

Lake Leon Is Again Site of Fishing Rodeo

City Commissioners Plan Action on R R Crossing Situation

Anglers Club Sets April 24 Rodeo Date

Lake Leon is again to be the site of the Fort Worth Angler Club's Fishing Rodeo. The site and date (April 24) was set at a recent meeting of the club.

A delegation representing Lake Leon attended the Club's installation banquet earlier this year and presented the Water Board's invitation to hold the Rodeo at Lake Leon. It was generally agreed that the Club would hold the Rodeo at Lake Leon again, but official word was not released by the club until a meeting last Thursday night.

Members of the club will participate in the all-day fishing event, seeking trophies and prizes to be offered for the best bass and crappie catches. Membership cards will again be available to area residents. The cards will enable the holder to fish free of charge that day and to compete for awards.

Rules will be the same as always in the contest, with both a bass and crappie division for largest fish. Fishing will be done in two-person teams. There will be a big fish fry near the dam on Saturday evening, the day prior to the contest.

The Eastland County Water Board and folks at Lake Leon are going all out to see that everyone who comes to the tournament has a good time. They guarantee everything but the fish—that's left up to the fisherman.

Members of the Fort Worth Anglers Club were well pleased with the outcome of the Rodeo held at Lake Leon last year. A record number of entries were entered in the tournament.

Mrs. Poe is survived by three sons: E. J. Poe of Cisco, Parks Poe of Eastland and A. C. Poe of Ft. Worth, and one daughter, Mrs. Ada Alton of Eastland.

Methodist Men's Club to Meet Thursday Night

The Methodist Men will meet Thursday evening at 7 for a dinner and program.

The program will be on "The General Conference of the Methodist Church" which is the law-making body of Methodism. The program which will be presented by laymen of the church is a very timely one since the General Conference, which meets every four years, will be held in Denver, Colorado around the first of May. This is an opportunity for every Methodist layman and those interested in Methodism to learn more of the Methodist Church.

Future Farmers Week Proclaimed By Gov.

Governor Price Daniel has proclaimed this week, February 20-27 as FFA Week in Texas.

In presenting the proclamation to James Prewitt, State FFA President from Kirbyville, and Elaine Pennington, State FFA Sweetheart from Athens, the Governor praised the Future Farmers who are studying the science of agriculture and who continue to improve the agricultural economy of the state.

The Governor pointed out that the FFA is composed of boys studying vocational agriculture in the public schools in preparation for careers in farming, ranching, and related fields. "During the past 31 years the Texas Association of FFA has performed valuable services to our state by developing leadership, encouraging cooperation, promoting good citizenship, teaching sound methods of farming, and inspiring patriotism among its members," the Governor said.

James Prewitt received the proclamation on behalf of the 37,000 active FFA members in 900 chapters and more than a quarter of a million former students.

National Future Farmers of America Week seeks to focus attention on the work of the Future Farmers of today, who will be the successful farmers of tomorrow.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Last week a young life was violently snuffed out right in the heart of our city at a public crossing where most of us pass several times a day. Was it a preventable accident? I'm not sure this time, but I do think that there are many disadvantages to our railroad crossing in Ranger.

In the first place, across the main artery of a town is no place for switch engines to be constantly switching trains back and forth. So many times the boxcars and tank cars are parked right next to Main Street on both sides and view of an oncoming train from either direction is completely blocked off.

Could perhaps the switching be done either a good ways north of Main Street (closer to the Aggregate Plant) or between Prairie Crossing and Lone Star Gas Co.? That way only one track through town would be necessary across Main Street and guard gates would prevent future tragedies. Or perhaps an overpass.

I don't pretend to have a solution for this problem but I do know that something must be done about this unnecessary hazard in our city. The next victim could be your son or my daughter.

Prayerfully,
Tommy Huling

Dear Fellow Citizens of Ranger:

It has grown increasingly evident that the death of Tommy Ford has gripped the entire community. This too has suddenly awakened us to a responsibility which we always share to protect the lives of our children, youth, the life of every citizen from avoidable traffic hazards. Many citizens have been awakened to the need of further safety devices and measures for the Main Street railroad crossing. The advisability of railroad crossings has been suggested. Also there is obvious need of moving cars on side rails far enough away from the crossing to allow full view of coming trains. No measure is too costly or no effort to the end of safety is too troublesome if these might offer further safety to human life.

Just as all of us have shared a common grief over an untimely death we must now share a common concern to support every future measure that might prevent further sorrow to other families of our community.

Richard L. Russell
Minister of the First Christian Church

Dear Parents:

The tragic case of Tommy Ford calls to your attention again the fact that something should be done about the death trap at the end of Main Street. An expression from you in the form of a brief letter to the Ranger Times would lend a great deal of weight to the movement to support every future measure that might prevent further sorrow to other families of our community.

