

CINCH A COMMANDING LEAD IN FIRST PERIOD

Campaign Gains Speed as Candidates Hasten to Battle for First Prize.

FIRST VOTE STANDING GIVEN TODAY.
VOTES REDUCED ALMOST HALF AFTER
SEPT. 18. GET LONG TERM SUBSCRIP-TIONS NOW WHILE THEY COUNT MOST.

The preliminaries of the campaign are about over and the race for the rich prizes will soon be in earnest. The remainder of this week and next will see energetic contestants settle down to systematic vote gathering, backed by "never say die" determination.

In another column will be found the first published relative standing of candidates. Each competitor has started in the race to win the Pontiac 4-Door Sedan or know the reason why, and the campaign is attracting county-wide attention.

Most of the candidates have already secured a goodly number of subscriptions, but the leaders today do not necessarily indicate the winners as four more weeks remain to bridge the gap between the highest in today's standing and those further down the list, or even anyone who might be thinking of entering the race. However, NOW is the time for those who are already in the race to get busy, and for those thinking of entering to get started. The big vote period will soon be over. Just 2 more weeks to win or lose while the big votes are in effect, for that is exactly what the big votes mean. After September 18, there is a great decline in votes. Then October 3 there is another great decline in votes. That is why every energetic contestant should gather his or her forces together and battle hard to "cinch" the lead for the first prize now. Every minute wasted and every subscription you put off getting now means just that much thrown away that might easily bring you the prize you desire.

Do not be discouraged should you not be among the leaders in today's standing. The campaign is in its infancy. There is not a candidate in the race who can not, if the proper interest and effort is put into the work, secure a few long term subscriptions and be listed among the leaders Monday morning when the next standing is posted.

Chance for New Candidates.

Someone asked today, "Is there a chance for a live-wire candidate to enter the race and come out winner?" A real worker can enter the race now and win one of the best prizes. There is the same chance for any candidate already in the race. All new subscriptions bring double votes—NOW. Don't put off any longer seeing these people who want the paper and getting their subscriptions.

Any candidate in the race can write a few long term subscriptions and get a clear lead.

Candidates, you can finish victorious. Your friends are behind you and watching YOUR race with intense interest. Do your very best during the big vote period. The one who comes out will receive the admiration due her. Make this first period your winning period. It can be done.

McLarty Says He Gets Value Received

McLarty of the "M" is one News advertiser who "knows his onions." When the special Community Festival Week Supplement combined with the News this week was being arranged for, he says he at first thought to cut out his regular ad. He took a second thought, however, and shot both barrels. In sending in the second ad Mr. McLarty was kind enough to state he had received perfect satisfaction in business returns for every inch of advertising he had carried in The News.

Thanks, McLarty.

Kiwanis Still Pleads For Co-operation

People Are Urged to Join in Efforts to Beautify and Build Up Sudan Territory.

You know it's just like this: I'm a little too excited to write a letter this week. You see, your secretary is Papa again!

But anyway, here is one idea that comes to me. Regardless of what the city charges for a water connection, it is our duty to tie up with them. If we can start things with a big water consumption, it would not be long before our water system would be on a paying basis.

And along the line of water consumption comes the planting of trees and shrubs, of lawns and flowers. We would not only be benefiting our water department, but would benefit ourselves; for what better advertising for our town can we offer than beautiful lawns, trees, shrubs and flowers? All this is a symbol of contentment, that you believe in your town and that you are proud to call Sudan Home. Think this over and let's start a move for more water connections.

Our president will be back with us this week and nearly all of you will be back off your vacations, so let's all be out. There is a good discussion slated for this meeting. Something of interest to all of you.

Now remember: Tuesday at 12:15.

