SUDAN WILL CELEBRATE FOURTH OF JULY

July 4, 5 and 6. Rodeo and Old Settlers' Picnic. Many Carnival Features. Something Doing All 3 Days

Under the auspices of the Sudan Firemen and the Sudan Band Boys, this section will be treated to one of the most rousing celebrations of the Glorious Fourth ever staged on the Panhandle.

On July Fourth there will open in Sudan the well known Rodeo of Texas Slim and Ray Fowler's Combined Shows. This aggregation is well and favorably known throughout the West, and carries a line of attractions second to none on the road. There will be something doing all the time, and you need not spend a dull hour from the opening of the program on the Fourth to the following Saturday night.

Sudan's fire ladders are purely a volunteer organization, as are also the members of the Sudan Band. Both groups have contributed liberally and loyally to the safety and enjoyment of the populace, and are now asking that the citizens of the town and surrounding territory turn out during these three days and lend the encouragement of their presence to the attractions they have secured.

Besides the rodeo, there will be the Old Settlers' Picnic, with a grand old time barbecue in connection. There will be ball games and many other attractions.

Watch for further notices in The Sudan News from week to week.

Debenture Plan Will Be Killed

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Administration leaders expressed the opinion today that the senate will uphold a prospective recommendation of the farm relief conference committee to eliminate the export debenture plan from the farm bill expected to be presented to both branches of congress next week for final approval. A careful check of the senate membership was held to have shown that three or four senators who voted for the debenture plan last month have decided to support the conference report recommending its elimination. The theory that farm legislation would be greatly delayed if the controversy over this proposal is further prolonged.

Beacon Light Is Built at Canadian

CANADIAN, June 2.—A huge revolving beacon has been installed on the 50-foot tower at the T. A. T. emergency landing field, three miles east of Canadian. Men are working installing an electric plant in a small building just completed at the foot of the tower.

There has not been any official word received as to when the trans-continental route through here will be started, but it is believed it will be about June 15, or as soon thereafter as possible.

MISTAKEN REPORT CORRECTED.

The News is informed by Marshal Cooper, that the report to the effect that he purposed resigning from the city police force and would leave Sudan, was entirely an error. The Marshal says he came to Sudan to make his home, and expects to stay here. The slight misunderstanding in the city government has been amicably reconciled, he stated and affairs will continue as heretofore.

Marshal Cooper has made a good public servant, and his friends will be glad to know his connection with the city police department is to continue.

LUBBOCK.—What is thought to be the first Purebred Hampshire Gilt club ever to be organized among the 4-H boys farm clubs in the state of Texas is that recently organized in Lubbock county by the Lubbock Kiwanis club, in cooperation with County Agricultural Agent D. F. Eaton.

AUSTIN.—W. A. Knox, convicted in Dallas for robbery with firearms of J. Lee Corcoran, must serve one year for each $80 cents he obtained in the alleged holdup. The court of criminal appeals affirmed the verdict carrying 25 years in the penitentiary. He took $20 from Corcoran.

BORGER.—Ten million bushels of wheat will be hauled out of the Panhandle this year by the new Amarillo-Liberal line of the Rock Island. H. E. Morrow, of the Borger-Morrow Grain company at Stinnett, estimates.

FORT WORTH.—Motorists convicted in corporation court of careless collision will be given maximum fines of $100 in future, Judge Cullen Bailey announced.

CAPONIZE YOUR COCKERELS.

At this time of the year comes the worry of what shall be done with surplus cockerels that will accumulate in the near future on the farms of Lamb county, and according to D. A. Adam, county agent, caponizing is the best way to dispose of them ready for the February market at a nice profit.

Capon is easy to handle, furnish a nice quality of meat, and sell as a general rule for a high price, and as much money can be made out of capons as can be made out of turkeys where the proper management is applied. It costs approximately $1.00 to buy cockerels, caponize, feed and market them, and for the past three years capons have been worth around 30 cents per pound. A number 1 capon should weigh 8 pounds, and at 30 cents a pound would be worth $2.40, wherein one has a nice profit. The biggest mistake that has been made during the past few years is that people have neglected putting their capons on a soft feed about the first of each year, thereby not having them ready for market in February.

LEADING FARMERS ENTER COW-TEST-BY-MAIL ASSN.

