FARM HOME IMPROVED

(Mrs. V. B. Pierce, President of Lums Chapel H. D. Club).
One morning while in the midst of churning, preparing a meal for the family, and finishing some work that had been started, Miss Murray and Miss Mashburn, came in. After a short visit, they explained they were interested in getting some one to improve the entire home, and wanted some one who would do the work and be willing to have the home used as a demonstration.
I was very much interested in the plan and asked them to look over the house and make suggestions as to what should be done. The following things were decided upon:

A window added to the living room. Clothes closet in each bedroom. Kitchen cabinet built in. Sink installed. Water piped to the kitchen. Floors scraped and refinished. Wood work scraped and refinished. Walls all papered. Iron bedssteads refinished. New draperies for windows.

The paper for each room was to be furnished for this demonstration by Cameron Lumber Company of Littlefield. All other expense was to be mine unless some other company was found that would co-operate.

I hesitated about entering this work as times were so hard and there was no money for the improvement except what I could get from sale of eggs and chickens. I did not intend for my husband to be out money.

I agreed to accept the offer of the wall paper and to do what ever improvement I could. I thought at this time I could do only a small part of what was outlined.
I began by putting in the window. Then there was the bed room that was not sheeted. This required quite a bit of work as the cracks had to be filled, strips of cloth cut and pasted over each. There was a frame of clothes closet in this room but no door, shelves, or rods. A strip of sheet rock and some scrap lumber made a very convenient and much needed storage place. This done the room was canvassed and papered. This room looked so bright and cheerful that I immediately got busy on the others and by one of the last of suggested improvements disappeared. The furnace probably under went the greatest change of any room. My kitchen like all other was a work shop so I really needed the cabinet and sink to leave the streets clean in the time spent here. Finally I gave up all other plans. I had had 'em' in my mind for some time, but I had not had time to plan for building a cabinet. One day while looking through a farm paper I found a cabinet that was somewhat like I had planned. After closely examining this picture I decided what changes to make in the one I wanted built.

My son-in-law, husband, boys, and myself got busy and soon had the cabinet built. It was far better than I ever hoped for we could make from scrap lumber. The cabinet has plenty of storage space for staple goods, kitchen utensils, and dishes. There is plenty of space at the right height so I will not have to stoop while working. The sink is well located and saves countless steps in not having to go to the well for all water used and then in carrying all waste water outside.

The cabinet and wood work are finished in lettuce green to harmonize with the touch of green in the wall paper. My son Morris, made a broom rack and dish cloth hanger and match box. These are finished in green and are very attractive as well as useful devices.

My daughter, Mrs. Mealer, and I made a table to place near the stove to be used as an assembling unit.

On the outside of the kitchen door I have built a combination shelf and rack for the milk utensils where they will get plenty of sunshine.

It is a pleasure to work in a shop like my kitchen and the work although the same does not have the same drudgery as it formerly did.

My living room is well lighted and cheerful and very livable. Buff color predominates here in the wall paper, floor and wood work. My window draperies are orange colored theatrical gauze. I used this color because there is a tiny bit of it in the wall paper. Many pictures and bed-a-brac that had accumulated in the living room have been removed for good. Now my room does not clutter-up, looks more restful and easier kept.
Higgambotham-Bartlett Lumber Company furnished the paint for the cabinet and the hand made device. They al-

DEATH OF MR. J. N. WEST

Mr. J. N. West, the father of R. M. West, died Sunday at 9:00 p. m. in the Lubbock Sanitarium after an illness of 25 days. Mr. West was born in Tennessee in 1859, was married to Miss Mary Pace in 1841, to this union six children were born. Of this union four children survive him. R. M. West of Sudan; Will West, of Wolf City; Sam West, of Devol, Oklahoma; Mrs. John Doyle. Ladonia; Jim Palmer, a step son of Walnut Springs; A. J. Hixson, son-in-law, of Abbott, also J. A. Boman, of Hillsboro, and a number of grand children.

Our father was a member of the Baptist church of Sudan, a consecrated Christian, a devoted husband and father. His companion passed away two years ago May 23rd. Our father was every ready to rejoice, or sympathize with those in sorrow, and in the home life he was a blessed influence, loved and cherished by each member.

The loss in the home cannot be expressed, yet through the clouds of sorrow may we see the glory of a soul that at last is at rest from pain and labor.

