

TIME FOR VOTERS TO WAKE UP AND ACT

666,000 Boys and Girls in 4-H Clubs

Boys and girls in 4-H clubs in 1928 numbered 47,000 more than in the year previous, according to advance tabulations of county agents' reports by the office of co-operative Extension Work, United States Department of Agriculture.

In 1927 there were 619,712 boys and girls enrolled in club work in agriculture and home economics and 339,107 of these completed the projects which they undertook. The advance figures for 1928 indicate an enrollment of more than 660,000 with 447,000 members completing their work.

"This substantial increase in enrollment," says C. W. Warburton, director of Extension Work, "is in line with the increases that have been made in club enrollment during the last several years, due to the increasing interest extension forces are representing to any great degree the influence of the Capper-Ketchum act; funds from that act did not become effective for use until after the time when the 1928 clubs were organized and were going ahead with the year's program of work."

The Capper-Ketchum act, which was passed May 22, 1923, became effective July 1, 1928. The act authorizes an appropriation of $980,000 annually, of which $20,000 goes to each state and the territory of Hawaii, for the further development of extension work in agriculture and home economics. It also provides that the same sum and an additional $500,000 appropriation be divided among the states and the territory of Hawaii each fiscal year following. Largely due to these additional federal funds, 438 new county extension agents have been employed since April 1, 1928.

Illinois Test Case of U. S. Dry Law

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—By a vote of 13 to 15 the judiciary committee of the Illinois house today recommended adoption of a resolution calling on the State Attorney General to institute a test case against the 18th Amendment in the United States supreme court.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Several members of the Illinois general assembly classed as "drys" threw their support to a resolution asking a legislative investigation of the killing of Mrs. Lillian De King, during a recent prohibition enforcement raid on her home in Aurora.

The vote on the measure was 81 to 50. Representative Charles L. Wood of Keenes, former minister, in voting for the resolution said the Anti-Saloon League should be the last organization in the world to oppose the investigation.

Minority leader Michael Igoe, democrat of Chicago, led the move for the investigation, asserting that "this is not a wet and dry fight," and charging that opponents of the inquiry were "trying to keep from the public the facts surrounding the cruelest murder ever committed in Illinois."

"Oil Was a Curse," Says Mrs. Smith

SAN ANGELO, Texas.—Mrs. M. A. Monroe Smith, principal in oil litigation over her Pecos county ranch lands involving millions of dollars, died here Thursday.

Endless litigation, in which her children were aligned against her, marked the closing years of her life. The law suits still are far from settled, and lawyers were considering what effect her death would have upon them.

Old age was given as the primary cause of the death of the frail little woman, who in her declining years, when almost blind, was forced to sit in witness chairs and match wits with attorneys for her children, who sought to have her declared mentally incompetent.

"Oil has been a curse to me. I wish I had never seen an oil well. I wish they had never found a drop of oil on my ranch. It has brought me nothing but trouble and sorrow and definitely set my children against me and made me poor again," Mrs. Smith declared shortly before her death.

AN APOLOGY TO JUDGE ADAMS OF BAILEY COUNTY

The News received last week a communication from Judge Adams of Bailey county, calling attention to a meeting to be held at Mulshoe on the 20th inst. This in some manner was overlooked and failed to appear in our columns. We deeply regret the oversight, and promise to try to do better in the future.

Did the Sudan News Err when It Stated the Amherst Committee Could Merely Hope to Obstruct the Move? Let Voters Read and Form Their Opinions. Some Food for Thought.

Amherst wants nothing but a square deal in the fight for the County Seat. Her good faith has been attacked by the Sudan News of this week, but the writer of the article is misinformed as to the true facts. Amherst is within five miles of the geographical center of the county, and any statement to the contrary notwithstanding, and is in a position to serve the inhabitants of the county as their County Seat, better than any other location.

A decision by the Supreme Court of Texas, Whitaker vs. Dillard, states that the right of the voter to vote for any place he chooses for a County Seat, shall not be denied, or restricted.

Following that decision, Amherst wants every citizen of the County to have the right to vote in the coming election for Amherst, if he or she so desires, or for any other place if the voter wishes.

It is not a question of the north side of the county against the south side, but a question of the convenience of the public at large, and no other consideration should be given attention.

Amherst believes that such a consideration of the question would give her the County Seat at this time, and for this reason is in the race.

Amherst wants nothing but justice and a square deal, and is calling upon the citizens who believe in that attitude to give her all of the assistance in their power, and if she loses, she will go down in defeat with the full consciousness of duty well performed, and with no ill will of any kind toward anyone, or towns.

