By Ronald Waters
THINGS ARE LOOKING UP and Ranger appears to be safely over the summer "slump".

ARE THESE MYSTERY CUTS too easy? Let me know what you think.

Lots of people know B. A. Tunnell, ticket agent at the Texas & Pacific Depot.

IN CASE YOU TEEN-AGERS are wondering where the new ping-pong table at Teen Town came from...

Hale donated the table, designed for home usage, so naturally it wouldn't take the stress and strain of rambunctious ping-pongers from Yongo-Ponga...

Most of Ranger is happy to see that Collins Construction Co. of Austin was successful bidder on the near million-dollar Interstate 20 highway project.

Farm Bureau Annual Barbecue Is Monday

Mevin T. Munn of Dallas, director of public relations of Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Texas will be the featured speaker at the annual barbecue and picnic sponsored by the Eastland County Farm Bureau Monday.

The annual affair will be held in Eastland City Park. Munn is a native Texas who received his education in Texas schools.

At present Munn is chairman of the Speakers Bureau of the Dallas Community Chest and a member of the Youth's Service Committee of the Dallas Council of Social Agencies.

Farm Bureau members who have been privileged to hear Mr. Munn in past years will be pleased to know that he is to be this year's barbecue speaker.

"The chance to hear Mr. Munn will be well worth the time and price of a barbecue ticket for Farm Bureau members as well as the public in general, who are urged to join in a good old fashioned barbecue," he added.

Candidates in the Farm Bureau Queen contest are Sidney Lou Seale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Seale of Eastland; Kathy Williamson, daughter of Mr. and

Mrs. D. F. Williamson of Eastland; Jan Rodgers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Rodgers of Ranger; Karen Steel, daughter of Mr. and

Band Marching School to Begin

Ranger Bulldog's marching band school will get underway Monday for five days of activities, set at the newly remodeled band room.

Marching rehearsals will begin at 7:30 a.m., to be followed by a full band rehearsal at 8:30. Drum majors, majorettes and the percussion section will also hold rehearsals during the day.

All band students in the eighth grade and high school, other than beginning students are expected to attend. Purpose of the school is to prepare the students for the band's first public appearance at the football game, Sept. 5.

Whitaker added, "It is very important that all band students attend this marching school from the very first day. The line-up of the band will be selected and the uniforms issued on the afternoon of the 26th."

Making up the marching band will be 55 uniformed players, two of which will be alternates (in case of illness or injury of another player).

Demo Primary Set Saturday

Eastland County voters will go to the polls Saturday to vote in the second Democratic primary election, but only in Cisco and Gorman is interest high.

Precinct 2 (Gorman - Carbon) and Precinct 4 (Cisco) voters will elect county commissioners. The only race on the Precinct 1 (Eastland - Ranger - Olden) and Precinct 3 (Rising Star) ballots will be for associate justice of the Supreme Court.

In Precinct 2, E. M. (Froggie) Bennett, the incumbent, is opposed by A. M. Thurman. Bennett lacked just two votes having a clear majority in the first primary, but ended up in a run-off with Thurman.

The Precinct 4 race has Clifford R. Pippen and Carl Lamb in a runoff. They were the top two men in a six-man race in the first primary.

The Supreme Court battle is between Edwin Smith, Houston attorney, and Robert Hamilton, now chief justice of the 8th District Court of Civil Appeals.

In the first primary Hamilton received 476,799 votes to 311,481 for Smith. A third candidate got (Continued on Page Six.)

Record Crowd Is Due at Strawn For Homecoming

STRAWN, Aug. 20 — A record attendance is expected for the 1958 Strawn Homecoming to be unveiled this weekend, according to Chairman Georgia Stephen.

The three-day event opens Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. with a downtown carnival, followed at 9 p.m. with a gala street dance.

Registration opens Saturday's schedule of events beginning at 9:30 a.m., and the day's highlights include a homecoming parade at 4 p.m. with cash prizes awarded to the best entries in several divisions.

Local troops and posts will compete for ribbon awards to be presented upon completion of the contests. Special recognition will go to the troop and post having the highest percentage of members present.

