

As I See Ranger

By Gene Townsend

Fire Chief Charlie Isabell cautioned everyone again today about the impending danger of grass fires. He said that with the weather getting hotter and dryer each day, the danger of grass fires was steadily increasing.

The spectators that watched the Little League mothers play baseball Saturday night may have enjoyed the game, but they didn't enjoy it near as much as the women who played. They really had a good time.

The women's team from Eastland has changed the locale to a game. There isn't any reason as yet, whether or not the Ranger women will accept the challenge.

The mystery, or maybe we should say, the story of the big New Mexico rattlesnake has cleared up a little. It wasn't a snake that had been near an atomic explosion and given it a radioactive glow.

Correction—The Little League Giants assured themselves of the League Championship last Thursday night when they defeated the Braves. The Braves could have tied the Giants if they had won the game.

Controlling of Livestock On Highways Is Law

The Texas Department of Public Safety reminded Texas state owners today that a new law went into effect July 1 aimed at controlling livestock on designated U.S. and state highways.

The new law makes it illegal for a person knowingly to permit his domestic livestock to roam at large and unattended on state and federal highways.

The law does not prohibit the driving or herding of livestock across or along highways. It gives peace officers the authority to enforce provisions of the act with out a warrant.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said state patrolmen will enforce provisions of the law in an effort to reduce the traffic hazard caused by animals on designated state and U.S. highways.

Ranger Boy Scouts Enjoy Week's Camp

Thirty-five Ranger Boy Scouts returned Sunday from a week's camping at Camp Billy Gibbons, wilderness camp of the Comanche Trail Council.

Ranger Scouts made a good showing at the camp. Troop 15 took top honors in campsite appearance for the week.

Also two scouts from Troop 10 passed the Order of the Arrow ordeal. They were Newnam and Johnny Camacho.

Troop 15 had four boys to advance in rank and three to earn merit badges. Troop 10 had six boys to advance in rank and 10 to earn merit badges.

I have been to camp three times as a member of Scout Troop 10. Many merit badges can be passed. It is great fun climbing in the caves.

I think Camp Billy Gibbons is a lot of fun. I think the teachers did a very good job. The food was pretty good too.

I liked Camp Billy Gibbons because it was fun.—Andy Hamilton.

Camp was fine. All except the food. We went fishing every day. The first day it was real hot. We saw more coachwhip snakes.

I had a lot of fun at Camp Billy Gibbons. I like it because it has so many sports, etc. Boating, shooting, Indian lore, first aid, astronomy, archery and swimming.

I enjoyed Boy Scout Camp very much and I hope that I can come back next year. We had a good time while we were here.

Camp Billy Gibbons had lots of merit badge classes. I liked. They were swimming, marksmanship and life saving.

There were lots of merit badges to be earned. I liked everything. I hope I can return next year.

Good place to earn merit badges and pass your rank. Food is fine. Plenty of fun. Johnny Camacho.

Camp Billy Gibbons is a wonderful place for great experiences. There are skills, waterfront merit badges, camping out and hiking.

I think Camp Billy Gibbons is a wonderful place for every Boy Scout. In the summer when most boys are idle they look forward to a week of camp.

I think Camp Billy Gibbons this year was pretty good. One thing that was not so good was the activities were all at the same time. The food was fair, but I think that camp is a good place for Boy Scouts to come and learn scout work.—LaRoy Pearson.

I like Billy Gibbons is a nice place. The events are good and you learn a lot. The food is not so good.—Richard Lebristo.

The staff is nice and it is a good place to earn merit badges. They have archery, Indian lore, first aid and a lot more. The food is good.—Richard Hill.

I think camp is one of the best places to learn and pass skills. The only complaint I have is that you sometimes cannot pass all the merit badges, you want to. The staff, food, campsite and facilities are very good. I want to come back for many years.—Larry Wilhelm.

I think camp Billy Gibbons is a lot of fun. I think the teachers did a very good job. The food was pretty good too.—Emery Ford Jr.

I think Camp Billy Gibbons is quite nice. Of course, everything is not perfect. The food is O. K., but the greenhouses are terrible. Many different activities are offered such as pioneering, rowing, canoeing, swimming, etc.

I had a lot of fun at Camp Billy Gibbons. I like it because it has so many sports, etc. Boating, shooting, Indian lore, first aid, astronomy, archery and swimming.

Grassland and Barn Are Destroyed by Olden Fire

A grass fire burned out of control for several hours Saturday afternoon between Eastland and Olden and destroyed some 250 acres of grassland, burned down a barn and ruined the birthday party of an eight-year-old youngster.

