I GIVE YOU TEXAS

To a tourist, but probably not to the Knoxville Chamber of Commerce, the most picturesque downtown section of that Tennessee city is the public market area. An ancient building stands at the head of a street and the traffic divides to flow to each side of the Public Building in single file, for the rest of the street is taken up with a row of small trucks backed up to the sidewalk. The proprietors display mounds of tomatoes—red and yellow; apples, also red and yellow; sweet potatoes, squashes, carrots and peppers, red and green. Each individual product has been scrubbed and positively glistening.

The block of dilapidated buildings is occupied by a barber shop, souvenir shop, clothing store, a grocery store and other enterprises. In a stairway entrance a Negro has set up a "shine parlor" and, as a customer, I learned from a remark that he made to a visitor that business had been rushing; it wasn't quite noon and he had already given 14 shins.

He needed an assistant but the one he called on in such rush periods was not available as he was in the work-house.

"Do they work in the work house?" He repeated my question. I gathered that if a man said he was sick, he didn't and that there was a great deal of sickness. Inmates enjoyed the workhouse so much that when, because of crowded conditions, the authorities wanted to release an inmate three days before his term was up, he stood on his rights and refused to go.

"How long have you lived in Knoxville?" I asked. (There was lots of time for conversation in the course of the leisurely shine.)

"Fifty-two years" was his reply. "I didn't mean to learn your age; you should have just said, 'All my life.'"
He chuckled as he answered. "But that won't be correct; I'm still living."
Discovering that I had once lived in Memphis, he declared, "There used to be a great man in Memphis." "Mr. Crump?"
"Yes, he was a rich man but he was for the little man." Knoxville's public market reminds one somewhat of New Orleans French Quarter.

Are you kind to vegetables when you cook them? There are some myths and wrongs for cooking vegetables. A good cook is a vegetable's best friend because she cooks and serves the vegetable so that it retains the largest possible amount of food value. Tastes fresh and good and has an attractive appearance.

Refrigerate all fresh vegetables except potatoes, dried onions, winter squash, parsnips and rutabagas, as soon as possible after purchasing or harvesting. Wrapping and exposure to air and light cause a great deal of loss of essential nutrients. All leafy vegetables and broccoli, cauliflower, peas, beans, carrots, celery, green onions, radishes, and cucumbers, should have moist cold. Store them in the crisper pan of the refrigerator in moisture-vapor-proof wrapping, such as aluminum foil, cellophane or plastic.

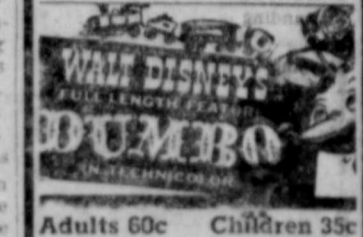

Wash and clean vegetables carefully. Dirt may hasten spoilage. Drain off excess water, but store while moist for better crisping. Trim away bruised or spoiled areas to prevent rapid spoilage. Do not pare or cut up vegetables before storing. Do not buy more vegetables at one time than you can refrigerate satisfactorily. Do not buy more frozen vegetables—or any other frozen foods—at one time than you can store in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator or home food freezer. Frozen food should be stored at 0°F. or lower.

Some cooking rules to follow are: Never allow pared vegetable to soak in water. Nutrients that are soluble will be lost. Use a minimum amount of water that will cook the food without sticking. The loss of vitamins and minerals is held to a minimum. Begin fast and cook quickly. Reduce cooking time by bringing the foods to a cooking time quickly. This protects vitamins by limiting the time they are exposed to water, heat and air. Avoid violent boiling to keep vegetable white and decrease the loss of water-soluble substances. After food boils, reduce heat to maintain steam. Cook in covered utensils without stirring. Stirring puts in extra air and air destroys certain vitamins. Cooking in covered utensils keeps green vegetables natural color. Use the cooking liquid. It contains vitamins and minerals. Vegetables retain more food value, flavor and have more eye appeal if served while they are firm and colorful. Do not use soda, as it destroys vitamins. Serve potatoes and carrots with skin for maximum food value. Shred cabbage or salad greens only just before serving to preserve the vitamins. If you must prepare ahead of time, store in a plastic bag, in crisper pan of refrigerator or tie loosely in a clean, wet towel.

Use saucyons with lids to cover to retain steam, flat bottoms that fit heating unit so they will be more efficient, and straight-sided pans to hold heat for cooking and use less water.

Inviting Two in Presence Of Others

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if I was wrong in the following situation: The other night as we were leaving a friend's house and my husband and I and another couple (also friends of ours) were standing in the doorway saying our good-byes, I invited the host and hostess to our house for dinner the following week. I did not, however, include the other couple in the invitation and my husband thinks I showed very bad manners by extending an invitation to them in the presence of the other couple.

without inviting them too. Was I wrong?

