When Staying In A Friend's House

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it rude to lock one's door when staying in someone's house? Recently I was a weekend guest in a friend's house and when I went into my room at night I locked my door. The next day my hostess commented on this and said that it wasn't necessary to lock doors in her house as everyone respected the privacy of others. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: Locking your door when staying in a friend's house is not actually wrong, but it does indicate that you have not complete confidence in all the others in the house, and therefore is not a very friendly thing to do. Delivering A Wedding Present Personally

Dear Mrs. Post: Does a wedding present have to be sent by the store, or by the individual through the mail in order to be proper? May it never be delivered personally or taken to the wedding?

Answer: Usually it is sent by the store that you bought it from with your card enclosed. But if you want to take it and leave it at the house yourself, it is quite proper to do so if you take it before the day of the wedding. Do not, however, take it with you to the wedding because the bride will have no chance to see it.

Inviting Boy From Out of Town
Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to invite a boy who lives about fifty miles from here to a dance. The only drawback is this: Am I supposed to ask him to my house or take a room for him at a hotel and pay for it? He will be unable to return home that same night.

Answer: Taking it for granted that you are living at home with your parents, asking him to the house would be the proper thing to do. If this is not feasible, then a room should be taken for him at the hotel by your father—or mother—but not you.

Listening In On The Telephone
Dear Mrs. Post: Everytime I talk to a friend on the telephone my mother picks up the extension and listens in. She tells me it is her right and that I shouldn't have any secrets from my family. It is not that I have secrets, but I hate the feeling of having somebody listening in. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: To listen in on anyone's telephone conversation, even though it be that of your youngest member of the family, is an unthinkable breach of courtesy—and no more excusable than the behavior of a neighbor who makes a practice of eavesdropping on a party line. As a matter of fact, every well-bred person who accidentally picks up the telephone and hears people talking instinctively hangs up.

Kissing Fiancee In Public
Dear Mrs. Post: As my fiancee and I live near each other, I stop by for her at the office at night and we drive home together. When she comes out of the building I greet her with a kiss. I have been severely criticized for this by some of her co-workers who say it is bad taste to show any display of affection in public. Will you please give me your opinion about this?

Answer: While there is really nothing wrong in doing as you do, it would show more reserve and therefore be in better taste to wait until you are in the privacy of your car—and even then kiss her very briefly.

A New Mink Stole
Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine recently bought a mink stole. She wore it the other evening to a party at which we were both guests. I did not make any comment about it as I always thought it was in bad taste to comment on another's clothes. I understand she was very hurt about this and thinks I am jealous. Was I wrong not to have commented on it?

Answer: Certainly not. You should only comment on anything worn by a friend when you honestly think it is strikingly becoming to her.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her booklet No. 502, entitled "Etiquette of Letter Writing," send 25 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of The Ranger Times, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

TELEPHONE TALK
by W. H. McAnally, Manager

GREATER CONVENIENCE

Additional telephones — more and more families are using and enjoying the convenience of several telephones. How many of you are living in two-story homes with one telephone, and when the telephone rings you have to either run up or down the stairs to answer it. How often have you wished for a telephone beside your bed or in the kitchen when you are busy preparing a meal and the telephone rings? When you are interested in a good TV program and the telephone rings, wouldn't it be a pleasure to just reach over to an extension telephone? These are only a very, very few of the reasons you should have that extra telephone. I wish you would think about this for just a few minutes, and I am sure you will find several places you could use another telephone.

The additional extension telephones are available at a monthly charge of $1.00 plus tax and installation charge. In other words, the increase of your monthly telephone cost is only $1.10 for each additional telephone installed.

PICK THE ROOM — THEN THE COLOR

The other day, I was reading over a study made by the telephone company which showed that the kitchen and bedroom were the most popular locations for extension telephones.

It doesn't surprise me because a good number of our customers here in Ranger have ordered telephones for those particular rooms in their homes.