During the past month the county agent has spent some time in helping organize the Cow-Test-by-Mail Association being sponsored by the Extension Service, and so far Lamb county is in the lead as to representation. There is but one way to know what a cow is doing for you, and that is through accurate feed records, monthly averages, and butter fat test. Each farmer who is entering the association keeps accurate records as to feed, and is furnished by the association monthly milk averages, butter fat test, monthly butter fat production, and a yearly summary of the number of cows that are being tested. The cost of doing this work on each herd is a flat charge of $2.75 which takes care of the postage and minor details, and $1.00 per head for the butter fat test and monthly records.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS ENJOY TRAINING DAYS AT TECH.

On Monday and Tuesday, May 27 and 28, six 4-H club members of Lamb county attended the training days held for their benefit at the Technological college at Lubbock. According to D. A. Adam county agent, these good information that will be valuable to their judging work which is to be done at the A. & M. college shortly in July. Work in Poultry, Grain, Dairy and Beef Cattle judging was given the entire group. Several counties were represented and it was voted by the club members to repeat this each year in the future, being to get experts on each subject, better facilities to work with and a good time for each club boy.

Those attending from Lamb county were: Edwin Holland, Fieldton; Leslie Hobgood, Spring Lake; Aaron Craig, Spring Lake; Roscoe Barton, Spring Lake; Fred Randolph, Spring Lake; Forrest Weimhold, Sudan, and County Agent D. A. Adam. These boys are going back at the short course and try to bring the honor back to Lamb county.

CANYON.—Ex-students of the West Texas State Teachers college will meet for their annual banquet at Cousins Hall, May 29. The class of 1927 under the leadership of its president, superintendent-elect Irbly Caruth of Canyon, will be in charge of the program.

RANGER.—Two tank cars filled with naphtha ignited from friction as efforts were being made to clear the track after they had derailed and the flames and smoke created a spectacular scene Friday afternoon.

Woman Drowns in Lake at Canyon

CANYON, June 2.—Mrs. W. A. Dyer, 1019 Parker street, Amarillo, drowned in McFadden lake near here late today, and W. V. Westfall, also of Amarillo narrowly escaped drowning when he attempted to rescue her. Mrs. Dyer had been fishing in the lake and had started to wade across it when she got beyond her depth. Her husband, a floorsander in Amarillo was on the opposite side of the bank and when he saw she was in deep water, shouted to her to go back, but she told him she was going to swim across.

Westfall and several other men saw the woman struggling in the water and S. D. Turner, Jr., of this place, brought a horse which Westfall rode into the water. He attempted to pull Mrs. Dyer onto the horse with him, but in her struggling she pulled him from the horse.

Glen Griffin and G. C. Carter then threw him a rope which he fastened about Mrs. Dyer and she was pulled ashore.

Attempts to resuscitate her, after she had been brought to the shore, were futile.

Mrs. Dyer was 35 years old and is survived, besides her husband by a 7-year-old daughter and her father, C. W. Word of San Antonio.

Milk Test at Tech. Now Being Made

LUBBOCK, June 2.—The first shipment of milk samples to be tested by the newly organized West Texas By Mail Cow Testing association arrived recently at the laboratory of the Texas Technological college. Now K. R. Renner, head of the Dairy Products and Manufacturing Department of the college, in charge of the work, is busy testing the samples that are coming.

J. T. Cockrell of Moran, Texas, in Shackelford county, about 250 miles southeast of Lubbock was the first to send in milk to be tested. His package contained samples of nine cows he has on test.

Twelve present members of the association have approximately 100 cows and additional members are being admitted to the association every day.

Beats the Gold Brick Game by a Block

TEMPLE, Texas, June 1.—Eye medicine at $50 a drop comes pretty high, but that is what a Bell county farmer alleges that he paid a man who posed as an eye specialist here recently. The "eye specialist" was arrested. At the same time, the farmer said that he had bought an electric belt from a companion of the man under arrest which was purported to be a radium belt. He said that he paid $500 down on the belt after bargaining with the man for a reduction on its price from $4,000 to $1,000. He got the belt and when the man failed to call around for the remaining $500 due on it, he became suspicious, he said. Examination of the belt revealed its worth as about $250. The "radium" purveyor was being sought by North Texas officers at last report.

Last Year's Cotton Crop Figures Given

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Final ginnings of the Texas cotton crop during the past season, according to the United States Department of Commerce, was 4,941,545 running bales, of 5,109,939 equivalent 500 pound bales, linters not included and counting round bales as half bales. The crop for the United States was placed at 14,296,549 running bales, and 14,477,874 equivalent 500 pound bales.