No, the News editor has not been misinformed, neither is he entirely uninformed as to the present situation in Lamb county. On the contrary, he has accumulated a fund of information which in this article he will attempt to place before the voters of Lamb county in plain words. And at the outset, we wish to disclaim any intention to reflect unjustly on any person or group of persons—rather do we seek to solve the question before us by accomplishing the greatest good to the greatest number.

When in our last issue we referred to the contest as one between north and south Lamb county, we naturally presumed that the reader would understand that our conviction was that the citizens immediately adjacent to Olton would of course support their town. This would naturally be expected of them—and none could censure them for so doing. Neither has The Sudan News any criticism to offer of Olton or her people, or of those who wish to support her. Our intention is simply to show that it would be to the best interests of a large majority of the people of the county if the county seat could be located on the Santa Fe railroad, easily accessible to the people of the entire county, with the possible exception of those in the immediate vicinity of the present county seat.

To begin with, the writer is reliably informed that this is not the first effort that has been made to change the county seat from Olton to some more accessible point in the county. As we understand the facts, an effort was made some years ago, following the burning of the court house at Olton, to move the county seat to the REAL center of the county, but that such tentative effort failed for the good and sufficient reason that Col. Halsell, owner of the proposed site, flatly refused to sell, being currently reported as using some very uncomplimentary language toward the class of citizens likely to be drawn to a county seat—such as "damn nesters."

Later, however, he seems to have experienced a change of heart—or should we say a change of plans, for we find him laying out a town at the present site of Amherst.

Now there could be no objection to this move, if it were not for some of the peculiar actions of the agents employed to dispose of lots in the proposed town site. The News has it from authority which it considers reliable, that many of the purchasers of these lots, if not positively told as much, were at least led to believe that they were purchasing property at the county seat, and it is even stated that in some instances the purchasers were flatly told that the property was located in the county seat of Lamb county. This may have been simply the work of unscrupulous salesmen. However, the fact remains that this impression prevailed with many of the purchasers. The News does not seek to cast any reflection on the people of Amherst simply seeks to turn the light on that which is currently reported as an off-color deal.

But coming down to the matter of the recent movement for removal, we can cite more concrete facts. When Littlefield citizens, after thoroughly canvassing the matter among themselves, decided that the time was ripe for removal of the county seat to the railroad—or at least to some more accessible point than it now occupies—she advertised meetings and invited both Amherst and Sudan, and all others who could attend, to have representatives present. The News is reliably informed that Amherst was represented by at least four of her representative citizens. These, we are told, refused to concede the right of priority to Littlefield. Thereupon the latter proposed a compromise—namely, that a section of land be purchased some five miles north of Littlefield and four miles east from Amherst, upon which to locate the court house and attendant buildings. This, too, the Amherst representatives refused to consider, terminating the whole matter with the flat statement that it was "Amherst or nothing."

And there you have the crux of the entire matter. It was "Amherst or nothing" at the conference. Now it is "Amherst or bust," as is amply demonstrated by the subsequent actions of the promoters of the movement. Knowing full well that after the proposed compromise was spurned by them, Littlefield planned to go through with her own petition, still Amherst made no move to do likewise for some time. Finally, after Littlefield's petition had been filed with Judge Hay, and the election ordered as the law provides, Amherst came with her petition and demanded that the election order be amended to include her on the ticket. (Before proceeding further, The News wishes to state that it is the mature opinion of eminent legal authority that, Littlefield's petition having been duly accepted and filed and the election ordered as petitioned, there is in law or the constitution absolutely no authority vested in any official to amend or change this order.)

Upon being so informed by Judge Hay and County Attorney Potter, the Amherst delegation then wired State's Attorney General Pollard, insisting that Amherst be admitted to the ticket. Mr. Pollard appears to have been absent from his office and the wire was answered by an assistant (must have been the seventeenth assistant or the janitor), who instructed Judge Hay to accept Amherst's petition and have the ballots printed in blank—"For removal to—" or "For remaining at —." There may be a modicum of sense in the "For removal to —," but as not only every voter, but every school boy and girl as well, knows that the county seat is at Olton and has never been anywhere else, it would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer to advance a reason for the "For remaining at—" For the love of Pete, why not the ticket read, "For remaining at Olton"? But right here we catch a glimpse of the nigger in the woodpile. The two phrases wouldn't harmonize, and as Amherst must have the "For removal to —" in order to further her own ends, so to be consistent she must have the negative read "For remaining at —."

The News must hand it to Amherst that the powers—or power—that makes the political wheels go round in that little city is not asleep, and moreover, is a smooth worker. As witness the recent attempt to divert the Farwell-Lubbock highway and carry it a mile across the railroad to pass through Amherst. However, thanks to the common sense of the highway authorities, this move failed and the highway follows the straight line of the railway.