The fire burned off some 80-100 acres on the Roy Brickman place about 2 1/2 miles northeast of Eastland and destroyed some 140 acres of grassland on the Bill Morton ranch. A barn located near the Morton home was burned down and both the Morton home and the Brickman home were in serious danger at one time.

Mrs. Roy Brickman, describing the fire, said that at one time her house was completely surrounded by the blaze. She had high praise for Eastland and Ranger firemen and for other volunteers who worked to save the two houses.

Probably the most disheartened person of all was eight-year-old Billy Brickman. The fire was first discovered at 1:30 p.m., just 30 minutes before his birthday party was scheduled to begin.

The fire was believed to have started at the Texas and Pacific Railway's right-of-way, which borders one of the ranches and splits the other. It started on the north side of the Brickman's pasture. Actually there were two fires going at one time.

The fire was already raging near the Brickman home by the time it was discovered.

Eastland County Escapes Grim Fatality Lists

Eastland County escaped from the three-day holiday weekend without any violent deaths, although the state and the national figures were nearing a new record high late Monday night.

Late Monday night the traffic death figures for the nation had passed the National Safety Council estimate of 370 deaths and was nearing the 400 mark, and was expected to pass the previous high mark of 407 traffic deaths, set in 1955.

Drownings and boating fatalities reached an all time high with 54 persons dying from boating accidents and 108 from drownings. Miscellaneous deaths were over the 100 mark. Total fatalities early Monday night were well over the 600 mark throughout the nation.

During the early hours of Monday night the highway fatalities were averaging five an hour, as the homeward-bound traffic jammed the nation's highways.

Most of the fatalities occurred singly. Some accidents killed two or three, and one in Wisconsin, wiped out seven lives.

Ranger Youngsters Take Top Honors At Dance Contest

Two couples of Ranger youngsters won prizes in the Dance Contest in Miller Park in Breckenridge Monday, July 4.

Kathy Lamb and Gary Hise won first place in the first division and Theo Hale and Cathy Rogers won second place.

In the second division, Mike Gallagher and Cathy Anderson of Breckenridge won first place and Larry Daniels and Karen Wilkey of Graham won second place.

All the youngsters were dance students of the Jean Anderson Dance Class.

Each of the above mentioned youngsters were awarded $5.00 prizes. Kathy Lamb was awarded a scholarship to a dance course and chaperon school at the House of Charm in Abilene.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

Roaming through Arkansas: In Hot Springs, there is a small cafe which offers a steak dinner for only 50 cents! It's a lamb steak—A clever name for a motor court, King Arthur's Court.

Talking about playing a sure thing, in a window are two signs, "Blank Cemetery Association" and "Income Tax Service." Evidently, here is a believer in the old saying, "Only two things are certain—death and taxes."

Odd name: A lawyer in Arkadelphia is G. W. Lookadoo. In Prescott, one hotel has two names. A sign in front says, "Lawson Hotel"; a big sign on the roof says, "Lee Hotel."

In Benton, a sign reads, "The Friends' Butchers." If you have a copy of "Tall Talk from Texas," you may, eventually, own a "collector's item." After 16 years, the book is out-of-print. What with loss through fire, flood and friends who borrow, but never return books, "Tall Talk" should ultimately be in short supply. This probably will take some time as close to 100,000 copies were published.

Rock-and-roll came into vogue four or five years ago. Long-suffering folks hailed with delight the announcement that it was dying. The prediction that it was on the way out was first made two years ago—but rock-and-roll is still with us.

I have given the matter considerable thought and I have figured the situation out. Rock-and-roll indeed was slipping out of favor with the teen-agers who were its devotees—but as they outgrow rock-and-roll, a new army of teenagers comes along to take their places.

So, friends, Romans, countrymen, I think we are stuck with it. Rock-and-roll has become a permanent part of our way of life.

Texas Farm Bureau Policies Are Outlined

J. H. West, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, will present recommendations of the national Farm Bureau to the Democratic Platform Committee July 5 in Los Angeles.

This announcement was made Friday by Charles B. Shuman of Chicago, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Three other state Farm Bureau presidents from different regions of the nation, will team with West to recommend platform planks as developed by Farm Bureau members in their annual policy-making process.

West is expected to stress Farm Bureau's platform for a "competitive enterprise system in which all property is privately owned, privately managed, and operated for profit and individual satisfaction, and in which supply and demand are ultimate determinants of market price."

Briefly, here are the Farm Bureau policies on national farm programs: (1) Farm production cannot be balanced with effective demand by legislation as long as increased production is being encouraged by government guarantees. Price-fix-

(2) We should move in the direction of eliminating government regulation of the right to produce agricultural commodities. Our experience in this regard clearly indicates that political determination of the right to produce is the road to low—no it high—per family farm income.