Dairying, Poultry Paying Farm Bills

BIG SPRING, May 31.—T. E. Satterwhite, one of Howard county's most progressive and successful farmers, makes dairying and poultry pay the living expenses and has 200 acres in cotton and 100 acres in feed for "velvet." During April he sold $80 worth of eggs and from 30 to 35 pounds of butter per week. This produce was sold on local markets. Satterwhite milks six cows and keeps 250 white Leghorn hens.

LOCKNEY.—Wheat harvesting preparations in this section are now in full swing as the farmers believe that the harvest will begin about 15 days earlier than usual. Ideal wheat growing conditions have prevailed since the advent of a generous supply of rainfall.

AMARILLO.—Mrs. Levi P. Stallworth and her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. M. Stallworth were released on $15,000 and $10,000 bond, respectively, here Friday. The women were indicted for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Grace Morrison, Plainview, in front of a hotel here, May 13. Mrs. E. M. Stallworth is an accomplice.

Will Rogers "Breezes" To the West

AMARILLO, June 2.—Will Rogers, noted humorist, stage and screen star was a guest of Amarillo last night.

Arriving here late yesterday afternoon aboard a Transcontinental Air Transport plane on his way to Los Angeles, Rogers hurried to the Herring hotel where he wrote his daily letter, featured by scores of newspapers, and afterward gave an interview.

He was a guest on the flight of J. E. Magee, general manager of the T. A. T. company, who with a company of other aviation officials, was on a tour of inspection of the company's transcontinental rail and air route.

The plane, a tri-motored Ford all metal monoplane with a capacity of ten passengers and two pilots, left Indianapolis this morning stopping en route to Amarillo at St. Louis and Wichita. It was to leave early this morning for Los Angeles.

Rogers is an aviation enthusiast. While this is his first westward transcontinental flight, he has made several eastward flights across the country, he said. He uses airplane transportation extensively in California.

Lindbergh and Anne Are Quietly Married

ELMWOOD, N. J., May 27.—Ambassador and Dwight W. Morrow announced the marriage Monday of their daughter, Anne, to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The announcement said simply: "Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow announce the marriage of their daughter Anne to Charles A. Lindbergh at Englewood, N. J., May 27, 1929."

No details were given the reply to questions in every case being "That is all."

News of the wedding came as a complete surprise. No advance announcement of the date had been made, although there had been many newspaper guesses, most of which favored mid-June.

Apparently the "Lone Eagle" dodged the best efforts of the army of observers, for from no source during the day came anything indicating that he had arrived at the home or that there were any preparations for a ceremony.

FRIENDSHIP

STINNETT.—With more than 150,000 bushels of wheat already shipped out since the new Rock Island line between Amarillo and Liberal was completed into Gruver, farmers around that town are still holding between 50,000 and 75,000 bushels of wheat.

Texas Floods Are Fast Subsiding

HOUSTON, June 1.—While the waters of Houston's most disastrous flood in the last quarter of a century continued to recede tonight, crests of about a half dozen streams in South Texas moved slowly forward, inundating additional thousands of acres.

Buffalo bayou was fast draining off the watersheds above Houston and was expected to be back within its banks here before dawn.

As water rolled back from homes, business houses, streets and bridges, Houston residents began counting the losses which were estimated to run into the millions.

Danger of a serious conflagration here persisted tonight. Water pressure was increasing but it was still far below normal and it was expected to be several days before the inundated central pumping plant could be started again.

Most of the transportation facilities, paralyzed by the raging waters, were back in use, and traffic was moving over many of the bridges which had been covered with water.

Lamb County Has Full Road Equipment

The News is informed by County Judge S. D. Hay that Lamb county is now fully supplied with the most up-to-date road building machinery available.

Lamb county roads are divided into four districts, each comprising one-fourth of the county's area, and each district in charge of its commissioner. Heretofore, from lack of equipment, it was necessary to shift machinery from one district to another as needed, frequently causing delay in work that was urgently needed.

Recently the commissioners court has remedied this, and now each commissioner has his full equipment of road machinery consisting of a "Best 60" crawler tractor, with all other necessary implements for road building.

This was a commendable move on the part of our commissioners, and will serve to greatly expedite the work of road building and repairing in Lamb county.

Use of Mulch Paper Boon to Farmers

MIDLAND, May 31.—English peas grown by Noah Kinnemore, Midland gardener, under mulch paper are producing at the rate of $750 an acre. The demand for the peas is so great that Kinnemore does not attempt to market them through the groceries, he sells the entire supply to consumers who drive to his truck patch for them.

