LAMB COUNTY TAXPAYERS DEMANDING ACTION

Editor News:

Not only in school districts, towns, cities and counties is the clamor for reduction in expense prevalent among the taxpayers, but the demand reaches out into the national government. The following article appeared in the Amarillo Daily News-Globe of last Sunday:

'SLASH COSTS OR QUIT' TAXPAYERS TELL SOLONS

Telegrams to all Texas Congressmen demanding economy in federal expenses were sent yesterday by a group of 50 Amarillo taxpayers and prominent citizens.

The message was directed to the 18 members of the Lower House and Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard.

The circulation of the petition was prompted by an editorial in the Daily News Thursday of last week, under the title, "Cut or Come Home." Walter Browne secured the majority of the names to the telegram.

"I could have got a thousand," said Mr. Browne, "if had time. Everybody realizes that something must be done."

The Texas representatives were told that the public is aroused over the failure of Congress to cut expenses and that the prevailing sentiment is to elect new members unless "the present members meet the issue without further delay."

A copy of the message follows:

"The people of this part of Texas are begging and pleading that their representatives in Congress assist in balancing the budget by reducing expenses instead of further increasing the terrific burden of taxation. Why should not government employees have their salaries reduced in proportion to those who are carrying them on their backs. They demand drastic reduction in allowance for personal expense of Congressmen. Never have the people been so aroused and so indignant as over the failure of representative government to function.

"Those members of Congress who are listening to the lobbyists of the groups and blocs that are fighting for the best of it are antagonizing and embittering the average American citizen who is still in the majority. The proposed economy bill, which is equivalent to but one per cent reduction in the national budget, is an insult to the American citizen. The prevailing sentiment is to elect new men to Congress unless present members meet the issue without further delay."

Lamb county taxpayers are demanding reduction at the hands of the commissioner's court. They are demanding cuts in salaries and a lower rate of taxation. Other counties of the state are getting what they are asking, but so far there has been no move in Olton to meet the general demand. The assessment for this year is nearing completion and from the looks of things our commissioners' court proposes to proceed in the same old way. The membership of the court does not yet seem to realize that property owners cannot afford to pay taxes on a prosperity basis. When the farmers' income has been reduced from 50 per cent to 75 per cent and no hope in sight for any improvement in prices of farm products for another year, it would seem to a man up a tree that relief must come in the shape of reduced taxation.

It is undoubtedly a very comfortable feeling for our commissioners to know that the $100.00 per month is coming regularly, and the idea of a cut in the monthly check, which they themselves would have to bring about, does not seem pleasant at all. Neither would other county officers smile on a reduction of their princely salaries. But what about the taxpayers who pay the bill? No monthly checks for them. They and their families are making greater sacrifices than anyone ever thought possible. They are taking it with a smile. But they demand that county officials, who exist at the taxpayers' expense, who grab what they want out of the peoples' money should at least make some show of concession by a reduction in county government cost.

Weaklings and unsympathetic men have no place in office. It would appear that we have more than enough of this class in Lamb county. The time has come for a show-down. Competent and deserving men are ready to accept office and promise to see that taxes and county government costs are reduced. The July primaries are approaching and unless some results are brought about by the present official personnel, the slate will be wiped clean.

This is but a beginning of my weekly epistles.

DR. FORD OFFICE ROBBED SUNDAY

While at lunch Sunday narcotic thieves entered the office of Dr. W. H. Ford and secured a quantity of morphine. The Doctor soon had City Marshall, Findley, and Sheriff Crim on their trail and the thieves were apprehended about an hour later. After a severe grilling by the officers the thieves confessed to the theft and took the officers to where the stolen goods were hidden. The pair, a man and a woman, were given orders to leave the county and not return. They left, but they also returned, and on Monday morning while the Doctor was on a call at about 5 o'clock, the same pair raided the Doctor's office and again stole that which they had returned but some additional goods. Later Monday officers arrested the pair again the lodged them in jail at Littlefield where they will wait the action of the Federal grand jury. A third party was also arrested Monday night in connection with the robbery.

