HUGE CROWDS THROUG SUDAN TO CELEBRATE

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 4, 5 and 6, there was consummated in Sudan one of the most extensive celebrations of the Fourth ever attempted in the Panhandle. For a month prior to the event, the surrounding territory had been thoroughly covered with advertising matter, and when the morning of the Fourth dawned the people began pouring into Sudan until by the time the exercises opened the crowd was estimated at not less than 10,000 persons. Although there were celebrations at various points on the Plains, Sudan drew crowds from every direction.

The principal attractions were: The old settlers' picnic and free barbecue on the Fourth, which drew the old-timers from far and near, and was pronounced a complete success; the rodeo of Texas Slim, which gave two performances on each of the three days; the ball games each day between Sudan's crack nine and the teams of Littlefield, Amherst and Olton, respectively, on Thursday and Saturday; and the fireworks each night, which drew tens of thousands of people from all directions.

In view of the large crowds present, the order preserved was the main good. Of course at this, as at all large gatherings, more or less roughnecks were attracted who took the occasion to display their peculiar talents. But the officers present were equal to all emergencies, and nothing of a violent nature occurred to mar the carrying out of the program.

The celebration was under the auspices of the Sudan Band and the Sudan Fire Company. These organizations were tireless in their efforts to give a celebration that would be an occasion of enjoyment to all the people of the surrounding territory. Their efforts were crowned with success, and they should receive the praise and commendation of the entire community. Whether or not the boys have benefited financially will not be known until all matters have been checked up and the bills settled.

Beside financial results, Sudan has received a thorough advertising. Observant citizens from many localities were privileged to view the strides the city has made in recent years and to form a fairly good prophecy of her future achievements.

Elevators Overflow; Pile Wheat on Ground

TOPEKA, Kans., July 7.—More than 100 elevators, packed with grain awaiting transportation to market, were reported today in the winter wheat areas of Kansas, northern Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

The closed elevators reported to Governor Clyde M. Reed, chairman of the Trans-Missouri-Kansas Shippers Board, included 17 at the Rock Island and 37 at the Santa Fe. The 37 reported at the Santa Fe were in the western division, between Newton and Dodge City, Kans. All elevators were reported closed at 15 Santa Fe stations.

The two railroads now transporting a large share of the crop, reported much grain being dumped on the ground, partially due to a shortage of freight cars and inability of elevators to handle the fast flowing wheat to market.

Santa Fe traffic officials reported large supplies of empties being moved into the wheat belt in an effort to keep elevators open.

Rock Island loadings on the El Paso division yesterday were placed at 353 cars. A total of 626 cars were ordered for loading today in the division. Empty cars were reported en route from El Paso, and officials of the railroad are expected to relieve the congested situation within the next few days.

Two Murdered by Dry Agents

TECUMSEH, Okla., July 7.—While funeral services were held at a rural church near here today for James Harris, 34, and Oscar Lowery, 34, victims of a liquor raid shooting Thursday, W. W. (Snake) Thomason, federal prohibition agent, and three men accompanying him at the time of the shooting remained in jail under guard.

County Attorney Randal Pitman meanwhile continued his investigation of the slaying of the two men, which he has declared was "brutal murder." Thomason and the three men working with him, Jeff D. Harris, Tom Little and John D. Williams said to have been deputized by the prohibition officer, will be given preliminary hearings here Tuesday.

James Harris and Lowery were brothers-in-law and neighboring farmers. Both were overseas veterans of the World war and were accorded military funeral rites by the Shawnee American Legion Post, which has gone on record by resolution as urging "the fullest prosecution possible of those responsible for the deaths."

Bill for Dormitories at Texas Tech. Passed

The legislature in the closing hours of the last extra session, passed the bill authorizing dormitories erected at Texas Technological College, and the same was signed by Governor Needy.

The directors of the institution will now be allowed to pledge rent revenues over a period of approximately 20 years, to liquidate debts of the buildings which will be constructed by an investment company.

The building of these dormitories will be independent of the college's expansion program. A great and obvious need of the college will be filled through the provision of dormitories, it has been pointed out. There are now approximately 390 male students of the college living in homes in the city and the number of women in homes will almost equal those figures.