MOODY FORCES STATE NURSES TO OVER-TIME

AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—The state will obey the law of humanity and break its own man-made law that forbids requiring women to work more than nine hours a day. This was announced by R. B. Walthall, chairman of the board of control. At the Austin state hospital and other institutions, women nurses and attendants will be required to work 12 hours a day, because Gov. Moody vetoed money for an extra shift of attendants, Mr. Walthall said.

"We are in sympathy with the labor law, and will observe it just as long and wherever we can," Walthall said.

"But as between locking sick and helpless people up and leaving them, and breaking the 9-54 hour law, we expect to violate this law."

This decision was made necessary when Attorney General Claud Pollard ruled that the law forbids paying the employes out of any other than salary appropriations.

Women nurses and attendants will be required to work 12 hours a day, after September 1. They will get $30 a month for this long daily grind.

CALICHE FOR TEXAS ROADS.

LOCKNEY, Aug. 29.—Due to the presence of vast deposits of what technicians term "caliche" on the Runningwater Draw, six miles southwest of here, civic leaders believe that Floyd county's paving and road building program will gain momentum due to the low cost of nearby materials.

Bouldin Sentenced to Pen at Portales

PORTALES, N. M., Aug. 28.—B. F. Bouldin, through his attorneys, T. L. Mears and C. M. Compton, appeared before Judge Carl Hatch just before noon today and pleaded guilty to the slaying of his daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Barker on July 29 and was given 99 years in the penitentiary. He was acquitted last Friday on a charge of killing his wife at the same time.

The wealthy 67-year old Portales Valley farmer, according to evidence on the forenoon of July 29 walked into the hotel room where his 60-year old wife was visiting their daughter, Mrs. Ed Barker, and fired six shots into their bodies, killing both instantly. He then turned the gun on himself, it is believed, but found it empty. He slipped back to the hardware store where he had purchased it shortly before and attempted to buy more shells but was arrested in the act.

While in jail he pleaded for visitors to take his life and was in a state of collapse.

After he was acquitted in the trial for the murder of his wife he was returned to jail. The jury found him insane at the time of the act.

Sudan Gets New Wholesale Tire Co.

Elsewhere in this issue of The News will be found the advertisement of the Sharrock Tire Company, a recent addition to the Sudan business roster. The company is handling the Federal lines of tires, and carrying a full stock of all Federal tires for wholesale distribution. The company salesrooms are located in the splendid new building of John Hilliard, recently completed on Main street. Mr. Sharrock, manager of the house, is a tire dealer of long experience, thoroughly familiar with all lines of tires in his brand, and is prepared to render service to the community.

Sudan is fortunate in securing this new wholesale line, and the community will doubtless show appreciation by a generous patronage.

Read their prices given in the ad on another page of this issue.

Prison Farms Get Big Cotton Premium

AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—One hundred and thirty-six bales of cotton grown on the Texas prison farms have been sold for 20.18 cents per pound, or a premium of $2 per bale over Houston spot quotations, George Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, announced today.

"I would like to know if the cotton growers of Texas are getting this much for their cotton," Commissioner Terrell stated. "They ought to have it, if their cotton is as good as the state's cotton."

A commerce report says 18,000,000 pairs of cotton socks were made in this country in February, and there's another thing that would be fine for cleaning lamp chimneys if there were lamp chimneys.—Detroit News.

NO MORE COMPLIMENTARY SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Some weeks ago The News announced that all copies of the paper sent out complimentary by the associated business firms of the city, would be discontinued on October 1st. At the time, we had in view the circulation campaign which is now being conducted for The News, which we did not expect to open until that date. But, as the campaign was opened earlier, it is necessary to make the change at this time.

Therefore, all papers heretofore sent out by order of the associated business firms of Sudan will be discontinued with this issue, and if you wish to read The Sudan News in the future, you must be a regular subscriber. So please see one or other of the contestants who are now canvassing for subscriptions, and have your name regularly entered on our subscription lists.