But perhaps you'd like additional phones in other rooms—the workshop, maybe, or the family room. All you have to do is pick the room where you want an extension, and then call the business office.

We'll be happy to help you select the color that fits the room — and within a few days you'll have a color extension to brighten your home and help you get more out of life.

THE OLD "COLLEGE TRY"

In the coming months, Saturday afternoons on college campuses will mean lively football games with teams giving it the old "college try."

But Sunday afternoon — minus the excitement of the winning touchdown — can be lonely for sons and daughters away at college.

There's an easy remedy for this, however. Just ask them to make the old "college try" at remembering to call you collect every other Sunday.

Who knows? They may even surprise you some Sunday by paying for the call themselves with the dollar or two they've saved from allowance or an extra job they've picked up at college.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Reports of Work to Harness Power Of Hydrogen Bomb Set for Nov. 20

Reports on how scientists are seeking to harness the power of the hydrogen bomb for peaceful purposes and to reproduce in the laboratory the process responsible for energy generation in the sun and the stars will be featured at a symposium on nuclear fusion to be held at the University of Texas Nov. 20-21. The symposium is being co-sponsored by the University and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.
The Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation is a non-profit organization supported by eleven investor-owned electric utility companies operating in Texas, one of which is Texas Electric Service Company. The symposium is being co-sponsored by the Foundation as a part of its program for advancing knowledge of nuclear energy through research, experience and education. The Foundation, through its research program, hopes to devise methods and procedures looking toward the eventual economical generation of electric power from controlled atomic fusion energy for the benefit of the people of Texas.
Nuclear fusion, which is the source of the enormous energy of the sun and the stars and is the energy source of the hydrogen bomb, requires temperatures and pressures thousands of times higher than those normally found on earth. The Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation are jointly sponsoring a four-year research program aimed at achieving control of the fusion reaction. This project, which is being carried on at the General Atomic laboratories in San Diego, Calif., is the world's first and largest privately-financed program in controlled fusion research.
Among the outstanding scientists working in the field of fusion research who will speak at the symposium at the University of Texas are:
Dr. Edward C. Creutz, Vice President - Research of General Atomic, an authority in the field of controlled thermonuclear reactions and in the metallurgy of uranium and beryllium; Dr. Donald W. Kerst, project leader of the fusion research program at General Atomic and the inventor of the betatron nuclear accelerator; Dr. Marshall N. Rosenbluth,

First Methodist Reaches Goal of 100% Attendance

The Methodist Sunday School reached and surpassed a goal of 100 percent attendance this past Sunday. Out of a total enrollment of 241 in every department, there was a total of 244 present. Many who have attended Sunday School for years feel this is the first time this has been achieved.

Every department had 100 percent attendance. Each class was recognized in the morning worship service. Jess Weaver is superintendent of the church school, with Beverly Dudley, Jr. as Membership Cultivation superintendent.

The following are also leaders in the church school: Mrs. Helen Breen, superintendent of the Youth Division; Mrs. Morris Newnam, superintendent of the Children's Division; Mrs. W. F. Creager, superintendent of the Primary Department; Mrs. Stanley McAnelly, superintendent of the Kindergarten Division; Mrs. Charlie Garrett, superintendent of the nursery; and Roscoe Hopper, superintendent of the Junior Department.

Miss Eva Mills is Church School secretary.

Extension Dept. Meets with Mrs. Lee Mitchell

The extension department of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Lee Mitchell, department superintendent, for a business meeting and social.

A devotional on "Preparing for a Journey" was presented by Mrs. Mitchell, who also led in prayer. Christmas plans for the shut-ins were discussed.

The following officers of the past year were re-elected to serve this year: superintendent, Mrs. Mitchell; associate superintendent, Mrs. K. F. Kirk; and secretary, Mrs. Tom Lang.

Twenty-four cards and letters were mailed, and 30 visits were reported. Fifty-five members are enrolled. Refreshments of frosted punch were served to Meses. W. E. Herweck, Matt Robinson, Rayneal Base, Frank Arrendale, Kirk Lang, and the hostess Mrs. Mitchell.