Earthquake Shakes Los Angeles, Calif.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 8.—A strong earth movement of several seconds duration shook Los Angeles and suburbs within a radius of 30 miles at 8:45 a. m., today, injuring four persons at Santa Fe Springs, oil town, and doing property damage estimated at $50,000 at Fort Whittier.

Although large buildings in Los Angeles swayed several inches and the tower of the city hall was reported to have moved back and forth some twelve inches, no damage was done here.

Coast line communities including Long Beach, Hermosa Beach and Santa Monica felt the tremor more than did the inland towns of Pasadena and Glendale.

The epicenter of the tremor appeared to be in Santa Fe Springs. Those injured there were two children, caught under a washing machine overturned by the shock, and two oil workers struck by objects falling from derricks.

Two flowing oil wells were stopped. The tremor was an undulating north and south movement, causing chandeliers in some buildings to sway like pendulums, rattling windows and moving small objects, but causing no damage.

A second tremor of less intensity was felt an hour later at 9:45 o'clock.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, July 4, 5 and 6, on the occasion of the celebration of the Fourth put on by Sudan, the local baseball nine hung up a record to be proud of.

On Thursday the team went up against the Littlefield nine and scored a victory over that team of 9 to 7.

When it is noted that not long since the Littlefield team defeated a crack Lubbock team, the victory of the Sudan boys stands out most significantly.

On Friday, in a battle with Olton, our boys hung up another winning score, 7 to 6.

Saturday's game with Amherst resulted in that club also going down in defeat before the home club with a count of 9 to 3 in favor of Sudan.

It is not every club that can boast of a series of three straight victories over as many different clubs, and if our boys were slightly elated over the result, and inclined to ask favorable notice of the public, no one could blame them.

The fact is that, although our boys have made no big squawk as to their ability on the diamond, they have all spring been delivering some real ball, and neighboring clubs have come out to realize that their work is cut out for them when they propose going up against Sudan.

In all the games played on the home diamond, Sudan has lost only one game.

TOO MUCH POLICY IS SOMETIMES BAD AS NONE

There are people in the world that will make no independent move for anything for the good of the town or community before scanning the horizon to see just how the land is going to lay after having had their say. This is true of many such spots, in fact, for too much policy will sometimes hurt one the confidence of neighbors, friends and business associates. For they lose confidence in their independence, not to say some one must have a hand in them, and have their say out.

The world would be the last to advocate making it so quick without giving every a people question due consideration, for one can easily and needlessly lose one's business, but to mitter with a business one may be engaged in, he has a perfect right to his individual opinion. At the same time, he may state that it may not be the best which he connects, but that his or her own private opinion, and all public men should leave no doubt in the minds of anyone just where they stand on anything governing the betterment or advancement of the city or community in which they live and have their advantage. No reasonable person will require that a semi-public man keep his mouth tightly closed concerning questions of moment in the community which he lives. For instance, when a banker in a city not far removed from Brownfield who has just taken a stand for every business man in his city, but he takes a leading part in putting them over, he is one of the most popular men and bankers on the South Plains, and his bank has grown to a very forward move his city.

There may be times when pussy-footing pays. As Jeff says, there may be a time to use discretion, but usually these times are when some political move is up that does the community good one way or the other, and when one hot word usually brings another, and the more said the better become the factions on each side of the question. As stated above, when the whole thing is summed up, it amounts to nothing, it brings no happiness, no health, no wealth, but just plain old bitter at the end of the community.

But when a question comes up like an educational one, a moral one, a sanitary one, no business man should hide behind the broom handle in his office. The people of the community expect men of this type to come squarely in plain, but reasonable language, and tell just when they stand at why.

A business man of this city visited us this week and said that when his business came such that he had no opinion of his own concerning the advancement of the city and county, or if he had one, was afraid to express it, he would part company with his business and move to the far west, where men are men. We voted with him, too, and added that if the world ever became so caricatured as to find us expressing our own opinion, we would forthwith move to the far west and get a job grubbing for a living.

Handle Coal For Summer Customers

Foxworth-Galbreath, in addition to their extensive lumber interests, have arranged to carry a well-selected supply of coal for the accommodation of summer customers. Prior to this move on the part of this public spirited firm, much difficulty had been experienced by those needing coal, in securing same, it being necessary at times to send to other towns for supplies. Henceforth, all orders for coal will be supplied promptly by Foxworth-Galbreath.