Community Festival Week a Great Success

During the present week every forward looking citizen of Sudan territory is engaged in a determined effort to rivet public attention on our city as a truly desirable location for business and home. And coupled with this effort is an earnest move to promote public spirit, harmony, and smooth-working team work between all elements of Sudan's public forces.

To attain these ends, the promoters have secured the services of Capt. C. S. Nusbaum, the noted community specialist, who has been laboring untiringly and will continue so to do during the remainder of the week.

Capt. Nusbaum's labors are in effect to the end that all civic forces get together and work in harmony for the general welfare; that any old scores be healed and differences amicably settled or mutually ignored and forgotten, to the end that there be no clog or drag on the wheels of progress.

The distinguished civic leader is ably assisted by a corps of public spirited business men who are working zealously toward the ends aimed at.

Beginning Monday night, get-together meetings have been held nightly, at which gatherings all the vexing problems of community progress have been met and tackled with a determination that they be settled once and for all.

On Friday night will occur the distribution of the large number of valuable prizes for which tickets are being distributed. This meeting should be the climax of a successful campaign, and every citizen of Sudan territory should be there to hear Capt. Nusbaum's remarks. Come for the good you may receive; and after that, for the service you may render your home community.

As a part of this issue of The News, and as an expression of appreciation from Sudan business interests, there is included a four-page Community Festival Supplement, which every reader will do well to read closely and fully. The firms whose cards appear in this Supplement are spending time and money in an effort to make of Sudan a better place in which to live and do business, and they should have the loyal support of the entire community.

Let's have as our rallying cry, "Come together, stick together, pull together, and trade in your home town."

A group of business men met Wednesday morning and unitedly agreed to reorganize Sudan's Chamber of Commerce, the name of which likely will be Sudan Community Chamber of Commerce, the object of which will be to tie up town and county into one big community family. Messrs. A. M. Holt and D. H. Criswell were elected captains of two teams to be known as the Reds and Blues, members of which were to be selected Wednesday night at the tent show, following Capt. Nusbaum's address. The drive will be put on Friday with a breakfast at 7 a. m.

Farmers Field Day On W. M. Pool Farm

On Saturday, Sept. 7, there will be held on the W. M. Pool farm, 12 miles west, 1 mile south of Sunday, a Farmers Field Day.

Mr. E. A. Miller, agronomist from A. & M. College, and County Agent D. A. Adam of Lamb county, will be in charge.

A committee from Sudan Kiwanis Club will be in attendance and serve luncheon. Also Dr. C. S. Nusbaum will be present and address the gathering.

A full attendance of farmers and their families from the surrounding territory is urged, as there will be much of interest to all.

Senator Smoot wants the government to censor false and deceptive advertising. Except, of course, when it is promulgated for political purposes. — San Diego Union.

LADIES OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST BIBLE STUDY

We failed to get our report in last week. However, we had a very interesting lesson.

There were seven out with Mrs. Page last Tuesday. On our way home we ran out of gas and did not get back in time to send in a report.

We had eight in our class at Mrs. Hunt's.

We have several questions to come up before the class next meeting and we would like for all to be present.

Our next lesson will be a continued study of the United Kingdom. Scriptures covered, I Kings, 11.

The class meets with Mrs. Foster next Tuesday. All are invited to attend these meetings.

"BOOST OR MOVE."

THE ADVERTISING GRAFTER

"These merchants have a certain amount they will spend on worthless specialty schemes, and if I don't get their money somebody else will," was the attitude as expressed to The News by an advertising grafter who worked Tahoka last week.

"I find that a local girl can sell this kind of stuff where I can't even get in at the door. * * * Just because it's a 'church directory,' merchants fall for it who will not buy worthless advertising. Four months ago I had a hospital bill for $1,999 staring me in the face, and now I owe nothing. I worked hard for years before I found out that I could take business men's money so easy." These were some of the statements made to us by this salesman of high-priced, almost worthless advertising.

