A Small City with Big Industry - A Bright Spot for New Industry

RANGER, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 4, 1960

As I See Ranger

By Gene Townsend

High School Football time is getting near, with only one month left before the Bulldogs will see action for the first time in the 1960 season. Coach Harold Prescott is attending the Texas Coaching School in Dallas this week. Coach Jim Puryear and his new Assistant, Clyde Everett left yesterday for the clinic. They will return all fired up for the new season that is fast approaching, and will spend the next few weeks trying to mold their charges into a football squad.

At the clinic all the coaches will get together and give their own best stories to the sports writers and they will analyze all the stories and the coach that comes up with the most pitiful story of broken bones, ineligible players and bright prospects who have moved away will get his team picked as the most likely team to win their district.

Of course, some of the more conservative sports forecasters fall back on the prospect of repeat performance to pick their candidates for district champions. More than likely Cisco will be picked again this year to win the District 7AA crown.

I am going to second guess the outcome of the forecast for the outcome of the 7AA district race. The sport forecasters will pick Cisco to win the district with Coleman coming in a close second. Ballinger will be picked third, followed by Winters and Ranger being picked in last place.

Here again, I will stick my neck out and say that Cisco won't win first place and Ranger won't come in last. My pick is Coleman first, Ballinger, Cisco, Ranger, and Winters in that order.

Coach Prescott was recently approached on the subject of the Bulldogs' prospects for the coming year. Coach said, "I am almost sure that we will win ten . . ." then after a rather long pause he added, "percent."

Coach Puryear, on being asked about the Rangers' outlook for this fall said that the Rangers may not have a winning season, but the Ranger football fans will get to see some of the top Junior College teams in Texas play ball. He's sure, which will be released in the near future, will include such top ranking teams as Del Mar, Wharton, Tyler, and the always tough Cameron Aggies.

That's enough for the present on football, now to return for one more time to the fast paced local baseball scene.

One thing is to let the All-Star players know who is responsible for them getting to the league officials. The league officials decided that to save money for building the concession stand, they would take up the caps and use them again next year. Woodrow Grayder got the league officials to agree that if he collected the cost of the caps and turned it in to the league that the boys could keep their caps. Here is a list of people that contributed money for the caps: R. W. Gwyder, Curtis Blackwell, Joe Dennis, Marvin McGee, Wilson Simpson, Lloyd Landreth, Chick Ross, Mrs. Wanda Blackwell, W. F. Creath, Mrs. Charles Bond, Bob Gately, Joe Dekevinch, Mrs. Lloyd Nail, L. Pearson, Hershel Gibson and Norman Morrison.

Bob Gately and Hershel Gibson, who were the All-Star managers, were talking one afternoon at the All-Star workout and they discovered that their grandfathers had been partners during the early 1900's. Their grandfathers formed a partnership to furnish the town of Thurber with beef during the coal mining days at Thurber, when it was a town of near 10,000 people.

We were talking to Homer Robinson out at the lake a few days ago and he said that his son Jack, who has been living in Bronte, had returned to make his home in Ranger. We are always glad to see new families move into town and more so, old families moving back. When a family who has lived here before moves back, it shows that Ranger is bound to be a pretty good place to live, since some one who has moved away chose to return.

Covered Sugar

By Mrs. Cubian Perry

Hi! Here we are back in "Good ole Ranger" (on our vacation) and talk about Texas with its wide open spaces—well, our yard has become "wide open spaces."

We have all sorts of weeds, grass and plants from many states and they seem to thrive (just a wee bit) better in Texas.

Our yard is teeming with rabbits, squirrels, opossum, skunk, armadillo, dove, bob-white, and even a beautiful peacock (the went back home—guess he had too much competition or it was too crowded).

I don't mind any of them but the little "armored one" he is just too destructive as he burrows little holes down into the carpet grass and eats the roots. The weeds are not for him as the digging is a little more work so, why should he work when the grass has been watered and the digging so easy and the food so plentiful?

Have you ever tried to catch an armadillo? If you are getting over weight and would like to take of a few pounds just come on up to our house and help us catch him.