CAPE G. T. COOPER RESIGNS AS MARSHAL

A few words to the public:

On account of the financial condition of the city, not having sufficient funds to maintain the marshal's office, I have resigned.

Now I want to thank the mayor and city commissioners and many others for their friendship and cooperation while I have been serving as their city marshal. Our association has been very pleasant. It is true that it is very hard for any official to serve the public without making some mistakes or without being criticized. I have handled large towns and small ones. I have always tried to use good judgment and do my duty and work for the best interest of the people and the upbuilding of the community. I sever my connection with the city with no malice or ill feeling towards any one.

Respectfully,
G. T. COOPER.

Immigration From Mexico Reduced

WASHINGTON.—A more rigid application of the immigration regulations was said by Representative Box of Texas to have cut the number of entrants from Mexico within the last few months to half the number for the same months last year.

This, he added, coupled with the enforcement of the new deportation law, had given rise to the belief among many of the residents of southwestern states that his bill to apply the quota restrictions to Mexico had been passed.

The Texas member, ranking democrat on the house immigration committee, said he intended to re-introduce his bill to enforce the quota provisions upon Mexico.

President—Reba Jenkins.
Vice-President—Aubrey Holt.
Secretary—Faye Guinn.
Sparrow Era Agent—Minnie Belle White.

Supt. of 1st Dept.—Kathleen Lam.
Supt. of 3rd Dept.—Delma Yonkum.
Supt. of 4th Dept.—Virginia Lumpkin.

An invitation is extended to all young people to meet with the League each Sunday evening at 7:30.

WHAT WILL THE HARVEST BE?

(The Southwest Plainman.)

Congress has adjourned. All kinds of things have been said—and proved—both for and against the farm relief measure. A half billion dollars has been provided for the experiment of stabilizing the farmer's price by government intervention through "stabilization corporations" owned by the farmers. It is to be noted that the bill, if effective, will secure nothing more than stable prices, which isn't at all the same thing as the equalization of agricultural prices with those of industry. Moreover, many workers in the cause of farm relief are disposed to think that the new tariff schedules which might have been a powerful factor in bringing about equality with industry, have but served to perpetuate the inequality. To be sure, certain agricultural products have been given higher rates, but there has been a general upward revision which leaves agriculture no better off than it was before. There has been much hue and cry about the tendency to bureaucratic government but this bill creates the most gigantic bureau yet called into existence. Once created, it will be extremely difficult if not impossible to get rid of, in case it doesn't function as expected. While the government will avoid direct responsibility wherever possible, it is prepared to sustain absolute losses in its backing of the farmer-owned stabilization corporations. Although in his campaign speeches, Mr. Hoover spoke grandiloquently about the insignificance of "several hundred millions" taken from the public treasury for the benefit of the farmers, a half billion dollars is an enormous amount of money. Whether or not the benefits which will accrue to the farmers from the expenditure of this huge sum will amount to anything or nothing is altogether problematical. The fact remains that Mr. Hoover and his party find themselves in a dilemma by reason of the fact that they do not dare to take the obvious route in dealing with the matter by stripping industry of the special privileges and favoritism with which it has been surrounded. Instead, it is proposed to coddle agriculture a while and build up for it another sort of protection which will be satisfactory to the farmer. Possibly it can be done, but it's going to be something of a feat to interfere with trade in a way that will be satisfactory to both the farmer and the processor of his raw products.

July With the Poultry

The heat of July is as severe on bird and beast as on man. It is fully as badly as the cold of winter. Don't overlook this fact when considering the poultry flock and their comfort. We mortals can strip down to pants, shirt and shoes when the heat becomes too severe. But your chickens must suffer in their heavy coat of feathers—unless you are thoughtful enough to furnish plenty of shade and good airy quarters. Do this, and they will prove their gratitude in the only way possible—by giving you ample returns on your money and time invested.