Morris Jeffries,
Principal Young Elementary School

Editor of Ranger Times:

With reference to your editorial concerning Rail crossing accidents in Ranger I have heard several citizens mention your thought of installing barricade safety rails and think it is a commendable suggestion. However, I use the Blockwell Road crossing and it is not unusual to find a short string of cars parked on each side of the crossing right up to, and sometimes a few bits into, the street right-of-way and almost a quarter of a mile empty track right behind them.

My thought is, when there is empty space down the track, that set-out cars be parked at least 300 feet back from crossings and that should eliminate the necessity of a barricade.

J. F. "Sailor" Byas

Steps To Be Taken To Correct Hazard

In a city commission meeting held Monday night, commissioners made a decision to take immediate steps to make safer railroad crossings at Main Street and Prairie crossings.

Plans were made to invite Texas and Pacific Railroad officials to the next commission meeting, or a special meeting if necessary, to work out a satisfactory plan.

A representative of a group of Ranger citizens met with the commission and asked for their help in obtaining safer crossings. The hazards that citizens of Ranger encounter everyday at the crossings were discussed.

From a drawing of present rail and crossing in tallons the spokesman explained how freight cars that are parked on siding tracks obstructed the view of an approaching automobile from the main thru-train track. When boxcars are parked close to the crossing it is impossible to see an approaching train unless the automobile is driven onto the tracks. The spokesman emphasized the fact that signal lights operated when an engine was on the main track or on the switching or passing track, and with signals working in this manner it is hard to tell whether a train was coming through on the main track or a switch engine was working boxcars on the side tracks. At times like this the signal lights would remain on for long periods of time and a person would not know whether a safe crossing was possible or not.

A proposed plan was presented to the commission in the form of a drawing to make the Main Street and Prairie Crossings safer. In this plan it was suggested that all passing and switching tracks be removed from the crossing areas and just the main line track would remain at the crossings. In this way no switched cars could block the view of an approaching automobile. Also a better safety-light warning system could be installed and barricade safety rails could be operated more successfully at the crossings.

In this plan it was suggested that passing and switching tracks could be moved to either side of the crossings in order to take care of tank cars for Lone Star Gas Co. on the west end of the tracks and on the eastern end they could be set up to take care of American Aggregate, C. B. Hartnett Co., Ranger Peanut Co., lumber and automobile unloading.

Commissioners listened attentively to the discussion and agreed that action would be taken to correct the existing hazard.

Commissioners present for the meeting were W. F. Creager, Mayor Newsnam, James Raliff, Herchel Angus and Mrs. Reba Rawls, city secretary.

YWA organizations unite Baptist girls in advancing world mission causes through mission study, prayer, service, stewardship and Christian living. EIGHTEEN DOLLAR PER TON HIKE

Support Price On Peanuts Increased

According to D. B. Warren, member of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association Board of Directors, the United States Department of Agriculture has announced that Price Support on 1960 crop peanuts will be $201.24 per ton (national average) as compared with $193.50 per ton (national average) in 1959.

This support price is the minimum price at which 1960 crop peanuts will be supported on a national basis and will not be decreased but may be adjusted upward at the beginning of the marketing year, August 1, if at that time, an increased support price is required under existing legislation.

Differential among various types of peanuts have not been announced by the Department at this time. Warren explained that the increased support price in 1960 will raise the minimum market price on peanuts sold by farmers, since the government support price basically establishes the floor under the market price. Generally speaking, therefore, the 1960 price as established by the support figure should be expected to be $7 to $8 per ton more than in 1959. This would amount to approximately 12c per bushel increase over the 1959 support price.

Warren stated that the announced price increase resulted in part from a hearing held by the agriculture department on Feb. 10, 1960. Warren and other members of the board of directors of Southwestern Peanut Growers Association appeared at the hearing and presented evidence of the need for a peanut price increase. Grower representatives from the Eastern and Southwestern United States also participated in the Feb. 10 hearing.

Warren also said that the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association will again aid peanut growers of the area in the marketing of their 1960 crop peanuts.

SAFARI FOR SOULS

WITH BILLY GRAHAM IN AFRICA
By TOM McMAHAN, Release Editor, The State, Columbia, S. C.

An African mother sat in a little semi-circle of people on the grass clasping her suckling child to her bare breast with perfect grace and holding a Bible in the other hand as she sought to nourish spiritually some who had responded to the evangelist's challenge to turn from their sins to Christ.

Song Leader, Barrows, jumped as he received a jolt from the metal railing accidentally charged with electricity.

For the first time perhaps, a platform guest at a Graham meeting slept during the sermon. It was the little son of a high government official who drove all night from his home, five hundred miles away, to preside as chairman of the meeting.

A high Moslem official confided to a friend that Graham's message was the first clear presentation of the Gospel he had ever heard. "It was wonderful," he commented.

