$19,000,000 INCREASE IN COTTON VALUE

Cotton price gains of 90 to 100 points Monday in leading markets, result of U. S. Department of Agriculture's first 1932 cotton crop forecast of 11,306,000 bales for the United States and a Texas crop of 3,826,000 bales, added nearly $19,000,000 to the potential income of Texas cotton farmers. In addition to increase in value of cotton lint Monday from previous prevailing prices, a consequent rise in cottonseed prices would add several million dollars more to Texas farm income. Middling cotton on the Dallas spot market closed Monday at 6:40 against 5:50 close Saturday and 6:30 a year ago.

Smallest Texas crop since 1922 and lowest U. S. production since 1923 are indicated from the Federal forecast of Aug. 8. Texas forecast of 3,826,000 bales, compares with 5,320,000 ginned in 1931 and is smallest since the 3,222,000 ginned in 1922 but only slightly less than the crop of 3,940,000 bales in 1929. The 11,306,000 U. S. crop indicated compares with 17,095,000 bales ginned in 1931 and 10,140,000 in 1923. Totalling 14,192,000 acres, Texas cotton acreage also is smallest since 1922 and represents a reduction of 10 per cent from the 15,769,000 acres standing on July 1 this year of 37,290,000 July 1, 1931. U. S. acreage on acres was the smallest since 1923 and compared with 41,189,000 a year ago. Ten year average abandonment is 3.6 per cent for the United States.

Yield 134 Pounds Acre

Yield per acre in Texas is forecast at 134 pounds from condition of 69 per cent of normal against 165 pounds yield and 75 per cent condition a year ago. Yield indicated, however, is 8 pounds per acre above the 10-year, 1921-30, average and conditions are the same or better than the 5-year average in all Texas areas except in the North and Central districts. Condition is lower than a year ago in all districts except the Northwest, where it is about the same. U. S. indicated yield of 149.6 pounds per acre compares with 201.2 in 1931 and the average of 151.4 pounds; condition of 65.6 per cent compares with 74.9 a year ago and 66.4 the average.

Condition of the Texas crop on Aug. 1 by districts is estimated as: Northwest 80 per cent of normal against 80 a year ago and the 5-year average of 71; North 69, against 79 a year ago, and 71 the average; Northeast 69, against 76, and 66 the average; West 82, against 88, and 74 the average; West Central 77, against 80, and 69 the average; Central 66, against 75, and 68 the average; East age; South 59, against 62 and 65, against 74, and 65 the average, and Southeast, 66 per cent of normal, compared with 80 per cent a year ago and the average of 66 per cent.

Average Weevil Damage
 Boll weevil damage in Texas, with usual weather conditions the remainder of the season, is expected to be similar to that in the seasons of 1923, 1925 and 1928, when it ranged from 10 to 12 per cent. This compares with 9 per cent in 1931, 4 per cent in 1930 and 1921-30 average of 13 per cent. Weevils, however, are rather numerous in Texas fields and constitute a threat under conditions favorable to their spread. This year's cotton crop is reported as further advanced than the crops of 1927, 1929 and 1930 on this date, but later than the crops of 1926, 1928 and 1931. Stand is reported as better than any year since 1924, with the exception of 1926.—Dallas News.

SUDAN, "Quality Goods for Less" TEXAS

THE COMMERCIAL USE OF TEXAS HIGHWAYS IS A PRIVILEGE, NOT A RIGHT

● The highways of Texas are the property of its citizens. They constitute a system of nearly 200,000 miles of road of which 20,000 miles are designated as State highways and the remainder are county roads. All types of road are represented in this system, less than 5% have so-called "permanent" surface.

The total cost of these highways is unknown but it amounts to many hundred million dollars. From 1917 to 1930, inclusive, counties and road districts of the State issued $243,592,834 in bonds for the construction and improvement of roads and bridges. In the two-year period ending August 31, 1930, the State Highway Commission expended $89,032,825, of which $22,488,426 was for maintenance of the State highways.

In view of these tremendous costs the preservation of our highways from rapid wear and destruction is a matter of very vital interest to their owners, viz., the public. It is especially important that they be made to outlast the life of the bonds, which run from 20 to 30 years.

The use of the public highways for commercial purposes is not a right but a privilege which may be withheld or granted subject to such restrictions, regulations and charges as the Legislature may see fit to impose. Such regulations are intended to promote safety, preserve the highways and safeguard the interests of the public.

Texas Railroads, which pay the entire cost of construction and maintenance of their own roadbeds and, in addition, make substantial contributions to the cost of Texas highways, are thoroughly regulated with respect to their services, rates, methods and practices. There is no good reason why commercial users of the highways, built and maintained at the expense of the public, should not likewise be regulated to such extent as the public interest requires and pay such charges as will represent proper compensation for the privileges granted them.

● The statutes governing highway transportation as enacted by the Forty-second Legislature represent the wishes of the citizens of this State and express their desire to give equal rights to all and special privileges to none. These statutes should be given a fair trial and their value ascertained. Unless this is done, a chaotic condition in transportation as a whole will surely ensue.

MORAL TRAINING

Amarillo News-Globe: When Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing complained to a convention of teachers recently that the schools are ignoring moral training, he voiced a thought which has occurred to a good many Americans. "The splendid and costly educational program which has been the pride of our Government through the decades," said Warden Lewis, "has done nothing to mold the character of the people. Its insistence on scholastics has left no room for character training." This perhaps is a rather common complaint; and, when you stop to think about it, it seems wholly justified. Yet it arises, in part at least, from a confusion as to the function of the school, a confusion which is and always has been widespread in the United States.