For less than one day's work in Tahoka he secured $70 for a 11x14 placard $30 of which he paid the young lady solicitor and the News for printing—$40 for a few hours' work, and he makes six towns a week—$240 per week.

For $2.50, the price paid for ads on the directory, merchants can get seven times as much space in the Lynn County News, circulated in 1150 homes; or they can get 500 circulars twelve times as large as any of the advertising spaces on the directory, or we will print the placard for one-seventh the amount the solicitor charged.

Tahoka merchants doubtless did not regard the advertising on this directory as being of any great value but responded to the solicitations for the ads out of a commendable desire to help the churches of the town.

The young lady who solicited the advertising was likewise prompted by the purest and best motives, as she felt that she was rendering a service to the religious interests of the community.

But the "grafter" cared nothing for the religious welfare of the church organization in Tahoka, neither was he concerned about whether the advertising would be worth anything to the merchants. He was after the money; and he took advantage of the well-known disposition of business men to be generous in their attitude toward the churches, to work his graft. Thus are the business men of Tahoka and other towns being continually imposed upon by unscrupulous grafters, when the home printer could and would do identically the same work at one-fifth the cost.—Lynn County News.

And the Tahoka publisher, after listening to this grafter's boasting, admits that he did the work, thus directly sharing in the swindle. One cannot but wonder at the peculiar ethics displayed. Did he, also, consider that if he "didn't get their money somebody else would?" Looks like it.

But our object in calling attention to this plain swindle is that possibly Sudan business men may be wary in future about falling for such graft. When this same grafter struck The News office with his proposal that we share in his swindle, he was politely but firmly requested to be "on his way," and others of his breed will receive the same treatment.

The churches of Sudan can get any service desired from The News, and business men can secure advertising space that will give them many times the benefit for the same money. We are pleased to state we have seen no "church directories" in public places in Sudan.

BACK TO THE THREE R'S.

The Sudan schools "opened for business" Monday September 2. The beginning of a new school year is an important and joyful occasion. The outlook is bright for a successful year. Everyone was ready to start, and this is the spirit that makes school worthwhile and assures real accomplishment.

This year, as last, our schools are headed by Prof. W. I. Wilkins, and he has a splendid corps of assistants. The teachers have The News' best wishes for a pleasant, harmonious and successful year's work.

The stores are impressive reminders of the important event. The windows and counters are filled with pencils, tablets, crayons, fountain pens, notebooks, etc. One of the most important items in school supplies of former days is entirely lacking nowadays—slates are far in the background. Built-in blackboards in the schools, big tablets and lead pencils have overruled the use of the old favorite.

THE COMING CENSUS.

There is said to be unusual activity in the census bureau in preparation for the fifteenth decennial enumeration which is to begin April 1 next year. It is to be the most thorough and exhaustive effort that has ever been conducted by the bureau.

The campaign will be brief, but extremely active while it lasts. Needless to say, the faithful are actively engaged in landing jobs for the occasion.

To gain information about the population, the enumerators will be required to ask each individual, man, woman or child, thirty questions and a dozen more of each unemployed person.

For the farm enumeration they will have to ask 350 questions of each farm owner, seeking information about the value and production of the farm, the number of livestock and the varieties of crops. The nation's population is expected by the bureau to be about 123 millions in 1930.

"CHILD LABOR" LAWS.

(The Southwest Plainsman.)