While you are skimming along the road in your automobile do you take thought to the fact that every movement of the machine is governed by the laws of mechanics. Not the workings of a single feature is left to chance. The laws of mechanics govern it all. When you study your poultry flock, do you recognize the same working of inviolate law? If not, you have missed one of the most vital facts in the poultry industry. The hen is purely a machine. When all parts are working in harmony, health and strength and vitality are the sure result. When one single function fails, disaster is sure and certain unless relief is given. Study your fowl. See that perfect health is maintained at all times. And remember that the chicken is governed in its actions purely by instinct. It cannot reason from cause to effect. It does not know that filthy quarters and poor or inadequate food are fatal. Keep all quarters clean and feed plenty of pure, nourishing food.

Don't look too closely at the money invested when you scan your flock. Remember that it is an investment, and is constantly growing dollars for you. You paid for those pullets possibly fifteen cents each. Now, after three months old they are worth several times that amount. But that feed, every day. Every pound of them PLENTY, will return more than its cost in good solid chicken. DON'T feed. You lose money when you do this. You are putting on now, and in the future, the growth it should have nothing but a por stunted fowl that will pay Feed, and FEED.

And watch carefully for signs of illness. Take it from one who knows, nine-tenths of the ills of poultry start from worms. Upon the first appearance of sluggishness, when the fowl begins to lose pep, the comb begins to bleach and the appetite flags, go after the worms, and go after them right away. Keep after them until the appetite returns and the fowl returns to its old buoyant self. Worms lower the whole vitality of the fowl, and leave it an easy prey to diseases that otherwise it could resist.

Attention to these four points will be amply rewarded. But neglect will surely cause you to pay a heavy penalty. Better to be careful now than sorry later on.

THE WILD ROSE.

In a mild sort of national contest for naming of a national flower, the wild rose has triumphed by more than two to one over its nearest rival, the columbine. The rose's victory is not surprising. There have been few desirable things in life that have not been symbolized by the rose. It develops that only three states have adopted any sort of rose as a state flower. Several states use their own prideful products.

BOW WOW.

A dispute over the ownership of a dog is engaging the attention of a New York court, and the plaintiff says he will prove the pup is his by having it smoke a pipe, a trick which he taught it. When he proves it, the court should have no hesitation in ruling that the dog deserves a better owner, and turn it over to the other party to the dispute.

JUST AS HARD TO GET.

It is going to be just as hard for the average person to keep imprisoned in his purse the new bills when they make their appearance July 10, even if they are smaller and do not take up so much room. The size of the new bills will not add to the size of the family bank roll any easier than the old ones and will be just as hard to get.

WORTH-WHILE EDITORIALS

WHERE WILL IT END?

(The Southwest Plansman.)

Texas taxpayers are faced with the pleasing prospect of having their taxes raised to the constitutional limit in order to meet the appropriations that are said to be necessary to pay the way of the state government for another biennial. Also, it now seems a foregone conclusion that a third session is inevitable. (This session is now convened.) Proponents of the 4 cent gas tax and the 50 per cent reduction in motor licenses kept the senate in session until one o'clock last Sunday morning, and it was necessary to call in the assistance of the police to round up opponents who sneaked out in the hope of stopping business through lack of a quorum. The Robison investigation has consumed considerable valuable time and has ended in the exonerated of the land commissioner. Without doubt the charges were preferred by political enemies, possibly with an eye to the per diem involved. The real business men among the legislators are becoming exceedingly restless and more or less disgusted with the proceedings. Their private business enterprises need their attention and they are kept in the sweltering capital to haggle over inconsequential details which delay the matters demanding attention. It is said that the present body has accomplished less of importance to the welfare of the people than any of its predecessors and it is piling up costs which bid fair to be stupendous—certainly out of all proportion to the benefits achieved. The cost of government in Texas has increased approximately 300 per cent in the past 20 years—much more than property values have increased—and now that we have arrived at the point where it is necessary to collect the constitutional limit in the way of taxes, thinking people are disposed to wonder what the future will bring forth. In the interests of self preservation might it not be well to get rid of the lawyers and professional policies without regard to party spoils and favoritism men to look after the state's business? Men who will not be afraid to rid the government of the grafters and hangers-on and will institute business politicians and send a bunch of hard-headed business men?