SUDAN PRODUCE WILL HANDLE ICE

The Sudan Produce is erecting a large ice box and will handle ice during the summer. Contractor Hawkins, used modern methods in building the foundation. No form or levels for the foundation being used. Marvin McLarty and Herbert Teal were mud mixers and carriers and a young gentleman whose name we are not familiar with did the laying of the tile and brick. The box will accommodate twenty blocks of ice and the Sudan Produce will be ready to furnish ice in the next few days.

RECITAL

TO THE TAXPAYERS AND OTHERS OF LAMB COUNTY

I take this method of introducing myself to those of you whom I have not met, and announcing myself as candidate for Sheriff of Lamb county to you, and all of my old acquaintances.

Having lived in this county 19 years, four years of which, I had the honor of serving the people as Sheriff and Tax Collector, I can furnish sworn affidavit from the Commissioner's Court, I went out of this office with a record that is above reproach.

We realize that this time we are facing situations that have never before occurred, and it becomes the duty of each individual to do our share, and if elected I shall exert every effort at the minimum.

Thanking you in advance for every consideration and earnestly soliciting your vote, I am, Very respectfully,
E. G. Courtney

HAMMOCK BUYS PUREBRED DUROCKS

HONOR STUDENTS

Honors of Valedictorian and Salutatorian for this year go to Gladys Barnett and Curry Lynch, respectively. Gladys' average was 92 10-11 and Curry's was 91 1-2.

Gladys came to Sudan for her Senior year from Bangs, Texas. During the first semester Gladys carried five subjects; during the second semester she carried six subjects. She has taken active part in all phases of school work this year, such as Choral Club, Press Club, Pep Squad, tennis, spelling, and essay writing. Gladys is also a poetry writer.

Curry Lynch has also participated in many school activities during his years of high school work. He has carried four subjects the entire year but has participated in track, tennis, and debate. Curry represented the school in tennis in District, winning third place. He proved his ability as a public speaker in the county debates. He plays the role of Inspector Burke in the Senior play, "Fast Colors."

FLOWERS: Red and white carnations.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

By Hortense Blair and Thelma West

Once upon a time, a long, long time ago, nearly twelve years ago, there were some little boys and girls. These little boys and girls did not go to school as you and I do. They were not old enough to go to school. But they wanted to go to school. So their papas and their mammas told them that when they were six years old they could go to school.

So one day all of them were six years old. When the school bell rang in the fall of the year, in September I think it was all of these little boys and girls started off to school, with their books and tablets, of course, these little boys and girls couldn't read. They couldn't write either. But their teachers told them if they would try hard and study well, that some day when they got bigger they could go to high school. The little boys and girls wanted to go to high school and play basketball, and be in plays, so they studied and studied for seven long years. Then one day teachers told them they were ready for high school. But all of the little boys and girls who started to school weren't ready for high school. Some of them had not studied as hard as they should. Some had moved away from town. And some other little boys and girls had come to take their places.

Well, when these boys and girls came to high school, they found a lot of other boys and girls who were older than they were. Some of them seemed to know so much more than others. They paraded around looking dignified, and sort of lordly like. Now the little boys and girls found out these people had been in high school a long time. Some of their teachers told them that if they would work four hard years they would know a lot too. There were so many boys and girls in high school that they gave our group of boys and girls a special name, and called them Freshmen.

The Freshmen found high school was so different from grade school. There were not so many subjects to study; but they were so much harder. There was one subject that was the queerest thing. If you didn't know what it was about, you just said, "let x be it." Then finally you knew what the answer was, even though you didn't know what it was all about. Then there was a subject they called history; but it was all about dates, only not the kind you eat.