I had a locust painted and stuck into a pot plant but the better half grabbed him off and mashed him. He (the better half) almost lost his life as I had just glued him (the locust) into the pot-plant the day before! Next time he has promised to look twice before he exterminates my bugs.

We had a land tortoise up here for years, known as old "scarred back" as some one had cut his shell and it had healed over in such manner that we knew it was the same one. Each year the grandkids would discover him some place and call out, "Here is old 'scarred back', however he must have passed on as none of them discovered him this year. (Kinda miss him myself).

This being our vacation, will make this short and try to find some very interesting things to pass on in the future. Glad to see the grandkids would discover him some place and call out, "Here is old 'scarred back', however he must have passed on as none of them discovered him this year. (Kinda miss him myself).

Thirteen County Citizens Invited To Gonzales Meet
Thirteen persons from Eastland County are among the 3,000 Texans who have been invited to the most unusual reunion in the United States. The annual event, to be held Aug. 7, is a get-together for former patients of the Texas Rehabilitation Center, Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation.

Former patients gather for a full day of activity, to meet old friends from their stay at Warm Springs, and to make new ones that share their same handicap or a similar one.

Last year, more than 300 disabled Texans came to Warm Springs, located between Gonzales and Luling near Palmetto State Park, for the August gathering. This year marks the fourth time the reunion has been held.

The meeting is the result of an idea conceived by a unique organization, the TFC Former Patients Association. This association is the only one of its kind in the United States. The members have two common interests. Each has been handicapped as a result of some injury or disease, and each has received rehabilitation treatment at the Center.

FILING CABINETS
All steel construction. For office or home. Letter or legal size. One, two, three and four drawer. Locks optional.

Eastland County Farm Bureau to Select Queen
Friday night will be an occasion some Eastland County girl will long remember. That's the night the Eastland County Farm Bureau will select their 1960 queen.

The annual contest will be held in the Eastland High School auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

Twirlers Win Twelve Medals At Floydada

By Mrs. Cubian Perry

Nine Ranger High School girls have recently returned from Midwestern University at Wichita Falls where they attended a Twirling School for two weeks.

The girls making the trip were Sue Cantwell, Linda Lou Hatton, Sandi Halbrooks, Sissy Blackwell, Donna Drennon, Sarah Johnson, Shellee Scott and Linda Kay Warford.

Instructors at the school were Bill Woods, band director at Southeastern State University, Gary Donohue from Los Alamos, New Mexico, and Jacqueline Cox, Majorette at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

After the two weeks of Twirling School at Midwestern, four of the girls, Sue, Sandy, Donna and a d Sarah, went to a twirling contest at Floydada. The four girls entered in twelve events and won first division medals in ten and second division medals in two events.

Willie Auvenshine, the new Ranger High School Band Director, will arrive in Ranger this week and twirling tryouts will be conducted some time this month.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS
By BOYCE HOUSE

Everyone who has any stature as a Texas writer must have at least one buried treasure experience. For example, O. Henry hunted for Spanish gold near Austin when he lived there in early manhood. And J. Frank Dobbs has traversed remote regions where there are supposed to be great quantities of buried gold—a d silver.

Not to be outdone, the great House also has his story of lost treasure.

Did long after I resigned—I did, too, resign—as editor of the Ranger Times to take a place on the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, a letter arrived. The name of the writer was unknown to me but he said he knew me. The letter was mailed from Philadelphia. It was two pages long, single-spaced, and undated quite a narrative.

"You will, of course, recall Pete the Hermit who lived out from Ranger," the epistle began. (I could not remember anyone of such a name—in fact, I had never numbered a hermit among my circle of acquaintances.) The letter continued that the writer had, now and then, befriended Pete by giving him old magazines to read and a little money for smoking tobacco.

One day, going to visit the old man in his shack, the writer said he found the hermit critically ill. Pete declared that he had hoarded a good deal of money and, as the younger man was the only one in Ranger who had ever befriended him, the hermit wanted him to have the gold. It's this time every word was an effort for his breath was growing short but Pete described the location and his hermit's notes. In a few minutes, the old man had died.

His "heir" could not immediately get away to dig up the treasure. When Mr. Hermit became seriously ill and he was pronounced dead, the father had not the good luck to take over the operation of the business. That was some years before and he had never had time to return to Texas.