The Midland gardener is producing strawberries and dewberries which are paying him at the rate of about $500 per acre. He will grow sweet potatoes under mulch paper this year, and next year will raise other vegetables by this method. Kinnemore says this method of growing has increased his yield at least 100 per cent.

He has been cultivating one patch of land constantly for eight years, and makes a good living from less than two acres. He is a thorough convert to mulch paper growing. Due to a lack of excessive rainfall, the mulch paper, Kinnemore says, can be used for two or three years. He estimates about $50 worth of paper will be required for an acre, and this, he estimates, will make a crop of $350 worth of English peas. Kinnemore believes mulch paper will revolutionize truck growing in this part of West Texas. The paper's main benefit, he says, is that it keeps an even temperature in the soil. Other benefits are conservation of moisture, protection from weeds and protection of tender vegetation from the hot, blistering winds.

MEETING OF W. M. U.

The W. M. U. met Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. A. Long for Bible study, on the subject of "None Other." The lesson was ably led by Mrs. J. O. Covington and was enjoyed by several members present.

Next Monday at 2:30 p. m. we will meet with Mrs. A. C. Findley for Bible study. Each and every member is most cordially urged to come. We need you in our work for the Lord.

Coyotes Run From One Wearing Bell

TUCUMCARI, N. M., June 1.—J. F. "Mun" Montgomery of Tucumcari has discovered that coyotes have no use for a brother coyote when that brother wears a bell.

"Uncle Mun" who hunts fishes, and traps coyotes for pleasure caught a coyote recently, put a sheep bell on him and turned him loose instead of taking the pelt.

"Just wanted to see what would happen," Uncle Mun said.

A Tucumcari newspaper published a story that the belled coyote had been turned loose and asked ranchers to report if they saw him.

The strangest story came from Mose Fisher about two weeks after the coyote had been turned loose. He said he saw two coyotes crossing his pasture apparently fleeing from a third coyote which ran some distance behind the first two with a sheep bell clanging from a cord around his neck.

He said it was quite evident that the two coyotes shunned the one wearing the bell. The Mose Fisher ranch is about forty miles from the Pace sheep ranch where the coyote was turned loose.

Letters came to Montgomery from several ranchers in this section who reported that they had seen the belled coyote.

The story ended Sunday when a letter was received from Buster Shott of Norton saying that he had killed the coyote. He said the coyote had seemed unusually tame and that he would not have killed it had he known it was the "belled coyote."

Moody Enforces Law Against Prize Fights

AUSTIN, June 1.—Although he approves of boxing itself and admitted that he had participated in friendly matches in the past, Governor Moody Saturday administered the "K. O." to all boxing matches in Texas where championship, prize money or admission fee are involved. He declared he is planning no campaign, but that whenever he hears of a sparring match about to be pulled off he will have state rangers put a stop to the proceedings, as was done in Dallas Friday night, and which has resulted in cancellation of a bout in Fort Worth.

"What called the matter to my attention," he said, "is the fact that many professional pugers are being imported here for prize fights, and it is plainly in violation of the law. I was informed the American Legion at Fort Worth was anxious to stage a match and stood to make some money from it. But I reminded the organization that it first stood for enforcement of the law, and its sponsors agreed with me."

Band Reorganized, New Director Elected

At a recent meeting of the Sudan Band Mr. Durwood Crain was elected director to succeed C. R. Lam, resigned.

Mr. Crain is a finished band man, and some years ago directed the band for Sudan. Under his direction the organization was brought to a high state of efficiency. He has the confidence of not only the band members, but the entire community as well, and The News predicts a rapid improvement in the organization.

The band is joint sponsor with the city firemen for the scheduled celebration on July Fourth, and it is hoped and expected that the entire community will get behind the boys and push their project to a huge success.

Notice, Odd Fellows.

Sudan Lodge No. 154 has rented the Higginbotham old office building and meetings will be held there in the future. Littlefield will meet with us Thursday night of this week, June 6, and a full attendance is desired.

LADIES OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST BIBLE STUDY.

We had eight members present at Mrs. Cooper's Tuesday. Our lessons have been rather difficult but interesting. Our next lesson will be a continued study of the Wilderness Wanderings, scripture covered, Num. 11 to 18.

We meet with Mrs. A. G. Wilkerson next Tuesday.

We would like for all members to be present at our next meeting.