The "child labor" propagandists are getting busy again. When the child labor-law was defeated in congress several years ago, it was a foregone conclusion that it would be brought to life later. Back of it are agitators of the typical sort who know that ultimately the members of congress will get so tired of the perpetual reappearance of the measure that they, very probably, may be induced to vote for it for the sake of getting rid of the matter. Also each succeeding congress gives them a chance to "swap" with some new members who desire to make a showing for the benefit of their constituents and are willing to support a child labor bill for the sake of reciprocal support for some measure of their own. Although the various states have laws governing the employment of child labor in industry, the proponents of the child labor bill are not satisfied. They want child labor on the farm, too, to be regulated and they are using sensational methods to arouse the prejudices of the people generally. It is probably true that there children in the sugar beet fields of Colorado whose condition is pitiable, but certainly the commonwealth of Colorado is able to look after the needs of those children and make state laws which will be adequate for their protection. A vast majority of them are Mexicans, many of whose parents even are not naturalized. Nevertheless, that is no argument in favor of their exploitation. There are also a large number of children in the southern states who are employed long hours in the cotton fields. The majority of these are Mexicans and negroes, but there are also many poor white cotton farmers who must depend upon the assistance of their children, particularly during picking time. It is quite possible that the enactment of a federal child labor law—if it were enacted—would help this class by forcing them grow other crops, but laws are arbitrary things and measures that might be helpful in one case, might very easily be made to work a hardship on others. It is inconceivable that there should be any large number of white American farmers who would willingly overtax their own children by demanding that they work over long or perform tasks too arduous for their strength, and let the child labor propagandists declare that there are "hundreds of thousands" of American children so treated on the farms of this country. Also they say that the the United States is "one of the few civilized nations that permits its unprotected youth to be so exploited" while at the same time we are constantly being told of the outrageous conditions of the peasants in every one of the countries of Europe, a number of which are, presumably, quite as civilized as we are. But such "dope" makes excellent material for the agitator and he can't be expected to stick too closely to facts or he might be out of a job. Colorado should clean up her beet fields and Texas and the other southern states should attend to their cotton fields. Certainly the men in close touch with the situation should be better able to make laws—if necessary—which would take cognizance of the farmer's side of the argument. What farmer living could succeed were he not allowed the help of his children until they had reached their sixteenth year, except to do "chores"

PUBLIC RESPECT ESSENTIAL.

(The Shamrock Texan.)

Arthur V. Lashly, who directed the first crime survey made in the United States, says there are only two ways to combat the underworld: One, honest public officials; two, aroused public sentiment. Mr. Lashly goes right to the meat of the problem. Public respect for law is the first requisite of law enforcement.

But as a substitute for law enforcement we have proposals for new laws to prohibit the ownership of small arms by law-abiding private citizens, as a crime preventive. How the crooks must laugh when they read this "remedy for crime."

There is no excuse for a private citizen carrying a concealed weapon except under proper authority. Neither is there any reason to deny him the right to own a gun when he uses it lawfully.

Let the criminal feel the teeth in our present laws instead of the gloved hand of sentimentalism which would "reform" the criminal by infringing on the rights of persons who respect the law.

COTTON CROP CUT BY FOURTH, SAYS M.-K.-T.

DALLAS, Aug. 29.—The drought of the last month and a half has reduced by 25 per cent the probable cotton yield along the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railway lines in Texas and Oklahoma, in the opinion of H. E. McGee, vice president and general manager, who returned here today after a trip over the lines.

Rain at this time would do no good, he declared, since the stalks had matured too much to put out a top crop. He predicted that there would be a consequent decrease in freight revenues of the M. K. & T. this year.

FARM NOTES

D. A. ADAM, County Agent

The Lamb County Field Day at Lubbock Experiment Station is a great success, being attended by some 20 or more of the outstanding farmers in this county. Don L. Jones, superintendent of the station was in charge of the group and a trip over the station studying experiments, variety tests, and planting dates was conducted, and in the afternoon a round table discussion was held of general farm problems. The group attending from this county was from all parts of Lamb county, states D. A. Adam, county agent.

Web worms and leaf worms have appeared in quite a few numbers in some parts of the county, according to reports received by the county agent. Leaf worms can be far more easily handled with poison than can web worms, on account of the web worms feeding underneath the web they spin, while leaf worms can be handled with 100 per cent success by the use of calcium arsenate at the rate of 3 pounds to 50 gallons of water and sprayed on. This will get most any chewing insect that may be bothering the crops.