Afterwhile the freshmen found out that another school year had passed. After vacation when they went back to school again they weren't freshmen anymore, but they were sophomores. Being a sophomore was just like being a freshman only different. A sophomore thinks he knows much more than a green, awkward freshman, only he doesn't. He just thinks he does, so our little sophomores were grown up anymore; but they were grown up to go home to play this summer, up sophomores. Well, they had some other funny things to study. They bisected angles and dissected frogs; but bisecting an angle and dissecting a frog are just as different as eating toaststools and mush rooms. But the sophomores had a good time being sophomores. They were glad they had studied hard when they were little as their teachers had told them to so they could go to high school. For if they had not gone to high school they wouldn't have had all those picnics and parties that the boys and girls went to the sophomores had.

Then school was out again for they were grown up now, or they thought they were, so they spent some of their time working. They had to act grown up for the next fall when they went back to high school they were juniors. Now juniors are queer people. They know so much more than the sophomores and freshmen; but they are afraid of the class above them, so they spend most of the year giving them parties and banquets, and planning commencement events for them. They are sort of servants for the high and mighty four year folks.

After the junior year was over, and vacation had come to an end, what do you think happened? No, they didn't have any Christmas tree. Well, I'll tell you what happened. When the juniors went back to school again, they weren't freshmen; they weren't sophomores; they weren't juniors. They were SENIORS! They found out seniors were the highest and greatest class in school. And when seniors are seniors, whether they study or not, the faculty looks up to them because they are seniors. And the juniors look up to them because they are seniors. And the sophomores and the freshmen are afraid of them because they are seniors. Seniors get to do a lot of things. They get to go to banquets. They have class meetings. And you know if the faculty doesn't get mad at them, they graduate.

And so it happened that after eleven long years the little boys and girls of this story grew into seniors. Only instead of the same little boys and girls who started to school together those who are seniors are: Hortense Blair, Lenore Payne, Gladys Barnett, Alta Mae Hicks, Thelma West, Ida Rene Crain, Alvin Webb, Curry Lynch, Jimmie DeLoach, Ann King, Merle May, Leonard Payne, Paul Matthews, W. D. Caldwell, Lurlene Harvey, Rhoda Ormand, Juanita Nichols, Lou Weatherford, Sidney Gwin, Ethel Groom, Auda Faye Thompson, Weldon Shaffer, and Lila Mae Moncrief.

Moral: From this story you see that SENIORS are a class in high school of Sudan, and that they came to be after years of study and hard work. And some day, Fish Sops and Juniors if you study you too can be a SENIOR, and just like the seniors of 1932; you will graduate and get a diploma.

Below is a complete list of the Seniors of '32 with a short history of each given:

Ethel Groom, president of the senior class, came to Sudan high school four years ago and has been an active student in all affairs. Besides being a star basketball player, playing on the team for four years, she has represented the school in volleyball and tennis. Ethel is also a member of the Choral club, Spanish club, Press club, and Pep Squad. Last year she was awarded the medal by American Legion as the all-around girl in school. Her ambition is to coach basketball.

Leonard Payne, vice-president is the married man of the senior class. Leonard was graduated from the grade school with honors having been in Sudan school since he was in the fifth grade. In 1931, he had the title of "husband" conferred on him, but that's all right, for he's had four years of training in football. He should be able to survive married life. His ambition is that he won't be a hen-pecked husband.

Lou Weatherford, secretary-treasurer of the class, has been in Sudan only one year, coming from Austin Texas. But one year is enough to learn Lou. She has ideas all of her own Lou belongs to the Pep squad and Dramatic club. Lou's ambition is to put something in Mr. Smith.

Ida Rene Crain, class poet, entered Sudan when she was in the fourth grade. She has belonged to the Choral club, Pep squad, and Debating team. She won third in debating in the county with Jimmie DeLoach. Her ambition is to poet laureate of America.

Hortense Blair, historian of the senior class, started to school in Sudan in the second grade. She moved to California and stayed two years and decided she liked Sudan better and came back and entered Sudan high school as a Freshman. She has been a member of the Home Economics club and Spanish club. Her ambition is to be a school teacher.