Failing in this move, it was thought to divert through traffic from Sudan by sending it through Amherst, by Earth, to Clovis, even going to the length of placing a sign at the point where her road leaves the highway. This sign reads, "To Clovis 58 miles." Later, a sign was erected by Sudan at the same point, and approved by the highway department, which sign reads, "To Clovis 68 miles." Now, as Earth is approximately 20 miles due north from Amherst, and as the present highway runs northwest in approximately a straight line to Farwell, and the distance to Clovis as approved by the highway department is 68 miles, it would again puzzle that Philadelphia lawyer to explain how Amherst could reach Clovis, over a road describing a right-angled triangle, in 58 miles. Perhaps our friend the Argus can elucidate.

Now assume that Amherst carries on to the bitter end, let us take a look at votes and probable majorities. The promoters not only express themselves as hopeful of a majority, but confidently claim they have that majority comfortably buttoned up in their vest pocket. Well, a few days ago a prominent Amherst citizen in conversation with a citizen of Littlefield, was asked as to Amherst's expectations at various voting precincts. "How many votes have you at Amherst?" Littlefield asked. "Around 500," was the reply. "How many will Littlefield carry?" asked the Littlefielder. The other conceded a small number. "We'll concede you the entire vote," was the comment of Littlefield. The same question was propounded as to Sudan 480 votes; Earth, 180; Sod House, 65; and Fieldton, 145—a total of 1370. "Now," said the Littlefielder, "let's give you the entire vote of those precincts. Out of a total vote of 3400, whence will come your majority?" The question remained unanswered—still remains unanswered. Perhaps our friend the Argus can elucidate this also.

But the Littlefielder was entirely too liberal with his concessions. This writer fails to understand why the voters of Sudan should support the Amherst movement, in view of previous actions of the big boss of that burg at the time Sudan was seeking to establish an independent taxing district for promoting our school. It is common knowledge that this same boss followed our agent to Austin and sought by every means in his power to defeat the plans of Sudan. We very much doubt if Sudan people, who are justly proud of their splendid school system, have any kindly appreciation of the interference, even though it failed.

But let's not let Amherst monopolize this entire chapter. We come now to the question of costs and taxation.

First, it is by no means an established fact that $150,000 will be required. Interested parties have investigated the cost of new court houses in a number of neighboring counties, and some significant figures have come to light. For instance, Bailey county has recently erected a commodious court house including jail with four cells, the entire cost of which was $85,000. Also the Garza county court house was erected at Post City at a cost of $90,176, and is ample for all purposes. The figures on both these buildings include furniture and fixtures. These are but two instances. There are others.

Coming now to the last phase of the question for discussion in this article, that of the probable tax levy, we wish, in all friendliness, to call attention to some statements contained in a letter circulated from Olton in opposition to the movement. This letter calls attention to the fact that Lamb county is paying a 15c levy for $100,000 of road bonds. The letter fails to state all the facts of this levy—first, that for the levy the county was divided into two districts, the north side district and the south side district, each carrying $50,000 of the sum. This levy was placed 9 years ago, hence the county has been paying the levy only nine years at most. After paying interest—get this, please—the south side has now to the credit of the sinking fund for retiring these bonds, $22,013. This can be verified at the bank. With the same levy, another year will place the south side sinking fund at anyway $25,000—half the entire amount charged to it. As the bonds are 40-year bonds, the entire amount of $50,000, as charged to the south side, can be retired in half the allotted time—20 years. So it can be plainly seen that the 15c levy was uncalled for. This, however, was due to the low valuation of property at the time the bonds were issued. The same mistake would not be made in the proposed issue. In fact, in addition to a lower levy, the county could easily carry out the move on much less than $150,000, as witness the figures quoted above.

But this article must have an end. We have endeavored to point out, in a friendly manner, some reasons why, first, the move should be made; second, that, whether or not intentional on the part of the Amherst promoters, her action can have no other result than to tend to muddy the waters and block the game. We repeat, is this her aim? The Sudan News hopes not. It has faith that many of the solid citizens of the Amherst territory, in fact of the entire county, can and will see the situation as it exists, and unite to bring the county seat to the railroad—to Littlefield.

LATER.—Well, Well! If it isn't our old friend The Campaign Liar. Welcome, old friend. We've had a sneaking notion this scrap couldn't be pulled off successfully without your valued help. This time the poor doddering old fellow solemnly proclaims that the Sudan News has sold out to Littlefield for the sum of $500. You see, he even specifies the exact amount. Now we hate to dignify the old fellow with an answer, but will merely remark that the observations of a fairly long life have convinced us that the fellow who is first to cry "fraud" or "bribery," is the very fellow who is first to practice fraud or accept a bribe when the opportunity comes his way.