NEBRASKA RADES A "3-IN-ONE" COW.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 28.—Nebraska has a "3-in-one" cow. She is not a freak, but the University of Nebraska, which owns her, says she is the greatest cow in the world.

For the past three milking periods, 1,125 days, she has averaged 10 gallons of milk a day, or as much as 10 cows ordinarily produce. Her name is Beauty Girl Gerben Tebeck, and she is a purebred Holstein. She could be the foster mother of an entire village. Ten gallons of milk would fill 115 bottles, enough for the baby population of quite a village. It would fill the milk bottles on 40 cowsteps or it would serve a glass of milk to 160 customers in a restaurant.

If the milk were separated, the cream would be enough for the coffee cups of more than 100 customers and the surplus could be churned into butter for two slices of toast to go with each cup of coffee. Then the skim milk could feed either 12 calves, 20 pigs or 300 hens.

HIKING THE TAX RATE.

(Amarillo Daily News.)
Complaints of high taxes usual, are directed at the local authorities City rates, being closer at home come in for careful study, while the state and federal laws are generally accepted in a matter of fact attitude.

But such a situation isn't apt to remain for long in regard to new tax rates being levied by the state of Texas. An orgy of money-raising legislation is threatened at Austin. Millions of dollars in excess of sums necessary in past years are now declared as needed to run the state government for the coming two years.

The state tax rate for the past two years was 64 cents. Already the legislators have told us it will be necessary to raise this to the constitutional limit of 77 cents, a sudden increase of 13 cents.

This increase will take $7,000,000 more from the people than was collected during the past two years. And all of it is being charged to the increased cost of government. None of the additional fund goes to constructive work, such as new roads or public buildings, but to the maintenance of public departments and bureaus.

If the highest legal rate possible is necessary this year and next, how about the following year? If the cost of government has increased by $7,000,000 over the past two years, it is logical to expect increased costs in the coming year, unless there is a halt in the expenditure of public funds.

A four-cent gasoline tax is being run through the legislature, and at the same time the property tax rate is being sent to the highest in the state's history.

What is the explanation, and how long is such a policy to be approved by the lawmakers?

COWS SUPPLY IDEA FOR COTTON PICKER

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—Several years ago two Alabama cotton planters got an idea from watching cows lick cotton from the bolls.

They concluded a machine to duplicate mechanically the tongue action of the cows would facilitate cotton picking, and now a $5,000,000 corporation has been formed in St. Louis to manufacture and market such an implement.

The machine is about the size of a motorcycle and is run by a one-cylinder gasoline engine. The inventors are Lucien and E. W. Stukenberg of Gadsden, Ala. The machine was developed by Philip S. Cole, who says it should cut in half the cost of harvesting cotton.

WHEAT GROWERS PLEASED WITH WILLIAMS ON FEDERAL FARM BOARD

News has come through the press that the wheat growers of the United States are about as well pleased with the appointment of Carl Williams of Oklahoma on the Federal Farm Board as are the cotton growers.

It is so plain that Mr. Williams is a sincere friend to the growers of both wheat and cotton that his appointment is more than welcomed by farmers living in the states that do not grow cotton.

It surely is a great opportunity to serve the very people that he has been so anxious to serve for so many years as best he was able. It goes to show that a man never can tell when he is succeeding.

The work and writings of the Oklahoman have been so outstanding the last eight years, that we know about that he has been recognized by the men high up in government affairs, and they have placed their confidence as well as the people's money, with him and men of his caliber to try to lead the farmers to a more prosperous condition.

DAIRY MAN PUT ON FEDERAL FARM BOARD

WASHINGTON, July 8.—William F. Schilling of Northfield, Minn., has accepted an appointment to the Federal Farm Board to represent the dairying industry.

Schilling's acceptance was announced late Monday at the White House. Earlier he had conferred for more than half an hour with President Hoover. It was announced that his appointment was sponsored by 30 national dairy co-operative organizations representing all sections of the country.

The new appointee is president of the Twin City Milk Producers Association with headquarters at St. Paul, and has had extensive experience in co-operative dairying.

Schilling is the sixth member of the board to be named, and only two vacancies remain to be filled. It is expected that one of these will go to a representative of the wheat growing industry.

Our Neighbors

Amherst

(Amherst Argus.)

