AMARILLO BOY NO-BILLED IN ROBBERY CASE

Lubbock, Oct. 31.—Absolved of all guilt in the two hi-jackings of 'M' System Stores and the fatal shooting of Robert Tharp in one of the holdups here October 15, H. C. (Buddy) Blanton of Amarillo, was released from the Lubbock county jail at about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

A 99th District Court grand jury Monday no-billed Blanton and A. C. Hanna, grand jury foreman, of Slaton, ordered Sheriff Wade Hardy to release the young man.

Blanton, 21-year-old Amarillo High school star, was arrested early Sunday morning, October 23, in Amarillo being held there for Lubbock officers.

After the youth had been taken to Lubbock where several persons identified Blanton as the robber of a grocery store and the gunman in the slaying of Robert Tharp, the boy claimed at the county jail there that he could furnish an alibi and that he "wasn't given a chance in Amarillo to prove."

As a result of Blanton's statement to Lubbock officials, District Attorney Durwood Bradley took the inquiry to Amarillo where 22 witnesses, testifying in a court of inquiry traced the boy's movements on the day of the robbery and slaying and established what the district attorney claimed was an "iron clad alibi."

LAMB COUNTY 4-H CHAMPIONS SELECTED

Lamb County 4-H club boys have just completed a year's work, and records have been coming into the county agent's office, and have been judged by a committee of one banker, and two business men: C. A. Duffy; W. F. Rowland and Frank Rogers. Following are the awards made this year: Grain Sorghums demonstrations—Floyd Venable, Sudan. First and Champion feed producer of the county 4-H clubs; J. D. Humphries, Littlefield, second; Merrill Brigrance, Olton, third; James Barnett, Olton fourth. In Cotton Demonstrations records received: First and champion cotton producer of Lamb county 4-H clubs, Ansel Miller, Amherst; Second, Doyle Dyer, Spade; Third, Jimmy Wedel, Littlefield.

In swine demonstration: Harrel Hunt, Spade, first and champion swine producer of the Lamb county 4-H clubs; Second, John Rae Hammock, Sudan.

Beef Calves: First and champion for record finished during 1932, Lonnie Neinst, Hart Camp, Champion beef calf feeder.

Winners in these contests will represent Lamb county (providing they are 14 years of age) in the State wide contests which will be judged on November 1, at College Station, Texas. Each record is judged on the following basis, 30 per cent yield; 30 per cent profit; 20 per cent on history of the demonstrations; and 29 per cent on the effect of the demonstration. The Santa Fe railroad offers a trip to Chicago to the International Livestock Show to the boys of age and who are winners in the State Wide contest. Armour and Co., offer a trip to the best beef calf record in the state, and these records are judged on the above basis, and it is hoped the Lamb county 4-H club boys can win the pro rata share of the trips, which will be one boy from any one county, which the Santa Fe railroad touches.

Church Hallowe'en Social A Success

The Hallowe'en social held at the Methodist church, and sponsored by the Young People's class, was declared a decided success, by the large crowd present.

Many games in keeping with Hallowe'en were played by young and old. Refreshments of pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream, and coffee was served.

HAS BIG DAY

Salem Dry Goods company had 38 clerks employed in his store Saturday. All of the clerks were kept busy during the day and Mr. Salem reported the best day since he has been in business in Sudan.

CAMPAIGNERS ARE MAKING LAST APPEAL TO VOTERS

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Nov. 3.—The Texas political curtain rose today on the final whirlwind wind-up of the campaign for votes in the November 3 general election, and campaign-ers were making their last appeal to voters with only a few days left in which to put their gubernatorial hopes.

Orville Bullington, Republican candidate for governor, was making a long jump from the oil fields of East Texas into the Wheat fields and grazing lands of the Texas Panhandle. The chili Texas norther swept across the vast plains of North Texas failed to cool his enthusiasm or retard his increasingly confident predictions of a sweeping victory over his rival, Mrs. Miram A. Ferguson, nominee of the Lubbock Democratic convention.

Meanwhile the Fergusons were still pleading with Texas Democrats to "vote 'er straight" and seeking to join the state governor's race with the national presidential contest between Roosevelt and Hoover. Whether their efforts will be rewarded next Tuesday in the election returns depends to a large extent upon the choice of Texas voters between a Democratic president in Washington with Jim and Ma Ferguson in Austin or a Democratic president with Orville Bullington as the state's chief executive.

