Airport Day Planned

The Dimmitt Jaycees will stage their second annual airport day show Sunday, August 5th at the Dimmitt Airport.

Highlight of the day will be $2 airplane rides beginning early in the morning and lasting all day except during the church hour. This was probably the best-liked feature of last year's air-day when more than 300 people took part in the low-priced airplane rides.

Parachute jumpers from Fort Hood will be on hand to make both long and short delay falls before opening their parachutes.

Aerobatics by stunt pilots are being arranged for, but so far these plans are not final.

To help defray expenses for stunts, parachute jumpers, and miscellaneous expenses, the Jaycees will charge a gate fee of 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

A Walter Jeton barbecue will be served from 12 to 1:30 o'clock to those bearing tickets at $1.50 each. The public is invited to this barbecue prepared by the well-known Jeton catering service.

The airport will be cleaned up and made ready by the Jaycees and local pilots. Tickets will be sold at the main entrance.

By JOE H. COWEN

"The Bomb" is exploded. Over three hundred reontgens of radiation have reached the Castro County area. Are YOU prepared? Will you survive? Or will you die the horrible death of radiation sickness?

Perhaps this situation will never arise, and we can pray that it never will. If it does, however we can and will survive if a few simple precautions have been taken for radiation protection.

United States Atomic Energy Commission is constantly working, organizing and planning an all-out program of civil defense in order to prepare the American people for protection in the event of an atomic attack. In order to preserve the American way of life, the Americans themselves must be prepared. This can be done during atomic explosions by the use of radiation-proof fallout shelters.

By no means are government officials anticipating an attack. However, they do feel that preparedness is one sure way of survival. They recognize that in the best interests of the country, measures should be taken to protect lives from possible radiation exposure.

"Basic philosophy of civil defense is not another gun with which to fight the enemy," Dr. Harold Bischoff, county health officer pointed out, "It is, however, a weapon to make the enemy's attack less effective."

Dr. Bischoff emphasized that "we must investigate our capabilities for mobile support, for fixed support, and finally for taking care of the result of the direct attack."

The health officer, who is presently completing his own fallout shelter, expressed the following facts about civil defense:

"First and foremost when a tornado, flood, atomic, chemical, or bacterial attack takes place, provisions must have been made to protect everyone. In spite of all precautions there will be casualties. Naturally the type of disaster will condition one's conduct after the disaster has struck. We all know that it is safe to venture out after a tornado. The damaging factor has passed and there is left only to pick up such pieces as remain. How close we are to the atomic target zone will be the determining factor of the precautions necessary in venturing about after such an attack. Trained personnel and proper equipment are necessary to monitor the possible danger areas in question. Procedures are outlined in various manuals for decontamination following an atomic attack."

Dr. Bischoff said injuries to be expected following an atomic attack are shock; psychological reactions—depression, acute anxiety; hemorrhage; various mechanical injuries; burns and radiation sickness.

Classification of hazards involved in the injuries are the initial blast; thermal effects—infra-red ray, ultraviolet ray, secondary flame, gamma radiation immediate, neutrons, alpha and beta rays, secondary radiation and induced radioactivity.

Major Symptoms of radiation sickness as pointed out in numerous civil defense bulletins are (1) vomiting (2) diarrhea (3) bleeding (4) sore mouth and throat (5) loss of hair (6) loss of weight, and (7) a drop in the number of white blood cells.

Castro County is not sitting still in its civil defense preparation program. County civil defense organization has received a large shipment of radiation detectors and an Atomic Energy Commission training kit for the training of lay personnel. An active training program is in progress of preparation by County civil defense officials.

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Dear Fellow Texan:
The bill for a Padre Island National Seashore Recreational Area has moved forward once again in Congress—another important step toward final enactment into law.

Many of you have worked with me for more than four years on this bill to create a tourist mecca on Padre Island, off the Texas Gulf Coast, and to bring a new era of economic progress to the Texas mainland from Corpus Christi to Port Isabel.

For more than four years now, national attention has been focused on the fight for this legislation and support has come for the Padre Island Bill from people all over the nation.

Now the bill has been reported out favorably this week from the full House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, making it possible for the House to act at this session as I'm hopeful that it will do. Next the bill must go to the House Rules Committee and if it is cleared, will go to the floor of the United States House of Representatives for further action.