Answer: I'm sorry, but I agree with your husband that you were very tactless. You should have called your friend the following day to invite them to dinner.

A Brother Introduces His Sister

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother introduced me to a business associate of his the other day, as follows: "Mr. Smith, may I introduce you to my sister." He did not mention that my name is Mrs. Jones. I say this introduction was inadequate. He says the fact that I am his sister was all that mattered. Which of us is right?

Answer: If you were unmarried, he would be right. But since you are married and have a different name, you are right. To say "my sister" would naturally be taken for granted that your name is the same as his. He should have added after "my sister"—"Mrs. Jones."

Gloves At A Cocktail Party

Dear Mrs. Post: At a cocktail party, is it necessary to remove one's gloves to drink a cocktail?

Answer: They may be left on if everything you touch is dry. For instance, if the glass has a stem on it and the little canapes are dry, you need not take off your gloves. If the glass is moist and whatever you pick up is buttery, you naturally take at least one glove off.

Bungling Generosity

Dear Mrs. Post: The other afternoon I went to lunch with a friend and another girl whom I had never met before. When the check came she (the new acquaintance) picked it up saying that she would treat my friend to lunch-leaving me to walk up to the cash register to pay my part of the bill. I thought this very rude. Wouldn't it have been better for her to treat our friend at some other time? They see each other often for lunch, or am I being too critical?

Answer: She should either have offered to pay for both of you or said nothing and assumed that each of you would pay your own share.

Wedding Breakfast Must Be Limited

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married at a nuptial mass and a wedding breakfast will follow for just the immediate families and closest relatives. My fiance and I both have a great many friends that we would like to invite to the breakfast but finances will not permit this. We thought of having them come in after the breakfast to wish us happiness and then serve light refreshments. Would this be proper, and if so how should this be noted on the invitations?

Telephoning To A Boy

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper for a girl to call a boy on the telephone?

Answer: If she has anything of importance to tell him, it would be quite all right, but not just to pass the time in idle conversation.

Hors D'oeuvres On Picks

Dear Mrs. Post: When hors d'oeuvres are served on picks, should the food be eaten off the pick or removed and eaten in the fingers?

Answer: Off the pick, which is there to avoid soiling one's fingers.

Etiquette of Weddings

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married at a nuptial mass and a wedding breakfast will follow for just the immediate families and closest relatives. My fiance and I both have a great many friends that we would like to invite to the breakfast but finances will not permit this. We thought of having them come in after the breakfast to wish us happiness and then serve light refreshments. Would this be proper, and if so how should this be noted on the invitations?

Answer: It will not be very polite to your friends to have them wait with nothing to do while you and your families have your breakfast. It will be better to have them in for light refreshments first and then have your wedding breakfast after they leave.

Mrs. Post Offers Readers Leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette.

If you would like to have her booklet, No. 501, entitled, "Etiquette of Weddings," send 25 cents in coin to Dept. E, Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Overloaded Electric Circuits Can Cause Trouble

Electricity as a source of power is, in some ways, less hazardous than any other power source, but failure to take proper precautions in its use creates conditions which are certain to result in bodily harm or damage to property, or both. Overloading an electrical circuit is an example of improper use. Not only is there a drop in efficiency as a result of an overloaded circuit, but it is unsafe, warns the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. Overloading causes overheating of wires which, in turn, causes the wiring insulation to dry out, get brittle, and result in a possible fire hazard.

Bob Boswell of Ft. Worth was a visitor in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Boswell Sunday afternoon. He came for his parents and they returned with him for a few days. They will also visit with his sister, Mrs. Tom Cook and another son, Mr. and Mrs. Doyatt Boswell and Judy.

Mrs. Tony Immattio and Miss Karen Albright of Ft. Worth and Mrs. G. D. Riley were in San Antonio at Lackland Air Force Base Friday. Mrs. Immattio was called to the Base Hospital where her son Neil was hospitalized. He was to undergo surgery but the doctor saw fit to delay the operation for a few days. Neil had recently entered the air force for basic training a few weeks ago.

If the correct size fuse for the circuit is used it cannot be overloaded, because it will blow before the wiring can get too hot. The fuse is the 'safety valve' of the electrical circuit, the Council explains.

In order to determine the correct size fuse, a simple guide to follow: No. 14 wire, which is about the size of a 3-penny finishing nail, requires a 15 amp fuse; No. 12 wire, about the size of a 3-penny common nail, requires a 20 amp fuse. In other words, the wire size determines the correct fuse size.

Observe the three C's—caution, care, and common sense—to prevent overloaded electrical circuits, the Council adds.

These Are Our Sentiments—

... that whatever happened in '59, any repeats in '60 will be bigger, including the National Debt. Politicians will be much bigger, so will their promises. In the air, we are witnessing speeds up to 600 m.p.h. but we will be doing 1500 by the end of '60. Abstracts will be bigger, too, and may cost more, as 'creeping' inflation continues to soar to spectacular heights. Whither are we drifting? No one can guess, but we all know we are on our way—somewhere—destination unknown.