There were two disastrous fires in Amherst last week. On Thursday at noon the residence of Judge H. Wood was burned down, the fire starting from an oil stove in the kitchen. The loss was confined to the house and its contents, there being practically no salvage. The house belonged to the Halsey Farms Company and was covered by insurance, but the household goods were not covered by insurance.

About 4 or 5 o'clock the next morning fire was discovered in a barn belonging to Rev. J. B. McCrory. The fire boys got on the job with exceeding quickness and the fire was extinguished, but with total loss of the barn.

A good rain fell over this country last Sunday afternoon which will be of inestimable value to the farmers and ranchmen of this section. There was no wind and no hail.

Mr. Ernest Chapman, who was a former resident of Amherst but now resides at Odessa, and Miss Lena May Westcott of Dunn, Texas, were united in marriage last Sunday at the home of the latter.

Mr. Eli Perkins, who comprises the whole force of the Argus in his own person, except that of editor and devil, was united in marriage to Miss Clio Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Morris of Amherst, on last Saturday at Sudan, the Rev. C. S. Hooton, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating.

Mr. E. F. Huntsucker, wife and children, are visiting in Roby this week on their return from Rochester, Minnesota, where they had gone for treatment of Mrs. Huntsucker at Mayo Brothers' Sanitarium. The information was received that Mrs. Huntsucker's health is much improved.

Levelland

(Hookley County Herald.)

At a recent meeting of the school board plans were adopted whereby Levelland is to have an out and out new school building. For a time it was the aim of the board to build an addition to the new high school building, but after close figuring the present conclusion was reached.

Supt. L. T. Green informs us that our school has been allowed an additional one-half credit by the State Department at Austin.

At a recent meeting of the Levelland school board an agreement was reached whereby the First National Bank of Levelland bought the $50,000 worth of bonds to be issued by the district as ordered by the recent election.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith sold their residence in the western part of town to the Methodist church of Levelland. This is a fine piece of property and will make a cozy parsonage.

Last Saturday while Miss Laura Lee Jones and her girl friend were crossing the street in Greenville, Texas, they were run down by a car, and both painfully injured.

Mr. A. H. Cheek and family attended the picnic and rodeo at Sudan the Fourth.

Morton

(Cochran County News.)

Mrs. G. H. Matthews had been missing frying chickens for a week from her flock, and after close investigation found that her husband and J. W. Hatton, who have been laying out property lines on the Slaughter lands, had been having fried chicken for dinner for ten days. Fryers cooked out in the open spaces taste better, anyhow.

The splendid rain Saturday night and Sunday makes the crop production an assured thing. Nearly an inch fell all over the county.

Official report has been received by the Morton school that three and one-half credits have been granted, this making a total of ten and one-half credits now held. Also aid has been granted for transportation in the amount of $600, and for Home Economics $375.

Miss Floy Anglin of Tahoka has been engaged to teach the home economics department in our high school next term.

Mrs. Jessie N. Ross, president of Rebekah Assembly of Texas, will be in Littlefield Thursday, July 11, for the purpose of instituting the Littlefield Rebekah Lodge.

N. A. Dozier of Austin is here this week harvesting 1,200 acres of wheat on his farm located in the south part of the county.

A committee met last Friday and organized a Retail Merchants' association for Littlefield. W. F. McDaniel being chosen secretary. It will be affiliated with the state organization.

Notice of suits, charging irregularities and false canvass of election returns of the Littlefield voting box in the county seat election held in Lamb county recently, were served by Amherst officers on Charles Harless, P. W. Walker, Carl Arnold, Jack James (colored), all of Littlefield, and N. J. Carnahan, living about 7 miles north of Littlefield. The defendants, accompanied by Attorneys E. A. Bills and E. S. Rowe appeared in Justice Court Monday morning. No prosecuting witnesses were present, nor any of those who swore out the warrants, in consequence, all cases were duly dismissed.

AUSTIN.—Awarding $1,906,838 worth of new construction work Wednesday, the Highway Commission in two days let contracts aggregating $5,340,038.

SPEARMAN.—Harvest hands, including truckers, are flocking to this country from every direction. There will not be work for all and many will return to their homes disappointed with the North Plains country.