The Patsy Is Coming to Town

This play, one of the highest priced productions on the merican stage today, is to be presented by local talent next Tuesday evening as a benefit play for the band boys of Sudan. This play has seldom been offered to the public of the South except in the chautauqua and lyceum circuits. Redpath-Horner has sponsored it throughout the state. It is being presented in a screen version in many cities now. These two statements show the value that theatre people place on this play.

The cast of this play is composed of strong actors, people who have already The coach is she who coached stage. The coach is she who coached Lone Star for the P. T. A. last December. It will be a treat to all who come out next Tuesday evening and the band boys, all of whom are hard working boys, will receive the proceeds while the hearers receive the sport. The following compose cast:

THE AMERICAN CREED

"I believe in the United States of America and the principles of freedom, justice, equality and humanity upon which it was founded and for which American Patriots have given their lives and fortunes.
"I believe it is my duty towards my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; and to defend it against all enemies."

Any erroneous reflection upon the character or reputation of any person, company or corporation which may appear in these columns will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

"BOOST OR MOVE."

THE NATIONAL GAME.

The crash of the ash against horsehide now resounds daily in baseball parks throughout the country. The curtain is up once more and 123,456,789 persons, more or less, are the audience. It is a whopping big audience, scattered over three thousand miles. Baseball after all is more than a sport. It tends to build strong bodies and alert minds. It is amazing in many respects to observe the growth of professional baseball and the hold it exercises on the public. Since the permanent organization of the National League in 1875, the sport has grown steadily. One game today draws more paid admissions than the combined attendance of a week in the old days.

Star players draw as much for a single game as many of the old-timers drew for the season. Babe Ruth, home run king, is said to draw a salary of $75,000 a year. Rogers Hornsby enjoys an annual wage of $40,000. A Brooklyn pitcher finds his services valued at $25,000.

The world isn't such a bad place to inhabit after all, not when the ball parks are doing business.

THE SHELL GAME.

Notice is given that after April 21 no eggs will be admitted into England unless they have the name of the country in which they originated written in ink upon the shell. Our hens are expected to govern themselves accordingly. Those that cannot write will have to learn enough to be able to impress "America" on the shell of their product. But some of those Rhode Island Reds should be able to sling a pretty good quill and be able to meet the educational demands of the foreign market. Anyhow, it should be easy to distinguish their output from the pauper China eggs.

A CHEERFUL APPEARANCE

Beautiful front yards, and back yards as well, are unquestionably a civic asset, and those who seek to beautify their premises are making a personal contribution to the town. More and more is this truth coming to be recognized. Perhaps the primary reason in planting flowers is love for them, and akin to that is pride in one's home and the desire to share in making the community a beautiful one in which to live. Beautiful flowers and attractive yards brighten up a town and give it a more cheerful and inviting appearance, both for residents and visitors.

THE SPIRIT OF REVENGE

No man can nurse a grievance without losing much that is worth while. It mitigates that contentment of mind and of spirit which are so essential if one is to live a full life. It begets meanness, smallness and secretiveness which are so detrimental to a happy, useful, many life. No man should revenge his own wrongs. If they are serious he should, as a protection to society, let the law inflict proper punishment. If they are petty, he should forget them, but profiting by their lesson, take a determination not to be imposed on again.

GOING UP.

Income tax reports will reveal some 14,000 "millionaires" in the United States at present, the treasury estimates. That is 2,500 more than there were the year before. You are a millionaire, according to the tax experts, if your taxable income exceeds $100,000 a year. There are probably as many such incomes in this country as in the whole of the balance of the world together, and in proportion fewer very poor.

BRIGHT COLORS IN HATS.

The writer is glad that the boys are going to wear hats again, and we do not mind if they, we mean the hats are of startling colors. The hat dealers were facing an emergency and had to invent something. Long ago the girls discovered that colors brightened up things a lot, but the men always have to tag along behind.

NOT SO BAD.

Things are not so bad after all. Nine hundred out of 984 Kalamazoo school girls said they helped with the housework one way or another—and even when they didn't help, they approved of it.

THE GAME OF CONVERSATION.

Now that President Hoover has two fishing camps near Washington, his man-killing job seems more attractive.

Protect the Tax Payers Money!
Save In Future Elections!
Settle the Question Now!

Move It to Amherst May 11.

The tax payers of Lamb County cannot afford to spend their money for a county seat election every two years.

Amherst has the advantage over all other towns for the location of the County Seat. The great Commonwealth of Texas provides this advantage for towns located within five miles of the geographical center of their respective counties.

Only a majority of the votes cast are required for Amherst to secure the County Seat. It requires sixty-six and two-thirds of the votes cast to move it to Littlefield. Why move it from one corner of the county to another? Amherst is less than five miles from the center of the county. Amherst is the nearest point to the center that can ever be had in Lamb County.