You will recall that the Padre Island Park Bill has already passed in the Senate. I introduced the first Padre Island Park Bill in the Senate in 1958. Then again in the 86th Congress in 1959, I reintroduced the bill. In the 87th Congress in January of 1961, I reintroduced the Padre Island Park bill and we had three Senate hearings on the matter. On last February 27th, the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee advanced the Padre Island Bill to the full Senate following long hearings, intensive study and visits to this gem of the entire Gulf Coast by senators who wanted to see what they were voting on. It passed the Senate April 10, 1962. After the bill passed the Senate, it provided for a Padre Island Park of 88 miles. The House bill is shorter but the final result is not yet determined.

This bill is being guided through the House by fellow Texans in Congress. Congressman J. T. Rutherford of Odessa is chairman of the House National Parks Subcommittee, where House hearings were held before the bill was approved and sent to the full House Interior Insular Affairs Committee. Congressman Joe Kilgore of McAllen and Congressman John Young of Corpus Christi are vitally interested in the Bill. The House National Congressman Rutherford, has been working diligently and successfully to advance the bill in the House. We have had help from the beginning from Secretary Stewart Udall, and of great importance from President John F. Kennedy.

With this kind of help, this is the year to get a genuine tourist attraction for Texas—one that would lend true strength to our state's effort to increase its tourist trade and one that can help Texas take its rightful place as one of the tourist centers of the world.

It would retain for the people a strip of earth and beach in its natural state to be enjoyed by lovers of the outdoors for generations to come. Miami Beach did not develop by accident. It developed because the resources were there and people with vision acted to turn a dream into reality. With Padre Island 117 miles long, there will be space enough left at each end of the Island after the creation of a national park for two or three Miami Beaches.

We need to work harder than ever for passage of this bill, to keep this last remaining stretch of Texas shoreline open to the public for all time, to keep the people from being fenced out the way they've been fenced out in other places over this nation, and to keep a spot of ocean open to the people forever.

Walter Rogers' WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

A term of Congress lasts for two years. This term is divided into two regular sessions. The first session is held during that year in which the Congress is convened after the general elections. The second session is actually a continuation of the first in most everything except name. All bills introduced after the beginning of the first session of the term of Congress remain on the calendar for the full two years unless otherwise disposed of by defeat, passage, or other action. At the end of the second session, all pending measures die. Unless these measures are re-introduced in the following session of the Congress, they are not before the Congress.

We are now in the second session of the 87th Congress, which was convened on January 10, 1962. From that time through June 30th, the Senate had been in session 99 days, the House of Representatives 94. The Senate spent 555 hours, 43 minutes in session; while the House spent 350 hours, 24 minutes. This wide differential in time is no doubt due to the fact that in the House debate is limited. In the Senate it is not. In the House, it is very seldom that a Member is allowed to talk for more than 10 or 15 minutes during any session while scheduled business of the House is being handled. The rules followed in the House are different from those followed in the Senate, hence the Members of the Senate are not limited in debate, and in fact have set some records in recent years. There are many, many times that I wish the House had unlimited debate, because things that should be said are blocked by the limitation rules. The pages in the Congressional Record reflect the difference in the time in session. The Senate had placed 7,058 pages in the Record as of June 30th, while the House had placed 4,456.

During this time, 109 public bills had been enacted into law, 70 of which were House bills while 39 were Senate bills. And, 161 private bills had been enacted into law, 105 of these being House bills and 56 being Senate bills. All of these bills had to be passed by both houses and signed by the President. This does not mean that these were the only bills that were passed by either house. The fact is that the House had passed 571 bills and the Senate had passed 421. The committees in the Senate had reported to the Senate 636 measures; 63 measures had been reported by House committees to the House of Representatives.

Since January 10th and through June 30th, 1,069 measures were introduced in the Senate. During the same time, 3,444 measures were introduced in the House. These include bills, joint resolutions, concurrent resolutions, and simple resolutions. If you compare this figure with the number of bills that have been enacted into law, you can see that very few of the bills introduced ever become law. Parliamentary procedure is one of the great safeguards under which a bill is introduced, the gamut through which it must travel before it finally reaches the President's desk is quite formidable. When it is first introduced, it is sent to a committee by the Speaker of the House. Usually it is then assigned by the Chairman of that committee to a subcommittee. Public hearings are then scheduled by the subcommittee during which testimony is taken from both proponents and opponents. When this is concluded, the bill is considered in executive session, during which time amendments may be offered and acted upon. When this proceeding has been completed, the bill is reported to the full committee for further action. It is then considered