Dr. E. E. Addy of Cisco and Dr. T. C. Ford of Breckenridge are on the Health and Safety Committee under which the activities are conducted.

Boy Scouts have always stressed water safety in their program. At this time they are engaged in a national safety program to help people to be safety conscious.

In a planning meeting of scout leaders Tuesday night in Ranger details of the swim meet were worked out. Three judges from Ranger were named to assist three out-of-town judges to be selected.

Blaze Destroys Home Tuesday Morning

A five-room house, belonging to Mrs. Mary E. Frasier, located about 10 miles northwest of Ranger, burned to the ground early Tuesday morning.

Making the run were Charlie Isbell, fire chief, and Bill Orden. Isbell later returned to wet down the ashes in order to prevent a grass fire.

Cause of the fire was undetermined.

The blaze occurred on the Frasier farm, consisting of over 400 acres, about five miles southeast of the Breckenridge Highway and about seven miles from the Farm to Market road at Wayland.

Among the items destroyed in the blaze were a deep freeze, piano, refrigerator, stove, clothing and eye glasses belonging to the women. A collection of colored slides was also destroyed.

Daughters to Mrs. Mary Frasier, Vada teaches the second grade at Roscoe; Ola teaches junior high school at Breckenridge, and Otie is an English teacher at Olney.

The house was not covered by fire insurance.

Flooding to a water tank, sitting between the houses, was slightly burned.

Ranger Volunteer firemen were notified of the blaze by Billy J. Thompson, who lives near by. Mrs. Frasier awakened about 5 a.m. to find the house covered with smoke.

She and her two daughters, Otie and Vada Frasier—both living with her—made it safely to the home of another daughter, Ola Frasier, situated about 30 yards in front of the burning home.

Firemen battling the flames from 4:50 to 7 a.m. Tuesday, were able to prevent the fire from spreading. The house was a total loss, however. A butane tank, near the house, was in danger of exploding, firemen said, as was a gasoline tank sitting to the other side.

College instructors will report for work Tuesday, Sept. 2, for a two-weeks program of in-service training before registration begins, according to announcements from Ranger College.

The two-week workshop will orientate new instructors and prepare all faculty members for the 1958-1959 school year.

New instructors will be Miss Harriet Sidenberg - business; David Slaughter - lead coach and physical education; and Jim Peryear - assistant coach and education.

Schools Grew In Era of Expansion

(Editor's Note: This is the second part of a series of stories on the history of Ranger's Public Schools, taken largely from a thesis written by J. R. (Dutch) Ervin. Some information was gained from interviews with local people, conducted by Ervin and myself.)

Era of Expansion A good number of people now living in Ranger and the area remember going to school in the two-story wooden building, constructed in 1886. Most went to school, there, much later than the events related here, however.

Before the era of expansion, in Ranger's Public Schools, beginning in 1903, M. H. Hagaman came here to teach schools (in 1888). At the time of his arrival, there were only four other teachers in the system, with about 300 pupils enrolled.

Many of the students came from Stephens county and from as far south as Gorman.

When Hagaman and both his teachers—Miss Annie Gholson and Miss Alice Evans—married, the saying started, "If you want to get married, come to Ranger and teach school."

Hagaman taught algebra, higher arithmetic, plane geometry, physics, beginners Latin and higher engineering until 1889. In those days, courses offered by the public schools were a bit harder than they now are.

From 1889-'90 Hagaman served as superintendent of Ranger's schools. The next two years he served as superintendent of schools at Hasland. He went into business

Super Highway Work To Begin In Month

Work on the first section of the new coast to coast super highway, Interstate 23, which will cut across Eastland County, will begin sometime in September, Gordon Smith, resident highway engineer, declared Thursday.

Dr. E. E. Addy of Cisco and Dr. T. C. Ford of Breckenridge are on the Health and Safety Committee under which the activities are conducted.

Boy Scouts have always stressed water safety in their program. At this time they are engaged in a national safety program to help people to be safety conscious.

In a planning meeting of scout leaders Tuesday night in Ranger details of the swim meet were worked out. Three judges from Ranger were named to assist three out-of-town judges to be selected.