(3) Our farm plant is over expanded in relation to current markets—including the extraordinary "markets" made possible by special export aids. Land retirement programs, such as the Conservation Reserve, are not a cure-all. Nevertheless, a sizeable land retirement program is urgently needed as a temporary measure to help farmers make the adjustments that must be made to correct the adverse results of past programs.

(4) Where price support and production adjustment programs are used, they should be designed to facilitate orderly marketing rather than to fix prices. Price support levels should take account of competitive conditions, supply and demand, and market trends.

(5) With less interference from government, the marketing system will be freer to operate effectively and efficiently. This will encourage the expansion of market outlets and the production of quality products in line with market demands. Thus, we can better meet competition at home and abroad.

(6) Where special export pricing is necessary to regain or maintain foreign markets, we should return to a one-price system as rapidly as possible.

(7) Individual commodity programs must be in harmony with the interests of agriculture generally; however, these programs must also recognize the inherent difference among various farm commodities.

(8) Congress should retain responsibility for determining major provisions of commodity programs as it is the only body which represents all the people affected by such programs. The assumption that producers of a commodity are the only people interested in programs for that commodity is fallacious.

(9) We strongly oppose the establishment of maximums on price (Continued On Page Four)

Helping To Share Expenses

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine has invited me to spend a week with her at her summer place, along with my two-year-old child. My husband will join us on the weekend we arrive and the weekend we leave. We want to contribute toward the expenses of our stay and would like to know how we may properly do this. I am sure our visit will entail a good deal extra expense on her part and we would like to do our share.

Answer: It will be safer not to offer any financial contribution toward the expense of your visit as she just might think this insulting from invited guests. You could, however, help indirectly by bringing with you a very fine Virginia ham or some other substantial delicacy.

Walking Four Aboard

Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't it bad manners for people to walk three or four abreast on a city street forcing a passerby to walk around them? I have encountered this quite often of late and it infuriates me every time it happens.

Answer: Four abreast is most inconsiderate unless the sidewalk is tremendously wide, and when three walk abreast one of them should drop behind whenever they encounter either one or two passersby and there is not plenty of room for all to pass.

A Double Shower

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to a shower that is being given for twin sisters who are to be married shortly at a double wedding. I would like to know if it is necessary to take two presents, or would one present for the bride who is my particular friend, be sufficient?

Answer: I suggest that you take an inexpensive token present for the twin you don't know well and something more important for the one who is your particular friend.

A Bachelor's Return for Hospitality

Dear Mrs. Post: I don't have a wife, live in a very small apartment and don't actually "keep house," and am not earning a whole of a salary. The combination does not make it easy to return the hospitality accorded me by married friends, particularly several couples who invite me frequently to family meals. All I've done is to take a bottle of wine or whiskey now and then, and then proceed to help drink it. I'd like to have your suggestions.

Answer: For occasional hospitality, a bachelor—especially one who is known to have limited means—is not expected to make any return. That he makes an effort to be agreeable to her guests is all a hostess generally asks of him. For repeated hospitality, there does come a time when even a bachelor may be expected to make some effort to show a little tangible appreciation. So regardless of how your particular hosts feel about this, it would certainly please them to have you, let's say, send the wife a few flowers on an anniversary, or sometimes take her a box of candy; even a few toys for the children. Or, as a special treat, if you can manage it once a year, invite the husband and wife out to dinner, or to the

Announcing A Firm's New Partner

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has just been made a partner in his firm. Would it be proper to send out announcements to this effect, and if so, how should they be worded?

Answer: It is the firm that sends out cards announcing that your husband has been made a partner. They also usually repeat the announcement as an advertisement in the business pages of the newspapers.

European and American Plans

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please explain the difference between an American plan and a European plan hotel? My friend and I have a difference of opinion on this.

Answer: American plan means so much a day for room, including meals. In the European plan hotel, the prices of rooms include no food.

Instant Spuds Inspire Warm Weather Treat

Salmon-potato pie is the center of a quick and tasty summertime meal.

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

New, paper-thin instant whipped potato flakes make quick meals much easier. They come in 5 1/2-ounce packages, containing two full envelopes. Each envelope makes four servings.

Salmon-Potato Pie (Serves Four)

One (1 pound) can red salmon, drained and flaked, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1/2 cup chopped green pepper, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 1 teaspoon crushed rosemary leaves, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 envelope instant whipped potato flakes, 1 1/2 cups water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup milk, 1 tablespoon butter.