Then he thought about me as he had used in the Ranger Times (which he still took) that I had come to work in Fort Worth and he was now offering me one-third of the buried treasure amount to $13,000 if I would dig it up. A map was enclosed. The spot was only a dozen miles or so from Fort Worth. It was near Mary's Creek and there were other landmarks. The distance to be passed from a boulder was given. It seemed a simple matter to find the location.

However, there were one or two factors which caused me to wonder. One was, as already mentioned, that I had no recollection of Pete the Hermit and, as editor of the paper, I would very likely have known, or at least known of, as picturesque a character. Another puzzling feature was: Why did the hermit select a spot 75 or 80 miles from Ranger in which to hide his fortune? It would have been more reasonable for him to have chosen a place close enough that he could visit it and see that the money was safe.

I decided that someone was trying to victimize me and that, if I visited the area, I would be fired upon by my unknown correspondent and his friends who would enjoy a hearty laugh when I fled ignominiously. There was also the possibility that the landowner, not knowing anything about the matter, might fire at me as a trespasser, and those bullets would be real.

Still, the story could conceivably be true. One-third of $13,000 was a lot of money, especially as this was during the depression.

(Editor's Note—Did our hero seek the gold of Pete the Hermit? Read the concluding chapter of this exciting true adventure next week.)

Carben Annual's To Be Given at Party Friday

School For Drummers Starts Mon. at College

Monday, August 8 will be the inauguration of a percussion school sponsored by the Music Department of Ranger College. The college hopes to make this an annual school, to be held in August each year.

Harold Bilderback, chairman of the Music Department at Ranger College reports that 12 students have pre-registered for the school. He will serve as co-ordinator for the school.

The instructor will be Phil Hewett, band director at Eastland High School. Hewett holds the B. M. E. Degree from Texas Christian University, is a graduate of the U. S. N. School of Music, and is a member of the National Association of Rudimental Drummers. He taught percussion at Del Mar Junior College and TCU before going to Eastland in 1959. He has played with the Fort Worth Symphony, Fort Worth Opera Company, and dance bands in the Fort Worth - Dallas area since 1951.

Assistant instructor will be J. Deats from the seventh to the twelfth grades. Also there will be a special class for directors.

Purpose of the school is for teaching drummers new techniques and giving them a chance to become acquainted with the playing technique of the tympani, xylophone, tambourine, castanets, bass drum, snare drums, dance drums, and all other members of the percussion family.

A rudimental background will be given in the student classes and then they will be shown the practical application of the rudiments. In addition, students will hear solos and ensembles plus some work on dance drums.

In the directors classes a basic course of study for the proper teaching of percussion will be given. J. Heath, band director at Whiteboro High School. He also has a B. M. E. Degree from TCU and is also a member of the National Association of Rudimental Drummers. He has played with the Fort Worth Symphony and the TCU Symphony.

Bailey Gives Reasons for Backing Turman
 Scott Bailey, Democratic nominee for state representative from the 70th District, has hotly defended his pledge to Rep. James Turman in the speaker's race.
 Bailey, who as Democratic nominee is practically a sure cinch to win the seat in the November election (he is unopposed), released the following statement this week:
 "In my campaign for nomination, I pledged my all out efforts to keep Texas free of a general sales tax. In deciding whom to support for speaker, I felt it was essential that I check the voting record of Mr. Turman and Mr. Spilman on this issue before I made my choice. The record shows that on three vital votes on the sales tax question, Mr. Turman opposed the sales tax three times whereas, Mr. Spilman voted in favor of the sales tax three times. In supporting James Turman, I am keeping a campaign promise and standing on the same platform that I ran on."
 The Clovis man, a former school teacher, said, "Out here in West Texas we consider a man's word to be his bond, so when the pressure was put on me to switch my pledge, you can see why I refused."
 Bailey did not say who put pressure on him or what kind of pressure was used.