There is much interest among farmers in Lamb county in the milking Shorthorn type of cattle for the farm. The county agent is responding to a few days will begin the organization of a milking circle. Lamb county has one breeder just starting in the work. In J. E. Hamilton of Anton, interest is becoming more widespread. Any one who wants information on these cattle and wants to get in on these bull circles should get in touch with the county agent at once.

Robert L. May of Amherst is cutting seven acres of soy beans this week for hay. He is expecting to get about a ton and one-half of hay to the acre.

During the past week the county agent inspected the 700 acre pure seed crop of W. M. Pool and Son of Sudan, for certification. Another inspection is to be made on Thursday of this week. This is one of the finest crops of seed inspected in the whole county.

W. H. Berry of Amherst, living in the draw, is harvesting quite a bit of alfalfa both for hay and seed. This season he has 12 acres in, and so far has cut eleven tons of hay, threshed 3000 pounds of seed, and expects to get about eight tons more of hay this season, and along with this about 30 head of hogs have grazed four acres of this total acreage continuously ever since spring. Mr. Berry is expecting to put in 12 acres more this spring.

A worming and vaccination demonstration on turkeys was held by the county agent on the farm of Walter Hill, north of Littlefield. Iodine solution was used for the wormers, and mixed bacterin avaina for the vaccination for the prevention of roup, chicken pox and other diseases.

(The above report should have appeared last week, but was received too late.)

URGES VOTERS TO CONSIDER MEASURES VITAL TO STATE

AUSTIN, Aug. 30—A suggestion that Texas voters forget Raskob and national disputes and consider practical needs of Texas and its state government in the coming state campaign is made by State Railroad Commissioner C. V. Terrell.

"What Texas needs is a consideration of the things vitally affecting the welfare of the state," said Terrell. "The national campaign can settle national matters."

As imperative matters facing Texas candidates and voters, the commissioner cites:

(1) A constitutional convention to lift some of the tax burden from the home owner and the man trying to buy a home.

(2) A program for elimination of deadly grade crossings.

On the first proposition it is his suggestion that the tax exemption on household property be enlarged. He would also provide that the homestead shall be exempt from taxation up to a value of about $5,000.

Decrease in the number of home owners in some sections of the state was cited by Commissioner Terrell as a startling demonstration of the need of lifting burdens from the home owner. Rural routes were cited that at one time had only a scattered tenant or two, where now few of the farms are owned by the occupants in the cities, the difficulties of a salaried man paying out a home and carrying the tax burden at the same time was cited.

For grade crossing elimination, Terrell suggests that certain main arterial roads be first designated for elimination of the crossings. Adequate marking of other highways would be urged for the protection of their users until the elimination program may be extended.

Recent grade crossing accidents near Mesquite and Georgetown were pointed out as an illustration of the toll being taken of lives in Texas under the present conditions.

ALLIED TROOPS TO LEAVE RHINELAND JUNE 10

THE HAGUE, Aug. 29—Agreement of the Young reparations plans, hailed as the greatest achievement of statesmanship, was reached today by the six-power conference.

As a consequence, the Rhineland will be cleared of allied troops by June 30. This was agreed upon today contingent upon a final concert of the Young plan as a whole.

The chief remaining problem is establishment of an international banking institution to handle funds. It was expected that experts would be named to work out details before the present conference adjourns. The chief points at issue were the location of the proposed bank and the definition of its power.

Keeping Good Eggs Good in the "Good Old Summer Time"

Observance of a Few Simple Rules Insures Keeping Qualities in Summer Eggs; Reduces Losses From Eggs Spoiled Before Marketing.

With an audible "Whew!" a perspiring old fellow deposited his week's "catch" of eggs on the store counter. "By golly!" he exclaimed, "it may be the good old summer time for some folks, but it sure don't do the egg business a mite of good!"