Thelma West, assistant historian of the class, started to school in Sudan when she was in the sixth grade. She came from Hollis, Oklahoma, has been a member of the Home Economics club and Spanish club. Her ambition is to keep house for a good looking young man.

Gladys Barnett entered Sudan high school this year from Bangs, Texas. She has participated in the Choral club and Press club and has played tennis. She won second in essay writing and won first in spelling with Mary Luttrell in the county. She is valedictorian of the senior class this year. Her ambition is to make an English teacher.

Curry Lynch came to Sudan when he was a freshman. He has been on the basketball team for three years, played football and tennis and came out for track. He is salutatorian of the senior class. Curry won second in debating with Clarence Weeks. His ambition is to be a prize fighter.

W. D. Caldwell entered Sudan when he was in the seventh grade. He moved to Cisco and went to school there during his freshman year but decided he liked Sudan better and came back here when he was a sophomore. W. D. represented our school at A and M one year. He has been a member of the F. F. T. club and Dramatic club. His ambition is to get out of all the work that he can.

Lurlene Harvey came from Lexington, Oklahoma, and entered Sudan high school as a sophomore. She was a member of Home Economics club this year. Her ambition is to tend to her own business.

Lenore Payne started to school here in the fifth grade. Lenore has participated in the Glee club, and Pep squad. She was assistant leader two years and was leader this year. Her ambition is to be a star English student.

Alvin Webb entered Sudan high school in the freshman class. He was letterman of basketball team three years and was captain of the basketball team this year. He was all county forward. Alvin has been a member of the track, tennis, and football teams each year since his sophomore year. His ambition is to coach basketball when she was a freshman. She Sidney Gwin came to Sudan moved here from Tulla, Texas. She has participated in the volleyball and basketball playing and in the Glee club and Press club. Her ambition is to go to Denmark where her old friend "Hamlet" used to live.

Jimmie DeLoach entered Sudan Grammar School when she was in the fourth grade. She was a member of the Choral club, Pep squad, and Debating team. She won third with Ida Rene Crain in the county. Her ambition is to be a great debater.

Mildred Fowler came from Ennis, Texas, and entered as a freshman in Sudan high school. She has participated in Home Economics club, Pep squad, Spanish club, and Choral club. Her ambition is to be a great singer.

Alta Mae Hicks came from Gainsville and entered Sudan schools in the fourth grade. She has belonged to the Choral club, Pep squad, and Orchestra. She won first in the county in extemporaneous speaking and third in district meet. Her ambition is to be a speaker.

Merle May started to Sudan high school in his sophomore year. Merle made the track team this year. He belonged to the F. F. T. club last year. Merle's ambition is to run Paul a close second in shewing the girls a good time.

Clarence Weeks graduated Spring Lake high school last year and is taking a post-graduate course here this year. He played on the basketball team and football team this year. (Continued on Page Three)

COMFORT FOR COLICKY BABIES

... THROUGH CASTORIA'S GENTLE REGULATION

The best way to prevent colic, doctors say, is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste. But remember this: a tiny baby's tender little organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged. This is just the time Castoria can help most. Castoria, you know, is made specially for babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. For years it has helped mothers through trying times with colicky babies and children suffering with digestive upsets, colds and fever. Keep genuine Castoria on hand, with the name:

"There's a Death Message for This Man, we must catch him when he comes through here"

His mother had died suddenly. His family was perplexed about notifying him, for he was "somewhere on the way to California." Just where, nobody knew. They did know, however, he was motoring over a route selected by the Conoco Travel Bureau. So the death message was wired to Albuquerque, New Mexico, which was on that route. The Continental office set every Conoco station attendant in Albuquerque looking for the traveler. All day Conoco men asked motorists their names. And finally the right man was found, the message delivered to him. An unusual incident. Just one of many out-of-the-ordinary happenings, however, that have earned a Nation-wide reputation for the Conoco Travel Bureau and its services. We do more than furnish road maps, help choose routes and supply other travel information. We look upon every Conoco Passport holder as a personal friend to be served in every way possible. Every Conoco station is a branch of the Conoco Travel Bureau, and every Conoco attendant is the traveler's well-informed friend. If you are planning a motor trip, write us where and when you want to go. Or fill in convenient application at any Conoco station. We will send you a Conoco Passport, 1932 road maps and other travel information. Our service is absolutely free... maintained for the benefit of American motorists by Continental.