AMHERST is the strategic point. It is more convenient to all other towns in the county than any other location in Lamb County.

All these reasons point to the fact that the State of Texas, with its just laws, awards AMHERST a large margin over all other points in the County.

AMHERST is going to secure the County Seat! Citizens who know the real facts, admit that AMHERST is the most convenient point to serve all alike. True committee reports show that AMHERST is gaining votes rapidly. The excellent citizenship of Lamb County is learning the facts; they wish to be fair; they want equality; they want the County Seat in a central point where all will be served on an equal basis.

The voters of Lamb County are going to settle this vital question once and for all, and locate the County Seat at AMHERST; and by doing so WILL SAVE THE TAX PAYERS MUCH EXPENSE IN FUTURE ELECTIONS.

Panhandle-Plains
Business "Good"

According to the map of national conditions published in the March issue of the Nation's Business, all of the forty-four counties of the Panhandle and South Plains region of Texas are "white," which signifies that business conditions in this entire area are "good." Since the white spots were so scattered on this particular map as to be conspicuous, a little boasting on the part of Panhandle citizens is legitimate and pardonable. At the time of the last census, these forty-four counties had a population of less than two hundred thousand and the figures for the twenty-six counties of the Panhandle proper were a little less than one hundred and fifteen thousand. Today, the population of the forty-four counties is conservatively estimated at more than three hundred and seventy-six thousand—an increase of ninety-five per cent in less than a decade—while estimates of the population of the twenty-six counties place their total at two hundred and thirty-seven thousand, or considerably more than double the last census figures. There is little doubt that the actual returns, when the nineteen thirty census is published, will show an even greater increase. The publication of the nineteen twenty census figures showed the Panhandle-Plains section of Texas to be the fastest growing area in the nation and there is every reason to believe that this region will exceed its own record when the next census returns are tabulated. At that, there is still room and opportunity for thousands of new families who desire homes where the spirit of adventure and enterprise is rampant; where the people are almost ninety-nine per cent pure American with American ideas of progress and standards of living; where there yet remain thousands of acres of the richest soil whose thick turf has never known a plowshare; where the citizens are prosperous and happy and optimistic; where the climate is comfortable all the year round—in short, homes where all conditions necessary for the materialization of one's dreams and ambitions are most favorable, in a section which has remained consistently in the "white" area indicating satisfactory business and financial conditions ever since the World War.—The Southwestern Plainsman.

Muleshoe

(The Muleshoe Journal.)
The pastors of the town have arranged for Dr. Atticus Webb of Dallas to speak here at a community service, on Temperance and Law Enforcement, Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock, at the Methodist church.

The May term of the district court will convene Monday, May 6, with Judge Chas. Clements presiding. Jurors have been summoned for two weeks, although under the new law the time may be extended if necessary.

Mr. R. C. Reagan of the State Fire Insurance Department has been in town this week making a general inspection of the water works and fire fighting equipment. Several farmers here have had cotton seed tested which they had intended to use for planting, and in some cases the germination was as low as 10 per cent. Planting of these seed would be a great loss of time and money.

Last Saturday, Coach Shelton, accompanied by Miss Lizette Strickland and David Hamon, took Sam Harmon, Wayne Pennington and Joe McField to the Tri-State track meet at Amarillo. Sam Harmon won the half mile over twenty of the best half-milers in Texas. He ran this race in 2 minutes 4 seconds, just 1/2 seconds above the state record. Wayne Pennington threw the javelin 156 feet 8 inches and won second place in a group of thirty men. Let's see these boys perform at Lubbock Saturday. It looks like they are bound for the state meet.

Will Mr. Huntsucker Explain His Statement?

Sudan, Texas, April 24, 1929.
Mr. E. F. Huntsucker,
Editor The Argus,
Amherst, Texas.

Dear Sir: As your name appears as editor of the Amherst Argus, I am taking it for granted that you are the author of an article appearing on the front page of the Argus' edition of the week ending April 20. In this article the flat statement is made that "her (Amherst's) good faith has been attacked by the Sudan News."
Now, you, an editor, must know that in order to commit an act that would constitute a breach of faith, one must break a solemn promise. Of this The Sudan News most certainly never has accused Amherst, or the campaign committee, or any individual citizen of Amherst.
Will you kindly explain and cite me to such accusation?
Respectfully,
E. C. BARBER,
Editor of The Sudan News.

Activities of the Sudan Public Schools

We Freshmen feel like the man in the cyclone this week. Things do happen. Our pupils have been on the move. Extra-curricular activities seem to be the order of the day late in April and extending into May.