Beginning with a prediction that his wife would be elected by a 7000,000 majority over Bullington, Ferguson has steadily the present time it has taken the form of a prediction of victory, but without any quotations as to the number of votes Mrs. Ferguson will receive. Straw voters, significant despite the fact that they are not entirely dependable, have shown Bullington sentiment decidedly in the ascendancy. Observers have pointed out that Butte in 1924 carried 47 Texas counties over Mrs. Ferguson, but that there never any belief that Butte would be elected, while the feeling that Bullington will emerge victorious is growing rapidly. On the basis of editorial comment in newspapers from all parts of the state, it is practically certain that Bullington is leading in a great many more than 47 counties, and if the gains he has made are put into effect next Tuesday, there is considerably more than an even chance he will be elected.

Partisans of the candidates were stressing the importance of "getting all the voters to the polls." Democrats supporting the candidacy of Bullington were urging that all anti-Ferguson Democrats indicate their opposition to "the return of Fergusonism" by casting their ballots for Bullington, pointing out the desirability of showing a landslide vote for the Roosevelt Garner ticket in the national race. The Fergusons likewise were urging that everybody vote in the primaries would be influenced by the spirit of party regularity to vote the entire Democratic ticket and disregard their legal right to scratch Mrs. Ferguson's name on the ballot in favor of Bullington.

In the meantime, many Texans are not aware of the fact that the eyes of the nation have been focused on the Lone Star State. Comment in such newspapers as the New York Sun, Savannah (Ga.) Press, Waterbury (Conn.) American, Lockport (N. C.) Observer, Memphis Commercial Appeal, Dec at (Ill.) Herald, Springfield (Mass.) Union, and scores of others all indicate that the nation is smiling humorously at the prospect of seeing Mrs. Ferguson again in the governor's chair.

A suggestion of the general attitude adopted toward Texas with Mrs. Ferguson and 'Jim' at the helm is indicated by the following quotation from an editorial in the New York Sun: "Many are wondering whether Texas will decide that 1932 is as good a year as any to put an end to the eternal nonsense of vindicating Jim Ferguson."

YANKEE PITCHER VISITS IN SUDAN

Wiley Moore, a pitcher for the New York Yankee baseball team, accompanied by his wife and three children were visiting in Sudan Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore and children are visiting his brother, Moody Moore at Balleboro.

Tech Gets Holiday After Defeating Notre Dame B 39-0

Lubbock, NOV.—Given a holiday from practice Monday for the first time since the training season opened on Sept. 10, Texas Tech's high flying Matadors were back at work Tuesday in preparation for the ninth game of the season here Friday night against the Trinity University Tigers, one of the leading clubs of the Texas Conference.

With seven victories out of 8 games, the Matadors hope to go on through the schedule of 12 undefeated, thus paving the way for a big post season inter-sectional tilt. Their 39 to 0 win over the strongest B team Coach Hunk Anderson could send from Notre Dame last week provided the 238th point of the season against 14 for the opponents, Texas A. & M. and New Mexico Normal are the only teams which have been able to score against the Matadors.

This week's game with Trinity, scheduled as a "breather," may prove more than that. While they are favorites to win, the Matadors expect no set up. Undefeated in the Texas Conference save for a 7-0 loss to the Simmons Cowboys in a hard tussle, the Trinity eleven is reported to be priming hard in an endeavor to catch the Matadors off guard.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Lubbock and Hilton Hotel drug stores, reserved seats priced at the low rate of $1.10, including tax. Mail orders should be addressed to the department of athletics.

With Tech as the favorite, a large crowd is expected to witness the game this week. Large crowds for Tech games are necessary if the school ever breaks into the Southwest Conference. Following the Trinity setto, the Matadors will get ready for the Baylor University Bears, who play here on the afternoon of November 11. Tickets for this game are also on sale now, and an early sell out is predicted by college officials.

Light Plant Being Installed At Earth

According to reports from Earth, C. Sanders of Oklahoma is installing machinery for an electric light plant which is to serve the people of Earth. The plant will be completed within the next few weeks.

The plant will operate from 5:00 A. M. to 12:00 at night. This will add much to the little town of Earth.

Dr. Croft filled his regular appointment in Sudan today.

BUY IN SUDAN

According to shoppers who visit neighboring towns and cities, it will pay to buy their shoes in Sudan. Recently a lady was shopping in Amarillo and priced a pair of shoes. The price was $8.50. Upon returning home the next day she looked at the shoes at Alderson's and found a pair exactly like the pair she priced in Amarillo, same brand, style and all, and they were priced at $4.00. She bought the shoes from the local store and saved $4.50. Others might profit by this experience by buying your merchandise in Sudan.

Ladies To Serve Dinner Tuesday 8th

The ladies of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will serve dinner on Tuesday, November 8—election day—in the McLarty building next door to the Post Office.

Twenty-five cents a plate is the small charge. The proceeds will go for church purposes.

Your patronage will be appreciated by the ladies.

