Three Local Boys Get 4-H Club Pigs

Eight 4-H boys and one 4-H girl are to receive registered Duroc Jersey pigs in the Sears Swine Program Saturday.

As I See Ranger

By Gene Townsend

This seems to be the week for compliments and notes of appreciation. We have the candidates expressing their appreciation to the voters for their support in the elections, and also two people have called about wanting to express their appreciation for other things.

at Eastland as sponsored by Curt Boone, assistant county agricultural agent.

The boys returning pigs to the program are Jimmy Hogan, Ranger; Melvin Wenzle, Cisco; Victor Plumb, Cisco; and Doyl Welch, Gorman. The 4-Hers receiving pigs in the 1960 program are: Carolyn Ann Plumb, Cisco; Pat Miller, Oden; Bill Arnold, Oden; Willie Cantwell, Jr., Ranger; Donald Ray Foville, Ranger; Billy Earl Welch, Gorman; Bob Livengood, Ranger; Jerry Hooper, Oden; and Roger Wilkerson, Scurran.

VFW District Convention Set In Stamford

The state's largest Veterans of Foreign Wars District will hold its Spring Convention in Stamford this weekend when District 8, Department of Texas, convenes there on Saturday and Sunday.

Another call came from E. F. Arterburn, At the Little League opener Monday night, each boy on the Indian team came by and thanked him for his sponsorship of their team. They especially thanked him for sponsoring the team for many years, giving them a chance to play Little League baseball. Arterburn said that it really touched him when each of the boys thanked him, and he wished to extend to them his wishes for a successful season.

And speaking of baseball, there is another group of boys that are wanting very badly to play baseball this summer. That is the teenage boys from 13 to 15 years old. They have a team entered in a League, a manager, uniforms and a desire to play ball.

Another teenage organization is asking for support in their activities. The Explorer Scouts of Post 16 is planning a scrap drive to raise funds for post expenses. Ed Staub is working as adult advisor to the group and has asked anyone having any scrap metal that they would like to donate to the Post to call him or one of the Explorer Scouts.

Our scouts report that the liquidation sale that is in progress at the Anderson store in Eastland is really pulling in a crowd. It seems that a woman went in and found a dress that she liked and went into a dressing room to try the dress on. After trying it on she went out to find a clerk and when she went back to the dressing room, someone had picked up the dress she had worn in and evidently had bought it. I have heard of women losing hats in rummage sales, but this is the first time that I have ever heard of someone losing their dress in a liquidation sale.

Census Shows County Drops

The sad news is out and Eastland County citizens aren't going to be very pleased with it. The county census showed a big drop and all cities and towns in the county showed a loss.

Cisco remains the biggest town in the county, but that town also showed the biggest loss. Cisco dropped from 5,250 in 1950 to 4,447 today, a loss of 783. Ranger hung on to second place in population with a count of 3,299, a drop of 690 from the 3,989 registered 10 years ago.

Here's the Answer

Many Jobs Open To Teen-Ages During Summer

High school boys and girls looking for summertime employment will find many jobs open to them which are permitted under the Fair Labor Standards Act—or Federal Child-Labor law, according to Regional Director William J. Rogers of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions in Dallas.

He pointed out that a youth of 16 or 17 years of age can work in any job which has not been declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor. These jobs (which include hazardous occupations such as elevator operator, truck driver or driver's helper, logger or saw-mill worker) require an 18 year age minimum.

"Even children of 14 and 15 years of age can find a variety of jobs which are not prohibited by the Federal law. Although the law sets a 16-year age minimum for many types of work, it permits youngsters of 14 and 15 to work in such jobs as office, clerical or sales work, and a vegetable and fruit-packing sheds," Rogers said.