Last Saturday two of our school boys won honors at the district meet at Lubbock. A senior boy, Arnold Partell, won first prize in the javelin throw, throwing that weapon 158 feet 3 inches. A sophomore, Otto Workman, put the shot 41 feet 2 1/2 inches to win second shot. That qualifies these two men for places in the state meet at Austin next week. Marvin Thomas was not quite good enough in his race with 24 contestants. He failed to be eligible for the state meet. Our girls' tennis team tied with one other for third place in the district meet. This team was composed of Gertrude Ford and Helen Williams, two seniors. Next year the seniors, Gertrude Ford, Helen Williams, and Arnold Partell will not be back, but we shall try to have some good ones in their places.

At time of going to press, Tuesday noon, we have only one report from our agricultural teams at A. & M. College. Mr. Wilkins has just received a wire from Mr. Newton, telling him that the dairy team, composed of Jack Lenderson, Donald Robertson and Coleman Terrell had won first place over all Texas at A. & M. This gives us a silver loving cup in place of the two we lost, and gives to the team a free trip to St. Louis to attend the national dairy show there.

While asserting the various news that comes to us, we find an item that we gladly reproduce verbatim. It comes from the senior class as follows: We seniors (though we may be speaking out of turn) are proud of the fact that Waldo Fisher, a member of our class, was one of the five high point men of the present agricultural meet at Lubbock, at Texas Technological College. Owing to a late announcement of the outcome of the farm shop contest which Waldo won, as individual, he did not share in the honors which other winning contestants received, and his picture was not included with those of other winners, including that of Donald Robertson. Sudan's other high-point man, in the Sunday edition of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. He will be presented a scholarship at Texas Technological College as an award for his proficiency. Tuesday night of this week the seniors began rehearsal on their last class play, A College Town. This will be presented at an early date and will be worth your money and attendance.

One of the junior girls, Ina Youkum, withdrew from school last Friday. We regret her loss.

The sophomore girls went on a picnic Saturday afternoon. On their return from their outing they attended the picture show.

Miss Jackson spent last week-end in Bovina visiting friends. Tuesday night of this week the band benefit program, The Dixie Review, was presented at school. This program gave much enjoyment to those who attended. The proceeds of these band programs goes to pay the expenses of the band to El Paso, some time in June, when the West Texas bands will assemble there under the auspices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The chapel program Monday afternoon under the auspices of the fifth grade was a good one. Each program being delivered now is the last that that group will present this year. Next Monday afternoon the high fourth grade will be in a chapel program for their last time. Miss Doggett will have charge of this feature and everybody is invited to attend it.

The grammar school has had two pupils the last week. These pupils are Otha Guthrie of the high fifth grade and Arthur Cowan of the high second. These two make our enrollment reach the grand total of 750.

Among those of our faculty who attended the district meet at Lubbock over week-end were Coach Brown, Miss Bond, Mrs. Wells, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins. We freshmen have been informed that Mr. Brown had "personal" business at Idalou while in Lubbock, and that his business was not satisfactorily concluded until late Sunday afternoon. This is the only thing we are sure of; he was seen bidding good-bye to a primary teacher of Idalou at the passenger depot in Lubbock just as the train was pulling out for Sudan.

The last of the series of band benefit programs is preparing for presentation next Tuesday night. This is a very strong play, The Patsy, and is being directed by Mrs. Wilkins. Its cast is good and we expect it to be worth attending, in addition to helping out our boys.

We freshmen boys have been busy this, Tuesday, morning, cleaning off some inscriptions and some disfigurements from the stage scenery. If we all would watch this as carefully as we ought, it would not be necessary for anyone to do such work on our stage walls and scenery for many years to come.

The band is expecting to take a trip over to Tahoka Wednesday of this week, but at time of delivering this news to the editor we do not know if arrangements have been completed for transportation.

Contributed by the Freshmen.

News of Texas

Told in Brief

AUSTIN.—Secretary of State Jane Y. McCallum recently called upon Chairman John F. Wallace of the appropriation committee of the Texas House of Representatives to entertain her department with a chicken barbecue. The committee offered to any state department that asked less money than it received in the former appropriation. The secretary of state's department asked for $4,000 less.

AMARILLO.—Completion of the organization of the Amarillo Garden-Flower club was effected yesterday morning at a business meeting of the club at the Herring hotel.

DALHART.—The first standard training school for Sunday school workers ever held in Dalhart is in progress this week.

WHITE DEER.—The four grain elevators here are making preparations for the big harvest. The managers are expecting to ship as much if not more wheat this year than ever before in the history of White Deer, should a rain visit this section on or before the first of May. The growing grain is not suffering any, but a rain later on will assure a heavy yield.

SHERMAN.—The 1930 state Baptist Sunday school convention will be held in Austin, it was voted at the third day's session of the convention held here.