NOTICE

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees on Monday night it was decided to postpone the opening of school one week longer. Thus setting the date for school to reopen Monday November 14th. This will allow one more week for gathering as this has been delayed some on account of the bad weather we had a week or so ago.

The board at this meeting also extended the time for the payment of taxes with the allowance of an extra five per cent discount to November 25th, 1932. W. N. McNeely, Sec'y.

ALLERITA LOOMIS PLAYERS HERE SOON

Allerita Loomis players will be here for a week's engagement starting November 14. The Loomis players are favorites among the people of Sudan and visit here annually.

Watch for their announcements in next week's issue of the News.

Dem Nominees, Garner Down, To Vote Straight

Dallas—Headed by Speaker John N. Garner, Democratic nominee for Vice-President every Texan member of Congress and every one of the party's nominees for State office in Texas has pledged himself to support the whole party ticket from President to Public Weigher.

In letters and telegrams to Maury Hughes of Dallas, chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, these leaders in public affairs have marshaled themselves behind the Lone Star State's most distinguished son in a steady drive down the line to defeat Republicanism with a national ticket headed by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and a State ticket headed by Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

"It seems rather absurd to me that there should be any question as to whether I expect to vote the straight Democratic ticket," Speaker Garner wrote to Mr. Hughes in a forceful letter. "At no time have I deviated from my rule to abide by the will of the majority of my party. Majority rule is the essence of democracy, and while it is true that at times the majority may make mistakes, it is also true that this is the exception rather than the rule."

"You may state to those who make inquiries of you that it is my intention to vote the straight Democratic ticket."

RETURN TO SUDAN

V. C. Nelson returned last week from Burlingame, Kansas, where he had been called to the bedside of his father who died shortly after his arrival in Burlingame.

Mrs. Fred Berry accompanied her brother, V. C. Nelson, to Sudan and visited here several days before starting for her home in Daytona Beach, Florida.

APPENDIX OPERATION

G. W. Masten was taken to a Lubbock hospital Wednesday afternoon where he underwent an operation for appendicitis Wednesday evening at 7:30. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Masten, and T. W. Alderson, of Sudan, and Robert's brother of Amherst, W. C. Masten.

Reports from Lubbock this morning said that he rested well last night and was doing good.

Mrs. C. E. Cole and son, Johnny returned from Iola, Kansas, where they have been visiting the past two weeks with Mr. Cole's parents.

CONGRESSMAN SPEAKING FOR ROOSEVELT-GARNER

Hon. Marvin Jones, Congressman from this district for a number of years, is carrying out a speaking tour in the Middle-western States in the behalf of our Democratic nominees for President and Vice-President—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner.

Mr. Jones is a Democrat and believes that Roosevelt and Garner will be elected in a landslide on November 8 and also believes that the people of this country are going to stamp out Republicanism by voting for the Democratic nominees.

Aged Father Of V. C. Nelson Dies

The death of F. M. Nelson, father of V. C. Nelson of Sudan, removed old resident of Burlingame, Kansas. Mr. Nelson had lived in Burlingame continuously for the past 61 years and was vice-president of the First National Bank at that place at the time of his death.

His son, V. C. Nelson, of this city is a pioneer in West Texas, having spent more than 30 years in the Panhandle. Besides his large holdings in this country he is president of the First National Bank of Sudan.

The Burlingame Enterprise-Chronicle carried the following account of Mr. Nelson's death:

With a record in the Burlingame community that probably duplicated the long and useful career of F. M. Nelson, one of the pioneers of Kansas, closed with his death last Thursday evening, October 20, 1932, having passed the age of 85 years. Mr. Nelson came to this community from Warren county, Ohio, in 1871, and for 61 years he had made Burlingame his home, and at least 43 years of this time he had been an official of some Burlingame bank, besides being actively engaged in other business. It was only seven years ago that he retired from active service because ill health made it imperative.

Influenced by the fact that several relatives had come to this section of Kansas some years prior to 1871, Mr. Nelson decided to come west and cast his lot here. In contrast to this journey of earlier years, the trip was made by rail, for by that time the Santa Fe had laid its rails to Burlingame and beyond. The only break was at St. Louis where the Mississippi was crossed by ferry as the first bridge across that river had not yet been constructed. Upon arriving here he engaged in the cattle business with his brother, O. H. Nelson, on the farm three miles east of town.

In 1872 the Burlingame Savings Bank was organized following the failure of a private bank operated by P. C. Schuyler and Son, and Mr. Nelson, who had been employed in banking work in Ohio, was elected cashier and continued in this capacity until the business was sold to Levi P. Emple. In the early eighties another bank was organized known as the Traders' Bank with its office where the F. E. Burke Insurance Agency is now located. Mr. Nelson served several years as cashier of this institution.