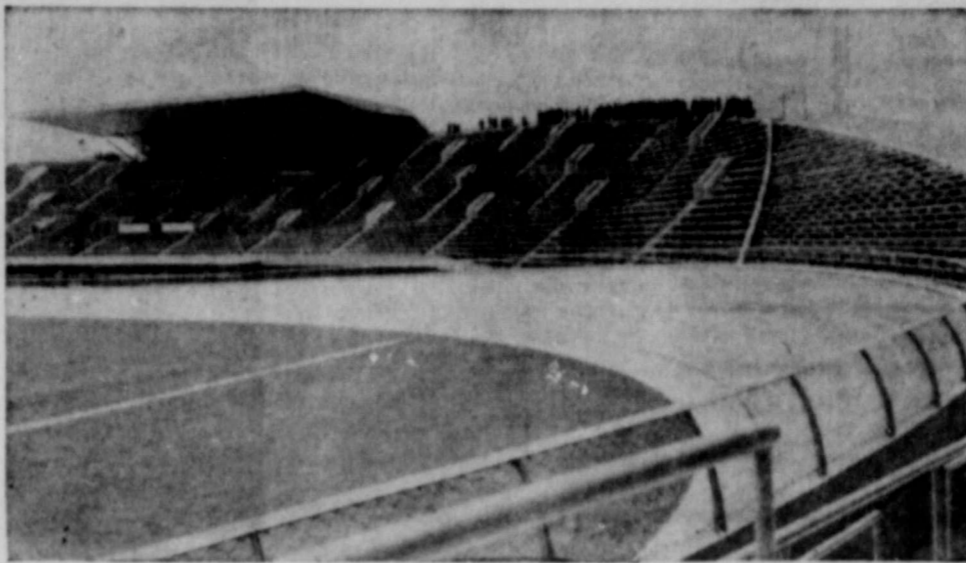

"And during the summer months," he added, "the restrictions on working hours are not as strict. The 14- and 15-year-old may work as many as 8 hours a day or 40 hours a week, but all work must be performed between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m."

Rogers said that the best way for an employer to protect himself against hiring underage minors is to require an age certificate, which serves as proof of age for purposes of the Act. In Texas these certificates are issued by a public service, by the Texas Employment Commission.

The Act, which applies to employment in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce, contains several exemptions from its child-labor provisions. These include delivering newspapers to the consumer, acting or performing in an entertainment media, farm work outside of school hours, and work for the child's parents other than manufacturing, mining, or jobs declared hazardous.

Since Texas also has its own child-labor law, Rogers said that

Deer Showing Better Return Than Cattle

The net return per animal unit in deer in one area of the Kerr Wildlife Management Area last year amounted to $153.28, which the higher standards must be observed if the State and Federal laws differ. Information about the Federal law may be obtained from the office of the Wage and Hour Division, located at 1114 Commerce Street in Dallas.

was considerably higher than livestock on the same area yielded. This is included in a report of the management research area made through the director of wildlife restoration of the Game and Fish Commission.

"This return was much higher than from any class of livestock on the area," the report says. "The net return from 162 animal units in livestock was $4,669.60 compared to $3,747.61 from only 87 animal units in deer. These findings indicate that deer are a potentially important asset to ranches.

"Development should be directed toward improving the habitat for deer in order to increase the

OMAR BURLESON

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

By BOYCE HOUSE In Fort Smith, Ark., in 1925, gathering material for an article, I visited the police station and an old-time officer, learning I was from Texas, asked if I'd ever been in Comanche. He remarked, "The last time I was there, five bodies were laying on the court-house square."

Rep. Howard Green of Fort

Worth used to be sports editor in Abilene. While attending high school, he wrote a sports article which won second place in a Texas contest—and first in a national contest.

Big Spring used to be the location of a big spring, (I am told) but it disappeared. Tired of having so many visitors ask where the spring was, citizens, back in the 1930's built one.

Neon signs are all right but they can't compare with that now-vanished sign in San Antonio, showing a cowboy roping a steer.

Post was named for C. W. Post, the cereal king ("granola" was one of his products).

Tris Speaker, one of the all-time greats of baseball—was born (the old record book said) in Hubbard City—only don't call it that to an inhabitant; he'll tell you the name is Hubbard.