Mr. West left many relatives and friends to mourn his departure. All that loving hands, nurses, Doctor's could do was done, but we could not stay the hands of death. We loved him but God loved him better. His room is so lonely, and his voice is heard no more. The place is vacant and can never be filled. If we can only be prepared to meet him. He was shipped back to his old home, Wolf City and layed to rest in the Wolf City Cemetery.—Contributed.

The 14 year old son of Joe Wyatt came near having a fatal accident on Monday of this week, when he attempted to remove a grass burr from his glove with his teeth. In some manner the burr was swallowed and lodged in his throat. After considerable effort by the boy, and local physicians the burr was removed, but not until an alarming condition had arisen.

OLD LANDMARK BURNS

One of Farmer county's old landmarks was destroyed by fire Monday night when the old Hay Hook ranch headquarters located five miles east and one mile north of Bovina, burned to the ground. The building was among the first structures erected in Farmer county and was used a number of years as a line camp for the old XIT ranch cowpunchers. For the past three years it has been occupied by Virgil Whitley as a farm house.

Mr. Whitley sustained quite an extensive loss in the fire, including a Delco electric light plant, a washing machine, a number of farm implements and most of his household goods.—Farwell Tribune.

At a meeting of the Sudan Independent School Board Friday night of last week it was decided to re-open school on Monday, November 2, after an intermission of four weeks. This is according to the wishes of the people at a meeting about 30 days ago with regards to the closing of school for cotton picking.

The board is working out a plan to further co-operate with the patrons and will probably take advantage of the opening of school at 8:00 a. m. and closing at 1:30 p. m. which will allow one-half day in the field.

Plans set out by the State Department of Education are as follows:

1. School may close for four weeks by making up time by utilizing two alternate Saturdays each month and 10 holidays including Christmas holidays.
2. Opening school early in the morning on the five-day-week plan and closing for the day at 1:30 p. m. for not more than two weeks.

Since plan number 1 has been exhausted the board may take advantage of plan number 2 and of the one-half day which it provides.

School opened at the regular time in September, but owing to the unusually good crops in this section coupled with the depression and low prices of farm products it was decided to close the school for a period of three weeks in order that pupils may help in the harvest. The school was to have opened Monday, October 26th, but the Board thought best to delay the opening for another week.

Nine Month Term Assured

It is understood that two alternate Saturdays each month will be utilized to make up for the time lost and that the lost will not interfere with a full nine month term. There is no intention to shorten the time of the school or to minimize in any way the work of the standing of the institution. Conditions brought about the scarcity of labor and the depression will not be allowed to permanently interfere with the efficiency of the school to the detriment of the educational opportunities of the children of the district.

Payment of Taxes Necessary

Heretofore it has been possible to borrow money when funds ran low, but on account of the financial stringency the school must pay its way. And the time has come when it is necessary for all patrons to come to the aid of their school by paying as much of their taxes as possible as soon as they can, that with the State apportionment, which will come without fail, no trouble is anticipated in meeting the financial obligations, and the school will do another year of outstanding work. In school affairs, as in other matters of public interest. The co-operation of the people is necessary to complete success.

We believe the School Board is conscientiously striving to handle the affairs of the school to the best advantage of all and that they will let nothing undone to accomplish that end.

The High School here has a total of twenty five credits of affiliation, and is also a member of Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and has perhaps made a better record than any high school of its age in this section. It is not the purpose of the citizenship to allow this standing to be jeopardized on account of temporary adverse conditions. The school is our greatest asset, and if need be, let us all make a sacrifice to hold it unimpaired.

WHICH PROVES AGAIN THAT ADS CAN DO MOST ANYTHING

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—Charles A. Price, editor and publisher of the Glenwood (Ark.) Herald believes that he has one newspaper that will get results. He believes it so strong that he proved it to a local dentist, who came in one day and made the remark that he would run an ad if he thought it would do any good.

The editor came right back with an offer that he would bet him the double price of the ad that it would bring results without ever seeing the ad. The doctor called the editors hand and the following ad was inserted: "Wanted a cow in exchange for a set of teeth." Two days later the doctor came in and wanted to pay the bill for the ad and the Editor Price figured it double.

It was paid with the remark that "I could have gone into the dairy business."

OUR BULL PUP SAYS

Twenty nice fat hens were delivered to the News office during the past week. To apply on subscriptions. And twenty new subscribers will read the News during the next twelve months. Folks are taking advantage of our liberal offer, and we appreciate the new subscribers.