BORGER.—Twenty-two students comprise the senior class of Borger high school this year, Dan Banker, principal, announces.

SHERMAN.—Dr. Marshall Craig of Dallas was reelected to the presidency of the State Baptist Sunday School convention at last night's session of the Texas Baptists here.

EDINBURG.—The Morales fruit fly has been discovered in three orchards within a three-mile radius of Mercedes, Texas, M. H. Ford of the United States department of agriculture, in control of the Mexican fly control project in this Rio Grande valley section, announced.

SWEETWATER.—Plans for a new charter provision, which will create a department of recreation, parks and playgrounds are being considered by the city commission and board of education.

BIG SPRING.—Mrs. A. F. Presley, of Lubbock, was chosen as president of the El Paso Presbytery of the Presbyterian church and Mrs. John McCall of El Paso was made secretary at the final business session held in Midland Thursday.

BROWNFIELD.—An inspection has just been completed by a representative of the Postoffice Department for the purpose of reporting upon the city's application for free city delivery. His inspection revealed that Brownfield should be credited with 60 per cent on sidewalks and 100 per cent on street markers and house numbers, and is therefore entitled to one carrier.

CANYON.—Ernest Cave, Canyon, won first place in the national oratorical contest division of the inter-scholastic meet under way here. J. J. Deiss of Amarillo took second place. Cave will represent the Panhandle at Fort Worth on May 26.

WELLINGTON.—Heavy rains were accompanied by hail which fell here Friday afternoon. The hail will damage the fruit crop considerably.

HOUSTON.—A 17-year-old boy of less than medium height and slight build today smilingly told detectives and newspapermen of more than a score of "stick-up" jobs he had pulled. Police were convinced that the smiling youth was Houston's "phantom" bandit, whose elusiveness had goaded them.

How to Raise Poultry
By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V. S., St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGear is a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, 1902. Thirty-six years of veterinary practice on diseases of live stock and poultry. Eminent authority on poultry and stock raising. Nationally known poultry breeder. Noted author and lecturer.

Pity Poor Chanticleer
"Swat the Rooster" Is Now The Watchword With Poultrymen When the Breeding Season Comes to an End.

The old expression, "Cock-of-the-Walk" doesn't mean as much now as it once did. In former times, the Chanticleer strutted about with all the insolence of one whose independence could not be questioned. He became the central figure of many a legend, even to becoming the hero of a great fanciful drama by the master playwright, Edmond Rostand. Well he might strut with all this adulation, but his day of greatness is now gone forever. At best, he is merely tolerated during the breeding season and as a reward for faithful service he is then condemned to the axe or to exile.

For this, the one time supreme dictator of barnyard society must lay the blame on fairly recent scientific discovery. Like the musician who sees his livelihood threatened by Vitaphone and Movietone, the ex-sultant of chickenhood now finds himself in a very precarious position. My investigations on my experimental farm prove to me that all roosters should be removed from the flock as soon as the breeding season is over. They should then be comfortably housed or sent to the butcher. I am convinced that fully $50,000,000 is lost every year by poultry raisers who, through carelessness or because they do not know any better, allow roosters to run with the flock out of breeding season.

The rooster's part in poultry raising is merely to fertilize the eggs intended for hatching. Hens will lay just as well with no male birds present as when they are. Some poultrymen contend they lay even better without male birds. Furthermore, an infertile egg will keep much longer than a fertile one.

The fertilization of eggs causes them to spoil much more quickly than they would if not fertilized, especially in hot weather. Heat causes the germ in the egg to grow and as soon as such growth starts, the egg is no longer fit for use as food. On the other hand, I have fully demonstrated the keeping qualities of infertile eggs by keeping them in incubators for varying lengths of time. I have tested such eggs after the tenth day of incubation and found them still comparatively fresh. Had they been fertile, they would have been completely spoiled after two or three days in the incubator. In warm weather, fertile eggs will spoil almost as quickly as they will in an incubator or under a setting hen unless they are kept in a cool, dry place.

Eggs should be gathered twice a day in hot weather and marketed at least twice a week. Nests should be kept in a clean, dry place and the litter in them should be frequently renewed to insure cleanliness and help to keep down vermin. Small, soiled and deformed eggs or those of off color should be kept for home use. Eggs of good color, uniform size and, above all, those that are not fertile, command the best prices.

So many of the stations where eggs are bought now conduct tests for fertility that their sale is the more reason for segregating or butchering the rooster as soon as his period of usefulness is over. As soon as one breeding season is over, therefore, all male birds should be put in comfortable pens to themselves or should be marketed for table use. Any poultryman who is not already practicing this plan of handling the male birds of his flock is losing money through his old-fashioned methods and will be well repaid by adopting more up-to-date practices.