And people who lived in the general Brown-Eastland counties' area referred to a place as Maytown, which always seemed to displease the residents, who called it May. The late Mark Matson, Fort Worth attorney, who had one of the keenest senses of humor I've ever known, was from there and so was W. K. Chambers, one of the most esteemed members of the legislature in his day.

Fort Worth and El Paso. This was early in the century when coal mining was in full swing and almost several rich ranch families lived there.

Senior and junior girls received guests, and seniors presided at the refreshment table. Freshman and sophomore members had charge of the guest book, and all members assisted in serving. Background music was provided by Karen Killingsworth, Mary Kay Bush, Jill Watkins, Kay Hooper, and Alyce Pounds.

The refreshment table carried out a spring motif with a centerpiece of light pink carnations, peonies, and stock and silver leaves in crystal bowl. Table appointments were crystal and silver. Arrangements of red and pink roses were used throughout the entertaining rooms.

By EMILY POST
Politely Putting off A Visitor
Dear Mrs. Post: If a friend calls and says that she would like to see us if we are going to be at home, and we are expecting other guests in on that particular evening, is it proper to tell her that we are having company, or do I say nothing and ask her to come over. Sometimes it really doesn't suit to have another visitor, but how can one say this without seeming rude? I would very much like to know how to cope with this situation.

Answer: You might tell her that you are having the Browns in for a serious game of bridge and you are sorry you can't have her too, but won't she come in tomorrow.

A "Shower of Cards"
Dear Mrs. Post: My mother and father-in-law will be married fifty years the end of next month. Because of ill health a party of any kind will be out of the question. I do not like to see the day go by unnoticed and thought it would be nice if all their friends remembered them by sending greeting cards which I am sure will please them very much. In other words, have a "shower of cards." Is such an idea possible, and if so, how can I go about suggesting it?

Answer: I think your idea is excellent, and the best way to go about this would be to telephone your plan to their most intimate friends and ask them to spread the idea to others.

Manners on the Golf Course
Dear Mrs. Post: When out on a golf course, is it proper for a twosome to ask a foursome who happen to be ahead of them, if they may go through, or must wait their turn?

Answer: It is perfectly correct, and not at all unusual, for a twosome to ask to go through a foursome, if there is an open hole ahead of them.

Inconsiderate Neighbors

Dear Mrs. Post: Our neighbor's driveway is located right along our bedroom window, and this is directly the cause of our problem. We are constantly awakened late at night by the loud slam of the garage doors, which seems to be part of our neighbor's bedtime ritual whether they have been out for the evening or not. This is a brief disturbance and we usually are able to go back to sleep. But these people frequently accompany their guests to their cars parked in the driveway, and continue their lengthy adieux right under our bedroom window. By the time the guests leave, we are wide awake. As these neighbors have rejected our overtures of friendship, there does not seem to be a gracious way of explaining our complaint to them, and my husband refuses to permit me to interrupt the nightly conversation from our bedroom window. What do you suggest?

Answer: You must not shout to them to be quiet from your bedroom window, but there is no reason why you may not go to see this neighbor, or write her a note, saying that you are sure she does not realize how much voices carry in the stillness of the night and that the talking of her visitors just outside your bedroom window is keeping you and your husband awake, and ask her if she would please try to get them to keep their voices down.

Announcing Himself on the Telephone

Dear Mrs. Post: To settle a long standing argument, will you please tell me if it is proper for a man, when announcing himself on the telephone to say, "This is

Mr. Jones Speaking?" In other words, should the "Mr." be used? Answer: A man calling a woman whom he knows socially would never, under any circumstances, announce himself as Mr. He would say, "It is John Jones." But a man calling a woman on business says, "This is Mr. Jones of Blank & Company." If he were calling a business man, he would be likely to say, "This is Jones of Blank & Company."