Ten miles from the city, where beautiful buildings and palatial homes abound, Graham visited a tiny village whose conical huts are clustered on rock. Nearby was a tiny church where forty people

Some of the people who were crowded under the brush arbor had walked twelve miles. All had sung Christian hymns for an hour before the evangelist's party arrived. On the way Graham was briefed on the people's calm refusal to stop worshipping Christ publicly despite threats of the nearby Moslem Chief, and the poised rufeness of a group of young toughs. "You can take our goods, burn our homes and kill us but you cannot take Christ from us," said one when the armed gang threatened him.

During the service the little persecuted church sang in their own tongue, "There'll Be No Dark Valley When Jesus Comes." Some had faces whitened with a kind of cosmetic. Many bore symmetrical tribal markings on their bodies. One had had a sore eye. Many had donned new clothes for the occasion.

In defiance of these enemies a sign was posted on the road welcoming Graham, whom they considered a holy man.

As the evangelist re-entered Kaduna he saw a large herd of Kaduna cattle driven by Nomadi Calania, whose cousins are the Moslem rulers of the region. These herdsmen live like Old Testament patriarchs and may even have Jewish antecedents. "Their sacrifices resemble some practiced by the ancient Hebrews," Graham commented. One man rode on a heavily laden donkey following the herd, with a live chicken tied to its pack.

A buffet supper honoring Graham was attended by seventy missionaries and Nigerians. Among the guests was a British woman who is the only Doctor in an eighty bed hospital. The day before, Doctor Theodora Mess performed twenty-one major operations. With delightful wit she told of patients who borrow others symptoms making a diagnosis difficult. "These people suffer patiently," she said, "many coming to the hospital only as the last resort after village barbers have hacked at outsized tumors and bernias."

Mr. Graham flew from Kaduna in a small missionary aircraft in order to dedicate a one hundred twenty thousand dollar hospital built by the Southern Baptists at the Katangoro cotton ginning center in an area resembling Texas. The District Ruler, eighty-year-old Sarkin of Sudan, reclining in his chair in the midst of the assembly with his shoes off, expressed thanks for the hospital, the only

Public Safety Dept. Asks for New Patrolmen

Young men interested in becoming patrolmen in one of the greatest law enforcement organizations in the nation will be given their chance during April.
Colonel Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that entrance examinations will be given April 12, 13 and 14 in cities throughout the state to young men interested in the patrol positions.

High school, be in good physical condition and of good moral character. Applicants must be not less than 68 inches or more than 74 inches and weigh not less than 150 pounds or more than 175 pounds. He said requirements are rigorous, but that the results will be rewarding for those who are selected to join the corps of well trained law enforcement officers.

Complete information may be obtained by writing to the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin, or by contacting the nearest regional or district DPS office.

When The Divorced Meet
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me what is the correct in the following situation: Mr. and Mrs. A. are seated in a restaurant. The former Mrs. A. arrives with a man friend and is seated at a table nearby. The divorce was not a particularly friendly one although they do speak occasionally. Should Mr. A. greet his ex-wife when encountering her or should he treat her as a stranger. I am the second she is giving a lunch or dinner party? I understand that you say she goes last, and how can she seat people if she does this?

Answer: When there are place cards on the table she always enters last. At a formal dinner her husband goes first with the guest of honor (that's why he goes first). The other guests go in as they happen to come, and she herself goes last. When there are no place cards, at luncheon, for example, she customarily slips into the dining room, not first, but among the first and while slowly going toward her place, tells the different ones where to sit. She remains standing at her place until all are seated.
Extra Girl May Not Be Welcome
Dear Mrs. Post: My young son has been invited to a dance being given for a young girl. May he ask the hostess to invite a special girl friend of his?
Answer: If he knows the hostess well and also that the girl would be acceptable, and still further that too many girls have not already been invited, he might do so. But otherwise he definitely should not.
Entertaining Many In A Small House
Dear Mrs. Post: We have a very dear friend who is to be married soon. She has lots of friends, old and young, whom we would like to invite. We have a nice house but not large enough to accommodate all the guests at the same time. Will you please tell me how to word the invitations so that the guests will know that the party is to be a come-and-go one and not remain throughout the afternoon.
Answer: If you invite guests to come in between certain specified hours—say four to six o'clock, it should be taken to mean that guests are expected to come in any time between these hours, stay a short while and leave. Some guests may come early and stay late but a majority of them will "come and go."

A Ring From A Man
Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and I have had several heated discussions as to the propriety of a young woman accepting a valuable ring from a man. I believe that she should not accept such a present unless the ring is an engagement ring, and she does not agree.
Answer: No young woman can possibly accept a ring of value from a man excepting as an engagement ring. She might wear a ring of his, as many school and college girls do, and even this means that she is his "best girl." But the giving and receiving of a ring has always been taken seriously.
A Name Beginning With M
Dear Mrs. Post: My name is Mary Jones and I am soon to be married to a man named McDougall. In having my linens marked, do I use the initials M. J. M. or is it necessary to have them marked M. J. McD. I have had various opinions on this and would like to know what is correct.
Answer: Most correctly your initials will be M. J. McD., but as this makes five initials which is really too many to use in marking your linens, I suggest leaving out the J. and using M. McD.