SALADS ARE THE INTERNATIONAL FOOD

By JANE ASHLEY

Salads are truly international foods especially when served with a basic dressing made from corn oil and your choice of vinegar—cider, wine, herb or regular vinegar. Have the greens crisp and dry, shred or tear them into pieces, toss with the chilled dressing and you can match skills with any chef. Garnish with vegetables, freshly prepared or marinated. Try the basic International Dressing; then enjoy the five pungent variations of the same basic dressing.

- International Dressing: 1 cup MAZOLA Corn Oil, 1/2 to 1/4 cup vinegar, 1 to 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 clove garlic, peeled and sliced.
Spicy Dressing: Prepare spicy vinegar and use to make International Dressing. To make spicy vinegar, heat and add 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spices. Tie spices in cloth bag, if desired. Let spices stand until vinegar is cool. Strain or remove bag of spices.
Figurine Dressing: To the basic International Dressing add 4 tablespoons finely chopped raw spinach and 1/2 teaspoon onion juice.
Cheese Dressing: To the basic dressing add 1/2 cup crumbled Roquefort or Blue Cheese.
Mystery Dressing: Combine ingredients for Tropical Dressing in a bowl. Add 1 unbeaten egg white. Beat with rotary beater until well blended. Store in refrigerator in covered container. Dressing thickens slightly on standing and keeps well. Mix thoroughly before serving. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

SEVENTEEN MAGAZINE

Hi! An extra special welcome to those of you who are reading us for the first time this month...

DIANE VARS (remember her?) has had her option picked up and will return to Hollywood by Christmas to star in "Return to Peyton Place". The picture you see here on the left still remains to be identified. As you might remember, I ran it last month and promised a check for $10 to the first person who could correctly identify this member of the Movie Box Office Top-Ten. The response was tremendous, but still no winner! The three most popular and correctly identified members of the Top-Ten are: TUESDAY, ELINOR, and ANNETTE.

This month, for the correct identification of the former Texas resident, I'll give $20 to the winner who encloses the issue of her paper in which she saw the picture, and $10 to the editor of the paper. Probably the best movie out this month is "Operation Petticoat". This amusing comedy with a World War II backdrop, has Cory Grant as a very proper submarine commander whose only hope in restoring his ship to service after a bombing lies in the ability of his junior officer (Tony Curtis) to scrounge parts. Grant's life is still more complicated when Tony rescues five nurses from an island menaced by the Japanese. That's all the space I have—don't forget that address, Joanne, 400 N. Broad St., Phila. See you next month!

Festive Fresh Date Treats

Delight visitors with a snack tray of cheese and fresh California dates stuffed with both sweet and savory fillings. "Date Fancies" are stuffed with a flavorful mixture of ground semi-sweet chocolate, candied ginger, nuts and a little orange marmalade, and topped with almond or pecan halves. For those who prefer savory fillings, stuff fresh dates with grated sharp cheese or with paper-thin slices of ham or prosciutto. A mild cream cheese also makes an excellent stuffing for California dates.

The cheese-and-ham-stuffed dates should be eaten the day they are made. The other date goodies may be made ahead, covered and stored in the refrigerator to keep them from drying out.

For "Date Fancies," put 1/2 cup nuts and 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces through food chopper, using a fine blade. Combine with 1 tablespoon finely chopped candied ginger, 3 tablespoons orange marmalade and 1/4 teaspoon salt, stirring until mixture is evenly moistened. To prepare 1 (10-ounce) package pitted fresh California dates for stuffing, slit sides with sharp knife and press open. Stuff with chocolate-nut mixture. If desired, top each stuffed date with a pecan or blanched almond half.
Makes about 2 1/2 dozen stuffed dates.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Department of Agriculture says that the food supply in the United States is the safest, cleanest and most wholesome in the world. Much discussion in various departments of Government and in the Congress is going on, regarding the inclusion of chemicals in food production, in processing and marketing. The source of chemicals effecting food, of course, begins with fertilizers. This is followed by insecticides, antibiotics, antiseptics and preservatives. It also includes feed additives, fumigants, fungicides and others.

All of this becomes a part of our food and is essential for an efficient production on the farm. The experts say that to abandon the use of these things in the food producing industries would result in immediate decline in the quantity and quality of our food supply and cause a rapid rise in food prices paid by consumers. Research is constantly taking place to determine how chemicals can be better and more safely used to make food supplies greater and to raise the quality. At the same time, research is constantly underway to determine the safety of these chemicals in our food supply, and to keep a watchful eye on anything which may be detrimental to the Nation's health.