Ranger judges are Lee Russell, Boone Yarbrough and Beverly Dudley, Jr.

Events will be judged on the basis of speed. "Duke" Dixon, as (Continued on Page 2)

Collins' low bid on the project was $955,745.75. Bids were opened by the State Highway Department in Austin, Tuesday.

Two interchanges and six bridges will be included in the construction. He said the low bid was lower than anticipated by the Department. He earlier had predicted the work would cost more than a million dollars.

One of the overpasses will be 200 feet long and the other 190 feet long. They will be located at the Highway 16 intersection and the old Tudor Road between Strawn and Dendemona.

It is estimated that it will take roughly a year to complete the work (some 275 working days.)

The superhighway will be a four-lane asphalt and concrete expressway. It will be tied into 80 for the present, and will give Eastland County a divided highway from the Earth County line to west of Cisco.

Grid work-outs for the Ranger High School Bulldogs start next Monday at the new field house, with some 32 boys expected to participate.

Practice sessions will get underway each morning at 8 and each afternoon at 6. They will continue through Saturday and Labor Day (Sept. 1). When school starts (Sept. 2), work-outs will be held at 3 p.m. each school day.

Soon the football boys will be participating in group drills, scrimmages and calisthenics.

Head Coach Harold Barrett and Assistant Coach O. C. Warden have urged all football boys out for practice sessions. They say the boys should be in top physical condition, because workouts promise to be tough.

First football game is set with Gatesville, there, on Friday, Sept. 5. The Bulldogs will play Diamond Hill of Fort Worth in the first home game, set Sept. 19.

Junior high school practice, to start the first of school, is expected to draw about 25 boys.

Eight returning lettermen and some promising sophomores—with returning juniors and seniors—will be working towards a position on the "A" or "B" teams.

Lights Out To Discourage All Those Crickets

Hordes of visiting crickets, now manifesting themselves over Ranger, don't pose any health problem.

Attracted by lights and warmth, the crickets are especially conspicuous in the downtown area. Many local merchants are applying insecticides to their premises, and leaving off extra night lights.

Street lights were turned off Tuesday and Wednesday nights, by the city, in order to discourage the crickets. City Manager Les Crossley said lights would continue to be shut off until the crickets decrease.

It is believed that cricket eggs hatched out in July and matured in August and with ideal soil conditions for the eggs—the present menace was created.

Rev. Harvey Kimbler, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated the double ring ceremony amid a wedding scene centered with Swedish steele candelabra holding white burning tapers flanked with floor baskets of white gladioli. Completing the setting were more Swedish candelabra and green palms.

The beautiful kneeling pillow used on the prayer Brevi Dieu was a gift from Mrs. Ola Eldredge.

Card I. Garrett soloists, accompanied by Mrs. Donald L. Kinnaird, organist, as he sang "Peculiar" and "The Lord's Prayer." "I Love You Truly," "Oh Promise Me," Mendelssohn traditional wedding march and Tannhauser recessional were among the nuptial selections.

Ray Burton Norris was best man and Jerry Cantrell of Ranger, Michael Lisenbee, cousin of the bride, were the groomsmen.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported white Venetian lace over gleaming satin of ice blue. The curved neckline was scalloped with re-embroideries of the lace design. Long, tapered sleeves formed a point over her hands. The ruffled basque bodice tapered from a shallow point in front to a deep V in back. Tiny lace covered buttons marched from the neckline to waistline in back. The

Charles Burnett Completes Cruise

NORFOLK, Va. — Charles R. Burnett, ship's serviceman second class, USN, of Ranger, returned Aug. 6 to Norfolk, Va., aboard the destroyer USS Wren after completing a two-months Midshipmen cruise in the North Atlantic.

During the cruise, members of the crew instructed Midshipmen in navigation, engineering, operations and gunnery.

The Wren visited La Coruna, Spain; Gottenburg, Sweden, and Hamburg, Germany.

Quail Need Ample Cover

Austin, August—Texas bumper crop of quail may not lead to good hunting in some areas unless sufficient winter cover has already been provided, reports the Director of Wildlife Restoration of the Game and Fish Commission.