In partnership with his brother-in-law, H. B. Alexander, who was the engineer in charge of the construction of the Alma Branch Railroad, Mr. Nelson for a time engaged in railroad construction work. Later he formed a partnership with another brother-in-law, C. V. King, in the grocery business and continued until 1894, at which time he was elected County Treasurer of Osage county, serving four years. In February 1901 he was elected cashier of the Burlingame Bank operated by H. D. Shepperd and continued with it until it was incorporated with the First National Bank and he was elected Vice-President of that institution. Following the death of A. M. Miner he became cashier. Although retiring from active service in 1925, he still remained a member of the Board of Directors and took an interest in the Bank's affairs until the time of his death.

In addition to his business activities Mr. Nelson took an active part in the religious and civic interests of Burlingame. All during his residence here he was one of the main stays of the Presbyterian church, on its Official Board helping to direct its business, contributing to its

Banquet Last Tuesday Night

As guests of Miss Ruby Mashburn, home demonstration agent, and D. A. Adam, county agent, 23 persons from different points of the county gathered at a banquet at the Amherst Hotel Tuesday night.

The banquet was held for the purpose of enlightening the people of Lamb county in regard to the work being done by the agent in this county. It was a home demonstration and county big success in every way. All of the food served were products of Lamb county.

A number of fine talks were made by those present along 4-H club work among the boys and girls of Lamb county, also the meat curing process, and the ladies' various demonstrations.

Sterling C. Evans, district agent, said in his talk that Lamb county was one of the best in his district, and he urged the continuance of the fine co-operation in agricultural work in this county.

Much praise was given to both the home demonstration and county agents by all the speakers, and they urged that the work must be continued to preserve the agriculture future of this great county.

Those present for the occasion were: Horace Walker, county commissioner; H. P. Webb, superintendent Olton schools; Mr. Hulsey, vocational teacher Olton high school; Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Fent, Olton; Dr. Ira E. Woods, president Littlefield chamber of commerce; J. W. Hale, secretary Littlefield chamber of commerce; F. G. Sadler, Littlefield; Senator-elect and Mrs. Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield; Rogers Willett, vice-president Amherst First National bank; C. A. Duffy, cashier Amherst First National bank; E. F. Huntsinger, editor Amherst Argus; L. D. Gaither, foreman Halsell Cattle company, Earth; Robert L. May, farmer east of Amherst; Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Peterman, northeast of Amherst; Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Adam; Miss Ruby Mashburn; Jack Bradley Amherst 4-H club boy; Miss Doris Loyd, Amherst 4-H club girl; and Mrs. C. M. McFall.

Box Supper A Success

The box supper held at the Friendship church eight miles south of town last Saturday night was a big success, netting the church $116.55.

The box supper was sponsored by the people of that community to raise money for the final installment on their light plant for the church.

Farmer's Gin, Sudan; White-side Gin, Sudan; Terry Gin, Sudan; Beck Gin, James Tabernacle; Bula Gin, Bula; and Gage Gin, Circleback; contributed one gin ticket each to the church which were sold to the highest bidders. The tickets brought $40.00. Nichol's Grocery and Market, Sudan, contributed a sack of flour which was also auctioned off. V. C. Nelson of Sudan donated $5.00 to the church. Jack Rowan auctioned off the boxes and gin tickets.

The people of that community want to thank all those who helped with the box supper and those who made donations.

FARM NOTES

Floyd Venable, Champion 4-H feed producer, report that he made a yield of 56.1 bushels of hepari to the acre, while his neighbors made from 30-40 bushels to the acre; due to his proper spacing, use of certified seed, and the use of copper carbonate for smut control. Having already sold approximately half of his crop for seed, and using the other half for hog feeding demonstration, he reports a profit of $53.55 for 3.4 acres of feed.

Ansel Miller, Champion 4-H cotton producer, reports a yield of 553.7 pounds of lint (weighed) per acre on his 6 2-5 acres of Acala cotton. His cotton was planted May 20, and October 21, on the first going over, picked and pulled 5 and 2-3 bales of cotton, while there is about a bale and one half left in the field. His cotton stapled 1 1-32 inches. He reports sale of his cotton at $5.76 and $5.50 while others were getting from $5.00-$5.25. Total amount of seed produced was 6250 lbs. and he has placed all of these

How Democrats May Vote For ORVILLE BULLINGTON FOR GOVERNOR

Orville Bullington

Assuming you want to vote for ROOSEVELT and GARNER and all the rest of the Democratic nominees, except Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, the only name you mark out in the Democratic column is Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, as shown below. In the Republican column you mark out everything from top to bottom, except Orville Bullington. In the next column, the Socialist, you draw a line from top to bottom, and the same for the other five columns. If two gubernatorial candidates' names appeared unmarked, neither would get a vote and your ballot would not be counted.