There is a stepped-up program of research and also a diligent effort on the part of Agriculture and the Pure Food and Drug Administration, under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to guarantee the greatest protection.

In addition to foods, the Federal Trade Commission is stepping strongly into the picture to protect consumers against unfair and misleading advertisements of products. Expanded and exaggerated claims in television advertising has necessitated greater activity of enforcement by the Federal Trade Commission and is an issue at the present time as to whether they have adequate authority, or whether additional legislation is required.

The cotton industry of the United States is facing increasing losses from foreign growers and textile imports. Technical assistance from the United States in agriculture for a number of foreign nations has expanded the growth of cotton, with little regard for the impact on our export markets. have had to cut average drastically and have been called upon to make the supply adjust to the world demand.

In the last ten years the United States has decreased its cotton production by more than 3 million bales, while at the same time other countries increased their production by approximately 7 1/2 million bales.

By reason of our high cost of production and the cheap cost of production in foreign countries, we are unable to compete in foreign markets. Cotton, imported into the United States, is only finding its way into residual markets in foreign countries. In other words, we are only able to export to those places which are unable to get their supply from other sources.

Manufactured cotton goods holds the same position as the raw product to our textile plants. As is true with many other commodities, cotton goods produce! in great quantity in Japan, imported into the United States, can be sold much cheaper, even after the payment of import duties.

We have exported Know-how, equipment and many other forms of assistance to many foreign nations, but can not now do very much exporting of such raw products as cotton. In addition, our cost of production from the field to the cotton shirt has become so high we are pricing ourselves out of the world market.

SCRIP'S IN HIS SCRIPT—State Sen. Haskell Nichols (R), left, of Jackson, Mich., has introduced a bill in the legislature at Lansing which would permit communities to issue scrip—certificates of indebtedness, issued as currency. Purpose: to tide communities over Michigan's current money problems, should they become desperate. State Sen. Stanley Rozycy (D), right, contributed the example of substitute "money," shown, to this picture. It's a certificate issued by the City of Hamtrick, Mich., during hard times more than a quarter century ago.

BUSINESS ORGANIZATION

The law allows a business a wide choice of ways to set itself up, to finance and manage itself.

You may have sole ownership, joint ventures, corporations; and within these classes you have many different forms.

To meet modern business conditions, to get full tax advantage, and to protect investors, for example, the law provides many ways for a company to finance itself. And these, in turn, influence the kind of management it can have, and the way it conducts its affairs.

We sometimes speak of "stock and bonds," for example, as if they were one and the same.

But when you buy a share of stock in a company, you "own" an "undivided" part of everything it owns, but no particular piece of its property.

But what do you have when you buy a corporation's bond or debenture? You own nothing of the company. Instead you are lending money which it promises to pay back with interest when your bond "matures."

Unlike a stockholder, a bondholder as a rule has little to say directly about who manages and how he manages the company. Remotely a bond buyer by withholding or lending money may influence a company's ability to expand. The bond holder gets only his interest payments, which come before the stockholder's "dividends," since he takes less of a risk than the stockholders.

Thus if the corporation quits or goes bankrupt, it must pay the bondholders off before the stockholders get anything.

Where does the "preferred stock" come in? As a rule, preferred stockholders collect a fixed dividend—after the bondholders are paid but before the "common" stockholders get anything. There are many kinds of preferred stock arrangements. But in return for their first chance at the profits the preferred stockholders often give up any voting rights or ability to control the company directly.

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE

Chevy's new torsion springs and Sturdi-Bilt design are changing everybody's ideas about how much work a truck can do. Last year's schedules are out—Chevrolet trucks ride faster over the rough runs to get in more trips a day! Big repair bills are no longer a problem—Chevrolet trucks soak up punishment that means downtime to other makes! And trade-in time's put off for extra thousands of miles—'60 Chevrolet trucks stay new like never before!

New Dollar-Saving Prices

Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions—all are lower priced. Prices have also been reduced on all optional V8's.

New Torsion-Spring Suspension

Eliminates I-beam shimmy and wheel fight! With torsion springs up front there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel. New rear suspensions include wide-based coil springs in most light-duty models; tougher variable-rate leaf springs in medium- and heavy-duty models.

Electronically Balanced Wheels

Front wheels and tires are balanced at the factory. Helps make that new ride revolutionary!

New Cabs—Wider, Safer, More Comfortable

Many models are a whole 7 inches lower (without sacrificing road clearance), so it's easier to hop in and out of cabs. Still there's more space inside: more room for hats and hips, more foot room with suspended pedals. Cabs are safer, too; new build makes them 67% more rigid.

Plus Improvements All Through the Line

A new steering linkage system that cuts vibration, means better control. There's new V8 efficiency. Sizes long famous for saving. New key-turn starting. Higher, wider visibility. Talk to your Chevrolet dealer about the world's most advanced trucks.