If farmers and ranchers have not taken steps to supply the quail with some sort of permanent woody cover and food, they can expect to find fewer birds this winter than are in their areas now.

"The natural fall shifting will account for some of the movement," Al Springs, Commission Wildlife Biologist, said. "But, the first freeze will cause quail to begin searching for new places with protection from predators and the weather."

Some brush pile cover added now might help keep quail, Springs added, but attention should have been given to this phase of quail management earlier for a good fall hunt.

Reports over the state still indicate this will be the best quail season in several years. The season is from Dec. 1 through Jan. 15, except in special regulatory areas. The law provides a bag limit of 12 a day and not more than 36 a week or in possession.

"Proper wildlife land management is the only presently known method of keeping quail in an area," the Director said.

Schools—

great success from the first, recalls Webb. Many members became teachers and 50 percent of them became college graduates.

Even before Peters became head of the schools in 1904, crowded conditions were making themselves felt, and a demand arose for a new building.

Following the voting of bonds, in the amount of $5,500, a two-story, six-room brick building was erected by mid-term of 1905. This building was used until the oil boom of 1919 for all pupils except the primary grades. As early as 1907, a small one-room wooden structure was built and equipped for primary students.

These buildings were built upon the original lots deeded by the Texas and Pacific Railroad in 1880. Adjoining grounds were obtained by the school board.

New teachers were added as the school system began to grow and expand. Among these was Mrs. C. E. May.

The school year of 1910-11 brought in a new superintendent, J. H. Darden, and an entire new staff of teachers. Three other superintendents followed, in quick succession, until M. H. Smith remained at the helm until the close of the term.

Progress became evident when M. H. Smith became superintendent of Ranger's Schools in 1915.

Schools opened in 1914 with 200 pupils and six teachers in the six-room brick building erected in 1905.

There were no teacher's desks (tables were used instead), no book cases, no books, no maps, no athletic equipment, no system for individual records, and no money.

Soon to come—however—were permanent athletic clubs for girls and boys and literary societies. For the first time—Ranger entered into contests with other schools in the state.

A new system of permanent records went into effect. A total of 14 units of work were required for graduation and college entrance.

During the summer of 1915, the faculty was increased to seven teachers.

A library (costing about $200) was installed, and a physics laboratory (costing about $725) was placed in the school. New desks were installed.

By the school year 1917-18, the faculty was increased to eight teachers and the pupils numbered 350, with 90 students in high school.

And then came the boom...

Oil Boom Changes

Ranger went into a state of fast change with the discovery of oil, and the public schools somehow managed to stay afloat of the "rising tide", although the boom brought about many problems.

V. V. Cooper contributed two new school locations, as plans were made for a record enrollment. And then came the "de-luge."

Enrollment figures reached 1300, with a teaching force of 26, and school funds were inadequate to continue operating efficiently. But the school board agreed to borrow the money to operate for nine months and the new buildings were paid for.

School valuations increased to $14,000,000 (from less than half a million), and the enrollment increased to 2,050 students.

Funds were voted to build school buildings at a cost of $300,000, and the size of the district was increased to 25 square miles. The increase brought the tax valuation up to $7,000,000.

As the schools boomed with Ranger, members of the school board were: John M. Gholson, president; M. H. Hagaman, secretary; J. H. Hankins, Lee Williams, Cooper, T. G. Deffebach and E. H. Mills.

Plans were made for two new ward schools to be located in the Young Addition, to cost $50,000, one in the Cooper Addition, to cost $50,000, and one in the Tiffin Addition to cost $20,000. Location of the high school was not determined, according to a 1919 edition of the Ranger Times.

Smith, 47, says he feels that the court, "... to be well rounded, needs from time to time" to have "lawyers fresh from the legal battle of the county courthouses and recently familiar with the preparation, trial and appeal of cases."

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. MOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

Is your child starting to school this year for the first time? If so, is he ready for it? There is still some time left before school begins, and now is the time to prepare him for his exciting adventure.