Decision Making Time On Cotton Harvesting Near
 The time for harvesting this year's cotton crop is fast approaching, and the farmer should be considering how this harvesting is to be done. If the crop is to be machine harvested, the problem arises as to whether it would be better to own or hire the machine.
 Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist, says that often it is cheaper to have the crop custom harvested than it is to own the equipment. By hiring the custom work, the farmer can avoid the investment in machinery and use the capital elsewhere in the farm business. The farmer's labor problem is eased if the custom operator furnishes all the labor for the job. Also, because the custom operator is skilled in operating and maintaining the machinery, the farmer may get a faster, more efficient job, Parker points out.
 Before deciding on hiring custom work, however, the farmer must make sure that the answer to each of the following questions is "yes." Is equipment for custom work available? Will it be available when I need it? Are the operators dependable and efficient?
 A machine may be purchased, however, with the idea of doing work in addition to personal work. This would lower the farmer's cost of harvesting his own crop, Parker continues. Other factors, such as alternative use of labor and capital, should be considered before the farmer decided between owning or hiring a machine. Parker suggests talking with the local county agent before any decision is made.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

This September, 262,420 children are expected to enter the public schools of Texas for the first time according to estimates of the Texas Education Agency. Estimates are based on births 8 years ago, immigration estimates and projected birth-to-death ratios.

Nearly all public school districts in Texas require proof-of-age in the form of a birth certificate or a suitable certified copy stating that they are six years old on or before September 1.

During July and August, because of the increased demand for birth certificate copies, the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health is one of the busiest places in Texas. At the peak periods more than a thousand requests for certified copies must be processed daily.

After the request is received with the correct information and is properly accounted, a card is prepared which serves as a record of the transaction and is filed in creating the original record.

A special searching crew—extra personnel are needed during peak periods—locates the original birth certificate from information furnished on the record card.

Unless there is a complication such as incorrect or incomplete information, searching takes a short while by using an index especially designed for school searches.

The original certificate is photostated, officially signed and sealed, and mailed to the person requesting the copy.

A record is kept of the transaction for accounting purposes with appropriate listings.

Parents who have a child entering the first grade this year should meet with the superintendent of school regarding local regulations.

A certified copy of birth may be obtained from a local registrar, county clerk, or the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health, 410 East 5th Street, Austin, Texas.

Enclose one dollar with the child's name, date and place of birth, and the parents' names.

Poison Control Centers Help Doctors in Texas

A poison control center (PCC) is a place which helps family doctors keep patients from becoming statistics.

Each year a hundred or so Texans—mostly children—become statistics by virtue of being accidentally poisoned. In the last four years, State Health Department record keepers have added 364 new names to the grim list of deaths by poisoning. PCC's undoubtedly have kept this list from being much longer.

Fifteen PCC's now operate in Texas under local physicians' guidance.

The most recent one was set up in San Antonio July 18. Others are located in Abilene, Austin, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, Grand Prairie, Harlingen, Houston, Tyler, Wichita Falls, Odessa, San Angelo and Waco.

Hugh D. McGaw, a State Health Department occupational health engineer who works intimately with them, describes a PCC's round-the-clock operation like this: "A curious youngster eats some of his mother's cosmetics and it makes him sick. His mother calls the doctor, but he doesn't know what toxic ingredients the cosmetic had in it. So he calls the nearest PCC, reports the brand name. A quick check of an index card file reveals the toxic substance and the antidote."

turns out to be harmless, the PCC has still saved the patient the discomfort of having his stomach pumped, McGaw points out.

He and other state health officials would like to see centers in the Panhandle, on the Southwestern border, and in far West Texas so all areas of Texas would be within an economical telephone call of a center.

The Department's division of occupational health supplies a file of information on poisonous materials and their antidotes after the center has been established.

Funeral Services Held Wednesday For Mrs. Mullin

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 4:30 in the Hamner Funeral Home Chapel for Mrs. W. H. Mullin.

Mrs. Mullin died at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday at Cleburne in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Nina Baker.

Services were also held in Cleburne Wednesday. Mrs. Mullin was a resident of Eastland for more than 25 years.

Also surviving are two sons, Ward of Galveston and Maurice of Garland.

RETURNED HOME
Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Price have returned home from visiting in Mendon, La.