Gently combine salmon, vegetables and seasonings (except salt). Prepare instant whipped potato flakes with water, salt, milk and butter according to directions on package. Fold 1 cup potatoes into salmon mixture; spoon mixture evenly into four individual baking dishes; use remaining potatoes as garnish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

Chantilly Potatoes (Serves four) Two envelopes instant whipped potato flakes, 3 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, dash pepper (freshly ground, if possible), 1/2 cup heavy cream, 2 ounces sharp aged American cheese, shredded (about 1/2 cup), paprika.

Prepare instant whipped potato flakes with water, salt, milk and butter according to directions on package. Arrange potatoes in buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole.

Sprinkle pepper on top. Whip heavy cream; spoon it on top of potatoes. Sprinkle shredded cheese, then paprika, on surface of cream. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Serve hot.

Layers of Wax Removed In Just Minutes

Housewives have found they have to pay the piper for the quick gloss they achieve with self-polishing floor waxes. All modern self-polishing waxes tend to turn yellow after they have been on the floor for a long period of time, and many households have dull dingy floors as the result of several years' wax buildup. Now there's a way to "remove layers of dirt embedded wax in five minutes' time. Research in the laboratory of a manufacturer, recognized nationally as an authority on floor care has produced a simple, inexpensive wax remover to solve this problem shared by housewives all over America. The remover will penetrate and dissolve old layers of wax in five minutes or less, without scrubbing. It's ready to use from the bottle. No mixing or diluting is necessary. Just pour it on linoleum, tile, vinyl or rubber floors. Wait five minutes, then wipe up the old wax. Rinse with cool water and original color and beauty of the floor is revived. To retain this "clean and new" appearance, the remover should be used regularly to prevent wax build-up. Frequency of use depends on how often the floor is waxed.

The remover, made for use on all non-wood floors, will not harm clothing and hands. It has a fresh, pleasing odor.

Several kinds of finishes may be applied to floors and interior woodwork so as to preserve their natural appearance. These are wood sealers, shellac, varnish or lacquer. Each type of finish has properties peculiar to itself.

Shellac is made from a resin secreted by a tropical insect. The resin is refined and dissolved in alcohol. Shellac dries very rapidly and forms a hard, glossy surface. Shellac will water-stain and turn whitish when exposed to too much moisture.

Varnish is a finish composed of natural or synthetic resins in some type of drying oil. After drying, the film is reasonably hard and tough, and impervious to moisture. Varnish coatings take longer to dry and tend to darken with age.

Lacquer coatings consist of cellulose nitrate or derivatives dissolved in a rapidly evaporating solvent. Resin is frequently added to the mixture. Lacquer dries quickly and is resistant to moisture. However, it is difficult to apply and is generally more expensive than other finishes.

Wood sealers usually consist of waxes, resins and drying oils together with a water repellent. Essentially, they do not coat the wood but shallowly penetrate into the material. When applied, the excess sealer is removed and the wood buffed to provide a pleasing appearance.

Although floors may be beautified and protected with any of these finishes, care must be exercised to select products made specifically for wooden floors and applied as directed.

The grain appearance of a piece of wood is largely determined by the way in which the log was cut. Cross cutting exposes the end grain. This is the surface seen on most blocks used by butchers.

Lumber is never manufactured by sawing across the grain. It is always sawn parallel to the grain or lengthwise of the log. However, sawing in this manner can produce two distinctly different types of wood grain. When sawing the outer portion of the log, the cut parallels the annual growth rings of the tree. Lumber of this origin is called plain-sawn or flat-grained. As the sawing approaches the center of the log, the cut crosses the annual growth rings. This type of lumber is called quarter-sawn, edge-grained, or vertical grained.

Here's the Answer

Only a small amount of lumber is purposely quarter-sawn. For most purposes, lumber with either type of grain is satisfactory. But, for uses requiring heavy wearing qualities, such as for flooring, quarter-sawn lumber is best. Such lumber also shrinks less in width, and splits and twists less than plain sawn lumber. The advantages of using quarter-sawn lumber for flooring and similar specialized uses more than offsets the additional cost required.

support loans, either in total or as applied to individual farmers. A ceiling on individual loans would not remove the basic causes of high program costs. More significantly it would tend to reduce the size of farm units and thus lower production efficiency.

(10) The compensatory or direct production payment approach is unsound and dangerous to our economic and political system.

Regardless of the form in which it is presented, a direct payment program would be fantastically expensive. It would stimulate production, increase unit costs, depress market prices, and make farmers dependent on Congressional appropriations for their net farm income and a part of their production costs as well.

The payment approach carries a "cheap food" philosophy; however, in actual practice it would encourage inefficiency and thereby result in high food and fiber costs. Limitations on payments to individuals are inevitable in payment programs. Such limitations would place a ceiling on opportunity in agriculture and level individual farm incomes downward.
