a gloss like that of an oil paint.

Let Wing Feathers on White Leghorns Alone

The practice of pulling out the wing feathers to prevent the birds from flying the fences (a vice especially peculiar to Leghorns) is both slovenly and harmful to the birds themselves. The butt end of the feather quill of a growing bird contains juices which are essential to its satisfactory development, and the wing feathers should therefore be cut, unless the poultryman wishes his birds to undergo a setback. Probably it is cheaper in the long run to buy a good commercial pullet mash, ready mixed, rather than to mix one's own ingredients. Several well known firms of feed merchants supply excellent pullet mashes at a price which justifies the saving of labor and possible noting, however, that it is more than advisable to deal with a reputable firm in this matter.

Good Mash Feed

What is a good mash? That depends. If you have plenty of skim milk for your fowls, say a gallon daily to 30 hens, why then a mixture of such feeds as wheat middlings, ground oats, wheat bran and corn meal will do very nicely—with maybe a little meat scraps or high-grade tankage to tempt the appetite. But if you have no skim milk, the mash should contain 15 to 20 per cent of meat scraps or high-grade tankage with the other feeds mentioned.

Hens to Select

In selecting hens pick those that have capacity for feed. The little short, dumpy kind of a hen cannot consume enough feed to make her a profitable layer. Chickens with good capacity and good appetites are the ones that fill the egg basket. If chickens eat a lot of feed and still do not lay, it is time to look at the ration and find out what is lacking. One of the faults of many feeders is that they do not give their hens enough feed, rather than too much.

"Two Tablespoons of Karo in a Glass of Milk doubles its Food Value!"

THIS statement is made by one of America's greatest child specialists.

"Karo", says this physician, "is not only a delicious sweet, but the ideal food for the underweight child. Karo can be added to the diet without spoiling the appetite for other foods—and it improves the taste of milk."

Karo has a high energy value—there are 120 calories per ounce in it—almost twice the energy value of eggs and lean beef, weight for weight.

Further—Karo is easily digested—giving children muscular energy immediately.

Serve the kiddies plenty of Karo in milk, on cereals, on sliced bread—and watch their weight improve.

Economy—compare Karo, pound for pound, with the price of other staple foods. Isn't Karo economical?

Senator Curtis Congratulates V. C. Nelson, Sudan

Vic. C. Nelson, of Sudan, Republican candidate for Congress in this district, is in receipt of a letter from Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, Republican nominee for vice-president of which he is justly proud. Mr. Nelson has been intimately acquainted with Senator Curtis for many years, in fact they were reared in the same community being school mates for several years in the country school of their neighborhood. The letter is as follows:

Washington, D. C. Oct. 10, 1928

I am pleased with the report you made as to feeling for me in Texas and I hope there will be a large Republican majority at the polls in November. Thank you for your kind offer of service.

With kindest regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

Holden Gets Results From Ad.

In last week's issue of the Sudan News, G. C. Holden placed a half page ad announcing that he was closing out his stock of groceries, and at the same time ordered 500 circulars to be printed for Saturday's distribution. But within three hours after the News had been mailed, Mr. Holden had sold enough of grocery stock that he thought it unnecessary to use the circulars, so had this part of the order canceled. Mr. Holden is a liberal advertiser, and says that he never fails to get results from his advertisements placed in the Sudan News. He also stated that his Saturday's business was the best that he has had this season.

In The Air

A British airman has flown at 300 miles an hour. The air is the only space for speed like that.

The presidential campaign now reaches the last awful week.

Clyde Florence and family who has had rooms at the Linton residence for the past two or three months have moved into the residence recently purchased from Joe Foster.

D. M. Dent who recently bought the residence across the street from the editors residence has put down a well and built a garage and is also painting the house.

Editor Huntsucker of Amherst was a pleasant visitor at the News office Saturday.

Prof. A. L. Stringer superintendent of the Baileyborro school was a pleasant visitor at the News office Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Adams of Amherst were in Sudan Saturday and visited with the Editor and family.

Vote as a patriotic duty.

CONSTANT EXPANSION

—to serve Chevrolet owners better

SINCE January 1st more than a million new Chevrolets have been delivered to owners—making the Chevrolet Motor Company, for the second consecutive year, the world's largest builder of automobiles!

This outstanding achievement has been attained not only because of the quality and value of Chevrolet cars—but also because there has been a constant expansion of Chevrolet service facilities.

In order to bring these mammoth facilities of the Chevrolet factories to Chevrolet dealers and owners everywhere, there have been erected 26 huge parts warehouses in the principal centers of distribution. This expansion program is continually going on—for four great additional warehouses will be in operation by January first and seven more by the summer of 1929.

Into the service departments of all Chevrolet dealers, Chevrolet has brought special tools and shop equipment—designed under the supervision of Chevrolet engineers. This equipment definitely assures maximum speed and precision and the lowest possible cost in the performance of every Chevrolet service and repair operation—which are charged for on a flat rate basis.

Furthermore, all of these tremendous facilities have been made available to 15,000 authorized service stations manned by skilled mechanics, over 25,000 of whom have been factory trained to efficiently handle every repair operation on a Chevrolet car. In addition, there are over 4,000 other points where genuine Chevrolet parts may be obtained.

Uniformly efficient, uniformly reliable and within easy reach of everybody everywhere—this great service organization is maintaining at peak efficiency the fine performance for which Chevrolet cars have always been renowned.

We cordially invite you to come in and see how our service facilities reflect the influence of this great national service program.

QUALITY AT LOW COST

FOR PRESIDENT WHO BUT HOOVER

Send for Hoover!

The same man who could find ways to relieve starvation five thousand miles from America may be relied upon to devise and carry out a plan to relieve any portion of the population from any injustices. If farmers need relief, Mr. Hoover will get it for them.—Schenectady Union Star.

Engineer of Civilization

Herbert Hoover is engineering our material civilization as a whole; and that without goose-stepping the human spirit, blue-printing the human soul. Even though the work fall at times to blind and incompetent successors, it must go on; for he has shown a new way.—Will Irwin.

Hoover in Hearts
Of the People

"In my opinion, Mr. Hoover stands in the hearts of the American people equal to any man in the United States. I am sure that there is no member of the Senate who, if he ran for President against Hoover, would be able to poll as many votes as he would poll."—Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, of Nebraska, in 1919.

Just Like An Ostrich

A medical authority says that a person who tries to cover up skin blemishes and pimples with toilet creams and powders is just as foolish as an ostrich that buries its head in the sand to avoid danger. Skin eruptions are nature's warning that constipation is throwing poisons into your blood stream and weakening your whole constitution. Remove the constipated condition and you will strengthen your system against disease and clear up your disfigured skin. The best way to do this is with a course of Herbine, the vegetable medicine that acts naturally and easily, which you can get at H. G. Ramby Drug Store

Don't be like Adam, he chased the wrong fruit. It did not have the price tag on it, like the fruit in our store. You know what it will cost before you take it.