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-16, entitled, "Table Rules of Importance," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of (name of newspaper), P. O. Box 92, station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

History of Armed Forces Day, May 15

Armed Forces Day was established in 1950 by the Secretary of Defense, with approval of the President, to give official recognition to a single public presentation by the Armed Forces of the United States in lieu of different dates previously observed by individual services.

The President proclaimed the third Saturday in May 1950 as the first Armed Forces Day, after thorough study of all possible alternative dates. Although it was recognized that the third Saturday in May would always be within 15 days of Memorial Day—a national holiday of great significance to millions of Americans—it was believed that this day would actually involve the least conflict with established commemorative occasions and with business, industrial, educational, and professional activities, and thus would afford the most suitable opportunity for nationwide public participation.

From the first, the Armed Forces Day observance has been devoted to emphasize upon the basic concept that our freedom and national security depend upon the power which comes from teamwork and national unity.

The 1950 slogan was Teamed for Defense; in 1951, Defenders of Freedom; and in 1952, Unity—Strength—Freedom. The 1953 program emphasized the fact that the Armed Forces of the United States represent Power for Peace, a slogan so descriptive of our national effort that it has been retained.

This 1960 observance will emphasize the concept that the Free World, to which our Armed Forces are committed, is the real Power for Peace. In some overseas areas, the observance will have the same theme under the slogan Partners for Peace.

Red Cross to Sponsor Aquatic Schools Again

Texas, Oklahoma, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Missouri, and Wisconsin have been selected as host states this year for the annual Red Cross National Aquatic Schools in the Midwest. The schools, being held for the 39th year, provide advanced training for experienced and prospective camp counselors, leaders, and instructors in community and pool water safety programs.

Because of the increasing number of persons taking to the water via small boats, small craft schools will also be held in conjunction with two of the aquatic schools, those at Lake Murray State Park at Ardmore, Oklahoma, June 5-15, and at Camp Wah-Kon-Dah at Rocky Mount, Missouri, Aug. 17-27. The other sites selected and dates of aquatic schools there are: Camp Texlake, Spicewood, Texas, June 5-15; SHU Little Grassy Lake Campus, Carbondale, Ill., June 8-18; Lake Okoboji Lutheran Bible Camp, Milford, Iowa, June 8-18; Owasippe Scout Camps, Camp Stuart, Whitehall, Mich., June 15-25; and Camp Chippecotton, Elkhorn, Wis., Aug. 17-27. A small craft school will also be held at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Indiana, June 13-23.

Enrollment is open to men and women 18 years of age and older wishing to serve more skillfully in their positions closely related to water sports or wishing to serve as volunteer Red Cross instructors in their home communities. The courses include instruction in swimming and lifesaving, small craft, swimming pool operation, and leadership in camp and community water safety activities. Instruction is also given in first aid and those wishing to get this instruction may complete the standard, advanced, and instructors courses.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of Red Cross First Aid and the half century of progress will be reviewed during the school sessions. Complete enrollment information on the aquatic and small craft schools can be secured through any Red Cross chapter or from the Midwestern Area Office, American National Red Cross, 4050 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis 8, Missouri.

State Draft Quota Is Set At 259 Men

The state quota for Texas draft boards in June calls for 259 men, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Tuesday.

The state's June call of 259 compares with a quota of 350 for May, previously announced. The June call is the state's share of a national call of 5,500 men, all for the Army.

Colonel Schwartz also announced that approximately 500 men were scheduled to take pre-induction mental and physical examinations.

Local board quotas for the June call already have been figured and sent to the state's 137 local boards.

The June quota will be filled with men who are at least 22 years old on June 1, with the exception of volunteers or delin-

More Profit From Fewer Acres

Texas take pride in the size of their farming operations. Sometimes they overlook the fact that large operations also may be inefficient—that more profit often can be obtained by more intensive farming methods practiced on fewer acres.