Preparation Week Observed By First Baptist

Preparation Week is being observed in the First Baptist Church this week. Special emphasis is being placed on the doctrinal book by J. Clyde Turner, "These Things We Believe." The pastor, Rev. Ralph Perkins, will teach the book each night, Monday through Thursday, from 7 to 8:30.

Sunday School emphasis will be given throughout the four nights, with Superintendent Charles Murr; his associates, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Blair; and his secretary, Miss Eunice Presslar, giving guidance to Sunday School plans, goals, calendar of activities, and a unified and consistent Wednesday night information and inspiration period. Teachers, officers, and class members are expected to attend this week's work. The Nursery will be open for the small children.

There will be nothing offered for students from the Intermediate to the Beginner departments, but those working in those departments will have an important part in the night services.

Wednesday night the choir will hold the regular rehearsal from 6:30 to 7:15, and then choir members will join in the other program.

Members who are interested in Bible study will find these four nights to be very profitable. The chapter headings in the book are: "That Wonderful Book," "The One True God," "The Crown of Creation," "The Sinfulness of Sin," "The Saviour of Men," "The Great Salvation," "The Spirit of Power," "The Church Established by Christ" and "The World to Come."

When You Buy Real Estate—

... you not only buy the land and all that's attached to it above and below, but some kind of a title, good or bad. The abstract is a written history of the title and is the evidence of your security or insecurity. Since security is the basis and measure of all values, the abstract becomes the most important factor in every real estate transaction. That may be the reason why most careful buyers require an abstract.

September—and the opening of school—means a "fresh start" for most family members in one way or another. It's also the time when eating habits are re-established for the school and work days ahead. It's a fine time to establish good breakfast habits for every member of the family.

Eating a good breakfast pays off in efficiency, alertness, and proof for that statement. Research has shown that breakfast-skippers rob themselves of potential alertness and efficiency during late morning hours, and that dieters are wrong if they think missing breakfast is a practical way to lose weight.

Aim for an adequate breakfast. That means one that will provide one-fourth to one-third of the day's total food requirements in calories and nutrients. It should include these basic foods: fruit or fruit juices, cereal or eggs and meat, or both, whole or enriched bread, butter or margarine, milk or coffee.

Be a better breakfast booster—start with yourself and other family members to help improve breakfast eating habits of all groups.

Would you buy food while blindfolded? Labels were meant to insure your safety and to help you get what you want. Look for labels that give helpful information.

State and city laws apply to food within local jurisdiction. These laws are designed to safeguard you from food which is not fit to eat, from adulteration of food, from misleading information, and to help you know the quality of food.

Labels on food which leave their home state for sale must have the following information:
Name of the product and variety or style when applicable.

Long-range legislation aimed at finding new markets—industrial markets—for America's agricultural products recently received overwhelming approval by the Senate.

The thinking behind this program could mark a major attack on the problem of a $9 billion agricultural commodity surplus that now plagues our national economy.

Rather than relying on artificial controls and continued Government subsidies, this program proposes a positive approach of finding new uses for these commodities.

The ultimate objective would look to the day when the American farmer would enjoy full production from all his acreage—and receive for his products a fair price under a free economy.

This would be a crash program in which the best talent available would be employed.

It would be founded on scientific research, and call for trial commercialization and pilot-plant testing to assure agriculture and industry the necessary know-how.

As a Nation, we have spent billions of dollars.

We have decreased productive acreage.

We have sought to increase exports.

We have tried many ideas. Some have been helpful. But none have succeeded to the degree we would like. Most of all, none of these programs has created the substantial new markets so vitally needed.

Behind this new approach is the basic belief that the greatest market we can find anywhere for agricultural products is here at home.

We live in an industrial age. And the greatest new market—the biggest potential—is an expanding market within industry itself.

On this basis, scientists would seek new uses for farm products, try to develop new cash crops to replace those now in surplus—and hope to eventually return American agriculture to full production.