He needs to start his school life in good physical health. Have your family physician give him a complete physical examination even though he has periodically examined your child in the last few years. An eye test is very important, and teeth should be checked by the family dentist. Now is the time to recheck and correct any defects not found in the past before school begins.

Most likely your child has already been immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough (pertussis) and small pox, but if he hasn't, have these immunizations started immediately for his own protection and that of his class mates. And by all means don't wait until school starts for those polio shots. Even if all immunizations have been done, be sure to check with your doctor about necessary booster shots.

Your child should have escaped these "childhood" diseases by early and correct immunization while he was still in the protective atmosphere of his home, but once he starts school, he will be exposed to conditions that he is unfamiliar with and may not be able to cope with if he is not protected. Be sure and learn how his school handles sudden illness or accidents and your role in avoiding them.

He should know how to wash his face and hands, how to comb his hair, and how to use a handkerchief or tissue, not only for blowing his nose, but for covering a cough or sneeze.

Perhaps the most important part of your child's preparation for school is his mental and emotional outlook. Learning to give and take, to get along with others, will be necessary at school — and throughout life. If he has felt secure in your affection, has learned to take his place in the family group, shared in small responsibilities and learned to do some things on his own — if he has played with children of his own age, the chances are that he will get along well at school.

But there are other factors too. Not enough sleep can make him tired and irritable. He may need from ten to 12 hours a night to build up his energy. If you haven't al-

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

In 10 years, Ira G. Yates—it was estimated—received $5,000,000 as his share of the wealth that poured from the wells in the wonder-working field that bore his name.

Yates was born in Hopkins County, Texas, Oct. 29, 1869, the youngest son in a family of four boys and two girls. His father died when Ira was six, and in those difficult times following the Civil War, the widow and her family traveled by wagon to Wilson County, in the ranching country of South Texas. When Ira was 12, his mother died.

One of his first jobs was digging peanuts at 50 cents a day. Then the boy did ranch work in the Live Oak country and soon he was handling cattle that were being driven to Rockport and Powderhorn for shipment to Cuba and elsewhere.

The only formal schooling he received was at 14 and was due to an accident. His horse fell on the youth, whose right ankle was severely injured. He rode the forty miles, without water or food and suffering greatly, to the Thompson ranch, where he was employed, and while he was recovering the governess of the Thompson children taught him to write. His first letter was to a sister, the first word the family had received from Ira since he had left home. From the Thompson ranch, he went to work for J. N. Upton in Karnes County and, at 17, had saved enough money to start trading in cattle, horses and mules. In 1883, when he was 23, he married a widow with one son—Ann S. Brooks, daughter of a Methodist minister. A son was born in Karnes County and not long afterward they moved to Tom Green County, where their other seven children were born. Yates' stepson, H. C. Brooks, was considered as much of the family as the eight other children.

Yates served as city marshal of San Angelo in 1889. He engaged in ranching, ran a store at Rankin for a year and a half then traded the store and obtained the 21-section ranch which was to prove the location of the great oil field. In 1928, on account of his health, he moved to Bexar County, making his home at Wetmore—but "home" to him always meant San Angelo.

He divided the ranch under a trust into 11 shares, he and his wife each retaining a share and one going to each of the nine children.

"I have spent and invested the money I have received with the people of West Texas," Yates said. "I felt that it was my moral obligation to spend this money among the people I have known all my life and who have done many things for me. I have bought property in West and South Texas." (One such purchase was a ranch of 23,000 acres in San Saba County). "I have made loans to ranchmen and other citizens in this section. I have never bought any stocks and bonds but have invested all my money in the country and with the people I have been associated with all my life.

"I hope I will not be considered a tiresome old man when I say that my heart is hourly in San Angelo and the surrounding country. I love the people and the country, which has been home to me since I was a young man. No other place is home to me. I moved to San Antonio on the advice of my doctor on account of my nervous condition and my health is better than it has been for several years."

Yates was president of the Wool Growers Central Storage Company at San Angelo.

In 1938, Mrs. Yates died and Yates' death occurred in Seton Infirmary in Austin, on April 12, 1959, from pneumonia. The funeral was held in Ira Yates' beloved San Angelo.