You must leave all the 23 electors unmarked in the party you want and mark out all of them in the other columns in order to cast a vote for your presidential choice.

Below is the important corner of the official ballot correctly marked if you want ROOSEVELT, GARNER and BULLINGTON and the rest of the Democratic nominees.

THE FARMER—1960

David Snedden of Columbia University anticipates that in 1960 there will still be from eight to ten million individual farmers in the country, each having managerial responsibility for fixed property worth $5,000 to $50,000. Most of these farmers, he believes, will specialize in one or two money crops and will purchase their large staples and market their products through cooperative agencies.

Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin, recently said that unless the farmer follows a new economics he will so far as being a free man is concerned, become a vanishing type. "In this new economics," he continued, "the principle of cooperative action will play a decisive role."

It is interesting to note that support for the cooperative movement is almost unanimous among progressive observers, on the farm and off. No economic principle has caused as little disagreement. Thousands of unbiased authorities, looking at the problem from the viewpoint of both the farmer and the consuming public, hold that cooperation is as essential as the proper cultivation of land. It is the farmer's assurance of future prosperity—and the public's assurance of a sound agricultural structure, with high standards of living, and producing and distributing quality commodities at a fair price.

THE UNENDING AGE

We know of mining as a great industry. We know that the production of metals, in normal times, affords employment for an army of workers, contributes to the prosperity of a thousand other industries, and makes possible the welfare of entire states.

There is still another phase to mining—its influence on civilization. With agriculture, it is one of the oldest industries. The history of the world, indeed, can be told through the symbol of metals. When primitive man first discovered copper a long step forward had been taken in the march of civilization. So with brass, lead, steel, etc.

There is hardly an industrial process that does not use metals—hardly a craft or a business that does not rely on them to some extent. The metallic age is always with us.

PLAIN TALK

of New York, said some words concerning the plight of the farmer. He pointed out that a leading cause of depression was the failure of farm prices to keep pace with the rising prices of the products of urban workers which they bought—and that no permanent recovery can be expected until farm prices reach reasonable and profitable levels.

Prosperity on the farm means prosperity for every other business, and more money in the pocket of every worker. Today, according to Mr. Sexauer, there are three or four million rural homes that are prospective markets for bathroom fixtures, kitchen appliances, electric lights and labor saving devices and similar commodities. People who live in those homes want to buy—concerns that make the articles want to sell. But they can't sell because the people have no money. Farmers have almost ceased to exist so far as being a market for the products of shop and factory is concerned.

Every progressive American, everyone interested in the nation's welfare, is behind the farmer in his fight. Many believe the solution to be mainly in organization—the banding together of farmers in strong cooperatives that have the size, the financing and the power. The fact that the cooperative movement is making progress in the face of determined and after unfair opposition by those who are against it for selfish reasons, is good season for "betting" on our agricultural future.

WHY DO WE HAVE FIRES?

That is a fair question—and one that can be answered. We don't have fires because they are unpreventable, and are an unfortunate but inescapable phase of modern life. We have them because we are careless—are incompetent—put a false form of "saving" ahead of real economy—and because we refuse to learn a few simple, easily understood lessons.

Every year we pay out $500,000,000 directly to the bill for fire. The indirect cost comes to several times that figure. Probably the total reaches two billion dollars or more. At least eighty per cent of it is unnecessary—that eighty per cent could well be termed the "carelessness bill." No other civilized people allows so great a waste in either dollars or lives.

We build homes cheaply, and below the standard of fire resistance recommended by authorities. We allow wiring to go unattended and fail to have the heating plant examined and overhauled at regular intervals. We permit rubbish to accumulate in corners. We put off "until tomorrow" the repairing of faulty chimneys. The inevitable result is fire.

Fire can be controlled. Its cost can be cut to a fraction of the present figure. Almost all of the ten thousand lives lost annually can be saved. The way to do that is simply by unremitting vigilance on the part of each of us.

Mrs. F. M. Faris and Mrs. Bud Ester returned Friday from Tahoka where they visited for several days.

THE TAX-PRODUCED DEPRESSION

Said Colonel Robert R. McCormick recently: "The depression here and throughout the world has been caused by excessive taxes, which have made industry and commerce unprofitable, have prevented them from saying any surplus of raising new capital, and have thrown millions of men out of work."

Mr. Average Business Man will say "amen" to that. The hand of the tax collector reaches as insistently into the small concern as the large one. It touches, relatively speaking, the millionaire and the clerk about alike, though in the latter's case the taxes are paid indirectly. It falls on the small farm and the great industry with disastrous consequences for each.

Taxes—industrial retrenchment—depression. One follows the other, with taxes leading the way.