"Why, what's the trouble, Mr. Withers?" inquired the white-aproned clerk.

"Well," drawled the older man, "I've got just 15 dozen eggs for you today and by rights it ought to be 20, but the darned weather just ruins 'em."

"Let your roosters run with the hens, Mr. Withers?" asked the clerk.

"Sure," was the reply. "What else are you going to do with them?"

Then the young man, who happened to be recently graduated from the state agricultural college, explained to his rather incredulous one-man audience that by allowing eggs to become fertilized he reduced their keeping qualities to an almost unbelievable extent. He concluded his impromptu lesson with this good advice: "If your roosters are of no especial value, kill them and eat them. If you don't want to do that, pen them up until you need eggs for hatching. A rooster does more harm than good any time outside the breeding season if allowed to run with the hens."

I think most people realize the correctness of the young clerk's statement, but his advice is not followed as generally as it should be. Hens will continue to lay eggs if there isn't even a rooster in the same county. What is more, eggs produced under such conditions will keep much longer and at considerably higher temperatures than the fertile eggs that result from permitting male birds to run with the flock at all times.

A fertile egg will soon begin to show chick development if exposed to a temperature of over 70 degrees. Higher temperatures cause faster development and any egg will become absolutely unfit for human food within four or five days after development starts. Since temperatures even higher than those mentioned are not uncommon during the summer months, the desirability of "swatting the rooster" at that time is very important.

By keeping eggs infertile, the difficulty of handling them is greatly reduced. Another of the rules for producing good summer eggs is to keep them clean. A dirty egg has usually been wet, and wetting destroys the natural film which protects an egg against the entry of the spores of decay. Keeping eggs from getting dirty is not nearly as difficult as it sounds. Provide plenty of clean nests; and clean them frequently. It is also advisable to keep hens indoors when the runs are wet and muddy. Should some eggs become soiled in spite of all precautions, keep them for home consumption. Do not wash them, as washed eggs spoil quickly.

A cool clean place is another essential factor in keeping eggs fresh and marketable during the warm days of summer. A basement is usually cool enough, but should be dry and free from objectionable odors. No matter how good your storage facilities may be, however, market your eggs often in hot weather and the hotter the weather the oftener they should be gotten out of your hands.

Bad flavors in eggs are usually more common during hot weather than at other times. They may result from mold, absorption of odors or feeding of certain materials. Eggs held in a damp musty place will develop a mold which causes an unpleasant flavor, or storing eggs near onions, cabbage, kerosene or any other substance with a strong penetrating odor may cause bad flavors.

Most of the suggestions given above might well be kept in force the entire year round. The high temperature of summer months creates special conditions, however, which make it doubly desirable to exercise every precaution to insure delivering to market only eggs that are strictly fresh and palatable. Producers who are known to deliver only the best of high grade eggs can always command a higher price and can find a ready market for their output even when others are bewailing the fact that over-production or some other ever-present bugaboo has beaten their prices down.

Immediately preparations were begun for a takeoff at midnight Saturday for its home port across the Atlantic. It will be the Graf's fifth crossing of the Atlantic and for the first time on a major flight will not be under the control of Dr. Hugo Eckener.

On completion today of the first airship girdling of the globe and the fastest circumnavigation by any means of transportation, Dr. Eckener announced he would stay in America 12 days and would follow the dirigible to Friederichshafen by steamer and train.

The Graf Zeppelin completed its 20,000 mile flight around the world in 21 days, 7 hours and 34 minutes elapsed time, beating the record of John Henry Meers and C. B. D. Collyer, who went around the world last year in 23 days, 15 hours and 21 minutes, using planes over land and ships across the ocean.

Actual flying time of the Graf was 11 days, 23 hours and 14 minutes, beating the time of 15 days and 6 hours made by the United States army world fliers in 1924, the only other flight ever made around the world by any sort of aircraft. The elapsed time of the army fliers was 175 days.