"BOOST OR MOVE."

SHORT MONEY.

Word from Washington is to the effect that Uncle Sam's new smaller paper money will soon be in circulation. The new bills will be distinguishable mainly by their size. They are only two-thirds as large as the present paper money.

Short money has been a common everyday thing with us for some time past, and we know two or three other fellows who are in the same fix, judging from the length of time their accounts have been on our books. If you ask us, we would prefer easy money to short money any time. Of course, the smaller currency will save time in meeting expenses inasmuch as it can be counted out a little faster.

RULES OF LONGEVITY.

Some people live by following the rules of dietetics, others in spite of them. Out of it all comes the growing belief of medical men that some are born to live long, barring accidents or marked excess. Others, with not so large a cash balance of years in their youth, may greatly extend their account by judicious eating and adhering to rules of health. Usually long life in the few merely proves in inherent quality of resistance not possessed by the many.

REGULAR FELLOW.

President Hoover is going to be popular because he is just like the balance of us—human. He is an outdoors man, loves the simple life and never quite so happy as when in the woods. The president spent a recent week-end fishing, and stayed away from the White House all night. He slept out of doors and waded in the creek and caught some little trout. On Sunday morning he went to Sunday school at a rural church. His picture has not yet appeared in cowboy chaps and broad-brimmed hat. Although you may not agree with him politically or some of his policies, yet he has all the signs of being a regular fellow.

OPERA OR FARM.

Marion Talley insists that she is going to desert grand opera for the farm. She will probably be one of those front porch and easy rocking chair farmers one hears so much about. And it is casually admitted on the side that she has a nice three-year contract to warble records for a phonograph company. It was suspected that there was something between the corn rows.

EASY MONEY.

Hard work, of course, is the road to success, but it never led any one to money in the stock market.

A little expenditure of time and money on your lawn and garden at this time of the year adds to the value of your property. It also helps the whole town to put its best foot forward.

Now for the next three or four weeks we'll be reading and hearing a lot about the beautiful June brides. Why not vary it with a few dissertations on the handsome June grooms?

THE TARIFF AND THE FARMER.

During the presidential campaign of last fall, one of the measures for farm relief held out as bait to catch farmers' votes was a higher tariff on farm products. At this session of congress, the tariff question is in the foreground, and it remains to be seen just what farmers get out of it.

According to our way of thinking, farmers are quite likely to "get it in the neck" unless their friends are constantly on the watch to safeguard their interests. One or two major reasons for calling this special session of congress was to give farmers tariff protection. But as soon as the large industries heard that the tariff was to be considered, they flocked to Washington with demands for higher tariff rates on their own products and protests against duties on articles purchased by them. More than 1,200 of these people have appeared before the Ways and Means committee for the purpose of influencing tariff adjustments to their own benefit.

Even though industrial products are already protected on the average to the extent of 42 per cent of their value, while farm products average only 22 per cent, the industrial group is asking for higher rates. As Wallace's Farmer very pertinently asks, "What will be the benefit to agriculture if the 20 per cent duties on farm products, most of them largely non-effective, are raised to 30 cents, while the 40 per cent duties on industrial products are shot up to 60 per cent?"

At its best, the tariff is a delusion and a snare as far as benefiting the large body of farmers of this country is concerned. But it will become even more a delusion and a snare if, along with an increase in rates on agricultural products, there is to be an equally great increase in industrial rates. As a matter of fact, the farmers of the country have a mighty slim chance of ever catching up with the large industries in tariff protection. The average protection on farm products is 22 per cent, but it is only about half effective because prices of our most important agricultural products are fixed in world markets which are beyond the influence of our tariff. On the other hand, tariffs on industrial commodities can be and are made effective.

If it is true that the tariff on farm products is half effective, then the net protection at present amounts to about 10 per cent, as compared to about 40 per cent for industrial products. In other words, the ratio is four to one against agriculture. Let congress increase agricultural protection to 30 per cent; the net protection is then about 15 per cent. Now, if industry is given 60 per cent protection, agriculture is just where it started before, and it has not gained an inch in this tariff race. The ratio is still four to one in favor of industry.

If agriculture is ever to gain in this race for tariff protection, rates on industrial products must either be held where they are, or lowered, while agricultural rates must be materially increased. It is too much to expect any lowering of rates on industrial products, but certainly they should not be increased.