No school, except the school of crime, really ignores moral training. Perhaps there is not usually a special course in the moralities, but every teacher worthy of the name is in himself or herself an example of trained morality, and the adage tells us that example is better than precept. Warden Lawes of Sing Sing probably is too much inclined to credit the testimony of his prisoners. Many a penitent convict gives himself an alibi to the effect that he "never had a chance." It isn't true. Every American has a chance. Every American, granting him normal intelligence, has free choice between right and wrong. He knows what is right, as well as what is wrong, and when wrong actions bring him to Warden Lawes' establishment, or a similar establishment elsewhere, his disclaimer of evil should be taken for no more than it is worth, and it can't be worth much. Moral training is a proper course in any school, even if not a popular one where tried. Yet every course in our public schools is a moral course fundamentally. The moralities are not to be put in lessons and absorbed from printed words. They are abstractions to be gathered from observation, association and right thinking. These are more impressive when gathered from life than when droned by lectures.—State Press in Dallas News.

CURING THE DOCTOR'S BILL

The New York Herald-Tribune Eminent sensible that one wonders why it was not thought of and put into effect long ago—is the plan whereby doctors will collect their fees in installments, via a central agency. About 1,000 dentists, physicians and surgeons in New York have become members of such an organization, the Mutual Professional Plan, Inc., to which we wish success. It is a two-way plan, offering relief to both parties involved on the following basis: The patient, before setting in the dentist's chair or lying on the operating table agrees upon the amount of the fee, signs a note and pays it off in monthly installments geared to his income, plus interest of 6 per cent, to the central agency, while, in turn, advances immediately to the physician one-half the total amount of the fee.

Such a plan would cure—at any rate, alleviate—the peculiar and usually highly irregular financial relations of patient and physician. Doctors do not like to be demanding, as theirs is a vital service which should always be given, when really necessary, regardless of reward. And the public is incredibly lax and mean where doctor's bills are concerned, putting them at the bottom of the monthly pile, delaying them a good part of the time never paying them at all. It always seems harder to pay for repairs than for acquisitions, and patients—unless they are visibly richer by a handsome set of gold teeth—dislike parting with money for a state of health which they feel should be theirs by natural right.

It is to be hoped that the plan will succeed as it deserves and be extended until the most important service one man can perform for another is on a basis at least as secure and accepted as the ownership of a vacuum cleaner or an electric icebox.

THE PIONEER PERIOD ENDS

By Bruce Catton

He would be stolid indeed who failed to get an emotional jar out of the news that for the first time in history more people are leaving America than are arriving.

The answer, of course, is obvious—hard times. The land of promise doesn't gleam quite as brightly as it used to, and as a result the number of immigrants to the United States is only about one-third the number of emigrants.

This condition beyond any doubt, is only temporary. Yet it does bring to a full stop one of the most amazing movements of the people in the story of mankind—the movement that began before the 18th century was over and that ended just the other day.

Even though we have seen and read about this movement since we were children, we don't always appreciate its magnitude.

Consider the bare facts. At the time Washington began his first term as president, what is now the United States contained perhaps five million people—counting all the Indians, the Spanish and French at New Orleans and the Spanish and Mexicans in the southwest and along the west coast.

Today it contains upwards of 120,000,000. In less than a century and a half an almost empty continent has been filled up—filled up so thoroughly, indeed, that now there is no room in it for ambitious immigrants from beyond the seas. The world's most dazzling era of expansion is over at last. The last moments of the pioneer period are finished.

In the next few decades this change is going to have profound effects on every aspect of national life. The days of easy money, boom times, even new opportunities are done for. Life is going to be less fluid, class lines are going to harden, the path from the log cabin to the great mansion is going to become a little more difficult to travel.

But those are things for the economist, the sociologist and the historian to discuss. At the moment we can get only the emotional side of it. A period in history has come to a close. The people of the United States are beginning a new day.

NATIONAL AIR RACES

Lubbock, Aug. 7.—Sixty to seventy of the fastest air planes made today drop down at the Lubbock Municipal Airport Tuesday, August 23, competing for honors and prizes totaling ten thousand dollars in the National Air Races.

Following the arrival of the race planes, three stunt flyers of national fame will thrill the crowd an hour and a half with daring air feats never heretofore equaled in Texas.

The race planes, the western wing of the Cord Cup Race of the National Air Races, starting immediately following the cross-country races at Cleveland, Ohio, will come to Lubbock from Roswell. They will spend the night in Lubbock, jump to Abilene and Bartlesville, Oklahoma, the next day, then rush into Cleveland.

Several thousand people from Lubbock and the Plains section are expected here for the races and air show as Lubbock and Abilene are the only central points in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Masten spent Saturday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Rollins and family. They enjoyed a fine turkey dinner Sunday.

Betty Fay and Frank Stark returned to their home in Seminole after an extended visit with their sister Mrs. Herbert Teal and family. Obe Teal of Lubbock who had been visiting his brother, Herbert Teal and family accompanied them as far as Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Slaughter and family returned the first of the week after two weeks vacation.

Women who patronize Conoco Service Stations are delighted with the courtesy and helpfulness of Conoco salesmen. There is nothing forward or obtrusive about their service, but it has the little touches of respect and thoroughness that make it pleasing.

Conoco men always see that your windshield is polished clean, that your tires are checked accurately and that the radiator is filled . . . without splashing. They are glad to furnish battery water, if you desire.

Women are especially pleased with the spotless, plainly marked Conoco rest-rooms which are available for them.

Women who are traveling by car find Conoco service invaluable. At any Conoco station they can learn the condition of near-by roads, receive accurate mileage and route information, obtain dependable road maps and authentic details about local hotels, camps, sports and sources of supplies. The Conoco man will check packages and arrange to handle mail and telegrams.

All of these services are free, of course; not only free, but rendered with a spirit that leaves no doubt that the Conoco man is eager to be helpful.