WHEN FAITHFULNESS IS A VICE.

Ever so often somebody gets in the papers by reason of a record of long and continuous devotion to a single idea. Somebody has not missed a day at the same job for fifty years. Somebody else has attended Sunday school every Sunday for half a lifetime without being absent or tardy. Somebody else has sung in the church choir for a generation.

So go the stories of hard, faithful, unrelenting routine. And the idea is all wrong. The man who finds he has done the same, unvarying thing every day or every week for half his life ought deliberately to miss a day or miss a week or run away for a month. The human being is not glorified by conversion into a machine. Man wasn't meant to travel forever in a groove.

If you have a perfectly wonderful record at any routine performance for a number of years, hurry up and spoil the record for the good of your immortal soul. Never let yourself become a willing slave to routine. It's the sure road to mediocrity and the development of the commonplace mind and commonplace spirit.

President Green of the American Federation of Labor says workmen ought to take two weeks of winter vacation in a warm and sunny climate. Such an expression sounds less strange than even the idea of an eight-hour day sounded some years ago. In the years of twelve-hour shifts, uncomfortable and unsanitary shop conditions and low wages, the word vacation was almost unknown. Today vacations among workmen are common enough, and most of them have automobiles to make their vacations count the most.

A vacation is worth everything it costs if it is a change.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Cannibalism Grows as Thousands Starve

PEKING, China April 19.—Cannibalism is on the increase in remote Kansu province, where thousands of people are dying daily from starvation under the shadow of the great wall of China and along the frontiers of Tibet.

What Satisfied Users Say

Walter Fly, of Vega and Amarillo—a Prominent Phillips User

Scene on Fly's Farm South of Vega, Showing 5 Tractors which Use Phillips Products 100%

The following are excerpts from bona-fide letters on file at Phillips Petroleum office, written by satisfied customers. They tell their own story!

Vega, Tex., March 20, 1929
Phillips Petroleum Company, Amarillo, Texas.
Gentlemen:
I started to use Phillips oil last July 1, and find it superior to all oils I ever used. I had the first tractor used successfully in the Panhandle in 1913. I think I have used about all kinds of oil made.
Anyone can't go wrong in buying Phillips oil.
Yours truly,
Herschel Climer

Hereford, Tex., March 21, 1929
Phillips Petroleum Company, Amarillo, Texas.
Gentlemen:
I want to tell you of the extra fine service I have obtained from the use of your Phillips oils and motor fuel. Recently we overhauled a tractor that had completed about 3500 acres of plowing. We found a very small amount of carbon which showed us that the lubricating oil was doing a correct job. We also found that there was practically no wear on any part of the motor.
I am convinced there is no economy in buying bargain oils. Phillips motor and tractor oils meet my demands and I have never found as complete satisfaction in any other oils.
Yours very truly,

Dear Sirs:
I have obtained complete satisfaction from the use of Phillips motor oils and Phillips 66. Before using them, my oil was costing me much more money. Now I am getting exactly as good service from Phillips oils and will continue to use them in both my tractors and my automobiles.
Your service is excellent.

Women's Clubs Ask Children Be Barred From Court Cases

TYLER, Texas.—District and county judges were called on by resolution of the third district convention of Woman's Clubs, in its closing session here today, to exclude all children under 16 years old from trials in which salacious testimony was introduced.

The resolution "deplored the fact that children of all ages are now permitted to be present at murder, rape, divorce and other trials where intimate and vulgar details are introduced into evidence," and believed "that a degrading influence defiles the purity of the American home."

REV. J. MAT HARDER WRITES OPEN LETTER TO BAPTISTS

To the Baptist Brotherhood and Friends of Sudan:

I desire to express my deep appreciation and love for your good fellowship and kindness during my five months as pastor. You have responded with cheerfulness to my every request and call. With perfect harmony we have worked together.

Now you have a pastor's home, and must have a pastor on the field for full time, as I see it. There is a splendid outlook for Sudan Baptist Church and the growing little city of Sudan. It is with deepest regrets that I can not serve you longer as pastor. The little church at home pulls on my heart strings in such a way that I can not leave them. This is my only reason for resigning Sudan Baptist Church.

I desire to say with frankness that the Sudan Baptist Church appeals to my heart from every angle. Yours is the kind of field I enjoy to work in. I am expecting good things of you in all the coming days.

J. MAT HARDER.

A Hard Ending

The man who keeps expenses down,
Saves for the future, uses judgment sound;
While the man who spends everything he makes Uses judgment poor, many chances takes.
But many people, it is sad to say,
Have let their time for saving pass away.
It is now too late to make amends,
They must live on charity or on friends.
The First National Bank has much to show
That he who saves escapes much woe.