NOW... '60 CHEVROLET TRUCKS

WITH REVOLUTIONARY TORSION-SPRING SUSPENSION THAT GIVES ASTONISHING NEW SHOCKPROOF ACTION !!!!!

Chevy's done the next best thing to paving every road in America!

First they threw out the front axle and put in torsion-spring independent suspension. Then they built wide-base coil rear springs into most light-duty models, variable-rate leaf springs into heavies. That made it—a ride you have to feel to believe. A ride that lets you move faster to get more work done in a day's time.

Brawnier bulldozer build!
Frames are stronger, cabs 67% more rigid. Front wheels and tires are precision-balanced. And that new suspension cushions jars and road shock that used to spell slow death for the truck's body and sheet metal.

More comfortable cabs!
Easier to hop in and out of too. Many models are a whole 7 inches lower outside. Yet there's more head room inside, plus more width for shoulders and hips. More real comfort!

Big in the power department!
With the industry's most advanced gas-saving 6's. With high-torque Workmaster V8 performance in heavyweights. With new 6-cylinder or V8 power available in L.C.F.'s.

More models than ever!
New 4-wheel-drive models and tandems and high-styled Suburban Carryalls. It's the handsomest, hardest working Chevy fleet ever to report for duty. See your dealer soon for a ride!

Anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

Have Gas Heating Equipment Check Is Needed Now!

Now is the time to have your gas heating equipment inspected and adjusted for winter use, Louis Conn, Lone Star Gas Company manager, suggested today.

"By calling today to have your heating equipment serviced," he said, "you will avoid any delay. Heating service companies and Lone Star always receive hundreds of calls for service the day that cold weather hits. And this usually results in considerable delay in filling individual orders." All users of gas central heating systems, floor furnaces, wall heaters, unit heaters and other gas heating equipment should call their heating equipment company of Lone Star Gas Company for this service, he said.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
 A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

LAW AND BELIEF
 Our laws have their roots deep within our beliefs. And the laws shift as our beliefs change. Thus working backwards, you can find a people's deepest beliefs by discovering their notions of justice — about adults, children, nature, animals, and other things.

Until this century, the laws held children fully responsible for crimes. Like adults, they faced trial and punishment — often prison or death. Today we seek mainly to reform child offenders, rather than to punish them.

Some primitive people hold inanimate things like stones and rivers guilty of offenses.

For centuries the laws held animals morally responsible for their acts, and therefore try-able in courts.

"And if an ox gore a man or woman to death," Exodus XXI says, "the ox shall be surely stoned."

Says Plato in The Laws: "If a beast of burden or any other animal shall kill anyone, except while the animal is competing in the public games, the deceased's kinsfolk shall prosecute it for murder."

Courts in the Middle Ages duly summoned animals to appear. As late as 1750, a French court tried a she-donkey and condemned her to death, but it later pardoned her because of "good character."

The philosophers Descartes and LaMettrie taught that animals were automata, highly complex machines without feelings.

As a result the laws came for a time to allow much cruelty to animals. But in recent years, the laws have changed back again to protect animals from abuse. We have evidently changed our minds about the nature of animals.

Our beliefs about crime — what causes it, and who's to blame, and how to control it — find expression each year in our legislation, in our court decisions, and jury verdicts.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

St. Louis: Sign on a place of business, "Small shop, small prices". The owner also informs the passerby,

"We buy from bankrupt jewelers, railroad salvage, dead estates." (Somehow, I feel that Charles Dickens could have done a lot more with this material than I have.) Middle-aged men, with nothing to do, sitting on the curbs of parking lots on a Sunday afternoon. (Life can be as dull in a big city as in Bugseuffie, Texas—in fact, I hasten to add, before the protests pour in from Bugseuffie's mayor, Chamber of Commerce, Metaphysical Society and the Association for the Propagation of Arts and Sciences, that life is far from dull in Bugseuffie. I learned a lesson in caution when, in an unthought moment—that's the only kind of moment I have—I used the expression, "As unexciting as Blankville", and the result was an invitation to visit there, with the promise that I would find things plenty exciting for me. You know something: this Paul Crum-style of writing is plumb easy—you just start with a subject, a n y subject, and then you slack the reins and give your typewriter its head.)