CAN YOU REMEMBER WHEN? Grandma used to ask the neighbors on the party-line to hang up, so she could hear over the telephone. Or Great Grandpa called in the neighbors on Sunday afternoon to demonstrate his new fangled "talking-box". If so, you'll marvel at Southwest Bell Telephone Company's new lightweight, compact Princess Phone that has a night-light. It is the sixth major home telephone design since Mr. Bell's original invention in 1876. Major designs were introduced in 1876, 1886, 1890, 1927, 1954, and 1960, with the others shown above being improvements on the major designs. The Princess phone at first glance seems to have little family resemblance to early telephones, but it's safe to say that it would not be here today except for the contributions to phone progress represented by the ancestors over the past 84 years. The Princess phone was introduced here July 1.

Get A License Before Fishing During August

Another warning has been issued by the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission, to buy fishing licenses before starting on your trip in August.

"A number of people will be going on vacation during August," he said. "Some of them are just careless; others think because there is only a month left of the present season they can get by without getting a $2.15 fishing license. Every month they find this to be pretty expensive because wardens have been asked to take careful check on fishermen without licenses."

The director also warned against rushing the hunting season. Dove shooting in the North Zone will be permitted after September 1. New hunting licenses also will be required. They will be available at local sporting goods stores the last week in August. He also pointed to the change in white-winged dove regulations this year. The season will be Sept. 9, 10 and 11—three consecutive days instead of three alternate days as previously. White-wings may be taken in several counties in the Rio Grande Valley. The limit will be 10 per day and 10 in possession. During this three day shoot hunters also may take mourning doves. They can kill 10 white-wings and five mourners the first day. But they must not have in possession at the end of the second day's shoot more than 30 doves—10 white-wings and 20 mourners.

- if everything burned TONIGHT?

The furnishings in your home are probably worth 5 or 10 times what you think they are.

You've accumulated them one at a time—a chair, a book, a picture, a suit of clothes, a set of dishes—so you underestimate their total value.

Your insurance on these things is probably only a fraction of what it should be. For example, just list the things in one room, and see! Or ask us for a form on which to make a complete inventory of your household possessions. And we'll tell you how inexpensive complete America Fire protection against fire loss really is.

Missile Bases Near Abilene Open to Public

US Army Missile Firing Batteries near Abilene will open to the public their two new Air Defense Sites on August 5th and 6th. Captain Keith B. Verburg commands the North Missile Site located on FM Road 1193 on the West Side of Ft. Phantom Lake. Captain Elgin L. Eskridge commands the South Missile Site located on the San Angelo Highway 277, 6 miles south of View. The Sites will be open for visitors on Friday, August 5th, from 10:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. and on Saturday, August 6th, from 10:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Lieutenant Colonel Joseph P. Guinn, Commander of the 5th Missile Battalion (NIKE-HERCULES) 517th Artillery, said that these sites protect more than 29 Texas counties covering 18,000 square miles against airborne attack. Visitors will be shown a film of missile firings against aerial targets and will spend about an hour touring the buildings and tactical equipment. On display will be NIKE-HERCULES Missiles, radars, fire control equipment and Sentry Dogs used for guarding the equipment. Full explanation of the equipment will be given. Photographs will be permitted.

The two missile sites were built by the B. J. Browning Construction Company of San Antonio at a cost of $3,500,000. Over 225 men and officers are stationed at the two sites to keep the missiles ready 24 hours a day. In February, 55 men from Central Texas enlisted and are now serving with this battalion.

Over 250 US Army Air Defense Command missile firing batteries protect the United States against air attack. The NIKE-HERCULES Missile with a nuclear capability has been noted for its ability to defeat every airborne target it has fired upon and has a 85 per cent kill record. It has destroyed targets flying over 100,000 feet high and traveling at speeds in excess of 2100 MPH. The NIKE HERCULES Fire Control Equipment continuously commands the missile to change direction until it gets close to the target and then bursts the missile. The missile is traveling so fast and is so maneuverable that it can outmaneuver any airborne craft or missile known today or planned for the future. It has destroyed supersonic ballistic missiles.

Lt Colonel Guinn urged as many as possible to take this opportunity to visit the Community Air Defense Missile Sites.