TEXTBOOKS PUBLICIZED—State Commissioner of Education J.W. Edgar sent a list of 203 textbooks, offered for adoption by Texas schools, to all county and independent school district superintendents, and recommended that the list be publicized so the public will know it's available. Textbooks are those which the State Textbook Committee is studying for the 63-64 school year. Number must be sifted down to 82 by October. This approved list then will be turned to the State Board of Education. Between September 1 and 15, the committee will hear any objections private citizens may have to the books. Last fall, there were plenty of protests. Major complaint was that the objectors didn't know which books were being considered in time to mine them fully. STRONG VOICE SILENT—When Texas Railroad Commission its monthly hearing to determine the August oil allowable, representatives from the major companies and independents were heard the strong voice of Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson was being up to urge a low eight-day allowable, no member of the Railroad Commission challenged them. The General had been there, but he was not in Amarillo

PROPERTY TAX STILL LOW—The State's Automatic Tax Board kept to the lowest legal minimum when it set the State ad valorem tax rate for next year at 42 cents on each $100 valuation. Tax boards have kept the State's property tax rate down to the minimum for several years now. It was up to 77 cents per $100 valuation before a 3-cent general revenue tax was abolished in 1951. Coke and Tom Green counties and the Dallas County Flood Control District are the only exceptions to the new rate. Rate is 30 cents in these three areas. The 42-cent tax rate will provide 35 cents for free public school purposes; two cents for Confederate and Texas Ranger pensions and the State Building Commission fund and five cents for the college building fund.

Reps. Sam Collins of Newton, Ben Atwell of Dallas, Don Gladden of Fort Worth and Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi will serve on the Study group was set up to effect "an even greater understanding between the licensing boards and the Legislature," Turman said. Objects of their research will be the 23 State examining and licensing boards organized for the purpose of testing every prospective practitioner of plumbing, law, cosmetology, medicine, barbering or hairdressing and 18 other professions and trades in Texas.

Last Rites held for Son-in-law of Deede Westfalls

Burial services for Thomas H. Jenkins, 27, of Ovilla, Texas were held in the Oakalla Baptist Church July 21.

He is survived by his wife who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deede Westfall of Dimmitt; two daughters Kimberly and Pamela; his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bud Jenkins of Oakalla, one brother and four sisters.

Mr. Jenkins died suddenly in a Waxahachie Hospital. Interment was in the Toby Cemetery in Oakalla.

fall-out. Within 100 miles downwind the radiation fall-out can be 2300 roentgens.

When one considers that the lethal dose of radiation in roentgens for man is 450, you can readily see the reason for my concern. There are other aspects to war of- fensives such as biological and chemical agents for which I believe some provisions, if not made, should be considered."

Communication-wise, Castro County is in excellent shape should a disaster occur. Two active "ham" radio operators, Edwin Cartwright, K5PTB, night police radio dispatcher, and Dr. Harold W. Bischoff, W5WBW, are equipped to transmit and receive on the many frequencies designated by the Federal Communications Commission for amateur radio service. Castro County Sheriff's Office and city police department have about twelve transmitters and receivers on 37.180 megacycles. There are over one hundred citizen's band mobile and base stations located in the Castro County area, and a large number of commercial frequency modulated (FM) transmitters owned by firms such as Pioneer Natural Gas, Southwestern Public Service, Phillip Petroleum, & H Fertilizer, Vardell Fuels, D&D Aerial Spray, Tidwell Spraying Service, and many others whose communication equipment would be available in the event of a catastrophe, such as an atomic bombardment.

Edwin Cartwright and Dr. Bischoff, being Dimmitt's ham radio operators would work in connection with Sheriff Jack Cartwright as county communication directors in the event of an emergency. Communication equipment protected in case of disaster in Dr. Bischoff's shelter includes transmitting and receiving equipment on the sheriff and police radio frequency, 37.180 megacycles, on all the ham bands which include 2,6,10,15,40,75, and 80 meters, and on all 23 channels of the 11 meter citizen's band. Bischoff is also in possession of radar transmitting and receiving equipment and television transmitting and receiving equipment.