Back to St. Louis: A man walking alone, whiskers so shaggy he looks like a lumberjack—a stage lumberjack. On the window of a bar where there is a floor show, "Burly whirly girls." And a competitor advertises, "Bellyrinas."

The late Senator Foraker of Ohio relates in his autobiography that one of his colleagues, Senator Eugene Hale of Maine, was opposed to intervention in Cuba and to acquiring the Philippines. The Maine legislature—this being when U. S. Senators were elected by the legislature—unanimously adopted a resolution censuring Hale and then, the next day, re-elected him to the Senate—a tribute to his sincerity and his services.

The lobby of the Hermitage Hotel in Nashville is in the grand manner of the 1890's and early 1900's: a carved, arched ceiling; marble columns, chandeliers, a roof of stained glass, huge windows with red-and-white drapes, plants and a painting of Andrew Jackson's home, from which the hotel derives its name.

Nashville is the hillbilly—or folk—music capital of the nation. I never saw so many young men with sideburns and guitars as there were on the streets. The Grand Ol' Opry is each Saturday night; fortunately, I was in Nashville on Thursday night.

As I passed through Powhatan, Va., on the courthouse lawn there were several packs of dogs. I wondered if they were going to have a dog show or a fox hunt. Or maybe they were going to track down a jail-breaker. I'll never know.

Abingdon, Va., advertises, "Second most healthful city in U. S." Makes a fellow speculate as to which Texas town they conceded is more healthful.

About 50 miles west of Nashville, there is a stream with a name which suggests a story: Defeated Camp Creek.

The Chisera Hotel, erected in Memphis about 1912, has guest rooms with window sills made of marble. They don't build hotels like that anymore.

A Memphis car dealer has a sign, "Itty Bitty Down Payments; Teeny Weeny Monthly Payments."

In the 1900's there was a young cowboy appearing in a Fort Worth theatre. He did fancy roping and the climax of the act had a man running down the aisle as the expert tossed a loop from the stage and caught him. No one in the applauding audience dreamed that some years later the cowboy would become the most popular man America has ever known. Almost a BOUND FOR RUSSIA—Laden with souvenirs of their life in the United States, the four Kosmin brothers depart from Chicago, Ill., for the Soviet Union to join their parents. They are, from left, George, 11; Paul, 10; Richard, 12, and Peter, 2, in the arms of Chicago welfare worker Ray Hilliard. Their parents, victims of a Nazi concentration camp, decided to return to Russia in 1936. A court order recently freed the youngsters to return.

Annual Acreage Survey Being Made In Sept.

The United States Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Post Office Department, is conducting an annual acreage survey this month.

Rural mail carriers will deliver some 30,000 cards to Texas farmers and ranchers. The cards list questions on crop acreages and livestock. Carriers pick up the completed cards and forward them to Cary Palmer, agricultural statistician for Texas, in Austin. Eastland County farmers were urged to cooperate. "This survey serves as a basis for estimating the state's farm production," Palmer said.

Report

Getting a beneficial law passed is a step-by-step procedure. A very important step has just been taken toward making a National Seashore Area on Padre Island in Texas. And the people of our state have a chance to help.

The Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee will hold hearings in Texas later this year on my bill to create such a Seashore Area on the island. Senator James E. Murray (D-Montana) announced the decision to conduct the hearings after receiving a joint letter from Senator Lyndon Johnson, Congressman John Young and Joe Kilgore, and me.

Date of the hearings has not yet been set. The time must be agreed upon by the members of the committee and members of the Congress who are particularly interested in this proposal. Discussions are now being conducted to set an exact time for the hearings.