FINIS

CLASS PROPHECY OF 1932

This is delving into the future, just twenty years hence; in other words it will be 1952. Yesterday morning I was sitting in my home in Circle Back dreaming of my high school days and class mates of dear old Sudan in the year of 1932. I was suddenly brought back to consciousness by the buzzing of the telephone. I answered it, and I knew the voice of my old classmate, yet I could not realize that I was being called by the greatest engineer that has ever stepped into the cab of a locomotive. It was W. D. Caldwell, and I had him to come right on out to my home. Pretty soon I heard a commotion in the hall. I went to see what was happening, and I found that my butler, Curry Lynch, and W. D. had recognized each other, and W. D. was very much surprised to find that Curry was a butler, and asked that I release him from duty and we three have dinner in Sudan at the White Rose Cafe, then go to the Garden Theater for the show.

When we arrived at the show we were so surprised to find that the picture "Good Bar Girl" was showing and that the stars were Weldon Shaffer and Auda Fae and they were to appear in person for a short performance after the first picture. After the show we three went up and renewed our acquaintance of 1932, and the five of us had tea out at my house later.

We talked old times over and W. D. decided that he was going to see all of our old Seniors of 1932. I told him that our old Secretary Lou Weatherford, had invented a kodakphone, through which one could see and hear anybody in the world. Lou lives in Austin, and W. D. would spare no expense to see his classmates, he went to the telephone and called the great aviator, Leonard Payne, who was in Houston, and told him to come through Austin and get Lou and her invention. Leonard said that he had just returned from Mars and was very tired, but would fly over in the morning in about one and one-half hours. In the meantime W. D. got in his car and went to Lubbock to get Clarence Weeks, the worlds fattest man, who was appearing in a vaudeville on Main Street.

The next morning Leonard and his wife and Lou arrived about the same time that W. D. and Clarence did. After a few hours of recalling old times Lou got out her invention and explained it, then we began looking for the rest of the Seniors. First we turned the kodakphone to Washington D. C. and who do you suppose we found as the Speaker of the U. S. Senate? None other than the Vice-President, Paul Mathews. This was the day of the great debate on the question of "Should Men be allowed to Vote?" Strange as it may seem Paul is the only man in the Senate and he is against man sufferage, and he put up a very good argument on why men should not be allowed to go to the polls and cast their votes. Next we focussed our kodakphone into the Speaker's home which was "The Washington Home Laundry" to find that it was operated by his wife Lenore Payne. Mrs. Mathews is a very wealthy woman, having made her fortune in the laundry business and from the laundry soap formula that she invented and sold, just after leaving Sudan high school.

We next turned the kodakphone to a humble little chicken farm out in the state of California. There we saw Meri May feeding the chickens, and his wife, Ethel Groom, feeding their nine children.

In Chicago the first thing we saw was a big sign reading "Rhoda Ormand's Cabaret open all night." We peered on the inside of her cabaret and found Rhoda dressed in a gorgeous most handsome man we have ever seen. Just as we started to focus to another place we had cause to wait a minute. In the door of the cabaret stepped two bandits who had two guns each, they took all the jewelry from the ladies and the money and watches from the men. With our kodakphone we followed the bandits fifteen miles into the country, there they removed their masks and we saw that they were two of our Senior classmates, "Sweet Boy" Alvin Webb, and his accomplice, Lillie Mae Moncrief, known as "Baby Blue". I was so horrified that I fainted; when I came to, I found that the famous Doctor Fred M. Locker had come in from New York City just in time to arrive at my house at the time I fainted; he administered some of the medicine that he had invented that restores consciousness at once, and makes you feel younger. Fred joined our jolly circle and we again turned the kodakphone to Mexico City, and there we saw in the footlights that Lurline Harvey, the Queen of the Follies was starring for one month the dance sisters, Mill and Mildew, alias Gladys Barnett and Ruth Light. We watched these girls dancing, and such marvelous dancing we have never before seen!