This is particularly true with vegetable crops, says Dr. H. C. Mohr, associate professor of horticulture, Texas A&M College System. For example, cabbage, when grown in twin rows on the bed, gives yields about double those of single rows on the bed. Very little additional fertilizer and irrigation are required. Cultivation is the same and labor for thinning and harvesting is much more efficient than on the single row. Thus the yield is doubled at much less than double the production cost. The difference, Mohr points out, is additional profit.

Failure of more efficient methods (or of improved hybrid or varieties) to make more money for growers has been related to failure to adjust acreage. Vegetables are very responsive to the supply-demand situation. If more efficient practices are used, without proportionate adjustment of acreage, excessive supplies usually result in severe price declines, and the grower may make less than he did before he used the new practices (or varieties).

When a new practice is undertaken, the grower should try to produce the same quantity of the crop as before, but on fewer acres, Mohr emphasizes. In this way the market will not be glutted, and the grower can realize additional profit from his improved efficiency. Of course he will then have to decide how to use the acres he no longer needs for a particular crop.

President McKinley Once Said—

... "I do not prize the word CHEAP. It's not a word of hope, nor cheer, nor inspiration. To the contrary, it is a badge of dishonesty, the sign of distress. Cheap merchandise means cheap men and cheap men a cheap country." The quotation reminds us of a friend who bought a ranch in another state, demanded a cheap abstract and got it. He's busted now and the abstractor who accommodated him died of a broken heart. The moral is, don't do it!

Obvious Risks Assumed

The outlook wasn't very bright for the home team with the score tied, two opposing players on base and only one out. "Spec" Talar, a rabid fan, leaned forward on his seat in the left field bleachers. The pitcher got his signal, the ball sped toward the plate.

Then came two sharp cracks. The first was the bat on the ball. The second was the ball on Spec's head. Spec was seriously injured.

To recover damages for his injuries and medical bills, Spec filed suit against the baseball club. He charged it with negligence in failing to put a wire screen in front of the bleachers where he sat and in failing to warn him that batted balls might come into those bleachers and injure him.

But the court said, "No" to Spec. He had chosen to sit in the unscreened bleachers in preference to sitting behind a screen where the tickets cost more. Therefore, he had "assumed the risk" of being hit by a batted or thrown ball during the playing of the game. No recovery was allowed.

In such cases, the courts say that the spectator is an invitee to whom the duty to exercise ordinary care to render the premises reasonably safe for him.

"But," say the courts, "the invitee is not an insurer of the safety of the invitee; neither is the invitee protected against all hazard, nor relieved of all duty to himself for his own safety. And to the extent that the duty of self-protection rests upon the invitee, the duty of the invitor to protect is reduced."

The same rules as to "assumption of risk" are applied to most places of amusement and amusement devices. A swimmer must anticipate that a diving board will be wet and slippery. A person who rides on an amusement device and sees flying sparks takes the chance that a flying spark may strike his eye.

And one who goes upon a revolving floor device for the purpose of being thrown from it, accepts the dangers inherent in the sport so far as they are obvious.

On the other hand, if the danger is not apparent or obvious, the operator of the device has a duty to warn the rider or spectator. It is the ordinary risk that is assumed, not the unusual. Where, for example, a device was operated on a particular occasion at an especially fast speed so that it jerked and jolted violently, a rider who was injured by these unusual conditions was permitted to recover.

A patron of a place of amusement is entitled to be protected from hidden dangers, but he cannot go into a place of danger which he appreciates and understands, and then recover damages if he is injured.

AMERICA'S FOREMOST FAMILY LIABILITY POLICY

$5,000 LOW RATE

A $10 insurance policy that every family should have

You have a nice family, but that doesn't mean you may not wake up some morning facing a damage suit for thousands of dollars, for something your family has done.

Your child may hurt somebody with his bicycle. You may hit somebody with a golf ball. Your dog may bite somebody. Somebody may trip on your steps and break a leg.

For $10 a year we can protect you against many kinds of lawsuits up to $10,000* with an America Fore Family Legal Liability Policy. It even pays medical fees up to $250 for non-family injuries even if you are not legally liable. Ask us.

*You can get higher limits if you want them.