Artificial Fish Reefs Paying off With New Buoys

Fishing around the artificial reefs off Port Aransas on the Texas coast is now paying off, according to the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. These reefs were created by dumping some 600 old car bodies in 60 feet of water. Although the reefs have been there for some time, many boaters reported they could not locate the exact spot. Recently the Game and Fish Commission placed a lighted buoy over one of the spots. Fishermen flocked to it in numbers and reported large catches of several species of fish.

Another buoy, not yet lighted, has been placed over another segment of the reef, about a half-mile away. Fishermen now are able to work between these two buoys. They report catching of snapper, ling, grouper, sand trout and drum in both areas.

Two other such artificial reefs, one near Port Isabel and the other near Freeport also will be buoyed so that boatmen may find the exact location without the use of instruments.

Studies also are being made on other locations for these artificial reefs. The old car bodies provide protection for smaller fish. As a result, larger fish go there in an attempt to feed on the smaller ones, thus increasing the fishing potential.

Most Texas Cities Hold Line On Tax Rates Despite Rising Costs

Texas cities—large, small and middle-size—have generally succeeded in holding the line on both tax rates and municipal indebtedness during the past two years, the Texas Municipal League reported today.

In its biennial survey of municipal taxation and debt—which covers a record 415 cities this year—the League found that 176 cities' growing cities enter the 1960's in this condition:

—Since 1957 two-thirds of the cities have kept their tax rates unchanged.

—Nearly seventy percent of the cities have also managed to avoid increases in tax bond indebtedness during the same period.

—Almost two-thirds of the cities in Texas are now levying a tax rate between $1.00 and $1.50.

—Middle-size cities in the 25,000-49,999 population range have been most successful at holding the line on tax rates—only one in four has registered an increase, 1959 over 1957.

—The record for other population brackets shows: in cities of 10,000-24,999, 48.3 percent have increased tax rates during the past two years; over 50,000, 42.1 percent have increased; under 10,000, 32.1 percent have increased rates.

—While relatively few cities above 5,000 population have tax rates at their constitutional maximum, 196 cities are levying at their particular legal ceiling.

—Of 565 municipalities reporting on debt status, only 26 showed no debt of any kind.

—Overall, 445 cities report outstanding general obligation bonds and 61 of these cities have debts in excess of one million dollars. Seven of the million-dollar-debt cities have populations under 10,000.

—Revenue bond debt on municipal utilities and facilities was reported by 415 municipalities with 70 having an indebtedness over one million dollars. Such debt—incurred against revenue-producing facilities such as water systems, sewer systems, swimming pools, etc.—has become increasingly important to cities in post-war years, especially as maximum tax rate levels are reached.

Executive Director Steve Matthews of the Texas Municipal League, releasing the 48-page statistical compilation, pointed out: "The record made by municipal officials these past two years is surprisingly good and encouraging from the viewpoint of every taxpayer—whether a homeowner or corporation."

Matthews cautioned, however, that the "two-year record should not be misinterpreted as a beginning of a longer-term trend."

"Municipal government in Texas has been under the greatest pressure ever experienced to expand basic services to meet needs of the urban population during the 1950's. Within the limit of its resources, local government has tried to meet this challenge by practicing careful economy and prudent planning. Better municipal services mandatory expenditures imposed by State legislation, and the pressure of inflation mean that costs have gone up and—over a long period—tax rates and indebtedness have necessarily increased.

"Municipal officials are acutely aware that local fiscal affairs and policies can make or break the industrial future of Texas. The continued opportunity for growth must be protected by the economic stability and solvency of our municipalities.

Careful fiscal administration alone cannot overcome the basic need for broader revenue sources

In other words, the weight of water in the wood is greater than the weight of the dry wood. Sapwood usually has a higher moisture content than heartwood.

When dry wood absorbs moisture, it swells. When wet wood is dried, it shrinks. The swelling of wood sometimes causes drawers and doors to stick in wet weather. Shrinkage of wood may open cracks in furniture and flooring. Exposed wood can be protected from moisture by treating with water repellents or by coating with a suitable finish. Wood used indoors should be installed dry and kept dry to prevent swelling and shrinking.

Dry wood is stronger than green wood. That is the reason why so much importance is attached to the use of dry wood and the protection of wood from moisture.