It was then lunch hour but we were so thrilled to be very hungry, so my cook prepared a delicious, but very substantial salad from the recipe invented by Thelma West, the salad being hot pepper salad made of snow, rainbow drippings, and cloud fluffs. After enjoying the salad we decided to see for ourselves just what Thelma was doing, so we finally found her in Paris France, where she is the famous Chef at the Fleur-de-Lys; she weighs two hundred and fifty pounds and can talk French as fast as she used to speak English in the English IV class.

We heard a cry of "EXTRA" "EXTRA" from the paper boy "All about Hortense Blair, the first lady to sail under the North Pole, over the South Pole, and through the equator."

Then we looked in different places, and in Africa we saw another Senior, Mildred Fowler and here husband, who were prisoners in a cannibal hut, they had gone to those unknown regions to hunt tigers and to explore, but got into trouble.

We then looked other places and on a lonely ranch in Arizona we saw a woman scrubbing floors in a boarding house for the cowboys. The woman scrubbing floors was none other than Sidney Gwin, another 1932 Senior. This scene was too sad to dwell on, so we moved our kodakphone a few miles to the west where we found an Egyptian camp. The Gypsies were having a merry-making and a dance. In the middle of the dances sat the fortune teller who was none other than Ida Rene Crain.

Then some one mentioned that today was the day for the World's champion swimming contest in the Suez Canal. We decided not to look for our friends any longer but to watch the contest. Can you imagine our surprise when we found that Alta Mae Hicks was being presented with the beautiful silver loving cup for being the world's champion swimmer.

We then focussed our kodakphone to the city of Amherst, but before we could see what was happening something happened to the kodakphone and we could see nothing. W. D. said that there must have been something interesting in Amherst so we decided to motor over there. We got in the car and went over but we could see nothing that interested us. Just as we started to leave town we met a woman and three little children coming in to town on a donkey. We drew closer and were very much surprised to find that the woman was Juanita Nichols. We asked her to join our circle but she would not have time as she would have to get to Littlefield by night.

When we got back home Lou had the kodakphone working and she informed us that she had located the other two Seniors of 1932. We turned the instrument to the Alps Mountains in Switzerland. We saw two guides dressed in Swiss costume slowly climbing on the side of a tall mountain. There was a company of about thirty-five following them. These mountain climbers were Jimmie DeLoach and Clara Dudley. They earn their living by taking the tourists mountain climbing. We have never heard a person from Switzerland who could yodel any better than they could.

We decided to find our old class sponsors. We turned our kodakphone to the first Church of Christ in Philadelphia. The church was lighted up and they were having services so we looked in. We could not believe our eyes. Yes, it must be true, there behind the pulpit delivering one of the most wonderful sermons we had ever listened to was Jimmie Theodore Alldredge. We sat spell bound and listened to the sermon, and after the sermon was over the first person to go up and shake hands with the minister was the world's champion golf player, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wright were in Littlefield Friday.

er, Miss Gladys Trantham. We were all so shocked at this that we felt that we could endure no more in one day, so we decided to adjourn. Lou said that she would manufacture each of us a kodakphone so that we could keep in touch with each other for the rest of our lives. It is a day of miracles. So in the near future, each member of the old Class of 1932 will have a kodakphone of his own.
Amen

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

Too Much ACID

MANY people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

The ideal dentifrice for clear teeth and healthy gums is Phillips' Dental Magnesia tooth-paste.