A Sudan man lost around $30 in cash—This man owned a residence in Sudan, that had been vacant for a month or more, while another man in Sudan was looking for a residence during the past month, and is still looking. An out of town party came in last week, and, by chance, located the vacant residence and when the owner was located, it was contracted at a much lower figure. Not only did he lose a month or more, but he also lost an account of the reduction. An ad in the News that would have cost less than a dollar, would have gotten the good renter, and no reduction in the rent would have been necessary. A want ad in the News is a good investment. The above is proof.

REXALL ONE CENT SALE

Ramby's Pharmacy, the local Rexall Druggist has just received a personal letter from Louis K. Liggett—leading figure in the drug world, old friend of former President Coolidge and a keen student of modern business. The message sent from Boston headquarters of this outstanding pacemaker in successful merchandising is full of good news as an English Walnut is of meat. Mr. Liggett throws some mighty interesting sidelights on current business affairs and has crowded much unanswerable logic into the document.

Referring to one of his conversations with former President Calvin Coolidge, he tells that after an hour's discussion of business problems, Mr. Coolidge declared: "Supply and demand will make the price. It always has and always will. You cannot control what God produces."

Mr. Coolidge was referring to the English attempt that failed, to regulate production and price of rubber, and Mr. Liggett's comment is, "No special legislation—no national legislation—no world intercourse of world courts can establish a value that will turn the flow of business." Calvin Coolidge was right. He said that price can be regulated only by supply and demand.

The fact that at this particular time of business stress there is listed the largest number of Rexall drug stores in Drugdom's history was received with no little satisfaction. Because it proved to him the wisdom of becoming the Rexall druggist in this particular locality where the profit and good will assured by the Rexall plan to both the one who sells the one who buys has been a community affair of mutual benefit.

This Rexall One Cent Sale will be run the first week in November and the people of this community will share in this great festival of buying opportunity of the current strenuous year.

O. L. Davis, wife and son returned the latter part of last week from Lometa, where Mr. Davis had been to look after his farming interest.

Mr. G. H. Hillin and daughter, Fae, are visiting Mr. Hillin's brother-in-law, Mr. S. L. Rollins and family.

Edgar Jenkins visited relatives and friends here at Sudan this past weekend. Mr. Jenkins is attending Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Dent and Mr. and Mrs. James Aldredge returned from Oklahoma Saturday, where they have been visiting relatives and friends at Fredrick and Olustee.

THE AMERICAN CREED

"I believe in the United States of America and the principles of freedom, justice, equality and humanity upon which it was founded and for which, American Patriots have given their lives and fortunes."
"I believe it is my duty towards my country to love it; to obey its laws; and to defend it against all enemies."
"BOOST OR MOVE"

CARE OF THE HOMES

Travellers who return from Europe are all glad to get back. They have found no place that they would prefer for a home. So, they have to admit that what impresses them is that the average small home in this country is not as well cared for as it is in most of the European countries.
The inner class of homes of America are unexcelled. Their every lawn, their lovely shrubbery and the charming architectural features of the more recent houses of this type, can not be beaten elsewhere. But when it comes to the homes inhabited by the average run of people, there is too much carelessness and shabbiness.
This condition is nothing new, it is not caused by whatever depression has existed for the past two years. It was just the same at the peak of the business wave of 1929.
Many of the smaller homes of course, are just as attractive as the dwellings of the wealthy. But there is a great aggregate of dwellings, the majority of them rented to tenants, where no one seems to care much how they look. They lack paint, their back yards are full of rubbish and disrepair. This condition contrasts unfavorably with the smaller homes of Europe, which inspite of prevailing poverty are well kept up and usually ornamented with nice gardens.
The American people have a streak of don't care spirit in them, which leads many of them to be slack about the appearance of their homes. It gives a dingy appearance to many towns in the South Plains and everywhere else. The people have a too easy going way they are a little too afraid of work. We need a nation wide movement for neat homes, which shall make people ashamed of unsightly looking places.