All this talk of helping agriculture by increasing its tariff protection, when simmered down simply means that an attempt will be made to help classes of farmers. It does not mean that all farmers are to be benefited. Our cotton farmers—in other words, the majority of the readers of The Progressive Farmer—are certain to lose by any changes in the tariff that will be made at this present session of congress. The only possible way the price of the cotton farmers' products can be helped by tariff protection is by means of a tariff on vegetable oils. That might increase the price of cotton seed, although there is considerable doubt about that. On the other hand, it should be kept in mind that farmers are consumers, as well as producers. Cotton farmers not only use industrial products, but also farm products. More protection for either farm or industrial products means that cotton farmers must pay more for these products. Cotton farmers are in the unenviable position of having little, if anything, to gain from the tariff and everything to lose.

The protective tariff was conceived in the selfish desire of certain classes to obtain an advantage over the other fellow. Certainly one man is as much entitled to tariff protection and to the same degree of protection as another. But if everyone is protected alike, no one has the advantage. Those who are now guarded by the protective wall of the tariff will not willingly give equal protection to those less fortunate. When they do, they lose their advantage. Industry will not share its favored place in the sun with agriculture without a hard fight.

A protective tariff is a miserably selfish, unfair thing at the best. Now that it is interwoven with the business structure of this country, we must make the best of it. Protective tariff walls could not well be torn down without disrupting business conditions. So the only thing to do is to try to pass the favors around; to even up here and there. But how much better it would have been, if from the early days of the republic, the prime purpose of the tariff had been for revenue rather than the protection of the powerful few at the expense of a weak majority.—The Progressive Farmer.

GOOD RIDDANCE, ANYWAY.

Chicago's latest gang killing is much like all the others; equally shocking, equally brutal, equally ominous in its proof that gangland lives by a government all its own.

Yet there is a gleam of comfort in it. At the very worst, Chicago is rid of two of its most undesirable citizens. Scalsi and Anselmi, who were found shot to death in an abandoned auto at Hammond, Ind., were two men who should have been hanged years ago. In 1925 they killed two policemen in a running gun battle, but by means of clever lawyers managed to escape punishment. Scalsi, in addition, was indicted for the St. Valentine's day massacre, and Anselmi was believed to have had a part in the same job.

All in all, Chicago won't miss them greatly.—Amarillo News.

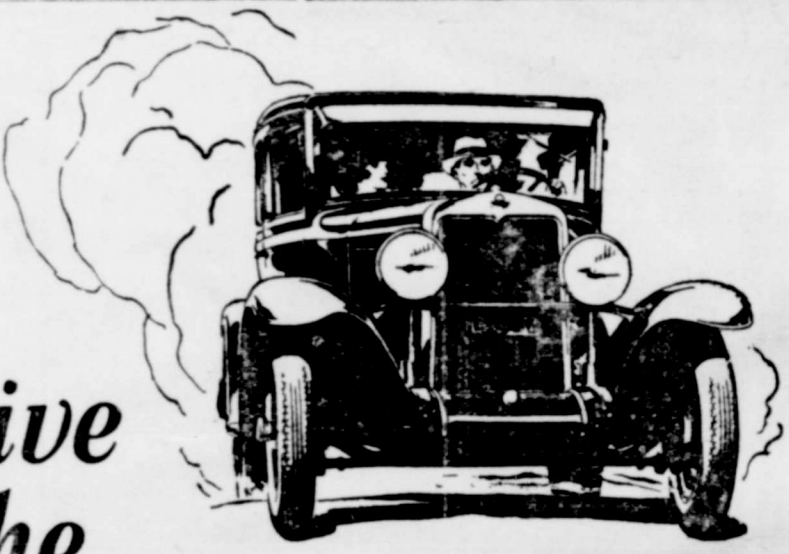

TEXARKANA.—Four bandits who robbed the Miller County Bank and Trust company, here of $29,536.23 in cash and securities were sought by strongly armed posses in two states tonight.

DALLAS.—The U. S. Department of Agriculture weather bureau reported in its weekly bulletin that excessive rains and low temperature have been unfavorable for cotton in most sections of the belt.

LUBBOCK.—E. Halley, Lubbock farmer, died in a local sanitarium last night following fatal burns received Monday afternoon when an explosion resulted from striking a match near his truck while he was getting gasoline for a motorist who had exhausted the supply in his car. His truck and barn were destroyed from the blaze.

LAMESA.—Dawson county and the lower South plains country were never in better agricultural condition, so state oldtimers here. Recent rains amounting to more than two inches over the section have placed the soil in tip top condition and prospects were never brighter for an abundant crop harvest here this fall.