"Be especially sure your brakes are effective; be sure your tires are in first class condition, also your lights and your windshield wiper.

"Cut down on your summer speed.

"Allow for early darkness and for decreased visibility.

"If you find your car going into a skid, do not jam on your brakes."

Available statistics indicate that automobile fatalities in the United States decreased about 12 per cent the first 7 months of this year. If that record were to be maintained up to, and including December 31st, it would fall below 30,000 for the first time since 1928. However, the supreme test is now being applied. Every agency nowadays is endeavoring to bring about a reduction in automobile insurance rates. A winter driver should realize that he can contribute most to the success of this movement by driving which will decrease the number of accidents.

Under the most perfect conditions, the driver of an automobile should exercise extreme care. And when the bad days come, that care should be stretched to the utmost.

THE UNENDING AGE

We know of mining as a great industry. We know that the production of metals, in normal times, affords employment for an army of workers, contributes to the prosperity of a thousand other industries, and makes possible the welfare of entire states.

There is still another phase to mining—its influence on civilization. With agriculture, it is one of the oldest industries. The history of the world, indeed, can be told through the symbol of metals. When primitive man first discovered copper a long step forward had been taken in the march of civilization. So with brass, lead, steel, etc.

There is hardly an industrial process that does not use metals—hardly a craft or a business that does not rely on them to some extent. The metallic age is always with us.

PLAIN TALK

of New York, said some words concerning the plight of the farmer. He pointed out that a leading cause of depression was the failure of farm prices to keep pace with the rising prices of the products of urban workers which they bought—and that no permanent recovery can be expected until farm prices reach reasonable and profitable levels.

Prosperity on the farm means prosperity for every other business, and more money in the pocket of every worker. Today, according to Mr. Sexauer, there are three or four million rural homes that are prospective markets for bathroom fixtures, kitchen appliances, electric lights and labor saving devices and similar commodities. People who live in those homes want to buy—concerns that make the articles want to sell. But they can't sell because the people have no money. Farmers have almost ceased to exist so far as being a market for the products of shop and factory is concerned.

Every progressive American, everyone interested in the nation's welfare, is behind the farmer in his fight. Many believe the solution to be mainly in organization—the banding together of farmers in strong cooperatives that have the size, the financing and the power. The fact that the cooperative movement is making progress in the face of determined and after unfair opposition by those who are against it for selfish reasons, is good season for "betting" on our agricultural future.

WHY DO WE HAVE FIRES?

That is a fair question—and one that can be answered. We don't have fires because they are unpreventable, and are an unfortunate but inescapable phase of modern life. We have them because we are careless—are incompetent—put a false form of "saving" ahead of real economy—and because we refuse to learn a few simple, easily understood lessons.

Every year we pay out $500,000,000 directly to the bill for fire. The indirect cost comes to several times that figure. Probably the total reaches two billion dollars or more. At least eighty per cent of it is unnecessary—that eighty per cent could well be termed the "carelessness bill." No other civilized people allows so great a waste in either dollars or lives.

We build homes cheaply, and below the standard of fire resistance recommended by authorities. We allow wiring to go unattended and fail to have the heating plant examined and overhauled at regular intervals. We permit rubbish to accumulate in corners. We put off "until tomorrow" the repairing of faulty chimneys. The inevitable result is fire.

Fire can be controlled. Its cost can be cut to a fraction of the present figure. Almost all of the ten thousand lives lost annually can be saved. The way to do that is simply by unremitting vigilance on the part of each of us.

Mrs. F. M. Faris and Mrs. Bud Ester returned Friday from Tahoka where they visited for several days.

Said Colonel Robert R. McCormick recently: "The depression here and throughout the world has been caused by excessive taxes, which have made industry and commerce unprofitable, have prevented them from saying any surplus of raising new capital, and have thrown millions of men out of work."

Mr. Average Business Man will say "amen" to that. The hand of the tax collector reaches as insistently into the small concern as the large one. It touches, relatively speaking, the millionaire and the clerk about alike, though in the latter's case the taxes are paid indirectly. It falls on the small farm and the great industry with disastrous consequences for each.

Taxes—industrial retrenchment—depression. One follows the other, with taxes leading the way.

DATES OF KILLING FROSTS FOR 21 YEARS

Spur, October 26.—Data on October rainfall and also the first killing freeze, for the past 21 years was made public here by R. E. Dickson, superintendent of the State experiment station.

Mr. Dickson's records date back to 1911. They are of interest especially in view of the unusual weather conditions that have prevailed throughout the territory since shortly after the middle of September.

Depends On Weather

"The amount of cotton harvested in a large portion of Northwest Texas depends largely upon the weather conditions during October and the time of the first killing frost," Mr. Dickson said. "The following data taken from the meteorological records at the Spur experiment station will be of interest.