Electrical current necessary to power this communication equipment is self generated, in case of outside power failure, in Bischoff's 25' X 12' shelter by the use of a gasoline powered 3,500 watt generator located in the mechanical equipment room of the shelter. The fall-out shelter, probably only one of its nature in the nation, by virtue of its communication facilities, also features a 10-inch thick cement ceiling, 6-inch cement walls radiation trap, radiation air filters of Bischoff's own design, two steel entrance doors, toilet facilities connected to an individual cesspool, and natural gas outlets.

Located inside the shelter are sleeping quarters for his family, metal lathe, drill press, emergency tools and food and recreational material which will supply the family of four for at least two weeks.

Radiation detection equipment, barometer, wind direction indicator and other instruments for determining outside conditions are mounted near the main electronic control center of the shelter.

Local physician, R.E. Cogswell, M.D. has also a radiation-proof fallout shelter which has practically all the modern furnishings of the home proper.

Dr. Cogswell's shelter, which is 13 feet under ground, has wall-to-wall carpeting, electrical cooking appliances, television facilities, intercom system providing communication and contract with areas outside the shelter, 6-inch thick cement walls, lead filled entrance doors, and enough food and water storage for his family's consumption for at least two weeks.

Also stored in Dr. Cogswell's fall-out shelter are medical supplies, and medicine which are being stored in large enough quantities to be of aid to area residents in the event of an atomic attack, tornado, or similar disaster.

Dr. Cogswell believes that people in the Castro County area should not be without a tornado shelter and that a simple shelter of this nature can be made fallout-proof with little effort or expense.

The all-out effort of the United States Government in civil defense does not seem to be counter-balanced by an effective effort by the citizens of the country in the fall-out protection program.

County officers and local doctors who know exactly the effects of atomic bombing upon human lives are putting forth an extensive and effective effort to promote civil defense and county welfare. They urge that immediate action be taken by YOU, the citizens of Castro County so that preparation can be made which will save YOUR lives in the event of an atomic attack, tornado or similar destructive force.

Faith that is impossible today often becomes possible tomorrow. Wait and see.

"We hope that we are never faced with fallout but we should know what to do to protect our families in case we are ever faced with this emergency," Raymond E. Wilson, Castro County Judge said.

County Agricultural Extension Agent, Charles Hottel said one problem in the field of radiation and radioactive fallout on agriculture relates to the possible potential damage from radiation and radioactive fallout on the agricultural people, livestock, and other agricultural resources.

"Ingested in the form of contaminated food or water relatively small amounts of radioactive fall-out can cause delayed and longer lasting injury to humans and animals," the county agent explained.

"Ingestion of larger amounts of radiation tends to produce serious injuries which can result in death," Hottel continued, "It is therefore essential that defense measures include protection of food resources fallout on livestock, lands and food crops."

Not only are Castro County Civil Defense leaders taking the fallout shelter question under consideration but area young people as well. Madelyn Smith and Lou Ann Witkowski won first place in the 22 counties of District 1 4-H and third place in state-wide competition last year by constructing and exhibiting an above-the-ground fallout shelter model. With the shelter model the girls had specifications pointing out proper procedures for two weeks existence in the shelter.

In a letter to Castro County Judge and Civil Defense Coordinator, Raymond Wilson, Dr. Bischoff indicated the importance of civil defense preparation in this area by saying "I am sure that I need not emphasize Castro County's need for a definite, rigid, "all-out" program of civil defense due to our proximity to military installations which would undoubtedly be target areas, should any conflagration ensue. Should an atomic bomb be dropped anywhere in the vicinity of Amarillo we are within the 100 mile down wind path of radiation

SHELTER PROGRESS RAPID

The national civil defense program of surveying fallout shelters for up to 60 million Americans is ahead of schedule, and should be completed before the end of 1962, according to officials of the Defense Department's Office of Civil Defense.

By October 1 OCD expects to have in the hands of local civil defense authorities complete information on the number and location of shelter spaces available in each community.

From information obtained by the Federally-financed National Shelter Survey, local civil defense officials will know also how many persons in each community could be sheltered, how many could not be sheltered under present conditions, what additional space could be added to shelter areas, how much it would cost, and similar data. Local architects and engineers surveyed shelter areas under contract to the Army Corps of Engineers or the Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks.