SAN ANTONIO.—M. M. Ford, 22, and M. L. Witham, 45, oil gaugers for the Mid-Kansas Oil company, were overcome by gas at a tank in the Pecos County Yates field Tuesday night, it was learned here. Both men were dead when found.

J. W. HAMMOCK, Correspondent

Don't Expect Too Much.

(Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman)
Two of the planks in the Hoover platform for agriculture last year were a federal farm board to develop cooperative marketing and to handle surpluses, and a tariff law which would give the farmers enlarged protection against agricultural imports. Bills representing these two planks in the Hoover platform are in the house bill.

The federal farm board has already been described. There were, indeed, two bills, one in the house and the other in the senate. The chief differences between the two bills are (1) that the senate bill provides a federal farm board of 12 members, while the house bill has only six, and (2) that the export debenture plan so long advocated by the National Grange has been tacked on as an amendment to the senate bill, and does not appear in the house bill.

The debenture plan provides that any exporter of agricultural products shall receive from the government a note equal in value to one-half the tariff which is levied by the government on imports of that product. These government notes or debentures may then be sold by the exporter to any importer of any kind of goods and will be accepted by the government instead of cash in the payment of import duties.

The plan is a straight government subsidy, indirectly payable out of taxes. Its effect should be to raise level of surplus crops, but most of the argument in congress and elsewhere is as to how much of the value of the export debenture would ever get back to the farmer who grew the crop. Many people believe that nearly all of the value of the debenture would be absorbed in discounts and commissions and by the middleman and that not very much of it would ever be reflected in the price to the farmer.

As a matter of fact, the plan would never have gotten into the senate bill at all except by the votes of those senators who want to embarrass the administration and by the votes of other senators who wanted to create some trading stock in favor of pet bills of their own. The two measures have been passed by their respective houses and are now in the hands of conference committees. There the debenture plan will be stricken out. The house bill, largely as described in previous issues, will presently be passed and signed by the president.

The passage of the farm relief bill does not mean that prices are going to be at once raised on farm crops. It will take the new federal farm board many months to get well organized, to find out what it can do and what it cannot do under the law, to work out its relationships to the co-operative marketing associations, to develop plans for stabilization corporations and to get itself into shape where it can even begin to intelligently lend the government's money for the benefit of the farmer.

The job which the board is expected to do has never been done in the history of the world. An entirely new path must be blazed. An undiscovered economic country must be explored. The board will naturally move carefully.

Even when it does move its efforts will be nation-wide in scope and will probably never be noticed directly by the individual farmer on the farm. It may never be possible for a farmer to say, and prove, "I got more per bushel for this or that because of the federal farm board."

If the board succeeds in its operations over a period of years, all that the individual farmer will ever see will be a gradual lessening of the financial pressure against him. It will be made a little more easy for the farmer to pay for the things that he wants and he may find himself with a little more money in the bank than he used to have.

It is possible that no farmer will ever be able to trace such an improved condition to the federal farm board or to the operations of the farm relief law. The times will just be a little better for farmers.

If this relief bill is passed and properly managed, it should go a long way toward putting the farmers in a shape to help themselves. Of course there will be a lot of farmers who will not be pleased. Some are still of the opinion that they are selling their own surplus crops, and will tell any one that they are managing their own affairs, when the truth of the matter is, they are only allowed to decide what day the crop shall be sold, and to whom it may be delivered. They seem to look on the market price as something akin to the Almighty, or something that just happens anyway. The farmer though who is a member of a farm cooperative and honestly trying to market his crop by cooperating with his farmer friends will be greatly strengthened by any honest help.

There will be farmers and others who will say that they are trying to drive them into a farm organization, which statement will not be entirely true, but will just try to sell them on the idea that it will pay them to cooperate with farmers in growing and trying to market the same crops, instead of competing with each other. It will at least put the help in reach of the farmer who is trying to make the country a better place in which to live, by cooperating with his neighbors, and trying to do something that has never been done before. But the mere fact that a thing has never been done is not a sure reason that it can not be done.

There have been pioneers in everything worth while to blaze the trail, and all others who are glad to follow as soon as everything is proven to be good. So it will likely be with farm relief and the growth of farm cooperatives in the future.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

Mobeetie is growing a new town within the radius of the old since the new railroad has been secured. Lots were recently sold at a hitherto unheard of price. Plans are made and foundations are being laid for buildings which are to make the town a bigger and better place to live.