When the hearings are held, the people of Texas and the nation can help by showing the committee members how strongly they support the move to preserve for public use this undeveloped beach, one of the last such areas in our country. Conservation, civic, fraternal and other organizations can aid with their support. Individuals can show their stand by petitions and letters. Local governments can issue statements.

The bill to create this National Seashore Area on Padre Island is the first one I introduced in this session of Congress. It was the fourth bill introduced in the Senate; it is number 4. If a representative of your group or organization cannot attend the hearings personally, please send the resolution petition, letter or statement to me at my office in Austin and I will be glad to present them to the committee members.

If we do not act soon to preserve the greater part of this island in the Gulf of Mexico between Corpus Christ and Brownsville, private exploitation will have ruined its natural beauty and its value as a wildlife refuge. Padre Island and the waters which wash its shores abound in fish and other wild life. The historic part of this strip of sand and grass has seen explorers, pirates, Indians, cowboys and many others pass that way.

Its chief drawing card is the wealth of recreational activities which it offers. Looking at the rest of our coastline, we can see the tremendous popularity of a National Seashore like Cape Hatteras, and we can see how private development ruins public enjoyment of the seaside. This nation's population is increasing rapidly. We must keep our recreational facilities apace.

With the support of Texans and others, Padre Island can become a new winter playground for the present and future generations.

Wanted: experience

If you found it necessary to advertise for someone to handle your insurance we imagine you might word your advertisement something like this:

WANTED — An experienced man to handle my insurance affairs. Inasmuch as everything I own — my house, furnishings, car, personal possessions and even my savings — might be at stake, I must have complete and unquestioned insurance coverage. To accomplish this I need an experienced man who represents sound companies. NO NOVICES NEED APPLY.

But such an advertisement is unnecessary. You need not reach for your telephone to command the services of an insurance man who can not only meet these requirements but has an established reputation in this community for experienced insurance service and satisfied clients.

COLLEGE STATION — When traveling out of the U. S. don't tuck foreign fruits, plants, meats, or other plant or meat products into your baggage and try to bring them home with you, warns Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist, and Connie F. Garner, extension entomologist. In bringing back these foreign products you may be bringing dangerous crop or livestock pests back unnoticed, they added.

Just as one smoldering cigarette can start a forest fire, one diseased plant or one female insect pest ready to lay eggs could devastate a segment of U. S. agriculture. The specialists cite the chestnut blight that destroyed millions of trees in the eastern U. S. and the Mediterranean fruit fly, which cost $10 million to eradicate from Florida in 1957, as examples of costly foreign invaders.

The threat is even more serious now with the increasing foreign travel, they say. Last year a mountain of incoming baggage—almost 20 million pieces at U. S. ports of entry was inspected for dangerous plant and animal materials by the USDA in cooperation with U. S. Customs. This was an increase of more than 20 percent over the 1957 total.

Travelers planning to bring back unprocessed foods, plants, seeds, or animal products for special purposes should request a permit, before leaving the States, from the Agricultural Research Service, USDA, Washington 25, D. C. Prohibited products, as well as restricted items not covered by permit, are subject to confiscation. Last year an ARS plant quarantine inspector intercepted a destructive plant pest every half-hour in luggage, airplanes, ships, automobiles, and trains from foreign lands. The pests included several already in parts of the U. S. but under strict quarantine—the Khapra beetle, Mexican fruit fly, pink bollworm and golden nematode. Pests found that do not occur in the U. S. or have been eliminated were: Mediterranean fruit fly, citrus canker, and many others.

Why we built two cars for 1960 . . .
as different as night and day

On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. ■ One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. ■ The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. ■ We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium. And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage.

In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years.

Thus, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars. One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection—in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any other car we have ever made.

The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance . . . a car designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs.

The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra light and ultra short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "fat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long . . . and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies it great structural strength . . . it's a welded unit that is virtually rattle-free. The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction: no other U.S. compact car will ride so comfortably, hold the road so firmly and handle so beautifully.