"Average rainfall for October is 2.90 inches. During the past 21 years there have been four years with less than an inch of rain, 1917, 1921, 1924 and 1925. There have been six years with over five inches of rain, 1914, 1919, 1923, 1926 and 1930.

"The average date of the first killing frost in the fall is November 2. Earliest frost to occur was on October 18, 1920, and the latest November 27, 1931. (These records date back only to 1911.)"

Following is the data on first killing frost and rainfall from 1911 to 1931 inclusive:

Year	Killing Frost	Rainfall October
1911	Oct. 22	1.03
1912	Oct. 23	1.87
1913	Oct. 27	2.94
1914	Oct. 28	5.23

ON TEXAS FARMS

"Canned goods are worth more to me than money," declared R. D. Burnside of Alfief community, Harris county, as he gave a cash donation to a storm relief committee calling on him for canned stuff from the family pantry.

Fifteen farmers in Dickens county successfully killed and cured 25 hogs last July under refrigeration in a county agent demonstration. Many of the hogs were attractively wrapped for sale under distinctive "Cap Rock Country Cured" label.

At 12 weeks of age, 10 pigs belonging to R. J. Marshall in Taylor county weighed 994 pounds, having made average gains of 43.7 pounds in 30 days on self feeders. The ration consisted of equal parts of wheat, milo, and corn with a protein supplement of equal parts cottonseed meal and tank age, and 10 pounds of bone meal, three pounds of salt, and plenty of clean water and shade. In Bowie county 66 farmers have agreed to build home sweet potato curing houses by county agent plans. Ten of these were completed early in the summer.

Farmers are conservative. Their business makes them so. Nature moves slowly its wondrous to perform. In the city a bold stroke may win wealth over night, but on the farm, wealth—modest wealth at that—comes only as a result of skill and managerial ability, as a rule.

Because farmers are so conservative, their estimates of the value of terracing should be received with due respect. County agents have estimated a terraced acre to be worth $5 more than an unterraced one. Farmers' estimates average $7.92. More than that, a terraced acre yields from $1 more per acre to double the yield of unterraced land, say the farmers.

Texas has more than six million acres terraced and contoured, and when county agent reports for the full year come in the total will probably crowd the seven million mark. The increased farm income from these acres will run more than $10,000,000 this year, if farmers are to be taken at their own estimates. Any one item that turns loose that much more money every year in the channels of trade is a tremendous factor in Texas business.

Let him who doubts read the statement of the United States Bureau of Chemistry and Soils that soil erosion uses up more plant food in one year in the United States than 21 years of growing crops on the land. The fact is, another generation or two of soil washing, unhindered by terraces, would ruin Texas farming, and all business is based on agriculture.

As it is from one-fifth to one-fourth the lands in need of protection are terraced or contoured now; the movement headed by county agents is proceeding at the rate of more than a million acres per year; there remain something over 20 million acres to be protected.

F. M. NELSON'S DEATH

(Continued from page one) support, and loyal in attendance at its services. In its ranks he will be sadly missed. In civic life he served the city two terms as Mayor and was a member of the Board of Education nearly thirty years. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, also a Royal Arch Mason, a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Order of Cincinnati. Of the men living when he came to Burlingame, only two are left, J. W. Rullison, and Chris Idly.

Frank Mathews Nelson was born July 13, 1847, at Fort Ancient, Ohio, and died at 7:15 Thursday evening, October 20, 1932 at Burlingame, Kansas. He came to Burlingame in 1871 and resided here until his death. In 1875 he was married to Alice Mary King, daughter of Rev. Victor M. King, the first pastor of the Presbyterian church after its consolidation with the Congregational church. To this union three children were born, all whom are living, Victor C. of Sudan, Texas; Mrs. Ada Nelson Berry of Daytona Beach, Florida; and Hayden F. of Memphis, Tennessee. He is also survived by one grandson, Lieutenant Frederic A. Berry Jr., U. S. N.

Although not feeling quite so well as usual Monday, during the day he had visited with friends on the street and spent part of the afternoon in the C. V. King store as was his customary practice. About 5:30 he started for the hotel and was stricken on the way, but was able with help to reach his chair in the hotel. When the supper call came, he was not able to answer and was carried to his bed where he lay in a state of coma until his passing. At his bedside were his two sons, Victor and Hayden, Mrs. Hayden Nelson, C. V. King, and Earl Lord.

During Saturday and Sunday the body lay in state in the Chamber of Commerce room at the Commercial Hotel and funeral services were held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian church conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. C. Wolters. Music was furnished by the organist and the choir of the church. Burial was at the church cemetery. A. F. & A. M. attended in a body and conducted Masonic services at the grave side in the Burlingame cemetery.