Memphis sold a lot of 98 Jerseys at auction last week. They were mentioned by W. A. Nash who lectured on the value and recent progress of dairying in the South Plains. A great number of the cattle were graded, some registered, and good producers.

Two Crosbyton people have no dread of droughts and short crops of cotton and wheat, for they have a good source of income from their chickens. Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Findley's flock of 300 chickens bring from $9 to $100 income each month. The Findleys say that the demand for poultry and poultry products continues to increase every day.

Denton's annual field day at the experiment station showed what progress was made in the experiments on wheat, oats, grain, sorghums, sweet clover alfalfa, peas and other legumes. Crop rotation and the value of good seed was given attention. Some pure bred sorghum seed was given to those present.

Lubbock's young Texas Tech Chamber of Commerce has for some of its objectives the molding of the traditions of the college while it is still young, welcoming visiting teams to the campus, cooperating with local civic clubs and the offering of a prize for a school song.

Clairmont, county seat of Kent county, wants a gin. It is 17 miles from the nearest cotton gin at this time, and offers a good location. Seven thousand acres are being planted to cotton now, with the acreage increasing each year.

Brownfield has 18 boys and girls 4-H clubs with a membership of 350. There are 150 in the pig club. The boys who were in the pig club last year are realizing $12.00 a head for their pigs. The poultry club members have secured pure bred chickens. Thirteen Jersey calves were shipped in for the dairy club members.

Muleshoe

(The Muleshoe Journal.)

Graduation exercises of the Muleshoe high school were held at the school auditorium last Friday evening in the presence of a large audience. Those who received diplomas were Hazel DeBord, Ila Mae Glasscock, Jerene Parsons and De'Mon Ragsdale.

The crowds are still attending the Trades Day events in Muleshoe each week. Last Saturday one of the largest crowds that have attended since the move was started was present to enjoy the free picture show and other features of the program.

Rain, varying from one-fourth to one-half inch, fell over this section Tuesday evening. The heaviest precipitation was north of Muleshoe some three or four miles where considerable hail accompanied the storm. No serious damage was done, however.

Mr. F. O. Boone and Miss Radie Williams were united in marriage at eleven o'clock Wednesday morning at the Methodist parsonage in Muleshoe, Rev. W. B. Hicks officiating.

Levelland

(Hockley County Herald.)

County Attorney Carl E. Ratliff Tuesday let the contract for the erection of a brick business house just north of the City Cleaners.

J. H. Pettit, county commissioner and rancher living about fifteen miles northwest of town, we are informed has traded his flour mill and elevator at Wellington for a ranch in Roosevelt county, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Stovall, of Fort Worth, arrived here Monday and have established a photographic studio in the old telephone building.

A terrific hail fell on a small area on the south part of the Slaughter ranch southwest of town, Friday afternoon of last week. While the stones were not unusually large they are reported to have covered the ground to a depth of several inches, killing small pigs, chickens and rabbits.

F. R. Lowe, a farmer living a few miles north of Levelland, brought five hens to town Wednesday for which he received a check for $9.29. The hens weighed eight pounds each.

Prof. T. V. Weaver, during the past year principal of the grammar schools at this place, was last week given the degree of Bachelor of Science by the Lubbock Technological College.

The local post of the American Legion received a shipment of relics of the great World War, Wednesday, which consisted of a German machine gun, eleven rifles, a helmet, cartridge box and two 6-inch shells, as well as a number of smaller articles.

Littlefield

(Lamb County Leader.)

Littlefield claims the distinction of having the largest lumber yard on the South Plains of Texas, 16 city lots being occupied by the business interests of the Higginbotham-Bartlett company.

That $21,929.65 has been paid out to the farmers of this section for poultry, eggs and cream by Littlefield dealers during the past 30 days, is the statement issued this week by the local Chamber of Commerce as a result of figures recently compiled.

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce office is now located in the Cooper building on Main street, occupying the room formerly held by the Walter Burleson store.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chitwood last week opened the Club Cafe in the Hopping building on the east side of Main street.

J. E. Barnes, who attended the annual meeting of the National Farm Loan association, held in Lubbock, reports that the association has to date loaned $247,000 to 109 farmers in this section.

That a loan of $75,000 will be granted the Littlefield College, was the statement made last Friday afternoon by President S. D. Decker of the Inter-state Fidelity Building & Loan Association, Salt Lake, Utah.