EXCITABLE PEOPLE

A school teacher was telling the other day of her experiences in various places, and spoke of the troubles she had suffered from excitable people. Parents were constantly complaining because the school desk talks and goes with the children and many of these people would be so excited and emotional that it was impossible to reason with them.
Excitable folks are found everywhere. The business people have to deal with extremely unreasonable customers. People get terribly wroth over their grievances with neighbors and social relations. Excitable persons rarely try to lick the newspaper editor in these days, out they attack him verbally with violent abuse.
People gain nothing by showing so much feelings. If they can't state their complaints calmly and quietly, they make no impression, and they might as well keep their mouths shut.

A GENEROUS PLAN

Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, recently suggested to the electric manufacturing people, a comprehensive plan for greater stability and security in the industries, which would provide employees with unemployment and other insurance, old age pensions, etc. His plan seems to involve so much government regulation, that it is difficult to conceive of its being adopted on any general scale at present.
The business world, however, is thinking very hard about how depressions can be prevented, how the peaks and valleys of an even business can be smoothed out to a stable basis, how a sound foundation for steady trade can be created. Out of all this thought, many plans for greater stability in the industries will come. The generous suggestions made by this leader of the electrical indus-

Excitable People

It was startling news some days ago that the English government had decided that it must give up for the present the attempt to maintain the gold standard. The effect of this event to the United States will be beneficial, provided our people take its lesson to heart.
The troubles of the English have come primarily from extravagance. They have been pouring out their funds into the cost of armament, into the dole for the unemployed, into the pay raise on their own. Also in private business, their production costs are too great. They can not compete with the rest of the world.
When a country pays out of its treasury more money than it can afford to pay to to it, its treasury is going broke. And when the operating costs of a business are greater than the price for which it can sell its product, then the business goes broke. So government costs must be cut, or else taxation increased. And cost of operating business must be cut if the goods can not be made at the prevailing prices.
The main lesson for the United States, is that there are limits to the drafts that can be made on the federal and city treasuries. It is often said that we have a rich country, that our states and cities have plenty of "cash", and can afford to borrow money freely.
But the question of the property of borrowing, is not as to whether the total debt is a very large proportion of the total wealth. The question is as to how much you can raise the taxes without placing too heavy burdens on the people. There comes a point when taxes become so high that business will move somewhere else. And if federal taxes are too high, the taxpayers can put all their money into tax exempt bonds, which

"Service"

WHEN YOU LIGHT THE BURNER of your gas appliance and the flame springs to life instantly, you see results—comfort—convenience—not causes.

Seldom, if ever, do you see the Service agencies that make this ideal fuel supply possible. Pipe lines, gas wells and manpower, Service!—the combination of efforts that brings natural gas to your burner and which plays a major part in the cost of your fuel supply.

It is Service that provides heat at the burner automatically, when and as you want it, without ashes, smoke, or soot, or the need for extra labor or storage. Back of the flame of your burner stands the Service of your gas company with its skilled employees and its facilities for delivering the gas. Service must be maintained! Service is what you are paying for!

The fact that your gas company must maintain the year round, at great expense, capacity equal to the coldest day of the year—even though this peak capacity is not required except on a few cold days in winter—is merely one of the items of this responsibility called SERVICE!

Your Gas Company takes pride in the fact that it pioneered the distribution in this section, of the only available fuel that can be utilized by the consumer without special handling or the use of costly mechanical accessories. Realizing our responsibility, we take the utmost precaution to assure you permanent fuel satisfaction by providing a dependable flow of gas—regardless of the weather.

... SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING By RUTH MAVIS STONE

QUICK BREADS NUTRITIOUS
AS WELL AS ECONOMICAL

Home-made bread is the most satisfying, the best tasting, the most fragrant, the most nourishing and the most economical food in the world.

Every mother should make bread at home not only to please her family's palate and to save money but to give her youngsters a nutritious, wholesome food.

In addition to making yeast breads and rolls there are so many delicious quick breads that the housewife can quickly make. To make these quick breads, time, money and ingredients can be saved by using self-rising flour which is pre-leavened or prepared flour. Who doesn't like nut bread or for a change orange bread?

For nut bread proceed as follows:

|-----------------------------------|-----------------|
| 1/2 cup sugar                     | 1 cup milk      |
| 1/2 tsp. fat                      | 1 cup nut meats |
| 1 egg                             | broken in       |
| 1 1/2 cups self-ris-ing flour | small pieces    |

Place the sugar, fat and egg in a bowl; beat until thoroughly blended;
add the flour and liquid alternately, then add the nuts; pour into a greased bread pan, and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) about fifty minutes.