FARM NOTES

(Continued from page one) for planting seed at 60c per bushel. From sales of cotton and sales of seed he showed a net return on labor and investment of $238.54 after deducting $84.95 for seed, picking, and ginning.

Harrell Hunt, Champion swine producer of the 4-H clubs, reports that he produced 1960 lbs. of pork from one Duroc Jersey gilt, and at a cost of 2c per pound feed cost. He has several gilts on hand, and one boar.

Lonnie Neinst, Champion baby beef producer during 1932, reports a profit of $48.58 on his five calves exhibited and sold at the Lubbock Fat Calf and Pig Show during last March. He fed five calves that averaged 527 pounds in weight to begin with on October 23, 1931, and sold the calves at an average weight of 758 2-5 pounds on March 23, 1932. These calves ate 9300 pounds machine head-end Kafir, 7800 pounds kafir bundles, 1600 pounds cotton seed meal, and 2 blocks salt. His heads were put in at a price of $2.00 per ton; and his bundles at $2.00 per ton; and he purchased cotton seed meal at 80c per hundred. These calves averaged a daily gain of 1.58 and the beef cost per pound of gain was .0217. Original cost of calves was 5 1-2c per pound, and they sold at an average price of 6c per pound.

Meat demonstrations will be conducted in Lamb county under supervision of D. A. Adam, County Agent, and Ruby Mashburn, Home Demonstration agent. Farmers are urged to watch this paper for announcements as to community, and farms upon which they are to be held. These shall begin in about two weeks.

There will be a grape field day held in Lamb county on December 8, under the supervision of J. F. Rosborough, Extension Horticulturist, and D. A. Adam, County Agent. Pruning, setting out of cuttings, insect control and other phases of this work will be demonstrated.

BLUE BONNET

The club met on their regular date, November 3rd in the home of Mrs. Edgar Wright. Her home was beautifully decorated featuring Thanksgiving. Autumn bouquets, red apples, autumn leaves, and pumpkins fixed as turkeys and flower vases were used.

Sixteen were present and two new members—Mrs. J. A. Vernon and Mrs. Doyle Terrell.

The purpose of the meeting was business. The following officers were elected: President—Mrs. Charlie Crawford, Vice-president—Mrs. J. M. Brantner, Secretary and Treasurer—Mrs. Edgar Wright, Council member—Mrs. G. A. Benefield. Reporter—Mrs. W. E. Logan, Palamentarian—Mrs. W. T. Aitaway.

All members pledged themselves to try and be a better worker for the ensuing year. There was a social hour honoring Mrs. W. P. Davis. She was surprised with a shower of gifts, dainty refreshments were joint hostesses—Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Charlie Crawford—consisting of toasted cheese sandwiches and doughnuts.

Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. J. M. Brantner the 16th. Miss Mashburn will be in charge of the lesson that is to be a complete menu. All are urged to be present as our members need to know more on this important subject. Bring your menu with you.

A few of the outstanding things some of our members have done this year that is worth mentioning are:

Mrs. Logan has repainted her dining room rearranged the pictures and entire room.

Mrs. W. P. Davis has made a pretty dressing table for the girls bedroom from an old washstand and finished it.

Mrs. W. T. Attaway has added 14 feet of pantry shelving in her home.

Mrs. E. Wright has added 40 feet of shelving in her cellar.

Mrs. G. A. Benefield has added 50 feet of shelving in her cellar, made two lovely rag rugs, and added more space for her wardrobe.

Mrs. Charlie Crawford made and finished a nice book case containing six shelves 22 inches wide.

This is only a few things some of the women have done. A report will be given on more women in the near future.—Reporter.

HOW NOT TO BUILD ROADS

"How not to build roads" would be a good caption for the following recital of facts:

In a certain county in California less than 600 miles of road carries an average of not more than 100 cars per day, yet in a five-year period a total of $3,169,000 was spent for maintenance alone, according to the California Taxpayers Association. This sum would have oil surfaced 2,000 miles of road or would have put a heavier rock and oil surface on 1,000 miles. Instead of producing permanent results, nearly all of the maintenance money was spent in building and patching dirt roads which at best are rough and dusty.

During the same period, about $836,000 was spent for the maintenance of 384.7 miles of "bonded roads" in the county. This equals $2,174 per mile, sufficient to put a first-class oil surface on the entire mileage, yet in that time only 69 miles of these roads were paved and 249 miles are still unpaved.

The moral of this is that any road program must be judged by the conditions it is to meet. To build a $40,000 a mile super-highway in a territory where the volume of traffic is comparatively small would be as absurd as to build a dirt road where traffic is extremely heavy. Every state, county and town should make an unbiased and exhaustive study of local conditions, determine which type of road can give the most service for the least money—