Under present plans, civil defense authorities receiving this information would then be responsible for marking shelter areas with a nationally-standardized sign. They would stock shelter areas with specially-prepared 14-day supplies of food, water, sanitation and medical items, and fallout detection instruments—all provided by OCD.

The shelter survey, marking, and stocking program, announced last August and put in operation Dec. 1, 1961, is the first part of a broader plan to provide fallout shelters for virtually all Americans over the next five years.

About Your HEALTH

"A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health."

HENRY A. NOLLE, M.D. Commissioner of Health

It will arouse the wrath of sun worshippers, but this must be said: The healthful effects of a suntan aren't worth the time and trouble it takes to get one. After all, a sunburn—like any other burn—is a manifestation of a skin injury.

True, a sensible bask in the sun makes a fine mental pick-me-up and there is no denying the supple appeal of a tawny life-guard. But to overdo it can lead to trouble. In fact it can kill you. More than one person has succumbed to prolonged and unaccustomed exposure to the sun.

Even at best, overexposure can mean two or three miserable days when a mere shirt or blouse is torture, and a friendly pat on the back can end in murder.

The medical term for sunburn is "erythema solaris". It's the ultra-violet light in sun rays which does the damage. And since clouds don't remove all ultra-violet rays, it is possible to get burned even on overcast days in mid-summer.

Some people are physically unable to tan. Known medically as "heliophobes", they could spend the entire summer on Padre Island, and all they'd get would be blisters on their blisters. The reason: Their skins lack the pigment necessary to produce the tan tint. They never had a tan and they never will, so they ought never attempt one. Each new exposure will only mean a new burn.

Assuming you are the type who can tan—a "heliophile", that is well-known rule about doing it progressively longer exposure time is valid and should be followed. Sunshine is a source of vitamin

Sunflower Seed Seen As Area Cash Crop

Farmers throughout West Texas may be growing sunflowers as a cash crop in the near future, if scientists at the High Plains Research Foundation are successful in their attempt to breed improved varieties for commercial use.

The sunflower plant, which was being used by the Indians when the earliest European explorers discovered North America, offers considerable promise as a potential cash crop for West Texas. Of particular importance is the fact that it is a drought tolerant plant well adapted to our soil and climatic conditions. It can be grown with less water than most other crops such as corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, cotton, and castorbeans.

Several hundred plant types from Russia, Canada, Chile, Columbia and South Africa are under study at the Foundation. Dr. Earl Collister, Chief Agronomist, and Barry Love, Assistant Agronomist and Paul Belcher, Technician, are conducting the plant breeding program. Superior plants are being self-pollinated for use in developing high yielding varieties adapted to complete mechanization. The goal of the breeding program is to develop varieties that can be harvested with a regular grain combine.

Sunflower seed could be marketed as an oilseed crop to oil mills, sold directly to feed mills, or consumed on the farm as feed for poultry and livestock. The whole seed is an excellent feed for poultry and livestock. It contains a higher percentage of total digestible nutrients protein, and fat than many other feed crops, particularly corn, oats, and wheat.

Sunflower seed contains approximately 30 per cent oil or fat, which is classified as a very high quality semi-drying oil, and approximately 22 per cent protein.

Oil is used in the manufacture of drugs, shortenings, salad dressings, oleomargarine, and liniments. Meal or flour from the sunflower seed is an excellent source of protein, minerals, and vitamins. It contains above 50 percent protein, is unusually rich in calcium, an excellent source of thiamine or vitamin B1, and particularly outstanding in its supply of niacin. From the standpoint of nutritional value, sunflower meal would be a very desirable ingredient in human food products.

On commenting about the future of sunflowers as a crop for the future, Dr. Collister stated, "sunflowers could be an important cash crop for the farmers of West Texas since it can be grown with less water than most crops." "With our declining water table throughout the High Plains of West Texas, crops of this type will be essential in our farming program in the future."

EMERGENCY SUPPLIES for the 258-person fallout shelter area in the basement of the Merchants Terminal building in Baltimore, Md., are stored as part of a 14-city test of shelter stocking procedures conducted by the Department of Defense with the cooperation of local civil defense agencies. The heavily-built basement is typical of areas in existing buildings across the nation which could make good public fallout shelters when supplied with food and water for each occupant for 14 days along with sanitation, medical and radiation detection kits. Lessons learned in the 14-city test will be applied to the stocking of community fallout shelters for up to 60 million Americans starting later this year. (Department of Defense Photo)
